The program will last for six weeks with activities starting at 9 a. m. Monday through Thursday and lasting until 12 noon. Each activity will last for about an hour.

responsible for their own transportation or getting to and from each activity; however, most of the activities are on or around the school grounds. An adult will accompany the smaller children to and from the swimming pool and transportation will be provided to the golf course. Equipment will be furnished for those who do not have their own, such as rackets and clubs.

Girl hit by car but only cut and bruised

The first "kids on the streets" accident of the summer here Monday afternoon resulted in only bruises and lacerations to Jennie Lee Benton, 11, of 402 West 13th.

An investigating officer reported she was crossing US-380 at Avenue S with another girl when she was struck by a car coming into Post and driven by Mack Woodridge of Albany, Tex.

The two girls apparently did not see the approaching car and Judy Brown in a yard nearby called a warning to them.

Jennie Lee looked up to see the car and bolted right in front of it, the investigating officer said. He said the driver had no chance to avoid hitting her, but was slowing down at the time.

The girl was taken to Garza Memorial Hospital here by ambulance, treated and released. The accident occurred at approximately 4:30 p. m.

Board of directors named for OS events

Plans have been finalized for the 1978 OS Steer Roping and Art Exhibit held annually the first weekend in October at the OS Ranch south of Post.

Following a series of meetings last week, plans have been announced to shift the structuring of authority and responsibility to an overseeing board.

Spokesmen for the group emphasized, however, that all who have actively assisted in the past will, in essence, have their same position of responsibility.

Directors on the new board are Jim Prather, Giles Dalby, Giles McCrary, Mike Mitchell, and A.C. Cash, all of Post, Dave Gottshall of San Angelo, and Lin Helton of LaGrand, Ore.

The need for creation of a board of directors has been necessitated due to the rapid growth of the many events connected with the "OS weekend" and the growing attendance.

During the seven-year history of these benefits, approximately $200,000 has been directly given to the benefit of West Texas Boys Ranch at San Angelo.

All ropers and over half of the artists for this year's Sept. 30 — Oct. 1 "OS weekend" have already sent contracts of intent to participate.

AT MEMORIAL DAY SERVICE—

Mayor McCrary cites obligation of living

"Those of us paying homage to the fallen today have an obligation to their memory, to ourselves and to our nation to rededicate ourselves to a new outlook, a new pride, a new conviction to protect and keep America free," Mayor Giles McCrary declared Monday morning in the annual Memorial Day service at Terrace Cemetery.

"This can best be done," McCrary said, "by each of us taking a vow to look at ourselves as Americans. We must become actively interested in our government, its elected officials, governmental activities, and where America is going.

"We must be very productive of our free enterprise system, encouraging initiative, permitting a profit without excessive taxation. We must take a personal and active interest in our school system, remembering that the family is really the backbone of this nation..."

"Will you join me today," McCrary asked his hearers, "in making a pledge to take

Applicants are sought

County Judge Giles W. Dalby will receive applications through July 15 for applicants seeking appointment to the unexpired term of county tax assessor-collector.

T. H. Tipton has submitted his resignation, effective Sept. 1, to the county commissioners court. He is stepping out after 30 years in the office because of ill health.

In a public notice appearing in today's Dispatch, Judge Dalby asks that parties interested in the appointment submit resumes to his office containing biographical data, employment history, personal data and references.

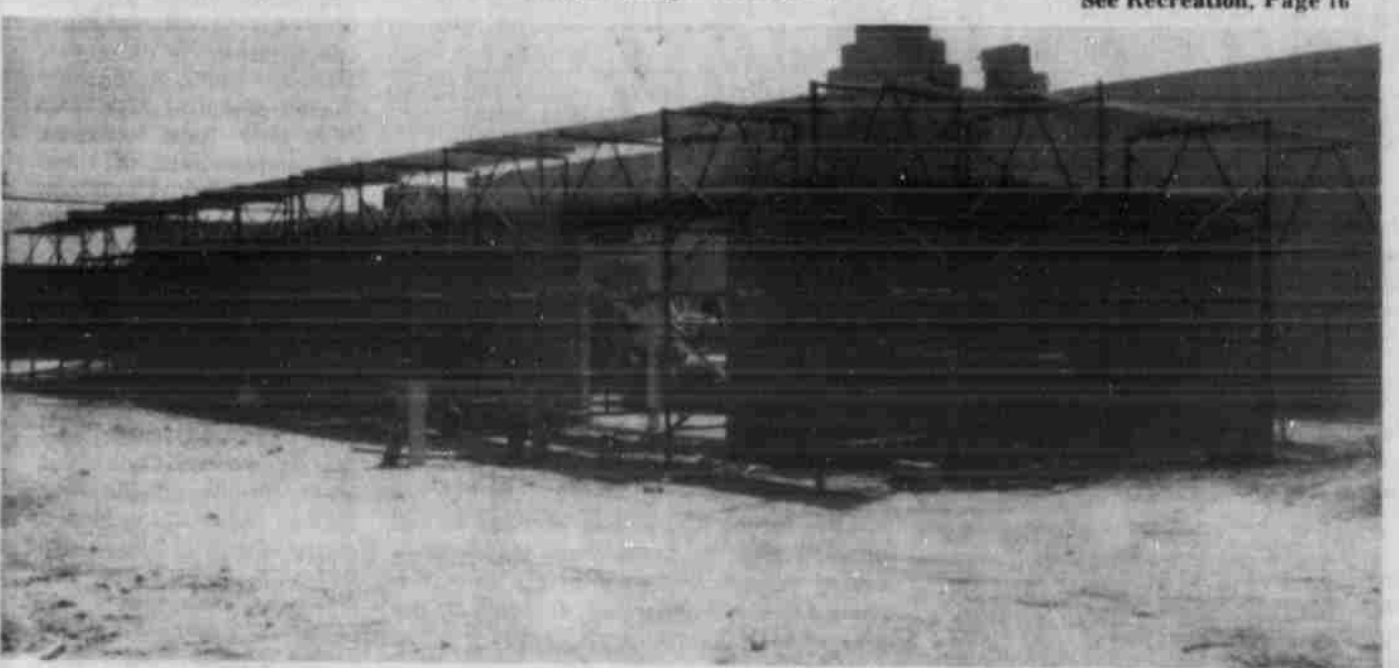

Applicants must be at least 18 years of age, a county resident of at least six months, a United States citizen and prepared to become a certified appraiser.

