Registration is Saturday for summer recreation program

Youngsters who want to participate in the City-County Summer Recreation Program should register from 10 a. m. to noon Saturday at the high school gym. The program, which will begin Monday and last through July 10, is open to all boys and girls who have completed the first grade. According to Joe Giddens, program director, six activities will be offered during three one-hour periods at 9, 10 and 11 a. m. Most children will be grouped by age in the various activities to provide more fun and exciting participation. The six activities offered include swimming, track, weights, tennis for sixth graders and up, tumbling and trampolines, and golf. Instructors include Judy Norman, assistant director, tennis and track; Jan Hall, tumbling and trampoline; Mike Waldrup, weights and track; Mike Petty and Johnny Hodges, swimming. Sports equipment will be furnished. Giddens said almost all the planned activities will be conducted on the school grounds and parents are responsible for transportation to and from classes. Visitors are always welcome, he added.

Post Chamber launches cleanup effort here

Post's 1975 clean-up and paint-up campaign is being launched today by the Post Chamber of Commerce with the emphasis placed on "sprucing up" the Main street business district and the length of Broadway by which US-84 travelers gain their impressions of Post. Will Parker, chairman of the Chamber's beautification committee, heads the effort. The Chamber urges business men to step outside and see what needs to be done to "spruce up" their property — and then do it. "Too many weeds are growing in downtown sidewalks," Parker points out. "It would only take a few minutes of everybody's time to pull them out." "A lot of other weeds need cutting, litter hauled off, lots cut, and some paint applied to some of our store fronts," Parker says that some (See Clean-up, Page 12)

Trustees name agent,
 adopt insurance policy

Acting on the advice of their attorney, Tom Milam of Lubbock, Post school trustees in a special called meeting Monday night unanimously adopted a board insurance policy first proposed back in 1968. Trustees then named Bryan J. Williams as the school district's agent of record for insurance. These moves came less than a week before several insurance policies come up for June 1 renewal or placement and after the Tom Power Insurance agency had submitted bids on the policies coming due. Post's city council has moved into insurance policy bidding, but school trustees have consistently opposed it as not in the district's best interests. Under the new board policy, it is understood many of the policies will be combined to afford the district some insurance savings. The policy provides for appraisals of school properties every three months to keep the coverage up with replacement (See School board, Page 12)

Challenge cited by Memorial Day speaker

"We misjudge our country when we mistake the disruptors of whatever persuasion, for the voice of America," Maxine Marks declared in a Memorial Day address Monday morning at the annual VFW-sponsored services in Terrace Cemetery. "The people of the world look to America for leadership," she declared. "Whether peace and freedom survive in the world depends on how America meets the challenge," she said. "One question is being asked all over the world — Does America have the national character and moral stamina to see us through, to heal the wounds which have torn the nation, and to re-establish the principles that have made America great?" "Although this seems to be the age of the vulgar, of mediocrity and untalented, this trend can be reversed," she said. "It's no different today than it was 199 years ago when the signers of the Declaration of Independence pledged their faith, their fortunes, their lives to the proposition that all men are created equal and are entitled to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," she concluded. Following the reading of the roll of the veteran dead and a salute from the VFW firing squad, graves of all veterans buried in the cemetery were

Four resignations, including chief's, riddle police force

Low pay is reason cited

Post's five-man police department has been riddled since last weekend by the resignation of four officers, including Police Chief Jim Trulove, to accept what they termed better salaries and benefits with other West Texas police departments. Officers have indicated that the resignations were the result of the council granting only small police pay raises for next year when the city's 1975-76 budget was adopted earlier this month. The council met at 1 p. m. Tuesday in a hurriedly called special meeting to "find out what all the rumors of police resignations were about." Chief Trulove submitted his written resignation to the council at that time, giving two weeks notice, prior to his departure in early June to become police chief at Sundown with approximately the same salary but with greatly increased benefits which would amount to $250 or more monthly. The council accepted Trulove's resignation and decided to move up its regular June meeting to 6:30 p. m. Monday night to consider the police situation. At that time, the council also is inviting the Garza County Commissioners Court and Sheriff E. E. (Gene) Gandy to meet with them to consider again a joint city-county law enforcement arm under Sheriff Gandy. The council decided Tuesday it wanted a little time to "think things over" before discussing what comes next with the police department. The council did instruct City Manager Pete Maddox to work closely with Trulove in an effort to maintain the city-county ambulance service with volunteers wherever possible. The ambulance service has been operated by Trulove through the police department. Chief Trulove told the council Tuesday that Officer Larry Payne already had resigned and joined the Dumas police department, and Officer Roy Calhoun was going to the Dalhart police force June 1. Officer Bill Franklin, who attended the Tuesday meeting with Trulove, told councilmen he also had received an offer to join another West Texas police force, but had turned it down. He said he did not know how long he would stay. The Dispatch learned that after the Tuesday afternoon meeting Franklin was contacted by the Lamesa police department and by late Tuesday night had decided to accept their job offer. Franklin resigned Wednesday morning to Chief Trulove. The resignation will be effective June 7. Chief Trulove told the council that after the first resignation, that of Larry Payne, he had hired Mike Crawford, an officer formerly of Hobbs, N. M., to replace Payne. Crawford arrived here Tuesday night and is now on duty. Chief Trulove said Crawford, who is 23, was certified in New Mexico and will only need two or three days schooling to complete Texas certification as his New Mexico courses were transferrable. This leaves the current law enforcement picture here like this: When all resignations become effective, the city may have two officers, Bobby Dean, who still has three weeks of law enforcement schooling at Levelland to complete on an ever-other-week basis and Crawford, the new recruit. The county will have only Sheriff Gandy, who like Dean is taking required law enforcement courses at Levelland and also has three more weeks of study ahead on alternate weeks.

