Present mobile home owners given year to meet ordinance

Council votes final approval

The City Council Monday night on second reading enacted Post's first mobile home ordinance and then in separate action gave owners of the approximately 65 mobile homes now in Post a year in which to get into compliance with the new ordinance requirements.

Both actions were unanimous. Only one change was made in the ordinance on final reading. That was to reduce from ten to five feet the minimum distance a trailer can be located to a property line.

Under the new ordinance, only one trailer can be located on a 40-foot lot, the wheels must be removed, the trailer tied down and a "skirt" or covering be placed around the trailer from trailer floor level to ground level.

Trailers cannot be located less than 10 feet from any building or less than five feet from any property line.

The ordinance also requires complete utility connections conforming to pertinent city ordinances and a tie-down capable of withstanding winds of 70 miles per hour.

In making the motion to give present trailer home owners a year from April 21 to conform to all the ordinance's provisions, Dr. William Wilson stipulated in the same motion that a check be made every 90 days on each trailer home to see what progress is being made toward compliance.

The full ordinance, a major portion of which is devoted to stating requirements for the development of new trailer parks, will be printed in next week's issue of The Dispatch as required by law.

City Manager Pete Maddox told the council he and Mrs. Wanda Wilkerson, the city secretary, had understood the new ordinance requirements would not apply to present mobile home dwellers here. He said they have told many who have made inquiries about the ordinance this would be the case.

The ordinance does provide all regulations do not have to be met if "approved by the city council in cases of extreme personal hardship."

The ordinance has a penal provision which provides any person violating any provision of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined an amount not exceeding $200. Each day that such violation continues shall be a separate offense.

New trailer homes moving into Post after Monday will have to meet all requirements of the new ordinance.

Attorney volunteers to write 'dog law'

Believe it or not, Post has a new volunteer who wants to try and solve Post's "dog problem."

He is Harvey Morton of Lubbock, attorney for the city. Morton volunteered to write the city a comprehensive new dog ordinance Monday night after the council quickly bogged down in a discussion of recommendations for changes in the present ordinance made by CHAC (Citizens for Humane Animal Control).

Councilman Ed Sawyers, who has been working with the CHAC on the recommendations, gave each member a copy of the over two-page single spaced list of recommendations. CHAC did not have a delegation present.

Many references in the recommendations were made to Abilene's animal control ordinance.

Morton, after listening to the discussion and breaking in to explain how a citation system on dog owners really works, said he had written the Lubbock animal control ordinance.

This involved considerable time and study so Morton believes he has the background to at least write a dog ordinance which could serve as a starting point for a fresh start on the old problem.

The CHAC recommendations Monday night included using the police department to pick up strays and owned animals running loose and to give "dog tickets" or citations to owners who permit their animals to run loose.

Sawyers said he would favor paying police officers $25 extra in salary monthly for their new dog duties.

Councilman William Wilson said he is for picking up stray dogs but against giving citations to owners of dogs who are (See Dog Problem, Page 12)

The turnout at the testimonial meeting Monday night in city hall for a new Post youth-community center was impressive.

Especially in the number of kids on hand.

They probably didn't understand though what an effort it takes to make an impression on federal bureaucracy.

As the SPAG planner said, there is no guarantee Post will ever get a single dollar of the 100,000 it seeks for the project.

Several adults there recalled that they had grown up as teenagers using the same "teen town" as our teens are still doing today.

We thought back over the 18 years we had been in Post. Right from the start Mrs. C and this writer were chaperones at Teen Town, which then was teaching local youngsters to dance for the first time. That seems like a long time ago.

And off and on since, we've supported any effort begun to get proper community center and youth center facilities for the community.

At the same time, through those years, this community had to solve a critical water problem by helping to build the $4,000,000 White River Lake water system and pay pretty sizable taxes for a number of years to add to our water bill.

At the same time, we supported and saw built a $750,000 high school and gym to solve the community's educational problem.

In those same years, we saw (See Postings, Page 12)

Garza highway toll to five in 30 days

Mrs. Hang Ying Lee, 27, of Richardson became Garza County's fifth traffic fatality in the last 30 days when the 1975 Cadillac her husband, Sandy C. S. Lee, was driving overturned two miles south of Post on US-84 at 2 a. m. Sunday.

Four other members of the Chinese family were injured but none seriously.

Mrs. Lee, who was thrown from the car, was pronounced dead on arrival at Garza Memorial Hospital.

Most seriously injured was a younger brother of the driver, David C. W. Lee, who suffered a broken left shoulder. He too lives in Richardson.

The three Lee children who were in the vehicle as well as Mr. Lee suffered only minor cuts and abrasions. They are Christopher K. K. Lee, 16 months; Alexander D. K. Lee, 4 1/2; and Minia M. W. Lee, 8 1/2.

Lee told investigating highway patrolmen that his attention was distracted and the two-door hardtop hit a guard rail on the highway and he lost control. The car traveled across the highway into the meridian and overturned.

Lee owns the Royal Tahiti restaurant in Lubbock and another restaurant in Dallas, the Pe King Palace in Dallas.

Local arrangements were made through the Hudman Funeral Home. Funeral services and burial were to be held in Richardson.

