

The Way I See It.....

It appears that all the opposition expressed to State Senator John Montford about the "Perot school plan" was a waste of time, if news from the state legislature is correct.

In all their wisdom, the law-makers in Austin have turned the tables on the people and adopted a set of "educational" reforms that run contrary to public sentiment.

At least contrary to the public sentiment expressed in West Texas and specifically in Post.

The idea of four year olds in kindergarten, extending the school year and imposing extra-curricular attendance restrictions were Perot ideas which are very unpopular here.

Teacher pay raises are acceptable...and absolutely needed...the cost will have to be carried through some sort of tax increase, which taxpayers probably will approve if they believe the money will go to teachers and attract the best qualified people for our schools.

Some of the other changes, however, will meet stiff opposition once the public finds out what is in store.

We don't have access to the final plan, which at press time was being negotiated between house and senate members.

As soon as we find out what the details are, we'll provide the information to you...then you can decide for yourself whether the changes are better or worse.

Considering the number of people who opposed some of the Perot package, it'll be really frustrating to see the legislature ram that stuff down the people's throats.

There is really no way at this time to assess the impact on local school districts.

I do object to one provision of the changes which sets up an appointed state school board, replacing the current elected group. That "new" idea is not new at all, in fact, years ago the appointed board was replaced by elected members for the purpose of "reforming our educational system" and give the people more input into the way schools are run.

Sounds to me like Perot and the legislature don't trust the people of Texas to know what they want in the way of education.

My message to the state legislature is simple...provide the revenue and general guidelines and get out of the way of our school boards, administrators and teachers so they get on with the job of teaching our children.

Letters to the Editor ----

Dear Editor,
If Post had died every time it was diagnosed as a dying town—we would have buried it so far down you'd never excavate it.
I have been one of those in the past who was convinced that it would be another ghost town "in 5 years".
Thank goodness there have been those who didn't believe it and said "What Post needs is a _____" and set about to cause it to happen. People with the imagination and energy to open a new shop; revitalize their buildings; promote paving; parks; ball fields, air ports, the hospital, senior citizens centers, improve the schools, rebuild their churches and on and on.
We are all interested in attracting new industry to our town. We must take steps on both a Civic and personal level to make Post an attractive place for an industry to consider. Clean streets, yards and vacant lots are so important to the looks of any area.

Tumbled down vacant buildings—junky store fronts which are used as ware houses, junked cars setting helter skelter and trash-littered side-streets are a blight on any people and indicate a disdain for self and neighbor for all the world to see.
These are problems which only personal pride will cure and, if not cured, will label us a "trashy little town." Who in the world wants to live there?"
Industrial scouts also look for a place where the people they will import will enjoy a "quality of life". One measure toward this goal is being undertaken by the Post Art Guild in their effort to restore the old Algerita front half and install a gallery and teaching facility.
Many phases of art interests are projected. Numerous group interests are expected to be met. Each group will have its own meeting date, officers, plans of action, etc.

Another group struggling to elevate cultural activities in this area is the Caprock Cultural Association. This group hopes to encourage the development of theatrical activities using local talent and to bring in traveling shows from time to time, and encourage other lively arts fields.
I understand the merchants are planning a "Store front beautification project, and I say, FANTASTIC !!!!! We aren't dead, we're just a little under the weather."

Dear Friends,
You have overwhelmed us with your love and care since we have moved to your community; especially in the tragic loss of my sister the day after we moved in.
We have been very excited about being a part of this community and your concern and love at this time in our life has only served to heighten our excitement. We look forward to living and working with many of you in the years ahead.
Again thank you for your many expressions of love and concern at this difficult time.
Sincerely,

Mason, Hataway wed

Double ring wedding vows were exchanged between Laura Lea Mason and Jon Kelley Hataway in a 4:00 p.m. ceremony, Saturday, June 9, at First Baptist Church in Post. Rev. Steve McMeans officiated the ceremony.

Laura is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. (Sonny) Mason of Post, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Laura Holly, Post, and Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Mason of Andrews. She is also the great-granddaughter of Mr. Milton Hester of Post.

Jon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hataway of Welch, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hataway and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Gray, all of Lamesa.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore an old fashion white gown of Cluny antique lace, seed pearls and organza designed by Queen Fit of New York. The moulded bodice featured a high wedding band neckline with a Cluny lace collar. The entire bodice was created in an oval antique lace design, with a Cluny lace ruffle outlining the design in front, over the shoulders, and trailing down the front of the antique lace bodice.

