Post school tax rate is boosted 17 cents to $1.30

Comes as no surprise

Post Independent School District trustees at a special meeting Friday afternoon boosted the district's 1975 tax rate 17 cents from $1.13 to $1.30 per $100 valuation. This is an increase to the school district taxpayer of slightly over 14 per cent.

The boost came as no surprise. It has been forecast since early summer.

The tax came despite a $12,000,000 boost in the district's taxable oil valuations to pay the district's share of a biggest-ever $1,536,295 budget.

This is a budget boost of $179,946.49 over last year's amended budget of $1,356,348.51 with most of the boost representing a sizable pay increase voted teachers by the last session of the Texas Legislature.

The complicated new state school financing law, also passed by the same session of the legislature, has boosted the school district's share of the budget financing by an estimated $68,000.

Increased state aid will pay for much of the rest of the increase.

The only way to prevent a tax boost was to cut the school program and trustees earlier in the summer voted not to do that.

The Post district now has a taxable property valuation of $91,260,490, figured on the basis of 75 per cent of real value.

The new school district budget includes $1,489,545 in the general fund and $76,750 in the interest and sinking fund to pay off bonded indebtedness on school buildings.

There are a number of other school district budgets too which aren't figured into the $1,536,295 total.

These include a lunchroom fund budget of $55,831.75 to operate the school lunchroom for the year, an athletic fund budget of $109,048.51, and six federally funded budgets for a variety of federal aid totaling $85,220.

The school lunchroom budget includes federal subsidy, payments by students for lunches and some subsidy generally from the school district's general operating fund. Likewise, the athletic fund budget includes all game receipts, operating expenses for the athletic department, all coaches salaries, with a subsidy from the general fund to make income meet out. It's probably the only athletic fund budget of any West Texas school district which shows the whole cost picture (coaches salaries are usually not included in such budgets.)

The school district budget each year includes a built-in surplus, such as tax collections over the 92 per cent budgeted, with the surplus then used at the end of the school year for (See Post school, Page 19)

The residence engineer said the project will be divided into three parts with the first portion undertaken being the widening of Broadway with new curb and guttering from the city-county park through Post to the Avenue S cutoff beyond the Post Stampede rodeo grounds.

Smith explained that individual questions about each piece of property involved would not be answered at the meeting but property owners could arrange individual consultation on them.

Smith said it is hoped that contracts for the work on the project can be let right after the first of the year.

He said the total estimated cost of the project has climbed from $1,500,000 when it was announced 18 months ago to around $2,500,000.

Rotary Dist. Governor to visit Monday

Ralph Ed McLaughlin of Big Spring, governor of Rotary District 573, will fly his own plane into Post Monday afternoon for his official 1975-76 visit to the Post Rotary Club.

He will conduct a club assembly at 7:30 p. m. Monday in the bank's community room for officers, directors, and club committee chairmen and then will address the club Tuesday noon at its weekly luncheon in the city hall auditorium.

McLaughlin will discuss the program of the new club year for the 45 clubs in the 573rd district of Rotary International, which covers most of northwest Texas.

The theme for Rotary this year is "To dignify the human being."

He will be accompanied here by his wife, Billye, coming in after a weekend official visit to the Hereford Rotary club. He is now on the final weeks of his official visits to all 45 clubs in the district.

McLaughlin is a member of IFFR, the International Fellowship of Flying Rotarians, and during the summer flew with his wife in their plane to the International Assembly at Boca Raton, Fla., on to the Rotary International convention at Montreal, and back to Big Spring by way of the Rotary International Secretariat at Evanston, Ill.

Burglars hit Southland

Five typewriters and an electric calculator were stolen from the Southland School by burglars sometime Monday night.

Deputy Sheriff Mike Crawford, who investigated the break-in, said three electric and two manual typewriters and an electric calculator were taken from the school library.

Entrance was gained to the building by breaking out a restroom window.

Burglars broke glass out of two classroom doors to gain entrance to the classrooms but nothing was found missing from them.

Still seats on Crusade bus

More Post people are driving to Lubbock for Billy Graham's West Texas Crusade — about 30 a night — than going by chartered bus, but through tonight the 20-passenger bus has been full or almost full each night.

Dan Ziegler reports that 20, 19, 18 and 20 rode the bus Sunday through Wednesday night with 16 already booked for tonight and 13 for Friday night.

Only one has signed up for Saturday night and nine so far for the closing Sunday night service of the Crusade at Jones Stadium.

The second and larger bus from Post was cancelled because of a lack of reservations.

Crusade sponsors were disappointed by the size of the total turnout the first three nights of the Crusade but attributed the lack of stadium-capacity crowds to the Labor Day holiday weekend.

Friday meeting set for US-84 widening in Post

A public meeting for property owners involved with the highway project to widen US-84 through Post will be held at 2 p. m. Friday, Sept. 5, in the city hall auditorium here.

