Federal aid approved for 'phantom drought'

Garza is on help list

Garza county farmers have qualified for relief from the "phantom drought of 1976" providing they can substantiate losses of 20 percent or more due to drought.

That may be very hard to do. There was no drought.

The "phantom drought" tag comes from the fact that nobody in Garza county via the normal agricultural agencies had applied for drought relief.

In fact, nobody can determine who did apply for the drought relief. But the application, by whomever made, has ground its way through the federal bureaucracy.

It's been approved. Loans are available.

Congressman Omar Burleson announced in Washington this week that Borden, Coleman, Crosby, Dawson, Floyd, Garza, Howard, Kent, Lynn and Scurry counties have been designated for emergency drought assistance.

The congressman in a story to The Dispatch said "individuals and communities in emergency drought areas are eligible for special loans and grants from the Departments of Agriculture, Interior, Commerce and Small Business Administration."

He said applicants must meet special eligibility requirements established by each agency before assistance may be provided.

Another youth program starts

Summer registration has begun for youth between the ages of six and 13 for the summer youth recreation program to be held in the Catholic Hall.

The program is under the guidance of the Llano Estacado Farm Workers de Tejas.

Meals will be provided for youth attending at no cost.

The program will be held Monday through Friday between the hours of 8 and 4 and will begin Thursday, June 9.

Recreational activities include volleyball, baseball, group games, arts and crafts and adventure trips.

Further information may be had by calling Connie Lopez at 495-3441 between the hours of 8 and 5 p. m.

Participants in agricultural programs authorized last May 4 must sign up for specific drought assistance no later than September 30, and must complete whatever work is being financed by the aid by Nov. 30.

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office here told The Dispatch that the Garza drought is a very big mystery to them. The office doesn't know why the designation was made or what drought conditions were claimed.

Garza didn't have any drought last year, had a good cotton crop, and is in good shape moisture wise this year.

Bill Stewart who heads the Farm Home Administration district office in Tahoka told The Dispatch Wednesday that while nobody knows why the counties were (See Drought, Page 10)

Steve White wins 4-H scholarship

Steve White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noel White, is the winner of a $4,000 Houston Livestock Show four-year college 4-H scholarship.

White was announced as one of the top winners among the 35 4-H scholarships awarded at the 4-H recognition program Tuesday night at the state 4-H roundup at College Station.

Several $4,000 scholarships were given and the rest for lesser amounts down to $150.

Steve was interviewed by the scholarship committee Monday afternoon. He had already been notified that he was one of the final 35 to be interviewed with the interviews deciding what size scholarships each would receive.

County Agent Syd Conner told The Dispatch by phone from College Station Wednesday morning that the scholarship awards are based on 4-H work, high school grades, and SAT scores for college entrance.

Steve is a 1977 graduate of Post High School.

Conner reported that Garza entries in the state 4-H roundup would not know how they had finished in the state competition until late Wednesday afternoon after The Dispatch had gone to press.

Two explosive fires doused

The Post volunteer firemen extinguished two explosive fires last week.

One came last Wednesday morning when lightning blew the top off a 750-barrel tank on the Kirkpatrick lease, 16 miles southeast of Post, set that tank afire and also another tank containing 14 feet of oil.

The other fire was Thursday afternoon when the diesel boiler at the George R. Brown gas plant south of Post caught fire and exploded. Damage was confined to the boiler.

Post firemen aid Tahoka

The Post Fire Department sent a truck and six fire fighters to Tahoka Tuesday afternoon to help keep tanks containing 178,000 gallons of gasoline from catching fire from a blazing grain elevator and storehouse only 17 feet away.

The empty elevator which was being demolished caught fire from torches of demolition workmen and spread out of control.

No one was injured.

Wilson and Slaton fire departments also aided the Tahoka department in the successful battle to keep the gasoline tanks from going up in flames in the middle of town.

Wildcat test new producer

North American Royalties, Inc., has successfully drilled a new wildcat well, the No. 1-4-JK State, located 15 miles southwest of Post.

The well produced 148 barrels of oil daily on test from an interval of 7,977 to 7,984 feet. The deep test was drilled to a total depth of 8,600 feet.

A spry little man named Arthur Post stopped in Post for a few days over the weekend. He told us he just wanted to see what the town named Post looked like and learn something about it.

We think he arrived on the bus Thursday or Friday. He came into The Dispatch neatly dressed, including coat, with a knapsack over one shoulder.

He explained he spent his time traveling around the country and had traveled in other parts of the world as well. He was looking for a room for rent.

Librarian Peewee Pierce told us Monday he had been in the library reading the book, "Post City Post."

Monday he came back in the office and said he thought he would be going on to Lubbock to spend a few days. He said he had come from a sojourn in Snyder.

As a parting gift he left us an autographed copy of a red covered book, "Around the World in 80 Years" by Arthur Post.

We took it home and read some of it the other night. Seems this quiet man wrote the book in 1974 when he was 80 years old. That means he was 83 and moving well when he visited Post.

The book was published by "Charles the Printer" in Athens, Texas. Arthur was born in Van Zandt County, Texas, about ten miles south of Grand Saline.

He had a brother you'll probably remember. His name was Wiley Post, a one-eyed flyer who flew round the world in record breaking time with a patch over one eye. Wiley died, as we remember, in a plane crash in Alaska with Will Rogers, the cowboy humorist. (See Postings, Page 10)

Swim lessons start Monday

The first of two three-weeks-course swimming courses will start at the city-county swim pool Monday.

Swimming for beginners to advanced will be taught by instructors Mark Bevers, Jay Kennedy and Kim Lott.

