We thought it might be interesting and fun to take a weekly look back to last year.

First thing we noticed is that The Dispatch was publishing twice a week . . . so we have two editions to scan.

The lead story Jan. 2, 1983 was the White River Municipal Water District board of directors' filing an appeal for an extension for the permit to build the Post Lake.

The appeal was granted a few months later and the matter is still under litigation.

General Telephone announced the major changes expected with deregulation . . . and now we're beginning to feel the impact of that story.

Supermarket success strategies for shopping with coupons

Coupons can offer a real bonus for grocery shoppers. They can also cause shoppers to waste their money and time. Coupons entice some shoppers to purchase products that give more convenience than they need, products they don't ordinarily buy, products with less nutrition for the money spent, and more of a product than can be used in a reasonable amount of time.

Remember that manufacturers use coupons to introduce new products and build brand loyalty, and grocers offer coupons to attract your business to their store. Coupons are a legitimate form of advertising. But, they are not always the best value. Here are some tips for successful shopping with coupons:

- Before you go to the store, do your "homework". Study the food advertisements and check your current food supplies. Shopping wisely with coupons requires a high level of price-consciousness in order to determine whether a product is a good buy or not.
- Make a shopping list of the things you need and select coupons for the products on your list.

- Once you get to the store, don't buy a product simply because you have a coupon. Compare prices for the item, the item with a coupon, the store brand and the generic brand to determine which is the least expensive. Use the unit prices on the shelves to make this comparison. Even with a cents-off coupon, a generic or store brand will often be less expensive, although you may want to purchase the national brand for special occasion dishes.
- Eliminate "junk" foods if their only value is for redeeming a coupon. Just as with every other food purchase, read the nutritional labels on coupon items.
- To make the most of coupons for products you need, combine coupons with store special for additional savings.
- Also, if the store offers double or triple coupons you can usually save more by buying several small packages of the same item rather than one large package, if you have more than one coupon.
- Finally watch for errors at the check-out counter, even with the electronic scanning systems. Make sure you are charged the advertised price rather than the regular price on sale items, and that your coupon savings are accurately deducted from your total.

Sharpen Your Shopping Skills

Most of us would like to decrease shopping yet increase our savings when we buy. Often, it's the little things that help us be better shoppers and accomplish these goals.

Here are some tips for sharpening your shopping skills:

- Plan your spending. Making a list will help you do this.
- Shop for the best buy. Compare prices and quality. Go to several stores when it is possible and practical. Read and understand guarantees. Look for U. S. grades and inspection stamps. Remember that you don't always need the highest quality.
- Buy only what you need.
- Read labels and tags. Labels give information. They can help you understand what you are buying and how to use it.
- Count your change. Check to see that things are weighed correctly, and check sales slips.
- Know where to buy. For example, your local discount drug store may offer lower prices on some items that you usually buy at the grocery store.
- Know when to save money. Get food buys by shopping off-season, following holidays, at anniversary sales, and at weekend sales.
- Shop carefully and take time to think about making large purchases.
- For major purchases, find out about charges for installation, delivery, service and credit.
- Read before you sign to make sure you understand contracts.

Stenholm Introduces Farm Bill

A great mishmash of ever-changing systems, formulas and combinations of multi-year planting and production histories have been used over the years to assign farm program crop acreage and yields on American cotton, wheat, feed grains and rice farms.

Now comes an effort to devise and enact into law a single "consensus system" of acreage bases and production yields for all crops and all farms, not subject to change with the passage of each successive two or four-year farm bill as in the past.

After more than a year of study, Congressman Charles Stenholm of Stamford has introduced H. R. 4565, the "Agricultural, Efficiency and Equity Act of 1983". The bill, Stenholm says, would provide a "skeletal structure" around which a wide variety of future price support and production adjustment programs can be built.

An early draft of the proposal was discussed briefly in an October Plains Cotton Growers Board meeting and continues under study by PCG. An analysis of the bill as introduced November 18 will be available for the Board's further consideration at its meeting in January.

The "system" would first establish for each farm a farm acreage base (FAB) equal to the rolling average of total acreage planted to all four program crops in each of the five preceding years.

Within the FAB would be a crop acreage base (CAB) for each commodity, the sum of which could not exceed the FAB.

For 1986, each producer would be allowed to choose his own set of crop acreage bases, so long as the total acreage involved did not exceed the FAB. This is a new approach, completely different from past procedures under which each year's crop acreage base was determined in some way from planting history.