Purpose of the meeting is to afford property owners the opportunity to learn all details on the project and to ask questions about it. Julian Smith, resident engineer here, told The Dispatch.

Smith explained that individual questions about each piece of property involved would not be answered at the meeting but property owners could arrange individual consultation on them.

He said the total estimated cost of the project has climbed from $1,500,000 when it was announced 18 months ago to around $2,500,000.

By KURT E. JOHNSON

AUSTIN — Governor Dolph Briscoe named his three appointees to the state's new Utility Regulation Commission, and they turned out to be a lawyer, insurance man and journalist, none of which has had any significant experience in the utility wars.

Observers are noting that the proof of the new commission's effectiveness will be in what kind of staff is appropriated to deal with the utilities magnates on the technical and legal levels. While the new commission members are claiming to be consumer oriented, their effectiveness will be seen by the numbers on the dollar signs in households' mailboxes.

Passed over by Briscoe in the nominations was Don Butler, an Austin lawyer and the River City's attorney who has been a strong influence on the capital city's effort to stem rising utility costs. Indications are that the new commission would be taking a step in the right direction by trying to get Butler on its staff in lieu of his failure to get an outright appointment.

Briscoe's Little Hoover Commission (also dubbed the Hobby Commission in honor of its leader, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby) is working on the job assigned to its domain, which is namely the coming up with recommendations on how to cut state government spending so that a tax bill can be avoided in 1977.

Revenue watchers around the dome are convinced that Briscoe and his commission are spitting against the wind, that not only will there be a big tax bill next time around but its size will be gargantuan.

The issue of the big Nov. 4 vote on the new constitution looms larger and larger on every front. Now there's a chance that, because the office of the Texas Secretary of State can't provide copies of the new constitution in Spanish to all eligible voters, the federal government (as per the voting rights act passed in the national congress this year) will put the clamps on any election in Texas.

Chances are that the state will be able to work the problem out with the feds, but the whole issue is rapping on a lot of raw nerves belonging to state election officials. Presidential aspirant Lloyd Benson, by the way, voted for the act despite some Texas protests at high levels, and thus may have damaged his chances for local support somewhat.

Latest word has it that House Speaker Billy Clayton, Lt. Gov. Hobby, Gov. Briscoe and a number of other high-level state leaders are trying desperately to work out a deal with anti-constitution groups in the effort to save all the propositions which will appear on the Nov. 4 ballot. Clayton wants to promise that the legislature, in its even-year sessions, would stick to restricted agendas so that fear of over-regulation by corporations and industries can be dampened.

Strict constructionists such as Sen. Peyton McKnight, however, say that such deals are not in keeping with the integrity of a good constitution and wants no part of either the deal or the new document.

At this point, it looks like the propositions involving annual legislative sessions and finance articles are in big trouble. The judiciary section is in semi-big trouble. The only provision which, at this point, seems a sure bet for passage is that of General Provisions, if it doesn't get caught in a landslide with the rest.

And just watch — if the trial goes the whole route the bill will be right at $1,000,000.

—O—
And, speaking of landslides,

Thoughts on school financing

Let's take an appraising look at the new school budget and tax rate before too many indignant citizens shoot from the hip with remarks which reflect a lack of public understanding of the situation.

Post school district's budget is up this year, and, despite a hefty $12 million increase in oil valuations, the tax rate also has had to be increased.

The public is well aware of the big legislative fight at the last session over school financing and how the rather complicated new state school financing law has forced most small, rural school districts to increase their taxes while big city districts (like Lubbock) got more and cut their school tax levies.

In Post's case, it amounted to some $68,000. The school districts were told that they could live with the new state school financing without new taxes if they cut all the extras from their program.

For example, Post teachers for years have been paid $400 per year over state-allowed salaries. Most school districts do trying to hold their teachers.

Post school trustees at the beginning of budget preparation by the school administration decided not to cut the program, but to continue the present fine program until more state increases made the cut absolutely necessary.

For example, we already know that next year the Post district according to the new state financing formulas will have to come up with an additional $50,000 to pay for the same program we have this year.

Oil pays a large percentage of this school district's tax bill. Other taxpayers should feel fortunate that we have an oil industry which pays well over half our school taxes. Here at The Dispatch, we do.

But someday, the oil industry's profits will start going down as the waterflooding, or secondary recovery, finally plays out. Then will come the real moment of truth on the cost of a school tax program for this district.

Supt. Bill Shiver has tried to point out these long range possibilities as he goes along, and to us, who have followed school trustee affairs rather closely for 18 years, he "tells it like it is" from the long range standpoint as well as the short range.

It seems at least some portion of the public has misunderstood.

We would suggest that Bill Shiver's door is always open to the school patron who wants to know and ask questions about school financing.