J. A. (Jimmy) Holliman set off the sweeping series of law enforcement resignations here when he abruptly resigned as sheriff May 1 with the comment that "I can't make a living wage" in the office. Gandy has not filled the open deputy sheriff's position. Post's police pay scale for (See Police quit, Page 12)

 tapes growing here

One of the ministries of the First Baptist Church that seems to be growing by leaps and bounds is its cassette tape library. An accumulation of almost 1,200 cassette tapes, Bible messages, Bible studies and music tapes are available to be checked out. "The cassette tape business is one of the fastest growing industries in America, because they are such a helpful tool in so many different areas," says Bro. Glenn Reece, who is responsible for starting the library, now located in the First Baptist church here in Post. The library started as a personal collection, used by Bro. Reece for his own study. Buying two or three tapes a month, before long his collection had grown quite large. His first tapes were the reel type, but when cassettes came in so handy, he transferred all his reels onto cassette and so started the library that he moved to Post with him. He was living in the Dallas area when the collection began, and later moved to Nacona, where the collection was given another boost. A rancher, a member of his congregation in Nacona, became interested and wanted to start his own collection of tapes, so he bought two tapes, which Bro. Reece would record, give him one and keep one for his trouble. The library really began to grow and was added to almost every day. When he moved to Post, the library system was started and the tapes were numbered and a catalog was made and printed to make use of the library easier for everyone. The collection was also given a name at this time, "Echoes of Revival Ministries." All Sunday morning services at the local church are taped, cataloged and placed in the library, as are tapes of messages by some of the greatest preachers and teachers in America. Names found in the library include Jack Taylor, Ronn Dunn, Adrain Rogers, Dr. W. A. Criswell, Major Ian Thomas Manley Beasley (who will be coming to Post soon) and Mickey Bonner. The tapes are available to anyone and many are copied and mailed everyday to all parts of Texas and several states, including some regularly to Minnesota and Mississippi. (See Tape library, Page 12)

Suit filed against city
 on its liquor ordinance

W. H. Smith Jr., representing himself and all persons 18 years of age or older, has filed a petition for declaratory judgment in Garza County District Court against the City of Post to have the city's ordinance prohibiting the possession and consumption of alcoholic beverages in any public place except those properly licensed by the state declared unconstitutional. The suit was filed Friday by Attorney Sue Ray of the law firm of Walker and Ray. The petition was served on Mayor Giles McCrary. The petition contends that the city ordinance should be declared void and unconstitutional and asks that the city be permanently enjoined from enforcing the ordinance. Smith was arrested at 11 p. m. May 13 by Policeman Bill Franklin on the parking lot of a downtown filling station and given a citation for possession of alcoholic beverage for purpose of consumption in a public place. Smith's petition contends the ordinance is unconstitutional because it is "an illegal attempt" (See City sued, Page 12)

Bill Hudman to sing in 'Texas'

Bill Hudman this summer will be Post's first member of the big cast for the musical drama, "Texas," which will open its 10th season in June in the outdoor amphitheater in Palo Duro Canyon near Canyon. Hudman, who has just completed his sophomore year at Texas Tech, has been signed to a singer-actor contract for the summer. The big production company, whose members come from 52 colleges and universities in 18 states, held its first rehearsal Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Hans Hudman, Bill's parents, haven't learned what role Bill will play in the production.

 for new extension center

SNYDER — Western Texas College, which is making plans to open an extension center in Post in the fall of 1975, is requesting that persons interested in enrolling for courses complete and return survey forms indicating the course or courses they would like to take. The forms have been sent home with public school students in Post, and additional forms are available from the office of Bill Shiver, Superintendent of Schools. The form lists 26 courses which could be made available in extension classes, but the number of courses actually offered will depend on the number of persons who enroll. A minimum of 15 students is usually required for each class. Students in extension centers pay fees of $51 for one three-hour course or $57 for two three-hour courses plus lab fees when they are required. Fees for Community Services courses, which do not carry college credit, are not the same and will vary according to the duration of the course, etc. WTC presently operates extension programs in Haskell and Colorado City. It was recently given approval for the new extension programs in Post, Rotan and Sweetwater. Public school officials in each of those towns had requested that WTC offer the extension programs for the benefit of (See WTC, Page 12)

Cotton half planted

With probably only a little more than half of Garza County's cotton planted, farmers still are eyeing the sky for more moisture despite scattered showers last Thursday morning and Friday night. Justiceburg probably is the only county area in good shape with some reports of up to four inches of moisture in that region. County Agent Syd Conner told The Dispatch that "we've got another two weeks to plant if we have to have it, but almost everybody would like to get it in the ground by June 1." Conner reported Garza farmers this week were "planting in places." He said some north of Post haven't had enough moisture to plant and neither have some farmers east of Post. The county agent said he hadn't had a chance to check the county overall for cotton planting progress. He predicted that a little bit less cotton will be planted this year than was planted in the bumper harvest of two years ago. Conner pointed out that 6,000

County moves to re-district
 The Garza County Commissioners Court at its recent May meeting voted to proceed with re-districting plans for the county commissioners precincts. Three employees placed through the CETA federal program will conduct the re-districting. In other major actions, the court authorized the county's bank to contract with the First National Bank of Post after receiving the attorney general's opinion concerning the legality of awarding a depository contract. Judge Giles Dalby was not present at the meeting and abstained from any action on the matter. Following review of affidavits of right-of-way on the US-80 construction project in Post, payment was made to Giles McCrary and E. K. Beach for damages in the amount of $9,910 and $2,300 respectively. The court reappointed Mrs. Anna Anthony as deputy clerk and chief dispatcher for the sheriff's department and approved operations.

Some law enforcement thoughts

This isn't the first time, Post and Garza County have had law enforcement "troubles" — and it probably won't be the last time either.

The police force here this past year has been composed of young, competent officers. But we are sorry to say that they fell short of real "professionalism" by their announced mass exodus this past week to other law enforcement jobs paying more money.