Barfield given 5-year sentence

Herman Manley Barfield pleaded guilty to murder last Thursday morning before Garza district court judge George Hansard in the slaying of Lester Charles Cruse here last Nov. 8.

He was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary by Judge Hansard.

When the jury reported for the beginning of Barfield's murder trial at 9 a. m. Thursday, court-appointed defense attorney Ricky Smith of Lamesa announced that Barfield would plead guilty, so Judge Hansard dismissed the jury.

Support letters for vet needed soon

Garza County residents are reminded that letters to the Veterinarian are due by May 1. A letter campaign has been started to give Dr. Dick Kennedy the reactions and viewpoints of citizens in trying to secure a veterinarian before reaching a decision on whether or not to open a practice here. Letters may be addressed to Veterinarian, 811 West 12th, Post, Texas, 79356.

Funeral services for W. N. Williams, 86, of Post were held yesterday in the Post Church of Christ with Bob Connell, pastor officiating.

Mr. Williams died at 2:30 a. m. Monday in Twin Cedars Nursing Home. He had lived in Garza County since 1936 and was a retired farmer. He was a member of the Church of Christ. He married Lela Ann Tubbs in Abilene in 1906.

Lobban rites held Monday

Services for Vernon A. Lobban, 64, of Brownwood, formerly of Post, were held Monday in Northside Church of Christ in Brownwood with Ed Enzor, minister, officiating.

Graveside services were held at the I. O. F. Cemetery in Abilene at 5 p. m. Monday under direction of Davis-Morris Funeral Home of Brownwood.

Lobban died Friday at Brownwood Community Hospital after a sudden illness.

He was born Jan. 15, 1911, in Scurry County. He had served as a Marine in World War II and was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Post.

He moved to Brownwood from Post five years ago and was a member of Northside Church of Christ.

Survivors include his wife, Ruby, a son, Vernon Jr., of Odessa, and a daughter, Mrs. Janyce Morgan of Arlington; a sister, Mrs. Aurelia DeHay of Odessa; a brother, Alton of Brownfield; a half-brother, Henry of Flagstaff, Ariz.; his step-mother, Nonie of Odessa and five grandchildren. Pallbearers from Post were James Mitchell, Bud Davis and Billy Hahn.

Students make film strip here

The second grade students in Mrs. Doris Giddens class at Post Primary School have produced a colorful filmstrip for the Governor's Office of Traffic Safety in Austin.

The film, called "The Safest Show on Earth," was produced by the children with materials made available to the public school system by the Governor's Office of Traffic Safety to help teach pedestrian, bicycle and passenger safety.

The student producers created illustrations which were reproduced on film and returned to the school with a pre-recorded sound track. Each class participating in the program produces its own show. The filmstrip and recording become the property of the school for future use.

Officials at the Governor's Office of Traffic Safety will select art work used in the program for use in television public service announcements to be released in the Spring, 1975.

TESTING' EARLIER CRITICISMS

Dr. Barron praises 'modern' instruction in Post schools

School trustees Monday night, after electing officers for the next 12 months, received copies of a report by Dr. William E. Barron, superintendent of the state, praising the school district for its "modern instructional program" for Post school children.

Dr. Barron wrote that as he returned to Austin after his March visit "I ate every bit" of his 1971 study report on the Post schools "because to appreciate your accomplishments at Post, one must have the 'as was' and then the 'now'."

The individual packets developed and utilized by teachers through both in-service training and individual efforts reflect a "step forward" in educating students in Post. Classes no longer "textbook orient" and evidence is obvious that service and staff effort has increased.

Dr. Barron wrote that the self study for accreditation of all Post schools by the Southern Association has been completed "I am certain you will have schools in Post accredited by the reports are submitted."

Chairman for Chamber named

New committee chairmen were appointed and a decision was made on the remodeling of the new Chamber office were discussed at the meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce Thursday.

The new chamber office will be located at 106 South Broadway, when repairs are completed, and the office will be moving as soon as work is completed.

The committee chairmen for the coming year are: Bobby Davis, Youth Center and Community Development; Curly Hudman, Highway, Airport and Transportation; Charles McCook, Housing; Walter Didry, Banquet; Lewis Herron, Industrial Foundation and Farm and Ranch; Gene Moore, City and Tourist Promotion; Betty Mitchell, Retail Merchandise; Ronald Thuet, Commercial; and Robert Coon, membership.

"I needed you for progress," Dr. Barron wrote Shiver, "and all of you produced. Whatever this transition cost to date you got a bargain, and, in addition, have the best cost analysis system I have seen in the state."

"One cannot visit a class and not observe improved teacher and student morale," he wrote. Dr. Barron in conclusion cautioned Shiver and his staff "Not to get complacent and (See School Board, Page 12)

Antelope band to festival

Members of the Post Antelope Band began a very busy weekend of performances Wednesday when they traveled to Seagraves for the UIL Concert and Sight Reading contest. They will receive two ratings in this contest.

Early this morning the band left for Durango, Colo., to participate in the "Four Corners Music Festival". The band has worked toward this trip for a year and raised their own expenses through several projects sponsored by the Band and Band Boosters. They were able to charter two buses for the trip.