The course will be taught at 10 a. m. Mondays, Wednesdays, Friday and Saturday at a cost of $20 plus pool costs per swimmer.

A free advanced life saving course also is being offered at 8:30 p. m. Mondays through Fridays, beginning June 13 for a three-weeks period.

The second session of swimming instruction is planned for later in the summer.

DIRECTORS TO MEET
Directors of the Post Chamber of Commerce will hold their June meeting at the Post Public Library Friday noon.

TOTALLY DIFFERENT LOOK — Busy US-84 through Post looked busy in a very different way Tuesday afternoon as the camera looked south from the Main Street and Broadway intersection. Equipment of the Kerr Construction Co. of Lubbock can be seen tearing up the east side of the highway preparatory to the four-foot widening on either side.

Broadway work is done side at a time

Resident highway engineer Julian Smith told The Dispatch this week that Kerr Construction Co. of Lubbock plans to widen one side of Broadway (US-84) through Post at a time and with good weather breaks figures to have the Broadway widening completed by the end of September.

"They are doing us a good job and a fast job so far," Smith noted.

He said the Kerr firm had begun to pour new curb and gutter on North Broadway Monday on the east side only eight days after they had closed the east side to traffic for several blocks to begin widening.

They should have a treated base in the first turn up section of Broadway so the driveways open to business along those blocks within just 10 days, Smith estimated.

He came in to explain about the "game plan" for the project because he is getting so many questions about the project from Post people.

Smith said the Kerr firm is using a five-step approach to the street widening with the intent to get traffic back on the black base on the east side of Broadway just as quickly as possible.

He said some business firms report surprisingly little loss of business volume when the highway was torn up in front of their places of business.

"We're finding all kinds of lines under Broadway, a lot of which nobody knew were there," Smith declared. Some are active and some are no longer in use. They include water, sewer, gas and oil lines.

Computer report cards now ready

Report cards are in and may be picked up at the high school principal's office between the hours of 8 and 12 and 1 and 5 Monday through Friday, reports Principal Billy Hahn.

Junior high cards may be picked up Monday through Friday between the hours of 8 and 12 and 1 and 3.

The city crew was scheduled Wednesday to remove a water line which runs down Broadway beneath the paving from Eighth to Tenth street.

Smith said the city didn't take it out earlier because they didn't want to interrupt traffic any more than necessary and were waiting for the widening to start.

Garza to have well on courthouse lawn

Post may soon be the only county seat in Texas to have an oil well pumping away on the courthouse lawn.

Everett Windham, superintendent of the George R. Brown oil interests in this area, told The Dispatch this week that he had filed an application to drill a waterflood well on the southwest corner of the courthouse lawn.

Windham said he visited with the county commissioners court last week and it had no objection to the well.

The courtlawn well will be one of two new ones within the city limits which the Brown oil interests will drill in connection with its present water flood.

Windham told The Dispatch that both wells will be pumping wells and should help extract more oil during the waterflood. He explained that at present there was "not enough drainage" in areas where the Brown interests will drill the two wells.

Windham said to his knowledge this would be the only well on a courthouse lawn in Texas and the only thing which comes close to it in Oklahoma either are wells on the state house lawn in Oklahoma City.

"We're going to make the well look real nice and we think a lot of people will be interested in watching its operations," Windham said.

Recreation program enrollment to 216

Enrollment in the youth summer recreation program here had climbed to 216 as of Tuesday, Director Joe Giddens announced.

He said girls interested in the basketball clinic which will be held next week, June 13-17, from 2 to 4 p. m. at the high school gym should sign up at the high school gym during summer recreation hours 9 to 12, Monday through Thursday.

Girls 13 to 17 years of age are eligible for the clinic.

Giddens also announced the start of a four-team softball league Monday evening with the Red Raiders defeating the Cool Cougars, 8 to 5.

Two leagues had been planned, but not enough older girls signed up to form the second league. Any girls who have finished the fourth grade and desire to play in the league should contact Judy Norman, softball director.

Team sponsors are the Drover House Restaurant, First National Bank, Dalby Cattle Co., and Giles McCrary.

Remainder of the softball schedule is June 7, Wildcats (See Recreation, Page 10)

Meeting set on blood council

Garza Memorial Hospital as the local health care provider and Blood Services of Lubbock are jointly trying to establish an advisory blood council for Garza County.

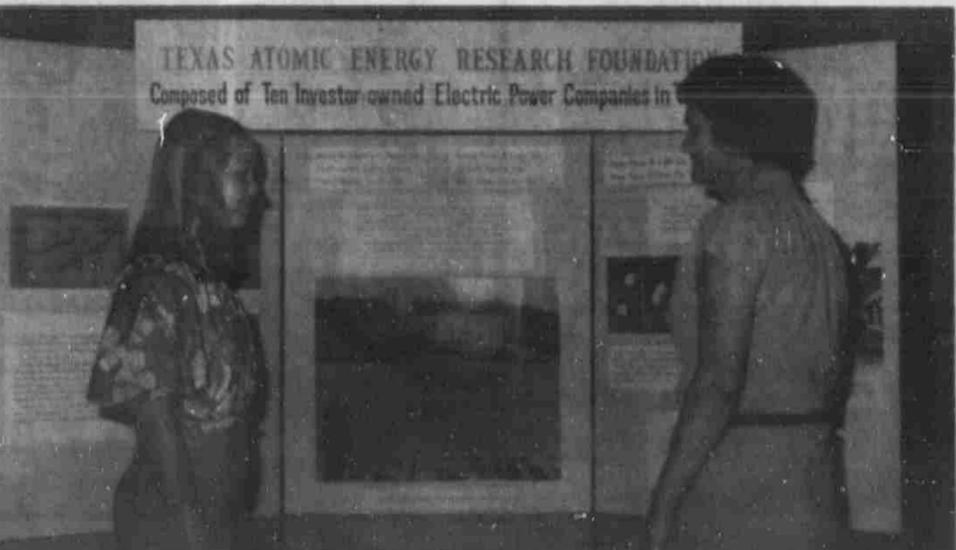

A meeting has been set for Tuesday, June 14 in the Post Community Center for 2 p. m. to try and establish an advisory blood council for Post.

