Postex is expanding after Hall closing

Closing of the Hall Plant at Memphis last month by Burlington Industries has brought about a consolidation of that fabricating operation with Postex Plant here, Postex Manager Don Smith announced this week. He said the consolidation will result in an expansion of both personnel and equipment in the department's flat hemming area. Three employees of Hall Plant, all formerly employed at Postex here, have rejoined the Postex Plant staff here, Smith also announced. They are Leon Davis, Hall Plant department manager; M. "Jack" Beavers, machine repairman, and Leon

D. Beavers, Jack's wife, a salaried clerk. All reported to work here this month. The consolidation of the Hall Plant at Postex fabricating is one of a number of changes presently going on at Postex. In the fabricating department (See Postex is, Page 12)

Willard new Chamber head

Larry Willard, president of the First National Bank, has been elected president of the Post Chamber of Commerce for 1978. He will be inaugurated in office at the annual Chamber banquet March 4, succeeding Lee Norman. Willard was selected in a mail vote of the Chamber membership with the results announced at the February Chamber directors meeting last Friday noon in the Post Public Library.

Willard came to Post to head the bank in 1976 from Big Spring where he was quite active in Chamber affairs in that community. He was elected a Chamber director for a two year term (See Willard new, Page 12)

City to spend almost $200,000 for projects

All cash, no bonds

The city council took a careful look at municipal fund balances Monday night and agreed Post looks to be in good shape for a "real project year."

On the 1978 agenda of projects, together with the probable costs, are:

1. The final two construction stages for the Post Community Center which includes the long awaited "teen room," $115,000.
  2. Some 12 blocks of paving in a joint effort with the county, $80,000.
  3. Seal coating of a large group of paved streets, $25,000 or possibly less.
  4. A three-bay addition to the city's new metal fire house and fencing the station property, $15,000.
- The city's share of all this is almost $200,000 and when the work is over the municipality expects to pay cash to the contractors without any borrowing. Actually, the only borrowing involved will be for the curb and gutter costs of the new street paving, an item which will be paid by property owners involved over a period of years—and not the city as such. Since bidding on the projects will start at the regular March meeting when at least five contractors are expected to bid on the paving, the council wanted to be sure at its February "work session" Monday that it was ready to go.

Little interest yet in elections

Selling banquet tickets is no easy chore, and trying to sell them days in advance compounds the problem.

That's the position the Post Chamber finds itself in. They need to be reasonably close to "crowd size" for their annual banquet five days in advance so they can guarantee the number of plates to be served without gambling on a last minute rush.

The Chamber has gone all-out this year to provide a speaker of unusual interest — one of the world champion Dallas Cowboys in the person of its kicker and reserve quarterback, Danny White.

That is a big enough dollar gamble in itself without having to gamble funds on the size of the crowd.

All of which means that the Chamber badly needs everybody's cooperation to buy those banquet tickets early. Make up your minds now — and get with it, by Monday.

This is Chamber banquet time in West Texas. We noticed in other papers that the Snyder Chamber is charging $8.50 per plate with Texas Commissioner of (See Postings, Page 12)

About the only thing "new" about the upcoming city, school and hospital board elections is the apparent lack of interest with filing deadlines fast approaching. There are no new races to report this week with the city and school district filing deadline now only a week away and the hospital board deadline coming up March 6. As of now, there are no candidates at all for the two positions on the hospital board of directors. Gene Moore and Charlie Brown are the two directors whose terms will expire. The situation is little better in the city races. With three councilmen positions open, Jim Jackson and Lewis Holly have filed for reelection, icily filing this past week. Dr. William Wilson, the incumbent, has yet to indicate his intentions. To date, there have been no challengers. The only contest so far (See Elections, Page 12)

Banquet ticket sale will end on Monday

DANNY WHITE Dallas Cowboy Kicker

Ticket sales for the annual Post Chamber of Commerce banquet — featuring Dallas Cowboy kicking star, Danny White, as speaker — climbed to about the 250 mark yesterday. The banquet is scheduled for 7 p. m. Saturday, March 4 in the Post Community Center.

