Lopes bow to Ozona 30-14 in regional

The No. 3 state-ranked Ozona Lions controlled the line of scrimmage, both on offense and defense, most of the game Friday night to hand Coach Jackie Brown's Post Antelopes a 30 to 14 defeat in their regional playoff clash in Odessa's 20,000-seat W. T. Barrett stadium.

The victory moved the Lions into the quarter-final round against Childress which came from behind in the second half to smother the Floydada Whiteknights 34 to 13 in their regional clash at Amarillo the same night.

Actually, Ozona's victory margin all came from superiority in various phases of the kicking game — the first time the Lopes have come off second best in that department all season.

The first time Ozona touched the ball Safety Orlando Dehoyos gathered in Buddy Britton's 33-yard punt on his 18 and sprinted 72 yards for a touchdown without a Lope getting close to him. Covering kicks — that's part of the kicking game — and the run was the first time an opponent had broken one against the Lopes this season.

Late in the first half, big tight end John Galvan blocked another of Britton's kicks on the Post 15-yard-line and the Lions recovered on the Post three to set up another easy score. Of course, protecting the kicker is part of the kicking game.

And then late in the game, the same John Galvan toed a 29-yard field goal through the uprights into the teeth of a bitter cold north wind to put the final icing on the cake.

Post was trailing 21 to 0 when it got its touchdown on the final play of the first half on the finest run of Fullback Randall Wyatt's high school football career.

The Teenagers Live Nativity Scene, which has had three showings on each Christmas eve in our double carport for the last 15 years, has become a casualty of life's changing pattern — just as we always knew someday it would.

The Cornish Christmas this year will be held at our older daughter and son-in-law's new home in Houston, so the Live Nativity Scene tradition at last is coming to an end.

We are announcing it now, with mixed emotions of course, to give any other group who might want to carry it on someplace else the opportunity.

We have the music and the words on tape, the costumes and all the necessary items stored away in closets.

It was a lot of fun over the years since Mrs. C started it the year we moved into our present home. We think a lot of youngsters have enjoyed participating in it, and we know a lot of people who have come to see it in all kinds of weather have enjoyed it.

Maddox pullets laying four-ounce eggs here

What with packaging becoming a determining factor in the price of goods bought nowadays, Thurman Maddox has come up with a unique solution.

He has acquired 14 chickens, crosses between a White Rock and a Rhode Island Red, that are laying extra, extra large eggs, and "double yolkers" to boot. So he has the perfect "2 in 1 egg."

Thurman purchased the hens from his father-in-law, J. E. Lowe of Glen Rose, and they have been laying since October, and are still considered to be pullets. The eggs are monstrous, now, with the largest one that Thurman brought into The Dispatch office, measuring eight and one-half inches over the pointed end and seven inches around the middle. The egg weighed exactly one-fourth pound, or four ounces. Wonder what the pullets will produce when they are considered laying hens.

Thurman says he is not feeding them any special feed and not treating them in any special way.

They grow off very fast, growing to fryer size at six weeks of age and when they are grown, they make a good six to eight pound cooking hen.

United Fund over $10,000

Garza County's 1977 United Fund drive edged to within nearly $500 of its $10,875 goal Wednesday.

Drive Chairman Jim Cornish reported money and pledges to date totaled $10,131.50 with the final cleanup under way.

"We may make it or we may not," Cornish said Wednesday. "There are still some major pledges out in both the business division and the farm and ranch division."

Of the pledges, $2,043 represents upcoming Postex employee payroll deductions or the Burlington Industries contribution to the drive which already has been approved with a check for the largest single contribution on the way.

Contributions and pledges by divisions are led as always by the business division with $6,130 (See United Fund, Page 10)

Post pair in talent contest

Two Post youths will be competing in Fort Worth this weekend in the State Farm Bureau Convention Talent Contest. Jennifer Miller and Tracy McAlister, who have won two area contests will be trying for state honors and a 10-day expense paid trip to Hawaii.

Jennifer gives a reading "Day of Decision" and is accompanied on the piano by Tracy. The reading is one that was recorded by Johnny Seay and he has given the couple permission to use it. Tracy wrote some of the music he uses to accompany Jennifer, and arranged it all.

They will be leaving for Fort Worth Saturday with hopes of earning the right to represent Texas in the National Convention in December in Hawaii.

Garza's harvest is near halfway mark

Farmers are lot happier

Garza's 1976 cotton harvest is in full swing with the county's gins Wednesday reporting 13,045 bales ginned and another 1,955 on their gin yards, but thousands of more bales already were harvested and ricked in the fields for later ginning.

Some gins reported from "about half" to "over half" completed with the ginning of cotton in their respective areas.

In every case, ginners report yields and quality both good as well as higher prices this year.

The harvest, it is agreed, is just a whole lot better than last year, and even better than expected.

One gin expects to have most of their ginning done in three more weeks if the weather holds. Gins with two crews are running round the clock. Gins with only one crew are going about 14 hours.

Here is a gin by gin report: At Planters Gin, Manager Buck Craft reports 1,024 bales ginned with 40 on the yard. The gin is operating 15 hours a day and "staying up", but Buck figures it will be well into January before the ginning is completed. Yields are better than expected. It is in this gin area, below the caprock, that the boll weevils have taken their toll. Craft estimates on every 65 acres there are 16 less bales of cotton being produced this year due to the weevils. He says the Justiceburg and Verbera areas are hard hit by weevils.

Storie Gin has ginned 999 bales with 80 bales on yard. Lonnie Peel reports the gin running 14 hours a day with the yield pretty fair.

Graham Gin: 2,930 bales ginned, over 800 more on the yard, two crews keeping the gin operating 24 hours a day for the past three weeks. Farmers in area are pretty happy with their yields.

Close City Gin: W. H. Childs reports 1,700 bales ginned, 500 on yard, one crew working 14 hours daily.

Pleasant Valley Gin: 923 bales ginned, 116 more on yard, one crew operating 14 to 16 hours a day.

Southland Gin: H. R. Donaldson reports about 1,600 bales ginned, 50 more on yard, a 24 hour a day operation with the ginning probably about half complete. Hackberry Gin: 4,578 bales ginned, 120 on yard of which about 50 percent figured as Garza cotton. Two crews operating 24 hours a day for past month. Little over half through. Grassland Coop Gin: 2,640 bales ginned of which about 25 percent is Garza cotton. Another 650 bales on yard. Have been operating 24 hours daily for last three weeks with two crews. Producers Coop Gin, Grassland: 2,759 bales ginned, 432 more on yard, about half done, been operating 24 hours a day with two crews last three weeks. One third of this cotton estimated as Garza cotton.

Dairy Queen opens with 17 employees

With 17 Post residents as employees, Post's newest food service establishment — the Dairy Queen at 601 North Broadway on Highway 84 — is now open and in its second week of operation.

Eager to serve its first walk-in customer, this first Dairy Queen in Post opened ahead of schedule, a week ago Sunday on Nov. 21, while finishing stages of its construction were still in progress.

