Cotton Certificates Being Received

Some four or five hundred certificates of acceptance on the cotton plow-up campaign have been received and are being mailed out to the farmers.

These are the original certificates and are to be held by the farmers and the duplicate will be sent to Washington by the committee and when checked, with the record, their checks will be mailed out to the holders of these original certificates.

Mr. Jenkins says some have misunderstood and have returned these certificates to him.

The checks should be received in about two weeks from the time the certificates of acceptance are received in Washington.

There were 891 certificates signed up by Callahan County Farmers and all should be in within a few days.

Mr. Jenkins informs us this morning that 590 certificated have been signed and returned to Washington which represents around $100,000,000 which will be received by the farmers of Callahan county about Sept 1st.

This leaves 300 certificates to be sent yet, and they are being mailed out just as fast as received at Mr. Jenkins office.

WITH BAIRD BAPTIST

The meeting at Belle Plaine closed last night (Wednesday) with two additions. We had a fine time, the singing school was good and the attendance all the way along was splendid but not a conversion. We hated to quit and leave them unsaved, but our job is to preach the gospel to them, that we did and will leave the results with God.

The church called Bro. Royce Gilliland for pastor and he accepted. Messengers were elected to the Association. We are hoping for good results to come from the work there.

I am going to Murray in Young county. My old home church where I was born, reared, saved baptized, licensed to preach and married, to hold a meeting. We begin Sunday the 20th. I will be there over two Sundays therefore will not be in my pulpit for two Sundays. I am urging every one to be in Sunday School and all of the services and help make it go. Pray for me.

JOE R. MAYES.

Baird Receives First Bale Of Season's Cotton Crop Tues.

Ernest Higgins, of Admiral, brought in the first bale of cotton for the 1933 crop Tuesday.

The Baird Gin was not quite ready to gin the cotton, and it was stored in the seed house until yesterday morning when it was ginned.

G. W. Smith, also of Admiral, brought in the second bale of new cotton which was ginned at the local gin and was sold to B. L. Boydston at 8 1-2 cents per pound. Mr. Higgins will get the premium made up for the first bale.

Mr. Boydston also bought the first bale of the season's cotton sold at Putnam, Clyde and Cross Plains.

Mr. Jenkins Retained As County Agent

Mr. Ross B. Jenkins, who has been in charge of the cotton plow-up campaign here, has been retained as county agent for the remainder of this year.

A petition bearing some four hundred names was presented to the Commissioners Court asking that Mr. Jenkins be retained as the farmers are anxious to have an organization in order to be able to cope with problems that now confront the farmers.

Co-operative marketing is one of the most important questions before the farmers at this time and our farmers want to cooperate with the government in marketing wheat as under this plan producers will be paid 30 cents per bushel more for wheat, than those where there is no county organization.

Mr. Jenkins has made a most favorable impression among the farmers and farm owners since taking charge of the cotton plow-up program. He is said by them to be well informed in all things pertaining to farming, in fact "knows his business". He is young, ambitious and taking a keen interest in his work and we are glad that the court has retained him as county agent, for we believe that the help he is prepared to give our farmers and stockmen will be of a value far exceeding what the county pays on his salary and we truly hope that the beginning of the new year will see conditions improved to the extent that he will be made county agent.

N A R Program Moving Rapidly

It is estimated that already the NRA program has taken 2,000,000 people off the unemployment lists and put them in jobs. This means, conservatively figured, that a billion dollars a year is already added to the purchasing power of the American people, and the movement is only beginning. This circumstance alone ought to be sufficient assurance to those timid people who have been doubting the success of the great experiment.