While hopeful of a crowd of over 400, it does not appear likely that a capacity house of 500 will be on hand. A crowd of 400 or better, however, would be the largest crowd ever to attend one of the Chamber's annual banquets.

The problem in promoting the banquet is that ticket sales must wind up for all intent and purposes next Monday, Feb. 27, to enable the Chamber to provide Jackson Cafeteria with a guaranteed number of diners to be served.

With the Chamber going all-out this year to provide a Dallas Cowboy as "the main event," Chamber directors are of course spending more on a speaker than ever before. (See Ticket sales, Page 12)

100 attend drug program

Approximately 100 interested parents attended the Drug Awareness program held in the primary school auditorium last Thursday night under sponsorship of the Post schools.

About 35 questions about drugs were asked by Bert Sinclair of the Department of Public Safety who was in charge.

Parents also got a chance to see and sniff a variety of drugs.

The Snyder Daily News in a front page Sunday story said "about 100 local farmers, controlling approximately 44,280 acres of Scurry County farm land have pledged to support the American Agriculture Movement's call to observe a 50 percent cutback in production this year."

The sign up for the production cutback has been under way in Scurry County for the last two weeks.

Saluting Future Farmers

The Dispatch doffs its editorial cap to the Post Future Farmers of America during this FFA Week that is celebrating the first 50 years of this high school organization of vocational agricultural students.

Early founders of the Future Farmers of America in 1928 brought forth a new idea that was sure to strengthen vocational agricultural education. It was an organization in which students could apply what they learned in the classroom in their own farming experiences and to their own lives. They call it "the learning by doing" principle.

That sound principle has been the foundation for a 50-year success story in FFA. Millions of young men and women have studied vocational agriculture and participated in FFA since the 1928 beginning. Their agri-careers were ignited by the program.

The Post chapter was organized in 1934, six years after the movement began nationally. It would be an interesting figure to know how many youngsters have passed through it to worthwhile farm careers in Garza County or elsewhere.

The national FFA organization now totals over 500,000 students in 8,000 high schools as compared to under 30,000 students in the first year of 1928.

Today's FFA members have an objective to be a part of American agriculture. They recognize how far agriculture has come in 50 years. They appreciate what it was like in the past. They recognize too how far they can go and how great the future is. Yet they appreciate what they've got to do to prepare for it.

President Jimmy Carter was a member and secretary of the Plains, Ga., FFA chapter.

Last July during the State FFA President's Conference held in Washington, D. C., he told the state presidents: "I began in that chapter to learn about organizational structure and I began to learn about competition. I began to learn how to make a speech. I began to learn how to work with other people. I also learned the value of agriculture, farm families, stability, commitment, idealism, hope, truth, hard work and patriotism from the FFA."

The President told the group he was proud to be "part of one of the finest organizations on earth." It's never lost its pride of what has been and its vision of what can be in the future.

Key to the FFA preparation process is the vo-ag instructor-chapter advisor. Post now and in the past has and has had some very dedicated men to guide our ag students.

On their Golden Anniversary, the Future Farmers of America deserve recognition as a youth organization which is getting a mighty important job done — getting today's youth ready to be tomorrow's farmers and farm leaders.

Name identification scramble

The filing deadline has passed for state and county offices to be filled in the November election with most of the decisions coming in the Democratic primary in May.

There were few last minute surprises at the state level. Instead of getting unscrambled, the 17th congressional race to choose Omar Burleson's successor added to its number of challengers.

That probably is the most competitive race anywhere right now. The voters are being given a wide range of choices, and as far as we have seen them the contenders are really a strong bunch.

We had one come to town last Saturday when The Dispatch was closed. Jim Baum was on a door knocking campaign. We don't know how many doors he really knocked on but he announced in advance that was the way he intended to get votes.

