

White River directors opposed water import bill

Al O'Brien told Post Rotarians at their Tuesday luncheon in the community center that White River Water District directors opposed the West Texas water importation bill believed here to have passed the legislature and gone to the governor for his signature.

As a result of the White River board's opposition the counties of Garza, Crosbyton and Dickens eventually were taken out of the West Texas water district the bill would authorize. These are the counties in which White River towns are located.

One of the changes, insisted upon by State Senator E.L. Short, was that every county would be given the right to vote itself out of the district if it so desired before the district acquired any bond obligations.

Originally, the 46 counties involved were divided into nine precincts with a director from each precinct. O'Brien said obviously the large cities would control the whole water district.

Seventy percent of the popular vote in the water district is concentrated in only three of the counties.

Not only did the bill provide for taxing authority but for the establishment of extra assessments to those who benefitted more from imported water than others.

The White River water manager expressed the opinion that if anybody could contract with other states for water it should be the state of Texas not a special water district. He also added the thought that the district by itself could not afford to pay all the probable costs.

In closing, O'Brien said there is "nothing new to report" as yet on the future of the proposed Post Lake.

Ruby Kirkpatrick is both a loving — and courageous — grandmother. What other kind would pack up five of her grandchildren and fly away with them to Japan, China and Hong Kong.

Ruby considers travel very educational, so she is adding to the "spring term" for her grand kids with this 18-day trip abroad.

Dick, Cliff, Drew, Kathy and Will Kirkpatrick will fly with her this weekend to Seattle where they will do a bit of sight-seeing there before flying across the Pacific.

This is the second trip abroad with grandkids for Ruby. There is one more still coming up in future years.

A whole lot of work is going to be saved Saturday, June 9 — that's Post Cleanup Day — if local businessmen will get busy and take care of their own weeds.

There isn't much change to report in the local gasoline situation. Scare headlines in newspapers and constant TV news reports on gas shortages kept a lot of folks off the highways Memorial Day weekend, but things haven't gotten that short in Texas yet.

What's more there's no crunch around here on diesel fuel for those farm tractors. At least none we've heard about lately.

Course if it would come a good rain and everybody got to planting cotton things might change in a big hurry.

First 'yard' pick Monday

Post's first "yard of the week" award from the beautification committee of the Post Chamber of Commerce will be selected Monday by three judges.

A new sign denoting the honor will be placed in the yard until a successor is chosen the following week.

Eight by ten inch color pictures of the weekly winners will be taken and displayed at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet next spring and the pictures then presented to the yard owners at the banquet.

Hospital honors LVN Janie Ammons

Garza Memorial Hospital has named Janie Ammons as Hospital Employee of the Month for May.

Janie is an LVN at the hospital and received verification last Friday of her passing the test in Austin.

She attended the Lubbock Vocational School of Nursing for a year and began her tenure at Garza Memorial in February.

Cleanup all set

Post's 1979 Cleanup Week is all set to begin Monday. All that is still needed are lots more volunteers for the final big Saturday effort, June 9.

Joy Greer, the cleanup chairman, today called for all businesses through the business district and along the highways to "get their own weeds down."

The Saturday cleanup will be concentrated in the business district and along the highways.

Volunteers are asked to meet at 8 a.m. June 9 in the bank parking lot for cleanup assignments.

Free refreshments and lunch in the park will be served that day by the sponsoring Chamber of Commerce and its women's division.

Homeowners are asked to cleanup their own properties next week. Mrs. Greer said both the city and county have volunteered to provide trucks to haul away all cleanup debris which can be piled into alleys.

The Chamber took a half page ad in today's Dispatch to advertise for cleanup volunteers.

Pair wins 6 scholarships

Dale Redman and James (Shorty) Bilberry each received three of the nine scholarships presented in Antelope Stadium Friday evening during high school commencement.

Redman received one from the Amity Study Club, presented by Anne Leake; one for the highest ranking boy in the class from the Texas Council of Church Related Schools presented by Lane Tannehill; and the Ella Mae Hudman Scholarship presented by Sandra Alexander.

Bilberry received the OS Ranch scholarship, presented by Jim Prather, the Post school faculty and administration scholarship and the Xi Delta Rho Sorority scholarship, both presented by Christy Morris.

Kerri Pool and Larisa Shiver received scholarships from the Texas Council of Church Related schools for being the highest ranking and second highest ranking students respectively in the class. These were also presented by Tannehill.