Ultimately, of course, all the business of the United States will be conducted under the codes, which have for their chief purpose correction of the unemployment situation. Elements in this accomplishment are the elimination of child labor, the shortening of hours of work, and a higher wage scale. It needs no statistician to demonstrate that every decrease of unemployment brings us closer to the end of economic depression, for every man who is earning a living indirectly contributes by what he buys to the employment of others, and so the wheels of commerce will turn faster and faster until the great depression becomes merely a memory. The rapidity with which we reach this desired goal depends on the promptness with which industry generally comes into the fold. Already most of the larger industries are in. But the smaller manufacturer or merchant, taken in the mass, is even more important than the big corporations. Incidentally the consumer must play his part. Every purchase made now is an investment the dividends of which will come out of future prosperity. Moreover, the encouragement the consumer can give to the businesses that comply with the requirements of the NRA will not only encourage him but will be a warning to those who are holding back that if they expect to share in the general revival they had better get aboard at once.

Students And Beer

Citizens who are neither fanatical drys nor fanatical wets, but who desire to promote real temperance by whatever means seems best, are watching with interest the results of the legalizing of beer by the recent session of Congress.

Some expressions by college and university authorities on the subject in the light of their observations since the new law became effective on April 7, seem pertinent at this time.

President Hopkins of Dartmouth College, where beer is permitted to be sold on the campus, declares that 'there would seem to be a tendency for beer to displace hard liquor in undergraduate consumption.'

Similar views are expressed by Dean Hawkes and Professor Pitkin of Columbia University, Dean Works of the University of Chicago, President Britt of Knox College, and Dr. Fairchild of New York University to name only a few who have given special attention to the reaction of students to the new dispensation.

Needless to say, all the educators named desire to see drinking of intoxicants in their institutions reduced to the minimum. Every good citizen desires to promote temperance. If harmless light beer can be substituted for vile bootleg liquor, a decided gain in the desired direction will have been made.

No Property Tax For Relief Bonds

No ad valorem or property tax of any kind shall ever be levied against any farm, home or other real or personal property for the funding of interest or principal of such bonds as may be issued under the proposed relief bond amendment.

Following is reproduced an exact copy of the principal section of the Senate Resolution submitting the proposed constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to issue relief bonds. The most significant clause ses are printed in capitals for the information of our readers:

"Section 51a. The Legislature shall have power to authorize by law the issuance and sale of the bonds of the State of Texas, NOT TO EXCEED the sum of Twenty Million ($20,000,000) Dollars, bearing interest at the rate not to exceed Four and a half (4½) per centum per annum; and payable serially or otherwise not more than Ten (10) years from their date, and said bonds SHALL BE SOLD FOR NOT LESS THAN PAR and accrued interest, and NO FORM OF COMMISSION SHALL BE ALLOWED in any transaction involving said bonds. The proceeds of the sale of such bonds to be used in furnishing relief and work relief to needy and distressed people and in relieving the hardships resulting from unemployment, but to be FAIRLY DISTRIBUTED OVER THE STATE and upon such terms and conditions as may be provided by law, and the Legislature shall make appropriations as are necessary to pay the interest and principal of such bonds as the same becomes due. The power hereby granted to the Legislature to issue bonds hereunder is expressly LIMITED TO THE AMOUNT STATED AND TO TWO YEARS FROM AND AFTER THE ADOPTION of this grant of power by the people. Provided that the Legislature shall provide for the payment of the interest and redemption of any bonds issued under the terms hereof FROM SOME SOURCE OTHER THAN A TAX ON REAL PROPERTY, and the indebtedness as evidenced by such bonds SHALL NEVER BECOME A CHARGE AGAINST OR LIEN UPON ANY PROPERTY, real or personal, within this state."

The following resolution was unanimously adopted at the Statewide mass meeting held last Friday in Austin at the call of the Governor: WHEREAS, the Federal Government has in the recent several months carried the burden of caring for the hungry and destitute of Texas and is at the present time caring for in excess of one million two hundred seventy thousand citizens of this State; and

WHEREAS, the Federal Government cannot, will not, and should not be expected to continue to carry this burden if the people of the Empire State of Texas are not willing to carry their just share of this burden and will cease to provide the needed funds immediately in the event the people of Texas do not vote favorably for the proposed constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of emergency and relief work bonds on August 26th; and