Scholarships to Shepherd

Brad Shepherd won two of the six scholarships awarded at high school commencement exercises here Friday night.

He received both the Gammu Mu scholarship and that of the Garza County Benefit Association.

Other scholarship winners were Erik Howard, faculty scholarship award; Evans Heaton, the Ella Mae Hudman scholarship; Danna Giddens and David Morrow, as valedictorian and salutatorian respectively, by T.E.A. and Texas Council of Church Related Colleges.

NEW TEEN ROOM — The Post Community Center's new addition of a new teen room and a new entrance with offices is beginning to take shape as Pharr and Pharr Construction began work on the new project several weeks ago.

Claude Sanders new foreman here

Mr. George C. Wall, Jr., District Engineer, District 1 with the State Department of Highways and State Transportation, announces that effective June 1, Claude E. Sanders will be transferred from the Lubbock Southeast Maintenance Section to the duties and responsibilities of the Garza County Maintenance Section, Post, Texas.

Sanders has been employed with the Department 20 years in various positions in Lubbock County, including supervisor of the Lubbock Southeast Section. Claude's wife, Carol, have two children, Bruce and Jan, and will be moving to Post in the near future.

Center's Coke machine hit

Burglars broke into the Coke machine at the Post Community Center Sunday night and took an estimated $20 to $25 in coins.

A box of candy also was stolen from an unused candy machine.

Halfway into the Coke machine, the intruder or intruders apparently discovered the key to the Coke box and unlocked it, took the money, relocked the machine, taking the keys with them.

An upstairs store room door also was broken into. Nothing besides the money and candy were taken.

Investigating officers said they found no signs of a forced entry into the building.

Post Plant employees will receive a salary increase effective July 17, Don Smith, plant manager, told 33 Chamber members who turned out last Friday morning for the civic organization's highly successful quarterly membership breakfast.

"We haven't been informed of the amount of the hike," Smith added in his 15-minute talk on Burlington Industries and Postex Plant.

He also reported that New Year's Day has been added as a holiday at Burlington's local plant.

Smith also said Burlington is spending a lot of money on energy saving equipment. He added the plant's current energy bill averages about $19,000 a week.

Smith said while the Post plant is not being expanded, Burlington is constantly modernizing and improving, having an $80,000 improvement project now under way. He added that $30,000 is spent each quarter on maintenance of plant and equipment.

Jeff Lamb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Lamb, was a member of the eight-member boys team of the Briercroft Academy of Gymnastics of Lubbock which won second place in the Texas Amateur Athletic Federation Gymnastic meet held in Arlington, Tex., May 19 and 20.

Jeff received first place medals in tumbling, rings, floor exercises and vault. He placed third in side horse and fourth in parallel bars. Jeff was entered in the 12 and under competition. His teammate, James Woods, in the 13 and over, won first place in the overall category and Jeff placed third.

Jeff is coached by Jackie Arwine of Lubbock.

Runoff primary here Saturday

Garza Democrats will return to the polls Saturday in the primary runoff to decide five races with no more than 875 of Garza's 2,500 eligible voters — about 35 percent — expected to mark their ballots.

A total of 1,342, or about 56 percent, voted in the May primary but traditionally a lot less interest is shown in the runoffs.

With five runoffs here, however, a larger than usual number of voters are expected.

Polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m.

The Dispatch will be open from 8 to 9 p. m. Saturday night to give election results.

A heavy absentee balloting, which ended Tuesday, was reported by County Clerk Carl Cederholm. He reported 75 absentee ballots cast, even more than the 65 cast before the May primary.

As to what the heavy absentee vote signified, Cederholm had a ready answer: "A lot of folks are leaving town."

City crews sprayed Post for mosquitoes Tuesday night to mark the unofficial arrival of summer.

Numerous complaints on mosquitoes have been received here following recent rains.

It will be two weeks before the city can be sprayed again, city hall reported Wednesday.

Postex employees to receive wage hike

The closing of the Hall plant at Memphis and the moving of those operations to Postex Plant here has added approximately 30 employees to the Postex payroll and thus increased the payroll about $155,000 per year, Smith said.

He said Postex now has an annual payroll of $4.3 million not figuring in the incoming wage boost.

At present Postex is running "fairly long" work schedules and while some employees would prefer longer weekends off "by and large our people are happy."

He termed the present outlook for the plant "very strong" and added he also is optimistic about its future.

In discussing the Domestic Division of Burlington of which Postex is a part, he commented that only at Postex does Burlington employ all four of its basic operations — greig, finishing, fabricating, and warehouse distribution.

He said Postex isn't the biggest plant in the division, but it is one of the most modern. See CoFC breakfast, Page 16

Falling behind schedule

The water problem could affect Lubbock this summer now that community's late start for new lake water supplies has been halted by a law suit.

The litigation by James Marshall has blocked some $5.25 million in seed money toward the development of the proposed Post and Justiceburg lakes.

Lubbock already was off to a late start in the development of new water supplies when Marshall, an elderly roadblock to progress filed suit to stop sale of the bonds.

Lubbock's water superintendent noted in a Sunday Lubbock Avalanche-Journal front page feature story that May water consumption was up approximately 20 percent.

He said he didn't foresee any rationing this summer, but he did ask for folks to try to get their water usage in other than during the peak early evening hours.

