City Sets New Water Rates

Meeting in their new chambers for the first time, City Council members held a meeting Monday night to discuss the budget and set new water rates.

The City has had to subsidize the sewer, sanitation and water department with $65,000 tax money and after having studied other towns the size of Post, it was determined that Post had had the lowest rates for the last several years.

Council members had raised the sewer and sanitation fees at their regular meeting last month and Monday night voted to raise the water rates to $4 for the first 5,000 gallons and then $1 per 1,000 over the 5,000. Outside the city limits, subscribers will now be paying $5.50 for the first 5,000 and then $1.50 per 1,000 over the 5,000.

City subscribers had been paying $3.50 up to 3,000 gallons and then $4.13 for 4,000 with the rates being staggered until they reached the 110,000 gallon usage at 36 cents.

Council members noted that it costs White River Lake 80 cents a 1,000 to get water to the city tanks and with the rate increase, it is hoped that the department will be able to pay its own way and will no longer have to be subsidized.

Bill Pool, new city manager, met with the council Monday night to discuss the budget and said "if it is at all avoidable, there hopefully will not have to be a tax increase this year." Council members are still studying the budget.

Letter to Post...

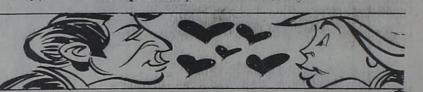

Everywhere

It would take a long letter for me to cover all my thoughts of you but at the present time I must make it short.

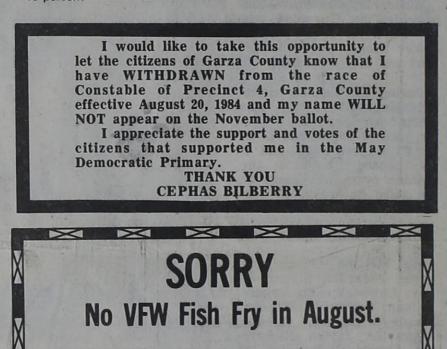

After the beautiful Sunday I developed a lump in my throat and the tears cannot be stopped. From the beauty and concern that my eye beheld, friendships so sweet and so devine. The flowers and the beautiful tables and the kind words spoken of me, love to me and to my family.

It reminded me of the Book of Psalms, first chapter, second and third verse; "He delighted in the law of the Lord and his law doeth he meditate day and night and he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water that bringth forth his fruit in his season; His leaf shall not wither; and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper.

The memory of your love is like the tender plant planted by the rivers of water. Quench my thirsty heart. As I looked to Sunday over all those who were there, I was very proud of Post products. First was my family, a Post product, Saving Water In Laundering Much of our household water use takes place in the laundry room. While doing laundry is one of those "necessities" of life, wasting water in the process is not.

Colleen England, Garza County Extension Home Economicst has several suggestions for reducing the amount of water used for laundry:

Many washing machines use the same amount of water for a half-full load as for a full load. So loading your washer to its rated capacity is one of the best ways to save not only water, but also energy and time.

Most washing machines use 40-60 gallons of water for a regular cycle, which is on the average about 12-18 gallons more than the permanent press cycle. Selecting the appropriate cycle for the type of clothes you are washing can be a water saver. Newer washing machines have a variety of water-saving features built into their design. Make sure you are making full use of features such as setting the water level for different size loads.

Reducing the number of loads of laundry done can also conserve water. Encourage children to change into play clothes after school so that school clothes and play clothes can be worn several times between washings. Also make sure that clothes really need washing. Items that need to be

Items that need to be handwashed, such as hosiery or lingerie, should be accumulated so that several things can be washed at once.

Finally, think about water use when you select new laundry equipment. Watersaving features, such as a choice of water levels, should be considered in future purchase decisions. Be a better clothes buyer

Being a better clothes buyer isn't just a matter of going to sales. Whether you have unlimited funds or a shoestring budget, the chances are you can improve your clothing consumer skills.

Know what you need. Plan your purchases rather than shopping on impulse. Select clothes for leisure activities as well as the workplace, and decide if you want to be a fashion innovator or display a conservation appearance. Keep your budget in mind, but look at the whole picture as you plan your wardrobe.

