Cost-of-living pay hikes voted for city employes

Average is 10 per cent

Cost-of-living salary and wage increases averaging about 10 per cent for City of Post employes were approved by the city council Monday night at its regular July session.

The salary increases will be effective as of July 1, which is the beginning of the city's new fiscal year. In the case of employes paid jointly by the city and county, the proposed raises on the city's part will first be submitted to the county for its approval, the council said.

The 10 per cent increases will also go to members of the city police department, with half of the increase going into effect after the police department member has served 90 days on the force and the other half after he has served 180 days, the council ruled.

The salary and wage increases were voted on the recommendation of Councilman Bill Pool, who is the general administration supervisor on the council. He pointed out in recommending the raises that the cost of living in the past year has increased "anywhere from 12 per cent to 20 per cent."

Also Monday night, in a session that lasted six and a half hours — from 6:30 p. m. until 1 a. m. — the council: — Agreed with representatives of the Southwestern Public Service Co. on a negotiation in the company's request for an increase averaging 10 per cent in electric rates.

— Authorized the city attorney to ask Pioneer Natural Gas Co. to "cease and desist" from increasing charges for services which in the past have been made at no charge to the customer;

— Voted to give the Algerita Hotel restoration committee 90 days time in which to continue with its plans for preservation of the old hotel building (covered in separate story in today's Dispatch);

— Accepted the bid of University Dodge for a new police car;

— 4-H DRESS REVUE.

The Garza County 4-H Dress Revue will be held Thursday, July 25, at 7:30 p. m. in the community room of the First National Bank. Everyone is invited to attend.

ACTIVITIES BUS ON ORDER

Girls' cage coach and English teacher hired

Post school trustees Monday night hired John T. Morrow as the new high school girls' basketball coach and Mrs. Linda Linn as high school English teacher and approved payment of $46,000 for four new buses — one of them a 72-passenger activities bus which is yet to be delivered.

In another action, trustees voted a budgetary increase of $3,188.16 for a new vocational office education program in Post High School.

Morrow, assistant girls coach at Canyon, is 34, married, has two children, and 10 years of coaching experience.

Supt. Bill Shiver told the board that the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal was in error in reporting Morrow had been hired. He also emphasized that while Morrow was recommended for his coaching duties by Athletic Director Bobby Davis he also was recommended for his teaching duties by Principal James Pollard.

Mrs. Linn was taught in the Post school system one year previously and has four years of teaching experience.

In answer to a question from The Dispatch at the board session, Supt. Shiver said the employment of the two by the board now leaves only five vacancies on the 1974-75 faculty.

These include one elementary teacher, one junior high teacher, two high school teachers, and the position of band director.

— Voted to adjust the city's share of the salary of the assistant to Justice of the Peace Racy Robinson from $1.60 to $1.90 an hour to conform to the minimum wage law;

— Voted to increase the bond on each city employe from $5,000 to $10,000 exclusive of the city secretary who is already bonded for $15,000;

— Granted the Post Public Library board's request to have the leaky air conditioner in the library repaired;

— Appointed Mrs. Mary Prather to the library board to replace George L. Miller, who resigned prior to moving from Post;

90-day 'stay' given ancient hotel building

The Post city council voted at its regular July meeting Monday night to give a five-member committee 90 days time in which to "do something" with the old Algerita Hotel property, which the council, at its May meeting, had decided should be demolished and the site cleared.

The council's decision Monday night came after it heard reports on plans for the building from David Newby, Mrs. Gwendolyn Boren and Mrs. Maxine Marks, who are members of the committee appointed by the Garza County Historical Survey Committee to "save" the historic two-story structure at the corner of Main Street and Avenue I.

Newby told the council Monday night that the committee decided at a meeting Friday to recommend a "holding action" while an attempt is made to raise $8,000 for a new roof and to seal off the building, with the hope that at some (See Algerita, Page 12)

Three mail jeeps start runs here

Three jeeps were put into service here by the post office Tuesday morning, enabling city mail carriers to deliver parcels along with letters and other smaller mail.

Postmaster A. J. McAlister said the new mail service is called the "park and loop" system and has gone into effect, in every town and city in the nation that has city mail delivery.

"We are one of the last places to get the new system going," the postmaster said.

The new service is described as "park and loop" because the carrier, after leaving the post office, parks the jeep, delivers mail over a number of blocks, then comes back and drives to another parking place for another loop.

"We had to change our city delivery routes before putting the jeep service into effect, so the mail was slow Tuesday morning and will be slow every morning until the carriers become familiar with their new routes," the postmaster said.

A unique feature of the mail jeeps are their right-hand drive, which means that the steering wheel is on the "wrong side" of the car. "That enables the carrier to make curbside deliveries," McAlister explained.

The old parcel post delivery truck, which has been operated here by Weldon Swanger since city mail deliveries started, has been discontinued. Swanger, along with David Nichols, is now a substitute carrier. The regular city carriers are Roy Josey, Wayne Thomas and Jimmie Redman.

"Eventually, the new jeep mail service will result in faster and more convenient deliveries, as the carriers become accustomed to their route changes," the postmaster said.

LIBRARY PRESENTATION — The Rev. George L. Miller, a member of the Post Public Library board and writer of the column, "Library Listening Post," in The Post Dispatch, is presented a plaque of appreciation on behalf of the board by Mrs. Kay Kirkpatrick, secretary Rev. Miller, who is moving from Post, is a former volunteer librarian and has been one of the institution's staunchest supporters. FOR SAFETY'S SAKE — R. Dillon of Slaton stands in the back of a pickup to check the new crossing gate's operation at the West Main Street crossing as a train roars through. New crossing gates put into operation

The Santa Fe Railway station manager here told The Dispatch late Tuesday that the gates have operated flawlessly since a few minor adjustments were made following their installation the afternoon of July 4.

The crossing gates consist of two 32-foot poles, two on each side of the tracks, which come down to form a barrier across the highway when a train is approaching the crossing.

The Dispatch was told Tuesday in a telephone conversation with a Santa Fe public relations man in Amarillo that the controls which operate the gates are the most modern available at the present time.

He said the law requires that all railroads using such gates make them operative 20 seconds before the fastest trains reach the crossing, but that Santa Fe has emphasized the safety factor even more by making their gates operative 29 seconds before their fastest trains reach the crossing.