The possibility of the development of a Post lake in a canyon east of Post is primarily dependent upon Lubbock signing a contract to buy the water at a profitable price.

The White River water district then would build and operate the lake from revenue bonds without any tax on landowners in the water district.

Lubbock meanwhile would have to build a pipeline to Post.

This has been projected to carry Lubbock through the 1980s at which time the water pipeline would be extended on to Justiceburg and a much larger lake build on the Double Mountain Ford of the Brazos.

It is beginning to look as if Lubbock's water solution is starting to fall well behind schedule.

Certainly the whole project is going to be quite expensive from both a tax standpoint in Lubbock and as to water price as well. Lubbock voters have yet to look that issue in the face and make their decision.

But by the time that comes, Lubbock probably will have no choice.

The Post Lake project should be under way right now if Lubbock is looking forward to water delivery from it within the next five years.

A future drought could easily make it ten because it often takes a canyon lake several years to fill — and that is purely dependent upon rainfall, which in West Texas is strictly a haphazardous operation at best.

LETTERS to the Editor

THOSE GOLD TOE SOCKS

Dear Editor: Even though it's been some time since I received this information, I'm still being asked about it and some of these inquiries are coming from Garza County.

The following letter to Ann Sims is the same information I received earlier via telephone from Cotton Incorporated headquarters in New York concerning a pair of Gold Toe brand socks for men.

When seeing a xeroxed copy of a picture of these socks my curiosity was greatly aroused. I had helped with all of the cotton ads the Crosby County Cotton Club had run in all three Crosby County newspapers for 18 months. I know that both Danners of Ralls and Balls of Crosbyton stocked the Gold Toe brand and that they did not have any socks of that fiber content with the cotton seal on them.

I soon learned that the socks in question had come into Crosby County from Nashville, Tenn. I also learned that xerox copies of the socks were being sent all over West Texas from Crosby County.

I hope you are able to reproduce the accompanying letter to Mrs. Sims in its exact form. It should clear up any question anyone's mind about the 34 percent imported cotton socks and the cotton seal.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Lawrence (Bonita) McDowell

(P.S. Mrs. Sims is the president of the Terry County Cotton Promotion Association which is a sister organization of the Crosby County Cotton Club. I certainly endorse Mrs. Sims way of "going to the top" for information instead of letting just anyone or everyone tell her what's going on.)

ACCOMPANYING LETTER
Cotton Incorporated
1376 Ave. of Americas
New York City, N.Y.

Dear Mrs. Sims: We are pleased to respond to your request for some information regarding the erroneous use of our Cotton Seal on Gold Toe Hosiery.

Many producers have justifiably been concerned to see that the Cotton Seal was used to identify men's socks which were composed of 63 percent polyester and 34 percent "imported cotton," the balance in Spandex and linen.

Gold Toe is a brand made by Great American Knitting Mills, which is a division of Cluett Peabody Corporation. Gold Toe was licensed by Cotton Incorporated to use our Cotton Seal on cotton hosiery. About a year ago (April 1977 to be exact), we found that our Cotton Seal was being applied to hosiery made predominantly of polyester. We immediately told the merchandising manager to correct the situation, which he immediately agreed to do.

More recently, when reports and Xerox photographs of this merchandise were being circulated throughout West Texas, we re-checked with Gold Toe and were assured by a company official that the improperly labelled merchandise was old hosiery that had been produced and distributed before April 1977. It has been our experience that manufacturers whom we license to utilize our Cotton Seal are generally conscientious in employing it properly. What occasionally happens is that a mix-up of labelling materials occurs out in the manufacturing plant, which is not always close to the manufacturing headquarters that we contact. For example, we deal with the merchandising manager of Gold Toe here in New York City, but their socks are produced and labelled in their factory in Bally, Pa., which is about 100 miles away.

We appreciate your taking time to inquire because we are anxious to clear up any misconceptions about our policy regarding the Cotton Seal. We treat the Cotton Seal as a valuable trademark property and place its usage to the maximum.

Cordially,
Robert J. Boslet

Don't goof again Saturday

Remember the sad mistake Texas voters made in the 1976 election on a supreme court candidate because the name was very similar to one they had known years before?

Well, the same voters are about to make a similar mistake. Only this time they have the man and the name right. But they have forgotten why they politically remember him.

The man is Jerry Sadler and he is running for railroad commissioner in the June 3 runoff against John Poerner, who is serving in the office at present as an appointee and is doing a very good job.

To our knowledge Sadler made very few motions that looked like campaigning before the May primary, but he didn't need to. The voters vaguely remembered.

So they voted him in. He won easily, almost by enough not to have the runoff. He carried every voting box in Garza County as we remember.

So let's look at Jerry Sadler's record.

It is a sorry one as the Austin Statesman bluntly says. This 70-year-old politician make his mark for Texas voters by becoming the only person every censured by the Texas House of Representatives. He failed to cooperate in an investigation and also attempted to choke then-State Rep. Jake Johnson.

He was beaten at the polls in 1970 seeking reelection and then lost to Jon Newton in 1976 in a race for railroad commissioner.

Poerner, on the other hand, already has proved his worth in an important office which regulates the Texas' important oil and gas industry.

Poerner is far from winning any race for name identification. It's a hard name to pronounce, spell or remember.

But behind it is a man who has served three terms in the Texas House before being named executive director of the Governor Committee on Aging and director of the Education Resources of Texas.

The vocational agriculture teachers have given him a "distinguished legislator" award and Southwest Texas State University has voted him into its "Agriculture Hall of Fame."

Poerner in the runoff campaign is trying to remind folks who Jerry Sadler is and why they remember him. What we're doing here is trying to help him help you folks to remember Sadler more clearly.

The Dispatch hasn't endorsed any candidate this campaign because we firmly believe the voter is going to make up his own mind anyway, but in the case of Jerry Sadler, The Dispatch wants to emphatically "un-endorse" him.