Door knocking may not be the best way to do it any more. But: Pop and Mom are usually working and even the kids are usually always gone someplace if they are not at school.

The big problem for the congressional candidates is name identification, just getting enough voters to remember who you are so they can recall you when they step up to mark their ballots.

Some of the candidates say "Dusty Rhodes" of Abilene is the front runner because Dusty Rhodes is a moniker that sticks in the mind.

There aren't nearly as many dusty roads now as there were a generation ago, so that may not prove nearly the vote-getter as it once was.

We remember one governor's race in Kansas when there were no candidates who were well known politically in the field. There they printed the candidate's home town on the ballot as well as his name.

One young fellow came into the news office by the name of Joe Hall from a neighboring Kansas town and explained to us how he was going to become the next Kansas governor on the basis of geography.

He went on to explain that he was the only western Kansan on the ballot. The voters would look at those six or seven candidates and probably wouldn't remember who any of them were. So they would check the hometowns and vote for the one closest to home.

"All my opponents are splitting up eastern Kansas," he explained. "And I have all of Western Kansas to myself."

Yup, the man got elected governor just like he said he would. And he didn't have to campaign much either.

Slaton rites held for Hill

Funeral services for Andrew Hill, 48, of Southland, were held Saturday afternoon in the Freewill Baptist Church in Slaton.

Hill died Feb. 14 in Lubbock's University hospital after suffering a stroke Feb. 5. His Southland home burned to the ground the next day leaving his wife and large family homeless and without possessions.

A fund to help the family had grown to over $1,300 in the bank here last week and many clothing donations were made by both local businesses and individuals.

Hill, a Post native, was a farmer. Survivors included six daughters, Pamela, Robin and Rhonda, all of Southland, and Jynell Moreau and Marie Jeffery, both of Lubbock; three sons, Andrew Jr., Perry and Gerry Hill, all of Southland; and two grandchildren.

The Rev. Milton Brown officiated the funeral. Burial was in Slaton's Englewood Cemetery under direction of a Lubbock funeral home.

FFA at 50

1928-1978 A GOLDEN PAST

a brighter future

Future Farmers of America are celebrating their GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY This FFA WEEK, FEB. 18-25

A 50-Year Success Story

Agriculture's Youth In Action

One of the best examples of youth in action on the American scene today is the FFA, the national organization for students studying vocational agriculture in the public high schools. It is an organization run by the student-members under adult guidance.

Currently the FFA is celebrating its Golden Anniversary.

Soon after vocational agriculture became a subject in many of the nation's high schools in 1917, instructors became aware of the need to provide practical training beyond the traditional classroom approach. Their idea was to make the instruction more interesting by making practical work experience, competitive bookkeeping, and agricultural leadership development a part of the instruction.

Vocational agriculture instructors and students eagerly accepted the learn by doing principle.

The FFA was founded nationally in 1928 after similar organizations had started in several states. Right from the beginning, the FFA has stressed leadership, cooperation and citizenship—all vital to success in modern agriculture.

Today the FFA has a membership of over 500,000 with chapters in approximately 8,500 high schools throughout the nation. The organization has state associations in all states and in Puerto Rico.

Vocational agriculture or agribusiness programs are funded in part by the National Vocational Education Acts through the U.S. Office of Education, state departments of education and the local school systems. The FFA operates under a federal charter granted by an Act of Congress in 1950 (Public Law 740, 81st Congress). The charter provides for a national board of directors and a board of student officers elected from the membership.

FFA activities are specifically designed to be a part of the instructional program in vocational agriculture. Members learn through active participation how to conduct and take part in public meetings, how to speak in public, and how to take a leadership role in their school and community.

Each local chapter and each state association elects its own officers each year. In all cases the teacher of vocational agriculture is the advisor of the local FFA chapter and the State supervisor of agricultural education is the advisor of the state association.

