Motorcycle rodeo is huge success here

The first Graham 4-H Motorcycle Rodeo held Saturday evening at the Post Stampede Rodeo Arena was termed a huge success by the club.

The thrill-packed event included seven events in four motorcycle size divisions. These were the barrel race, boot race, wheelie contest, balloon bust, pole bending and keyhole. They were all performed on motorcycles.

The only injury of the night occurred when 9-yearold Sean Waters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Waters, ran in front of one of the motorcycles as it was exiting from the arena in the wheelie contest.

Sean was taken to Garza Memorial Hospital and then transferred to Lubbock Methodist Hospital where he underwent several tests. He was treated for a severe concussion and returned to his home Monday. The driver of the motorcycle was uninjured although he wrecked trying to avoid the

Two enduro riders are found dead, heat wave is blamed

Autopsies awaited

A searing heat wave Sunday afternoon brought tragedy to the third annual Post National Enduro when two experienced motorcycle riders were found dead off the trail, apparently from heat stroke.

The body of Ronald Allen Paulson, 31-year-old operator of a motorcycle shop at Lakewood, Colo., was found about 2:40 p.m. Sunday, and that of Michael Daniel Payte, a 33-year-old physical instructor from Odessa not until about 6:30 a.m. Monday when he was spotted from Bob Macy's searching helicopter.

Both men were off the enduro trail through the rugged canyon country on the U Lazy S ranch. Apparent both had stopped to rest. There was no evidence either had had an accident; nor was there any evidence of foul play, investigating officers said.

Justice of the Peace Racy Robinson ordered autopsies on both men and said he would withhold his death findings until he had received the autopsy reports which may take a week or two to complete.

Robinson said he had received a preliminary report on Paulson indicating heat exhaustion as the probable cause.

A search for Payte was conducted by many searchers until well after 11 p.m. Sunday after he failed to report in at the final check point along the rugged 130.4 mile enduro trail. The search was resumed at 6 a. m. at morning's first light. His body was spotted from the helicopter 30 minutes later. He was stretched out within sight of FM 669 and the enduro's base camp but well off the trail.

Paulson was found farther into the rugged ranchland and County Judge Giles Dalby was flown to the site by helicopter when officers could not immediately locate Justice of the Peace Robinson.

Judge Dalby also accompanied Robinson Monday morning after Payte's body was found Temperature in the ranch area was reported above the 90 degree mark with it probably climbing to well over 100 in the bottoms of some of the small canyons and gullies through which the enduro course runs.

Many contestants became ill or fatigued by the heat in their heavy riding clothing and dropped out of the enduro along the route.

Payte appeared ill at the next to last check point at the 124.5 mile mark, was given water, and urged to quit the race.

Paulson's body was found by one of the members of the sponsoring Lubbock Trail Riders Motorcycle Club who was patroling to

Bud Stevens' rites Friday

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Friday, April 21, in Hudman Funeral Home Chapel, for Philip Emory (Bud) Stevens, 82, of Rt. 3, Post, who died at his home early Wednesday morning, April 19. Rev. Conrad Ryan will officiate the services.

Mr. Stevens has been a farmer in Garza County since 1919. He was born in Coryell County in January 14, 1896. He married Lillian Eckols December 3, 1924 in Lubbock. He has been a life-time member of the Methodist Church and was a World War I veteran.

Survivors include the wife. Lillian of the home, one son, Emory, and one daughter, Betty Bilbo, both of Post; five grandchildren, three great-grandchildren, Judge Dalby located to conduct the inquest and flown in, the enduro had been concluded.

Paulson's body was found about 75 feet south of the

On Sunday's tragedy

The Sunday tragedy in which two motorcycle riders died off the rugged ranch country enduro trail here should not cloud the efficient way in which the Lubbock Trail Riders, sponsors of the event, conduct it.

Both men apparently died of natural causes with the excessive heat now blamed before autopsy reports are in.

The Dispatch has watched the fine way in which the enduro sport has developed here. While a spill from a motorcycle often produces broken bones, the enduro itself is not any more dangerous than the apparently did Sunday. All-American sport of football. Football actually is much more deadly.

The enduro is not a race. It is a test of driving skill, of man's ability to ride his machine under all conditions. The enduro rider naturally is a rugged individualist and if you've watched five or six hundred of them gather the night before an all-day enduro you will understand what we mean.