Long antique lace candlestick sleeves were also trimmed in the wavy bead design and finished with a Cluny lace ruffle over the hand. The Princess style gown featured a natural waistline which swept to back fullness forming a chapel length train. Venise lace flower motifs were sprinkled throughout the skirt and were delicately sprinkled with tiny seed pearls. The entire hemline and train was completely encircled in a wide antique lace ruffle.

To complete her ensemble, the bride chose a white picture hat which featured Venise lace adorned with scattered seed pearls. The sheer silk illusion veiling was caught in the back with a white silk rose and draped to fingertip length.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of silk gardenias, gypsophila and stephanotis with white streamers.

Carrying out tradition, the bride carried her paternal great-great-grandmother's, the late Mrs. Ida Thomas', white handkerchief; new white shoes, a blue satin garter with lace; her hat and dress were borrowed. For luck, her father placed a penny in the year of her birth in her shoe and she also placed a penny in the year of the groom's birth in her other shoe.

As guests entered the church, they registered from a round table covered with a white lace cloth with yellow underlay accented with a "Precious Moments" bride and groom. The table was attended by Tricia Hair.

A solid brass candelabra arch accented with white satin wedding wreaths and a brass spiral candelabra on either side centered the altar.

Pews were marked with large yellow bows and the window sills held votive cups surrounded by miniature yellow and white silk daisies.

Mrs. Kay Hays, pianist, accompanied Ms. Margie Pennell, soloist, as she sang "The Twelfth of Never" and "Just You and I." Traditional wedding marches were presented by Mrs. Nancy Flanigan, organist.

MRS. JON HATAWAY
(nee Laura Mason)

Crystal Mason served her sister as maid of honor. She wore a floor length dress of yellow. She carried a nosegay of yellow and white daisies and gypsophila with white streamers.

The groom was attired in a white tuxedo with matching white vest, white ruffle shirt and bow tie. Serving as best man was Jacky Harp, cousin of the groom. He wore a white tuxedo with a yellow ruffle shirt, yellow cummerbund and bow tie. Alan Gibson of Lamesa, and Ron Mason, brother of the bride, served as ushers. They wore brown suits.

Candles were lit by Jennifer Clevenger, cousin of the bride, and Amber Harp, cousin of the groom. They wore identical floor length dresses of yellow organza over yellow satin. They featured an empire waistline with satin belting, a scoop neckline with a ruffle, long sheer organza sleeves and a large ruffle hemline. In their hair, they wore yellow and white silk daisy wreaths with white streamers.

Flower girls were Sonya and Tonya Harp, cousins of the groom. They wore white floor length dresses identical to candlelighters. They carried white lace umbrella baskets and wore yellow and white silk faisy wreaths with yellow streamers in their hair.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall immediately following the ceremony. The Bride's table was covered with a yellow floor length cloth with a white lace runner and white lace skirting.

The white wedding cake was four tiered with miniature white silk daisies. Atop the cake were four white wedding bells. The centerpiece consisted of yellow and white silk daisies and gypsophila in a crystal bowl.

A yellow candle was on either side of the centerpiece. Serving at the bride's table was Julie Tyler and Tricia Hair using crystal appointments.

The groom's table was covered with a brown floor length cloth with a white lace skirting. The cake was white decorated with a brown oil derrick. The centerpiece was a pump jack surrounded by miniature silk daisies. Brass appointments completed the setting. Serving were Carla Hataway, Vicki Hataway and Trina Hataway, all sisters-in-law of the groom.

Members of the house party included Mmes. Marilyn Williams, Billie Windham, Ruth Reno and Lois Cook all of Post.

The bride is a 1981 graduate of Post High School and is employed at the Garza County Tax Office. The groom is a 1979 graduate of Dawson High School and is employed at Rocker A Well Service in Post.

The couple will reside in Post after a short honeymoon.

Out of town guests were registered from Andrews, Lamesa, Welch, Boyd, Big Spring, Seminole, Slaton, Lubbock, Roscoe, Brownfield, Draw, Levelland, Azle, Tahoka, Southland, and Louisiana.

A rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents Friday evening in the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church. Assisting in serving the wedding party were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harp of Welch, uncle and aunt of the groom.

and Kevin Williams on base, scoring both runners. Gonzales, Robbie Blair, Trey Payne and Bobby Blair each had one hit and Williams scored two runs for the Tigers.