A professional in any field must consider his or her responsibilities as well as his or her opportunities. It looks to us as if the responsibilities this week have been more or less ignored.

In this case, the responsibility is to provide law enforcement protection to a community. It does not mean that an opportunity elsewhere cannot be accepted, but it does mean that an orderly transition should be provided in the best interests of the community. There is no orderly transition here but in fact an emergency has been created.

We remain optimistic. The pieces can be fitted back together again. Post has "started over" in law enforcement many times.

As to the proposition of the consolidation of the city and county law arms, this now appears to be as good a time as any, and maybe a better time actually.

There are real organizational benefits to such a consolidated agency if — and it's a big if — it can be administered properly. And even if federal funds are not now attainable for such a move, consolidation might still be the best move.

Despite new training requirements for all the law enforcement efforts, the council and court cannot overlook the fact that to hold personnel here in competition with bigger communities as much home-grown personnel as possible should be employed, because they are "rooted" in Post and do not "move on" so quickly.

The council needs of course to investigate the salary scale for officers all over West Texas. If we are at the very bottom, we cannot expect to hold officers long. We cannot of course pay the top wages but an adjustment should be made. There always will be bigger towns and cities who can afford to outbid us for officers.

It appears to us that the only loyalty developed in our police department has been to the chief who hired them and not to the city they were hired to protect.

Last year's tourist 'biz' big

"Texas Visitor Industry, A Report to the Shareholders — 1974." That's the title on the cover of a beautiful report just out from the Texas Highway Department to the people of Texas.

In a forward to "the shareholders" it is pointed out that "every Texan has a vested interest in the success of this business called tourism. Every Texan is a shareholder in this multibillion dollar enterprise which operates without smokestacks, without assembly lines, without corporate offices, but with some 627,000 Texas employees."

The forward proudly adds: "The Texas Highway Department through its 11 tourists bureaus, its travel publications and photographic services, travel films and slide programs, and most importantly, its 71,000-mile network of travel routes, is a major contributor to the vigor and success of Texas tourism."

The state through its Texas Tourist Development Agency and the Travel and Information Division of the Texas Highway Department in 1974 spent $1,997,273 in its tourism program.

The report to shareholders shows that for the year Texas had over 19½ million out-of-state visitors who spent an estimated $2,641,937,000 (that's billion) and contributed over $235 million directly to state taxes. Besides that Texans traveling Texas in 241 million "person-trips" contributed over another two billion including over $193 million more in estimated state taxes.

Add in out-of-state and in-state visitors' statistics together and one has a grand total of almost $5 billion as 1974 receipts for the Texas tourist industry with $426 million contributed directly to state taxes.

Despite the uncertainty of gasoline supplies, the 55 miles per hour speed limit and all the rest, some 15,845,996 auto visitors poured into Texas last year. This was only a slight decline from 1973.

These auto visitors drove an average of 1,153 miles on Texas highways during their average 6.9 days stay within our borders.

The report has everything in figures, such as the average auto visiting party (number in car) spent an average of $368.09 in Texas at an average of $20 per person per day.

Why did all these people come to Texas?

The report says 46 per cent of them came on vacations, 32 per cent on business, eight per cent on combined business and vacation trips, 7 per cent for conventions, 4 per cent were moving, and 3 per cent to visit friends or relatives.

The biggest percentage of visitors came from California — 10 per cent with Oklahoma close behind with 9 per cent. Louisiana had 7 per cent, Florida, Illinois, and Mexico, each 5 per cent with the rest of the states ranging from one to four per cent.

The tourist centers operated by the highway department asked for favorable or unfavorable criticism on a variety of tourism subjects and drew more praise than criticism on most of them.

The one exception of praise more often than criticism came when 715 tourists complained on the lack of rest rooms in roadside parks. Texas "pioneered" roadside parks more than 40 years ago and leads the nation in the number of such facilities — 1,100. Texas does have 59 elaborate rest areas on the interstate network with comfort stations, but the older roadside parks do not have them.

While auto visitors amounted to 81 per cent coming from out of state, airlines flew in over three million more, buses brought in 660,000 more and Amtrak trains accounted for 72,000 more.

There was a whole lot more in the report, but this is enough to indicate that tourism is a real Texas industry. And come to think about it, tourism is a profitable industry right here in Post too.

You ought to count the cars pouring through on Broadway (US-84) sometime if you need convincing and note the retail businesses — 32 at least — that the US-84 flow supports right here.

The 1975 season is beginning to roll. Probably it will be bigger and better both for Texas — and for Post.

A real do-it-ourselves project

It's awfully easy to get into a rut. And that's what a lot of us business folks along Main Street and up and down Broadway have gotten ourselves into.

We're talking about our untidy appearance.

We're talking about the weeds growing through cracks in downtown sidewalks, along the edges of business buildings, around light poles, and in vacant lots of parking areas along Broadway.

We're talking about a few dilapidated store fronts which spoil the neat appearance of the rest of them. We're talking about litter continually blowing up and down the gutters and sidewalks of the business district.

We're talking about the need of paint.

The Chamber of Commerce beautification committee, headed by Will Parker, has come up with an essential Post business project — cleaning up the business district and Broadway.

Let's take a look at ourselves — and get to work so Post can look like the neat, clean city it used to be.

Statebeat

By KURT E. JOHNSON

AUSTIN — There is no question but that my perspective as a political commentator on Texas' 64th Legislature has been critical and pessimistic. Even legislators themselves (Representative Mickey Leland of Harris County, for example) have been critical of the elected's efficiency, with negative implications for its legal judgment.

While much of this kind of criticism has been both credible and accurate, there have been significant instances of responsibility if not occasional flashes of brilliance. It is unquestionably consoling when such instances are encountered.