WHEREAS, if the people of the Empire State of Texas do not on August 26th pass this amendment the entire burden of caring for the hungry and the destitute of Texas will fall upon the already overburdened communities of this State with no possible means or plan of caring for them; and

WHEREAS, no people will survive or ought to survive who do not care for the hungry and provide for the destitute; and

WHEREAS, the emergency work as provided for in this proposed bond amendment is an integral part of the program of the President of the United States for the rehabilitation of this country;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that this meeting, composed of representative citizens and taxpayers from all sections of Texas, go on record as unanimously endorsing the proposed relief amendment and call upon all good citizens who have faith in this State and a Christian regard for their duty to care for the needy and destitute, to rally to the support of the constitutional amendment on August 26th to the end that Texas shall not be found wanting. REMEMBER the Mass Meeting to be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at which time the necessity of voting the Relief Bonds will be put before the people.

The aim of NRA is to put 6,000,000 men and women back to work before snow flies.

Vice-President Garner Favors Repeal of 18th Amendment

Special To The Star
Austin, Texas, Aug. 16, 1933.

Because it violates a fundamental principle of government and has not produced a satisfactory or effective solution of the temperance problem, Vice President John N. Garner calls upon the people of Texas to vote for the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment.

The Vice President's plea was contained in a letter addressed to Roy Miller, Texas Director of the Democratic National Campaign, and released from Committee Headquarters here today. The letter in full follows: In response to your inquiry as to my position concerning the Eighteenth Amendment, I beg to remind you that I voted against its submission when it was first presented to Congress because I believed it violated a fundamental principle of government. Since then I have availed myself of every opportunity to assist in bringing about its repeal.

In obedience to the platform of the last Democratic National Convention and on the first day of the session of Congress following, as Speaker, I submitted the question of repeal to a vote of the House of Representatives. I considered it my duty to do so because the American people, by overwhelming vote, had ratified the party platform which demanded repeal.

That the Eighteenth Amendment has not accomplished the results expected of it, even by its advocates, all will agree. That it has not produced a satisfactory or effective solution of the temperance problem is the judgment of a vast majority of the people of this Republic.

I shall exercise my duty as a citizen on the 26th of August by voting to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment and trust that every citizen of Texas likewise go to the polls and perform a similar duty. I especially urge my fellow Democrats to thus support the party and its leadership.

Very cordially yours,
(Signed) JOHN N. GARNER.

Home Owner's Loan Corporation Now Receiving Applications For Loans

Callahan County's set up for the Home Owners' Loan Corporation has been completed with the confirmation of B. F. Russell as Attorney and J. Rupert Jackson as Appraiser for the corporation in this county.

This is one of President Roosevelt's "New Deal" organizations created by a recent act of Congress for the purpose of re-financing home owners who are in danger of losing their homes by foreclosure. Mortgages on homes will be taken up by the corporation by an exchange of its bonds to the mortgage holder up to 80 per cent of the appraised value of the home. These bonds will be for a term of 15 years and will bear four per cent interest which will be guaranteed by the Federal Government. The principal will be secured by the assets of the corporation which will consist entirely of first mortgages on homesteads bearing five per cent interest.

In certain instances cash will be advanced by the corporation to take up indebtedness, provided the amount is not in excess of 40 per cent of the appraised value of the property.

In both cases the borrower may secure enough cash to pay the expense of appraisal title examination, recording fees abstract, and unpaid taxes, provided that the total amounts are not in excess of the 40 and 80 per cent.

In all cases there must be an emergency and the home owners unable to get an extension of his debt or to secure funds from any other source. Also the consent of the mortgage holder must be had where payment is made in bonds.

The act as passed by Congress includes all homes not in excess of $20,000.00 in value, whether in cities and towns or in the country, but the policies, rules and regulations of the corporation located in Washington. James Shaw, former Banking Commissioner of Texas, has been placed in charge of all loans to be made in Texas. The state has been divided into three Districts each of which will be administered through an assistant named by Mr. Shaw. Each County in the State will have a local Attorney and Appraiser. According to information received by the local Attorney, B. F. Russell, final instructions have not yet been received, but a few application blanks may be secured at his office in Baired where assistance will be gladly given in filling out the forms. No fees can be charged for filling out applications for loans, and a severe penalty is provided by the law for any violation of this provision.