He said what is needed now is cooperation from the motoring public in making the best use of the new safety feature at the crossing. He said drivers have a tendency to watch approaching trains, sometimes trying to beat them to the crossing, with the result that they crash right on through the barriers.

K. Dillon of Slaton was in charge of the nine-man crew that installed the new crossing gates here. From Post, the crew was going to Muleshoe, Littlefield and Plainview to put in crossing gate systems.

County sets '74 valuations

The Garza County Commissioners Court Monday did what they said they were going to do all along — set the oil valuation for 1974 at 21 per cent and all other property at 25 per cent.

Taking the two different percentages for the valuations, in effect, gives oil "a break" for this year only as far as the county is concerned and leaves 1975 to 1975.

In another action, the court voted to authorize the architectural firm of Whitaker-Hall of Lubbock to draw detailed specifications for renovation of the county and district courtroom after going over preliminary plans presented by Duane McQueen and Joe Hall.

Police Chief Jim Trulove met with the court to discuss present law enforcement and ambulance procedures between city and county.

Dr. Scott and family on visit

Dr. and Mrs. Ted C. Scott and children, Scotty and Douglas, visited their parents, the J. M. Halesys here and the Wesley Scotts in Roswell, N. M., during the Fourth of July holiday.

Dr. Scott, a graduate of Post High School, Texas Tech and the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School at Dallas, has just completed an internal medicine internship in Baylor University Medical Center in Dallas.

Dr. Scott and family will be at home in Lubbock where he is in family practice with Dr. James R. Matthews, formerly of Post.

New record for city sales tax

Due mainly, no doubt, to inflation, the City of Post has received the biggest quarterly sales tax check in its history — $16,106.34.

The check is for the city's share of the one per cent sales tax collected here for the first three months of 1974.

The $16,106.34 sales tax check is nearly $2,000 more than the previous largest one, which was for $14,300.50 on sales for the last quarter of 1973.

Blood donors urged to turn out here Monday

A blood donor drive is to be held at the First Christian Church from 2 p. m. until 8 p. m. Monday, July 15, sponsored by the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce and the Christian Women's Fellowship.

The blood donated here will go to Blood Services of Lubbock, which served 37 hospitals on the South Plains, and approximately 4,000 patients who have blood transfusions which require about 15,000 pints annually.

Representatives of Blood Services of Lubbock met here recently with the Women's Division and pointed out that there is a shortage of volunteer blood donors nationwide and that this shortage also exists on the South Plains. "The shortage is becoming more critical all the time," the local group was told.

In addition to the existing shortage of volunteer blood donors, there is a growing need for blood as medical facilities over the area increase.

The blood center at Lubbock is the intermediary agency where the blood is given, processed and furnished to the hospitals.

Each blood donor will be given six months protection for himself, spouse and children against blood service fees incurred, except for haemophilia.

General donor qualifications include that the donor must be 17 through 65 years of age, weigh at least 110 pounds, and, in the case of minors, have parental permission on a Blood Services form. Also, there are certain medical requirements, including no current health problems or no health problems of certain types within the last six months up to three years.

Those wishing further information on the blood donor drive are requested to telephone the Chamber of Commerce office, 495-3461.

Rabies clinic set Saturday afternoon

Dogs and cats brought to the City Hall parking lot from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. Saturday, July 13, will be vaccinated for rabies at a clinic arranged by the Post Police Department.

Dr. Ed Murray, Spur veterinarian, will vaccinate the animals for $3, which is $1 less than his customary fee. Police Chief Jim B. Trulove said.

After the animals are vaccinated, city vaccination tags and licenses will be available at $1 for each animal, according to the police chief.

Rabies, a constant threat throughout the country, appears to be worse this year than in a long time, especially among wild animals, which can transmit the disease to domestic animals or to humans.

Some say, in fact, that there have been more cases of rabies in Texas thus far in 1974 than for any previous period of time.

Dr. Murray reports that a skunk, a cow, two dogs and a horse have been found to have rabies in Dickens County in recent months, and a skunk and a cow in Kent County.

The rabies shots necessary to save humans when they are bitten or otherwise infected by a rabid animal are painful, local health officers point out. The disease is usually fatal to humans unless discovered and treated in time.

There was no way to accurately estimate the size of crowd that lined up for the barbecued chicken at the Fourth of July celebration last Thursday evening, but educated guess would be in neighborhood of 2,200 or so.

Over the years the number of plates used was taken as crowd size indicator, but Friday the servers were getting the plates ready so fast they put a paper plate on as well as the bottom so as coming through the line didn't take longer by "pick-and-choosing" which plate

It was a fast-moving chow line that could have moved just as fast if people just grabbed a plate and ate. Utensils and moved on they got to the head of the line. Truth of the matter was the serving line was so far ahead of the potential eaters it had to stop once in a while as there wasn't any more on the end of the table to the filled plates.

One thing for sure — it was a wonderful chicken. Everybody talked to about celebration readily agreed on this point — the chicken didn't be better, cooked just as nice and tender.

Rev. George L. and Mrs. Miller and family were packed up bright and early Monday morning for the drive to come in and see them to their new home at George's campus pastorate — at Weatherford, Okla., as the van didn't come.

George finally dialed the lock firm and asked what holdup was. It seems there was no holdup, just a misunderstanding. The signed moving contract clearly stated the move would be made July 9, not Tuesday.

The Millers got one more night in Post.

The Ammons, our backshop has joined the millions of people this week who seem to be heading Colorado for their vacation. The Ammons family and the Jack Hair family are heading up there again in one of the rushing mountain streams.

Meanwhile, back here we have been rushing around in back shop trying to "build" up and make up the pages of the absence.

If we've missed anything let us know because we've been "buried" over the top table.

Celebration gets big boost from weather, chicken

The sixth annual Free July Celebration last Friday benefited from a combination — good weather and tender chicken.

Under shower last Wednesday night, more noisy and than wet, cooled things and provided a very rest holiday for the celebration.

A big crowd filled the area to listen to the free music, the free barbecue, and the free fireworks.

Special aspects of the celebration were to be reported by the Chamber of Commerce at their July luncheon today.