They take pride in their riding ability and they like to test their skill against the course and the others in their class.

and fall each year to avoid hot weather because of the heavy clothing most riders wear to protect their bodies in case of a spill. Trained first aid personnel are always on hand. In fact, the sponsoring club has its own ambulance to rush any injured into town for treatment. The course is patrolled and personnel are on duty at eight check points along the course.

But primarily the enduro is a challenge of motorcyclist against the rugged course. It's a test these riders don't want to quit until forced out. Heat exhaustion can surprise even the best conditioned athletes, as it

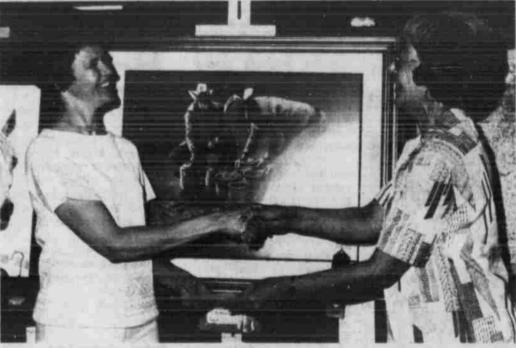

Needless to say the Lubbock club is stunned by the two deaths. Until the autopsy reports come back, no one can be sure of the actual death causes, but they were due to natural causes and not due to any accident. Authorities have already established that beyond almost any doubt.

The point The Dispatch wishes to emphasize here is that an enduro is not a killing sport, but simply a good test of man's mastery of his machine.

It is a much better sport conducted as it The two Post enduros are held in spring is than the very real dangers of motorcycle racing either on highway or anywhere else.

Pari-mutual betting up again

Sparking a bit more interest in the May Democratic primary will be a "popular opinion poll" on the introduction of pari-mutual betting into Texas racing.

Printing of the primary ballots all over the state was knotted for weeks as opponents of the proposition carried a legal effort to keep the pari-mutual betting poll off the ballots to the Court of Civil Appeals.

The court refused to grant an injunction githough pari-mutual opponents contended 40 percent of the signatures on petitions asking for the vote was invalid.

Look for more aroused oratory on this issue than in any of the major state races on the ballot, including that for the Democratic nomination for governor between Dolph Briscoe and Attorney-General John Hill.

to tracks in other states to race them because racing cannot be supported with pari-mutual betting

The arguments for and against parimutual betting haven't changed.

So the pari-mutual argument returns again and again to the voters. While the poll on the Democratic ballot would not be binding, a great show of public support for such race track betting would give supporters their best opportunity ever to campaign in its behalf at the next legislative session.

Foes of pari-mutual betting have managed to defeat the proposition time after time at the polls. They probably have a big edge this time, but look for a scrap. Most of the fight arguments will come from pari-mutual opponents. We figure the advocates will try to keep quiet and not raise any more of a fuss than is necessary.

The Soil Conservation Service is responsible for administering the Great Plains Conservation Pro-

There are many practices eligible for participation in the program, such as establishment of permanent vegetation, terraces, diversion terraces, irrigation pipeline, wells, ponds, brush control, fencing, critical area treatment, and water storage facilities.

The program is fully voluntary on the part of the individual producer. A plan of operation is prepared by the farmer or rancher with assistance from the SCS. This plan of operation, including a time schedule of application become the basis for a GPCP contract.

The Soil Conservation Service provides technical assistance to producers in planning and installing needed conservation measures. SCS also shares in the cost of installing certain measures ducers have taken advantage of GPCP with about 67 percent of the total acres in Garza County having been under the program.

Anyone interested in the Great Plains Conservation Program can contact the local Soil Conservation Field Office in Post, phone number 495-2056.

RELAXATION ODDITIES HELPFUL TIPS By Joy Miller

The popularity of bridge spans to the 1880's. The was then known as "Biritch" or "Russian Whist." Auction bridge (highest bidder names trump) was introduced in 1904, but was swamped when contract bridge was devised by Harold S. Vanderbilt on a Caribbean voyage in 1925.

While we all hope for that perfect hand (all 13 cards in one suit) the mathematical against this are 158,753,389,899 to 1. It's a good bet that during and after a bridge game many players enjoy Seagram's V.O. Canadian Whisky on the rocks.

If you win the bid and are playing the hand, a good general rule to follow is to start playing your trump early. This is known as "dumping your trump" and will force your opponents to discard their trumps, too, leaving you in a better position during the game.