Approximately 75 members of the band are making the trip and will be participating in the Concert Contest and also several individuals will be entered in solo contests.

They were accompanied by Band Director Scott Houston and 10 parents. They will be staying at the Holiday Inn in Durango and plan to return to Post late Sunday night.

Garza voters okay two constitutional changes

Garza voters — the few of them who went to the polls, that is — went along with state majorities in the special constitutional amendment election Tuesday to grant state legislators pay raises and retired teachers and other retired state employees increased pensions.

Only 301 Garza voters took the trouble to mark ballots in one of the lightest state elections since the last time a special constitutional amendment election was held.

Garza voters favored the legislators' pay boost from $4,800 to $7,300 annually plus increases in per diem expenses to $30 a day and a mileage hike to 16 cents per mile for trips to home districts by 179 for to 119 against.

The vote to increase benefits to retired teachers and state employees carried by a wider margin 213 to 88.

Garza voters reacted the same way Texas voters did across the state giving the retirement benefit increases a much bigger margin than the lawmakers' salary hikes. Statewide, almost complete returns gave teacher retirement benefits a 393,470 to 138,343 margin, and the legislators' salary boosts only a 307,243 to 219,725 margin. There were some Garza (See Elections, Page 12)

Burglar alarm here sensitive

Police got Mrs. Iva Hudman out of bed early Monday morning to turn off the sensitive burglar alarm at Slaton Savings and Loan.

When the alarm went off, police investigated but found nothing amiss, but the alarm kept on ringing.

When the Slaton Savings and Loan's branch manager got downtown, she found a big truck had parked on the parking lot in front with its engine left running.

The engine apparently caused enough vibrations to trip the building's burglar alarm and kept it ringing.

What are our BiCentennial plans?

Where does Post and Garza County stand with its BiCentennial plans?

We've been asked that question several times since "The Shot Heard Round the World Day" Friday triggered the first BiCentennial events in West Texas, including Tahoka, Odessa and Lubbock.

The last The Dispatch heard, the mayor had appointed a BiCentennial committee a year or more ago and this group had a long list of BiCentennial projects.

Well, it's time to finalize, or formalize, or get them on the agenda.

Some want at least one big community improvement project selected as a BiCentennial project with completion projected for July 4, 1976 (that is the date of the signing of the Declaration of Independence and probably will be the focal date of the several-year-old BiCentennial movement.)

With this suggestion is the nomination of the combined community-youth center as the No. 1 BiCentennial project.

Certainly, that is a worthy choice.

But getting that one done by July 4, 1976 would take some doing. Right now a second application for federal aid is being prepared after the first preliminary effort for $350,000 failed by a few project judging points as ranking high enough for final consideration.

Big John's still been 'had'

Big John Connally sailed unscathed through a decade of rough and tumble Texas politics, but he has been dealt a near-fatal below-the-belt punch in political skirmishing around the nation's capital.

Most fair-minded folks the nation over probably will concede that a proper verdict was returned last week when Big John was found innocent of accepting a political bribe from the milk producers.

If Big John came home to Texas and ran for Texas office tomorrow we have not the slightest doubt but what he would be elected.

Folks in the Lone Star State, and most of them are a mite conservative, like John Connally and the way he does things.

But so far as Connally attempting to continue any campaign for the presidency in 1976, he has been "had."

In the other 49 states, Big John is "another Texan" and Texans for most folks aren't easy to swallow.

That's why the bribery trial he sailed through probably has "done him in" politically. It's a shame too.

The Watergate prosecutors had a very

New ordinance is needed

While the adoption this week of a mobile homes ordinance for the City of Post may present some difficulties to mobile home owners already here, there is no question but that a mobile homes ordinance has been badly needed for Post for sometime.

The situation could easily have gotten out of hand as pulling a mobile home into town and putting it down on a vacant lot is about the only way for newcomers to move in due to the current housing shortage.

With this situation there have been lookers for establishing a large trailer court here. If the council hadn't gotten around to providing safety and health standards for such courts before a new one was opened, the town might

We've also heard that the Post Chamber of Commerce is talking about expanding its annual Fourth of July celebration next year into a super effort which would include a parade and other additions to the free barbecue and night fireworks foremat.

That sounds like a great idea and we hope to be publishing an announcement of an expanded Fourth of July celebration for 1976 in the near future so that proper planning on the expansion can have time to develop.

This editorial is designed to stir BiCentennial interest here in Post and Garza County. It is not intended to be in the least way critical of BiCentennial planning efforts. We just don't know what they include — and as far as we know the public doesn't either.

It's time to complete the plans and put them before the people. If the planning process is not complete, then let's complete it. If it's just a lack of communications, then we offer our news columns for public communication.

Of course, Post and Garza County got a four-day head start on "the shot heard round the world day" with the dedication of the new county flag presented to County Judge Giles Dalby a week ago Monday by the Garza County Historical Survey Committee. That was designated as a BiCentennial event.

flimsy case on Connally. It all hung on the word of a perjurer who admitted he lied before the grand jury.

In return for his testimony against Connally a severe penitentiary charge against him was promised to be dismissed (although this hasn't happened yet.)

If we have set some new political morality standards with Watergate, maybe we should set some new "prosecution morality standards" with Connally.