AS USUAL, everybody had a bang-up good time at the Fourth of July celebration, with the biggest bangs coming when the fireworks were set off at the end of the day.

But there were a lot of little bangs in between, with several youngsters shooting firecrackers among the crowd that jammed the park.

OUR "POTLUCK" columnist, Rosemary Chapman, must have been busy with something else, because she's a gal who keeps her promises and she promised in last Thursday's "Potluck" that she would personally "take care" of the firecracker shooting in the park.

No damage was done, however, except to some already-frayed nerves. One of the girls calling out numbers at the bingo stand drew a laugh from the players when a loud firecracker went off near the stand, and she jumped a little, exclaimed "dagdum it!" and went right on calling numbers.

AND THE NEAREST I've ever come to being blown up came a little later while I was sitting on the ground listening to a country music band. Right in the middle of the song, "White Lightning," a youngster came up and said, "There's a firecracker behind you." At least a dozen of us sitting in the immediate vicinity jumped to our feet and ran over each other getting away. The kid wasn't fooling, either. We'd no sooner cleared the spot than the firecracker exploded.

When that happened, I heard someone else say something, but what he said was quite a bit stronger than the bingo girl's "dagdum it."

THE MAN UP the street says most of us spend too much time running from something that isn't even after us.

A professor at Hillsboro Junior College, along with half a dozen or so other Texans, is writing a biography of the late Audie Murphy, and the Hillsboro prof has written James Minor of Post asking for any information the Post man has on the World War II hero from Texas.

THE PROFESSOR knows that Murphy, then a first lieutenant, and Minor, a lieutenant-colonel, came back from Europe on the same flight after the war. Minor, himself one of the most decorated servicemen of World War II, recalled in The Dispatch office the other day that he and Murphy and a group of other officers landed at Presque Isle, Maine, spent the night there and then came on to Ellington Field, in Texas.

Audie Murphy, an eighth-grade dropout, enlisted in the Army just after Pearl Harbor — after he had been rejected by the Marines for being too frail. By 1945, when he came home, he had probably as many decorations as any serviceman of World War II.

ON ONE OCCASION, Murphy saved his company from possible annihilation by mounting a burning tank destroyer and manning the machine gun to stop a German attack. For that feat, he won the Congressional Medal of Honor.

He was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for his part in a two-man assault on a fortified German stronghold. Audie, to show his true colors, said later: "I picked up the DSC for that job. Lattie (a partner who was killed in the assault) did as much as me, and got nothing out of it."

AFTER THE WAR, Murphy had a career in films and died in a plane crash in 1971.

James also said the college man at Hillsboro and his collaborators are already authors of one book, "Soldiers of Texas," of which James has a copy and which he said he'd bring by and let me read.

THE QUESTION was asked in last Thursday's editorial column why no batting championship trophy was awarded by the Post Little League this season. Clarence Gunn, the league's player agent, dropped in the morning after the paper was out to answer the question.

Clarence said the league officials and team managers decided early in the season that a batting award would not be made because of there being more than one scorekeeper and because of the possibility of batting average errors through statistics not being regularly kept. "That's not to say we didn't have good scorekeepers and that they didn't do a good job," Clarence said. "I agreed with him. I saw the scorebooks

Miss Dalby on tour of Europe

Miss Becki Dalby, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Giles W. Dalby, is touring Europe and the Middle East with an Olson Travel Group.

Miss Dalby, who graduated this spring from Post High School, was accompanied to New York City June 23 by her aunt, Mrs. Iris Rogers. The two spent a week touring New York City, and while there they also visited Mr. and Mrs. Roger Camp.

On Saturday June 29, Mrs. Rogers returned to Texas and Miss Dalby joined the tour group for a trans-Atlantic jet flight to London for the beginning of a six weeks tour. The trip will take her to England, Denmark, Holland, Switzerland, Italy, France and Greece.

Upon her return she will enroll for the fall semester at Texas Tech University.

'Big' July 4 two years away

Worth stopping to think about is the fact that the Independence Day holiday so successfully celebrated here last Thursday was the next to the last one before this nation goes all out to celebrate its bicentennial in 1976.

The occasion two years hence will mark the 200th year of our independence and plans are well under way for gigantic celebrations during at least most of the year in towns and cities throughout the country.

Most of the bicentennial celebrations will take place in larger cities, of course, particularly in this part of the country. That is as it should be. Smaller towns, instead of going to the time and expense to put on a big bicentennial celebration, will be able to tie their observances in with those of the larger places.

Lubbock, for instance, has had a group working for several months now on plans for a bicentennial celebration in 1976. While there may be a few towns the size of Post and smaller in this area that stage their own observances, most of them no doubt will tie the biggest part of their celebration in with the "big one" at Lubbock.

It will be different, of course, in the east and southeast where many small towns in states that comprised the 13 original colonies have historical backgrounds of their own dating back to before the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Some of these towns in proportion to size more than likely will stage as large a bicentennial celebration as the larger cities.

It would be interesting to be able to look ahead to 1976 and see what has happened to the proposed fireworks ban by then. There is a likelihood of fireworks being banned altogether except for public displays, and if that happens it might well force the fireworks manufacturers out of business, which would mean no fireworks for anyone — individuals or groups.

But, then, how long do you suppose it was anyway after the signing of the Declaration of Independence before Americans started shooting off firecrackers to celebrate the occasion? — CD

Not at this time, anyway

Among the rash of "clean-politic" bills ensuing after Watergate is one to which all of us should pay particularly close attention. Introduced by Rep. Al Ulman of Oregon, this bill would eliminate state primaries and state conventions for nomination of presidential and vice presidential candidates and also abolish the electoral college.

A nationwide poll conducted by the National Federation of Independent Business found 62 per cent of its member business people in favor, 29 per cent opposed, with nine per cent undecided.

In Texas, the response was 60 per cent in favor, 31 per cent opposed, and nine per cent undecided — about the same, incidentally, as the nationwide poll showed.

The Oregon congressman would provide that voters over the nation would vote at one time for the candidates to be submitted to the electorate in November, at which time the candidate with the majority of the total vote would win.

Among the arguments advanced for this legislative measure, according to the NFIB, is that with candidates not obligated to enter all state primaries, selection of the candidates is largely left up to the nominating conventions with the result that the most popular candidates are perhaps not always selected.