Blood Services need 70 pints of blood a day and are responsible for 38 hospitals in a 150 mile radius, including Garza County.

Volunteers are needed to help supply the quota of blood needed by local residents.

A blood drive has been tentatively set for July 13.

All interested persons are urged to attend this meeting.

ATTEND NUCLEAR SYMPOSIUM — Post High School representatives at the 17th annual Texas Nuclear Science Symposium held June 5-8 at the University of Texas at Austin were Cindy Kirkpatrick, left, and Mrs. Beth Walker. The seminar was presented by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation, of which Southwestern Public Service Company is a member, and the University. Southwestern sponsored a delegation of forty-three students and teachers from the South Plains area.

City gets projects moving

A four-hour June Monday night, the council didn't come to final decisions, but got things stirring.

The council asked Harvey Smith, attorney for the city, to draft an ordinance for a motel and hotel occupancy tax here that would be used for the promotion of Post.

Smith provided to buy City Manager Pete Maddox a car. His was "loaned" from the sheriff's department.

Smith also provided for the playground area to look into the cost of the Lorenzo Alexander project that got started a year ago, and that Sue Shytle carry her funding request for the playground to the county commissioners court.

Walker has to June 20 file for new trial

District Judge G. Holt in Snyder gave Pat N. Walker June 20 to file an amended motion for a new trial.

This delays sentencing of Post oil man-attorney until that date.

Walker was convicted by a jury district jury May 11 on a felony charge of exercising control over property belonging to the Young, formerly of Snyder.

Walker had been moved by a change of attorneys.

Holt signed a court order giving Walker's attorney until June 20 to file an amended motion for a new trial.

Why school finance stumbled

Why didn't the Texas Legislature pass a school finance bill if it was rated the top priority at the recent regular session? Why is it necessary to hold a special session?

A lot of Texans probably are asking these questions today.

You have the answers yourselves if you will think about it.

To adopt major legislation of a controversial nature there has to be a consensus FOR or in favor of that legislation. And that usually starts and ends with the voters themselves.

Look back at the last session. What was the No. 2 priority piece of legislation. It was to provide new funds for the former state highway department.

Before the legislative session began, the highway department supporters took their cause to the people. They showed films, made speeches, and asked and got the widespread support of the state's newspapers.

By the time the legislators gathered in Austin, the people back home had already bid them goodbye by reminding them to be sure and put the state highway department back on its feet.

While all the political pressure shuffle was going on, the house rammed through a highway financing bill which senate leaders didn't want but couldn't withstand the pressure to adopt. So the highway aid bill was out of the way early in the session.

That's the best way for it to work. So why didn't school finance work the same way.

The answer is simple enough. The public doesn't understand school finance. It's too complicated. It's so complicated professional school men have to be careful figuring school aid. The Post district had a real problem with state aid under a former superintendent and actually ran out of money before the school year was out and had to have special state legislation to enable it to complete that school year.

Well, school financing since then if anything has gotten tougher. We doubt if across the state one school trustee in ten understands the formula. And most of them are very dedicated folks. We don't. We admit it.

That's where the school finance bill ran off the legislative rail. The lawmakers didn't have to answer to the folks back home. So they "politicized" until time ran out.

Truth of the matter is that both senate and nation are feeling their way in this area. What is happening is that the state is trying to respond to the demands of federal judges for "equal educational opportunity."

School taxes all over Texas have been going up in recent years because of the efforts to equalize poor districts and rich districts. Poor districts are those without oil. Rich districts are those with oil in plentiful amounts.

Post would be classified as sort of "middle class." Nothing like Snyder, for example, or Denver City, either, where they voted over five million dollars in school bonds recently to build a new building or two, air-condition all classrooms, and improve the football stadium.

The difficulty about the failure of the legislation to act within its regular session is that it makes it difficult for the school districts to prepare new school district budgets (and tax levies) not knowing what may or may not happen in Austin this summer.

Any district could either be "hurt" or "helped" depending upon the school aid formula adopted, if a special session is held.

It's too bad the legislature's two houses don't "revolt" against their leadership more often. The state senate, as far as we can see, is the major culprit in what happened because it bottled the school finance bill in committee for months, trying to force a final week compromise more in the liking of Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

It didn't make it. A compromise came so late the bill couldn't even be printed and the senate never brought it to a vote.

We doubt if school finance is ever going to be resolved to everybody's satisfaction. The cities are going to get most of it, most of the benefits, most of the state money that is because they have the votes in Austin.

When it comes down to it, Texas isn't ready for a tremendous school finance reform, especially when it means equalizing taxes all across the state. That is going to have to come gradually — at least until the problem is such the voting public can understand it and make up its collective mind on what it wants, and tells the politicians so.

New OSHA promises

OSHA, the Labor Department's Occupational Safety and Health Administration, is going to mend its ways.

At least that's the promise of Secretary of Labor Ray Marshall who has announced a redirection of national job safety and health resources to focus on the more serious problems.

"The worst thing about wasting time and money on nitpicking regulations," Marshall said, "is that you shortchange the fight against the most serious dangers to human life and limb in the high-risk workplaces. From now on OSHA is going to get serious about serious dangers."