This column has previously made note, for example, of such legislation as HB 72, one of some 2,500 bills in the legislature, a statute which I viewed with a great amount of skepticism regarding its necessity, virtue and constitutionality.

The exemplary bill was first introduced into the House by Representative Larry Vick of Houston, and was aimed at stopping the sale of manuscripts to students who would utilize them in fulfilling requirements for particular courses.

At an objective level, no one can really effectively argue in support of this kind of plagiaristic activity, and thus the bill seemed appropriate.

But, as any student of eighth-grade government (as well as constitutional lawyers) can tell you, attempts to regulate something undesirable can also result in the infringement of certain constitutional liberties which are the rights of every citizen.

In this case HB 72 would create by statute a circumstance in which anyone who prints and publishes anything in the state of Texas (be it a tract, dissertation, sermon, mimeographed pamphlet, or even a newspaper), and then sells it, could be prosecuted on a misdemeanor charge if a college student who bought it claimed it as his own in presenting its contents as a term paper for academic credit.

Thus, while HB 72 had merit as per its intent, it also had a significant liability because of the conflict with the state and federal constitutions which convey the inalienable rights of freedom of the press.

Now the fun begins. Let's trace this bill through the state legislature and see how things transpired.

In February the bill was introduced into the House. It was immediately assigned to the House Higher Education Committee who held a public hearing on it, then referred it to the subcommittee it created (chaired by Representative Abraham Ribak of Bexar County) for re-working and drafting.

One would think, at this point, that the constitutional question would be formally addressed. It was not. According to Robert Heath, an assistant attorney to Attorney General John Hill, Representative Ribak wrote the Attorney General's office and requested assistance on amending the bill so that it would have the farthest-reaching preempting power possible.

But, unfortunately, he did not request an opinion on constitutionality. And, according to Heath, the only reason an opinion was not researched and rendered is simply because one was not requested. It must be conceded that Heath was doing his job appropriately. It is certainly not the responsibility of the Attorney General's office to baby-sit the legislature.

Then, without an Attorney General's opinion, the bill passed the subcommittee, the Higher Education committee and the House floor (on the consent calendar, no less, meaning that there was no floor debate). It then went to the Senate where it picked up a sponsor (Senator Kent Hance) and was assigned to the Senate's Education Committee.

A public hearing was scheduled for Friday, May 23. Senator Hance presented the bill. Representative Vick made the trip over in the east side of the dome to explain it, and Provost Dean Ross of the University of Texas testified in favor of it.

I personally appeared as the only witness testifying against the bill. I wasn't against the bill's intent, but instead was concerned that constitutional questions were still jeopardized by it in light of the absence of an Attorney General opinion.

And then, rekindling the flame of democratic process and constitutional freedoms, chiefly through Senators Bill Patman of Ganado and Oscar Mauzy of Dallas, the Education Committee voted to ask the Attorney General whether or not the bill would infringe on constitutional liberties, a move which certainly should have been made earlier by either Vick or Ribak or the subcommittee or the House Higher Fortunately, because of wise and prudent men like Bill Patman and Oscar Mauzy, the constitutional question was finally addressed, and now the Attorney General will finally have the opportunity to formally respond to the key question of constitutionality.

Senator Hance, by the way, voted against the motion to refer the bill to the Attorney General for an opinion. It causes one to wonder what kind of perspective a man must have when he deems it more desirable to try to speed a bill into law rather than to obtain the data needed to determine constitutionality before voting on it with all the wisdom which can be summoned.

It is a sense of security to have men like Patman and Mauzy around. Their votes were referable only to conscience in protecting the interests of Texas citizens and their civil liberties.

I hope I can report similar good news next week, when utility regulation, public school financing and other major items create the scenario as the 64th Legislature ticks off the last few days toward adjournment.

Flags leases Astroworld

Six Flags, Inc., announced today that it is leasing the management and operation of Houston's Astroworld park. P. DeWitt, president of Six Flags, said his company has entered into a twenty-year lease with the park's parent, Astroworld Corporation. The terms of the agreement call for a scale of lease payments. Six Flags also has the option to renew the lease for an additional ten years. The lease includes approximately forty-five acres of undeveloped property surrounding the park. Currently, Astroworld attracts just over one million visitors annually. The park was opened in 1968 and designed by the same architects who designed the three Six Flags parks in Dallas-Fort Worth, Atlanta and St. Louis. New parks being built now of the same size and quality of Astroworld have a cost of over $40,000,000.

LETTERS To the Editor

DOGS ARE HUNGRY

Dear Editor:

In a year or so's time, here in Garza County, the dogs have killed my chickens, my goats and are now killing my pigs. Monday seven were killed and they weighed about 50-70 pounds each. See I have a family to feed, but after this, looks like I have to go to food stamps.

See I work everyday, so the dogs can do their damage then, and people are fussing about how dogs are treated. So please if you have a dog, feed him, so we can eat.

—A lot is said about dogs when one is killed, but when one life is taken the killer can go free, because the dead had a bad record. If people only would look at themselves first. Really something should be done about dogs.

Port-to-Plains highway through Post gets okay

ABILENE — The Texas Highway Commission has responded favorably to the proposal for a Port-to-Plains Highway. Bob Bailey of Abilene, chairman of the Texas Port-to-Plains Highway Association, said last week. The Port-to-Plains proposed highway would extend from Amarillo through Lubbock, Post

Snyder, Abilene, Brownwood, Austin and Houston to end in Galveston.

Delegations from Lubbock to Houston were present in Austin May 1 when the highway proposal was made to the Texas State Highway Commission.

The association wants the route developed to four-lane standards from Amarillo to Galveston to provide a highway adequate to move agricultural and other products from the upper reaches of the state to the ports of Houston and Galveston, with manufactured goods moving from the coastal cities back upstate.