Pat Nelson is honored

Miss Pat Nelson, brideelect of David Bradbury was honored with a miscellaneous bridal shower Saturday evening in the Woman's Club House.

Guests registering for the occasion were introduced to the special guests, Mrs. Dayle Nelson, mother of the honoree, Mrs. B.D. Wilson, her grandmother and Mrs. Eugene Bradbury, mother of the prospective bridegroom. Each was presented with a white carnation corsage.

Colors of the rainbow, the bride-elect's chosen colors, were carried out in the decorations. Tables displaying gifts were laid with different colored cloths and refreshments of banana punch and rainbow thumbprint cookies were served from a table laid with a white cloth and centered with a spring bouquet arrangement. Crystal appointments were used.

Hostesses for the shower were Mmes. A.J. McAlister, Ira Farmer, David Hart, Morris Tyler, Janette Bell, H.H.Britton, Don Michel, Wayne Eckols, Bobby Greene, Irvin Cross, Everett Windham, C.V. Smith Jr., Oscar Gray, Bobby Terry, Barney Martin, A.E. Redman, Keith Kemp, Bud Howell, Bill McBride, Rex Allison, R.H. Sappington, Gene Moore, Georgie Willson, Mable Dunlap, Dennis Bassenger, Wesley Higgins and Miss Denece Higgins.

A food processor was presented to the honoree by the hostesses.

THEN: More than a century ago, fish and chips were caten in England. The first commercially produced fish and chips were prepared by Joseph Malin in 1865 in his East London shop, "Malin's of Bow." Fillets of whitefish were battered, deep fried, served with chips (oversized french fries) and sprinkled with malt vinegar. They soon were considered as important an English ritual as an afternoon cup of tea.

Corn Muffins Star

What makes a Super Star? That extra special "plus." And in the case of these marvelous muffins, it's a bonus of tender corn kernels, added to your favorite corn muffin mix.

Serve these plump and nourishing treats hot with butter. They're bursting with sweet-corn flavor! You can even reheat them in your toaster oven during the week, and they'll taste just as good as ever.

Book them for appearar with almost any menu - warmed for breakfast, split and by ed in a brown bay lunch and to give some added pizzaz to chili, stew or casserole menu.

Make plans to repeat this easy-mix recipe with some of the flavor variations suggested such as crisp bacon bits, shredded cheese, chili powder or rosemary. These "stars of the menu" will earn applause for the cook!

Country-Corn Muffins

- can (8-3/4 oz.) Libby's 1 teaspoon instant minced Whole Kernel Corn
- Milk egg, slightly beaten teaspoons prepared

1 package (12 oz.) corn muffin mix mustard Preheat oven to 400°F. Drain liquid from corn into a measuring cup; add enough milk to liquid to make amount called for on corn muffin mix. Combine with corn, egg, mustard and onion. Add to muffin mix in a medium bowl; stir just until moistened. Spoon batter into greased muffin cups, filling half-full. Bake at 400°F, for 15 to 18 minutes or until tops are golden. Serve warm. Yields 12 to 14 muffins. NOTE: To reheat muffins, wrap in foil; place in 350°F oven for 8 to 10 minutes or until hot. VARIATIONS: Stir any of the following into the above recipe before spooning into muffin cups: 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese; 3 tablespoons crisp bacon bits or 1 teaspoon of either chili powder or crumbled rosemary.

physical shape.
Sheriff Jim Pippin said a investigation investigation showed both men apparently died of natural causes. He called the Texas Rangers into the investigation Monday morning to provide the state with detailed information on the tragedy.

A motorcycle enduro is not a race as such, but a timed event with points scored according to how much faster or slower an entrant drives his cycle between check points from the official speed for each course segment.

Although the 1978 event had fewer riders injured in spills than before, one spill caused a shoulder separation to Dick (King Richard) Burleson, national enduro champion for the last four years and winner of the two previous Post national en-

Mike Hannon of Los Angeles, a factory rider for Honda, became the new enduro champion. The most severe injury of the weekend occurred Friday afternoon when members of the sponsoring Lubbock club were preparing the course for the race. Jerry Oats of Lubbock, a club member, took a spill off his cycle and fell in such a way that he was paralyzed from the chest down. He is in fair condition at

Lubbock's Methodist Hospital where his wife told The Dispatch Tuesday afternoon he could move his head and arms but not the rest of his body A total of 458 riders participated in the enduro, coming in from all parts of the country. The enduro is divided into numerous classes, depending on age, experience and size of rider's cycle motor.