Dr. Eula Bingham, who heads OSHA, promised that a program has been developed to shift OSHA resources to common sense priorities and that "95 percent of OSHA's inspections will be devoted to those industries with the most serious health problems, such as construction, manufacturing, transportation and the petro-chemicals."

OSHA is even going to appoint a special assistant to small business. There's going to be a special small business handbook with simple check lists and self-help guides designed to assist small businesses in voluntarily complying with the law.

OSHA, created with good intentions, has probably become the laughing stock and at the same time the most hated and feared of all governmental agencies.

In keeping with President Carter's very successful public relations effort, the present promises could be expected.

When delivery on them is made we shall see if OSHA can live up to its original promise, or whether bureaucrats — as some say — can never be really controlled, even by the President.

Market prices drop on many vegetables

COLLEGE STATION —

A cornucopia of fresh vegetables — with top quality and lower prices — is at Texas grocery markets, along with economical meat "specials" according to Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt.

The consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, compiled the following report on this week's food buying situation:

FRESH VEGETABLES

Good quality and attractive prices are on snap beans, yellow and zucchini squash, corn, cucumbers, green peppers, green onions and radishes. Other economical choices are carrots, cabbage, mustard greens, broccoli and collards. Check celery, cauliflower, okra and eggplant for economy prices.

FRESH FRUITS

Watermelon and cantaloupe prices are slightly lower. Economical choices are strawberries, pineapples, oranges, grapefruit and bananas. Bing cherries, plums and peaches have first-of-the-season prices — high — although peaches are more plentiful with better flavor.

BEEF

Prices are still attractive on most selections — and weekly "specials" allow low-cost meals with beef, particularly chuck roasts, steaks, ground beef and liver.

PORK
Features include Boston butt roasts, quarter-loin cut into chops, smoked picnics and ham portions.

Thank You

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all my friends for the cards, letters, visits and prayers while I was in the hospital and since returning home. Also the words of encouragement have all meant so much. May God bless each and everyone.
 Bertha Printz

I would like to take this opportunity to thank each and everyone for all the flowers, visits, cards and calls during my recent surgery in Methodist Hospital and since returning home. Your thoughtfulness will always be remembered.
 Pauline Coleman

There are no words to express our gratitude and appreciation for all the kindness and love shown to us since the loss of our loved one. The visits, food, flowers and cards given to our family at this time will always be held in our hearts. We want to especially thank Alva Booth, Robert Blaylock, Dee Justice and Thurman Francis for their tireless efforts in trying to save our husband, father and grandfather.
 The Otis Shepherd Family

We would like to thank all our many friends who expressed their thoughtfulness during the birth of our son Cory Allen. Thank you, Charles and Phyllis Morris

We would very much like to thank each and everyone for all the kindnesses shown to us during the loss of our loved one. We thank you for the food, flowers and donations. May God bless each and everyone.
 The Guichard Family
 Robbie, Sherrell, Sandra Hopkins, Kenneth Jr., Al Guichard

A great big Thank You to all the Minor League parents and others who helped clean up the field and get ready for play. Thank You.

Roberson-Craig vows exchanged Saturday

Wedding vows were exchanged by Dixie Jo Roberson and Lyle Allen Craig Saturday, June 4 at 7 p. m. at the First Baptist Church of Tahoka.

Rev. Glenn Reece, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Post officiated the ceremony before an archway of greenery, baskets of green carnations with a tree candleabra and a tree candleabra with green carnations. The choir rails were decorated with greenery and tapered candles and the pews were marked with pews and green carnations. The couple also had a memory candle.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robbie Roberson of Tahoka and parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Craig of Post.

Special guests for the occasion were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Howell of Tahoka and Mrs. Willene Roberson of O'Donnell and the groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Shults of Littlefield and Mrs. Mary Craig of Brownfield.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional gown of white organza with accents of beaded cluney lace. The moulded bodice featured a high wedding band neckline, outlined in the beaded cluney lace. Long Bishop sleeves were etched in the lace with wide cuffs edged in the lace ruffle. The crescent shaped waistline swept to the back with fullness to form a cathedral length train. Her veiling was caught to a lace camelot capulet which drifted into a bouffant veil of cathedral length and was edged with the cluney lace. The bridal bouquet was pink and white roses and gypsophelia in a cascade arrangement. Carrying out the traditional something old, she wore her grandmother's wedding rings, something new, her dress, something borrowed, her mother's diamond necklace and something blue, her garter.

Serving as maid of honor was Patricia Craig, sister of the groom. Matron of honor was Mrs. Lana Craig, cousin of the bride. They wore full length gowns of mint colored cotton voile with a square neckline edged in lace. The empire bodice was sleeveless with lace trim. A wide ruffle on the skirt made the pinaflore effect with a deep ruffle at the hemline. A large bow with long streamers completed the look. They carried pink roses and white feathered carnations.

Bob Craig served his brother as best man. Groomsman was Joe Craig, brother of the groom.

Serving as ushers were Dale Roberson, brother of the bride, J. O. Cummings, and Randy Bell.

Organist Mrs. Clay Bennett accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Hawthorne as they sang "When He Gave Me You."

A reception was held following the wedding in the Fellowship Hall with Wayla Craig registering guests.

Serving at the bride's table was Lou Ann McAuly, Carolyn Ash, Cyndi Wood and Carla Stevens. Debbie Adamson and Robin Taylor presided at the groom's table.

Mrs. Craig is a 1977 graduate of Tahoka High School and Al is a 1977 graduate of Post High School.

Following a wedding trip to the West Coast, the couple will reside in Post where he is engaged in farming.