We also believe school trustees made the correct decision in deciding not to cut the local school program for this year. There have been a lot of uncertainties regarding the new state school financing law, and some still exist.

A fairer decision can be made after a year of seeing how things turn out. By next year, oil valuations could be a whole lot higher now controls, at least for the present, are off.

Electric cars coming back?

In the next 25 years it is predicted the electric car with its eerie hum may make a big comeback in U. S. cities because of the energy crisis.

The Energy Reporter, citizen newsletter published six times annually by the Federal Energy Administration, recalls that once there were 30,000 little electric buggies on American roads. In fact away back in 1910 there were almost 100 different electric car manufacturers.

But they were gone by the 1930's, all gone. Today there are 1,000 Americans commuting to work in electric cars that will take them downtown and home again on one charge. The car is plugged into a regular 220 volt circuit overnight and is ready for another round trip next day.

The Energy Reporter says that ERDA officials estimate that by the year 2,000 there will be 18 million electric cars in this country, which will save about 740,000 barrels of oil per day on the nation's fuel bill.

The big change in electric cars is coming with the development of more powerful, but lighter and more inexpensive batteries.

Whereas most electric car models today have a limited 35 mile range before recharging is necessary, scientists are now working on high performance "superbatteries" which could revive electric cars quickly.

At one ERDA laboratory, engineers have developed special lithium-based battery cells which deliver up to five times the power and last up to 100 times longer on a single charge than do conventional lead-acid batteries of a similar size — all at half the cost. These engineers claim the range of a car powered by their battery would be 120 to 150 miles. What's more this new 36-inch long battery could fit nicely into a 1975 Ford Mustang II. It weighs about 800 pounds, at least 2,200 pounds lighter than the conventional type.

The engineers say the electric car of the not too distant future will be able to accelerate to 50 miles per hour in 15 seconds and have a top speed of 80 mph.

In the paper the other day was an item that the postal service has purchased a fleet of electric cars as an experiment for their mailmen (though we don't understand who put them on wheels, or why.)

25 Years Ago

Judge O. P. Carillo seems buried under one as he tries to respond to the Senate's impeachment trial, the Corpus Christi income tax trial and the Judicial Qualifications Commission review board. It looks for sure that the Judge will face the Senate on September 3 and then find that group adjourning until September 22 to take up the matter again, allowing him to take care of his other legal business.

Meanwhile, Archer Parr, Carillo's ex-arch enemy in Duval County, was mislaid by federal marshals so nobody could find him as he started his 10-year sentence for a perjury conviction. Parr was waiting in a south Texas jail for his motion on bail awaiting appeal, and his prospective bride was waiting for another judge to tie the knot, but before the rice could be thrown Parr was diverted on a midnight ride to Leavenworth and the federal penitentiary.

The meeting of legal minds, both great and small, will converge in the Senate chamber on September 3. Among the participants will be famed Houston attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes for the defense and Leon Jaworski for the senate. The jury, should it eventually get to bring in a verdict, consists of the Senate itself, which means that over half of the deciders are lawyers.

Coaches optimistic after good scrimmage showing

Post starters outscore Littlefield by touchdown

Bobby Davis told Post starters at their luncheon that he and his coaches are optimistic about the local club's chances for Friday night in a tough game at Littlefield.

Post first team defeated Littlefield 20-0 in the second half of a scrimmage Saturday. Post starters outscored Littlefield's starters by a 16-0 margin in the first half and a 10-0 in the second half.

At that point, the Lopes drove down the field for a 20-yard pass to Quarterback Bryan Babb for a pass over the line to tight end Mike Babb for the final four yards.

For the drive, tailback Ed contributed a 20-yard drive, and Babb turned upfield for a 20-yard gain on a keeper, and threw a 16-yard pass to Babb besides the scoring drive.

Davis, who introduced the Post Rotarians to the game, is optimistic the team will be playing Denver in 1978.

He said that "we came out with a 16-0 lead in the first half and a 10-0 in the second half."

He said that "we came out with a 16-0 lead in the first half and a 10-0 in the second half."

He said that "we came out with a 16-0 lead in the first half and a 10-0 in the second half."

Babb showed the improvement on the field with his work as a guard, Coach Davis said.

Coach Davis said that "we came out with a 16-0 lead in the first half and a 10-0 in the second half."

He said that "we came out with a 16-0 lead in the first half and a 10-0 in the second half."

The Lopes squad came out of the scrimmage with only a few minor injuries and everybody was back for practice Monday.

Right now, the squad is working toward top shape for the 1975 opener against Coahoma here Friday night, Sept. 12.

Coach Davis said no practice is scheduled for Saturday and he and his coaches were pleased to have the extra preparation time this week to work on basics to "straighten out some things."