Texas voters felt pretty ashamed of themselves in 1976. Let's don't make the same mistake again.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—A state Senate committee has launched a long range study of feasibility of a multi-billion-dollar refinery tax.

The committee, headed by Sen. Peyton McKnight of Tyler, held an organization meeting at the capitol last week. McKnight declared it can and probably will "look into the whole picture of state tax sources and requirements," with a view to eventual replacement of some revenue from oil, gas and land taxes.

Meanwhile, McKnight said he considers Seadock, a proposed offshore oil unloading terminal along the Texas coast, a "dead duck in the water." McKnight and other senators on the committee expressed doubt the terminal can be revived with financing guaranteed by the state.

"Twenty to 25 percent of the cost of state government has been financed by severance taxes on oil and gas," said McKnight. "When the goose that laid the golden egg dies, what do we do? This committee would be derelict if it didn't take a look into alternative taxes. . . . And the wealthiest states can't any longer be judged strictly in terms of their land values. The courts are going to rule that we have to look at all classes of property for tax purposes—and that includes stocks and bonds."

McKnight said he is convinced 60 to 70 percent of a tax on oil processed through refineries could be passed along to out-of-state purchasers.

Acknowledging that both Republican and Democratic candidates for governor are committed against new taxes, McKnight said the committee might be able to come up with a proposal to substitute a new type major levy for an existing one.

Slow Count

Nearly three weeks after the Democratic primary, State Party Chairman Calvin Guest finally announced a referendum on legalizing horse race wagering had failed 692,307 to 724,584.

But that didn't put an end to the controversy over the slow count and alleged errors in reporting returns. Horse racing proponents continued to charge irregularities in the returns leave the issue in doubt.

The State Democratic Executive Committee will meet here June 13 to announce results officially, and more changes in the total are likely.

Guest also announced a referendum issue on whether the legislature should authorize higher interest rates on loans under $5,000 had failed 146,510 to 1,209,840.

Money Freed

In a legal interpretation of potentially far-reaching political significance, Secretary of State Steve Oaks said Texas laws prohibiting corporations and labor unions from spending money to support or defeat measures on the ballot are invalid.

Oaks cited an April 26 ruling of the U.S. Supreme Court in a Massachusetts case, holding unconstitutional a state law barring the corporate and labor contributions to aid or fight ballot propositions, including constitutional amendments and referendum issues.

Oaks' staff said the opinion has no bearing on prohibitions against corporate contributions to candidates for public office. However, some attorneys quickly questioned whether future litigation will successfully attack that ban.

Others speculated the decision will encourage corporations to spend heavily on ballot propositions of particular interest to them.

Labor officials took a dim view of the ruling, stating they don't have the funds to compete with corporations on issue campaigns.

Courts Speak

The Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed the death penalty assessed a San Antonio man in the fatal stabbing of a nurse.

At the same time, the court, in a divided verdict, upheld a 50-year sentence given a Texas City man for slaying his wife.

The State Supreme Court took under study a case involving the issue of whether the state equal rights amendment allows wives the right to sue for loss of "consortium" (affection, comfort and assistance of their husbands). A Dallas wife asserted an auto accident injured her husband and deprived her of that benefit.

In other action, the Supreme Court:

—Held an Amarillo lawyer who refused to pay a $24 lawnmower repair bill now must fork over more than $1,000 to the repairman as a result of their long-standing dispute.

—Upheld the practice of property tax reappraisals on the basis of rotation in various parts of a city.

DNC Choices

Three Texans vacated places on the Democratic National Committee, and successors were due to be named at a special meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee meeting June 1.

Jess Hay of Dallas resigned immediately after the May 6 primary in which he backed Gov. Dolph Briscoe over John Hill. With Hill the victor, Hay concluded the nominee should have his choice of a committeeman.

Joe Bernal of San Antonio and Alicia Chacon of El Paso also resigned several months after both had accepted high federal appointment to regional jobs. DNC members are selected regularly at quadrennial June state party conventions. Vacancies between conventions are filled by majority vote of SDEC.

Short Snorts

Mrs. Rosalynn Carter, first lady of the U.S., addressed a seminar here on mental health.

Southwestern Bell Telephone spokesmen led off a parade of witnesses before the Public Utility Commission at a hearing on Bell's request for $220.3 million in rate increases.

Republican gubernatorial nominee Bill Clements moved his campaign headquarters lock, stock and barrel from Dallas to Austin—into the old quarters formerly occupied by Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

Stenholm confident of Saturday victory

Charles Stenholm of Stamford is confident he will win Saturday.

In a campaign visit to Post Friday afternoon, he predicted that his opponent, A.L. (Dusty) Rhodes is losing support and that backers of the other major candidates in the recent May primary are not only supporting him, but working actively in his campaign.

He said Rhodes has hurt himself considerably in Abilene by attacking Stenholm in the runoff campaign.

"He actually believed he was going to win without a runoff," Stenholm said.

Stenholm expressed concern that he had lost Garza County to Rhodes in May, but said he hoped to pull ahead of Rhodes here Saturday.

Stenholm has been spending a whole lot of his runoff campaign efforts in the eastern part of the district where he failed to win any counties and at Big Spring where he hopes to capture a big slice of the vote that had gone to Jim Baum.

"Financing was tight for a while," Stenholm told The Dispatch, "but it's all working out very well now."

Stenholm led Rhodes by slightly over 2,100 votes in the May primary or about 37 to 33 percent.

Fike Godfrey's support has swung to Stenholm in the Abilene district where Stenholm trailed Rhodes by only 800 votes in the home area of his opponent in May.

Parimutuel loss 'close'

AUSTIN — After correcting numerous errors in vote compilations, the State Democratic Committee now shows that the parimutuel horse-racing referendum at the May Democratic Primary failed to carry by less than one percentage point.