The 59th Dairy Queen in the organization of I. B. (Barney) Chapman II of Fort Worth, the nation's largest private owner-operator of DQ fast-food restaurants, and his four Dairy Queen corporations, it is the 27th whose operations are a part of his Dairy Queen of West Texas, Inc.

Post water line is shut off to repair break

Post's 16-inch White River water line was shutdown almost 20 hours just before Thanksgiving last week to repair a hard-to-find break, but Post didn't run out of water.

The oil companies, which receive water for current oil field waterflooding operations from the big line, were cut off at 6 p. m. Tuesday, Nov. 23, and didn't get back on until 36 hours later — at 6 a. m. Thanksgiving morning.

Pressure in the big water line dropped Sunday night signalling a break somewhere between the filtration plant at the lake and Post.

It wasn't until Tuesday afternoon that White River workers checking the line found the break. No wonder it was hard to find. The 2-inch split in the pipe came at the bottom of McDonald Creek, 16 miles north of Post.

Workers saw the creek water bubbling. Repairing the break wasn't easy. Some 200,000 to 300,000 gallons of water had to be drained out of the line. A backhoe was brought in to dig down around the pipe line and the creek water pumped out.

It was only the second break in the line since Post began receiving White River water about a decade ago.

$600 in prizes in three yule drawings

Christmas is going to come a day early here for the winner of the grand prize offered by Post merchants in the Post Chamber of Commerce's final Yule Drawing at 2:30 p. m. Friday, Dec. 24.

That's because he or she is going to win $300 in Chamber gift certificates which can then be spent for over two months in participating Post stores as the winner sees fit.

Santa will have a hard time matching that in most local households the next day. The $300 grand prize is only half of it. Another $300 in certificates will be given away in drawings scheduled at 2:30 p. m. on Saturdays, Dec. 11 and 18. At each of these two drawings a $100 prize in certificates and a $50 prize will be given. Only those 18 and over are eligible to win and they must be present within three minutes of when their name is drawn to claim their prize. If they are not present within the time limit, the drawing will continue until both prizes are awarded at each of the first two drawings. Shoppers can sign up with approximately 40 participating merchants as often as they desire. Another attraction on both Saturday afternoons, Dec. 11 and 18, will be the 2 p. m. arrival of Santa Claus for two pre-Christmas visits with local boys and girls. The junior high band will be on hand Dec. 11 to welcome Santa too and to provide some musical entertainment. The Christmas Yule Drawing promotion was worked out by (See Promotion, Page 10)

Between 450 and 500 persons received immunization for flu Tuesday at the Post Community Center.

Turnout was considered "average."

Next opportunity to receive such immunizations will be Tuesday, Jan. 11, between 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. It is hoped that as many people as possible will receive injections Jan. 11 Tuesday, if not more.

Between the ages of 18 and 65, you will need to wait four weeks after the first injection and then receive a second injection.

Department of Health would like to extend its appreciation to the many volunteers who have so faithfully followed the mass immunization program.

A gift shopping suggestion

The Christmas season is upon us all now. It seems like it is coming with a terrific rush, probably because of Post's football season extension.

Post merchants have put together a $600 give-away package in their Yule Drawings announced in this issue and are putting together expense money for Santa Claus to pay the city two pre-Christmas visits.

The downtown Christmas decorations are up and today's Dispatch in its first of four Christmas gift shopping issues before the big holiday arrives.

Post stores as a group are offering Post folks their best selection of gift merchandise ever.

In case you haven't noticed all the Main Street changes in the last couple of years, there are more and bigger stores and shops here now competing for your gift dollar.

That will help make shopping at home this Christmas season a greater pleasure.

For the retailer the Christmas business, crammed into a three or four week period, often represents a very big percentage of the store's annual sales.

The Christmas gift dollar is every bit as important in Post as it is up the road in Lubbock. Local shoppers will do well to remember that it is the Post merchant who supports Post in a multitude of ways, and most generously, and Christmas time is the best time of all for the rest of the community to support its merchants.

Our Main Street, like any other, is a two-way street. Remember that this Christmas.

AUSTIN—Gov. Dolph Briscoe says he will recommend no additional across-the-board statewide salary increases for school teachers in 1977.

Briscoe has proposed $850 million in additional state aid to public education over the next two years. He wants local boards to do what they please with the additional funds. "My proposals would give local districts more authority than they have had in the past to decide how their money is to be spent," Briscoe said.

The Texas State Teachers Association contends Gov. Briscoe is trying to pit teachers against taxpayers by leaving the decision on pay raises to local school boards.

Callie W. Smith, executive secretary of ISTA, said the teachers organization will continue to push in the legislature for the nationwide average salary of about $14,000 per year. This is $2,400 above the Texas average.

Tax Code Hearings
The Property Tax Study Committee of the Texas Legislative Council will hold public hearings in major cities throughout Texas to seek suggestions and support for a new property tax code.

The first hearing is scheduled for Austin on Dec. 13 and will be followed in Arlington, Midland, San Antonio and Victoria on Dec. 14; in Amarillo, Corpus Christi, El Paso, Longview and Lubbock on Dec. 15; and in Harlingen, Houston and Lufkin on Dec. 16.

The committee is a joint creation of Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Bill Clayton, the chairman and vice-chairman of the Texas Legislative Council.

In initiating appointment of the committee early this year, Hobby and Clayton said, "We strongly feel that the time has come for legislative reform of our antiquated property tax system. Current property tax laws are unfair, unintelligible, and not uniformly applied around the state."

High Local Taxes
Texans are paying the lowest gasoline taxes (five cents a gallon) in the country but Comptroller Bob Bullock says an analysis by his office shows that the percentage of highway funds coming from local property taxes in Texas is more than double the national average.

Texas' local property tax percentage of 13 per cent is also greater than the burden in such states as New York and Illinois.

Bullock revealed his findings in his monthly financial statement while eyeing a study of the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation conducted by McKinsey and Co., Inc. That study predicted severe financial problems in the future for the department unless changes are made in the funding structure.

Welfare Savings Panel
The State Welfare Board has created a special task force to search for ways of reducing the $700 million a year it pays doctors, hospitals and nursing homes for health care.

The "blue ribbon task force," which will be appointed later, will be directed to issue its report in March.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Bill Clayton will be invited to name members of the group.

Walker Quits TABC
Rayford Walker, public information director of the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission since 1968, has resigned to become personnel director of the State Banking Department.

Walker, 42, was a public information specialist for the Department of Public Safety for 10 years before joining the ABC.

Tower Won't Seek Post
Sen. John Tower says he will not seek the post of Senate minority leader, or the prestigious job as party whip. Instead, Tower said he would seek re-election as chairman of the Senate Republican Party Committee.

Although making no endorsement, Tower's decision is interpreted as an assist to Michigan's Sen. Robert P. Griffin, former minority whip and considered the heir apparent to the job of minority leader. Insiders contend Griffin may be challenged by Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee.

Gammage Wins Recount

The recount of votes cast in the general election race for U. S. House District 22 did not change Democrat's Bob Gammage's narrow victory over Republican Ron Paul, the incumbent.