Airport aid too expensive

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Standards for receiving federal "aid" for airports make construction costs so high that states and localities go it alone in many cases, according to the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association, which is calling for reductions in federal spending on aviation projects. The "go it alone" list includes Texas.

"Federal airport 'aid' is first collected in taxes and then doled out by the U. S. Department of Transportation's Federal Aviation Administration (FAA)," explained Robert Monroe, a vice president of AOPA.

Criticism from a wise man, is worth more than praise from a fool.

Field office to be moved

LUBBOCK — Comptroller Bob Bullock said today that Lubbock field office would move its doors on June 2nd to a new location, Suite 400 of Terrace Shopping Center, 4902 34th Street.

Bullock said the move necessary to make room for additional Comptroller Department employees to serve 20-county South Plains area, which has more than 7,000 taxpayer accounts.

The new office telephone number is area code 806-8091.

"The people in our offices are our direct contact with the taxpayers in this area and this move will help taxpayers in Lubbock and area to be able to get questions and problems in such taxes taken care of much more easily," Bullock said.

Bullock said the new location would be more convenient reach for much of the area business community of area plus providing better parking facilities.

If a man could have half his wishes, he would usually do his trouble.

Grudziecki-McVay vows read Saturday

Deborah Jean Grudziecki and John Allen McVay were united in marriage at 5 p. m. Saturday afternoon in the First Baptist Church of Tahoka.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in the gown which was worn by her sister at her wedding. Fashioned of white cotton voile, trimmed with venise lace, the empire bodice featured a wide squared collar outlined with the cotton lace and long bishop sleeves with lace trimmed cuffs. A grosgrain ribbon overlaid with venise lace motifs encircled the raised waistline, and the hemline of the fuller A-line skirt was bordered with venise lace and flowed into a short brush train. The bride wore a wide-brimmed wedding hat laced with white ribbons, and carried a bouquet of yellow roses and daisies.

Mrs. Lexi Midkiff served her sister as matron of honor. She wore a floor length gown of yellow, fashioned in a similar design to the bride's dress. The bodice and long bishop sleeves were trimmed in white lace. She wore a wide-brimmed hat laced with yellow ribbon and carried a bouquet of roses and daisies.

James Kennedy served his son as best man. Phillip Adams of Bryan, Benny Kennedy of Post, and Dr. David Midkiff of Tahoka acted as groomsmen.

Mrs. Carolyn Virgin, Tahoka, sang "The Wedding Song," and Mrs. Hazel Bennett provided wedding selections on the organ.

A reception was held in the Community Room of the First National Bank of Tahoka after the ceremony.

The wedding date has been set for June 13, in the Deere Park Central Baptist Church.

Most frequent causes of fire are, in this order: electrical, smoking and matches; heating and cooking equipment; children and matches; candles; flames and sparks; faulty or suspicious electrical wiring; flammable liquids; lighting; chimneys and flues; and unattended fireplaces. Faulty electrical installations and equipment, which are responsible for nearly 100,000 fires each year.

Legal push "on" for day care center licensing

By JUDY BARKER
 State Department of Public Welfare (DPW) the state agency in charge of licensing and overseeing day care in Texas, has made dramatic strides in reducing the number of unlicensed centers in Texas in the last year.

There is a new legal push to assure that all day care centers are meeting minimum standards and are licensed.

DPW representative claim that the new day care licensing standards now in effect are at least partially responsible for the better protection offered to Texas children.

Because it is illegal to operate a child care business without a license, the operator of a day care center who continues to stay open after court injunction against it can be fined or otherwise penalized by the court.

In most cases, injunction are handled by the Court Attorney, however the District Attorney or Attorney General will take care of cases not handled on a local level. Due process is afforded the day care provider through out the injunction process. Any person who has had a day care license denied, revoked, or suspended has the right to appeal his case before an Advisory Board.

Whenever the State Department of Public Welfare has reason to believe that any person, having the care of a child subjects that child to mistreatment, neglect or immoral surroundings, it can cause a petition to be filed and may be represented by the Attorney General of the State of Texas.

In the past year, DPW got more court injunctions against illegal centers, and there were more cases on appeal than the total for the previous ten years. They can now legally give a real warning to a center if it does not seem willing to comply with the standards, as versus the "friendly persuader" attitude they use to have. They are getting much better compliance with the law now. With the increase in the number of licensing workers, DPW staff is now readily available to work with unlicensed centers.

Initially there was some fear that tougher standards would prevent new day care centers from opening up and knock out a lot of old day care centers. However, on the first of January, when all day care came under the new standards and after a year of publicity, there were almost 400 more licensed centers than there were a year ago.

The goal of day care licensing is not to prevent more child care . . . but rather to get all facilities to meet minimum standards. Licensing staff is willing to offer constructive, supportive help all along the way towards meeting those standards.

Questions concerning day care and licensing may be directed to Judy Barker, Day Care Licensing Worker, Box 2369, Lubbock, phone 747-3821. All questions will be responded to in next week's final article.

My Neighbors Teachers okay unification

"I remember when you used to look at me that way."

AUSTIN — Texas teachers have approved unification of the Texas State Teachers Association with the National Education Association.

Jewel Howard of Dallas, TSTA state president who announced the result of a membership referendum on the issue, termed it "a victory for the united teaching profession."

With some 145,000 professional and life members eligible to vote by secret, mailed-in ballots, the totals were:

For unification, 24,992.

Against unification, 46,061.

Unification, in essence, means that Texas educators who wish to belong to TSTA state and local associations also must hold membership in NEA, beginning Sept. 1, 1975.

TSTA has been the Texas state affiliate of the NEA association since March, but reciprocal membership previously has been voluntary. NEA now has made unification a requirement for its local state affiliates.

Love is oceans of emotion surrounded by expenses.