A spokesman at demo headquarters here said over the weekend that the figures which will be presented to the executive committee for official canvassing June 13 are 734,791 against horse-racing gambling and 707,668 for the proposal.

That would mean it was defeated only by 50.9 percent of the vote, the closest margin in four ballot appearances.

Shortly after the election, parimutuel spokesmen had claimed that so many errors had been made that the referendum actually carried.

It was close, but they were wrong.

Screwworms are back

POST — The first screwworm cases for the season were found in the Rolling Plains during May. "This report was received from the Texas Animal Health Commission," said County Extension Agent Syd Conner.

Two cases of screwworms were found in Coleman County and one case each was confirmed from Stone-wall and Mitchell counties. There were no reported cases in our area for 1977.

"We urged all ranchers to be on the lookout for possible screwworm infestations by continually checking livestock for suspicious wounds. All suspect samples need to be sent to the Mission Screwworm Laboratory for positive identification. Collection kits and vials for mailing worm samples can be obtained from my office," Conner added.

"We all need to be screwworm vigilantes this year," he emphasized. Extra precautions with fresh wounds need to be taken to prevent the spread of these early infestations.

Country music festival at Ralls

RALLS — The Ralls Recreation Association is sponsoring a free Ralls Country Music Festival at 8 p.m. Saturday, June 3, in the Ralls High School Auditorium.

As It Looks from Here

By OMAR BURLESON
WASHINGTON, D.C. — The foreign policy of the Carter administration is seemingly one of making enemies of our friends by trying to make friends of our enemies.

In Latin America, our treatment of certain nations, which in the past and present proved our strongest allies, is either being criticized or ignored at the same time we are giving away the Panama Canal. Although the effort to "normalize" our relations with Cuba has been the mode in the last year, that idea is somewhat cooling off because of Castro's venture in revolution in Africa.

Both Cuba and Panama are in the marxist camp and antagonistic to the United States, but our policy has been to favor them. Chili, Argentina, Brazil, and Nicaragua are anti-communist and pro-American in their posture. They have been targets of heavy criticism from our Country.

Nicaragua comes as the most recent and clear example. Trujillo of Panama and Castro of Cuba are not elected but Nicaragua is held up as a violator of human rights under a President who was elected by the people. In the case of Rhodesia, we and the British agreed to support the proposition of majority rule worked out between Prime Minister Ian Smith and two prominent black leaders to hold open elections on a one-man-one-vote procedure.

This is the same demand made by the Guerilla tribal leaders in Angola and Mozambique, but who turned down the offer, and continue to head the band of marauders across the Rhodesian border. Joshua Nkoma and Robert Mugabe were invited back to Rhodesia to cooperate under the new agreement but have refused to do so. Now it seems that they are highly regarded by the State Department and our United Nations Ambassador Andrew Young.

These guerilla fighters against Rhodesia and their followers have been invited to return to Rhodesia and take part in the elections. They have been promised total amnesty with no reprisals but, the offer has been turned down. The transition government with Prime Minister Smith as Chairman, Bishop Abel Muzorewa, Jeremiah Chirau and Reverend Sithole, joined in the invitation to the dissidents to return. The invitation was refused. All the things they have been saying they wanted and have been fighting for have now been settled, yet, they want no part in forming a new government.

The majority rule is assured, of course, since these three in Rhodesia's transition government represent at least 85 percent of the black voters of the country.

This, however, is not what the Guerillas in neighboring countries just outside Rhodesia will agree to. Since they are supported by Russia, it is obvious that what they want is a government of their own making which means to establish a Marxist dictatorship under their command.

It is inconceivable that we should take the side of these revolutionaries instead of being consistent in carrying out what was originally recommended and to which we gave our support along with the British.

As weak as we are in our influence in Africa and the Middle East, it seems we choose to shop around in poor speculation for highly doubtful friends while criticizing those who have proved to be our friends.

Dodgers take command in Little League play

Score three wins to remain undefeated

The First National Bank Dodgers rang up three easy victories in Little League play this past week to pull well ahead of the other five teams as they remained unbeaten in four starts.

The Dodgers drubbed both the other previously undefeated teams, the Yankees and the Cardinals.

Their victory over the Cards was more of a massacre as they lashed what is probably a record 26 hits for a 36 to 1 triumph Saturday night.

Cleanup hitter Gilbert Perez slammed a homerun over the centerfield fence in the third with one aboard for the only round tripper of the game.

Gregg Massey, J. Bird Valdez, and Rodney Guthrie each had four hits for the winners. The Dodgers scored 11 in the first and 16 more in the second.

Against the Yankees, the Dodgers came from behind in a seven-run fifth and added four more in the sixth to win going away 17 to 10. Michael Valdez got a homerun in that one in the sixth as the winners banged out 14 safeties.

Pitcher Paul Perez got credit for the win and collected three hits and scored four runs at the plate.

On Tuesday night, the Dodgers were more subdued, winning by a more conservative 7 to 1 score over the winless A's, who went down to their fourth loss. Gilbert Perez and Greg Massey each pitched three innings for the winners and gave up four hits between them.

For the week, the Postex Yankees were down and up instead of up and down. They lost their first two starts and then came back to win their last two to climb

Mets take 7-6 win in Minors

The Mets edged the Rangers 7 to 6 Tuesday evening as play opened in the Post Minor League. The Mets won it by coming up with a four-run rally in the fifth after trailing 3 to 6 going into the final inning.

back to a .600 percentage for second place.

Their other loss was to the Tigers Saturday night when the Tigers edged them out, 11 to 10, despite being outlitt 12 to 7. Lynn Allen and James Brown each got three hits for the losers, while Tiger leadoff Robbie Williams got three for the winners.

The Yankees defeated the A's 11 to 6 with each team getting only five hits Monday night. The Yankees went to the front early and led all the way. Danny Storie got two hits for the winners and scored twice. James Brown went the route on the mound for the Yankees to get the victory.