The final recount in the four-county district showed Gammage still leading Paul by a margin of 267 votes. The final tally gave Gammage 96,543 votes to Paul's 96,276.

AG Opinions

Atty. Gen. John Hill has ruled that livestock and poultry are not "farm products" under article 8, section 19 of the Texas Constitution and thus are not exempt from taxation.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

The estate of a deceased state employe may not be paid for the employe's unused compensatory time.

The Department of Labor and Standards are not authorized to conduct "shop surveys" of boiler manufacturers and to charge a fee for the service.

The Board of Nurse Examiners is authorized to accredit specialty programs in nursing offered by colleges and universities.

Information contained in bank examination reports are exempted from required public disclosures under the Open Records Act.

Poultry heads parade of bargain

COLLEGE STATION—Poultry leads bargain buys in the current surge of meat economy — which also includes many beef and pork selections in grocery stores across Texas.

Chicken hens as "features" are more numerous, while other specials appear on whole fryers, fryer parts, turkeys and turkey roasts, according to Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist.

"Beef continues to be a good value in the stores, with prices for forequarter and hindquarter cuts pretty close together right now, so it's almost a question of buying whatever cut each consumer prefers," she said.

Beef specials are focusing on chuck and sirloin tip roasts, ground beef and liver — along with round, sirloin, T-bone, and rib steaks, she added. Mrs. Clyatt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System.

With pork prices still low, consumers can look for values on Boston butt roasts, shoulder steaks and quarter loin sliced into chops.

Smoked features include boneless hams, picnics and some brands of bacon and sausage, the specialist said.

At fresh produce counters, vegetable economy centers on cabbage, carrots, dry yellow onions, potatoes, rutabagas, hard-shell squash and sweet potatoes.

Brussels sprouts and caulflower are more plentiful, prices a bit lower, Mrs. Clyatt noted.

Economy-quality fresh fruit counters are bananas, cranberries, and pears.

"Grapefruit and orange more plentiful with trending downward. Tangerines and tangelos are priced lower too," she said.

To all those good fans

Let's hear it for the fans.

Post football fans endured a lot of "thicks" and "thins" this past football season which ended early Saturday morning for most of them in the long ride home from Odessa.

They bundled up as best they could and watched two very chilly "snow bowl" games, one in a real old fashioned snow storm. They started out in August by watching practice sessions and scrimmages.

Then came a full three months season, stretched two weeks longer by the first playoffs in 10 years.

Some gave up Thanksgiving trips out of town for a seat at the regional. No sir, they wouldn't miss it for the world. One organized a high school class reunion weeks ago, and then didn't attend because she couldn't stay away from Odessa.

They put a lot of miles on their cars with seven trips out of town to Lope games.

Texas schoolboy football in the small towns is a way of life the big cities can't come up with anything to compare with.

We heard one explain to another philosophically this week that the Ozona defeat was a good way to end the season.

"They were a good team too," he explained, referring to Ozona, "and the margin was such that nobody has to shoulder the blame as it might have been with a fumble in a close game."

"After all," he pointed out, "every team in the state in our division is going to get beat in these playoffs but just one."

He ended the conversation by pointing out that the juniors and two sophomores on the squad got two extra games of experience under their belts. "Now next year," he said,

Still largely unanswered

Our continuing question, "Who is Jimmy Carter?" is being answered in bits and pieces as the former Georgia governor prepares to move into the White House.

It is beginning to look as if President-elect Carter — now he is safely elected — isn't going to do all those things he said he might do.

But we are just beginning to get a peak at what may transpire when his administration shifts into gear in late January.

This week he told seed farmers he wants a man who has actually had farm experience as his secretary of agriculture. It is already apparent he is not going to dismantle the U. S. military machine to get the dollars he needs for social programs. There is columnist talk now he may bring in a very tough-minded Secretary of Defense.

He has already flatly said that wage and price controls are out.

Carter is planning his inauguration as a

"people's inauguration" and he says he will be sworn in as president in a business suit and send his little daughter to a Washington public school.

Of importance now in the search for the answer to the question of "who is Jimmy Carter?" is whether he is the same sort of guy he was as governor of Georgia. In that day, he was unwilling to compromise with the legislature in all the disagreements which cropped up and he wound up battling the lawmakers.

Will he do the same with Congress? The president-elect certainly is a very fresh and different face on our national political scene. We doubt if many of the regular politicians are going to feel very comfortable with him.

As for the country as a whole, now it has elected him, it is eager to see who they have for their next president.

Free calls out cancer
 A new "weapon" against cancer is now available in Waco County to provide the public with current, factual information on cancer, its prevention and early detection. The Cancer Information Service, the new program, is a toll-free phone line (800-2040) to answer public questions on cancer. The service is extended to all residents as late this year.

The CIS is part of a public educational effort sponsored by The University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute with assistance from the American Red Cross, American Cancer Society and many other health agencies in Texas which provide services to cancer patients and their families.

Funded by the National Cancer Institute, the CIS functions as part of a nationwide network.

Open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. on weekdays, the phone lines are operated by trained American Red Cross volunteers. All background material used to answer questions is reviewed by physicians to insure accuracy.

Chicken ranch boosts Garza's egg output

COLLEGE STATION — A few counties in Texas greatly increased their poultry production in 1975, while others slacked off, notes two poultry marketing specialists for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

For example, Mason County jumped from sixteenth to second place in turkey production from 1974 to 1975 and Gonzales County dropped from first to fourth place, points out Dr. Dave Mellor and Marshall Miller.

Other changes included the addition of Lee, Travis and Bastrop counties to the list of the top 25 turkey producing counties and dropping Concho, Hamilton and Tarrant Counties from the list.

The top 25 turkey producing counties accounted for 94.6 percent of all turkeys produced in Texas in 1975, note the Texas A&M University System specialists.

Some changes also occurred in the ranking of the top 25 broiler producing counties in the state. Shelby County, which was first in 1974 in broiler production, was in third place in 1975, with Nacogdoches County first and Gonzales County second. Together, Nacogdoches, Gonzales and Shelby counties produced about 60 percent of all the broilers in Texas last year while the top 25 broiler producing counties accounted for virtually all the broilers in Texas.

Actually, 83 percent of the state's broilers were produced in only six counties — Nacogdoches, Gonzales, Shelby, Panola, Sabine and San Augustine.

Gonzales, Shelby and Fayette counties led the state in egg production in 1975, according to Mellor and Miller, with a number of counties increasing their egg production.

Garza County, which was not among the top 50 egg producing counties in Texas in 1974, was number nine on the list in 1975, and Panola and Val Verde counties were also added to the list.

Farm Topics

BY DON CONNER
Garza Extension Agent

Both cow-calf producers and cotton farmers could benefit by doing some business with each other this year. If cattlemen would boost their winter feed supply by purchasing whole cottonseed from cotton farmers, they would be able to save on feed costs while at the same time helping cotton farmers sell their cottonseed.