Tamara Jones led the A's with three hits and scored two runs. Brandon Bird, Kevin Morris, Bobby Brumley and Victor Chapa each had one hit with Chapa's being a home run.

TO ALL INTERESTED PERSONS

You are hereby notified of the opportunity to request a public hearing and or submit written comment concerning construction permit applications No. C-9451 and No. PSD-TX 494M1 by Mid Plains Pipeline Company, Incorporated to construct a gas processing plant near Post, Garza County, Texas. The proposed location is approximately 10 miles northwest of Post. The proposed facility will emit the following air contaminants in amounts of significant enough to require a Prevention of Significant Deterioration (PSD) permit review: sulfur oxides and oxides of nitrogen. In addition, the proposed facility will emit carbon monoxide. No other pollutant emission increase will result from this facility.

The Executive Director of the Texas Air Control Board has determined that the proposed facility will not violate any state or federal air quality regulations and will not have any significant adverse impact on soils, vegetation or visibility. He, therefore, has made the preliminary determination to issue these permits.

The degree of PSD increment predicted to be consumed by the proposed facility and other increment consuming sources in the area is as follows:

Sulfur Dioxide, averaging time, 3-hour; maximum increment consumed (ug-m3) 109; and maximum allowable increment (ug-m3) 512.

Sulfur Dioxide, averaging time, 24-hour; maximum increment consumed (ug-m3) 34; maximum allowable increment (ug-m3) 91.

Sulfur Dioxide, averaging time, annual; maximum increment consumed (ug-m3) 5; and maximum allowable increment (ug-m3) 20.

MEMORY AND AGING

Many people assume that aging and forgetfulness go hand-in-hand. But this is not true for all people - some continue with excellent memories, while others suffer a loss in memory. Some who lose their ability to easily remember do so quickly, and others lose their recall slowly.

People of any age can have trouble remembering. Perhaps they never learned what they want to remember very well in the first place, because it had little meaning to them at the time. Or they may be having trouble with recall.

According to Extension aging specialists, psychologists have identified a number of things that make it more difficult to remember clearly as people grow older. For example, if they can't see or hear as clearly as they used to, they may not be learning or storing the items very well in the first place. That may be one reason why some elderly people can clearly remember things that happened years ago, but have difficulty remembering things that happened yesterday.

Living longer also means that older people have a larger pool of items they have to search through in their minds in order to remember something specific. This can take time.

If they have suffered any of the diseases that affect thinking ability, such as arteriosclerosis or Alzheimer's disease, then memory will be impaired.

Poor nutrition, lack of exercise, depression or lowered motivation and fatigue, due to disturbed sleep can all result in memory problems for older people.

In addition, there is sometimes a "psychological" factor. Some older people expect to lose their memories. They don't forgive themselves when they forget things and they see their slips of memory as a reminder of old-age.

While there is no "miraculous cure" for memory loss, here are some suggestions for improving memory:

Get plenty of exercise, eat well-balanced meals and stay active enough in the daytime that you can sleep at night.

Realize that you may be depressed and you may need to talk to someone about how you're feeling before you'll start feeling better.

Make "memory joggers" to give you some extra signals that let you know what you need to know. For example, write down names and phone numbers; set out medicine cups labeled with the time of day; make routine times to check for things, and have routine places for those items you use regularly.

Give yourself plenty of time to learn things that you want to remember. You don't have to rush or do things at anybody else's pace. Concentrate on what you want to learn.

Forgive yourself when you forget things. Anxiety over forgetting makes it even harder to remember them.

Ideas for Remembering Names
The famous Harvard psychologist B.F. Skinner often uses himself - at age 80 - as an example of someone who is trying to avoid growing old as a thinker. Remembering names is a thinking problem that he shares with many other older people. But Dr. Skinner says he has convinced himself that names are very seldom forgotten, and when he has a half hour to think about it he can nearly always recall a name.

But most people don't have half an hour, especially when they're "on-the-spot" to make an introduction. Dr. Skinner says that's part of the problem. After we fail to produce a name at the right moment on a few occasions, we become anxious about it. Then the next time an introduction is in order we may fail to recall a name in part because of past failures.