Twin Cedars Nursing Home News

We wish to thank each one who has visited with us at the Twin Cedar Nursing Home. Especially do we want to thank those who came to our Sunday Services and Bro. Reece who brought our message. It brightens the residents days so very much to have the nice visits and to have the religious services on Wednesday and Sunday afternoons. We do want to thank Bro. Bob Connel for the Wednesday afternoons that he has given to us here at Twin Cedar. He has been so very faithful. We all love him so much. We greatly appreciate all the pastors who give their time. It does mean much to these people who are unable to attend services at their churches.

Also we at the Nursing home want to thank everyone who keep the visiting hours. We do need a set time in order to have meals and all routine care done when the visiting hours are here.

The hours set up are 9 a. m. to 11 a. m. and 2 p. m. to 5 p. m. If these are observed it makes it better on the residents and all concerned. Again thanks for being so kind to help out on this.

On Tuesday, May 20, we had several birthdays to help celebrate. Dee Caylor, Virginia Perez and Margie Redman were honored at a party with cake and punch served. The lovely cake was baked by Terry Hurton and enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Will Cravy went out to their cabin on White River with her son, Charlie and wife for the day Sunday.

Mrs. Longshore was out of town at Odessa Saturday night for a nice visit.

Visiting Mrs. Edith Inklebarger Monday, was her daughter, Mrs. McGrew from Lamesa and Mrs. McGrew's son and family from Dallas.

Tuesday morning, Mrs. Glenn Norman brought her kindergarten class from the First Baptist Church for singing. Everyone enjoyed it very much.

Mrs. Clayton's daughter took her to the cemetery where they placed flowers on the graves of their loved ones.

Keep the visits coming and we will see you next week.

TWO FAMILIES VISIT

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Ray, were their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Don Rose of Meeteetse, Wyo., and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Matthes and Sandra of Sweetwater.

TEXAS TALK

By FRED MYERS

Dead-end with the camel. That's where the experts say beef ranks as a preferred meat in the mid-east. Goat and lamb are way out in front and it'll take some mighty tempting T-bones to turn the tide. This is an Arabic fact-of-life depressing to cattlemen trying to build a fire under the export meat business. On the positive side however, proponents of the U.S. Meat Export Federation say there is major demand for prime beef in many of the European and Asian markets. Organizers of the fledgling federation hope to obtain the blessing of the Foreign Agricultural Service in the near future and establish international offices to promote the sale of U.S. meat throughout the world. Model for the ambitious undertaking is the highly successful National Feed Grains Council whose members have shown how well consistent international promotion works. Japan and Germany are most often mentioned as locations for the first two offices of the new Export Federation.

Unbeaten Babe Ruth clubs clash tonight for lead

Braves and White Sox to clash in first 'big one'

The first "big game" of the Babe Ruth League season comes in the opener of tonight's doubleheader when the loop's only two undefeated teams, the Braves and the White Sox, clash to determine which club takes over undisputed possession of first place.

The Indians picked up two more victories during the last week and the White Sox one, as Southland swung into action with three straight defeats.

The Indians are in third place with two wins and two losses after picking up two wins in three starts this week.

The White Sox clobbered Southland last Thursday night, 16 to 4, in their only game during the last week of action (Thursday through Tuesday). Kent Craig held Southland to three hits while his mates were collecting nine and mixing in some walks and errors.

The Braves had a tough one in edging the Indians 7 to 6 with the game called after five innings because of rain. The teams were knotted at 5-all going into the fifth with the Braves coming up with a pair of runs on only one hit with the Indians coming back for only one. Each club got five hits.

The Indians punched over seven runs in the first Saturday night to take a big lead on the Cubs and romped to a 16 to 11 win although the Cubs came up with a seven-run inning of their own in the fourth.

Deeres and Tigers top Little League

The Taylor Tractor Deeres and the Storie Gin Tigers appear to be the class of the Post Little League but which of the two is the stronger won't come up for decision before June 7 when they clash for the first time.

The Deeres have romped to four straight victories, including Tuesday night's 21 to 3 trouncing of the Dodgers, while the Tigers have scored three impressive wins.

Both teams appear to have both the hitting and the pitching.

Despite the big scores run up by these two unbeaten teams it remained for the Cardinals to turn in the best run production in the first 11 league games.

The Cards plated 24 runs in winning an abbreviated 24 to 6 win over the Yankees Tuesday night, which was stopped by the 15-run rule after four innings.

In their "run orgy" the Cards pounded out 21 hits, the most by anybody this year, including homeruns by Shortstop Joe Lofton and Centerfielder Lance Dunn in the first inning and five doubles.

Shortstop Gary Lamb rapped out four straight singles for the Yankees last Thursday night, but it wasn't quite enough as the Dodgers converted six hits into twice as many runs for a tight, 12 to 11 victory.

The Dodgers came up with three runs in the top of the sixth to win it after battling from behind after the Yanks came up with an eight-run rally in the third for a 10 to 7 lead.

Shortstop Mark Greer rapped out two doubles and two singles in four trips and Catcher Ruben Storie collected four consecutive singles to guide the Tigers to an 18 to 2 romp over the Red Sox in the nightcap. Chris Hall and Steve Curb limited the Red Sox to two hits.

The Yankees got their first win on the board Friday night by edging the Red Sox 13 to 12, as they came from behind with three runs in the bottom of the sixth to take it on an outfield error.

Pitcher Roy Gonzales got four hits for the losers as the winners collected 14 safeties.

Centerfielder Alvin Taylor led the Deeres to an 11-5 win over the Cardinals in the nightcap with two doubles and a single in three trips, scoring three runs. Catcher Bryan Taylor, leading off for the Cardinals, also went three for three.

On Saturday night the Tigers got 11 hits to romp to a 16 to 1 victory over the Yankees in a game cut to four innings by the 15-run rule. Mark Greer and Ruben Storie, pitcher and catcher for the winners each got a pair of hits.