Cottonseed was once a common cow feed, but its use has declined in recent years as the value of cottonseed oil has increased, points out Dr. Dennis Herd and Don Parks, beef cattle specialist and area economist, respectively, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Cattlemen now commonly feed cotton oil by-products such as cottonseed meal, cubes and hulls. But current cottonseed and feed prices indicate that feeding whole cottonseed should be reconsidered.

Herd and Parks note these advantages of feeding whole cottonseed:

1. Feeding value — Whole cottonseed, with 23 percent protein and 90 percent total digestible nutrients (TDN), contains 10-15 percent more protein and 30 to 60 percent more digestible energy than the typical 20 percent protein range cube which may vary in fiber from 10 to 20 percent. The extra energy is particularly helpful in successfully breeding and wintering fall calving cows.

The two Extension specialists suggest feeding 10 pounds of whole cottonseed whenever it may be fed cheaper than 3.5 pounds of cottonseed meal and 5.5 pounds of milo. Costs should consider differences in labor, waste and storage which will vary greatly among cattlemen.

2. Amount of feed required — Less whole cottonseed is required compared to range cubes, particularly for cows nursing calves. A 1,000-pound, fleshy dry pregnant cow on dead fall grass or poor hay consuming 16-18 pounds of forage would need 1.9 pounds of whole cottonseed as opposed to 2.25 pounds of a 20 percent all-natural protein cube. Extra energy in the whole seed should decrease weight loss and encourage rebreeding.

A 1,000-pound cow nursing a calf should perform about the same when receiving 2 pounds of whole cottonseed and 22 pounds of average quality hay or 3.75 pounds of a 20 percent protein cube, with fiber 10 percent or less, and 20.25 pounds of hay. Because of the extra energy of whole cottonseed, fewer pounds are needed, thus allowing greater use of normally cheaper hay (22 versus 20.25 pounds). Greater and more nearly equal amounts of the two supplements would be required (5 to 6 pounds) to supply adequate protein where only dead grass or poor hay is available. Other higher protein feeds may be needed where forage protein is extremely low.

3. Feed costs — Many cotton producers are receiving less than $100 per ton for their cottonseed. If range cubes are costing $150 to $165 per ton (depending on quality) and cottonseed can be purchased for $100 per ton, a cattleman can supplement feed a lactating cow at about one-half the cost with whole cottonseed as compared to range cubes. Whole cottonseed is also a less expensive winter supplement than range cubes for a pregnant dry cow.

As far as disadvantages associated with supplementing cattle with whole cottonseed, Herd and Parks list these:

1. Storage — The rancher will

My wife when she thinks she's right gets positive at the top of her voice.

need storage facilities for the cottonseed because most cotton is harvested before winter feeding begins. Cotton producers commonly sell their cottonseed to their gin during harvest to recover ginning costs. A rancher offering competitive bids to cotton farmers prior to or during cotton harvest would enable purchasing direct from the farmer. The cottonseed can be received from the gin and stored until fed.

2. Seed handling — Cottonseed stored in bulk will not handle as easily as supplemental feed purchased in sacks. Feed troughs may be required for cottonseed where cattlemen have fed cubes on the ground.

The cost of storing and handling whole cottonseed may be small when compared to the savings of feeding cows this high quality but inexpensive feed, contend Herd and Parks.

Harvest picks up momentum

LUBBOCK — High Plains cotton harvest regained momentum after fields dried this past week, according to Paul R. Dickson, in charge of the Lubbock Cotton Classing Office.

Several days of poor drying conditions following heavy snow the weekend of Nov. 13 and 14 prevented much harvest activity until last week, Dickson said. The USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service reported cotton trading was moderate to active the week ending Nov. 26. Growers offered cotton in moderate to heavy volume. Cotton prices finished the week in a firming trend, and demand was good, Dickson said.

Prices paid growers for cottonseed ranged from $75 to $110 per ton.

Concern over TV ads to kids

During this time 22,000 ads are aired for toys, floor polishes, cereals, soft drinks, beef, detergents, vitamins, and drugs. One advertiser estimates that $400 million per year is spent on television commercials directed at children. And it's an investment that pays off, Miss Mitzel said.

She is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System.

"Research shows that mothers who were surveyed spent about $1.66 weekly extra at the grocery because of requests from their children for special products or brands. This adds up to $1.5 billion per year on grocery store retail sales.

"Parents and teachers are becoming increasingly concerned over the effect of advertising on children. Consumer activists argue 'hat advertising takes unfair advantage of a child's lack of sophistication, produces misinformation about nutritional needs and increases tension between parent and child,' the specialist noted.

Preschool children are not capable of establishing priorities, determining the relative importance of certain items, evaluating the quality of a product or assessing their own nutritional needs — yet children continue to be the focus of millions of advertising dollars, she continued.

"There has been some action to reform the advertising directed at children," the specialist said.

"Two consumer activist groups, Action for Children's Television (ACT) and Council on Children, Media and Merchandising (CCMM) are pressuring the Federal Communication Commission and the Federal Trade Commission to enforce guidelines on advertising directed at children. The National Association of Broadcasters has developed a code governing advertising to children. But the problem continues.

"What can parents do? First become familiar with commercials by watching television for four or five hours one Saturday morning. Carefully listen to what is being said and what may be implied. Evaluate what your child is learning from the advertisements — are these the values you are teaching?"

"Next write to the manufacturer of any product whose advertising you do not approve. Many companies are sensitive to criticism, and just a few letters may encourage them to change their approach. Look for the manufacturer's address on the product packaging or labeling or ask a retailer to help you find it," she suggested.

Finally, if you do have a complaint about deceptive advertising, file it with the Federal Trade Commission, Washington, D. C. 20580. Or if it is a local advertiser, write to the Attorney General's Office, Consumer Protection Division, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711, the specialist said.

PRIDE AND CARING

Dear Editor
I couldn't let another week go by without writing this letter. For those of you who haven't been to the pep rallies you don't know what your missing. I have felt like shedding tears after every one I've been to, especially the Friday we played Stamford. Just watching those students work together and caring so much not only for the sport but one another as well.

To those of you that don't know, the Antelopes have had a sign reading PRIDE hanging over the door they exit from and each player and coach reaches up and touches it as they leave the gym.

Friday Jimmy Redman, President of the Football Boosters presented the boys and coaches with a beautiful wooden plaque reading PRIDE. You have never seen a prouder bunch of guys. That is just what the gym was full of that day was pride and they certainly have every reason to be proud. It is great seeing the football players, Coaches, Band, Cheerleaders, Twirlers, Students, Teachers, and might I add the dedicated parents and supporters working together and caring so much. (Yes you to Mr. Jim, we all love you for caring).

What really touched me so much was when all the Antelopes stood so proud when Coach Tannehill presented the Freshman team their District trophy. Not that they weren't proud of you too JV's because they are. You would never know I have a Freshman this year would you! I always leave the gym feeling so good and proud of each and everyone of you guys and gals.

Here is wishing you the very best in Odessa.
Yours truly,
Joy Greer

Lopes open cage season tonight in Plainview meet

Post hopes rest on 'big Mike', outside shooters

Coach John Alexander's Post Antelope cagers will get the opportunity to at least partially play their way into shape this weekend with three starts in the Plainview tournament.