FFA members have full opportunity to practice the principles of democracy in conducting the affairs of their organization by exercising their privilege to vote at chapter meetings, serve on committees, and otherwise assist in carrying on the work of their organization. Elected delegates to the state and national conventions, held each year, are asked to decide on major issues facing the organization.

Advancement through the degrees in the organization from the Green Hand through the Chapter Farmer, State Farmer, and American Farmer or Agribusinessman is based on achievement in farming, ranching, or agribusiness careers.

Nearly 8,500 public high schools have FFA chapters. One of the requirements for membership in FFA is that a student be enrolled in vocational agriculture. Students may retain their membership until they are 21.

Competition is a key element of the FFA from the chapter to the national level. Each year the FFA recognizes more than 80,000 members at local, state and national levels for outstanding achievement in activities related to agriculture career and leadership development.

Funds for awards are provided by more than 800 businesses, organizations, and individuals that sponsor FFA programs through the National FFA Foundation, Inc. The Foundation provides nearly half a million dollars to make the incentive awards available to deserving FFA members in the following award programs: Star Farmer and Star Agribusinessman awards, 19 agricultural proficiency awards, public speaking, national chapter awards, national chapter safety, Building Our American Communities Awards, national judging contests, establishment in agriculture awards, and through state initiated programs for improving agricultural leadership.

Recent food shortages in this country have reaffirmed the need for continuing a strong program of vocational agriculture and the FFA. Thus there is a bright future for trained agriculturists ready to serve America.

Band trio 'superior' in regional contest

Three members of the Antelope Band were rated

Tune in to Morrow

By David Morrow

In addition to playing their horns before the judges, the band members who traveled to contest Saturday had a few adventures on their own. Although they quickly decided that they wanted to eat a late lunch at Gardsky's Loft, decided how to get there took a bit of time. Mr. Stringer was occupied with obtaining rating sheets, so walking seemed about the only solution. After a heated argument as to exactly where Broadway was located, Terry, Dana, David, Holly, Kevin, and Benny set out through the snow (and slush, and ice, and water, and mud) toward the north.

Superior at the regional instrumental Solo and Ensemble contest held in Lubbock Saturday, Feb. 18.

The woodwind trio, composed of Danna Giddens, flute, David Morrow, oboe, and Terry Smith, clarinet, received the division I rating.

Danna and David also earned a Superior rating on their solos. These three students will be competing in the state contest in May. Kevin Craig, horn and Holly Giddens, flute, both received a division II rating. Division II is ranked as excellent by UIL standards. A cornet quartet, composed of Randy Ammons, Butch Booth, Benny Kennedy and Jimmy Pruitt received a III rating.

Congratulations to those students who represented Post High School so well, and best wishes to them as they advance to the state level.

Lunch Menus

The pioneer spirit still lives in today's youth. Led by Terry and David (they were the hungriest) our brave band of adventurers set out to face the perils of Lubbock in the snow (and slush, and ice, etc.).

After canoeing across the gutter, which resembled the Yukon river complete with icebergs, the group was attacked by a vicious dog. As the monstrous beast rushed toward the pan-stricken adventurers, they all scattered into the street... that is, all except Holly who stood her ground and cried "Don't run, he'll just chase you." Everyone turned around, expecting to see Holly become the world largest Gaines Burger, but fortunately the dog was restrained by a fence.

The only member of the crew to really suffer bodily injury was Terry. As she was picking her way across someone's lawn, she suddenly fell into a hole and fell sprawling into the snow. Everyone was startled, especially the owners of the lawn, who stuck their heads out the door to find out where the piercing screams were coming from.

After a very enjoyable lunch, the wanderers set out for the bus. The return trip was not as exciting, but for Kevin turning flips and Benny embracing a telephone pole. Everyone had fun in spite of the snow, slush, ice, etc.

The Post schools lunchroom menus for the coming week are as follows:

Monday — Stew, cheese sandwich, peaches, cinnamon crisps, half pint milk.