In one of the better played games of the young season Cardinals got their first win over the Dodgers with Lance Dunn getting three straight hits for the winners.

Tim Tannehill held the bats to a single hit.

Monday night, the Deeres displayed more of their power with an eight-run first inning swamp the Yankees, 14 to 1.

Coach Brownd to Snyder job

Coach Jackie Brownd has resigned from the Post High School coaching staff to accept a position as varsity linebacker coach in football at Snyder High School under his former coach, Maurice Hodges.

Snyder is a AAA school. Brownd coached under Hodges at Monahans before Hodges moved to Snyder last year.

Athletic Director Bobby Davis said Danny Chisum, present junior high coach, will be moved up to high school replacing Brownd.

Davis said he is now seeking a new junior high coach.

"Jackie is a good coach and we hate to lose him, but it is a promotion for him," Davis told The Dispatch.

Brownd has coached here for two years. His coaching assignments included defensive line as assistant football coach, junior varsity basketball coach, coaching of weight men in track and helped coach the eighth grade in football.

discovering the different patterns they can make when they simply fill in the dots without answering the questions. We would like to congratulate the artistic students and may your parents never know.

The final day of the school year is here. We have turned the last page of the chapter of the Seniors of '75. This has been a year of the Antelopes and Does. All the students have demonstrated great ability in every area from football, basketball, and track to academics, FFA, FHA, and drama. We have watched PHS bloom and grow into the No. 1 school it is today. The Class of '76 has continually shown leadership and demonstrated fellowship with and for their underclassmen. We salute the Seniors of '75 as one of the most outstanding class of students every to leave PHS. May the Class of '76 continue to follow this example and may the fame of PHS grow greater with each class. It is therefore with happiness for their achievements and sadness for their coming absence that we say good-bye to the Senior Class of 1975.

HOW'S The Electric Company DOING?

Let's ask Bert Ballengee — Reddy's financial man.

"It takes money to build for the future so that you'll have a dependable supply of electric power. We'll need $345 million over the next five years. Of this amount, we'll have to borrow $200 million. And, at today's interest rates, it's easy to see why electricity may cost more. But, it's all part of creating the good electric service you've come to expect from The Electric Company."

VICE PRESIDENT — FINANCE

Bert regularly visits the financial centers of the nation keeping in touch with the financial market and arranging for the millions of dollars it takes to assure your electric future.

Wyatt gave seniors some "guidelines that I hope will help you as you strive for success and happy living."

Wyatt's guidelines included:
"Be your best. We cannot all do and be the same person or thing. But we can be the best we can be. You will be working at different kinds of jobs and you shouldn't be satisfied with second best."
"Live a life of helping others. You have some great examples of people here in Post who live by that rule. There are too many takers in America today and not enough givers. It was Jesus who said that it is more blessed to give than to receive."
"Sacrifice for your goals and ambitions. Success never comes easy."
"Make room in your life for Christ. It is obvious that America lately has had its problems. We have been trying to do it alone."

Wyatt's address followed the salutatory address by Roxie Owen, the valedictory by Kent Kirkpatrick, and the reading of the class history by Dana Pool. The presentation of the scholarships came after Wyatt's address and then Supt. Bill Shiver presented the class to K. W. Kirkpatrick, president of the school trustees this past year, for the presentation of diplomas.

A group of 10 seniors sang two musical selections, "Go Ye Into All the World" and "Climb Every Mountain" during the commencement program on a cool and windy night before a large crowd seated in the west stand of the stadium.

The singers were Nancy Reno, Dana Pool, Marsha Arheiger, Irene Sanchez, Ann Mitchell, Cy Willson, Kent Kirkpatrick, Tony Conner, Kevin Thomas and Randy Babb. They were accompanied by George Willson.

The Antelope band played the processional and recessional to start and conclude the commencement.

The first time before they lined up for the luncheon buffet, and even some whom he hadn't even been introduced to.

Of course the reader wonders why he skipped over Herron's name and then came back to him a moment later and correctly named him.

Lewis himself provides the explanation. "I moved from the head table after eating, and sat down at the side table to hear the talk and program better, so I was out of place to him. When he came to the vacant seat where 'Herron' had been, he knew I had moved and came back and named me."

Governor seeks 4,000 new jobs

AUSTIN — Governor Dolph Briscoe has revealed plans for an in-depth job creation campaign to offset the recession and curb a climbing unemployment rate across Texas.

The Governor announced plans for his new "Texas First" program, and set forth a goal to create 4,000 new jobs during the next 12 months.

"I'm sure you all remember when I took office I made a pledge to make Texas first in agriculture," Governor Briscoe said. "We are gaining ground on that goal."

"Now, I am asking my fellow Texans to join me in the second phase of my pledge. I want to make Texas first in business and industrial development, and more importantly during these troubled times, in job creation."

He said the goal of the program is to identify and generate more than 4,000 new, permanent and unsubsidized jobs in Texas.

"We estimate the program will cause the expansion of approximately 160 companies in the next 12 months," he said. "That would mean a total economic impact of $277 million annually."

He said the program will ask businesses to pledge to hire more workers. "Once a company makes this pledge, the State will train Texans to meet the skills required for the new jobs."

Clean-up —

merchants keep their premises spotless, but others seem to concentrate only on interior neatness.

The Chamber has arranged for "paint specials" at both local lumberyards for merchants who might want to get busy with the paint brush.

Parker said merchants having buildings in need of exterior repair and paint are being contacted personally by members of the Chamber beautification committee and urged to help Post's appearance by fixing up their store fronts.

"If every merchant will just look his place of business over on the outside with a critical eye — to see his business as others see it — most of Post's ragged appearance could be easily cleaned up," Parker said.

Every merchant taking care of his own clean-up and paint-up is all that is needed to give Post a much improved appearance for the summer travel season, the Chamber contends.