They will open against a highly favored Dimmitt club at 7 p. m. tonight and then return for games both Friday and Saturday.

Since the Lopes have been out for basketball only this week they haven't had much time to get organized. Only quick 5-8 letter guard, Dan Sawyers, who is expected to quarterback this year's quintet and wasn't out for football this fall, is really in shape to play.

Due to the post-season football playoffs, the Lopes had to cancel their first four regularly scheduled games, including Tuesday night's encounter with Lockney on the road.

"I wasn't going to play a game after only a single workout," Coach Alexander told The Dispatch.

The Lopes cage club this season is going to be built around 6-6 all-district senior center, Mike Waldrip, whose smiling face was one of three star cagers on this year's cover of Panhandle-Plains Basketball, and "the best outside shooting we've ever had," as Coach Alexander puts it.

Waldrip, who started both as a sophomore and junior, had around a 14 point average per game last year together with 12 rebounds. He was an honorable mention for All South Plains.

Mike ruptured a tendon in his ring finger on his right hand — his shooting hand — during football workouts before the opening grid game of the season, had a pin inserted, finally removed, and played football with the hand in a protective wrap.

The pin came out before the Denver City game and Waldrip reports the finger is giving him no trouble whatsoever now. "I can't tell it affects him at all," Alexander told The Dispatch.

The Lopes return two other starters, Jimmy Dorland and Kyle Duren, both senior guards each of whom sported around an eight point per game average last year and can hit from the outside.

The other guard in Alexander's three-guard offense will be Sawyers.

The other forward position will go to either Rodney Teaff, 6-2 senior letterman, or Ronnie Bratcher, 6-3 junior up from the junior varsity. Needed in that position is vital rebounding power plus some points from the inside.

Coach Alexander was carrying only eight players on the varsity squad Tuesday, but may add another one or two. The other two not already mentioned are Brad Shepherd and Evans Heaton, a pair of juniors up from the junior varsity both of whom are also guards.

This gives the Lopes five guards, all of whom can hit from long range. Coach Alexander says this gives him more outside fire power than he has ever had before.

If opponents clog around Waldrip too tightly, then the outside shooters will go to work.

Twenty-eight are out for basketball, but the other 20 are now being carried on the junior varsity. And all but three of them are sophomores.

"Our success will depend upon how well we do in rebounding," Alexander said.

"We're starting out two weeks behind almost everybody else," Alexander said, "but we have a winning attitude in Post and I hope we can catch up by the end of the Christmas holidays."

The Lopes will open district play with Cooper there Dec. 21 but all of the rest of district play will come after the Christmas holidays.

Tahoka is the pick of the district coaches to win the district crown this year with three returning starters, David Graves, third team all-state, Ernest Bailey, and Danny Moore. Three other lettermen are also returning and then there is Clifford Bailey, Ernest's little 6-2 sophomore brother who is expected to win one of the two open starting berths.

The district is expected to be better balanced this year. Post is picked in the runnerup position, according to the coaches' pre-season poll. But with a two weeks late start, they have a lot of catching up to do first.

The Lopes' home opener next Tuesday night will be a real toughie — those Dimmitt Bobcats, always a South Plains standout. After that one here the team will be back in tournament play at Floydada for Dec. 9-10-11.

In the Plainview meet this weekend, other teams include Floydada, Lockney, Denver City, Big Spring Junior Varsity and two junior varsity teams from Clovis to fill out the eight-team bracket.

Silverton hands Does first defeat

Coach John Morrow's Post Does suffered their first defeat of the season at Silverton

Monday night when they were edged out 45 to 43, losing the game at the free throw line.

The locals outshot the Silverton girls from the field 19 to 13, but managed only five charity tosses out of 10 throws while Silverton dropped in 13 of 23.

Karen Williams again led Post in scoring with 13 fielders and three threes for 29 points. Brenda Weaver aided in with Debbie Wyatt and Cindy Kirkpatrick each getting a fielder for two.

The game was knotted 23 all at the half, but Silverton pulled four points ahead in the third 33 to 29 and held on in the fourth to win.

The Does were whistled for 21 infractions to 14 for Silverton.

The Post JV girls rolled to an easy 60 to 31 triumph over the Silverton JVs in the preliminary with seven girls breaking into the scoring column.

Nancy Utary and Karla Duren each got 14 points with Karla Kennedy adding nine, Dana Bird and Beth Green eight each, Larisa Shiver six and Theresa Orr one. All told Post used 17 players in the tilt.

Does lose lead, bow at Seagraves, 49-44

Coach John Morrow's Post Does had their season's cage record lowered to 3-2 at Seagraves Tuesday night when the Class A girls team came from behind in the final period to grab a 49 to 44 decision.

The Does were leading 36 to 34, but were outshot in the last eight minutes 15 to 8.

Seagraves wound up the first period with a narrow 12 to 10 lead, but Post put on its best play of the night in the second to tally 18 points and go into the dressing room at halftime with a 28 to 22 advantage. She was held to eight points of the final two periods.

Karen Williams, 20, led each game in date, led shooters scoring 20 of seven fielders and 10 of 10 throws. She was held to four points in the second which turned things around.

Debbi Wyatt had a shooting night of the season with nine basket points and Kerri Post pair of threes for the night.

In the preliminary, junior varsity girls won fifth straight game, then road engagements.

After trailing 16 to 10 at half, Post stepped up with 16 points in the second period and 17 in the third to win going way.

Karla Kennedy was point with 25 points, six goals and five out of throws.

Karla Duren got the Bird 9, and Larisa Shiver complete the scoring. The Does will complete 10-team tournament Home this weekend in first game against 10:30 a. m. today. The runs through Saturday Plains, McCamey, Seagraves, New House, the King of Lubbock, and Wellman complete field.

SIDELINES

By JIM CORNISH

Post had a grand football season. Now that it is finally over — with a share of the district title, the bi-district crown, and a 10-3 record — one can look back over all of it with pure satisfaction.

First off, the Lopes really put it together with a maximum effort to win their way into the playoffs where they gave an excellent account of themselves.

Jackie Brown and his new coaching staff deserve tremendous credit too for this fine showing in their first year in town.

Then there are the fans. We think Post fans are among the most loyal in the wild, woolly football world.

The 1976 season is going to have real impact on 1977 too. For the 15 juniors and two sophomores on the varsity squad those two extra playoff games plus the lessons learned in team unity and getting the job done down the stretch will make them better, more dedicated football players for next year.

We're already looking ahead to both Slaton and Denver City games in Antelope Stadium next year.

In case you missed it Thanksgiving Day, there was a wire story in the dailies' sport sections from Knoxville, Tenn., which well might change girls basketball in Texas.

Federal District Court Judge Robert L. Taylor ruled in effect that the six-player brand of girls basketball with regulations reflecting the concept that girls are "weak and awkward" are archaic and in violation of the 14th amendment of the United States Constitution.

