There are countless numbers of pieces of equipment around the farm of all sizes and shapes, built to fit the need of the farmer using it and there is no mistaking one of J. The Post Dispatch Thursday, Sept. 11, 1975

Some thoughts on preservation

In quite similar actions this week, the county gave the Mason Memorial Building (the old sanitarium) to the Garza County Museum Association and the city offered its share of what remains of the historic Algerita Hotel to the Garza County-Historical Society.

Let's look at these two actions.

To The Dispatch at least the county move was a good one. The museum association has been stymied in its museum expansion because of the county's use of first floor office space in the building.

The county gift ends the impasse with the county providing $3,000 in 1976 help toward making essential building repairs and paying the utility costs on the building through next

To this newspaper, the old sanitarium certainly is a building in good enough shape to be worth preservation as a county museum. The community can well afford to keep this fine reminder of our pioneer heritage.

The Dispatch will enthusiastically support the museum association in its operation of the building and expansion of the museum and urges the entire community, including the county commissioners court in future years after 1976, to do the same.

The Algerita Hotel preservation and restoration is entirely a different matter. The building is in such poor condition that it would require large sums of money for rebuilding to the point where any use could be made of it.

While the federal government is now in the business of restoration and renovation of historic buildings on a 50-50 match basis with local funds, there is no assurance that this will continue for any time or even that the responsible federal agency through state request would even make an initial match of a modest $10,000.

Certainly, there is no united public support in the community for the expenditure of any considerable amount of tax money on the Algerita restoration.

The decision needs to be made now - and it should not be left on the shoulders of the Garza County Historical Survey Commission to bear alone - whether the community wants to go down the long road of putting a considerable amount of money into the building whether this be in one project or several successive projects.

The decision needs to be made now before the proposed $20,000 first project is undertaken because there is no need spending the initial $20,000 to shore up the crumbling walls and reroof the structure if more is not to follow in

The Dispatch believes the building's condition is far beyond the feasibility stage of renovation and restoration and believes this is a concensus of local opinion. Only the fine cut stone front remains as some use and beauty. The rest is a complete shambles.

This newspaper believes now is the time for everyone involved to speak frankly.

The situation has been permitted to sort of "hang on" to the point of where the building now is on the national register of historical buildings. As we understand it, this will make it difficult to do anything to it, including its demolition, without some sort of federal approval. If this is true a local decision already has been taken out of our hands without a dollar as yet of federal funding to help the building, although an initial allocation is now

The Dispatch thinks the essential thing now is for the community somehow to make final determination of what it wishes to do with the

If we intend to pump funds into shoring it up, or renovating it, we must have an agreed upon plan for its future.

This newspaper well understands the position of the city in the matter. It is one of wanting to give the historical association every opportunity to save the building but at the same time not being enthusiastic about the prospects. We understand the society's position too of holding tightly onto something which to its members represents an essential part of this community's past.

The community can afford to preserve the old sanitarium, but can it afford the Algerita Hotel too? If efforts are continued to save both will the sanitarium's restoration be endangered by public opposition to continuing "toughing it out" on the Algerita?

Which way next on center?

As The Dispatch understands it, the joint application of the city and county for a HEW block grant to build a combined communityyouth center here has been unsuccessful in that the available funds were spent for other projects in other communities.

This is the second application which two years, have gone by while the proposed project sits on the "back burner" awaiting

There is the possibility that a third try, or a fourth, will be successful. There is also the possibility that it won't-and more months, or another year, will go by.

While it would be nice to obtain federal funding for such a project, it appears unlikely to this newspaper that such a goal will be

The most logical step now, as far as The Dispatch is concerned, is for the mayor's planning committee on the proposed center. headed by Mrs. Maxine Marks, to come up with the best available financing plan for such a center and a local decision made whether to proceed which the project which voters have overwhelmingly rated No. 1 here

The Dispatch would like to see the community "get on" with the center project on its own, as that appears to be the only way it is going to be accomplished.

Certainly, at least, we want to see the topic of a community-youth center reopened for community discussion.

"I am forever questioning the motives of Congress," writes Tommy Hart of the Big Spring Herald. "It passed a bill permitting us to buy gold only after we had reached the point where we couldn't afford food."