Best game of the week was the Yankees' 4 to 3 win over the Cardinals Tuesday night. The Cards got but two hits and the Yankees only four.

The Cards jumped into a 3 to 0 lead but the Yanks got one back in the second, tied it in the third on doubles by L. D. Harper and Lynn Allen and Ray Perez's single, and won it in the fourth without a hit.

By a quirk of the schedule the Red Sox didn't get a game in, being rained out of their only scheduled start in the second game last Thursday night. The Tigers played only once. The two clubs will have a chance to catch up with the field this week though.

A mixed doubles scramble tennis tournament for the benefit of the Garza County American Heart Association was held Memorial Day on the local school courts.

Tally cards were drawn and directed players in partners and opponents. Pro-sets were played and each individual kept their record of wins and losses.

This gave her a place in the finals with the second place man winner, Raymie Holly who had 28 wins. First place man, Jimmy Bird with 29 points teamed with the second place woman, Kay Lamb with 28 points to play for the prizes. The Wood and Holly team won out over Bird and Lamb with scores of 3-6, 6-1, 6-0.

Lenda Wood received first place prize of a ladies tennis hat. Raymie's first place trophy was a gallon water jug. Second place winners received 1/2 gallon water jugs. The hard-luck prizes of a can of tennis balls were received by Dan Lamb and Nancy Macy.

LUBBOCK — The Administration in Washington is moving ahead with its plan to make "meaningful, all-risk" insurance available to producers.

According to Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland the plan is to combine the insurance now offered by the disaster program, Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, emergency Farmers Union and Small Business Administration loans and the indemnity payment programs.

Bergland has delivered for consideration of Congress a draft of the Farm Production Protection Act and urged enactment July 1, which he says would give Commodity Credit Corporation time to get a new program in operation for the 1980 crop year. The law would prevent a yield and prevented planting disaster provisions of the Agriculture Act of 1977, unless extended, will expire at the end of 1979.

Officials of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, Texas, pointed out that the disaster program, conceived by PCG and initiated with the 1973 Farm Law, has been a great boon to farmers on the High Plains where weather is a significant production factor. But Secretary Bergland has repeatedly urged the disaster program be extended in itself.

"By no means will we abandon our efforts to secure an extension of the disaster program beyond 1979," states PCG Executive President Donald Johnson. "but we will also exert whatever influence we can get an all-risk insurance that will serve the needs of producers in this area."

The Administration's bill would offer farmers a choice of three different protection plans for all crops now covered by the disaster program plus a dozen other crops, including the Plains-state crops of soybeans, corn, wheat and sugar beets. Minimum coverage, according to a Bergland statement, would be 50 percent of production costs. At that level the producer would pay half the premium. Producers choosing 70 percent protection would pay 60 percent of the cost of the program, 20 percent, and to coverage on 90 percent production cost the producer would pay the total premium on the final 20 percent of coverage.

The proposed bill would authorize CCC to offer guaranteed planting protection. But in his letter of transmittal to House Speaker Thomas O'Neill, Bergland referred to this coverage as "special" insurance and said that coverage initially would be on an experimental basis.

"To be sure our Board of directors will object to this kind of thinking," notes Bergland, "because present planting protection is needed on the Plains. All-risk insurance would be a misnomer from here if such protection is made available to all producers."

Prayer—In a certain West African village the natives had no privacy for prayer in their huts. So each Christian made off to the bush, behind his hut, for sessions of prayer. After awhile there was a worn track from the hut to the place of prayer. Then if it ever happened that the track became overgrown from want of use, another Christian village would admonish his neighbor, "Brother, there is something wrong with your prayer track."

A preacher, while watching a marble cutter at work, exclaimed: "I wish I could deal such clanging blows on stony hearts!" The workman replied: "Maybe you could if you worked like me, on your knees."

Texas Office of Traffic Safety

YOU DECIDE

On June 3, Texas voters will elect one of two men as the Democratic candidate for Railroad Commissioner:

Jerry Sadler, 70, is a twice-defeated former Land Commissioner. Here's what three of the state's leading newspapers have to say about him:

The Austin American-Statesman: "Voters deserve to know whom they will be choosing between in the runoff June 3. Poerner is not a household name; Sadler is. But Sadler has a sorry record in state government. He is the only person ever censured by the Texas House of Representatives (for failure to cooperate with an investigation). He became notorious for attempting to choke then-State Rep. Jake Johnson. He was defeated at the polls in 1970 and lost to Jon Newton in a race for Railroad Commissioner in 1976. And now he's back again."

The Dallas Times Herald: "Sadler has made Texas government a universal target of ridicule and derision."

The San Angelo Standard Times: "Under Sadler, the Railroad Commission just might become the laughing stock he once made of the General Land Office."

IS THERE REALLY ANY CHOICE?

The Railroad Commission regulates the oil, gas and transportation industries in Texas. Our energy and utility rate problems demand vigorous and responsible leadership. We need John Poerner to fight for Texas and protect what is rightfully ours.

John Poerner, 45, is a respected businessman and rancher. John Poerner was elected to three successive terms in the Texas House before being named Executive Director of the Governor's Committee on Aging and Director, Education Resources of Texas.

His honors include being named "Citizen of the Year" in his hometown of Hondo, receiving a "Distinguished Legislator" award from the Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association, and being named to the "Agriculture Hall of Fame" at Southwest Texas State University.

He was recently appointed to the Railroad Commission by the Governor. "Poerner is a solid, competent individual with a record of 10 years of dedicated public service," says the Houston Chronicle. "(We urge) his election."

African Policy at the Crossroads

WASHINGTON—The rash of border hostilities in sub-Saharan Africa can no longer be viewed as the isolated and distant desert wars they once seemed.

They must be perceived for what they really are: further examples of Soviet interventionism into the affairs of struggling third world countries. The events of recent months there are providing a test for the strength of American resolve and an opportunity to reassess American policy in Africa.