For the crop years 1987-1990, each CAB would be the average of plantings to that crop during all crop years from 1986 forward. After 1990 each CAB, like the FAB, would be a rolling five-year average of acreage planted to the crop in question.

Another innovative feature: All of the above notwithstanding, producers would have freedom to adjust any crop acreage base for a given year simply by giving notice of the desired adjustment at least 60 days before the required program announcement date for the crop. However the CAB could not be increased by more than 25 percent of the FAB. And of course the increase in one CAB would have to be offset by a corresponding decrease in another CAB.

Yields for all crops would be determined in the same way, by taking a rolling five-year average of actual yields, with the high and low yields from those years omitted. The program yields for any year however could not rise or fall from the previous year by more than 10 percent.

According to an aide, Stenholm has no delusions about the bill in its present form being perfect. Rather, he says, it is seen as a catalyst which will initiate, through hearings, a forum for discussing problems with the present system and achieving a consensus on a permanent system for determining acreage bases and yields in the future.

Summer Interns

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm announced today that applications are now available for his fifth summer internship program, planned for the months of June and July, 1984, in his Washington office.

Each year the program involves two Omar Burleson Congressional Interns and two Lyndon Baines Johnson Congressional Interns, with each spending one month in Washington. This year, applications must be postmarked by midnight, February 6, 1984 and mailed to the Abilene office.

The interns selected will receive full congressional experience in Stenholm's office, participating in the functioning of the office, attending committee meetings, observing debate and votes in the House Chamber, watching Supreme Court decisions being handed down, and taking advantage of the many other learning possibilities in Washington.

"We feel that we have an excellent program for the interns, and that we have had excellent interns for the program," Stenholm said. He added that with greater awareness of the program around the District, competition continues to grow more keen each year.

"I would encourage anyone interested in an internship to request an application and return it as soon as possible," Stenholm concluded.

Congressman Calls for USDA Reverse

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm (D-Stamford) has called on Secretary of Agriculture John Block to reverse a decision that could lower cotton farmers' assigned yields.

The yield per acre is a factor in deficiency and other farm program payments. The USDA assigns cotton yields based on past production, but present regulations prevent one year's yield from being less than 90 percent of the previous year's. USDA intends to lower this "floor" to 80 percent.

"After several consecutive years of heavy losses in the Southwest, a reduction in the yield floor can only cut producer income further," Stenholm said in a letter to Block. "And it threatens serious harm to the effectiveness of the 1984 cotton program."

The purpose of having a yield floor is to guard against extreme year-to-year fluctuations in assigned yields. The lower the floor, the more assignments can drop, especially in consecutive years of unusually great crop losses because of disasters.

"The best way to prevent arbitrary decisions like this is to write a 90 percent yield floor into law, rather than leaving it up to USDA's discretion," Stenholm said. "The Agricultural Efficiency and Equity Act, which I recently introduced, does just that. But that applies to future crops. Action is needed now to take care of the 1984 crop."

Congressmen Kent Hance and Jack Hightower and Senator Lloyd Bentsen joined Stenholm in writing Block. The Texas legislators said that if USDA was trying to save deficiency payments by lowering the yield floor, then that was a "false economy" because the action will keep many producers out of the 1984 cotton program, they will increase their plantings, and that will drive down cotton prices, thus actually increasing deficiency payments.

The old myth that mobile/manufactured homes depreciate in value evolved from their historic treatment as "personal property" — in some states they are still licensed and taxed as vehicles!

Today a mobile/manufactured home, much like any well maintained home, appreciates in value — at an average of five percent or more a year. Studies by the Manufactured Housing Institute (MHI) show that even though manufactured housing prices and interest rates have risen steadily since the early 1970s, it's actually less expensive to own a mobile/manufactured home now than it was several years ago, due largely to appreciation.

January 20 should be marked on farmers' calendars

According to officials of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., January 20 should be clearly marked on every calendar at every farm, gin or other establishment in this area that relies on cotton for its continued existence.

January 20 is the date set for Cotton Incorporated's annual meeting for the Southwest region, and PCG holds nothing back in stressing its importance. It will begin at 10:00 a.m. in the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center and close with a barbecue luncheon at noon, courtesy of American Cyanamid Company.

"It looks like for now we've finally gotten our cotton supplies in line with demand, and prices have responded accordingly," says PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, "but it's going to take a maximum effort from CI and all concerned to create the market demand needed to accommodate a production increase in 1984 without pushing prices back down. And that's what CI is all about." In the past, CI has held a single annual meeting at its Raleigh, N.C. research headquarters, providing an opportunity for only a limited number of cotton people to view the organization's market development activities. This year the Lubbock meeting is one of four being held across the Belt, Johnson said, making it practical for thousands of producers to hear a first-hand update on what's being done with the money they have invested. And, he continues, there'll also be an "input session" in which the producers who pay the bills at CI can offer suggestions for making CI's work more effective. "Directly to the people who are in a position to act on them."