The Antelopes will have their open date this season on the first official weekend of high school play and then beginning with Coahoma next week will play ten straight Friday nights without a break.

After opening with Coahoma, the Lopes will be on the road for three straight weeks before returning home to play Slaton in their homecoming game Oct. 10.

Coach Davis figures Coahoma to be real tough again and he told Rotarians Tuesday in the civic club's annual pigskin review that the second game at Floydada will put the Lopes against one of the finest whirlwind eleveners in years.

Actually, the Post seventh and eighth grade teams will officially open the Post grid campaign at Antelope Stadium next Tuesday night, Sept. 9, against Cooper with the first game starting at 5 p. m.

The freshmen and junior varsity will swing into action next Tuesday evening in a twin grid bill at Cooper.

That means that the Antelope varsity will be the last Post grid squad to taste competition.

Coach Davis told Rotarians that all told 152 Post boys are now out for football, 52 sophomores, juniors and seniors, 30 freshmen, and 70 suited out in seventh and eighth grade.

The 52-player high school squad is being divided this week into varsity and junior varsity squads to enable the junior varsity to get ready for its opener at Cooper.

"This is the most we've ever had out for football in Post and indicates our program is getting firmly established where it should steadily produce results for the varsity program," Coach Davis told Rotarians.

In season opens this week, Cooper will be at Littlefield, Colorado City at Slaton, Denver City at Seminole, Tahoka at Stanton, Frenship at Hale

Jimmy Bartlett wins Caprock golf crown in 9-hole playoff

Jimmie Bartlett successfully defended his Caprock Golf Course club tourney title Sunday afternoon winning a nine-hole playoff from Jerry Jolly for the crown.

Both had finished the 36 holes of medal play tied at 146.

Bartlett shot 72 Saturday afternoon and a 74 Sunday, while Jolly started with a 74 and finished with a 72. In the playoff Bartlett came home two strokes ahead, shooting a 36 to a 38 for Jolly.

Jackie Hays won third place in the championship flight with a 79-76 for a 155.

Thirty-five players entered the two-day tournament with the 36 holes of medal play divided into five flights.

Bob Odum was the first flight winner, behind the championship flight, with an 81-78 for a 159 and a two-stroke margin over Colley Gatlin who finished second with an 80-81 for a 161.

One stroke back of him in third was Lois Crump with an 81-81 for 162.

Roy Sappington captured the second flight crown with an 89-80 for 169, two shots ahead of Sid Pierce who had a 90-81 for 171.

Tied for third in second flight were Loyd Duncan and Arlon Ford, each of whom shot the 36 holes in 174 strokes, Duncan carding a 90-84 and Ford an 88-86.

Tim Lee won a sudden death playoff which went four extra holes to win the third flight from Johnny Haire. Each shot 174 for the 36 holes, Lee with a 91-83 and Haire with a 92-82.

Haire wound up second after losing the playoff with Bobby Ammons six strokes back in third with a 180, carding a 98 and 82 Saturday and Sunday.

In the fourth flight, Jerry Thuet won the championship with a two-stroke bulge over H. M. Compton 194 to 196 for Compton. Thuet shot a 99-95 and Compton a 101-95.

W. H. Childs and Manuel Criado tied for third in the fourth flight each with 198 strokes for the 36 holes. Childs shot a 105 Saturday and a 93 on Sunday and Criado a 106 and a 92.

Colley Gatlin won the tournament driving title with a 260-yard shot. Jimmy Bartlett was second with a 250-yarder and John Hurston was third with 245 yards.

Roy Gilmore won the putting contest in a sudden death playoff with Steve Lee after each finished two trips around the putting green tied with 34's.

Roosevelt has but 3 starters

ROOSEVELT — Only three starters are back to fill the 22 positions on Coach Houston Powell's Roosevelt Eagles club this fall, but this is the rule, not the exception.

That doesn't mean the Eagles don't have some players with game experience, but they've just had big senior groups that take charge. Last year the squad had 20 seniors; this one has 18.

Quickness is the Eagles' strong point. The Eagles who finished 4-2 last year, dropping their last two to Post and Denver City, figure to be able to compete in a district which Coach Powell sees as tougher this year.

Only returning regulars are Lloyd Whetzel, Mark Reynolds and Lowell Bridges from the defensive platoon. The trio may start both ways this year as an all-net offensive unit is in the making. Whetzel was all-district as a defensive halfback last year, Reynolds was a tackle, and Bridges a safety.

Center and Lorenzo at Roosevelt for district teams.

Coahoma will open against Big Lake at Coahoma and Floydada will play Crosbyton at Floydada.

West Texas to open Saturday

CANYON — If the name of the game is experience, West Texas State's Buffaloes could be far ahead of the game in the 1975 football season opener against Wichita State Saturday night.

Game time in Wichita's Cessna Stadium is 7:30 p. m., with the broadcast over the Shanrock Network set to begin at 7:15 with Warren Hesse mikeside.