Never again should an admitted perjurer be promised freedom from a major criminal charge in return for his doubtful testimony.

In fact, with all the investigators in Washington who are now out of jobs with the conclusion of Watergate, maybe a few ought to be hired to investigate the investigators and get to the bottom of the Connally case, smoking out the whys and the wherefores for public scrutiny.

We are rooting for Big John to make a comeback, but we doubt if he can pull it off, not a national political comeback anyway. But if he wants to try, we would sooner support him for a national office than Senator Benton, who still has to learn most of his political lessons.

easily live to regret it.

Mobile home folks must remember that ordinance restrictions are there for their own health and safety and are not just restrictions for restrictions sake.

The council generously gave present mobile home owners a full year to bring their mobile homes into compliance with the new ordinance. There were some obvious regrets on the part of council members in having in the community's best interest to adopt mobile home requirements which might prove a burden to present mobile home families here.

But a year from now efforts to regulate would be even worse, and two years or more from now still worse.

Statebeat

By KURT E. JOHNSON
AUSTIN — Hold onto your foldin' money folks. The State-house boys have loaded the dice again.

At the same time that they somehow found enough hours in-between shoe-shines to introduce a record number of bills, including such earth-shattering legislation as affecting outboard motors (HB 72,) legislators have avoided the issue of asking Texas voters to decide by referendum whether the state needs a new constitution.

Instead, the state salons have agreed on eight separate propositions which will be submitted to the voters on November 4 as constitutional amendments. And with that, citizens will have no voice on either a new constitution or on the question of a citizens' convention.

Not only that, but the eight propositions offered as potential amendments are so full of compromise that they make little progress referable to current needs. And, in addition, each proposition is comprehensive to the extent that most citizens will see each one as containing both positive and negative elements, and yet on each one the citizen will have to vote "for" or "against."

In honor, then, of the legislature's excellent work, this week's column is devoted to providing a sample from each proposition noting both a "good" and a "bad" as a means of illustrating just what a garbled mailewick of confusion the voter will undergo when entering the voting booth.

The legislative proposition: it is very good that the legislature would be able to call itself into session by three-fifths vote even if the governor doesn't agree, but it is dubious that a 90-day session in the even-numbered years (as distinguished from the 140-day sessions in the odd-numbered years) would be enough time for accomplishing anything in light of how slowly things seem to move under the dome. Besides, if the legislature can call itself into session based on the need for legislation, why does it have annual sessions prescribed?

The constitutional amendment proposition: it is good that the legislature can call constitutional conventions and that it is forced to submit such a question to the voters at least once every thirty years. One wonders, however, whether this state will ever trust its citizens enough to allow anyone other than legislators to write the constitution or any amendments.

The county government provision: it is good that counties will get more powers for governing, but one questions the validity of putting a city home-rule provision within the same proposition so that the pair either stands or falls together.

The general provisions proposition: it is good that the government enact constitutional statutes to provide protection for the environment; but one wonders why the voter has to consider this issue within the same vote as the one which regulates bingo.

The executive proposition: it is good that the governor would have broader fiscal powers in order to keep the state budget solvent, but one wonders why a reform measure like this one will have to be weighed against increased powers to make appointments, a throwback to an old post office system of making sure that you could have a lot of old friends around after a successful candidacy.

The judiciary proposition: it is good that district courts would have uniform jurisdiction, but one wonders whether due process in law is being circumvented with the proposed merger of the State Supreme Court and the Court of Criminal Appeals.

The education provision: it is good that an ad valorem tax would be levied to benefit institutions outside the UT and A&M systems, but one wonders about the wisdom of funding schools by bonds "based on need" without some prescription for deciding "need." Whoever is in the position of determining need will be in a juicy position for contributing to some alma mater abuse.

The finance provision: it is good that appraisal of property taxes with significant uniformity should be part of the state's constitution, but one really questions constitutional earmarking of three-fourths of the motor fuel tax for highways when mass transit is obviously an issue, even for Texas.

My sources indicate that, generally speaking, there was less controversy, name calling and general in-fighting between legislators on these provisions than on many pieces of non-constitutional lawmaking and this fact is particularly curious in light of all the blood that was spilled in the summer of '74 when the constitutional convention met and failed to agree on a document.

The only answer I can find is that a great majority of the Austin lawmakers must have had a common agreement on something, namely a need to keep constitutional revision and its authorship out of citizens' reach.

After some of these provisions are added to the constitution which should have been revised in 1974, it's no wonder intelligent and informed citizens become pretty cynical about politicians.

4-H WE CAN MAKE IT HAPPEN

Did you know that one out of every six Americans is a former 4-H member? 4-H gives the youth of our country vast opportunities for learning. Also 4-H provides 265 educational and college scholarships valued at $184,000; 1,400 expense paid trips to National 4-H Congress and other events; over 100 medals per county; U. S. Savings Bonds, watches, plaques, and other awards; and other club and county recognition.