Synthetic competition is expanding the promotion of its fibers to $80 million just for 1984, Johnson reminds, "and cotton producers need to know what's being done, and to voice their opinions on what should be done, to counter this and other threats to our fiber's future." Subjects to be covered by Cotton Incorporated staff at the meeting include consumer advertising, retail merchandising, international marketing, product development and production research.

Clothes Get New Labelling Jan. 1

Clothes shoppers can look for a little extra help from the government during 1984. Amendments to the 1972 Federal Trade Commission care label rule, set to go into effect Jan. 1, should assist consumers in clothing selection and care, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service clothing specialist. "The amendments seek to restore consumer confidence in care labels," says Alma Fonseca, who is with the Extension home economics program. Consumers have complained about incomplete or inaccurate information and a lack of standardized terms on clothing labels, she says. Beginning in 1984, each label must provide either a washing or drycleaning instruction which meets certain requirements. In general, more detailed information about washing and drying temperatures, ironing and the use of bleach will be required on the care labels.

Guns Kill Texans

About 20 Texas hunters have been killed by firearms each of the last two years and another 100 have suffered disabling injuries each year. With increased fall and winter hunting activities at hand, a safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, calls attention to some basic firearm safety rules: treat every gun as loaded; always unload guns in homes, camps and cars; always carry the gun to control the muzzle's direction; be sure of the target and background before putting your finger on the trigger; never point a gun at anything you don't intend to shoot; store guns and ammunition out of reach of children; never climb a tree with a loaded gun; never shoot at a flat, hard surface or at the surface of water; and never mix gunpowder with alcohol.

By Glenda Baker
The ornate style and charm of imported antique furnishings from Italy and France, combined with rustic pioneer family heirlooms, depict the comfortable lifestyle enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bouchier throughout the 57 years of their married life at 101 N. Ave. S.

The Bouchiers built and moved into their then country home as newlyweds in 1926. By building outside the city limits of Post at that time, Bouchier resigned his position as a member of the City Council, but continued an active interest in the growth of the young community as manager of the Double U Company (the present Higginbotham-Bartlett Co.)

Bouchier and his wife, the former Buena Shirley, first met in 1920 at the Baptist Church where he was a greeter for the morning services. A Senior in high school, Miss Shirley had moved to Post from Roby with her family, the George Shirleys. Mr. Shirley worked for a short time as a barber in the community before moving away from Post.

After high school graduation, Miss Shirley continued her education at West Texas State in Canyon. Returning to Post, she taught seventh and eighth grade for three years in the local school system. She some years later joined her husband in business working as bookkeeper for Higginbotham-Bartlett.

Bouchier came to Post from Borden County with his ranching family in 1913. He remembers well his early years working cattle and the life of the cowboys. His fondest memories are those of the chuckwagon and favorite meals of beef steak, beans and sour dough biscuits served on the cattle drives.

Bouchier attended Hardin Simmons University and served in the Army in World War I before going to work for Higginbotham-Bartlett (Double U) Company. 1975 stands out as the couples' most memorable New Years Day, as it is remembered with mixed emotions as their retirement day with Higginbotham-Bartlett. Bouchier retired after working 60 years with Mrs. Bouchier retiring after 32 years with the company.

The couples' son, Ronnie and wife, Linda, live in Houston where he is a building developer. They have three children, Blair, a student at Baptist University of Houston; Ryla B. a student at Texas Christian University and Lew, a high school senior student at New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell.

Bouchier enjoys reading, watching football games on TV, taking care of their four dogs and eight or more cats, visiting friends and reminiscing. He served for 12 years on the Post School Board and 10 years on the White River Water Association, from its inception until the water was turned on in 1963. He is a charter member of the Rotary Club and a Paul Harris Fellow in the organization. He has been a member of the Baptist Church in Post for 71 years.

Mrs. Bouchier enjoys being a homemaker, visiting friends, and all church functions. She is a Sunday School teacher and member of the Woman's Culture Club of Post. She also enjoys their pets and refers to the large back yard at their home as the "Back Yard Farm."

As a young school teacher-bride, Mrs. Bouchier was taught how to cook and bake by her neighbor, the late Mrs. Janie Duckworth and shares with us this week Janies' favorite never fail filling (frosting) recipe for icing your favorite chocolate cakes or brownies.