The major argument against the proposed legislation is mainly based on the convention concept, with the viewpoint that without national nominating conventions, the structure and effectiveness of the political parties would be weakened.

Pick your side . . . we've already picked ours. We are against anything that would weaken the structure and effectiveness of the political parties. — CD

Keep a good thing going

Reading in a newspaper from a neighboring town of more than 50 rats being dislodged when one abandoned and condemned house was torn down, makes us realize more than ever the value of the City of Post's campaign of the last few years to rid the city of sub-standard and abandoned structures and junked automobiles.

The city's campaign to rid the town of these fire and health hazards paid off, but it is something they are going to have to keep after, for we are going to be back in the same, or worse, shape before long than we were before the campaign started. This is especially true of junked cars.

We realize the City Council is confronted with full agendas at every meeting and that there is a pressing, ever-growing need for new housing developments. But if there is anything at all the city can sidetrack for a while in order to "keep after" such fire and health hazards as abandoned houses and junked automobiles, this newspaper would like to see them do it. — CD

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — Constitutional Convention delegates approved a new approach to raise revenue raising and sent a bill to the legislature for a sales tax source. The Convention authorized the legislature to levy a tax on products manufacturing that will not (like four-fifths of gasoline tax) go into highway build-from five to three cents a gallon if the new constitution is approved. Since 75 per cent of Texas-refined gasoline is sold out of state, proponents of the tax claim the two cent levy would raise $686 million in additional revenue without increasing the burden on Texans. Although such a tax probably could be levied now, most of the money would go to highways instead of general revenue. The convention went into its windup stages this week. Delegates began voting on the entire revision package, including proposed separate submissions of five alternative propositions.

When and if a two-thirds majority is mustered, the document and the "side issues" will go to the voters in the November general election.

HEATLY CUT OFF—The Constitutional Convention Compensation Committee served notice it didn't intend to allow Rep. W.S. (Bill) Healy of Paducah to charter airplanes at state expense. Convention officers said they won't approve any more such charges.

However, Healy indicated he won't take that without a fight. He produced an attorney general's ruling saying renting of aircraft by state employees on official trips is authorized, and called on officials to consider his bills legal.

Healy blamed his troubles on a "personal vendetta" against him by Convention President Price Daniel Jr. and Executive Director Jim Ray — which Daniel promptly denied.

A check of House records showed Healy, as of May 31, ranked 24th among state representative-convention delegates in total spending since last January.

NEAR RECORD PAID—Oil companies paid a near record $24.6 million in bonus payments for oil and gas leases on Texas public lands at the third largest oil and gas lease sale in history. Bids were received for more than 336,037 acres and brought the permanent school fund to more than $1,074,743,900.

Texas will receive a substantially higher royalty for oil and gas produced from the state lands under new terms in effect for the sale. All royalties will be at least one-fifth. The state may also take its royalty "in kind" — which assures top prices for the state's portion of oil and gas and ability to sell the resources in areas where they are needed.

Three bids exceeded $1 million. One was for $9 million by Transocean Oil Incorporated of Houston — for 25 tracts, most of them in the Gulf of Mexico.

TEXANS PLEDGE $508,000—Texas Democrats committed themselves to a record total of $508,000 during the June 29-30 party fund-raising telethon.

Two-thirds of the take — enough to pay off debts and last a few months into the future — will be retained by the state party after deductions for overhead of the telethon.

More than 1,000 volunteers manned 350 telephones in 16 Texas cities during the fund-raising extravaganza which brought in $7 million in pledges to the national party. More than 3,000 pledges were received in Texas.

LIQUOR AGENTS CLEARED—An investigation by Atty. Gen. John Hill's staff found no evidence of mileage expense account padding by Dallas district office Alcoholic Beverage Commission inspectors.

Hill did recommend better record keeping procedures in the office to "remove suspicions and concerns."

He found irregularities in the manner in which the records are maintained and said that inspection tickets were in "a state of disarray."

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Most of us are trying to get the maximum from every dollar we spend these days.

But attorneys in our Consumer Protection Division note that it's not only the amount of a product you get for your money, but the quality of that product that determines if you made a good buy. That's why it's important to shop carefully before making a purchase, which suggests:

One area in which quality is an especially important criterion is when you are purchasing either ready-made clothing or fabrics by the yard for home sewing.

Some protection for consumers is offered by the Federal Trade Commission's Textile Fiber Product Identification Act, which requires all ready-made or yard-good items to have a label noting the fiber content.

In 1972, another FTC rule, the Care Labeling Trade Regulation, went into effect. This regulation requires all ready-mades and yard-goods to carry labels advising the consumer of proper fabric care. Typical labels may advise "Dry Clean Only," "Hand Wash in Cool Water," or give other specific instructions which make it easier for consumers to know how to care for fabrics after they get them home.

Most "store bought" clothes have been carrying such hangtags for some time. The FTC Bureau of Consumer Protection reports, however, that some stores selling yard-goods have not yet begun to implement the FTC directives and that others do not routinely supply such care labels unless they are requested by the consumer.

And even these efforts don't assure the consumer that an item will stand up to normal wear and tear. Complaints about ready-made garments that have reached the files of many consumer agencies include: dress seams that pull out after washing; buttons that fall off; expensive suits; uneven hems; and trimmings that fade onto a garment.

Complaints about yard-goods include the tendency of some fabrics to "pick," "fuzz," or ravel; to trap body heat and not allow for evaporation of perspiration; and to stretch at stress points.

Garment industry experts gest that persons planning to shop for ready-made clothes or to make their own familiarize themselves with the following marks of well-made clothing.

—Fabrics should be cut with, not against, the grain and fabrics featuring plaids, stripes, checks, or designs should be carefully matched at seams.

—Seams should be stitched securely, not just basted in, and should be wide enough for any alterations that may be needed in the future. Seam edges should be pinked, overcast, or taped to prevent raveling.

—Linings, facings, and trimmings should take the same type of care as the fabric itself and should be securely sewn to the garment.

—Hems and facings should not be visible from the right side of the garment.

—Buttonholes should be bound or stitched securely and of the proper size for the buttons. Too-small buttonholes show wear quickly since buttons must be forced through them and too-large buttonholes may allow buttons to come undone.

