Any excuse to take a day off is okay...but in the midst of all the fun and relaxation or whatever is on tap for the day...let's be sure to set aside a little time to reflect on the why of this particular day.

Historically, we can't really say that July 4, 1776 was the day that America became an independant nation.

True, it's the day set aside to officially recognize, but so much went before and so much went after that day, and much was sacrificed by so many to accomplish what was on that day simply a piece of paper.

Many of us trace our ancestoral roots to people who lived during those difficult times...facing the decision of whether to go against the established rule of England or set on the sidelines and see what would happen.

Fortunately, for us today, there were thousands of men and women in the 1770s and 1780s who were bold enough and strong enough of conviction to take a stand against wrongful government.

Thousands of stories are told and retold of families losing all their material belongings and sacrificing ultimately with their lives to defend the idea of freedom.

The very idea of the men who signed their names to the document we call the Declaration of Independence was a treasonable act punishable by death.

They knew that...and were prepared to lose everything. And most of the men who gathered to set the course of revolution had a lot to lose. They were landed gentry, merchants and manufacturers, importers and exporters.

To publicly oppose the King of England was equivalent to signing their own death

What do we own these people?

We owe them our freedom...it was their action and thousands of others like them, which made all of what we have today possible.

And it is all so very shaky. Freedom and the democracy we know today is only as good as the people who make the decisions...and are willing to sacrifice to see it maintained.

What is our debt to those who suffered and stepped up to the front of the line to face death so others could be free?

Our debt is to be prepared to sacrifice in our own way and in our own time so that our descendants will benefit from our legacy.

We must not stand idly by and watch our heritage disappear through careless stewardship of our resources and economic lifeline.

And today, that is the real threat to our democracy...not communism or socialism or illegal aliens or all the other "scarry creatures" lurking behind politicians. It is the squandering of our economic wealth and the wasteful spending of taxpayers, hard-earned money...that is the threat Americans face

If there is to be a revolution in our time to match the spirit of '76, it will come in the way of a taxpayers' revolt.

Enough is enough...and when enough of us reach that point...scarifices will be call-

When the government fails to hear the people and steals money from the people to enrich the interests of a few...then the spirit of '76 will haunt the halls of congress or Austin.

Let the government be warned, the people will only take so much of wasteful spending...our heritage demands an accounting.

Low-Level Nuclear Waste restoration of the Algerata Hotel, soon to be an Art Center and home for Post Art Dump Gets Opposition

Approximately 150 Garza, Kent and Crosby citizens attended a community wide meeting last Thursday night in the Post Community Center concerning the Low-Level Radioactive Waste site proposed in Garza County near Kalgary. Tom Blackburn, director of the authority presented a slide presentation to the audience before opening the session to questions.

During the slide presentation, Blackburn told those attending that Texas was now storing its low-level waste in Washington State, but Texas would have to have its own site by 1988. He said those using the dump site would include teaching hospitals, petroleum industry and nuclear plants as well as regular hospitals and research institutes.

Blackburn said all dump sites required that low-level waste be solidified and water coming from the nuclear plants would be placed in drums with concrete.

Blackburn also stated that the present dump sites in North Carolina and Washington buried their waste with only five feet of dirt, but that Texas planned to bury its waste with 15 feet of soil.

After opening the floor to questions, most Garza County residents were concerned about the water situation in the proposed site area and the closeness of White River

Authorities assured those attending that White River Lake was North of the proposed site and if contamination should occur it would take place in the Double Mountain Fork of the Brazos

Authorities also stated that two test holes had been drilled at the proposed site and no water was found in either test. If water should be found at the site, the authority would "back off" and look elsewhere.

More extensive testing is to be done at the site and test results would be made available to local authorities including the commissioners court who are on record as being opposed to such a waste site in Garza County.

Lessons in Science

Pastor Steve Traw First Christian Church

My college undergraduate studies were in the natural and physical science fields. It was the zoology professor with his earned doctorate who asked if there was anyone in the class who bought-in on that creation stuff. No one responded!

That began my formal study of the animal kingdom. It was part of a centuries old rift between scientists and challenge theologians. The was once a bit reversed. It was the theologians who gave much trouble to noted discoveries in science. The Polish astronomer Copernicus and Galileo with his True science and scripture do agree completely. The discrepancies which are much paraded have a twofold source. Many arise when scientists give their postulations and theories as fact. The theologian is also at fault when scripture is misinterpreted in regards to things of science.

Yet the Bible and true science never disagree. It is a great encouragement to read the works of many scientists today with deep and uncompromised Christian beliefs. These study in geology, archaeology, physics, natural science, among other fields of active work.

Letter to the Editor Dear Editor:

I have never been through any of the beautiful old courthouses with the clock tower and turrents, but I remember seeing a few of them just passing through town. Lockhart, Texas, Weatherford, Texas and Hillsboro, Texas. It has been years since I saw these but I still remember them.

I think this may be true of our beautiful City Hall. The people who pass through Post, Texas may not stop for a tour of it, but they will remember it and where it is located.

And if they should stop for a tour of it we will be more than happy to show them through. Sincerely,

Pee Wee Pierce

Government Supports May Change

In both 1983 and 1984 the U. S. Department of Agriculture was required by law to set the U.S. Upland cotton loan rate for the base quality, Strict Low Middling 1-16th inch, cotton at the statutory minimum of 55 cents per pound.
But the situation is almost certain to be different for 1985.

The 1981 Farm Act requires that the base loan set at the lower of a "spot market calculation" or a "Northern European calculation." However if the Northern European calculation is below the spot market cal-

This assumes of course that exercising such authority will result in a loan at or above the prescribed 55-cent minimum.

The "spot market calculation" is described by law as 85 percent of the average price quoted in U. S. spot markets for the base quality during the median three years of the five-year period ending July 31 of the year in which the loan is announced. The loan level for 1985 must be announced by November 1 of this year.

The "Northern European calculation" equals 90 percent of an adjusted 15-week average of price quotations for 1-3-32nds inch cotton, CIF Northern Europe.

Neither of the calculations can be completed this year until later. The 15-week period to be used for European quotations doesn't begin until July 1 and the 5-year spot market figures won't be complete until after August 1.

There is however a good indication of how the latter calculation will look when finalized. Through March of this year, according to USDA, the weighted average of quotations for the median three of the first five years comes to 67.32 cents per pound. That figure times 85 percent, as required, equals 57.2 cents per pound.

So unless the numbers change, the secretary will have authority to set the loan level for the base quality in 1985 at 57.2 cents, over two cents per pound above the statutory minimum. Moreover, should the adjusted Northern European quotes average above the spot market figure, as well may happen, the spot market figure becomes the minimum for the 1985 loan. USDA in the June 6 Federal Register calls for comments on the 1985 loan level, what kind of and size acreage reduction program should be announced, if any, the target price and other 1985 program details.

Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., began its deliberations on 25-county cotton producer group's comments at a meeting of the Executive Committee June 14. PCG's program recommandations will be finalized by the full Board on July 11.