In the 16 and under class, Rynn Norman of Garza County finished second, Kelly Mason fourth and Phil Tyler fifth.

In the 250C class, Joe Neal Clary was third. In the women's division Mrs. Pat Thompson finished third.

These contestants were timed over an 80 mile course instead of the full 130.4 mile trail.

Barry Tyler, another local entrant, became ill and dropped out after almost suffering a heat stroke.

For the last several years, two enduros have been held annually over the course, one in April and the other in October or November when heat was not expected to be a factor.

The man who grows it, knows it. Coker cotton yields big — dryland or irrigated.

Many a Texas cotton grower now wishes he'd planted his whole crop to Coker cottons last year. Coker 312 and Coker 5110 performed and yielded extremely well under both dryland and irrigated conditions. With grades, staple and "mike" well above average, the loan price on these cottons has been from 3 to 5¢ per pound above the average loan price. Join the big swing to Coker cottons this year!

My Coker 312 averaged 1100 lbs./acre on 390 acres. It's always been my highest yielder. It matures all at the same time, so when it's ready to strip, it's all ready.

ED BOYLES, AVI FARMS, Seminole, Tex.: "Coker 312 has always beat other cottons by 200 to 300 lbs. per acre. We averaged 1200 lbs. on 430 acres. I figure it cost me about 100 bales of cotton by not having all my crop in Coker 312 BRENT DAVIS, Lubbock, Tex.: "I planted Coker 5110. & Coker 312 and averaged 980 lbs. acre on 80 acres. For this type soil, no other variety compares with Coker's production and staple.

Accent On

One of the major improvements in environmental health and protection in the past few years has been the development of a comprehensive solid waste program.

Solid waste is something that won't go away by itself. It keeps piling up daily, and it must be disposed of properly each day. The proper way is through use of a sanitary landfill. Refuse is compacted daily to reduce its volume and then covered with a layer of dirt to eliminate odors and the propagation and harborage of rats and

The history of the Department's emphasis on sanitary landfills goes back to 1965 when Congress passed the Solid Waste Disposal Act. Prior to this time, solid waste was considered primarily as a nuisance, with open dumps and burning as the solution to the problem.

The Texas Solid Waste Disposal Act, passed in 1969, spoke to the collection, handling, storage, processing and disposal of solid waste. Its purpose was to protect the health, welfare and physical property of the people of Texas, but it was inadequately funded. Later legislation added to the Department's authority. With requirements for a permit for each solid waste facility and a public hearing for each application, the program moved into high gear. Permit applicants were required to submit detailed data which included an analysis of the site geology, site design and an operational plan. Through the evaluation and permitting process, windblown waste. In April of last year the Department issued its current regulations. These were drawn up with the cooperative efforts of a committee from the Texas Municipal League and Texas Public Works Association which met with our staff over a period of nine months. Previous regulations were blended with our interpretations and experience to produce a comprehensive set of Actually, vast improvements were made in the Department's program in the fiscal year starting September 1, 1975. Additional resources were made available to fully implement our permit program and activate the surveillance and enforcement branch within the central office. Additionally, the regional staff has been able to perform field inspections in a very systematic manner. Today, when we receive an application, process it and issue a permit, we have a well-designed sanitary landfill system. Then, through surveillance and inspection, we see that requirements are met and that design criteria are followed.

Today, other than small, isolated sites in Texas, we are operating sanitary landfills. Despite the progress, we still have some small city and county landfills which are not operating up to standards, but we are working with these. As with any new program, we still see resistance in the location of some sites.

It is common practice today that the future use of a landfill site must be addressed in the application. This is resulting in the acceptance of landfills in areas where they were previously opposed.

For example, in Victoria a landfill next to a church facility was violently opposed during public hearings until it was pointed out that the landfill would be temporary and was designed with the end use as a park. Since then, we have received no complaints of the property's use as a sanitary landfill.

In the city limits of Nacogdoches, a landfill in view of some excellent residences was designed to eventually become a beautiful 323-acre park. We feel certain it will be operated properly.