Of all the activities by the Soviet Union outside its own borders, its actions in Africa provide the clearest demonstration of the hypocrisy in Moscow's attempts to portray itself as a peace-loving nation concerned about the world's oppressed peoples.

Such examples of adventurism, far from the Soviet borders, in an area posing no threat to the Soviet Union, reinforce persistent doubts about Soviet intentions toward the non-communist nations of the world.

The Soviets have taken advantage of tribal, racial and regional disputes and the inevitable reaction to the colonialism of the 19th century to forge their own brand of 20th century colonialism with Cuban rifle-bearers.

During the past two years, for example, the flow of Soviet arms to Angola and Ethiopia raises serious doubts that the equipment is being supplied merely to help the host government.

Recent reports indicate that large supplies of Soviet-built equipment, including tanks and planes, are being shipped into Mozambique for possible use in the Rhodesian fighting. This increases the danger that the Soviets once again will be pouring gasoline on still another conflict.

Administration officials seem unwilling or unable to acknowledge that the Soviets and the Cubans have and will continue to exploit situations of opportunity in Africa wherever and whenever they can.

Indeed, the U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations has astonishingly described the Soviet-financed Cuban forces in Africa as a "stabilizing force."

What is needed is a willingness on the part of the Administration to take a hard, cold and clear-eyed look at the African situation.

But what we have seen so far from the Administration statements on Africa is an example of talk out of two sides of more than one mouth. One day, there is "linkage" between the Soviet involvement in the Horn of Africa and SALT; the next day such facts have been dismissed.

One week there is tough talk about building up our military strength; two weeks later follow announcements of cutbacks in ship construction for our navy and a decision to shelve enhanced radiation weapons production.

Nowhere are there signs of any determined effort to demonstrate to the Soviets that their continued interventions in Africa will have an adverse impact on a wide range of our relationships, not just the upcoming debate on strategic arms limitations talks in Geneva.

In country after country on the African continent, where hostilities have erupted after armies have been equipped with Soviet arms, the threats to peace and stability throughout Africa loom ever larger. American reluctance to point an accusing finger at the guilty parties will only work to reap a whirlwind of Soviet opportunism.

Until the challenge in Africa is recognized in these terms, we can only expect the circumstances there to deteriorate even further.

VISITING IN POST

Joyce and Don Tatum of Hereford are in Post this week visiting with friends and relatives.

She no longer waits at home for the fresh trout; she goes along after them. Royal Red Ball waders for men and women look alike, but are different. Men's Cahill waders fit men; women's Diana waders fit women, and that's news!

Going fishing? Now she can go with you

The number of fishing widows may diminish this year, partly because more women are finding that it's fun to go fishing and partly because some manufacturers for the first time are outfitting women with proper equipment.

Lighter, more manageable tackle is on the market. Rain-suits that are cut for the female figure. And now, his-and-her waders.

Until recently, a woman had little choice about what kind of fishing she could do. She could fish from a boat and stay dry. If she wanted to try stream fishing, she had to wear large boys' waders or small men's waders, neither of which came close to a good fit.

In stream fishing, foot stability is vital; the consequence of poor-fitting boots can be a dangerous spill in fast-running water.

The new waders for men and women look alike. They are chest-high and 100% waterproof, with a handy chest pouch and ground-gripping soles. The difference is that the women's waders are made to fit her foot and are tapered in the body.

Not all sporting goods stores carry women's fishing gear, so outdoor gals are invited to write for how-to-buy information from Royal Red Ball, Uniroyal, Inc., Benson Road, Middlebury, CT 06749.

They can ask about the waders by name—what else?—Diana!

Post needing more child care centers

Carolyn Badgett, day care representative from the Texas Department of Human Resources, will be in Garza County on a regular monthly basis, starting May 24, 1978.

Mrs. Badgett will be available to provide information about licensing standards and procedures to any person interested in caring for other people's children.

State law requires licensing of all homes providing regular day care for seven or more children. Persons who offer care regularly to six or fewer children must register, under provisions of the law.

Standards vary according to the kind of program offered by the facility and the number of children served. They cover such matters as educational level of child care staff, nutrition, children's activities, discipline, sanitation and health, safety, grounds and equipment, and the amount of space required for each child.

When a facility is licensed, parents can be assured that the facility meets at least the minimum requirements to protect the health, safety, and well-being of their children. Beyond that, parents still have the responsibility to assure themselves that the facility offers the quality of care they wish for their own children.

Day care licensing representatives have lists of all licensed or registered child care facilities in each community. These lists are available to parents seeking child care.

There is a need for more licensed and registered child care facilities in Garza County. By sending a licensing representative to the county regularly, the Department is making it more convenient for prospective day care providers to make contact. There is no charge for licensing or registration.

Persons not already licensed or registered who are interested in caring for children are invited to call the Department of Human Resources office in Post, telephone 495-2881 to make an appointment with the licensing representative. Or Mrs. Badgett may be contacted at her Lubbock office, telephone 762-8922, Ext. 378. The mailing address is Day Care Licensing, P.O. Box 10582, Lubbock, Tex. 79408.

Explore quiet and exciting Outdoors

Discover fun and adventure by shunpiking and listening

By CHUCK ROBERTS

There's a place in the Great Outdoors you need to visit. It's that place you haven't yet found and all those other places between now and where you need to go. A delightful place where maybe someday you'll build a castle.

We'll look this year, you say. We'll explore and search and it begins when you say, "let's turn here."

And it's a place you haven't been where the yellow butterflies come and go and the sun struggles another day through towering pines after scaling the high mountain the sixth hour past dawn.

And Oak Creek talks to those who will listen, and suddenly you understand.

Look for place you need

You're exploring now for the place you need to visit and you've left the concrete trails where covered wagons never rode. But there is a road of sorts . . . crawling and snaking aimlessly around the red rocks, and someone who knows tells you that once it was the only trail to the high country and the horses were turned loose at the top to find their own way home near a place they now call Sedona. And that they always came home alone. A nice place for a castle.