The Buffs, ranked second behind defending champion Tulsa in the Missouri Valley Conference race, will have a bunch of familiar faces on the field for 1975's opening kickoff. Coach Gene Mayfield and his staff welcomed back 36 lettermen from last year's 6-5 team, while Wichita State, 1-9-1 last year in Jim Wright's first year at the helm, called on 14 junior college transfers to bolster the corps.

While the Shockers went the JC route in an attempt to fill their holes, WT only brought in two junior college players, cornerback Tommy Mills and quarterback Tracy Qualls. In stead Mayfield, opted for top quality high school recruits to help solve problems at split end and linebacker.

Freshman Scott Wiley, a 5-8, 160 pounder from Brownfield, could be the man needed at wide receiver. He moved into the starting lineup last week.

"Not only is Scott catching the ball well," Mayfield explains, "but he is always looking for someone to block when the play is away from him."

A sheriff in a Northern Nevada town confiscated a dozen slot machines in a local lodge hall on the basis of a law banning the use of steel traps for catching dumb animals.

Rites held for auto crash victim

Funeral services were held Friday, Aug. 29, for Jeremy Turner, 14-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wylie Turner of Wichita, Kansas, who was killed in an automobile accident. He is the great nephew of Mrs. Sue Hayes of Post.

Memorial services were held in the First Church of God, in Valley Center, Kans., with the Rev. David Cordell officiating. Graveside services were held at Elmore City Cemetery, Elmore City, Okla.

Gets wish

Head football coach Bobby Davis told Post Rotarians Tuesday that after two Lope footballers, including his son, got mononucleosis last season he expressed the wish that if anybody else got "mono" he preferred his coaches to get it and not his players.

Well, Coach Davis got his wish.

Coaches John Alexander and Carroll McDonald have been diagnosed as having "mild cases."

All the players are healthy.

"It's inflation when you have to pay $5 for the $2 haircut you used to get for $1 when you had hair."

Kay Lamb, Dave Barrera win 'scrambler' meet

Key Lamb and David Barrera of Morton won the Post Scrambler tennis event over the Labor Day weekend, defeating Preston Poole and Carolyn Boydston of Tahoka 6-0, 6-3 in the finals.

The top two men and women were paired for the mixed double finals after a round robin for the nine women and 11 men in the competition with each man and woman paired for an eight-game match on a four-point scoring system.

Total points scored by the women were Lamb 54, Boydston 49, Shirley Storie, 46; Patsy McCoven 43, Pat Thompson 42, Nancy Kemp 37, Sherita Barrera of Morton 36, Marianne Hart 33, and Delores Redman 22.

Men scored as follows: Barrera 53, Poole 46, Arnold Sanderson 44, Larry Scrivner 42, Don Boydston of Tahoka 42, Royce Hart 41, Ronald Storie 40, Terry Rightmire 38, Dan Lamb 36, Jimmy Redman 34, and Keith Kemp 25.

The event raised $30 for the tennis court light fund.

Arnold Sanderson was substituted for Poole after the first game of the second set of the final when Poole developed a leg cramp.

Booster club may be organized in PHS

By ROSIE HARPER
The spirit in PHS will be more than ever this school year as everything turns out as planned. The student body has planned for the only organized booster club for "spirit raising" have been the pep squad and the cheerleaders.

This year there will possibly be a booster club at PHS. The Booster club will include boys, Mr. Hahn, the principal at PHS, called a meeting of all interested students last Thursday morning. The meeting was held in the library and it was filled to capacity. Mr. Hahn expressed concern about the lack of organized support in PHS. Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Sawyers also expressed the same feeling. The booster club is still in the planning stages but the over all response is good.

The club offers many benefits for the student who becomes a member. They are required to purchase a gold windbreaker. All students who wear their windbreakers will be admitted into the ballgames free as long as they travel with the other members and their sponsors on the school buses.

The townspeople also will be given a chance to show their colors. If the booster club is formed and the windbreakers are ordered they will go on sale to the public. The over-all effect of the fans wearing the windbreakers should astound all the competitors in District 5-AA. There will be a meeting next week to make the final plans for the formation of the PHS booster club.

and in every trip. And besides you want to say you had a part in supporting the superior PHS choir, right?

All VOE students employed this year

There are eight young ladies enrolled in the VOE program this year. The girls and their places of employment are Donna Dye, Dr. Charles McCook; Lesa Haley, Post Independent School District Central Office; Susan Gary, H&M Construction; Pam Carpenter, First National Bank; Linda Wynn, Walker & Ray; and Tom Power Agency; Patricia Bilberry, Harold Lucas Motors; Christy Davis, Dr. B. E. Young; and Nan Hair, The Post Dispatch.