An Oak Ridge parent had filed suit last summer against the Tennessee Secondary Schools Athletic Association and the Oak Ridge school system, charging that the six-player, half court rules in Tennessee impaired his daughter's chances of qualifying for a college scholarship.

Only five other states besides Tennessee — Texas, Iowa, New York, Arkansas and Oklahoma — have similar regulations for high school girls while college women's basketball is played under the same rules as men — five players on a full court.

Although the case will be appealed, the handwriting apparently already is on the wall.

(See Sidelines, Page 9)

Does defeat Floydada, to 59 in home opener

Coach John Morrow's Post Does opened at home Monday night Nov. 22, by edging out the Floydada girls, 62-59, in a game originally scheduled for the Floydada court.

Karen Williams had her biggest night of the young season pouring 37 points through the hoops before fouling out in the final period.

The Does took a 15 to 13 first period lead and then pulled away to a 42 to 32 halftime advantage by scoring 27 points in the second period.

From then on, Floydada had the scoring edge — outshooting the Does, 10 to 7 in the third period and 17 to 13 in the final. Post went into the final period with a 49 to 42 lead.

Williams got 12 fielders 13 out of 17 free throws.

Pool was next with nine free throws. Debbie Amy Cowdry, Debbie Brenda Weaver and Kirkpatrick, each with 10 points.

Tracy Pickett was the Floydada JV's. She hit 10 of 11 free throws in 13 tries.

In the preliminary, Clary came through sparkling 37 point performance to lead the Post Junior Varsity to a 61 to 54 victory over Floydada JVs. She hit 10 of 11 free throws and earned charity tosses.

Karla Kennedy added Karla Duren 5, and Dana advantage with 39 seconds in the half.

There was time enough left for Post to return the kickoff to its 32, a pass to fall incomplete. Shepherd to be "sacked" for an 11 yard loss to the 19 and then for Wyatt to break away for 81 yards and a touchdown.
On the conversion effort after the Post touchdown, Post drew a motion penalty and then an attempted two-point run from a fake kick formation failed.
In the third period, Ozona drove from the kickoff to the Post 22 where the Lopes held and took the ball on downs. But the next time the Lions rolled 56 yards in 13 plays to score their fourth touchdown with 2:36 left in the quarter with Warren bucking across from the one.
Butch Booth blocked Galvan's extra point conversion kick and it was 27-6.
Early in the fourth, the two teams exchanged fumbles.
Shepherd was sacked for a big loss trying to pass and fumbled with Ozona taking over on the Post 29. Four plays later Baker recovered an Ozona fourth down fumble on the Post 25.

Free throws they made

All Coach Black's eighth grade girls needed here Monday to beat Slaton was just another handful of free throw chances.
The Post girls canned 14 out of 18 charity tosses but made only six field goals as they bowed to Slaton, 28 to 26.
Most of the action came in the second quarter when Post outscored Slaton 14 to 12 to go into the dressing room all even at 18 all. There wasn't much scoring action by either team in the final half with the difference in the game being Slaton with two field goals in the third period and Post got only one.
Holly Giddens led Post shooters with 16 points, 12 of them coming on 16 free throws. Marinette Hays scored six points and Stella Harper got the other four.
The team will entertain Frenship here Monday evening in its next start.

and got it going when he loose for a 25-yard drive, almost going all the way before being tripped up at the 40 yard line.
After an incomplete pass, Baker took a night and slashed for 12 to Ozona's 39. and got two. Then back Brad Shepherd got a pass completion of the 26-yard gainer to End Waldrip for another first on Ozona's 12.
er ripped off eight more and land dived over the line for more and another first inside the one.
TD made the score 27-12. went for a two-point conversion and made it when he took a pitch right from and barely beat the time to the goal line just the corner flag.
The two touchdowns were the serious scoring threats by who couldn't get any agency into their attack of the fierce Ozona. Shepherd got a hard and was sacked three the fourth after the Post touchdown when he caught Ozona Halfback Gary Warren from behind on the Post 15 after the leading Lion ballcarrier had apparently broken into the clear on a 28-yard run.

Post dug in and held Ozona forcing Galvan's successful 28-yard field goal on fourth down.
Britton averaged 40 yards a kick on the six boos he got away to outkick the Ozona kicker who had averaged well over 40 yards for the season.
Ozona four times went for it on a running play on fourth down from their own 38 yard line on, and made it on each occasion.
Post won the toss and got good opening field position when the short kickoff was returned to the Post 42. But three running plays got only seven yards. When Britton punted, Dehoyos ran it back for a touchdown with no Lope getting close. That TD came with 9:55 left in the first. An attempted pass for the conversion points were broken up.
Post's only first down of the first half, except for the one tallied on Wyatt's touchdown run, came on the next possession when Randy Baker broke off right tackle for 17 yards and a first down on the Ozona 45.
Post kicked Ozona into a hole on its 13 and held the Lions and forced a return kick, but Dorland fumbled the ball away to Ozona on the Post 45.
Ozona went the 45 yards for its second touchdown in seven plays with Warren scoring from the one with 1:40 left in the quarter. Quarterback Vaden Aldridge passed to Galvin for the two-point conversion and it was 14 to 0.
The Lions couldn't sustain a drive in the second period and all the big plays came in the final 42 seconds.
That's when Galvan blocked Britton's punt and Ozona recovered on the Post three with Halfback Blake Moody scoring and Galvin kicking the conversion for a 21-0 Ozona Dispatch's play-by-play showed Ozona had the 62 offensive plays, 60 of running plays, and on three of them managed 10 or more. But the backs hitting holes in the line and most of the tackling came from Perry Rogers and members of the secondary.

In comparison, Post had the during the game for 42 plays, seven of which complete passes, five in losses, and three were for no gain.
The backs were dumped for six times and were for no gain three other saved a touchdown in

From that point, the Lopes put it all together finally for a 75-yard march for their second touchdown.
The "Cold front" hit the field of play with a minute left in the third period, giving the Lopes the advantage of a hard, cold wind at their backs in the fourth period.
It was pretty obvious the Lions were delighted to win as their quarterback just fell on the ball for game's final two plays deep in Post territory with the Lions 16 points to the good.

Rotarians shown Soviet threat

"The Price of Peace and Freedom" is a new movie which details the growing military might of Communist Russia as it thrusts ahead seeking complete supremacy over the United States in air, on land, and on the sea.

It was shown Post Rotarians last Tuesday by Major Joseph Hickox of Reese Air Force Base, former assistant air attache of the U. S. Embassy in Moscow for two years, 1971-73.

The movie is produced by the Educational Foundation of the American Security Council in cooperation with the AFL-CIO.

Major Hickox was booked here to talk to Rotarians on the same subject, but received the movie the day before coming to Post so showed it instead.

"America is 40 years ahead of Russia in its standard of living but the American people don't realize what they have," Hickox said in brief remarks.

The movie, which pictures Russian weaponry, tells how Russia is spending a great deal more of its income on war hardware and is rapidly achieving superiority in all military fields as America reduces its war machine.