Statebeat

By KURT E. JOHNSON AUSTIN - The Texas Senate met for five hours on ptember 3 and took up the matter of impeachment charges against O. P. Carillo, the federal district judge from Duval County. Because the judge faces a federal income tax evasion trial beginning September 8 in Corpus Christi, the Senate voted to adjourn on the matter until September 29.

As previously predicted by a number of the state's political analysts (including this one), the trial is turning into a circus with smatterings of a kangeroo court.

Carillo's attorneys, Arthur Mitchell and Richard Haynes, filed a 150-page response to the charges, contending mainly that the Senate has little or no jurisdiction to address itself to an impeachment trial because both the Senate and House were illegally called into sessions to handle the matter. Part of this pleading on Carillo's behalf is the same argument posed by Reps. Matt Garcia (San Antonio), Paul Moreno (El Paso) and Craig Washington (Houston) during the House session which saw Carillo impeached.

But it won't matter. The Senate has made up its mind already and will act as a jury for Carillo's disbarment from office. The reason we know that he is on his way out and that the jury is already back is because of the straw vote taken on September 3. Mitchell, Carillo's attorney, had a motion defeated 23-7 to remove the Attorney General from the prosecution's table. (There are 31 state Senators in Texas, and 23 plus 7 equals 30, but nobody knows where Bill Moore of Bryan was during this important vote, even though he was present for most of the day's proceed-

Mitchell argued that the prosecution (which is officially a group of State Representatives known as the Board of Managers) should not be entitled to this legal resource for the following reasons:

(1) The Attorney General is part of the state's executive branch, but the legislature should be trying the case, thus there is a violation of the separation of powers doctrine the constitution;

(2) Should the Senate need to seek an Attorney General opinion on some legal question relating to the trial, the General would be caught in a conflict of interest, providing an official, legal opinion to the same court at which he has a vested interest in advising one

(3) There is no provision in either the trial rules or the state constitution for the Attorney General's presence with the prosecution at an impeachment trial.

All of this might well be in Carillo's interest, for after the Senate votes to find guilt on the charges, the Duval judge can file a federal appeal based on reversable error, which he is sure to do

It sure would be a shame to spend a million dollars on this trial and make a mistake like

Thus, if the whole issue of guilt or innocence is viewed with the same kind of perspective influencing the 23-7 vote. Carillo's goose is already cooked.

By the way, among the many things I've learned while covering the proceedings is that Attorney General John Hill will leave on a two-week vacation to Czechoslovakia and other countries beginning September 5. I wonder how he knew that the Senate would recess until September 29? And, by the way, all Senators will continue to draw $30 per diem in expenses even during the recess, according to Sen. Don Adams, chairman of the Senate Administration Committee. That's pretty good pay for doing nothing.

Leon Jaworski of national impeachment fame is in town to advise the Senate on driving the last nail into Carillo's coffin. While he was around, he held a press conference to note his support for the new constitution which will go to the voters on November 4. Governor Briscoe is still ailent on whether or not he's going to support the document.

Jaworski said that the new package isn't perfect, but that "half a loaf is better than no loaf at all." It's very apt language, for "loafing" is an issue state legislators readily

Just a footnote - if Carillo is convicted in Corpus, he can't hold a judgeship anyway, because he'll be a felon. But it won't stop the Senate from spending money to continue the impeachment trial, even though the issue will be most at that point.

Senaturs are diligent, however. They aren't about to let anything stop them just because it's most. The show CANYON - The echoes of Texas Forever rolled through the canyons of the Palo Duro last week in the final performance '( "Texas", Paul Green's inusical drama about the Texas Panhandle.

During this tenth anniversary season, more than 92,000 people have seen "Texas," making the largest audience in the history of the show.

Twenty-nine per cent of the audience came more than 500 miles to see it. Twenty-eight per cent came from out-of-state thirty-seven per cent came from within a hundred mile radius of the canyon. The rest traveled more than a hundred miles and less than 500.