Know what quality you want. Every item you buy doesn't have to be of the same quality. For example, a trendy after-five dress can be poorly costructed and yet last through the few times you will wear it.

Know what you are paying for. Designer labels, extra services and expensively decorated stores can all add to the price tag. Quality of construction is sometimes less important in determining the price of an item than how fashionable it is. But in general, a store's best quality merchandise is usually the best buy.

Know what makes you -or the person you are buying for -- look good. Know which styles, colors and textures are most becoming. But remember that clothing should emphasize the individual rather than drawing attention to itself.

Garment Labels now give more information

New care labeling regulations for clothing and certain textile items are now in effect, and they can aid consumers.

The new rules require special information about garment care procedures to be on permanent labels sewn into dresses, skirts, pant suits, blouses and other items. The labels will provide instructions on washing, bleaching, drying, ironing and dry cleaning.

Fabric care labeling legislation has been in effect since 1972, but there were many problems because the original guidelines were not clear. Often the labels in garments gave incomplete, inconsistent or sometimes inaccurate information. With the improved labels, consumers should be able to save money by taking better care of their clothes.

Consumers will find the new labels give specific instructions on machine or hand washing of garments. If an article cannot be washed in hot water, a water temperature must be recommended. Bleaching instructions must be given if regular bleaching will damage the garment.

Drying instructions must state whether the item can be dried by machine or by some other method. If machine drying is recommended, but a high temperature should not be used, the label must suggest the correct temperature.

If ironing will be necessary, the label must say so. An ironing temperature is required if regular use of a hot iron will harm the garment.

When dry cleaning is recommended, specific instructions must be noted if all solvents cannot be safely used.

Committees total 347 for Sesquicentennial

With a year and a half still to go until the big celebration in 1986, statewide planning for the Sesquicentennial is approaching a fever pitch -- a fact 74 newly-sanctioned Texas Independence Communities and Counties would be happy to attest to! The 74 local planning committees for the Sesquicentennial received the official title from the Sesquicentennial Commission in Austin last week, bringing the total number of officially sanctioned local planning committees to 347.

This figure represents almost three-quarters of the population of Texas, involv-ing more than 500 Texas communities.

The 74 new Texas Independence Communities and Counties earned the title after many months of hard work and decision-making, culminating in the submission of their master plans to the Commission for approval at its August 8 quarterly meeting. Each committee's master plan was required to meet several criteria, including a committee roster reflecting a cross section of the community, written resolutions from the county judge and commisioners' court or mayor and city council, and a detailed description of the city's or county's planned events and activities for the celebration. As Texas Independence Communities and Counties, the organizations are afforded several priveleges. Among these are the right to use the Sesquicentennial logo on printed materials and to award its use on other products of the committee's choosing, the opportunity to sell and profit from official Sesquicentennial commemorative products, and -- most importantly -- the right to have their major, dated events published in the Official Guide to Sesquicentennial Events and Activities, to be printed and distributed worldwide in 1985.

The special events and activities the 74 committees have planned to honor Texas in 1986 are as colorful and diverse as the communities and counties that will carry them out. Cowboy and old-timer homecomings and celebrations, ethnic festivals, parades, historical pageants, erection of markers and statues, and beautification of downtown areas are some of the highlights. A common thread runs through each master plan: the pride each committee feels for its own. area, and a desire to showcase its local best in 1986.

The Garza county chairmen include Don Windham and Maxine Earl.

-Cotton Talks-

Not many years ago it was byssinosis and its dire threat to cotton consumption that was sending chills up the spine of cotton industry folk from coast to coast. Now, it's formaldehyde.

"Just as we were learning to live with cotton dust regulations related to byssinosis," says Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., "Along comes the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) with a proposal to determine if the use of formaldehyde in apparel manufacturing poses an unreasonable threat to textile workers."

Formaldehyde treatment

on OSHA to act sooner, NCC says.

"Research by NCC, Cotton Incorporated and the American Textile Manufacturers Institute," Johnson states, "has been and continues to be the primary key to reducing the adverse effects of cotton dust regulation.

"And we will be lending our full support to these same organizations as they employ the resources and the expertise necessary to either eliminate or at least mitigate this latest threat."

is an essential step in the production of all durable press fabrics containing cotton or other cellulosic fiber such as rayon. Durable press fabrics of 100 percent polyester, for example, require no formaldehyde-containing chemicals.