As It Looks from Here

OMAR BURLESON, M. C.
17th District, Texas
WASHINGTON, D. C. — The following is a re-run of our release of October 23, 1975. The problem of illegal aliens has increased since that time and a solution is no nearer.

"The U. S. Government has a multitude of dilemmas of one kind or another and near the top of them is illegal aliens. No one can accurately estimate the number of illegal aliens in the country at the present time. Retired General Leonard F. Chapman who heads the Immigration and Naturalization Service estimates the number at about ten million and says the problem is 'totally out of control.'

"Each year for the last several, something on the order of one million foreigners enter and remain in this country. The great majority are from Latin America but they come from all over the world in search of jobs and a better life. They are found in the cities working on construction sites and among the ranks of professionals. It is estimated that the payroll for working aliens runs to around $10.5 billion each year.
"During 1974 General

Chapman reports that over 800 thousand aliens were apprehended but he doubts the surface has been scratched to deal with the problem.

"Soon to be considered in the Congress is a bill which attempts to treat this situation but it has many objections. The bill would impose penalties on employers who knowingly employ illegal aliens. At first there would be a $500 fine as a warning and then a $1000 fine with an option for the judge to impose a one-year prison sentence. The Attorney General would be empowered under this legislation to seek restraining orders against employers he believes are engaged in the practice of hiring such workers. As critics of this proposed legislation point out, other problems would be created. To begin with, the burden of enforcement to a large extent is put on employers. Law enforcement is a Governmental function but this bill would require employers to find

Swine short course June 30

LUBBOCK — Pork producers will examine prospects for swine industry's future at Texas Tech University's 25th annual Swine Short Course June 30. About 150 people are expected to attend.

Featured speakers for the one-day course will be G. Richard (Dick) Carlisle, extension swine specialist for the University of Illinois at Urbana, David H. Bache, extension economist at Purdue University, and Glenn Conaster, executive secretary of the American Yorkshire Club.

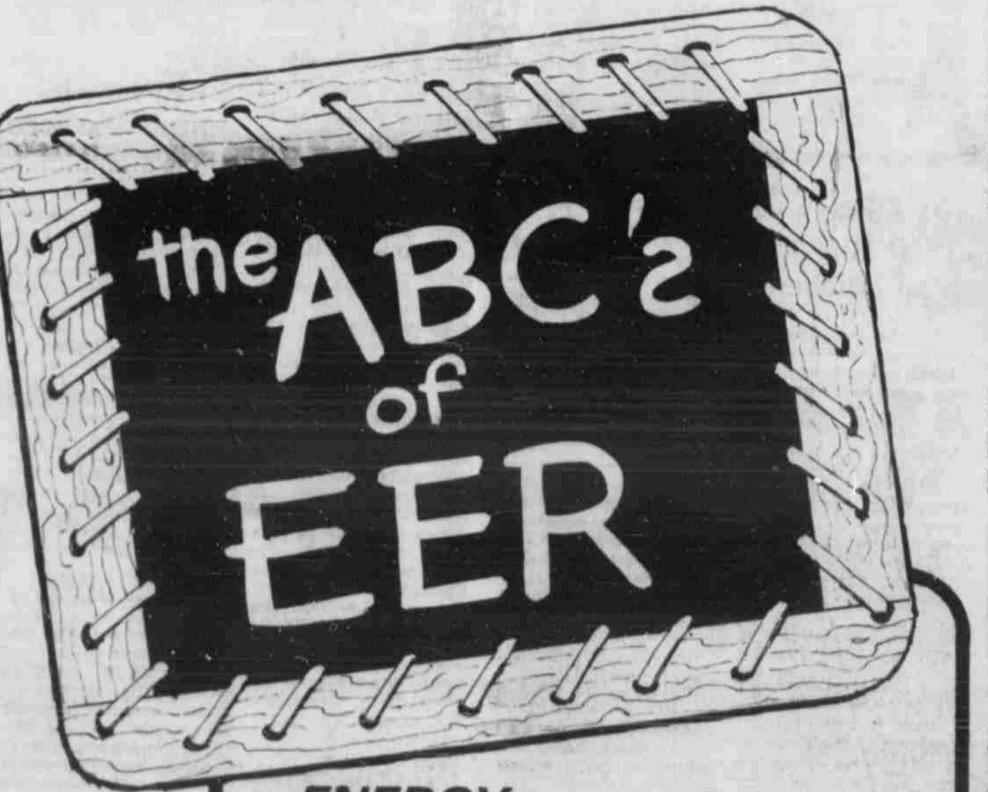

Program topics include "Future Trends in the Swine Industry" and "Ideas for Improving Sow Performance" by Carlisle, "Record-Keeping for a Swine Operation" and "Outlook for Swine Production and Prices" by Bache, and "Hog Production in Japan (A Look to the Future for the U. S.)" and "Soundness in Swine" by Conaster.

Drs. Max A. Lennon, Donald E. Orr and Leland F. Tribble, all of Texas Tech's Animal Science Department, will present progress reports on the University's swine research.

Reports from the Texas Pork Producers Association by outgoing executive vice president John Fair and incoming executive vice president Kenneth Horton will be given.

Registration begins at 8:30 a. m. at the Farmers Co-op Complex, 3800 Southeast Drive in Lubbock. The course, which is being held at the complex to provide ample parking space for those attending, is expected to adjourn about 3:45 p. m. Registration fees are $3 for agriculture teachers and county agents and $10 for all others.

All participants will be luncheon guests of Elanco Production Co., and Wallico International.