The memories of the season include one cast member with so many duties that he ran 2.8 miles each evening to fulfill them; two elderly dear ladies who were disturbed because their seats were not together, one was heard to say: "Never mind. We can get together during the interruption;" one fall which was defended fiercely by a young lady in the audience: "These professionals never fall. It must be written into the script." and a little boy who attended one night when it rained just before, and after, and slightly during a performance. BY BARRY L. TRASK The harems of Egypt and Syria were supplied with large numbers of young Slavs, by the Venetians. Hence, the word "slave" -- originally "Stav."

Human bondage in Africa, as a commercial export, started in 1443 by the Portuguese. "Manstealing" was carried out by African kings. As an ex-slave wrote, "I must own that I was first kidnaped and betrayed by those of my own complexion. A Swede commented, "the kings of Africa give orders to attack their own villages at

Trading was done by local merchants. The goods for barter, furnished by the buyers, were mostly strong liquors. In 1723 New England introduced rum. Demand for it soon exceeded that for French Brandy or English gin. The going price at one port for 'these valuable people' was 115 gallons of rum for a strong man, 95 for a woman. Packed

The Founding Fathers decried slavery, even as slaveowners. Clearly it was incompatible with the goal of freedom. Yet as an institution it had fastened itself on the country as a fact of life.

How to equate slavery with the Declaration of Independence? Well, in 1860 it nearly proved that the Idea had failed. t00 years later civil rights strife indicated that democratic ideals were still traveling history's road with a limp.

Perhaps, just perhaps, in another 100 years opportunity, in slave ships, mortality ran to and responsibility, may march apace, with a firm tread.

Massie Community Center and the Floydada Fire Department will provide temporary classroom and office space for initial training center activities, according to James R. Bradley, director, engineering Extension Service.

'The opening of the West Texas Regional Training Center represents a major step in the expansion of our operations and an opportunity to provide greater assistance to the citizens of West Texas," said Bradley

He said approximately 100 persons per week will participate in training programs at the Floydada center during the first year, with an anticipated 300 persons involved by 1980.

The establishment of the West Texas center at Floydada was authorized by the Texas A&M University System Board of Directors earlier this summer. Plans call for a 20-acre tract of land for the center to be donated by the Floydada Development Co. and a classroom and office facility to be built by the Texas Engineering Extension Service.

Some spraying within city

Due to the recent heavy infestation of boll weevils, it has become necessary aerial spray some cotton fields in the city limits of Post, County Agent Syd Conner announced this week.

It is essential to control these weevils to maintain the buffer zone along the caprock to prevent the boll weevil from spreading to the vast cotton acreage above the Caprock of the South Plains of Texas.

The spraying will be done in the early morning hours under optimum conditions for the safety of all concerned. This has been cleared through the City of Post and will be done under the strict supervision of the Federal Aviation Administration and the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Technical malathion, the same chemical that has been used the past 12 years will be the chemical applied at the rate of 12 ounces per acre. It will be applied only to the infested cotton fields.

AVOID SPOILAGE IN HOME CANNING

With more homemakers canning food at home pow. 'spoilage knowledge" is necessary. Three common causes of spoilage of home canned foods are inaccurate pressure canners, incorrect processing temperature and improper cool-

One needs to check the pressure canner once a year to be sure it is accurate.

Suggested ways to be sure foods are processed at the correct temperature in the pressure canner -Test pressure gauge so that the temperature is at 240 degrees F. at 10 pounds of -Exhaust pressure canner 10 minutes after flow of steam from the petcock.

-Keep pressure accurate. Less than 10 pounds of pressure won't kill bacteria in vegetables

-Make adjustment for high altitude in areas about 2,000 feet above sea level. Homemakers who are using a waterbath canner are advised to have water boiling when jars are placed in the canner. Water should be one inch or more above the top of all jars throughout entire processing time, and it must be kept at a rolling boil.

Check time table carefully for whatever product is being canned, and be sure to add recommended time for high altitude areas.

It's important to cool jars properly after processing is finished. Jars should come out of canner when gauge registers O degrees F, or when processing time is completed. They should be placed at least one inch apart and left uncovered until cool.