—All closings such as buttons, zippers, snaps, and grippers should be firmly sewn in the proper spot. Zippers should work easily and should be inserted without ripping the fabric.

Our Consumer Protection attorneys suggest that you also (1) check all labels for fiber content and fabric care before purchasing, (2) try on all ready-made items for a correct fit, (3) get any guarantee in writing, and (4) check in advance on a store's return

Sedam heads Texas Press

AUSTIN — Upon his election as president of the Texas Press Association, Glenn Sedam, publisher of the Bay City Daily Tribune, said that he feels "criticism of the press today is only because the press has been doing a good job."

He added that any faction doing a good job is up for criticism "when the public quits fussing, it is time to really start worrying."

Sedam, a native of Pennsylvania, has been publisher of the Bay City Tribune since 1958.

Class of '59 holds its 15th year reunion

With a large number of members and their families in attendance, the Post High School graduating class of 1959 held its 15th year reunion Saturday at the home of Joe McCowen.

Class members met at 6 p. m. for a meal of filet mignon, baked potatoes, salad, and lemon tarts.

At 8 p. m., parents and other friends attended the reunion by open invitation. Special guests at that time were Joy Greer, Mrs. G. W. Greer, Mrs. Jim Hays, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Davies, Johnny, Nancy and Patti McCowen, Ronny and Donny Peede, Amy and Bryan Davies, Mike Waldrip, Lorry Chapman and Christy Davis.

Coffee and cake were served to the special guests. Decorations on the cafe were black and gold, with the lettering: "The class reunion that I attended was really rather gloomy; my classmates were so old and fat that some of them hardly knew me."

Everyone looked at the scrapbook and pictures, and Dr. Victor Hudman, who was class president in 1959 conducted a brief business meeting.

A prize of 15 gallons of gas was given to classmate Don Davies for coming the greatest distance. He lives in Michigan.

Class members attending were as follows: Steve and Loyce (Josey) Meador, Oklahoma City; Jerry and Melanie Windham, Lorenzo; Frances (Barron) Spencer, California; Claude and Shirley (McBride) Cranford, Texas; Herb and Ann Hays, Austin; Jim and Linda (Messer) Peede, Burlington; Don and Betty Davies, Novi, Mich.; Victor and Sara Hudman, Abilene; Jack and Ann (Scarborough) Bishop, Linda (Moreland) Waldrip, Billy and Wilma Williams, Delwin Fluit and Kathy Doherty, Jo Ann (Cornett) Reed, Marshall Ticer, Weldon and Maritta (Pennell) Reed, Joe and Patsy (Rogers) McCowen, and Dan and Kay (Martin) Lamb, all of Post.

Outdoor classrooms in Texas gain popularity

Many schools in Texas are putting in outdoor classrooms for use by their teachers and students. Bob Arheger, district conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service, says more and more schools are looking at this form of learning.

An outdoor classroom at one Lubbock school has one problem — there is such a demand for its use the teachers have trouble getting on the schedule to utilize the area.

This type of classroom lends its use to all courses. English compositions can be inspired by pleasant, outdoor surroundings. More interest can be generated in a math class that figures actual dimension of an outside area of the circumference of a tree trunk. Biology and science classes can find all kinds of insects or look for microscopic life in the water of a small pool. A leaf or blade of grass has an amazingly complex structure.

Arheger notes that most outdoor learning areas are planned and installed by both the school and the students. A large amount of knowledge can be acquired while the area is being developed.

The first step in developing an outdoor classroom is for the school to show interest. The project should not be started helter skelter. A plan should be drawn up and studied with provisions for future expansion or change. It cannot be developed overnight. More benefits and interests are generated if the students play a part in the development.

Arheger says area schools desiring further information or assistance on outdoor classrooms should contact their local Soil Conservation office.

As It Looks From Here . . .

By OMAR BURLESON, M.C. 17th District, Texas
WASHINGTON, D.C. — A neighbor, across the road from us in Jones County, between Anson and Stamford, has a minor problem—at least it is minor at this point.

His windmill is not in very good shape and serves no useful purpose. Since the water is so loaded with minerals it is good for nothing except to put out fire and even here it would take a bucket brigade for any successful effort.

The minor problem is that the neighbor's wife likes the sight of the windmill in her backyard. Anyone growing up in West Texas can readily understand and sympathize with her appreciation of beauty.

A favorite subject of western artists is the windmill. In many works it is the object of the painting itself and in many more there is that lonely sentinel somewhere in the picture.

Long ago, the windmill tower served purposes other than just supporting the action of the suction rod. In the flat country the platform on top just below the fan and the wheel was a place to locate livestock, nesting turkeys or to just look towards the "big road" to see if anyone was coming.

Well, to my neighbor, it may be like the saying in the Deep South—"hold on to your Confederate money—the South will rise again."

This past week hearings were held by a sub-committee on Science and Astronautics on prospects for wind energy utilization as part of a study on solar energy technology.

Mankind has been using the wind to serve his energy needs for thousands of years. Sailing vessels and windmills have been important parts of civilization throughout history and engineering of the 20th century has not completely passed it by. In 1941, a 1,250,000 watt generator was built atop Grandpa's Knob in Vermont. It worked successfully, but could not survive competitiveness against easier power generated by steam. The same has been the case in Germany, England, Denmark, France and Russia where experiments were conducted.

Today, because of the economics of energy production, interest in wind power potentials has been revived. Wind is free and there are new developments from other technologies which can be applied to harness its power for efficient use. It is a non-depletable resource and as we know in West Texas, we could do without a lot of it.

is. Air currents are generated by warming effects of sunlight coupled with the earth's rotation and as far as anyone knows this is not going to be changed soon, even if Congress tries it.

GOD KEEPS HIS PROMISE

By Edgar L. Fox

... Yet I will remember my covenant with you in the days of your youth . . . Ezekiel 16:60.

God reproaches his people for their unfaithfulness (Ezekiel 16:44-51), yet he is true to his Covenant. God is faithful! We make promises to him and forget, but he remembers the glowing zeal of our devotion when we first made our vows.