This is the second year that PHS has had a VOE class. Each year it is the job of Mrs. Carolyn Black to find possible jobs for each student that enrolls in the class. At times this is a difficult task. The pressure of inflation often puts the pinch on employers as well as employees. Many times area businesses do not need the extra help. Last year not all of the girls that enrolled in the class were employed. This year Mrs. Black was able to find jobs for every student.

The purpose of the VOE is to give students actual experience in working in an office. The student will learn basic clerical duties and office etiquette. They are employed part of each school day. They leave the high school at 1:35 each day to go to their jobs. Each student must work a minimum of 15 hours a week. The employer can determine the wages he will pay the employed student.

With the experience that the student receives on the job they may possibly be able to get a good secretarial job immediately upon graduation.

Many times the student will also learn other skills, depending upon the place of employment. For example in working at a bank the student may learn about making deposits and withdrawals and other jobs which are characteristic of a bank. A student working at a car dealership may learn different parts of a car or procedures necessary for the purchase of a new car. In short they learn other business terms and procedures which will help them in the future.

The training is not all on the job. The students have an hour in the classroom in which to learn and study. They learn how to use different types of office machinery. There are many different types of electric typewriters, calculators, and a new bookkeeping machine. There are very complicated

PHS bulletin boards provoking thoughts

By BRYAN DAVIS
If one takes a tour of Post High School his eyes will be attracted to the interesting bulletin boards. The bulletin boards have a wide variety of meanings and messages.

Mrs. King, Miss Morris, Mrs. Linn and Mrs. Pool are emphasizing the fact that students need to start the school year on the "right" foot.

Mrs. King sums up her opinion by saying, "Don't be a chicken or just flutter around, but jump in and be busy as a bee. HAVE A SUCCESSFUL SCHOOL YEAR!" Miss Morris pictured Professor Bernie on her bulletin board exclaiming, "It's time to get into some good habits." Professor Bernie's suggestions were proper study habits, courtesy, school spirit, punctuality, and good attitude. Mrs. Linn and Mrs. Pool emphasized keys to success including cooperation, dependability, enthusiasm and pride, and determination.

Mrs. Wheatley and Coach Giddens expressed the bad habits a student can get involved in. Mrs. Wheatley listed drugs, reckless driving, dropping out of school, and failing to study. Coach Giddens had a simple poster with a very big meaning. ALCOHOL: THE ALL-AMERICAN COP-OUT.

Mrs. Pool and Mrs. Black have bulletin boards dealing with their specific classes. Mrs. Pool expressed concern about reading on her bulletin board. Mrs. Black's bulletin board explains VOE (Vocational Office Education). She listed all of the schools in area four in VOE. Post is a member of this area and will be attending the fall leadership conference in El Paso Oct. 10-11.

Kim Mitchell is head of Post senior class

A person's senior year is one of the most eventful years in their high school career. This means that a senior class must have competent and organized officers. The officers jobs are important. They must keep the class informed and many times they must make decisions which will affect the entire class.

The Class of '76 is no different. They must elect officers willing to sacrifice the time to do their duties and do them well.

The officers for the Class of '76 are: Kim Mitchell, president; Christy Davis, vice-president; Patricia Bilberry, secretary-treasurer; and Nan Hair, reporter. The student council representatives are Jenny Miller, Edward Price, and Mike Shepherd.

During the year these people will be trying to raise money for their senior trip and other activities. They will need the help and cooperation of their classmates and the townspeople. Let's all make their last year in PHS one in which they will have fond memories of the involvement of their community.

HECE starts year with 22 students

There are 22 students enrolled in the HECE program at PHS this year. The Home Economics Cooperative Education program is one in which the student can work at a job during school hours.

The following are students enrolled in the program and their jobs: Steve Holder, Gibson's Discount Center; Michele Mason, Boston Super-Dog; Tracy McAllister, Jackson's Cafe & Cafeteria; Danny McBride, Burlington Industries; Charlotte Medlin, Twin Cedar Nursing Home; Cynthia Morris, Child care aide at Post Primary School; Joel Nesmith, Piggly Wiggly; Gary Newdinger, Piggly Wiggly; Edward Price, aide to Primary Physical Education Program; Mary Abraham, Garza Memorial Hospital; Carroll Calhoun, United Super Market; Charlie Clanton, Piggly Wiggly; Carolyn Cruse, Holly's Drive In; Bryan Davis, aide to Primary Physical Education Program; Joe Garza, Matamoras Cafe; Mike Hays, Cox Lumber Company, Inc.; Diane Hernandez, child care aide Post Primary School; Alfred Pena, Handy Hardware and Oil Field Supply; Mary Sanchez, Wacker's; Kim Trammell, child care aide Post Primary School; Donna Walker, Boston Super-Dog; and Kelly Williams.