Chocolate Frosting
2 cups sugar
3 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons cocoa
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 small can Carnation milk.

Sift sugar and cocoa, add butter and milk. Bring to a boil slowly and boil five minutes. Remove from fire and set in a pan of water to cool. Add vanilla and salt, beat until creamy. This never fails but if you get it too thick, add a bit of Carnation milk.

Tradition With A Delicious Twist

Want something special for a company dinner? Pinwheel Loaf Wellington is a unique twist on a traditional dish. Economical ground beef is conveniently seasoned with onion soup mix, rolled with ham and cheese and encased in pastry. When baked to golden perfection, you'll serve a loaf everyone will love.

For more sensational soup mix recipes, request a copy of "The Secret's in the Soup... Recipes from Lipton." Simply send name, address and zip code along with $2.49 (check or money order made payable to Thomas J. Lipton, Inc.) to: The Secret's in the Soup, P.O. Box 8201 MR, Clinton, IA 52736. Please allow 4 to 6 weeks for delivery. Offer expires when supplies are exhausted. (An offer of Thomas J. Lipton, Inc., 800 Sylvan Avenue, Englewood Cliffs, NJ 07632.)

Pinwheel Loaf Wellington

- 1 envelope Lipton Onion Soup Mix
- 2 pounds ground beef
- 3/4 cup soft bread crumbs
- 1/2 cup catsup
- 3 eggs
- Preheat oven to 350°.
- 1 teaspoon oregano
- 6 slices cooked ham
- 2 cups shredded mozzarella cheese (about 6 oz.)
- Pastry for double-crust pie

In large bowl, combine onion soup mix, ground beef, bread crumbs, catsup, 2 eggs and oregano. On waxed paper, shape mixture into 10" x 12" rectangle; top with ham and cheese, leaving a 1-inch border. Roll, starting at 10-inch end, jelly-roll style; seal edges tightly. Roll pastry into 12" x 14" rectangle; arrange over loaf. Press pastry around base of filling to seal; trim excess. Prick with fork and brush with remaining beaten egg. Place on rack in baking pan; bake 1 hour or until done. Makes about 8 servings.

How To Organize With Color

From time to time, we all have a hard time organizing some important part of our lives—our personal correspondence, our schedules, our files, or other elements at home or on the job.

Color may be the solution! Organizing with color can streamline our routine, improve our productivity and save time. Color coded systems of organizing are up to four times faster than conventional methods. As a result, color coding will make our jobs and our lives easier, decrease stress, and increase our self confidence.

Furthermore, the potential of color coding applications is endless in any environment and for any purpose. Color can:

—Speed the filing process, facilitate quick retrieval of documents, prevent mis-files, and help us to avoid needless creation of new files;

—Prioritize, classify, identify and specify action to be taken on correspondence or routed materials;

—Code schedules and calendars for meetings, deadlines, special events and special dates; and —Identify or highlight maps, products, tools or equipment.

Self-adhesive color coding labels are an inexpensive and flexible way to transmit messages anywhere: in the office, home, retail store, warehouse, school, studio, lab or field—any place that needs time-saving organization.

For specific color coding ideas, Avery now offers a free booklet, "Decoding Color Coding," that identifies creative and flexible adaptations of color coding in a wide variety of business settings as well as in the home. To obtain a free copy, which includes a variety of color coding label samples, write to Avery Consumer Products Division, 777 East Foothill Boulevard, Azusa, California 91702.

'Lopes Zap Tigers

Hance Demands USDA Action

The Frenship Tigers visited Post last Friday evening, looking for revenge from Thursday's loss, only to find the Antelopes dominating the boards here with a 64-42 win.

The Antelopes are now undefeated with three wins for the season. After trailing 27-25 at the half, the 'Lopes outscored the Tigers 39-15 in the second half. R. J. Greathouse led the scoring with 21, followed by Charles Johnson and Mike Ollison with 10 each. L. D. Harper collected eight points, Lynn Allen got six, Milton Williams picked up five and two each were scored by James Brown and Dennis Lee. The 'Lopes participate in the Abernathy Tournament Thursday, facing Lorenzo at 5:30 p. m. and then on Friday will play either New Deal or Abernathy.

U. S. Rep. Kent Hance, D-Texas, for the second time in less than five months, demanded that the Secretary of Agriculture consider two additional grades of cotton for inclusion in the loan program.

eliminate this discrimination against cotton judged below grade by a government classing office."