Most organizations are beginning to get together to elect their officers and set their goals. This being the third week of school it is good to see things really getting underway. -0-

The junior class officers met with their room mothers and sponsors this last week. The main topic of discussion was raising money. Kim Lott put in her two cents about how to raise money. She suggested that they should buy up all the eggs in Post before Halloween and the Denver City football game. Then she said to double the price and sell them to the public. Sounds like a good idea. At those prices it would pay to become a chicken farmer

-0-Charlie Clanton was honored on his eighteenth birthday this past Saturday night. He and several other young people from Post went dancing in Lubbock. Unfortunately Charlie was brought to the realization that its not half as exciting to go dancing when you're of age as it is when you try to get in on a fake ID. He also learned that late to bed and early to rise makes dark circles under your eyes. Right, Charlie?

PHS has several new students enrolled in school this year. Two have moved from Post in the past but have recently returned. They are Rodney Josey, sophomore and Joe Garza, a senior. Mike Hair has returned to PHS after taking a little vacation. Four students have moved here from local towns. They are Shirley Hambrick and Amanda Rios both juniors from Southland Toni Townsend, a sophomore, has moved here from Snyder. Then we have two students who are from the 'golden state", California. They are Teri Taylor, a freshman, and Janene Graves, a sophomore. I know it must be frightening as well as difficult to attend a new school. I hope each student at PHS will take the time to make these people feel welcome. And I hope these students enjoy attending school at PHS.

Coach Tannehill has announced that the PSAT (Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test) will be given to all interested students Tuesday night, Oct 21, at 7 p. m. This test will be given at the high school. It will last for two hours. Tannehill stresses the importance of taking these tests as a freshman, sophomore, and or junior. You can discover your scholastic weaknesses and plan your high school curriculum accordingly As a senior this test is practical preparation for the student who plans to attend college after graduation and must take the SAT tests to enter.

Scheduled for Tuesday Oct. 21, the PSAT-NMSQT measures verbal and mathematical aptitude - two abilities important in doing college work.

The test can also lead to other opportunities for high school students: they can enter the competition for scholarships administered by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation; they can participate in the College Board's Student Search Service which is used by hundreds of colleges interested in students like them; they can get a good idea of what the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) is like.

Along with their score reports, students will receive a copy of ABOUT YOUR PSAT-NMSQT SCORES, a booklet that contains valuable information about: estimating SAT scores; finding out where to get and how to use more detailed information about colleges and financial aid; planning for financing a college education.

Also, by using the 1975 edition of the College Board's College Handbook, students can compare themselves with enrolled students at the 2,863 colleges and universities listed.

30,000 bales seen for Garza

Garza County's 1975 cotton forecast has been trimmed to 30,000 bales on 44,000 acres in the high plains cotton production estimates issued in-Eubbock Monday by the Lubbock Cotton Exchange and the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

The high plains total of 1,930,000 bales is 173,000 bales less than the committee predicted in its August estimate for the 25-county area.

Average production for the region was placed at 399 pounds per acre, 21 pounds less than the August estimate. A low boll count, despite good plant growth, is the basis for the reduced estimate. The weather over the next three weeks will determine how good the crop really is.

County Agent Syd Conner told The Dispatch Monday the cotton generally was looking very good in Garza County and the boll count is growing. Bright, sunny weather will be needed for a really good harvest.

This compares with $83,878.24 estimated cost for the joint law arm for the current 1975 year still to be completed. The new budget on law enforcement is based upon an estimated full sheriff's staff with all officers qualified

The budget shows a reimbursable cost to the city for its share of the joint law enforcement effort of $23,588.62 as compared to $15,512.41 for that portion of this year in which the two units of local government operated jointly in this field on 50-50 basis.

The county budget includes other expenses for law enforcement not involving just sheriff department operation, such as operation of the county jail for example, for which the city es not pick up half the tab.

The budget includes $73,692 estimated income from revenue sharing through the entire 1976 budget year, whereas Congress has yet to extend federal revenue sharing past next July for the start and end of 1976 reflect a healthy condition with the new budget operating with a $202,283.16 balance for all funds and closing with a $278,056.96 balance.

The only county indebtedness extending into 1976 is a $9,000 balance in time warrants for road and bridge funds in Precincts one and three for equipment purchases. There is no county-wide indebtedness.