In HECE the student has an opportunity to find their own job. They then must get the approval of the sponsor, Mrs. Marian Wheatley. After the job is approved the student and Mrs. Wheatley will work together to produce a work training program. In this program the student will list what he will be expected to do on his or her job. The student is then obligated to perform whatever duties are required on their job. This will insure that the student will learn from their working experience and that they will have something to do on their jobs at all times.

In these hard times it is not surprising that so many young people are trying to find ways to work and earn money. Not only is the student going to benefit but so will the employer. The employer will be getting labor at minimum cost. But it will not be cheap labor by any means. The student feels that it is a privilege to be able to work. For this reason he will probably be one of the hardest working employees. In short this vocational program is great for all involved. And each year more and more jobs will be opening up for these students as the business people of Post realize the benefits to school and town.

FORMER RESIDENT VISITS

Shooting the Breeze

By NAN HAIR

The confusion of the first year of school is finally appearing. In high school the seniors are finding their way and thanks to the "helpful" seniors who have sent poor students up and down halls in search of their rooms. Now they not only have their classrooms but several others thanks to the seniors who gave them. Sophomores feel so much more than the freshmen when they were freshmen less than a year ago themselves. They again a lot can happen in a year. The juniors are feeling the strain of two years of schooling in PHS and gone by and another year to complete before graduation. Then there are the seniors. They are a mixture of emotions. There are those who look to the future and the uncertainty of adult life which awaits them upon graduation. Then there are those who are feeling no anticipation but are simply living in the glory of being seniors. It is easy to see the emotions felt by this year's students are the same as those felt by students who graduated in the past. And you can be sure that these same emotions will be felt in years to come.

music will be furnished by a rock band out of Lubbock called Omega. The four-piece band features an electric organ and a female vocalist. After you have eaten your fill of ice cream and met your Antelope — grab him and make him pay your way into the fantastic dance. The price of admission will be $2.50. It will be from 8:30 p. m. to 12 midnight. The dance is sponsored by the Youth Center and the student council of PHS. Come on out Saturday night and eat and dance to your hearts desire.

Joe Giddens has got some delightful car stickers for anybody that wants to buy one, or two. They are a comical type drawing of an Antelope. You can stick them in your notebook, stick them on your back, or just stick them on your car like a normal person. They are only one dollar each. You can pick them up in Joe Giddens' classroom at PHS.

Heavy infestations of cotton aphids are causing producers considerable concern. As you are aware, this is an unusual situation which we have not experienced before.

time. Heavy infestations causing severe leaf damage and premature leaf drop may result in a reduction in yield and lower fiber quality, according to Don R. Rummel of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. However, this situation appears to exist only in spotted areas within fields and is not widespread. The presence of honeydew is not likely to cause any significant damage to the plants unless disease organisms develop on the honeydew and cause excessive leaf shed, Rummel says. Rummel says we should make it clear to producers that we are not saying that the aphid infestation will not result in some plant damage and reduction in yield and or quality. However, producers must be made aware that the use of insecticide to control aphids may also result in a bollworm outbreak. It is most likely that even a moderate bollworm infestation will result in much more loss and greater expense than will result from the aphid infestation. Rummel outlines a few items which should be considered when making decisions on aphid control.

1. Stage of Plant Growth. Older more mature cotton with a good boll set is less likely to be adversely affected by aphid damage. Late planted cotton may be more affected by the aphids but is also more susceptible to bollworm damage.
2. Determine if the Aphid

Population is Increasing or Decreasing. Many producers attempt to determine the degree of infestation by the appearance of honeydew on the leaves and (-) to evaluate the aphid population itself. In many fields the aphid population is being greatly reduced by predators and parasites. In our test plots, honeydew is still present but the aphids are almost gone due to beneficial insect activity. Before treating, the producers should be sure that the aphid population has not already been controlled by beneficials. Bollworms. Before treating check for bollworms, bollworm eggs, and worm damaged squares. If bollworms are present there is a very good chance that the destruction of beneficial insects will result in increased bollworm damage. We are now experiencing more bollworm pressure than we have seen for several years. Plant Damage. In most instances plants in aphid infested fields appear vigorous and show little leaf curling abnormal leaf drop in the presence of aphids. We have received reports stating that in some late type varieties excessive shed is occurring. However, our physiologists point out that this time of year cotton are entering senescence a natural leaf drop of 20-30 cent is not abnormal. (See Farm Topics, Page 8)

Women discuss Post school—new projects

The Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce met for their regular meeting Tuesday noon in the Reddy Room, to discuss projects for the coming year.

The meeting was presided over by Patsy M. Cowen, president, and further plans for the Bicentennial year projects and the O. S. Steer Roping were discussed.

A motion made by Maxine Marks, was adopted, that the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce spearhead a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and all taxing bodies to develop a plan of development priorities including City and outside City Limits to be phased in over a five to 10 year period.