Dr. W. W. Landrum tells of a farmer who cut down an old tree. The woodcutter noticed a curious design on the bark, with faint letters J. L. When the tree had been felled and sawn into lengths, he noticed carved near the core of the tree the letters J. L. and an anchor. Inquires were made and it was discovered that a sailor named John Lang was once in the neighborhood. He had undoubtedly made the carving on the tree when it was young. Thirty-seven rings between the design and the bark showed that the carving had been made thirty-seven years before.

That faith of many Christians is but a faint scar of that clear-cut commitment which they first made to God, perhaps in their youth. But God remembers our promise to him, as well as his promise to us, and he remains faithful.

Prayer: Lord, we make our promises to thee in the warmth of our early devotion. When the flame of faith grows faint, let us keep the covenant within our hearts and with love. Amen.

? Your Name ?
WHAT'S IN IT?
By CHARLES DIDWAY

CURTIS
Numerous both as a surname and a given name, Curtis is from the Old French "curteis," meaning "courteous, educated, well-bred." In feudal society, especially, Curtis denoted a man with a good education.

The name is an ancient one in England, where it was introduced after the battle of Hastings in which the Saxon kings were defeated by the armies of William, duke of Normandy. For many years, the name retained the original French spelling, a Robert Curteis of Devonshire being listed in a document dated in the year 1168. The Curtis spelling did not occur in written records until the 17th century.

The name in its earliest and later forms has been in Ireland since the 13th century and today is found mainly in east Leitster.

Among the first of the name in America was William Curtis and his wife, who came from England to Boston in 1632, later settling at Roxbury, Mass. William's wife was a sister of John Eliot, apostle to the Indians. In 1635, Henry Curtis and his wife came to this country and settled at Watertown, Mass. Their son, Ephraim Curtis, was the first white settler of Worcester, Mass.

Charles Curtis of Kansas, who served under President Herbert Hoover, was the first Indian vice president. The invention of chewing gum is credited to John Curtis and his brother, who invented the first chewing gum in Bangor, Maine, in 1848. They called it "State of Maine Pure Spruce Gum."

Curtis ranks among the 250 commonest surnames in the United States where there are an estimated 96,000 persons by the name.

GARZA COUNTY TOTALS GIVEN

Crude oil production in Texas shows drop in '73

DALLAS — Despite 12 months of production at 100 per cent of the maximum effective recovery rate in most Texas fields, a drop of nearly 6.3 million barrels of crude oil from the state's all-time record high production year of 1972 occurred last year.

Texas production in 1973 amounted to almost 1.3 billion barrels, tops among the nation's oil producing states and representing 38.6 per cent of total U. S. production, according to statistics compiled by Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association.

Garza County, which has had recorded production since 1926, last year produced 5,349,226 barrels of oil at the rate of 14,656 barrels a day. Production in 1973 boosted Garza County's production total through the end of the year to 129,455,943 barrels.

In 84 years of recorded production, Texas oil fields have produced some 38-billion barrels of oil — approximately 36 per cent of the U. S. total.

"The decline in production indicates the basic task of the state's oil men — the more extensive development of Texas fields," said the association's president, Sherman Hunt, a Dallas independent producer. "But if Congress will adopt economic policies to encourage the search for new fields, we feel this trend can be changed."

Despite the drop in production, the oil that was produced last year in 203 of the state's 254 counties was valued at some $5 billion, an increase of approximately $500 million over the value of oil produced in 1972. This increase partially reflects the increased prices paid for some Texas crude oil during the latter part of 1973.

In addition to larger payments to royalty owners, the higher prices also have been reflected in the state comptroller's reports of increased severance taxes paid by the oil men of Texas.

In 1973, some 33 counties produced more than 10 million barrels of crude oil, with Borden County being added to the list. The top half-dozen, all with production in excess of 50 million barrels, remain the same as the year previous.

More hoppers for Santa Fe

AMARILLO — Santa Fe Railway has ordered 1,000 additional 100-ton covered hoppers at a cost of more than $20 million as part of its 1975 capital expenditure program, John S. Reed, chairman and chief executive officer, announced today.

"When this new order is delivered during the first half of 1975, it will bring our ownership of 100-ton 'Jumbo' covered hoppers to about 13,000, and give us nearly 17,000 covered hoppers of all sizes," Reed said. "This is further evidence of our continued effort to provide the equipment needed for our customers who ship grain, potash and other bulk commodities," he stated.

Pullman Standard will build 600 of the cars in their Butler, Pa. plant. ACF Industries will produce the other 400 at Huntington, W. Va.

Post wins 3 firsts in Junior Olympics event

Represented by 29 athletes, Post won two first places in the bantam division and one first place in the senior division at the West Texas District Junior Olympics held Saturday in Borger.

Ann Mitchell, who won first place in the girls' discus throw in the senior division, qualified for the regional Junior Olympics at Borger on July 20, in which young athletes from the states of Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma will compete.

Ann Mitchell's winning discus throw was 96 feet, 4 inches, Coach Lane Tannehill reported. In the bantam division, nine years old and under, Tim Tannehill won first places in the 100-yard dash and long jump, setting new records in both events. He was clocked at 12.8 seconds in the 100, and long jumped 13 feet, 5 inches. Bantam winners do not qualify for the regional meet.

The bantam division sprint relay team of Mark Odom, Wade Giddens, Will Kirkpatrick and Tim Tannehill placed second to Amarillo with a time of 63.5, with the first place team clocked in 63.3.

Post failed to place in the midjet division, 10 and 11 years old, but Wes Horton won fourth and Bruce Waldrip fifth in the shot put in the junior division, 12 and 13 years old. The junior division sprint relay team of Wes Horton, Danny Nelson, Scott Walker and Charlie Hall placed fifth.

Jimmy Dorland with a leap of 18 feet, 2 inches placed third in the long jump in the intermediate division, 14 and 15 years old.

Athletes from all schools, large and small, competed together. Coach Tannehill said. Nearly every event had a record breaking number of contestants.

Others competing for Post were:

Bantam: Curt Greer, Jeff Lamb, Scott Lewis, Cynthia Poole.

Midjet: Gary Lamb, Brad Greer, Barry Wyatt, Benny Kennedy, Mark Greer, Ronnie Hall, Steve Curb, Amy Babb, Marinette Hays.

Junior: Terry Holloway, Brad Howell, Rocky Pace.

Intermediate: Doug Hall, Ron Pace.