Dr. Skinner suggests that older people do as he does and simply find some graceful ways of explaining the failure to remember a name. You can, for example, appeal to your age. Or you can flatter your listener by saying that you have noticed that the more important the person, the easier it is to forget the name. You can even recall an amusing story, such as forgetting your own name when you were asked for it by a clerk. If you are skillful at that sort of thing, he says, forgetting may even be a pleasure!

Birth.....

Twin Cedars News

By Darla Davis

Hi, another week has passed here at Twin Cedars and we have had fun and games. Our big event for the week was our covered dish family night. For the ones who couldn't be with us let me share some of the things we did.

We were entertained throughout the evening with the Country Cousins consisting of Mildred Stewart, Durwood and Bill Bartlett, Mike Bartlett, Ira and Modena Farmer, and Virgil and Escar Stone. We were proud to see such a good turn out we had guest from Lubbock and Oklahoma. Eighty people were served from our buffet of covered dishes and homemade hot rolls. Everyone ate and danced and had such a good time. We would like to thank Rev. Steve Traw and family and Rev. Alvin Petty and family, for coming and being with us.

We would also like to thank Tricia Metsgar, Anna Mason, Cynthia Martinez, Josie Aguilar, Gressa Mason, Chris Howle and Margie Redman for helping with all the planning and cleaning up. Our guests were also a big help and we would also like to thank them. A special thanks goes to Dee and Janet Justice for the use of the chairs and to the First Baptist Church for the tables.

Troy and Rosie Horton from the Dairy Queen brought a case of bananas to us for snacks and some good ole banana pudding. We would like to thank them for being so thoughtful.

We sure have been enjoying our fresh vegetables from Dee's garden. It is always so good fresh out of the garden and would like to thank Dee for sharing it with us.

Thought for the week: We are accepted by God; all we need to do is accept the fact that we are accepted!

Until next week.....

Gradine to be President

County Treasurer, Voda Beth Gradine was named president of the Sandy Landers, area county treasurers, when the group met June 21 in Crosbyton.

The next meeting of the group will be held November 8 in Levelland, Hockley County.

The State treasurers conference scheduled for September 18, 19 and 20 to be held in Amarillo was also discussed.

Judge Joyce Whithead hosted the meeting last week.

Priscilla Club meeting

The Priscilla Club met in the home of Mrs. Gladys Hendrix for their last meeting of the summer. They will begin again in September.

The evening was spent sewing, crocheting, and visiting.

Delicious refreshments of orange sherbert drink, tuna sandwiches, chips, thin chicken slices with cream cheese stuffing and mints were served to members Sybil Cockrum, Pauline Warren, Vada McCampbell, Odie Kemp, Wanda Cox, Faye Mathis, Maxine Smith, Alma Williams and hostess Gladys Hendrix.

A group of our members were gone on a tour to Nova Scotia.

For years Ivory soap was sold by heralding its purity. It contained no foreign matter or imperfections. Such a product was completely trustworthy to mothers, families, and newborns.

There is another household product of even higher purity. It is 100 per cent worthy of your every confidence. Far more homes contain it than the well advertised white bar of soap.

Its message can be trusted not only in things that are spiritual, but it also is repeatedly shown to withstand all tests relating to science and history. We speak of the Bible.

Many scholars have made up our minds that the book is little more than myths and outmoded ideas collected over many years. Others find only literary and ethical values in its 66 books. These same ones are, however, unable to point out those alleged myths and errors of science and historical data.

If one enters scripture with a mind-set that is naturalistic and allows for no supernatural, that one must reject its message. There are only two ways to study the Bible, with your mind made up, or studying to let it make up your mind.

Today's reader of scripture has volumes of recent archeological studies that have silenced the early critics. We know from secular studies that despite past criticism there did exist a complete and widely used written language in the time of Moses, who gave us the first five books of the Bible. Abraham was often regarded as a mythical character from an imaginary land or Ur of the Chaldeans. Now it has been proven factual as it was written. Not only did he live about 2000 BC and report accurately the cities in his sojourns, many of those sites were not in existence soon after his time. This disallows this Genesis account having been later fabricated.

Jericho, the Hittite civilization, the book of Daniel and the Babylonian captivity, the exodus from Egypt are among things illuminated by recent finds.

The Bible is accurate in historical events. Its greater testimony of the one way to salvation through faith in Christ attests to John the Apostle's words, If we receive the witness of men, the witness of God is greater.