Tuesday — Frito pie, lettuce salad, buttered corn, forty niner bars, half pint milk.

Wednesday — Hamburger, lettuce, tomatoes, onions and pickles, tater puff, apple cobbler, home made buns, half pint milk.

Thursday — Fried chicken with gravy, sweet peas, whipped potatoes, butter-scotch pudding, hot rolls, half pint milk.

STAN'S GRANDMOTHER'S MINESTRONE

Remember the heavenly aroma of homemade soup simmering on top of the stove? Perhaps a touch more difficult than opening up a can, but well worth the time. And the fresh, country grown vegetables at Piggly Wiggly are just as tasty and wholesome as my Grandma used to pluck right out of her own vegetable garden, which was the secret of her matchless minestrone. So on, try it. All you need to make a meal of it is a crusty loaf of bread.

8 to 12 servings	4 zucchinis, chopped
2 cups cooked, dried white or pea beans (or 1-18 oz. can)	2 stalks celery, chopped
2 cans, chopped	2 carrots, chopped
small piece of salt pork	handful of fresh stringbeans or 1/2 pkg. frozen stringbeans
2 1/2 beef	1/2 head cabbage, thinly sliced
1 T chopped parsley	1 10-oz. pkg. frozen peas
3 T olive oil	5 T raw rice
1 onion, chopped	salt and pepper to taste
1 garlic clove, crushed	2 T butter
3 tomatoes, peeled, seeded, chopped	1/4 cup grated parmesan cheese
2 potatoes, peeled and sliced

In a large kettle, saute onion, garlic, celery, parsley, basil and salt pork in olive oil until the onion is soft. Add 10 cups salted water and add all the vegetables. Cook the soup over low heat, uncovered, for about an hour and a half. Twenty minutes before the soup is ready add rice and continue cooking until rice is tender. Add butter and 1/4 cup of parmesan. Add salt and pepper to taste. Serve with bowl of grated Parmesan.

Does drop last pair to close out 20-18 season

Girls finish 5-5 in district 5AA play

Coach John Morrow's Post Does closed out their basketball season this week with consecutive losses to Cooper here Monday night, 46 to 35, and at Frenship Tuesday night, 53 to 50.

The two defeats gave the Does a record of 20 victories and 18 losses for their 38-game season.

The girls broke even in district play, winning five and losing five. They finished second with a 4-1 record in first half play and then dropped four out of five second half games to place fifth among the district's six teams.

Slaton's Tigerettes won the district crown unbeaten in all 10 district starts. Tahoka finished in the cellar with 10 consecutive losses.

The district's other four clubs were closely bunched with Frenship posting a 6-4 record, Post and Cooper both 5-5's, and Roosevelt 4-6.

Against Roosevelt Tuesday night, the Does couldn't get their attack rolling in the first half, scoring only 16 points and trailing 27 to 16 at the intermission.

In the last half they poured in 35 points and really made a fourth period run at a victory before losing. Roosevelt went into the final period with a 10-point advantage, 44 to 34, but the Does outshot their hosts 16 to 9 in the final period to narrow the gap to three points.

Debbie Wyatt led the Does with 18 points, closely followed by Nancy Clary with 17. Kerri Pool had 10 and Danna Giddens eight to complete the Post scoring.

Roosevelt was led by Parker who tossed in 27 points and Thompson who had 22.

In the game here Monday night with Cooper's girls, the Does managed to hold a narrow lead through the first half—10 to 8 at the quarter and 15 to 14 at intermission.

But Cooper took control of the game in the third period, outscoring the Does 12 to 6 and taking a 26-21 lead, and then pulled away in the fourth, outshooting the Does 20 to 14 for their final margin.

Cooper didn't make a free throw until the fourth period but then they tossed in 10 of 12 to give them 10 of 15 for the night. The Does got 14 tries at the charity line but managed only half of them.