Three given jail sentences

County Judge Giles Dalby sentenced three men to jail terms Monday after hearing guilty pleas from each of them.

Joe Perez was sentenced to 90 days on a charge of resisting arrest after being subdued by Sheriff Jim Pippin when he resisted arrest by Pippin and a deputy on an assault complaint.

Santiago Dessantos, who claims to have been an employee of an area gin, pled guilty to a charge of intentionally and knowingly carrying a hand gun. He received a 60 day sentence.

Wilburn Franklin Smith Jr., pled guilty to a charge of burglary of a coin operated machine after being surprised by officers breaking into a coin operated machine at the South Broadway Laundry. He received a 30-day jail sentence.

CANCER ANSWER LINE

A high school coach asks: "Is it true that a cancer patient is bicycling cross country? Anyone who can do that has to be in good shape!"

ANSWERline: Yes. A Californian named Michael John Scavo, 57, is on the final lap of a cross-country bicycle trip to publicize the fact that life doesn't end with a cancer diagnosis. Scavo had to have his larynx (the voice box) removed in 1973, to save his life from cancer but he learned to speak through another method of breath control. In addition to his cycling, he is talking his way cross country, both to the people he meets and on local radio and television stations along his way. He is a member of a special Los Angeles club for people who have had similar surgery. These clubs are located in many locations and are sponsored by the American Cancer Society, through the International Association of Laryngectomees. They offer help with voice rehabilitation and a chance to work together on common problems and applaud each member's progress.

A businessman explains: "I know that American industry is constantly coming up with new chemicals, and that some of them might possibly cause cancer. I also know that testing for cancer is expensive. How can we handle this problem?"

ANSWERline: It is a problem, and one that is being given a lot of thought. It costs between $150,000-$200,000 to test a single chemical and it requires two years of laboratory observation before an opinion can be given. However, new tests—the most prominent being the Ames test—are being developed which use bacteria, for example. This test is far less costly, and because simple organisms, like bacteria, can be followed more quickly, it might offer a means of an effective preliminary screening.

A future mother explains: "I am a heavy smoker who really enjoys her cigarettes but I want the healthiest baby I can have. I know that I have to quit. I really need help fast!"

ANSWERline: As you know, smoking during pregnancy can help contribute to premature birth and low birth weights. Please call or write your local American Cancer Society Unit. The ACS has a great deal of practical information about how to quit smoking and might possibly be holding a smoking withdrawal clinic at a time convenient for you.

of Chapman Dairy Queens who chose to invest in its operation own a partnership in the new Post restaurant, it is the fourth such employee-owned store in the Chapman line-up of DQ's in three states, 49 of them in Texas, five in Virginia and one in New Mexico.

Bobby Fielder of Post was locally selected to manage the new Dairy Queen. While new to the Chapman organization, Fielder is not new to the responsibilities of sales management. A resident of Post since 1972, Fielder was previously sales manager of Taylor Tractor and Equipment in Post and before that held similar positions with this same company in Tahoka and O'Donnell.

Originally from Brownfield, 80 miles west of Post, Fielder and his wife, Sandra, a teacher's aide at Post Junior High, have three children — Bobby Jr., Dawn Jonell and Steven.

The Post Dairy Queen has been built in the new brownstone design just adopted by Chapman Dairy Queens in the past two years, based on experience dating back to 1968 when Chapman bought his first Dairy Queen in Hurst, Tex., across the highway from Bell Helicopter there.

With seating for 75 persons in its inside, glass-fronted dining area, the Post hamburger, dinner-basket, ice-cream delight and malt, shake and soft drink beverage food service facility features a drive-through order window on its left side accompanied by service on "to-go" orders at the back-side drive-through service window.

Open 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. Monday through Thursday and Sunday and from 10 a. m. to 11 p. m. on Friday and Saturday, the new Dairy Queen in Post will have some formal grand opening activity in the near future. Also Fielder anticipates soon announcing some special luncheon feature for the new restaurant.

Lots of new '76 records for professional rodeo

DENVER, Colo. — Pro rodeo enjoyed another record year in 1976 with prize money at 596 rodeos hitting an all-time high of nearly $6.7 million, the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association said.

Tom Ferguson, reigning world champion all around cowboy from Miami, Okla., also set a new record for winning the most money in a single season, $87,908, and established a new earnings record in steer wrestling with $48,854.

Ferguson will compete in steer wrestling and calf roping at "rodeo's world series," the National Finals in Oklahoma City, Okla., Dec. 3-11, where a record $212,000 is at stake. Ferguson has a chance of becoming rodeo's first $100,000-a-year cowboy.

Another event earnings record was set by Joe Alexander, the five-time world champion bareback rider from Cora, Wyo., who this year has won $48,156 in the contest. Leo Carillo, world all around titlist from Oakdale, Calif., also established a new high in team roping during the year with $30,761 in earnings.

PRCA officials said new earning records in the other events will probably be set by the end of the Finals.

All Finals qualifiers this year will start "from scratch" to vie

Awareness workshop in junior high

Thursday, Nov. 18th, Post Junior High students investigated the dangers of alcohol, drugs and crime.

Each grade was divided into seven groups and each group visited seven information stations during the course of the day.

A number of resource speakers presented information concerning a variety of topics related to alcohol, drugs and juvenile crime.

Deputy Troy Vest, a member of the Post-Garza Sheriff's Department, along with Mr. Gary Morrison of the Lubbock County District Attorney's Office presented a program on "Defining, Knowing the Effects of, and Classifying Drugs."

Ed Sawyers, Probation and Juvenile Officer of Garza County, acquainted students with the working of the juvenile office and procedures involving juveniles in trouble with the law.

Mrs. Beth Rankin of Ralls and Mrs. Laura Crayton of Levelland both representatives of the alcoholic service, gave a program on the dangers of alcohol addiction. Mr. Bill Harriger, a Lubbock lawyer, gave instruction concerning the "Value of Citizenship" and the "Privileges, Right, and Obligations that are Basic Ingredients of Citizenship." Mrs. Polly Cravy, Mrs. Diane Graves, and Mrs. Glenda Morrow gave demonstrations of profitable hobbies to occupy a person's leisure time.

DINNER GUESTS
 Guests in the Wagoner Johnson home for Thanksgiving Dinner were their two sons, Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson of Lubbock and Jerry Johnson of University of Texas in Austin. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Benton of Irving, Mrs. Innis Thuet, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Carpenter and family of Lubbock, nephew of Mr. Johnson, and Mrs. Clovie Ellis, aunt of Mr. Johnson.

Two teachers and one student took a trip to Lubbock last week to see 'A Little Night Music.' Have any of you students gone somewhere with just a teacher? Well do. It will give you something to remember.

The teachers on this trip were Mrs. Jerry Linn, English teacher, an Miss Jane Tice, drama teacher. The student was me. We took Mrs. Linn's car.

On our way to Lubbock I felt like a nobody because they were discussing adult matters. So I suggested that we play a game called food.

The object of this difficult game is to name a food that starts with a certain letter in the alphabet. Well we all lost because we cheated.