In response to the EPA proposal, the National Cotton Council (NCC) disputed the need to regulate formaldehyde use, citing studies it said show the chemical poses no unreasonable health threat.

Analyzing possible effects of the EPA action, NCC said total annual loss to the raw cotton industry alone would approximate 2.8 million bales valued at $1.3 billion if formaldehyde-containing finishes could not be used. The baleage figure, NCC says, represents 80 percent of cotton use in apparel and almost half of total domestic cotton consumption each year.

"If durable press apparel can't be produced competitively in the U.S. because of formaldehyde regulation," NCC warned, "consumer demand for these products would be met by imports at a cost of hundreds of thousands of jobs."

The United Auto Workers (UAW) earlier entered a plea to requrie the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) to reach a decision on emergency or permanent rulemaking for formaldehyde by October 2. The U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia recently rejected the UAW plea, but ordered the agency to submit timetables by August 10 outlining when decisions would be completed.

OSHA has maintained it needed at least four months to decide if temporary standards were needed and at least nine months to decide on permanent rulemaking. But the latest court

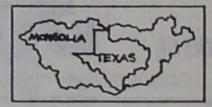

sets tax Rate

Although the 1984-85 Budgetary increases and the loss of local valuations will necessitate what could amount to a need of $560,000.00 more in local funds than in the previous year, it is the intent of the Board of Trustees not to raise the Effective Tax Rate above $.56 for the 1984-85 school year to get the maximum dollars needed; additional funds will be acquired by reducing the Operating Fund surplus. This can be done this year without affecting the necessary operating cash flow needs.

Although it was not the goal of H. B. 72 to provide equal pay raises for all professional employees, the Board of Trustees intends to adopt a budget for the 1984-85 school year that will insure all professional employees a raise of at least $170.00 per month.

This action is not meant to permanently establish a pay system for the district. Over the course of the next school year, (1984-85), the Post I. S. D. will design what we hope will be an effective pay system.

The public will be given the cost figures for the 1985-86 year and thereafter as the cost figures emerge. Board of Trustees Post Independent School District

The Greening Of Pasta ... A Fresh Idea

You've no doubt heard of green noodles, but noodles with greens?! It's Pasta Verde. . . egg noodles plus spinach, California ripe olives, cheese and sour cream. . . and it adds up to perfection. The greens lend a refreshing lightness to the pasta. The ripe olives contribute texture and color contrast, and mellow taste. The cheese blends together the other ingredients. And the subtle flavors of sour cream and herbs enhance all to make a luscious dish hearty enough for an entree but equally beautiful as a side dish or first course.

Pasta Verde

6	ounces medium egg noodles (about 2 cups)	1	large clove garlic, minced or pressed
1-1/2	quarts boiling water	1-1/2	teaspoons basil, crumbled
1	tablespoon vegetable oil		teaspoons oregano, crumb
1	medium onion, chopped (1/2 cup)	1-1/2	cups pitted California ripe olives, cut into wedges
1	pound fresh spinach or Romaine lettuce, washed,	. 1	cup grated Monterey Jack cheese
	trimmed and chopped	1	cup grated Parmesan chees
1	cup dairy sour cream		(optional)

Drop noodles into boiling water. Return to boil. Reduce heat and simmer 7 minutes; drain. While noodles cook, heat oil in skillet. Add onion and spinach and cook over medium-high heat for 4 to 5 minutes or until onion is cooked and spinach is wilted. Stir in sour cream, garlic, basil, oregano and all but 1/4 cup olives. Drain noodles. Return to kettle. Add Jack cheese and 1/2 the Parmesan cheese. Heat, stirring until melted. Stir in spinach combination.

Pork can be safe cooked in Microwave

Pork prepared in a microwave is tender, juicy, flavorful and safe, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist.

Many people have been legitimately concerned about cooking pork in their microwave, says Dr. Dymple Cooksey. The problem is that heat distribution patteterns vary in meat cuts cooked by microwave, she explains.

In the case of pork, thorough cooking is necessary to insure that micro-organisms such as trichinella do not survive, says the nutritionist. Since evaporative cooking occurs when meats are cooked in a microwave oven, the internal temperature of a pork roast might reach the recommended 170 degrees F, while the surface temperature would be only 120 F.