Morris Turner seeks state senate post best be described as ex-perienced. "Moe," as he is known to most people, has been tested in leadership qualities through both elected public office and private Turner intends to put this experience to work in the Texas Senate. He is a Democratic candidate who hopes to represent the 13 counties of the 28th senatorial district.

Two years' service in the office of Lubbock mayor have given Turner much of this experience. Turner was elected mayor in 1972 following four years on the city council. These six years of service in elected public office have given Turner valuable insight into the workings of city, state and national government.

The period of 1972-1974 saw many changes in the city of Lubbock. During this time Morris Turner was involved in, and initiated many changes through his office as mayor. Lubbock was still suffering effects of the 1970 tornado. The city needed leadership in reconstruction efforts when Turner took office.

While serving on the city council, both as councilman and mayor, Turner was actively involved in projects that South Plains residents are enjoying today.

Planning groundwork for the Lubbock Regional Airport was done while Turner was city councilman. The airport has been widely acclaimed as one of the most beautiful and technically advanced in the Southwest.

Another important project Turner was involved with as mayor was the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center. The facility serves not only convention needs but also as a center for cultural events on the South Plains. Cities around the country have envied the facilities.

During the four years Turner served on the city council he was also elected president of the South Plains Association of Governments.

Turner's experience extends beyond the confines of city government. He entered the Lubbock business world after serving three years in the Air Force. Turner is a general contractor and at present heads M.W. Turner Construction Co.

As Turner has said many times, "What we need in government is more businessmen."

In the present campaign he has made education one of his major targets. Turner has said that every citizen in Texas should have the opportunity to receive a good education.

"Better pay for educators and better conditions for learning will create a better educational system," Turner has said.

His commitment to the home has also influenced Turner's present campaign in the area of crime control.

"Tough, aggressive measures are needed now to stem crime and make home and family safe from protected criminals," Turner has asserted.

Turner is emphasizing three priorities in his campaign for state senate. He has said he will work for a "sensible, reasonable, and

My many thanks for all those who voted for me.

I will try to the best of my ability to serve in this position with an open mind. I am interested in all views and would appreciate your Dependable even in dry country!

Certified

You can't control the weather. So, you need a hedge against drouth, ... and that's where the Lankart variety LX571 fits in. It consistently produces top yields of high quality cotton . . . even under tough, dry conditions. And you don't have to give up anything to get this outstanding drouth tolerance, either.

LX571 produces fairly long, strong fiber . . . with micronaire normally in the premium range. And storm resistant bolls strip well in one pass through the field. Add up all the good things about LX571 . . . then it's easy to see why this is one of the most planted cotton varieties in the Rolling Plains, Central Texas and Southwestern Oklahoma.

*LX571 is a U.S. protected variety (Plant Variety Protection Certificate No. 7200018). Unauthorized propagation and unauthorized seed multiplication prohibited by law LX571 cotton planting seed can be variety name only as a class of certified seed. It is unlawful to sell non-certified seed of this variety.

Long-time favorite.

Cotton growers in Texas, Oklahoma and Eastern New Mexico have relied on certified Lankart 57 for consistently high yields for years. This variety has vigorous plants with short main stems and short fruiting branches. Leaves are large and dense. And this medium-early maturity cotton has storm-proof bolls. Lankart 57 is a good stripper cotton, too-

Certified well-adapted to Texas and Oklahoma dryland production.

Certified LANKART High yielding, early variety.

This cotton variety was developed for the early maturity needs of dryland farming especially in the Blackland and Rolling Plains of Texas and Southwestern Oklahoma. Vigorous plants with short main stems and close fruiting branches produce large bolls of high quality lint. A good stripper cotton for the Southern High Plains on wilt-free soil.

Certified LANKART® and LOCKETT® brand cotton planting seed is available from your ginner or Pioneer® brand seed dealer.

Free enterprise is defended

Fike Godfrey of Abilene, one of the eight candidates seeking the 17th congressonal ditret seat, made a stern defense of the free enterprise system Tuesday in a non-political speech before Post Rotarians at their weekly luncheon in the community center.

"It's been successful for us for 200 years," Godfrey said, "and has given Americans an unexcelled standard of living. He termed "the heart and soul" of the free enterprise system the freedom of the individual. "Today," he declared,

"the free enterprise system has its back to the wall."

To keep it is our challenge, he declared, emphasizing that "we must express our abiding faith in freedom of enterprise and see that the committment of our government is to work for this and not against it."