While the tax rate remains the same in total at 95 cents its distribution is changed for next year with the 15 cent rate for interest and bonded indebtedness completely discontinued with 13 cents of this going to increase general fund tax rate from 53 cents to 66 cents and the other two cents boosting the jury fund rate from one to three

Not included under law inforcement in the budget is the estimated $19,355 cost of the county's probation department which is all paid for by $12,138 in a criminal justice federal grant and an estimated $8,000 in probation fees. Besides approving the new sudget and voting to deed the Mason Memorial Building to the Garza Museum Association, the court also took these

Other upstairs tenants will be given their moving orders too, the county judge indicated. He said the court realized the museum association has been blocked in its efforts to expand the museum and that was the reason the building was offered the association.

The county court at the same meeting rejected the request of $5,000 from county funds for in-kind contribution in order to secure a grant of federal funds for the restoration of the boarded-up Algerita hotel building downtown

Mrs. Gwendolyne Boren, representing a citizens committee working to save the historic old stone hotel, made the request.

Heatly put on budget board

AUSTIN - Representative Bill Heatly of Paducah has been appointed to the Legislative Budget Board by House Speaker Bill Clayton. Heatly is one of will serve on the LBB until January of 1977.

He has been active in the appropriations process for many years, being a long-time member of both the LBB and the House Committee on Appropriations.

Every two years, the Legislative Budget Board reviews appropriations requests submitted by all state agencies. With the aid of a professional staff, the LBB closely considers these requests then recommends a comprehensive state budget to the legislature.

Kerrville, Tex., stocks both house at the center grew from a comfortable dwelling. Ranch facilities denote various historic periods. These include a bunkuse, a meat and milk house, ranch office, a blacksmith shop, carriage house and even a one-room schoolhouse

Homes reflect the kinds of shelters frontiersmen built with materials at hand. One is a picket and sotol house, using stalks of a yucca-like plant for walls and sacahuiste grass for Another is a small fort made of limestone to protect a family living in Indian territory.

Each building was chosen to depict a step in the progress of ranching. Each building was chosen to depict a step in the progess of ranching. Each is restored with meticulous attention to the detail of its original condition. Furnishings within are as important as exterior restoration.

Brands and messages burned by cowboys on dugout logs still are readable. Dirt floors, a cranky schoolhouse stove, rust on an iron bedstead help visitors see the truth of life as it was lived by pioneer ranchers. Windmills on the site - an Eclipse, a Walpole and a ground tumbler - first drew water for Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas ranchmen. Two already are restored and the Eclipse furnishes water for the meat and milk house which once served the famous JA Ranch.

The Center is a part of The Museum of Texas Tech University, and its development by the private sector has been the work of the Ranch Headquarters Association, established in 1969 to help locate, move and restore the buildings.

Some famous ranches had no historic buildings but helped financially in the Center's establishment, ranches like the Mallet, the Pitchfork and the Matthews Lambshead. Represented by Center buildings are the U Lazy S, the Renderbrook-Spade, the Matador, the Masterson JY, and the Long S names that to cattlemen spell the open range and lots of it.

In their sum, however, the buildings interpret America's hertiage of the pioneer spirit.

BISCUIT AND BOILED COFFEE - Bobby Allen, cowboy for the Pitchford Ranch, stops for a biscuit and coffee on a special visit to the Ranching Heritage Center at Texas Tech University. The chuckwagon is a part of the scenery at the center which eventually will be landscaped to conform historically to the structures which have been brought from throughout the state to give visitors an experience of the past. In the background are, left, the Masterson JY Bunkhouse and the Harrell House of Scurry County. Each denotes a different stage in the development of ranching in the American West. The Ranching Heritage Center's official opening is set for July 3, 4 and 5, 1976, as a part of America's BiCentennial celebration.

The Consumer Alert

y John L. Hill. Attorney General

AUSTIN-These days you frequently see someone wearing an expensive-looking squash blossom necklace or a heavy turquoise and silver bracelet or ring.

The upsurge of interest in buying such American Indian jewelry has been great, but unfortunately the number of persons who have any knowledge upon which to judge the value of such works is small.