What America needs is to wipe out unemployment. That will restore purchasing power a complete return to normal prosperity throughout the entire Nation. The NRA represents a definite, workable plan for accomplishing this. Help it to succeed; support the Blue Eagle.

TO SPEND LESS

Do as over two out of every five buyers of low-priced cars are doing: SAVE WITH A NEW CHEVROLET! You'll spend less to begin with—because the Chevrolet base price of $445 is so much lower than the price of any other Fisher Body car! You'll make fewer stops for gas and oil, because the Chevrolet six-cylinder engine can go well over two hundred miles on a tankful! You won't have to be worrying about seeing the service man all the time, or paying a lot of repair bills because—well, Chevrolet just isn't that kind of car. It's built right and stays that way. Finally—you can look forward to getting a good price when you trade your Chevrolet in—its resale value is notably high.

Can you say all these same things about any other low-priced car? Evidently America thinks not—from the way that America prefers to SAVE with a Chevrolet.

Pioneer Family Hold Reunion At Lake Cisco

The descendants of J. S. and Sarah M. Howard, pioneer settlers of Comanche county held their annual reunion at Lake Cisco Sunday with 78 in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard originally came from Alabama to Arkansas and later to Texas, probably as early as 1867. They first settled in Comanche county where they lived a number of years as honored and influential citizens to a ripe old age, Mr. Howard living to reach the age of 83 years and his wife 87. Their sons and daughters were reared among the early pioneer surroundings and their descendants meet annually at Lake Cisco where they enjoy talking over the stories of conquered hardships and bravery of these early pioneers.

Events of the day were swimming, luncheon, and a program given in the late afternoon consisting of talks, reading and songs. The following officers were elected: Allen H. Bibby of DeLeon, president and Mrs. J. R. Burnett of Cisco, secretary. Mrs. Jon L. Higdon of Abilene (Mrs. Kate Richardson of Cisco and Allan H. Bibby of De Leon) were selected as the program committee for next year.

Circling The Globe

No one has ever really circled the globe, because to literally do that would mean going around the world at its circumference, whether by following the equator or otherwise. But going around the world is generally understood to mean any passage around the earth between the two poles.

How the time requires for this feat has been reduced is strikingly illustrated by the fact that Magellens sip Victory, the first to circumnavigate the globe in the accepted sense took three years, lacking 12 days for its voyage 1519 to 1522.

Drake made it in 1,052 days some thing over a half century later. Cavan dish in 1856 sailed from Plymouth, England and returned in 781 days.

Then challenged by Jules Verne's book, 'Around the World in 80 days' Nellie Bly, a newspaper woman, went around the world by boat and train in 72 days in 1889. The next year George Francis Train did the stunt in 67 days. Oother records ranging around 40 days were made in the succeeding years before the advent of the airplane.

In 1827 Linton and Wells employing train, boat and airplane, completed the circuit in 28 days. In 1928 Mears and Collyr reduced the time to 24 days; the dirigible Graft Zepelin in 1929 cut the record to 21 days.

Then came the real record-breaker Wiley Post and Harold Gatty in 1931 made the trip by airplane in 8 days, 15 hours and 51 minutes. A few days ago the speediest world flight of all time was made by Wiley Post, one-eyed aviator, flying alone, in 7 days 18 hours and 49 minutes. And thais something for other globe trotters to shoot at.

Farm, Livestock And Poultry Hints

By Ross B. Jenkins, County Agent

The editor of The Baird Star has very graciously offered us space in the news for discussions of farm problems and farm management hints which we are proud to have in order to answer for all concerned some of the questions that need an answer. Any problem that any reader of this paper wishes discussed and that comes under the caption of general farm information will be carried in this column by the writer.