ENERGY EFFICIENCY RATIO and AIR CONDITIONING

Maybe you've heard mention of or read about EER... but didn't pay too much attention at the time. EER stands for ENERGY EFFICIENCY RATIO and is a measure of the efficiency of various appliances or equipment in using energy. Some do the same job using less energy than others.

We have a booklet in our offices that's free for the asking. It's called "The ABC's of EER," and it briefly and simply gives you an adequate explanation of what EER means to you if you're about to buy air conditioning equipment.

It's at your Public Service office... ask for one.

Cards keep Little League lead with 3 out of 4

Tim Tannehill shuts out Dodgers twice

The Little League leading Cardinals won three out of four games this past week, two of them shutouts over the Dodgers, but got hammered 22 to 14 by the Yankees Friday night for their first loss of the campaign.

They will have time to catch their breath this week as the schedule has them playing but one game in the next six nights.

The Yankees by winning their only two starts moved into a second place tie with the Red Sox who split their two starts of the week.

Tim Tannehill pitched both of the Cards' shutouts over the Dodgers, limiting them to but one hit on Thursday night in a 4-0 win and to three hits Monday night in taking a 3-0 decision.

He struck out 14 in the first shutout and 17 in the second. Only one out was made in the Monday night game by the Dodgers that wasn't a strikeout.

In both games Tannehill went the route.

What's more Tannehill got three hits in the two games and scored three runs. You could say he didn't need a whole lot of help those two nights.

The Yankees on Friday night showed the Cards that 13 was an unlucky number by coming up with 13 runs in the first inning en route to their 22 to 14 victory, although out 10 to 9. The Yanks batted around twice before their big inning was over.

The Cards tried to make a game out of it with five in the bottom half of the same inning, but never did catch up. The Yanks added four more in the second and the final five in the fifth.

Lynn Allen got credit for the win but had to have relief help from Jeff Lamb and James Brown when the Cards came up with a six-run rally in the final inning.

In the Tigers 11 to 4 win over the Dodgers, winning pitcher Arthur Garza not only went the route but got a triple and two singles in three trips batting cleanup and scored three times. Gilbert Perez got the Dodgers 12 to 6 upset win over the Red Sox by pitching all but the final frame. The Dodgers put the game away in the fifth with a five run burst. Toby Craft got three hits and Bill Black two for the winners.

The Tigers' 7 to 5 win over the A's Saturday night was called after four innings by the 9:30 p. m. rule with cleanup batter Arthur Garza again having a two for two night for the winners and scoring as many runs. Tracy Price got two hits for the losers.

Jeff Lamb led the Yankees attack in their 13 to 3 win over the A's with three hits in four trips Tuesday night including an inside the park homerun in the third.

Tannehill was at second base for the Cards Tuesday night in their 11 to 5 win over the Tigers and got only one hit — but it was a homerun. He scored three times, as did Catcher Chris Belongia who got two hits. First sacker Steve Rogers also picked up a pair of singles. The Tigers were held to only two hits.

Correction for last week's Little League roundup. There was a homerun hit. Shortstop Irving Price of the A's hammered one out in his team's 27 to 12 loss to the Yankees. He also had a triple and a single in three official trips.

Donnie Hays is golf leader for first 18

Donnie Hays carded a net 64 and is the leader after the first Saturday of play in the annual George "Scotty" Samson Golf Tournament held at Caprock Golf Course. Play will resume on Saturday, June 11, at 9 a. m.

Hays is closely followed by Bill Lowe at 67, John Valdez and J. C. Gatlin at 68, and Tony Rodriguez at 69.

Hays also leads in the most "birdies" on 18 holes with 4. Others are Tony Rodriguez, 3. Colley Gatlin and Delroy Odom, with two each and Bill Lowe and Archie Gill, one apiece.

Dinner was served after the first 18 holes of play to the 25 linksters.

The tournament, sponsored by Postex Plant for Postex employees, is a handicap tournament held annually on the local course.

Gross and net scores, gross minus handicaps, are listed below for the first 18 holds of play.

Donnie Hays 82, 64; Bill Lowe 83, 67; John Valdez 84, 68; Colley Gatlin 76, 68; Tony Rodriguez 79, 69; Linford Warren 102, 70; Archie Gill 95, 71; Troy Baker 105, 71; Pete Hays 88, 72; Glenn Potts 86, 72; Delroy Odom 90, 72; Gene Martin 86, 74; Clarence Warren 96, 74; Sid Pierce 86, 74; Manuel Criado 89, 75; Roy Gilmore 85, 77; James T. Big scores as Minors open

The Post Minor League opened play Monday evening and from the scores of the first two games it looked as if the football season was here.

The Holly's Drive In Rangers defeated United Super Market Mets, 29 to 18 Monday night and Harold Lucas' Texans thumped the Lawrence Welding Colts, 38 to 9 Tuesday evening.

Tonight the Mets will play the Colts and on Friday the Rangers and the Texans clash. On Monday night, it will be the Mets vs. the Texans and on Tuesday the Rangers vs. The Colts.

Babe Ruth play opens

The Babe Ruth League scorebook didn't make it to The Dispatch office Wednesday morning due to some sort of a mixup, but the Cubs and the Braves opened 1977 league play here Tuesday night with victories over the White Sox and Indians respectively.

It was an unusual start for the defending champion White Sox.

Scores of the games were not available.

Tonight, the White Sox will play the Braves in the first game and the Indians will meet the Cubs in the second. Saturday night's twin bill pits the Braves vs. Cubs in the opener and the White Sox vs. the Indians in the nightcap.

Next Tuesday night, the Braves will play the Indians and the Cubs will meet the White Sox.