4-H consists of over 100 projects. Almost any interest can become a 4-H project. Some projects are automotive, bicycle, conservation of natural resources, consumer education, dog care, electricity, veterinary, medicine, exploration, photography, fishing, clothing, food and nutrition, beef, swine, lambs, and many, many others. 4-H offers travel, friends, excitement, leadership and fun. Did you know 4-H has an exchange program with other states and other countries? There are other traveling experiences to Washington D. C., Europe, England and other places. Travel experiences, campus, and other events offer new friends, fun and excitement.

"Young people can get involved in project groups, special interest group or service groups that appeal to their interests." While 4-H meetings cover a variety of subjects and activities and held periodically, project groups work on one specific subject and last only as long as the project endures.

"Project subjects may include gardening, auto repair, raising and caring for an animal, safety and clothing. These project groups are usually directed by a volunteer leader.

Special interest groups are a vital part of the 4-H program and may deal with such subjects as drugs, dating, etiquette and ecology. These group studies help youth learn more about the world in which they live and help them to better adapt to the changing environments. "Service groups work to help improve the community and may engage in fund raising projects for the needy and disadvantaged or work on neighborhood beautification or with underprivileged youth.

"The 4-H and youth program is a good way to get involved in today's world." Through 4-H, We Can Make It Happen. 4-H is open to everyone regardless of race, creed or ethnic origin. Listed below are county 4-H clubs and leaders:

Close City — Jane Terry 495-3063; Graham — Orabeth White, 327-5344; Post 4-H Girls — Shirley Bland, 629-4230; Post Jr. High — Syd Conner 495-2050; Post Elementary Boys — Tommy Young; Pleasant Valley — Ann Chaffin, 296-3362; and Junior Leaders — Paula Cawthon, 495-2050.

Two major classes of sorghum are grown in the United States. Sweet Sorghum or Sorgo accounts for about 20% of the crop and is grown for forage, silage and sorghum (often called cane) syrup. The vast majority of the crop is grain sorghum. Although grain sorghum is grown predominantly for the grain, it also acts as a dual purpose plant with stalks commonly used as forage or silage. Experts don't always agree on world sorghum production but they generally acknowledge that a least 125 million acres are now used for planting sorghum crops. Use of sorghum as a food grain in China, Africa and India ranks sorghum with corn as a contender for the third most important food grain in the world (behind wheat and rice). All estimates are not yet in for this year's acreage in grain sorghum, but indications are, although local areas may show some increase, the national crop could be reduced as much as 5 percent.

King Richard wins Post Enduro's 6-foot tall trophy

National champ protests only points against him

King Richard still reigned Sunday, as far as the Post National Enduro was concerned.

King Richard, who is national enduro champion Dick Burleson from Loraine, Ohio, easily was the class of a field of 400 motorcycle riders from 13 states.

On a scoring basis of whoever has the fewest points wins, Burleson had only two points marked up against him and he protested those, claiming one of the timing gates was a minute off and prevented him from riding the 116 mile cross-country ranch course "on time."

The only rider who came close to Burleson was Jim Fortune of Webster City, Ia., who is another high ranked national enduro rider. He had seven points.

This was Burleson's fourth national enduro of the year — some 23 were run in the spring and fall last year to avoid the summer's heat — and King Richard has won three of them.

He finished second in his first 1975 enduro start in Virginia but then won in New Jersey and Ohio before coming to Post for this one.

Burleson is a 27-year-old with complete confidence in his own ability who makes his living representing one of the top international motorcycle manufacturers.

He won the national enduro title the last two years and for the last four years has been one of America's representative in the 1,200 enduro competition over six days which is dominated by the Czechs, who King Richard calls "professionals."

Burleson was the top American rider in the international competition last year.

The American Motorcycle Association, which is the sponsoring organization for the national enduros, scores the winner of each enduro with 30 points and takes each entrant's "top 10 enduros" of the year in figuring his national ranking.

Last year Burleson won nine of 14 national enduro starts to be almost perfect.

King Richard won the first overall trophy for his Post triumph and that trophy was taller than he was. The trophy, biggest of the 39 awarded late Sunday afternoon, was well over six feet in height.

Asked by The Dispatch what he thought of Post's range enduro course, he termed it a "fair course" with the front side a little too easy but the back side considerably better.

Fortune, who is a motorcycle dealer in Iowa for the same firm Burleson represents, said he had gotten off to a "bad start" this season.

Both said they were used to riding in woods and forests and seeing lots of people in their enduros.

Here there is not any trees, only cactus, and no people either. You can look in every direction and see nothing but the same.

The only "locals" winning trophies Sunday were: Jay Callaway of Southland, who won first for B riders, in the 16-year-old and under class. Jay is 14. The youth division like the women's division, competes over only the front half of the course, meaning slightly over 50 miles. Jay had a very good score of 8 for that distance.

Eddie Parks of Fluvanna finished third and took a trophy with a third for Class B riders in the 101 to 125 centimeter motorcycle division.

The weather Sunday was one of the better days in local enduro history. It wasn't too hot, but there was a brisk wind which caused some riders some trouble.

There were of course numerous spills around the course, but fewer major injuries than usual.

A Red Cross representative told The Dispatch that the worst of the injured included one fractured ankle, one bone chip in an ankle, and a broken collarbone.

"I think one of the riders may be walking around with a broken leg but he wouldn't go in to have a doctor look at it until the whole enduro was over," a Red Cross representative said. "He didn't want to miss anything."