Our Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division lawyers noted more than a year ago that this lack of expertise in evaluating authentic, handcrafted Indian jewelry meant there was a chance for misrepresentation by unscrupulous sellers.

Now, reports from several federal agencies indicate that a number of consumers feel they have been defrauded in their purchase of turquoise and silver jewelry.

Our Consumer Protection attorneys say the best safeguard inexperienced Indian iewelry purchasers can have is to deal with a knowledgeable. reputable dealer, one who has an established place of business in case you need to contact him later about any prob-

Some such dealers buy directly from Indian tribes who produce fine jewelry. Many belong to the Indian Arts & Crafts Association, which guarantees that merchandise will be as represented to purchasers. There are also museum shops that sell fine American Indian jewelry, as well as shops in national parks

If high quality, craftsmanship, and resale value are important to you, or if you intend to collect Indian jewelry, you probably will want to pay more for an item handmade by American Indians, in which sterling silver and fine turquoises are used.

But if you only want a pleasing design, or a piece to wear a few years, then you may be ast as happy with a machine made item, perhaps of "Indian-inspired" design, but not necessarily made by Indians. One thing to remember is that fine, antique handmade Indian jewelry is extremely scarce, and as a result, quite expensive. However, many Indian artisans are creating authentic new jewelry, some of it in the old designs, some in modern ones.

Experts say the fine, deep sky blue turquoises used in Indian jewelry are hard to obtain now too. The most valuableand scarce-turquoises are Persian ones American turquoise is lighter by nature than the Persian stones, but even fine American turquoise is becoming waree.

Many of the dark blue turquoises found in modern Indian and "Indian-style" jewelry are lower-grade stones that have been treated with oil or dealer or jeweler who will be frank about a piece of American Indian jewelsy. Then you can decide for yourself what you want and can afford to pay. Often only an expert can assess the details that make the difference between a magnificent example of Indian craftsmanship and merely a pretty necklace.

The main thing is to find a

He sees a strong market over the long run due to a short crop nationwide and a strengthening in the demand for cotton by textile milis. Mills are once again looking favorably at cotton due to increased prices in synthetic fibers which are by-products of petroleum.

'As far as the Texas crop is concerned, farmers planted some 4.5 million acres, and about 4 million of these will be harvested," notes the Texas A&M University System spec-

The Texas crop should produce some 2.8 million bales, with the entire crop grossing more than $670 million. This would be up $125 million from

"Cotton acreage was cut back drastically this year due to poor market prices last year and in early 1975," points out Baker. "Most of the state's crop is in the South Plains where almost 2 million acres are expected to be harvested and should account for about 1.5 million bales.

The $6 billion total is expected to be fairly equally divided between crops and livestock," points out Baker. Strong poultry and hog prices should keep cash receipts from livestock at about the same level as last year. However, money from crops should be up sharply this year due to strong prices for wheat, sorfrom agriculture totaled $6.5 ghum, sunflowers, fruits and

The projected cash receipts from crops of more than $3 billion will be a new record for Texas. This takes into account an additional one million acres in cropland planted in 1975.

"Of course, cash receipts are only one side of the ledger,' emphasizes the economist. "Farmers and ranchers are faced with an estimated 11 per

BUDGET BALANCING TOO

Dear Editor I agree that one of the most, if not the most, necessary tools a person needs in this world is the ability to read well and to understand what one has read. Most people of average intelligence can learn on the job, or at home, if they are able to comprehend the printed word.

The National Educators must have slipped up somewhere because all across the land we are hearing more and more about Johnny getting all the way through high school without learning to read even the simplest things. This is not meant to discredit our local school system, which seems to be dedicated to good learning. However, John and Jane Doe must be alert to what is or is not being taught in the public lest they become merely kid-sitting services, or breeding grounds for anarchy.

Another skill I find to be of great importance to every day living is the ability to balance ones personal finances, and to operate within a budget. Today we see signs of financial ruin all the way from Joe Blow down the street, to New York City, all because the average citizen has never learned to manage his income

To our local school system. I say, hang in there and send our kids out into the world prepared to make it on their

AUSTIN - Senate im peachment trial of 229th District Judge O.P. Carrillo has been postponed until September 29.