Clary led all scorers with 20 points, getting 18 of them in the first and last periods when she scored all but six of the Post points.

Pool had eight, Giddens four and Wyatt three to complete Post's scoring.

Post JV girls close with 34-32 victory

Coach Chili Black's Post JV girls team closed its basketball season at Roosevelt Tuesday night by making a big second quarter stand up for a narrow 34 to 32 victory.

After Roosevelt took a 9-5 lead in the first period, the Post girls bounced back to outshoot Roosevelt 15 to 7 in the second period and go out in front 20 to 16.

The second half was a virtual standoff with each club getting six points in the third and Roosevelt narrowing the gap to the two point margin in the fourth.

Carolyn Pringler scored 19 points to lead Post and got 10 of them in the big second period.

Donna Baumann popped in an even dozen points, including the locals' whole total for the third period. Kathryn Bullard scored two and Dana Babb added the other.

The JV club wound up with a 10-6 record for the season not counting games in three tournaments.

They were 4-3 in district play.

5 girls teams all winners

Post's five girls' basketball teams all have finished their seasons with winning records.

The varsity Does had 20 wins and 18 losses. The JV girls had a 10-6 record, not figuring three early tournaments.

The ninth grade team finished with a 12-7 mark, the 8th graders with a 10-6 ledger, and the seventh graders with 10 wins and five losses.

All of which totals up to 62 wins and 42 losses for a 596 winning percentage.

As for the three JV tournaments in which wins and losses weren't totaled, they just weren't listed in Coach Morrow's record book, and The Dispatch didn't have time to look them up yesterday morning.

Mustangs win 5AA cage title

Denver City's Mustangs are the District 5AA basketball champions.

They won the title Friday night against the Tahoka Bulldogs, second half winners, in a playoff at Brownfield, 56-47.

The Mustangs then outscored Tahoka 18 to 10 in the final period for the crown.

Denver City won the first half title, but suffered several second half losses. Tahoka, which began the season poorly due to post-season football, had come along strong to sweep through unbeaten in the second half.

The Mustangs were scheduled to play Colorado City Tuesday night in the Midland Lee high school gym for the bi-district crown with the winner advancing into the regional tournament.

JV girls bow to Cooper

Ticket sales---

The Chamber feels it cannot risk a high plate guarantee to let ticket sales continue right up to the banquet door because of their overall banquet costs. Some extra tickets will be available next week, but not many.

A concentrated drive is planned for Thursday and Friday through the Post business community. Teach-ment, the flat hemming operation is expanding and adding new employees.

Six new automatic pillow case hemming machines have been purchased. They are replacing most of the old manual pillow case operation. Four of these automatic machines have been delivered and are in operation.

Two more will be delivered by April. Although these new machines will allow the plant to reduce the number of manual pillow case hemmers, all employees affected by the reduction are being placed on other jobs in the fabricating department.

The weaving department has just completed a modernization project by installing 29 high-speed looms.

Extensive training of personnel to maintain these looms has been in progress the past few months.

The new high-speed looms are capable of producing 20 percent more cloth per loom hour than the older looms.

Additional high speed looms are scheduled to be installed later in the year.

The greige mill currently is operating alternating five and six-day operations due to market demand.

"We are excited about our operational growth, running schedules, and the future outlook," Smith told The Dispatch. "We are extremely optimistic about the future of our plant."

"Our employees have contributed and cooperated more than was required of them in all the recent changes and upgrading," Smith said. "We believe Postex employees are the best within Burlington Industries. We look forward to the remainder of this year and the many changes it is to bring."

Davis, former Hall Plant department manager, is presently training in the bleach-finish department. He was employed at Postex in February of 1970 and is a 1957 Post High School graduate.

He began his career with Postex as a supervisor in the fabricating department. He was transferred to Hall Plant as a supervisor in April, 1971, and in July, 1975 was promoted to department manager.