Eighteen Red Cross volunteers from Lubbock spent the day patching up fallen riders, especially the leg abrasions which result from spills.

They manned six first aid stations around the course, each with radio communications. Post provided its reserve ambulance for the day. It was driven by a Lubbock ambulance driver.

The major injuries were "run" into Lubbock for treatment.

The first enduro rider went through the starting gate on the front side on schedule at 8 a. m. and the show was over with the presentation of the 39 trophies at around 6 p. m.

Some 60 members of the sponsoring Lubbock Trail Riders Club manned the check points and the check-in and scoring vans throughout the day.

In the results, the A riders are those competing for national enduro points and the B riders are those who are not.

Fortune won the trophy for being the first A rider, after Burleson took the overall trophy, and Lewis Cunningham won the first place B rider trophy with 22 points.

Home towns of the various winners were not available. Here are the other winners:

A half million tiny walleys perch have been dumped into the White River Lake.

Game Warden Bud Howell, who put the 500,000 perch into the lake's deepest water last week so they wouldn't be gobbled up by other fish, told The Dispatch that the perch will grow to four inches in length in a couple of weeks and will weigh a pound and a half each within a year.

The perch were picked up from the state fish hatchery at San Angelo.

News from In and Around Post High School

If you have dared venture into the jungle, better known as PHS, you may have noticed a contagious disease going around. Several of the inhabitants have already been infested with it. What is this disease? It is known in the medical circles as inflammation of the spirit. We call it "Spring Fever". You see its effects all around the school. A couple of recent cases have been reported. Joe Moore was seen hanging from a 10 foot Citizen Band Radio antenna. Donna Dye was seen bouncing down the steps of the south entrance last week in an exhibition of pure grace. These are only two of the many reported cases. We fear that this "disease" will reach epidemic proportions before school is let out for the year. At this time the teachers are planning a mass evacuation around May 29th. This means that you people in the outside world have six weeks to prepare for the invasion of a restless youth. Good luck in your preparations. This also means that we students have six more weeks to plan our "war" strategies. "They're coming to take us away... Ha Ha Hee Hee!"

The Seniors had a meeting last week to decide where to take their annual trip. The decision was reached by way of a school wide poll of Seniors. The choice was almost unanimous. The trip will be to "Six Flags Over Texas". They will leave early the morning of the May 24 and return later that night. Everyone is really excited about the trip. The girls are trying to decide what to wear. And the guys are trying to create some new pranks to pull on unsuspecting sponsors and fellow students. It looks like the Seniors will not only get to enjoy a day all to themselves but those of us who are left behind will get a long deserved rest from the wayward ways of our upper classmen.

As very few people know the annual staff here at P.H.S. is faced with deadlines which they have to meet. This means that they have to have a specific amount of pages mailed and on the publisher's desk by a certain date. They have worked hard every chance they have had every day. They have given up a lot of their own spare time in preparing our 1974-75 "Caprock" annuals. We are happy to announce that the staff has only one more deadline to make before our completed annuals hit the press. If you have a spare moment why don't you take a second and stop a member of the annual staff and let them know how much you appreciate their hard work. The staff responsible for this year's publication are as follows: Dana Pool, editor; Jimmy Pierce, assistant editor; Denise Higgins and Pat Nelson, business managers and Lorry Chapman, photographer. And especially Mrs. Fleming who, even with her classes all day, has time to do this very special task for us as she has for so many years. Thank you people, from the paper staff.

It seems our teachers are spreading their fame as attentive classroom observers. Four of our teachers journeyed to El Paso schools where they observed classes. They also attended a reading conference. The traveling teachers were: Mrs. N. R. King, freshman English teacher from P.H.S.; Mrs. Jess Cornell, fourth grade teacher; Mrs. Lane Tannehill, who teaches sixth language arts and a group of eighth grade readers; and Miss Nancy Vaughn, third grade teacher.

NOTICE: This is of special interest to Seniors. Your invitations are in at the Dispatch. We would like to remind you to get them in the mail. Graduation is coming fast, don't let it catch you at the last minute.

The Juniors had a meeting last week. The class approved the ordering of materials for the Junior-Senior banquet. They were briefed on how the setting would look. The band committee has booked one of the best bands out of Lubbock, "Crossroads South." You'll be glad to know that their P. A. system has a "low" volume knob which they have promised to utilize if necessary. The servers for the banquet were elected from the Sophomore Class. They are as follows: Christy Conner, Amy Cowdrey, Nancy Gandy, Vickie Gannon, Nelda Leake, Kim Loft, Jodine Tipton, Karen Williams, Matt Allison, Mike Babb, Jimmy Dorland, Kyle Duren, Mark Kirkpatrick, Dan Sawyers, Mike Waldrip, Randall Wyatt, Alternate servers are: Tiana Shivers and Tracy McAllister. Congratulations people. But you've got your hands full. The Junior-Senior Banquet will be held in the Junior High Gym, May 17th. The scheduled speaker will be the second youngest man in the Texas House of Representatives. His name is John Whitmire. He is a 25 year old bachelor. Look out world, an eligible bachelor in Post even for one night doesn't stand a chance.