Head coach at Slaton resigns

SLATON — Slaton is looking for a new athletic director and head football coach following the resignation of Bill Curry, who has accepted the position of assistant principal of Seminole High School.

Curry has been athletic director here for two years, with the title recently changed to athletic director for boys, since Mrs. Frank Benson has been named athletic director for girls, creating two separate and equal positions in the athletic area of the Slaton schools.

FROM JACKSBORO

Fritz Brownlee of Jacksboro was in Post on business last week and visited friends at the Fourth of July celebration. He is a former owner of White Auto Store here.

In 1814, a woman named Bessie Millie sold favorable winds to mariners for the small sum of sixpence.

Post All-Stars bow out of BR tournament here

The Post All-Stars dropped a 6-0 decision to Brownfield Tuesday night to bow out of the double elimination district Babe Ruth League tournament being held here at David Nichols Park.

The Post team lost its first game Monday to Lamesa, 4 to 2, on a no-hitter spun by the Lamesa pitcher.

In Tuesday's first game, Tri-City defeated Lynn County, which had drawn a first round bye. Wednesday night's games were to pit Lynn County against Brownfield at 6 p. m. and Lamesa against Tri-City at 8 p. m.

The tournament champion will be decided in a game, or games, Friday night.

Post got only two hits, singles by Roger Mullenix and Mike Waldrip, in their shutout loss to Brownfield Tuesday night. Doug Hall started on the mound for Post, but was relieved by Mike Waldrip in the top of the first inning. Brownfield collected six hits off the two Post pitchers.

Lamesa's Larry Arrendondo pitched the no-hitter against Post Monday night, but the locals managed to score single runs in the fifth and seventh innings on a batch of walks and some daring base running. Arrendondo fanned 15 Post batters.

Ricky Sanchez was the losing pitcher, but did a good job against Lamesa, keeping seven hits well scattered to hold them to four runs. The two Post runs were scored by Kyle Duren and Mark Shedd. One of the Lamesa hits off Sanchez was a two-run homer.

In Monday's first game, Tri-City edged Brownfield, 6 to 5. Tri-City was a 9 to 7 winner over Lynn County Tuesday night.

Tahoka hires new coaches

TAHOKA — Tahoka High School has a new athletic director and head football coach, as well as a new varsity boys basketball and assistant football coach.

The new athletic director and head coach is Ronnie Fowlkes, head football coach at Lorenzo for the past two years. At Tahoka, he replaces A. J. Viertel, who resigned recently.

The new boys basketball coach and assistant football coach is Dick Wood, a native of Dimmitt who has been coaching at Monte Vista, Colo., the last few years. He has a record in basketball of 78 won and 18 lost. He took Monte Vista to the Colorado State Tournament in 1973 and to the regional finals in 1973 and 1974.

The Emanuel Episcopal Church at Lockhart is one of Texas' oldest Protestant churches.

New coach at Lockney High

Jim Warren, 32, has been employed as head football coach and athletic director at Lockney High School. He replaces Jerry Cannon, who resigned early in June.

A 1963 graduate of McMurry College, Warren coached the last two years at Sudan. He was football coach for four years at Plains and guided the 1971 team to the district championship. Before going to Plains, Warren coached four years at Anton and one year at Mt. Pleasant.

Lockney will be the first 1974 grid opponent of the Post Antelopes, at Lockney on Sept. 6.

AID AVAILABLE

Texas livestock and poultry producers who are not engaged in "custom" or "commercial" operations can now get 50 per cent cost-sharing assistance in installing waste management systems, according to an agricultural engineer in waste management for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Funds of up to $18 million are now available through the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP). The facilities must be substantially completed by December 31 of this year to qualify for the assistance program.

The pennant race had gone right down to the wire, with the White Sox, Indians and Cubs all in contention. If the White Sox had lost to the Cubs, the race would have ended in a tie among the three teams.

The champion White Sox were sponsored by H&M Construction Co., managed by Boog Holly and coached by A. J. Baumann.

Report made on ambulance service here

Ninety ambulance calls were made during the first six months' operation of the city-county ambulance service, January through June, according to City Manager Pete Maddox.

The ambulance charges for calls during the period have totaled $2,650, but only $400 of that amount has been paid to the city, the report disclosed. Payment for extra men and off-duty police officers has totaled $800. The city manager said only volunteer attendants were used in the months of January and June, with off-duty officers mainly used the other four months.

The report stated that approximately 30 of the 90 calls have been for Medicare patients, but that "we cannot file for these calls until the city-county ambulance service is certified and a carrier number is issued."

Maddox said the required application has been mailed to Medicare, but that "we have not received a reply." "This week," the report added, we received another form just like the previous one to fill out. This has been done and we are awaiting a reply.

is expecting delivery on the bigger activities bus within the next few weeks, Shiver told trustees.

Pointing out that the high school curriculum here is absorbing all the vocational courses it can get in keeping with board desires, Shiver said the new vocational office education program will provide on-the-job training in local offices for local students similar to on-the-job training programs already under way.

He said the state will pay 71 per cent of the cost of the necessary office equipment for training purposes, will pay half the cost of the instructor's salary the first year, and all the instructor's salary after the first year.

Juveniles are on probation

Three juvenile males, two of Post and one from Lubbock, have been placed on probation for one year under parental supervision and supervision of probation officer Les Brown as the result of a spree of burglaries and one car theft recently cleared by the sheriff's department and city police department.

The boys were also ordered to make restitution on damages and property replacement by District Judge George Hansard, who presided over the hearing.

All property taken in the burglaries other than money has been recovered, law enforcement officers said.

Post 'turn point' in glider contest

Post will be one of the "turn points" for New Mexico's first U. S. Standard Soaring Class Championship to be held in Hobbs, July 14-25, according to Jack Gomez, contest manager.

Residents of the Post vicinity and other places within a 150-mile radius of Hobbs may have an opportunity to assist in the contest, Gomez said.

The occasion may arise if any of the gliders participating in the competition are downed for any of a number of reasons and someone sees them.

In such cases, Gomez said, a resident may help by giving the pilot of the downed glider directions to the nearest phone, telling him just where he is, helping him set his glider upright, or giving him minor mechanical assistance.