Teenagers win 2 games at home

Post's team in the South Plains Babe Ruth Teenage League won their first two home games to bring their season's record in loop play to an even .500 and were hopeful of making it three in a row at home here against Slaton last night.

Slaton demolished Post in the locals' first start at Slaton, 19 to 2, on May 28.

Since then, Post has defeated Tahoka here June 1, 8 to 3, lost to Brownfield at Brownfield, 8 to 4, June 4, and then defeated Brownfield here Monday night, 3 to 2.

Post came by its two one-run victories on a total of only five hits, two of them against Tahoka and three against Brownfield.

Two four-run innings brought victory over Tahoka with only one of the two hits being used.

Three walks, two short-stop errors, a sacrifice and a single got the first four runs in the third. Four Tahoka errors in the fourth and two fielder's choices accounted for the other four.

Leslie Looney got the win for Post, giving up only four hits. Three hits and a walk on the first four batters in the opening inning got two runs across for Tahoka. The other tally came in the third on a walk and a single to give the visitors a 3-0 lead. After that Looney pitched a hitless ball over the last five innings and permitted only two base runners on a hit batsman and a walk as his mates gave him perfect field support.

All told Tahoka committed six errors.

The Post club lost at Brownfield June 4 when Pitcher Raymie Holly gave up eight hits and eight runs in the first three innings before settling down to hold Brownfield hitless the last three innings.

Although Post got several hits, with Third Baseman Randy Baker and Holl collecting two apiece, the locals had a hard time getting the timely hit. The left 14 baserunners aboard in seven innings.

Back home Monday night against the same Brownfield team, Post edged out 3 to 2 victory on only three hits, getting all their runs in the first on walks to right fielder Casey Zachary and first baseman Larry Harper, an infield error of Randy Baker's ground ball with two out and shortstop Raymie Holly's double.

Brownfield pitcher Teal then struck out 12 of the next 22 Post batters he faced and shut them out hitless over the next five innings.

Looney picked up his second victory, scattering five hits, striking out eight and walking but two.

'Texas' to open its 12th season June 15

CANYON — The rider will return to the saddle in the cliff at the Pioneer Amphitheatre in the Palo Duro Canyon and lift his flag to open the 12th season of the musical drama, "Texas," at 8:30 p. m. on Wednesday, June 15, 1977.

Members of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, Inc., the producers of "Texas," will gather in special sections to greet the 12th version of the Paul Green script.

This year, their special guests will be the representatives of the oil and gas industry in the Texas Panhandle. As is the custom, the program for the opening will carry the story of a part of the growth of the area, the story of the unexpected and spectacular development, oil.

It begins with C. N. Gould, a geologist for the U. S. Geological Survey — who came here looking for windmill sites and who happened to notice significant geological structures.

M. C. Nobles hired Mr. Gould to point out these areas, and formed the Amarillo Oil Company with R. B. Masterson, C. T. Herring, Lee Bivins and others to drill on the Masterson Ranch. On December 13, 1918, a gas well came in. Unfortunately, at that time, few users for gas were known.

The following year, Eugene Blasdel, W. H. Fuqua, and P. H. Landergin leased a portion of the 6666 Ranch. The Gulf Production Company drilled here and brought in the first oil well on April 5, 1920. A son was born to Mr. Blasdel that day and he bears the name, James Gulf Blasdel.

Tex McIlroy brought in several wells for the Dixon Creek Oil Company, and the rip-roaring boom town of Borger was founded in 1926 to serve the oil development.

Tex Thornton, the famed trouble shooter for the industry, worked here.

Members of the families of these oil pioneers will be special guests at this opening night of "Texas."

The developers of the oil industry will be included. Representatives of the Diamond Shamrock Oil and Gas, the Yucca Petroleum Company, Mesa Petroleum, the drillers, the suppliers, the leaders, the furnishers of tools, and the independent operators will all be represented. Presidents of the Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Association have been invited to represent the oilmen now in the field.

From 7:30 to 8:00 p. m. there will be a reception near the bust statue of

Austwell wins state improvement contest

COLLEGE STATION — The Austwell Community of Oldham County, in District 1 of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, has been named the state's top rural community in competition in the Texas Community Improvement Program.

Wildorado Community in Oldham County (District 1), while Little River Academy in Bell County (District 8) placed third and the Sulphur Bluff Community in Hopkins County (District 5) finished fourth.

The state judging panel included Extension specialists Miss Glenda N. Moore, Charles K. Baker and Geronimo Chavez.

According to the judges, the four communities in the state finals offered close competition. "We were impressed with the total program that each has in operation. Each community showed total involvement of residents of the area — young and old as well. The cooperative spirit of the people working together is the key to success in the community improvement venture," said Mallett.

Cash awards are provided to the top communities at the district, regional and state levels, and state finalists also receive handsome silver trays. The community improvement program is designed to aid communities with a population of 1,000 people or less by assisting them in organizing leadership and utilizing community resources more effectively and efficiently, said Mallett.

The Texas Community Improvement Program is sponsored by the inter-owned electric utility companies of the state and is administered by the Texas Agricultural Extension

City Council-

On the car for the city manager, the council decided to take up to $5,000 from old revenue sharing funds to make the purchase. They asked Maddox to draw up specifications for the car for bidding.

Another project the city is moving on is the paving and curbing and guttering of 15th street from Broadway west to Avenue S.

Maddox was asked to get a paving price from the contractor in town doing the widening of Broadway. Curb and gutter costs is expected to be assessed against property owners involved, but the city and county may share the paving costs. The county has expressed its intent to help with some paving but has yet to be approached on the 15th street paving with actual cost figures.

Dee Justice, who has involved himself in the city-county ambulance service made a 30-minute report on the ambulance operation to the council at the start of the meeting.