The Texas Democrat whose congressional district is one of the most prolific cotton-producing areas of the world, closed by saying, "I realize no cotton grading system can completely satisfy all concerns, but the use of an antiquated grading system that so obviously discriminates between various classes of cotton must be changed."

In a letter to Secretary Block, Hance said that "many farmers in Texas are being punished by an antiquated system of cotton grading system. In many cases, a judgement call made by someone in the government classing office is the reason for a substantial discount in prices received by the cotton farmer. The disparity is created by the distinction made in classifying some cotton as below grade."

"Cotton that is designated as below grade is ineligible for the loan program, receives a lower price and is of little benefit to the producer. Additionally, the 'green card' which is the government classing office grade, affects only the first sale of the cotton. After the cotton leaves the farmers' hands, the 'green card' grade is of no value. The implementation of the two new loan eligible grades would

Cattlemen Offered Hints on Pests

By Syd Conner
County Extension Agent

It's the time of year when the nation's cattlemen need to put up their guard against a pest that annually pilfers their pocketbooks of $100 million.

Lice are the culprits, and they begin to reproduce rapidly with the onset of cool weather. They reach peak populations in late winter and early spring.

Uncontrolled, lice can soon infest a whole herd, because with cold weather, cattle tend to bunch up more and the pests can easily move from one animal to another. Heavy hair coats on animals during cold weather also afford protection for the parasites and allow increased reproduction.

Costs to the cattleman — both in control efforts and dramatic production losses — increase as lice populations build. There are two types of lice — bloodsucking and biting — and both infest cattle. Sucking lice pierce the animal's skin and such blood while biting lice feed on particles of hair, scale, scab and skin discharges.

Lice infestations irritate animals, causing itching, scratching and rubbing on fences or anything else available. This produces denuded areas, bruises and lacerations on the affected animal. Heavily infested animals will have an unthrifty appearance and will suffer weight reduction, decreased milk production, anemia or even death.

Lice infested animals may also be more subject to respiratory diseases such as pneumonia. Heavy lice infestations often stunt calves. Undernourished cattle of any age usually have the heaviest infestation.

Some cattle appear to be physiologically more susceptible to lice than others and thus have higher pest populations. Such animals are called "chronics" or "carriers" and are usually instrumental in reinfesting the herd annually in spite of repeated insecticide treatments. Culling "carrier" animals is a helpful management practice in reducing lice problems. Insecticide control of lice is not difficult to achieve but there are some problems. Most insecticides don't kill eggs; therefore, retreatment is required in two to three weeks to prevent another buildup. However, if the initial treatment comes late enough in the season, there may not be enough time to lice to build to economic levels again before warm spring weather.

Spraying and dipping infested animals with proper insecticides is an effective means of controlling lice. However, control measures are usually required when winter conditions are most harsh — a time when cold stress is a good possibility and respiratory diseases prevalent. Some of this problem can be prevented by treating animals on a day when they can be dry before sundown.

Pour-on and spot-on grubicides labeled for lice are effective and considerably reduce the problem of cold stress associated with dips and sprays. However, the possibility of a host-parasite reaction is always a threat is the material is applied after the cut-off date for grub control.

Systemic grubicides labeled for lice control usually recommend a lower rate than that to control grubs, which would help reduce the host-parasite reaction.

Use of nonsystemic dust applied by hand or in dustbags would eliminate the possibility of host-parasite reaction. But because of a lack of penetration of heavy hair coats, dusts do not provide as effective lice control as dips or sprays.

Self-treatment devices, backrubbers and dustbags, properly placed and maintained in a preventative program offer effective lice control. These devices should be placed early in the fall prior to lice buildup in order that cattle will become accustomed to using them. They should be placed in areas that cattle frequently use or placed in such a manner that cattle are forced to use them.

The spot-on formulation of chlorpyrifos is a product that has been effective against lice. The product kills all stages of lice — eggs, nymphs and adults. One application is adequate for season-long control if the entire herd is treated and no untreated animals are later introduced into the herd.

Only a small amount of chlorpyrifos is required, thus eliminating cold stress from soaking animals with sprays and dips. The insecticide is not a grubicide, so it can be used anytime without fear of a host-parasite reaction. However, this product is not labeled for dairy animals, bulls over 8 months, or purebred exotic breeds.

Whichever lice control program is used, the cattleman should be certain to read label directions and pay particular attention to warnings, restrictions and slaughter intervals.

Additional information on control of lice and other external parasites of cattle is available in the publication, "Suggestions for Controlling External Parasites of Livestock and Poultry," at the county Extension office.

Lost Money Yours?