Turn points for the contest besides Post will be Floydada, Snyder, Midland, Wink, Littlefield, Lamesa, Andrews, Morton, Seagraves and Brownfield in Texas, and White City, Artesia, Portales, Jai, Cross-future time a practical use or restoration of the structure could be made.

Newby said the $8,000 would have to come from private donors, pointing out that while very little federal money is now available in Texas for restoration of historic buildings, more might become available in future years.

Newby told the council there is no water in the basement of the building at this time and no dead animals or birds in the building, and that with a new roof the front portion could be fixed up for storage or even for business purposes.

The council was also told by the delegation that perhaps a corporation or foundation could be formed to buy the property, put on a new roof and then try to re-sell the building or put it to some practical use.

Newby said a new roof and sealing up the building would minimize the structure's fire and health hazards.

ELECTION FIGURES IN NEW UT PUBLICATION

AUSTIN — Putting a statistical finger on the pulse of Texas voters is the intent of a new series of Texas election results published by the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs at the University of Texas.

The series, "TexaStats," will be a biennial compilation of data from all Texas counties. In addition, each issue will carry detailed returns by precincts in 54 selected counties. Primary and general election results of the major campaigns in Texas will be covered.

The first issue, "TexaStats '72," covers the 1972 Texas elections.

roads and Hobbs in New Mexico.

Sixty American glider pilots and five foreign pilots are expected to take part in the event, which will be held at Hobbs Industrial-Air Park on the Hobbs-Lovington highway.

Visitors are welcome to the contest to view the planes prior to takeoff and to witness the launching each day about 11 a. m.

The contest will be unique this year, according to Gomez, since there will be many new American-made ships competing. In past year, foreign ships, particularly German ones, have dominated the show.

City Council — request for a rate increase came after a conference between City Atty. Pat N. Walker and company representatives. The city attorney is to prepare a draft of the negotiations for the utility company's approval, with the council expected to take action on the rate boost at its August meeting.

The city's revisions of the company's requests will provide that the company not raise any of its rates except those covered in the present rate request schedule and that the company's tax adjustment clause be changed.

The city was notified of the new service charges by Pioneer Gas Co. in a letter from the company's office in Amarillo. The charges range from $3.50 to $5 for lighting, adjustments, etc., and a $4 reconnect charge.

The city attorney told the council that these charges amount, in effect, to a rate increase. He said that in asking for previous rate increases for gas, the company had emphasized that the services for which it is now charging were free.

University Dodge was one of three bidders on the new police car. Its bid was $3,712.18, which reflected no trade-in of a present police car. Police Chief Jim B. Trulove told the council, however, that the auto company told him it would discount from its price what it considered the old police car is worth.

Big crowds at Crusade here

Good crowds and a great deal of enthusiasm for the Crusade for Christ, which began Sunday night, were reported Wednesday by the Rev. Glenn Reece, general chairman of the crusade.

Rev. Reece said a number of visitors from Lubbock, Tahoka and other area towns are helping swell the attendance. The crusade is being held in the Tower Theatre, with Mickey Bonner of Houston as the evangelist, and Richard Campbell of Lubbock in charge of the singing.

The crusade, sponsored by the First Baptist, Trinity Baptist, Calvary Baptist and Pleasant Valley Baptist churches, was to end Wednesday night.

7 injured in head-on crash

Seven persons were injured, five of them seriously in a head-on, pickup-car crash about 2:15 a. m. Sunday one and one-half miles northeast of Post on FM-451. None were from Post.

According to the state highway patrol who investigated a pickup driven by Adolpho Guerrero of Bloomfield, N. M., and containing Enrique L. Amaras of Crosbyton crashed head-on into a 1966 Ford driven by Paul Gene Latham of Vernon and containing five people.

With Latham in the Ford were his wife, Sandra, Al Real and Barney Dunlap, both of Crosbyton, and Mae Rainbolt of Lorenzo.

Of the seven involved in the crash, only Amaras and Dunlap escaped with minor injuries. The other five were given emergency treatment at Garza Memorial Hospital here and transferred to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock with broken bones.

In another area "injury accident" of the holiday weekend, Amarillis A. Kjersem of Farwell, Tex., suffered possible neck injuries when the 1966 car she was driving overturned six miles south of Post on US-84 at 8:30 p. m. Saturday.

Kent Kirkpatrick of Post won the grand award in the junior division of the annual July 4th Art Show at Snyder, which is a regular feature of the Independence Day celebration in Towle Memorial Park.

Kent placed first in the junior division with his landscape and also won a second place with his contemporary class entry. A Post High School senior, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kirkpatrick.

There were 224 entries in the art show. Pat Smith of Sweetwater took the grand award in the professional division, while LaVerne Lee of Snyder won the grand award in the adult amateur division.

Don't Fall For These Common Cold Superstitions

"Catch" the latest superstition on the common cold? Chances are good that you subscribe to one or more cold remedies that are being passed around by family and friends.

While there is little truth to these remedies, there is a way to deal with the miseries of colds and flu—through information provided by such medical experts as Dr. Morris Fishbein. Here are just a few "cold remedies" toward which you should build up a strong resistance.

Fallacy. You should feed a cold and starve a fever, or starve a cold and feed a fever.

Fallacy. Soak your feet in hot water or a mustard bath.

Fallacy. Take hot showers or cold showers, or take hot tub baths—or avoid baths.

Fallacy. Slap a mustard plaster on your chest.

Fallacy. Rub yourself with salves and ointments, either vile-smelling or perfumed.

Fallacy. You should perspire to get rid of various accumulations that either are responsible for or developed by colds.

Fallacy. Whiskey is the ultimate remedy.

Many individuals "swallow" the foregoing without consulting their doctors. Having little or no effect on colds or influenza, such "treatments" might even be harmful.

The above information appears in a new booklet, "Gosundheit," produced by Scott Paper Company, maker of sanitary, convenient, disposable Scotties Tissues. The booklet, written by Dr. Fishbein, past editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association and author of 26 medical books, including the "Handy Home Medical Advisor," is available by sending 25 cents to cover postage and handling to Scotties Cold Booklet, P.O. Box 9503, St. Paul, Minnesota 55195.

My special thanks to Earl Chapman and his men for taking over my job of cutting up the onions.

If anyone has an idea to suggest for making this celebration even better just ring my phone — 3461.