At this time when many are bothered with lice and blue bugs, we feel that a short discussion and treatment might be in line.

There are at least seven different kinds of lice that occur on domestic chickens. There are at least four different kinds occurring on turkeys. The two most important lice on chickens are head louse (Lipeurus heterographus) and the body louse (Menopon biseritatum). The head louse is the most injurious to young chicks. It occurs on head at the base of the down or feathers; it passes readily from one chick to another, and from the hen to chicks. It is always necessary to treat the hen before the hatch comes off. The body louse is most injurious to grown fowls but occasionally affects young chicks. It causes irritation of the skin and some times causes scabs and blood clots. It is found on the skin, the most favored spots being on the head, just below the vent, on the legs, and some may be found on the body of the fowl. The common body louse may cause considerable irritation to turkeys both young and old; the shaft louse of chickens may also be injurious but as a rule do not harm turkeys. The two species which are found on the turkeys' only, the large louse, Goniodes stylifer, and the slender turkey louse, Lipeurus polytrapezius, may be markedly injurious to poult and may cause severe suffering to the older birds.

Treatment. Experiments by the Bureau of Entomology has shown that lice can be very satisfactorily eliminated by treating each bird separately with sodium fluoride. If the treatment is given all birds at the same time there is not need to repeat the treatment, unless you become negligent and let lice again infest your premises. Commercial Sodium fluoride may be bought at the drug store from twenty five cents a pound up. It is recommended that a shaker, made by punching holes in the top of a baking powder can with a six penny nail be used and hold the bird over a pan so that all powder lost may be saved and used again for it does not hurt if a little dirt gets in it and the cost is held down. The bird should be held down in the left hand by the feet with head down so the feathers will be opened well then a generous amount of fluoride be applied, from shaker in the right hand. Give same treatment to both turkeys and chickens, both old and young. If it is desired to dip rather than dust, then use one ounce of fluoride to the gallon of water.

ulphur is sometimes used but is not as effective, so since the riddence of the insect is the prime motive, then a substitute is not needed.

When you have blue bugs on your poultry you are in a sad plight. People may tell you that they are easily controlled but they must have had a different species than has been our luck to get. The bluebug, or fowl tick Argas miniatus, is a parasite one fifth to one fourth of an inch in length when grown and is a powerful blood sucker. In adult stage it is similar to the red mite in that it feeds at night and spends its days in the cracks of the house or roosts. The baby bugs stay on the bird until they reach maturity then begin spending their days as stated above. Sometimes these ticks cause the birds to have a fever the identical work that the mosquito does to man which causes malaria.

Treatment: The best way to treat a chicken house badly infested is to set it afire if its value is not too great, then do likewise with the delapidated coops. But most houses are of too much value to burn, then we must treat them in the following way. Paint the roosts with anthracene oil, crude petroleum, crankcase oil, or wood preservative which is the best of all and is known as carbolinum and can be bought through the lumber company or the druggist may get it.

The roosts should not touch the walls. They should be thoroughly saturated with oil and should be suspended from the roof by wire. The house should be well painted inside with what ever oil you may use and be careful that every inch of it is covered. Keep the floor cleaned every day at least twice a week and see that the hen house is clean of all boards or rocks where bugs might creep under. The quarters should be kept dry and clean at all times in fighting and preventing lice, mites, fleas or bluebugs or any disease. In fact sanitation in the hen house and about the quarters must be maintained at all times if an economic gain is to be expected from the farm flock.

When ticks have been eradicated from the premises, no more chickens or turkeys should be admitted to the farm until they had spent at least ten days quarantine in temporary coops. The coops should then be destroyed after use or thoroughly painted with oil and have no birds put in them. Bluebugs have been known to live in cracks of badly infested quarters for five years, so starvation is not a remedy for eradication of this pest.

Remember that loose boards, rocks old boxes and piles of brush or any other refuse about the place is a harbor for any or all of the above mentioned parasites and should be removed. Beware of the bluebug!