State Treasurer Ann Richards has put $400,000 back into the pockets of "lost owners" of unclaimed money accounts since she established a new Locator Unit in the Treasury's Unclaimed Money Fund Program three months ago to work on major cases.

Now, Richards said, the special unit is hoping to give a $152,000 Christmas present to 12 unclaimed account owners or their heirs by making a public appeal for help in finding them.

The Texas State Treasurer said she established the Unclaimed Money Fund Locator Unit in September and assigned two investigators to the project. Carol Fowler, a former newspaper reporter and Travis County district attorney's office investigator, and Jerald Larry, with extensive experience in financial management, are working full time trying to find the owners of large unclaimed or abandoned accounts.

Unclaimed money and information about the original owners are reported to the State Treasurer each year under the Texas unclaimed property laws by more than 4,500 financial institutions, oil and gas firms, insurance companies and various other businesses and corporations. Richards said the Locator Unit is a first for the Texas Treasury and one that was "badly needed."

"Historically, the Treasury has not done a very good job in finding the owners of lost accounts, whether it was five dollars or five thousand," Richards said. "We're working hard to change that."

Richards pointed out that it was not always the account owners' fault that their funds were turned over to the Treasury.

"Sometimes, the owner doesn't know an account has become inactive, sometimes an address is wrong, and sometimes they don't even know the money is there.

"There has been a consumer-protection void that the Locator Unit is filling," Richards said.

Before starting the unit, Richards said private firms primarily were involved in finding owners of lost accounts.

"Those firms charge the account owner a 'finder's fee' of between 30 and 50 percent of the amount of money returned," Richards said, noting that "there is no charge when the Treasury Locator Unit finds an account owner."

Richards said the special investigation staff was needed because owners of the large inactive accounts generally are very hard to find.

"Only rarely do our investigators make 'telephone book' finds. On the average, they must sift through 12 to 15 sources before finding the original owners or their heirs," Richards said.

"It is not unusual for the Treasury investigators to find heirs who did not know they had something to inherit. Nor is it unusual for them to locate an owner through a 12 year old post office box or to have letters translated into Spanish or even Greek," said Richards.

The average money amount returned by the Texas Treasury Locator Unit in the three months it has been active is $7,000, Richards said. She said the largest single amount returned to an owner so far has been $37,000 to a San Antonio woman.

Your Body: Dress against the cold! Pay particular attention to your extremities on bitterly cold days and don't be embarrassed to wrap your muffler or turtleneck right up to your eyes covering your super-sensitive cheeks and nose.

The shock to your skin between the extremes in temperature from outdoors to indoors or vice versa sets the dehydration process in motion and causes dryness and flakiness all over the body. Therefore, bathing at night is best because your skin then has time to replenish natural protective oils. Be sure to cleanse with lukewarm rather than hot water and limit baths to fifteen minutes.

Rear View Mirror

Pastor Steve Traw
First Christian Church

Two children faced an important decision. They were about to pass by a dog standing in an open gate. Now the old bulldog was gruff and mean in his appearance. While it was most necessary to get by the animal, it looked quite capable of ruining an otherwise fine day. One youngster then lifted the other to peer over the wooden fence. The response came back in reassuring words at seeing a wagging tail, "It's okay. He's happy on this end."

January is also a time for looking behind before proceeding. Our first month is named after Janus, the god of Roman mythology. He is shown as having faces front and back symbolizing his powers as patron of beginnings and endings.

For our Christian life we too often need a spiritual rear view mirror to advance safely.

Moses, as God's spokesman, told the children of Israel that mighty foes awaited in the land of Canaan. But assurance was given to change their fears into confidence. A look to the past and a remembrance of all God had done for them in years gone by gave them a spiritual view that was greatly needed.

Recalling blessings of days gone by gives strength and comfort for the trials of today and tomorrow.

Let January and the New Year be a time for spiritual hindsight. Unexpected foes may be encountered in the open gates along the way. Recalling yesterday's mercies gives us encouragement like the hidden but wagging tail of the bulldog.

"And thou shalt remember all the way which the Lord thy God led thee."

Oh my, it has been so cold. We had our Christmas party December 20 and it was so cold. We were sure that no one would be there, but we had a big group. We served over 100. Billie Cross opened with a welcome and explained why our administrator, Bobbie Edler was not here.

We sang carols with Mary Margaret Norman playing the piano and Mrs. Trulls grandson leading the singing. Then we had a reading by Nell Mathews of the story of the Birth of Jesus. Following the story, we had more carols, then what did appear but old St. Nick (Lewis Abraham) to help us hand out gifts. There were gifts everywhere and everyone had a great time. Our table was covered with a red table cloth and the centerpiece was a Christmas decoration made by Francis Pettit.