ONCE UPON A TIME

By Ken Metzger

How seriously do we take our loyalty to our local church. A little thing came across my desk the other day and I would like to pass it along:
ONCE UPON A TIME A MAN GOT MARRIED
After the honeymoon he disappeared. His wife heard nothing from him except that she received a check from him once a month. One evening he walked in, kissed her, and sat down to be fed. She was incensed. Bewildered, the man asked, "What's the matter?" "I married you didn't I? I told you I love you. I send you a check each month! What more do you want?"
ONCE UPON A TIME A CHILD ENROLLED IN SCHOOL
For several days he was absent. When the Truant

Officer came around his mother said, "Oh, we feel Jimmy can be as good a scholar at home as at school, so we let him play in the back yard and learn from nature."
ONCE UPON A TIME A MAN VOLUNTEERED FOR THE ARMY
He took the oath of allegiance and was inducted but he failed to report for duty. When the Military Police came he said, "I've been shooting guns since I was a kid. I don't think I have anything more to learn from the army. You just call me when you are ready to fight."
AND ONCE UPON A TIME A FAMILY JOINED THE CHURCH...

School board—

(Continued From Page One) stabilize everything." He urged the superintendent to keep pushing the secondary program development and to modify goals as needed "not hold them sacred forever."

"It was a real pleasure to see the changes that have transpired since my initial visit in 1964," Dr. Barron wrote. "This remarkable transition could not have come about without able leadership from the board and yourself, the principals and the staff."

Silas Short was elected president of the school trustees for the next 12 months succeeding K. W. Kirkpatrick. Bob Macy was re-elected vice president and John Boren was re-elected secretary to complete the board's reorganization following the April election.

School Tax Assessor Ira (Dad) Greenfield appeared before the board to present tax problems which have developed through the delinquent tax sales of various properties here.

Supt. Shiver, who recently attended a four-day executive development seminar at Wimberly, reported to the board from what he was told at the seminar by officials from Austin the Governor's School Financing plan will not be enacted by the Texas legislature because the state doesn't have the money to finance it and so many districts wouldn't benefit that the plan is not politically feasible.

Trustees took under advisement a report from Duane McQueen of Whitaker and Hall, Lubbock architectural and engineering firm, concerning the choices on replacing present asphalt tile floors in the high school.

The floors are 16 years old and the average life of such tile is 18 years, McQueen noted, in explaining the tile is now starting "to come up."

He said the tile could be replaced for 55 to 60 cents a square foot by new tile with an additional 10 cents per square foot charge to remove present tile. Or, he pointed out, indoor-outdoor carpet could be put down at a cost of $1 to $1.15 per square foot. The carpet which has a 14-year average life would be cheaper to maintain and would give improved appearance and less noise.

He estimated to replace present tile with carpet would cost $17,000 and to replace it with tile would be around $9,000.

McQueen distributed copies of a long written report on the two choices for trustees to study before making a decision.

Trustees approved bills totaling $21,869 and authorized four budget change requests by Supt. Shiver which included an additional $3,550 over budgeted figures for increased cost of electricity, gas and gasoline for the current school year.

'The Miser' is smash at home

A good sized audience of students and adults applauded what probably was the best one act play ever staged by Post High students at the close of the public presentation of "The Miser" in the primary school auditorium last Thursday night.

The entire cast — and it was a large one for a one act play — was excellent and the three leads, Kent Kirkpatrick as the miser, Jennifer Miller as his daughter, and Nan Hair, as Frosine, the matchmaker, were outstanding.

All three were named best actor or best actress in district or area competition.

The very competent direction of Miss Dianne Lewallen, high school speech instructor, made the entire presentation pure delight for its audience.

Those viewing the play went home convinced the play should have merited top consideration in state competition and wondered why it did not win the area competition as well as district. — JC

Postings—

For most of all those years, Post kept wanting a community and youth center but simply didn't have the money to pay for it.

That was before the days of the city sales tax and federal revenue sharing.

Now neither the city nor county has a tax debt, other than the old water debt Post created many years ago trying to drill for water and lease more water rights, before White River Lake.

A $100,000 federal block grant would be a mighty nifty start toward such a combination community-youth center, if we can swing it.

We think the time has come at last for the dream of a center to become reality. We think the city and county should join together for the effort. We feel sure any bonds needed will be approved by the voters.

At last we're in position to build what we want.

City Council—

Jim Jackson accepted appointment as the council's representative on the Garza County Community Action Committee replacing Jim Wells.

The city voted to accept the negotiated increase to $175 from the county for each fire call answered in the county by the Post fire department.

Discussed two bids on a new city office air conditioner with Maddox asked to rewrite specifications and get new bids with a two-member council committee of Sawyers and Jackson named to select the best bid so that installation of a new unit does not have to wait the next council session.

Approved lease terms for the Retail Merchants Association to use the former police building and to sub-lease a portion of it to the Post Chamber of Commerce.

Heard Jim Cornish explain that the new Chamber of Commerce committee on housing, under J. B. Potts as chairman, plans to organize a non-profit corporation to push for a Farmers Home Administration 10-unit rental housing project with guidance from a housing specialist of either SPAG or the South Plains Community Action Ass'n, Inc.