However, through research for the Pork Industry Group of the National Livestock and Meat Board, conducted at Iowa State University and private laboratories, recommendations for proper and safe microwave cooking methods of pork have been developed, she says.

In order to create an environment in which pork can be prepared safely, the researchers used a "cooking bag" to produce a vaporous atmosphere while the pork cooks. The procedure has been tested extensively using meat from hogs infected with trichinilla, and no organisms were found to survive, says Cooksey.

Back-To-School Dessert And Snack Tips

Packing lunch boxes, mailing care packages to college students, grabbing a quick breakfast on the run and after-school snacking. Yes, it's that time of year again when at least a few of these activities become part of most busy routines.

Change from more relaxed summer schedules to a faster pace need not bring humdrum, unappealing eating habits. It's important to avoid the same old thing for the lunch box toters and for the eat-and-run breakfast eaters to encourage them not to skip such important nutritional meals.

Home economists in the Betty Crocker Kitchens have tasty answers to some of the questions you may be asking now that fall is here.

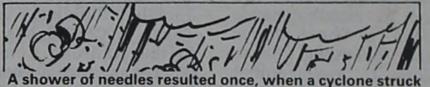

Question: What type of baked desserts pack best in lunch boxes?

Answer: First of all, choose desserts that will keep at room temperature. This means avoiding foods with cream and other fillings and toppings that require refrigeration. Select items that tote without crumbling and can be placed in airtight wrapping without ruining appearance.

Also, select cakes, bars and cookies with firm and/or moist textures without gooey frostings. We particularly like gingerbread, brownies and other bars, chewy cookies, pound cake, dessert-type muffins and fruita factory that made knitting needles. - V', I, I'. * 14/.

Answer: Many lunch box rules apply to mailing as well. Again choose desserts that will not spoil or become stale en route. Opt for good long-distance travelers such as moist, firmly textured cakes and bars: date and dream bars; coconut macaroons; fruitcake and moist, drop cookie favorites such as oatmeal, sour cream and molasses.

Heat gently but do not boil. Turn into serving dish. Sprinkle with remaining olives and Parmesan cheese. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Here are the resulting recommendations for microwave fresh boneless pork roasts:

boneless roasts weighing no more than 3 to 21/2 pounds and having a diameter of no more than four inches.

Place roast into a 10 by 16 inch oven cooking bag and place in microwave safe baking dish or place on a microwave safe rack with sides.

Evenly sprinkle roast with a package of pork or brown gravy mix.

Close bag loosely with string or a 1/2 inch strip cut

Consider an elegant "celebration in a cup," an appealing combination of coffee and dessert in one.

Creme Cafe, for instance, can be created quickly and easily, yet looks and tastes like an unusual dessert requiring elaborate preparation.

For Appliances

Freezer

The freezer is a hardworking appliance that lets you take advantage of special tood sale prices and quantity purchases. It also lets you freeze and store seasonal fruits and vegetables from the garden to be enjoyed all year long.

According to home economists from Whirlpool Corporation, a treezer has a long life spån (over 15 years). A little tender loving care given it throughout the years can help keep it looking and working well.

The home economists advise that a freezer should be cleaned when frost has built up to about 1 4 inch thickness. Complete defrosting and cleaning should be done at least once a year. In high humidity areas, it may need more frequent defrosting. To defrost and clean:

• Turn control to off and unplug power cord.

. Take out all food and wrap in several layers of newspapers and cover with a blanket. Food will stay frozen for several hours.

• Use plastic scraper to remove frost.

• Place pans of hot water in freezer with door open to speed melting. Directing air from an electric fan into the freezer will also help.

• Drain defrost water through drain hose into a flat pan.

• Wash interior with solution of two tablespoons baking soda to one quart of warm water. · Rinse and dry.

It isn't that children mean to be careless . . . it's just that in their zest and vitality they sometimes forget to stop, look and listen before crossing the street. It isn't that we mean to be careless, yet the very car we drive may be considered a lethal weapon and the consequences of our negligence could be fatal. It is our moral obligation to be extra alert these days when school children crowd the crosswalks!