We had cookies made by some of the families and punch made by Nell Mathews and Margie Caffey. Thanks to all that came out and helped with the party and you that came out in such bad weather.

We sure enjoyed the cake that Mrs. Surman sent to us. Thank you so much. Mrs. Reynolds third grade class came and sang carols for us and we thank you very much.

We also had gifts from the First Baptist Church, Kay Lamb and Patsy Craig, the Paul Jones, the Presbyterian Church, candy from the Punk Peels and Judy Lee. We had fruit from the Harold Lucas and the H. M. Comptons. Thanks to all of you. Well the New Year is here and we began the winter with a big bang. The first thing is that as of January 1, we will have a new name and be under new management. Our new name will be Golden Plains Care Center. We plan to continue the same high quality nursing and tender-loving care.

We have several new residents. They are Mrs. Myrtle Golden, Mae Gossett and Enid Gossett. We welcome each one of our residents to our home.

We had Bro. Petty to come and give our Bible study last Tuesday. He will be back with us soon.

We wish you all a Happy New Year and inviting all to come by and see us.

It was quite a busy week trying to keep up with the holidays.

Mrs. Irene Wheeler was taken out to spend time with Mrs. Bonnie Henderson and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Caylor spent time with their nephew during the holidays.

We would like to thank Maude Dobbs for the treat of cake and ice cream she brought to our residents. They always enjoy having treats.

Our activities this week were Bingo, exercises, ball, Bible lessons, and grooming. All our residents are doing great and have improved in exercises. This past week they spent time sitting and watching the snow falling.

We also had a resident council meeting and the residents made out the calendar for the month of January. They also chose new games to play.

All our employees thank Mr. and Mrs. Caylor for the box of candies they brought.

Birthdays for the month are Evelyn Roach, Jan. 8 and Pauline Kilpatrick Jan. 23. We wish them both a Happy Birthday.

Our visitors were Cherry, C. J., and Jay Moncrief of Slaton, Sara Ault, Tot Teaff, Dink Boren, Billie Idell, Anne Chaffin, Odele Kemp and Faye Maddox all of Post. Timothy, Mary, Chris, Carris Bowie all of Lawton, Oklahoma. We thank all other visitors and we hope they keep coming.

To close our news we wish everyone a Happy New Year all year round.

Dessert Buffet

The dessert buffet — delightful looking, delicious and decidedly economical. When it's your turn to give a shower, reception or tea, entertain the neighbors or host an after-the-game gathering, surprise your guests with a sumptuous sweet table.

With proper planning, the only last-minute details involve adding garnishes, readying the beverage and setting your creations in place. Unless you choose differently, everything could be prepared at least a day ahead. Many desserts can even be made several weeks in advance of your party and stored in the freezer. Mixes for cookies, cakes, bars, frosting, pastry and other desserts can help you streamline your timetable even more.

It is 1984. A Year that has had special meaning since George Orwell predicted 35 years ago what it might be like.

A feature of the world he envisioned was "Big Brother," the all-seeing, all-knowing, all-controlling influence of government in the lives of people.

Some of the aspects Orwell described are already known to us: computer banks and detailed personal information, and many other facts of life in 1984 America.

The Psalmist loved the assurance that he was "fearfully and wonderfully made." He celebrated the knowledge that God knew him so well and loved him so much, that he could never hide, not be forgotten by his Maker.

"Big Brother" may frighten us, but it is wonderful to know that our Heavenly Father watches out for us.

The Presbyterians of Post gather every Lord's Day to praise the God who gives us life, and makes it meaningful. We invite you to join with us.

New Codes Identify Licenses

Beginning January 1, 1984, those persons who renew their driver license, qualify for their first license, or apply for a duplicate permit will receive licenses bearing new codes signifying class of license.

Colonel Jim Adams, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said the department is starting the conversion to a new classified driver licensing system in accordance with a law passed this year by the Texas Legislature.

"Licenses issued prior to 1984 will be valid until the expiration dates which appear on them," Adams said. "The new licenses will carry classifications designating the type and weight of vehicles which the holder may operate."

The new license classifications are "A", "B", "C" and "M".

The Class "C" license permits operation of single, two-axle vehicles with a gross weight of 24,000 pounds or less excluding motorcycles and mopeds. This designation also allows the towing of a vehicle not exceeding 10,000 pounds gross vehicle weight (GVW) or a farm trailer not exceeding 20,000 pounds GVW. In addition, the Class "C" Designation permits the operation of a bus with a maximum seating capacity of 23 passengers not including the driver. Standard operator licenses issued under the old law will be converted automatically to Class "C" permits upon renewal or issuance of a duplicate license.