Mrs. Linn had the letter F, and said fruitcake. Then she said "No, that won't work because it starts with T."

Miss Tice and I didn't get the meaning of the joke until on the way home. T-Tracey get it? Well you have to realize that teachers have a weird sense of humor.

Before the play we decided to eat. We picked Mama's Olive Oil and Noodle Factory. This restaurant's main dish is spaghetti, so that's what we ordered spaghetti with mushroom sauce.

With the spaghetti supper, you get to help yourself to the salad bar. I filled my plate with croutons and salad dressing while Mrs. Linn and Miss Tice helped themselves to tomatoes, lettuce, pickles, and cheese.

The waiter gave me the dirtiest look you have ever seen. What could I do? I don't like fresh vegetables. (That doesn't mean that I like old ones either) When the spaghetti came, we sat there and looked at each other. Who would slurp first? When I took the first bite something in my head said, "One small step for man. One giant leap for mankind."

Then they started in. How can two teachers slurp like that? They are supposed to be perfect. I didn't even think that teachers went to the bathroom. They do (every five minutes!)

Teachers are as human as we are. They have their faults and their good points. They are also loads of fun. Ask Miss Tice or Mrs. Linn about what they did when they were young, if they

Twin Cedars Nursing Home News

By FLETA WALLS
Sunday services were brought to us by the Rev. Richard Harrison of the Assembly of God Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Robinson of Justiceburg donated two beautiful Bibles to the home. They are greatly appreciated. Also we enjoyed Martha Compton's cake she brought to the residents.

Out of town visitors this week included family members of the following residents

Edna Franklin's brother, Fred Cornelius and wife from Amarillo. Edna's son, Buddy Woodard and wife, Lynn, and granddaughters, Joan and Nancy took her out for Thanksgiving dinner and visiting.

Mrs. Clayton's granddaughter from Beaumont took her out for Thanksgiving Dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harmon.

Mrs. Lee and Mrs. Vaughn had dinner with the Elton Lee family and grandchildren.

Mrs. McAllister enjoyed the holiday with her son A. J. and family. Also her granddaughter, Tina McAllister was home from San Angelo college and visited with her.

Ethel Brown spent the day with family members including her sister, Mrs. Ruth Smith of Jal, N. M., and daughter, Betty Sue of Amarillo.

Irene Wheeler was out for Thanksgiving supper with one of the employees of Twin Cedar, Eldia Martinez.

Ruby Butler's granddaughter, Mrs. Stanna Welch of San Antonio spent the holiday with Mrs. Butler. She took Mrs. Butler to enjoy Thanksgiving with her son, Stanley and family.

Evelyn Leistokow spent the day with her daughter, Martha Compton and family.

Mrs. Sherrill's family visited Saturday and Sunday.

Billie and DeWitt Caylor's nephew and wife from Weatherford, were here for a short visit Thanksgiving Day.

Activities this week included Bible readings, bingo, bean bag toss games and a ride on the mini-bus for those residents able. They went to see the window display of Santa and Elves at Handy Hardware. They are looking forward to seeing other displays soon.

Everyone enjoyed the holiday and all the many visitors. Please forgive me if I forgot to mention anyone.

Our only bad news is that we received word that Lela Williams, one of our residents, has been admitted to the hospital in New Braunfels. Seems she took ill during a visit with her daughter. We are hoping for a speedy recovery and return home.

Church school will be at 9:45 a.m. and the Wednesday prayer meeting will be at 7 p.m. The Christmas program is scheduled for Dec. 19.

TENNIS PLAYER FIRST — Jimmy Dix of North Collie, West Australia, tried tennis and "jockeying" race horses before becoming a cowboy and invading the U. S. rodeo circuit where he now seeks the national bareback bronc riding championship in the finals at Oklahoma City.

Little Aussie cowboy seeks bronc crown

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. — The "Larry Mahan of Australia" believes he can become the first non-North American cowboy to win the world championship in bareback riding.

"I've got a pretty good shot at the world title," says diminutive Jimmy Dix of North Collie, West Australia, who will be in the National Finals Rodeo Dec. 3-11 here for the eighth straight year. "I was the first one from outside North America to make the finals and I want to be the first one from outside North America to win the title and the $5,000 from Winston (Rodeo Awards)."

Dix, who is regarded as the best bet to keep Joe Alexander from winning his sixth straight bareback championship, has already had his best year since leaving Australia in 1968 with winnings of over $29,000 and a second place finish to Alexander for the season.

Dix also finished in the runner-up spot in earnings for the second half of the year to guarantee himself a $1,950 bonus from the Winston Rodeo Awards.

Like the typical Australian, Dix once considered a tennis career. "I used to play it pretty well as I was a state champion, there are six states over there. But you have to have rich parents to travel around (to other parts of the world a la Rod Laver). That I didn't have, so I tried jockeying for three years. Then I got too big for that."

He smiles as he adds, "I have to stretch to reach 5'7".

The easygoing, articulate Australian then turned to rodeoing. "It's on a much smaller scale over there. It's so much bigger in the United States."

Dix was one of the top cowboys in his home country and not surprisingly he started thinking about coming to the U. S. to see how he compared to the American cowboy.

"I talked to a couple of U.S. cowboys that had come to Australia (in 1967)," says Dix in his rich, broad accent. "They said I could make it big in the U. S."

That he has, becoming one of the best bareback riders in the world with visions of replacing Alexander in the No. 1 position.

"He is the most consistent rider I've seen since I've been here," says Dix of the ultra-successful Alexander.

"That's why he does so well." Dix described himself as a "wild rider" when he first came to this country. "But now I'm more conservative."

A wide grin flashes across his tanned face as he makes this statement and the audience smiles back. Conservative is not the proper way to describe Dix's flashy style that appeals to the crowds and judges.

Although he competes in 80-90 rodeos a year, he has been able to return home "about five times since '68. I'm kind of like Larry Mahan over there. I'm a hero back home."

Yet he has no regrets about spending all of the 1970s competing on the PRCA circuit. "The people here have been great. I couldn't believe how wonderful they treated me when I first came over."

"It wasn't really that big an adjustment. But it did open my eyes to see places like Las Vegas and New York. I thought Sidney was big."

How much longer does Dix expect to stay in the U.S.? "When you get to 34, it's not going to be much longer," he replies.

But he wants to win the world title before he returns to Australia and he has his best chance ever this year of accomplishing that goal.

Two small new wells for Garza

Garza County has two new, small producers and a new wildcat location.

Both new wells were drilled by R. S. Anderson.

One is Anderson's No. 6 Carlisle in the P-M-A field, eight miles northeast of Post, which produced on test seven barrels of oil daily and 111 barrels of water daily from perforations 3,357 to 3,347 feet.

The other is Anderson, Inc.'s No. 10 Post-Montgomery in the H & L field, seven miles northeast of Post. It produced eight barrels of oil and 139 barrels of water daily on test from perforations 3,101 to 3,161 feet.

The new wildcat is Magnatex Corp., Oil Division's No. 1 Slaughter which will be drilled to a 9,400 foot projected depth three miles southwest of Graham.