You're exploring now because suddenly for the first time in however many years you feel you want to discover. And you're learning that yes, indeed, if I shake hands with exploring my relationship with the Great Outdoors might just

Men, of course, but they are different, and you feel that suddenly you understand something you know is important to understand.

many will come and go speaking of Michelangelo. Maybe this is it?

Go West

Go West, curious person. Where the evening spreads out against the sky. Get off the highways and the byways, but don't ask, "where is it?"

Go make your visit and look yourself for that place you haven't yet found and all those other places between now and where you need to go.

Take a road east of Flagstaff and maybe see a covered wagon. Or west to the Deer Farm where Bundles, the baby raccoon, likes to ride on your shoulder.

And the hundred places in-between that you'll never find unless you look. How about a root beer frosty . . . when did you do that last? Or get in an innertube and float a clear, slow river? Or watch a flower that grows near a road you almost didn't take?

Recreation-

June 19 through June 23.
The youth tennis tournament will be played June 21-23 and is open to any child in Garza County. More information concerning the tournament will be announced at a later date.

Parents are asked to bring or make arrangements to send your children to registration Saturday. All eligible children are invited to attend all or any part of the six week program; so missing for vacations, etc., does not eliminate them from the fun.

Any other questions concerning the program may be answered the morning of the registration.

Emphasizing that the summer recreational program is for all the children in the county, the county has borrowed a school bus from the Southland Schools and will drive Southland youngsters to Post to participate in the program.

The expanded single program also takes the place of the separate recreational program for the minorities held in several past years.

J. R. Johnson reports the recreational program will cost approximately $4,800, which includes $2,300 in federal funds, $500 from the city, and $2,500 from the county.

but its ranks second and termed it "a very secure situation."

Smith said present marketing trends are in Postex's favor, too.

He explained that the basic "bread and butter projects" of the domestics division are type 130 muslin sheets, which Postex makes, the type 190 percales, and terry towels.

When the strong sales demand were for percales in recent years Burlington converted its other plants to percales and most of its competitors also converted strongly to percales.

With less capacity in the industry for muslin sheets than ever before, Smith said Burlington can now sell "all the muslin sheets we can make."

Starting his talk on Burlington Industries, Smith reported the last company six months earning report showed the corporation was doing okay but not as well as for the same period last year.

He said sales were up $1.2 billion, but earnings dropped from $43.7 million for the same period last year to $31.3 million this year.

Smith explained part of this was due to the slow winter apparel sales this year, and the fact the denim market, which is still strong, is beginning to slow down a bit.

Burlington is anticipating an improved earnings for the current six months of operations, he added.

In regard to apparel, Smith noted that growing apparel imports "are creating a very, very serious situation." "By and large," he added, "imports have been subjected to a very ineffective government control."

He invited any Chamber member who would like to tour the Postex operations to call so a tour could be set up. "If you haven't been through in a year or two, you're going to find a lot of changes," Smith concluded.

The Chamber appearance marked the completion of Smith's first year as plant manager.

Chamber President Larry Willard and two of the organizations vice presidents, Rob Robinson and Jim Cornish, spoke briefly on Chamber activities following Smith's well received talk.

David Parsons, new owner of the Robo Car Wash here, was the winner of the $25 cash attendance prize.

Door prize winners included Stanley Butler, free dinner at Damon's Restaurant; Charlie Brown, sack of Jackson Bros. sausage; Sue Shytle, two fishing lures from Western Auto; Henry Wheatley, pocket calculator from Garza Auto; Bo Jackson, set of glasses from Bob Collier Drug; Don Smith, four mugs from La Posta Gifts; Erik Howard, year's subscription to Post Dispatch; Charles McCook, pocket radio from Radio Shack; Jay Bird, desk thermometer from Hundley's; and Terry Patterson, box of candy from Happiness is.

your personal inventory, seeing how and where you fit into this great American tradition and way of life. Have you contributed what you should, what you must to keep your country alive? Have you honored these fallen and protected their memory by taking your place as a proud American who is not ashamed to stand and be counted?

"America is nothing more than we are. We have a very personal obligation to see that the sacrifice of these comrades will be remembered by joining together and dedicating ourselves to keep America strong and living for tomorrow."

The services were sponsored jointly by the America Legion and VFW posts here.

Following the 10 a.m. service, veterans graves were decorated with small American flags.

The VFW held its annual Memorial Day breakfast for the public. In the evening of the holiday, the American Legion post hosted a barbecue supper for all servicemen and their families.

was worth noting.

The Abilene Reporter-News, Rhodes' hometown paper, also came out Sunday for Stenholm over Rhodes, but it must be noted the editorial writer termed both candidates excellent men and did not write anything harsh about Rhodes.

It was the "wee hours" on the next day after the May primary before E. L. Short of Tahoka found himself in the runoff with Don Workman for state senator. But despite the fact Workman piled up a big edge, a lot of folks locally like Short's chances to pull out a victory Saturday.

It all depends in large measure on whose voters go to the polls and whose stay home.

Bryan J. Williams has a "food for thought" pre-election ad on page 2 about how important one vote can be.

June 3 runoff-

Up for decision this time are party nominations for 17th district congressman, state railroad commission, state senator from the 28th district, county treasurer and county commissioner of Precinct 4.

Charles W. Stenholm and A. L. (Dusty) Rhodes square off in the showdown for the congressional nomination which originally drew a crowded field.

In the railroad commissioner race, John H. Poerner and Jerry Sadler are the candidates.

E. L. Short of Tahoka will make his bid for state senator against Don Workman of Lubbock.

The county treasurer's race pits Voda Beth Voss against Paul H. Jones for county commissioner of Precinct 4 it will be Billy G. Greene vs. incumbent Herbert L. Walls.