The Class "B" license allows the holder to drive all Class "C" vehicles plus single vehicles with a GVW exceeding 24,000 pounds and buses with a capacity of 24 or more passengers. Motorcycles and mopeds are excluded.

Class "A" permits allow operation of any vehicle or combination of vehicles including those listed for classes "B" and "C". Mopeds and motorcycles are excluded. Commercial and full chauffeur licenses issued under the old statute will be converted automatically to Class "A" permits upon renewal or issuance of a duplicate license.

The Class "M" designation allows the holder to operate motorcycles, motor-driven cycles and mopeds.

The road test must be taken with a vehicle which meets the specific requirements of the license class for which the person is applying.

"All classes of licenses including renewals will be valid for four years," Adams said. "The fee for obtaining or renewing all license classes will be $10. An examination fee of five dollars will be charged for those drivers seeking a higher license classification or a motorcycle endorsement for their current license."

Drivers who have no moving violation convictions over a four-year period and who also have no physical limitations are eligible to renew their licenses by mail. To qualify for mail-in renewal, a driver must first receive a DPS form in the mail. This application should be mailed back to the department within one week after it is received. When the license is renewed, the driver will be sent a validation card which must be carried with the old license. A vision test and new photograph will not be required for mail-in renewals. Drivers who receive mail-in renewal forms may also visit a driver license office and renew their licenses according to the standard procedure which will require them to be photographed and have their vision tested.

The fee for a provisional license is computed at $2.50 per year until the driver's eighteenth birthday with a minimum fee of four dollars. The cost of a duplicate license is three dollars.

AUSTIN—On January 1, the bills approved during the legislative session last spring became law, and for most Texans, the dramatic change is in the DWI laws.

The crackdown on drunk drivers was among the most emotional of legislative issues, and proponents of DWI reform got almost everything they wanted out of the Legislature.

Although lawmakers resisted passing the "Open Containers Bill," which would make it illegal for anyone in the vehicle to have an open beer can or such, the following changes were approved, effective Jan. 1, 1984:

—Mandatory jail time for repeat offenders: first offenders may still get probation, but a second offense within 10 years requires a minimum of 72 hours in jail, and a third offense carries a 10-day jail minimum.

—All convictions are final: all convictions will become part of the defendant's record, and not erased after probation is completed, as in the past.

—Felony conviction: A third offense can be filed as a felony, with a maximum jail sentence of five years, and a fine from $500 to $5,000.

—Increased penalties: fines of first offenders will range from $100 to $2,000, compared to the old range of $50 to $500.

Videotaping Suspects
—Videotaping DWI suspects: counties with at least 25,000 population are required to buy videotaping equipment to record the actions of DWI suspects, as they are booked into jail, for use in court.

—Refusing breath tests: any suspect who refuses to take a breath test faces a 90-day automatic license suspension, even if later acquitted.

—Mandatory specimen-taking: officers are required to take a specimen of the DWI suspect's blood, breath or urine in alcohol-related traffic accidents where a person has died or likely will die.

—Penalty for lending car: any person who knowingly lends a motor vehicle to a person whose license has been suspended for a DWI-related offense.

—Forfeiture of vehicle: a county may seize and sell the vehicle upon conviction of a fourth DWI offense.

Senate Redistricting
The long, drawn-out struggle to redraw and approve new voting boundaries for Texas senatorial districts came to a close last week when a three-judge federal panel approved the plan passed by the Legislature last spring.

The plan is final until lawmakers must redistrict again in 1990.

Republicans and Mexican-American groups had opposed the plan, but instead have decided to concentrate efforts on the still-pending Texas House and Congressional plans.

Mobil Settlement

State officials were striving last week to reconstruct the $500 million settlement of their lawsuit against Mobil Oil which was killed by the last minute intervention of the Exxon Corp.

The state seeks to find a third party to buy mineral rights on the disputed oil lease land. An anonymous third party had agreed to do that in the original settlement, but allegedly backed out when Exxon's delay destroyed the end-of-the-year tax advantages.

Senate Race

Two candidates for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by John Tower nailed another plank on their campaign platforms last week.

Democrat Bob Krueger, a former congressman and ambassador to Mexico, called for full parity for farmers and ranchers.

He also called for farmers to be paid money for set-aside lands, and not paid for stored grain, as they are now.