He is married to Marie Howard Davis, also a 1957 PHS grad. The couple have three daughters. The family plans to move to Post at mid-term.

Jack Beavers reported from Memphis here on Feb. 6 as a machine repairman, general maintenance, to begin training on the new automatic pillow case hemming machines.

His long years of experience in the maintenance area will be an asset for the new automatic pillow case hemming operation. These new machines are composed of complex electrical components which require extensive training of maintenance personnel.

Jack came to work at Postex Feb. 28, 1962, as a machine fixer. In March, 1963, he transferred to the Hall Plant as a machine fixer and in February, 1969, he was promoted to general maintenance there.

Mrs. Beavers, also reported to Postex Feb. 6, after almost 15 years at Hall Plant. Leon is assigned to the payroll area as a payroll clerk. She has over 16 years experience in the administration-payroll area and is helping improve overall operations in those areas.

She was first employed at Postex Jan. 28, 1958, as a sheet hemmer. In May, 1961, she was promoted to salary clerk 1, and in June, 1963, she transferred to Hall Plant as the salaried payroll-administration clerk for the operation. Leon and Jackie have two sons, Bobby of Amarillo and Jackie of Longview.

ers and students who want to buy tickets can sign up at principal's offices.

The popularity of the Dallas Cowboys has generated wide interest in the banquet, especially among the young. Lots of youngsters are expected to attend the banquet to hear White.

Until Monday noon tickets for the banquet, priced at $7 each, are available at the Chamber of Commerce office, First National Bank, Trends for Men, Jae's, Terry's Togs, La Posta Gifts, The Post Dispatch, Twins Fashions, Happiness Is, Bob Collier Drugs, Postex Plant, Sentry Savings, Prescription Shop, Higginbotham-Bartlett, the state highway department office and Harold Lucas Motors.

Elections-

developed last week when Jimmy Kennedy and Mrs. Andrea Willard for position I on the school trustees. The place opened with the resignation of Clarence Gunn for health reasons. The winner at this position will serve the final year of Gunn's two-year term.

The other two school board positions are Place 6, for which Royce Hart has filed for his first two-year term; and Place 7 for which John Boren has filed for reelection. Hart was elected last year to fill an unexpired term.

The apparent lack of interest in the local races doesn't mean a lot, however.

The rush usually comes in the final couple of days. After waiting for a month to see what everybody else might do, there is almost always a closing rush which develops into contests.

Jim Norman-

Chaffin, third.

Sam Ellis presented all the awards. Norman, the "conservation farmer", raises cotton and grain sorghums with some small grain. He has just completed a Great Plains Conservation Program contract in which some very important conservation work was done.

This included 40,457 feet of parallel terraces for moisture conservation. He also has carried out a balanced crop rotation program of cotton and high residue soil improving crops.

Terrace ridges were planted to small grain to protect the land in the terrace intervals from wind erosion.

"Through his conservation program, Jim Norman has set an example for his neighbors and his cropland is improving each year," Ellis declared in presenting Norman with his plaque.

Mrs. Zoe Kirkpatrick gave the program with a slide presentation she has prepared herself on "Native Wild Flowers of Garza County."

Approximately 100 attended the banquet.

City to-

The only question of all the projects is the street paving which comes up for decision first.

The county commissioners court wants a look at the low bid before deciding how much of the project it can afford. With curb and guttering bringing wider paving that the original proposed "strip paving" for some of the blocks, the paving costs are sure to be considerably higher than were predicted last year when the paving project was worked out.

Fire Chief Neal Clary was on hand at the council's request Monday night to discuss getting started on the fire station expansion.

The council authorized the purchase of enough fencing wire to enclose fire station and yard, and told Clary and City Manager Pete Maddox to get a new bid on the three-bay expansion to the all-metal fire station.

Mayor Giles McCrary said the architects hope to have some Post Community Center plans ready to show at the March meeting.