He pointed out the city and county should be considering a new ambulance to replace the one which already has logged over 50,000 miles in seven years at high speeds. He urged the council to consider a big EMS unit, similar to those used in Lubbock, which he termed "an operating room on wheels" and much better though more expensive than the present ambulances.

He complained of the rough ride and the lack of room in the white ambulance for attendants working over a patient in an emergency. He pointed out the four-wheel drive vehicle didn't need all its power but a very small fraction of the time and this made the ambulance slower and rougher on good roads.

SHORT IDEAS MAKE WARDROBE 'LONG' ON LOOKS, WEARLIFE

Ten short ideas can let each family member have a wardrobe "long" on looks and wearlife — yet within the family budget.

The following is a buying, use and care plan for clothing as follows:

Plan your family's wardrobe needs and develop a spending plan to coordinate new purchases with items you already have.

Avoid impulse buying fashion "fads". Don't over-buy, especially items that will be outgrown quickly, even when you find a "bargain."

Match quality with use and expected wearlife. Select better quality for items that get the most wear for the longest time. Better fabric and workmanship (such as reinforced pockets and secure seams) increase durability and wearlife.

Lower quality is suitable for items outgrown quickly (unless they can be "handed down") — and seldom-worn items.

Sew your own clothes for a significant savings. Use sewing skills to reinforce and repair clothing items for more wearability.

Extend wear life with wise care practices. Repair rips and tears before laundering, follow proper laundry procedures and prevent ambulances.

All games start at 5 p. m. and are played at T. W. Park behind the high school gym.

wash soon after wearing to avoid staining and fiber breakdown due to prolonged contact with harmful stains, bacteria and oils on the fabric surface.

Fold or hang clothes tip after wearing, and store clothes clean, neatly and properly (such as moth-proofing woollens.)

Before buying garments or fabric, check labels for color fastness shrinkage control and recommended care procedures.

To save on clothing care costs, wash garments in water, check labels for color fastness shrinkage control and recommended care procedures.

If drycleaning is necessary, use coin-op drycleaning methods when possible.

Remember that proper fit in clothes and shoes prolongs wear. Tight fitting clothes soon lose shape, pull out at seams and tear more easily. To assure proper fit, try on garment before purchasing.

Keeping in good physical condition also helps clothes stay in better condition, and maintaining a constant weight eliminates the need and for new clothes to accommodate weight gain.

Consider discount and used clothing stores as perhaps an excellent source of clothing at a fraction of the cost. "Swap systems," particularly in children's and maternity wear, can be a tremendous savings.

Arthur was gone before we knew all this about him. According to his book he intends to keep right on traveling to new places and seeing things until he dies. Then he names the undertaker where his body is to be shipped for burial.

Arthur didn't look any 83. He stepped out lively like. He was in the office Monday morning, when we saw him last, and he said he was on his way to the Postex Plant to see if they would give him a tour.

We wonder now if he just walked out there.

Camp Post opens Sunday

Camp Post opened its summer Boy Scout camping season Sunday and was "swamped" with 200 scouts when no more than 125 had been expected. Camp Director Chuck Hornung of Plainview told Post Rotarians at their Tuesday luncheon in the Post Community Center.

The camp began its 51st year of operation with a staff of 30 under Hornung.

New camp improvements include new latrines, new water facilities, and a new outpost program for older scouts. Hornung told Rotarians. He explained the outpost program included a three-day outpost camp at White River Lake.

"We also have an ecology program at Camp Post," he reported.

Hornung emphasized that Scouting is not a recreational program but an educational program for boys which teach youngsters duty to God and country, obligations to others, and responsibilities to self and family.

New law for annual sales

AUSTIN — Comptroller Bob Bullock Wednesday reminded religious and other non-profit, tax-exempt organizations they now may hold one sale or auction a year in which they don't have to collect sales taxes.

The special one-a-year, tax-free sales were authorized by the Texas Legislature and apply to tax-exempt religious, educational, charitable and eleemosynary organizations.

The legislation had the support of the Comptroller's Office.

Bullock said the new law, which becomes effective May 24, allows only one tax-free sale or auction during a calendar year and limits it to one day only.

If two or more organizations jointly hold a tax-free sale or auction, neither may hold another during the calendar year, he said.

The bill allows the sponsoring organization to pay the auctioneer a "reasonable fee."

Library has busy month

Post Public Library patrons despite all the usual May activities checked out 1,040 books last month. Librarian Pee Wee Pierce's library report shows.

This included 718 adult and 322 juvenile books. Three hundred of the 1,040 books were non-fiction, the rest fiction.

One hundred and twenty-two new books were added to library shelves during the month to bring acquisitions for 1977 to 286.

Fines, book sales and donations for the month totaled $24.05 bringing the total for the year to date to $151.57.

The film projector was checked out six times and five film strips were shown at the library.

certified for drought relief that the programs are available and farmers can receive five percent loans if they can prove a 20 percent or better loss due to drought last year.

He said low interest loans also can be obtained on farm watering systems if new wells need to be dug due to dwindling supplies.

While it's a bureaucratic goof of sizable proportions the programs are available.

The film projector was checked out six times and five film strips were shown at the library.

Lions to hold work night

The Post Lions Club held their bi-monthly breakfast meeting at the Community Center Wednesday morning. After a meal of pancakes and ham, a slide program was presented by Robert Elliott, pastor of the Post Church of Christ.

Elliott narrated the program about his family's stay in Italy, and made many interesting comments on political as well as religious aspects of the country.

David Nichols, concession chairman for the Lions at the baseball park this season, announced that a work night would be held Friday evening. He encouraged attending Lions to be