Heard Mayor McCrary explain that he, the city manager, city secretary and city auditor will work up a rough draft of the new city budget to be used as a starting point for the council's budget preparation next month.

The council agreed that from now on "work sessions" on the third Monday night of each month are to be devoted to informal discussions and postponed actions with the regular monthly meetings being the time to hear any individuals or groups which want to appear before the council.

Soil conservation was launched 40 years ago

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Bob Arheiger, District Conservationist furnished the following news release, date line April 27, 1936. On this date, the Soil Conservation Service was created to combat forces that threatened to lay waste to millions of acres of cropland. Arheiger said, "some readers will remember the dust bowl that led to the creation of this agency.")

WASHINGTON, D. C. — In an atmosphere of national emergency resulting from violent dust storms in the south and midwest, President Roosevelt today signed Public Law No. 46, directing Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace to establish an agency to be known as the soil conservation service to provide for the protection of land and water resources.

Under the new legislation, the Secretary of Agriculture has broad authority to conduct surveys, investigations, and research for the control of erosion by wind and water. He is authorized to conduct demonstration projects, to carry out a wide range of preventive operations and to give aid to private persons and public agencies.

Secretary Wallace immediately issued a departmental memorandum establishing the Soil Conservation Service (SCS) in the Department of Agriculture. He named Hugh Hammond Bennett, Director of the Soil Erosion Service, Chief of the new agency.

Bennett has led a dedicated campaign for several years for a national program to control soil erosion. He has traveled and spoken throughout the country to teach professional workers, farmers and the general public understand the dangers of soil erosion on agricultural land.

A native of Anson County in Piedmont, North Carolina, Bennett is a graduate of the University of North Carolina. He joined the USDA Bureau of Soils in 1903, and was made Director of the Soil Erosion Service, Department of the Interior, in 1933. He is the author of several technical papers, including the USDA circular 33, "Soil Erosion, A National Menace."

All of the other 10 precincts in the county voted with a majority in favor of both amendments.

The Justicburg precinct, No. 4, the Close City precinct, No. 5, and the No. 9 precinct with voting at the Lorenzo Alexander Center in northeast Post all voted against the increase in teachers benefits.

On the legislators' pay hike amendment, No. 5 (Close City), No. 7 (City Hall, Post) and No. 9 (Alexander Community Center, Post) all voted against with No. 4 (Justicburg) and No. 10 (Lutheran Church, Post) being ties.

Dog Problem—

The physician said he thinks the best way to handle violations is for neighbors to swear out a warrant for the arrest of the owner of a vicious or property damaging dog not for the councilmen to be responsible for all dogs.

Councilman Jim Jackson said he didn't like a "dog ticket" system of enforcement either.

Mayor Giles McCrary declared, "You'll bring a revolution on our heads."

All seemed to agree that the council shouldn't force the police to become animal wardens unless they wanted to do it and that a salary boost could be offered as an incentive factor.

Mayor McCrary said probably various sections of the current animal ordinance are illegal. The CHAC recommended taking out whole sections of the current ordinance because CHAC said they were not legal.

In the CHAC recommendations, City Manager Pete Maddox would inherit some new dog duties too.

The CHAC recommended that "the destruction of any animal be under the complete supervision of the city manager and no police patrolman has the authority to destroy any animal under any circumstances."

The CHAC also recommended the city manager "supervises personnel closely in order to be sure the pens are cleaned daily, and fresh food and water is put out twice daily, and being sure appropriate food is being fed for both small and large dogs."

The CHAC recommended a number of pen changes also, including adding pens to separate male from female dogs as well as large from small, and sick from well, plus a pen in which to hold an animal for observation if the animal is rabid or thought to be.

CUT YOUR TAXES!

WE'RE INTRODUCING A NEW INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNT [IRA] THAT COULD MAKE A BIG DIFFERENCE IN YOUR INCOME TAX RETURNS WHILE YOU'RE WORKING, AND IN YOUR INCOME WHEN YOU RETIRE.

Individuals not participating in other pension funds can put 15% of their annual income [up to $1,500 a year] in IRA's. You may participate in both IRA and Social Security.

The amounts deposited in IRA's are deductible from taxable income within the above limits. You do pay taxes as you begin to withdraw money when the plan matures, but at that time, your yearly income will probably be considerably lower than it is now. And so will your taxes.

IF HUSBAND & WIFE ARE BOTH EMPLOYED [EITHER FULL OR PART-TIME] EACH MAY HAVE AN INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNT. SELF-EMPLOYED INDIVIDUALS ARE ALSO ELIGIBLE [FARMERS & RANCHERS INCLUDED].

BELOW IS AN EXAMPLE WHICH SHOWS THE ADVANTAGES OF SUCH A PLAN OVER A 30-YEAR SPAN. IT IS ASSUMED THAT THE MONEY INVESTED EARNS 7 3/4% COMPOUNDED DAILY.

YEAR	TOTAL IRA CONTRIBUTIONS $1500/YEAR	TOTAL INVESTMENT VALUE
1	1,500	1,621
5	7,500	9,620
10	15,000	23,645
15	22,500	44,207
20	30,000	74,646