Senators agreed to the delay since Carrillo faces trial this week in a Corpus Christi federal court on an income tax indictment.

In opening preliminaries, the Senate resolved itself into a court of impreachment and adopted rules for the historic trial-third proceeding of the type in a century involving a Texas public official.

Carrillo's attorneys filed a 170-page answer to the House impeachment resolution of August 5, denying all 10 charges and challenging sufficiency of the allegations. The answer remains as pending business when senators return to Austin late this month to begin taking testimony

The 51-year-old judge, whose district includes Duval, Jim Hogg and Starr counties, is accused of abusing judicial authority, political conspiracies and use of Duval County personnel and equipment for personal benefit.

Carrillo's motion to disqualify Atty. Gen. John Hill and his staff from assisting the House prosecutors was rejected 23-7.

Senators imposed on the prosecution a duty of proving its charges "beyond a resonable doubt" to gain a two-thirds vote for removal of the judge, whose troubles date back to a break with the old George Parr political faction in Duval County.

Oil Theft Aired

Texas and Louisiana met here last week to share information on reports of a widespread oil theft ring.

The thefts came to light with arrest of four men in Runnels County. Investigators have been trying to solve the reportedly organized plot to steal crude oil and sell it to refineries. Runnels County Sheriff Don Atkins said five men in Texas, New Jersey, Illinois and Louisiana are centers of the investigation

"Only history can write the final cost report," Bullock said. "The ultimate monetary impact of the proposed constitution would depend on innumerable future decisions by elected representatives of the people in the city halls, county courthouses, school boards and legislature."

The new constitution will be voted on November 4. Bullock earlier pegged direct cost to state government at about $100 million a year. He had concluded the new constitution would

Crime Rate Up

Crime hit the suburbs. hard and the rate for major crimes rose 17.4 per cent during the first six months of 1975, according to Texas Department of Public

DPS' report showed a 24.7 per cent increase in rural areas and a 16.7 per cent jump in the urban areas.

A total of 310,920 major crimes for the period were recorded for a rate of 5,160 per 100,000 population. This compares to 259,267 offenses during the first part of 1974 and a rate that year of 4,396 per 100,000.

DPS Director Wilson E Speir said 25 per cent of all reported crimes were cleared during the period. compared to 22 per cent a year earlier. Thirty-one per cent of the rural crimes were cleared by arrests.

Speir said the record indicates a major criminal offense in Texas every 34 mimutes.

Special fair exhibit for exotic cattle LUBBOCK - Space has been reflects the best all around Sears downtown, by Caprock Center, Lune reserved for a special exhibit of exotic and new breeds cattle during the 58th annual Panhandle South Plains Fair here Sept 20-27.

The entry fee is $10 a head and breeders must provide their own bedding straw and personnel to care for their cattle and keep the exhibit area clean.

The first exotic cattle exhibit was held last year and "drew a lot of good comment," Lewis noted. "The response was very encouraging and we decided to make space available again this year. The exhibit is for all breeds of cattle not otherwise in competition during the fair. Hiley Boyd of Lubbock is again coordinating the exhibit. The exhibit is expected to draw new cattle breeds such as Murray-Grey, Char-Swiss, Pinzgauer, Normandy, Charolais, Chianina, Simmental, Maine-Anjou, Gelbvieh, Limousin, Santa Gertrudis and others.

There will be no competition but a $100 premium plus a banner will be awarded to the breeder who maintains the most attractive exhibit and

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS SPECIAL ELECTION NOVEMBER 4, 1975

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Revising the separation of powers, legislative and executive provisions of the Texas Constitution. Article II, Separation of Powers, is amended to:

Provide that the pow-ers of government of the State of Texas are divided among three distinct branches: legislative, executive, and judicial. Except as otherwise authorized by the constitution, members of one branch may not exercise any power properly at-tached to either of the others