The council unanimously voted to instruct the community center board to work with the architect in the development of plans and specifications for the last two phases of center development. Plans and specifications for the last two phases of center construction.

The city has $98,000 of federal revenue sharing funds on hand for projects and will receive another $42,000 in federal funds during the remainder of the city's fiscal year to apply on the payment.

City Councilman Jim Jackson reported that the city-county ambulance committee wanted to enter into an agreement with Garza Memorial Hospital, not with Ed Zintgraff, hospital administrator, as a private contractor for the operation of the emergency ambulance service and that Zintgraff withdrew his proposal early last week anyway.

Jackson said the city and county committee still is hopeful of working out arrangements with Garza Memorial Hospital to handle the service and is looking into any possible legal difficulties.

Both Jackson and Dr. William Wilson said they saw no need to obtain a state certificate of need because the hospital would not be investing in the ambulance service which already is operational.

For the present, the ambulance service is back in charge of the sheriff's department.

In other actions Monday night, the council: Reappointed Don Payne, Arthur Kelly and Prudencio Basquez Cruz to the Post Housing Authority for two-year terms;

Accepted the resignation of Joel Dobson from the Post Public Library trustees and appointed Charles Adams to fill the vacancy. Dobson is being promoted by Burlington Industries and is moving from Post.

City, county set hearings

Both the county commissioners court and the city council have scheduled hearings to give the public the opportunity to advance proposals on how they would like to see federal revenue sharing money spent.

The hearings are required by law to provide public input prior to spending decisions. Notices of the hearings appear in today's Dispatch.

The county hearing will be at 10 a. m. Monday, Feb. 27 in the county commissioners room, although the public can submit written proposals in advance of the hearing if they so desire.

The city hearing will be at 7:30 p. m. Monday, March 6, in the city council chambers at the start of the council's regular March session.

The five new Chamber directors, elected by the same mail ballot to the membership as named Willard, are Charles Adams, Danny Shaw, Rob Robinson, Linda Lewis and Linda Waldrip.

They also will take office following the Chamber banquet.

Retiring directors are Harold Lucas, James Dye, Sharron Morris and Norman.

Holdover directors will be Jim Wells, Don Payne, Mrs. Iva Hudman, Mike Beaird, Jim Cornish and Willard.

In other actions at the board of directors meeting Friday, directors:

Authorized the micro-filming of Post Chamber records for the archives of the American Southwest being undertaken by the Texas Tech Museum;

Voted to purchase the two filing cabinets the Chamber is now using from Patsy McCowen for $100;

Named Jim Cornish, chairman of the banquet ticket sales;

Heard Beaird's report that Post's outstanding citizen selection has been placed in the hands of a special committee after asking the public for nominations the past two weeks.

Agriculture Reagan Brown and Julie Bennell, a food consultant, as co-speakers. The Denver City Chamber is charging $7.50 a plate for a banquet featuring a Dallas humorist as the speaker. The Chamber banquet here costs the least of the three but far and away has the better known "personality" to do the speech making. That figures out a bargain. So get your tickets now to hear Danny White.

The race for Omar Burleson's 17th congressional district seat shifted into high gear in today's Dispatch with an eight-page tabloid, "The Citizen's Voice," which extolls the virtues of Charles Stenholm of Stamford in his race for that office.

Being a good newspaperman, we're convinced Stenholm will get a whole lot more mileage out of this thorough presentation of his position on policies and issues in all the districts newspapers than he would with "a few spots" around on some of the district's TV stations for the same amount of money.

We found the district map on page 8 interesting in which the 33-county district was shown with the notation that the 17th district is larger than seven of the 50 U. S. states.

Automan Harold Lucas is announcing a great windup for his Car Wars Sale. He's giving away money. But the catch to it is you have to buy a car first to find out how much of Harold's cash you get. You'll find details of this unique promotion, named "Pirate Treasure Chest" on page 4.

We'll let you in on a "secret". If Harold sells all his new cars he will give away $3,968 in cash.