Minds are like parachutes; they function only when open.

Police quit---

officers now is $300 to $350 a month, depending upon certification and time with force. For the next fiscal year, beginning July 1, the council had voted to boost police pay $30 a month, which would have made the top pay here $580 monthly plus a $20 monthly clothing allowance.

The Dispatch has been told that in the last seven days job offers to local officers have come from Dalhart, Dumas, Seagraves, Lamesa and Kermit, not counting Sundown's employment of Trulove.

These police departments, this newspaper has been told, all have starting salaries close to or in excess of $700 monthly.

Police Chief Trulove has been receiving $756 monthly here and also was due for a $30 monthly increase which with the clothing allowance would boost his total to slightly over $800 monthly.

Trulove told The Dispatch that the salary offered by Sundown was "about the same" but that the extra benefits included a house furnished, all house utilities paid, and the cost of hospitalization and life insurance for himself and his family all paid by the city of Sundown. Although having a car furnished for his police use he could also draw up to $160 in car expenses monthly should he need to use his own car.

Trulove, who came here 15 months ago to completely reorganize the police department, wrote in his letter of resignation to the city council:

"In regard to my resignation, I do wish to leave this position in good faith and with no personal grievances. I have been offered a position in the same capacity with the City of Sundown, Texas, for a substantial salary and benefit increase."

"I do feel that my acceptance of this position will be for the betterment of my personal welfare in being able to provide for my family a better financial atmosphere. Myself and my family do hate to leave Post. We have made many good friends and acquaintances during our almost year and half of residence here."

"We have established our home here and have become members of this community with gratitude. I do feel that you, as city governing officials, will understand my reason for resigning. I also feel that under present budget conditions that the City of Post cannot offer a similar position with the benefits I have been offered."

"I do wish to extend my thanks to you for my tenure with the City of Post. I feel a large degree of professionalism has been brought into law enforcement in Post, and I feel that the citizens have more confidence in law enforcement than in the past."

What course of action the council may decide to take

Monday night is at present a matter of conjecture.

Whether the council will move quickly into consolidation of the police force with the county sheriff's department is the first big question facing decision.

If the consolidation move is taken and is favorably approved by state and federal authorities, it is possible the two local units of government could receive up to $50,000 in federal funding over the next two years for additional salaries, expenses and equipment.

Sheriff Gandy told The Dispatch Tuesday night that "I don't think this will kill our consolidation effort."

Some have expressed doubts that federal requirements for consolidation could be met in view of the fact that all Post's Texas-certified officers have resigned.

Mayor Giles C. McCrary was out of the city Tuesday and the council session was presided over by Ed Sawyers, mayor pro-tem. It was Sawyers who called the meeting.

on the city's part to alter and change the provisions of the Texas Liquor Control Act", which sets specific hours on Sunday morning and between 12:15 and 7 a. m. daily when it is unlawful to possess for consumption or consume alcoholic beverage in a public place.

The state permits such possession and consumption at all other times and the City of Post has no authority to make such hours more restrictive, the petition contends.

The petition also contends the city ordinance is unconstitutional because it provides a larger fine for violation than permitted by state law.

The ordinance in question was adopted Dec. 9 of last year on the recommendation of Harvey Morton of Lubbock attorney for the city.

Oil Price Controls

WASHINGTON—If a hostile foreign power wished to cripple our efforts to attain energy independence, it would be hard pressed to do more damage than the liberal majority in Congress already is doing.

America has become dangerously dependent on foreign sources of oil. We have to import about 40 per cent of the crude oil we use, and the $25 billion we have to pay OPEC to get it is depressing our economy, worsening inflation and wreaking havoc with our balance of payments.

What Congress should be doing to keep this bad situation from getting worse is to provide incentives to increase domestic production of energy, and to take measures to curb energy use.

But Congress instead has mounted an assault on common sense and elementary economics that began in March with the virtual repeal of the oil depletion allowance.

The result of THAT folly already is clear. Drilling activity in Texas and other oil producing states has dropped off sharply. Oil rigs which at this time last year were probing the earth for new sources of oil are standing idle. The major oil companies have announced sharp cutbacks in domestic exploration. The high risk capital needed to finance "wildcat" expeditions is drying up.

It is hard to imagine a blow more damaging to domestic oil production than the repeal of the depletion allowance, but Congress has come up with one: the Petroleum Price Increase Limitation Act of 1975.

Up until now, we have had a two-tier pricing system for domestic petroleum. While the price of "old" oil has been held artificially low, the price of "new" oil has been allowed to rise to freemarket levels. This two-tier system has introduced distortions into the oil market and has hampered development of energy resources.

In order to spur domestic production, President Ford plans a step-by-step reduction of controls on "old" oil. A recent federal study indicated that decontrol would increase our domestic oil recovery by 10 billion barrels per year, which would reduce the amount we would have to pay to OPEC by $8.5 billion per year.

But Congress seems determined to see that OPEC will get not only that $8.5 billion, but a lot more as well. The Petroleum Price Increase Limitation Act not only would bar the lifting of price controls from "old" oil, it would slap controls on "new" oil as well.

It follows logically that if controls on old oil limit production, controls on new oil will limit it further. It requires no great expertise in economics to see the relationship. But Congress, alas, has no great expertise in economics.

All local insurance agencies to be approved by the board for insurance placement must have been in fire, casualty and marine insurance business in this community for a minimum of five years prior to Sept. 1 of the respective school year in which the insurance is written.

Trustees agreed that the special called meeting to deal with the insurance problem also would serve as the board's regular June meeting.

Trustees accepted the resignations of Coach Jackie Brown who is going to Snyder, and Mrs. Kathy Brown, who is moving with her husband, Les, to Seminole.

The board adopted a policy change which will make it possible for junior and senior students to take college courses in the new Western Texas College center here next year and have them count toward graduation, but only with the