The club is helping to place boys from West Texas Boys Ranch in homes of Post residents during the roping and would like for anyone interested in keeping at least two boys to call Joy Greer at 3461 or Betty Posey at 2051.

Members present for the meeting were Evelyn Neff, Judy McAlister, Ruby Kirkpatrick, Buena Bouchier, Marie Neff, Betty Posey, Joy Greer, Vada Clary, Patsy McCowen and Iva Hudman.

Cash drive—

The fate of the old hotel building long condemned as unsafe and a health and accident hazard, has remained undecided for the last two years while federal funding was sought.

Through efforts of the Garza County Historical Survey Committee, the Texas Historical Commission has become interested in both a preservation and restoration of the building. Through state efforts the hotel building has been entered on the national registry.

As this newspaper understands the situation, it no longer will be a local matter to tear down the structure should a decision be made against preservation and restoration.

Although local taxing units have taken over ownership of the hotel building for delinquent taxes, Frank Runkles said at a special meeting last Thursday that federal approval will now be required to make any changes or alterations in either the hotel or museum buildings.

Paradise, Utopia, Divine, Sublime, Loving, Blessing, Happy and Joy are all towns in Texas!

TEXAS TALK

By FRED MYERS

Eleven thousand dollars for a bale of cotton? According to studies made at the University of Texas, that's the value of a bale by the time it reaches the retail trade in the form of all cotton shirts. The same study indicates the value of the cotton increases more than five times after being processed into fabric. Obviously ratcheting the ear of cotton producers, this economic message has succeeded in making them more aware of the importance of milling and fabric production. Feather Fabrics, Inc. is a joint venture between Lubbock area producers and a Dutch textile plant with the operation all ready underway. Farmers in the Littlefield area are planning to open their own 30 million dollar textile plant within the next two years. At least four other groups in the prime cotton producing country are looking toward similar operations and even more could be announced before the end of the year.

Museum group—

It was reported Thursday that Williams in the Aug. 19 meeting had explained it is possible to reapply annually for matching funds to continue such projects until the project can be completed. Under this program, federal aid is refundable for a period of five years, but no longer.

In other words part of the restoration could be completed each year with a 50 per cent federal match.

At last Thursday's meeting Tom Bouchier estimated it will cost about $12,705 to make essential repairs to the museum building. This does not include any restoration work on upstairs rooms formerly used to bed patients when the structure was a pioneer era hospital here.

Breaking down the $12,705 figure, Bouchier said this included $5,000 in roof repairs, $1,540 for molding around the building, $2,635 for repair of upstairs porch, floor and bannisters, $2,755 for painting, mortar and stone repair, $975 to fill building cracks around doors and windows, $3,000 to clean and sand roof, and $1,800 to repair basement and its leaky pipes.

The 12 upstairs rooms which will require some repairs possibly could be undertaken at a later date.

Frank (Chief) Runkles, who heads the museum association and who presented the case for the museum building, said the national park board must pass on and approve any changes, modifications or alterations made to the original building and must also be consulted on plans to make repairs and plans for the future.

Mrs. Ruby Kirkpatrick proposed the county commissioners court help with the expense of the matching funds.

She reported as treasurer that the museum association had a current balance of $3,266.38 in its fund.

It first was proposed that the association make $2,500 available but this was amended to $3,000 with the request that the county at least match the $3,000 for local funding by Sept. 8.

If federal funding then is granted, $12,000 or more would be available to make essential repairs estimated by Bouchier.

Both commissioners Aten and Jones said they agreed with the museum association and historical survey group in the wish that state and federal offices currently housed in the museum building could be moved to another building, leaving the museum building for strictly museum use.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick suggested that the county work with the historical survey group in the restoration of the Algerita Hotel building and that offices now in the museum building be then moved to the ground floor of the former hotel building downtown.

Runkles named a committee to meet with the county commissioners court Monday at 1 p. m. to discuss obtaining $3,000 or more in county funds for the first restoration effort. The county owns the building. Named to the committee besides Runkles were Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Winnie Tuffing or Vada McCampbell and Maxine Marks.

The group emphasizes a start for preservation and restoration of the two buildings must be made during America's Bicentennial period if federal help is to be secured.

Attending the special meeting were Mrs. Lil Conner, Lois Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bouchier, Mrs. Joy Greer, Nita Burress, Mrs. Marks, Winnie Tuffing, Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Lottie Shelton, Lucy King, Henrietta Nichols, Myrtle Ashley, Lillian Nance, Gwendolyn Boren, Pearl Nance, Elvy Duckworth, Mr. and Mrs. Runkles, Jim Hundley and Commissioners Aten and Jones.

5 sought to go to England

AMARILLO — District 573 of Rotary International, which includes West Texas, is looking for five business and professional men between the ages of 25 and 35.