Article III, The Legislature, is amended to: Continue the present structure of the legislature consisting of a senate with 31 members and a house of represen-tatives with 150 members. The present organization and procedure of the legislature are continued except that the provision allowing closed executive sessions of the enate is omitted. Provisions on the conflict of interest of members of the legislature are continued, as is the governor's power to veto bills or line items in appropriation bills. The arprovides single-member senatorial, representative, and congressional districts. A compensation commisaion is created to recommend the compensation and allowances to be received by members of the legislature. The legislative compensation, set by law, may not exceed this recommendation and does not take effect until after an intervening general election. The article provides for annual sessions of 140 days in odd-numbered years and 90 days in evennumbered years, and a veto session of 15 days upon request of threefifths of the membership of each house. The legis lature may meet in organizational sessions prior to the convening of the legislature in regular

Article IV, The Executive, is amended to:

Continue the present status of the governor and all other statewide officers, and include the commissioner of agriculture as an executive department officer. The governor is limited to two consecutive terms. The governor is authorized to designate chairmen of state boards, and to remove gubernatorial appointees to state agencies for cause unless the re-moval is vetoed by the senate. The article mandates the legislature to provide a new governor-elect an appropriation so the governor-elect may organize an office prior to inauguration, and permits the legislature to grant powers of fiscal control to the governor. All governmental agencies, with several exceptions, have a life of not more than ten years un-less extended by the legislature, and, at the regular session held in odd-numbered years, the governor shall submit to the legislature a report on the organization and efficiency of the executive branch.

The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as "The constitutional amendment revising the SEPARATION OF POWERS, LEGISLA-TIVE, AND EXECU-TIVE PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution.

If adopted by the voters, will become effective January 1, 1976, except Article III, Section 5, which becomes effective January 1, 1981.

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

Revising the judiciary provisions of the Texas constitution. Article V. Judiciary The amended to: Establish a unified judicial system consisting of the supreme court, court of appeals, district courts, and circuit courts. Existing county courts and county judges are continued until otherwise provided by law. All judges (except municipal judges), district attorneys and district clerks must be elected by the people. The supreme court and the court of criminal appeals are merged into a single court of last resort, and this supreme court is authorized to provide for efficient administration of the judicial system and to balance case loads. Individual rights for a trial by jury and appeal by the accused are continued. The state is granted the right to appeal in criminal cases in limited circumstances, and the legislature is permitted to establish methods of appeal to the courts from decisions of state agen-

"The constitutional amendment revising the JUDICIARY PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution." If adopted by the voters, will become effective September 1, 1976.

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

Revising the voting and election provisions of the Texas Constitution. Article VI, Voter Qual-ifications and Elections, amended to:

Provide for registration and qualifications for voting including voter residency require-ments to be established by law. A citizen of the United States who is at least 18 years of age and who meets the registration and residence requirements provided by law is a qualified voter unless the person has been convicted of a felony and for that felony is incarcerated, on parole, or on probation, or unless the person is mentally incompetent as determined by a court. Voting by the people in all elec-tions must be by secret ballot, and the legislature shall provide by law for residence, registration, and absentee voting requirements, for the administration of elections, and for the protection of the electoral pro-The cess. The general election for state and county officers is to be held in even-numbered years on a date prescribed by law. The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment revising the VOTING AND ELECTION PROVI-SIONS of the Texas Constitution."

If adopted by the voters, will become effective September 1, 1976.

PROPOSITION NO. 4 ON THE BALLOT

Revising the education provisions of the Texas onstitution. Article VII, Education, is amended to:

Provide that the Permanent and Available School Funds and the county public school funds are continued for the support of the free public schools. The State Board of Education is retained and the Permanent and Available University Funds are continued for the benefit of The University of Texas and Texas A&M Systems. A new Higher Education Fund for Texas is established for the benefit of colleges and universities outside The University of Texas and Texas A&M Systems. The state ad valorem tax of ten cents on $100 valuation is continued as the source of revenue for the Fund. The ten cent higher education tax may be changed by law within the ten cent maximum. The legislature may allocate by law a portion of the Higher Education Fund to certain state vocational and technical institutes. The article provides that the public education system must furnish each individual an equal educational opportunity, but a school district may provide local enrichment of educational programs exceeding the level provided by the state consistent with general law. Authority to issue Permanent University Bonds is continued but the bonds may not exceed 30% of the Permanent

University Fund. The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will apear on the ballot is as