Beth Elliott was the other scholarship recipient, receiving one from the Gamma Mu Sorority, presented by Julie Hudman.

A.C. Cash, long time school trustee, in the commencement address told graduates, parents and friends: "You will be taking on adult privileges along with adult responsibilities."

He advised graduates to "be optimistic, have faith not only in your country but in your self and you will succeed."

Over 3,500 acres lost----

Hail wipes out Grassland cotton

While most of Garza County received only sand and wind from two or three weekend thunderstorms, the Grassland community on the west edge of the county got a Sunday evening "flood" and hail.

Hail wiped out an estimated 3,500 acres of planted cotton which was already up.

Grassland received 1.5 inches Sunday and another .3 of an inch Monday.

All Post got was sand and wind in a 2 a. m. Sunday blow and .20 of an inch fell Sunday evening when wind pushed more sand through ahead of the small amount of moisture.

With the end of the normal cotton planting season only 10 days away, most of the county has yet to receive enough moisture to permit planting.

Post officially received .11 of an inch of quickly evaporating moisture in a handful of mini-showers Tuesday afternoon.

As The Dispatch went to press Wednesday afternoon, there were indications that maybe the long needed planting showers were on the way.

Janie is a 1965 graduate of Post High School.

Correction made on restitution

The Dispatch wishes to correct an error in this newspaper's story of last week of Daniel Morrow's guilty plea in Post's tire slashing case.

Since Morrow was involved in the criminal mischief spree with three juveniles (under 16 years of age), he will make restitution for only his proportionate share of the $2,043 in damages, which would be only one-fourth of this amount.

Memorial Day defense of free enterprise system

No businessman should have to apologize to anyone for success or resulting profit, Mayor Giles McCrary declared Monday morning in his Memorial Day address in Terrace Cemetery.

After paying tribute to the nation's war dead for making it possible "for us to stand here this morning free and without fear," McCrary turned to the "American dream" and many Americans who now seem to decry it. "The American dream of privilege and free enterprise has been developed over the years through the initiative of hard work, guts, and vision," he said. "Without the profit motive there would be no purpose in vesting capital."

"Actually the principal difference between the American way of life and those in socialist and communist countries is directly related to capital investment and the expectation of profit.

"As Americans we must correct our thinking, our attitudes," McCrary said. "Let's honor our vets today by having a positive attitude about ourselves, our future and our country."

The Memorial Day service was jointly sponsored by the VFW and American Legion posts here. At its conclusion each deceased veteran's grave in the cemetery was decorated with a small American flag.

A large crowd turned out early Monday morning for the free Memorial Day breakfast served at the VFW.

Pool will open Friday

The city-county swimming pool will open for the summer season at 1 p. m. Friday, June 1.

Pool hours this year are from 1 to 5 p. m. Tuesdays through Sundays and 8 to 11 p. m. also on Thursdays. The pool will be closed on Mondays.

Randall and Barry Wyatt are the pool operators this year.

Maxine Marks resigns Trail Blazers post

Mrs. Maxine Marks is resigning effective June 1 as site manager for Garza Trail Blazers, Inc., which operates the Algierita Senior Citizens Center under a federal contract.

Mrs. Marks in her letter of resignation to the board of directors cited the press of personal affairs since the recent death of her husband as the reason for stepping down. She offered to cooperate in every possible way as an individual in continuation of the program she largely was instrumental into bringing into being.

The board of directors at a special meeting Saturday afternoon in the home of Trail Blazers president Ruby Kirkpatrick accepted the resignation.

After some discussion the board voted to delay the appointment of Mrs. Marks' successor until Aug. 1 permitting time for all those who wish to apply for the position to do so and be considered by the board. Applications should be made by July 15, the board decided.

Mrs. Katherine Cathcart, who was elected by senior citizens to be their new judge advocate to oversee the county's aging program, has already filed a letter of application for the position.

She will be considered for the appointment along with others who apply and in the meantime will serve as temporary site manager until Aug. 1.

One charged in robbery

Jerry Solis was arrested here last Thursday and charged with aggravated robbery of Leon Alvarez, an illegal alien who was badly beaten about 11 p. m. east of Post on May 17.

Sheriff Jim Pippin said he has warrants for two others in connection with the case. Alvarez is in Lubbock's Methodist Hospital where he underwent surgery to relieve blood clots on his brain from the beating. Alvarez was robbed of approximately $250 after being paid his salary on a local job.

He was treated at Garza Memorial Hospital here for his injuries and later taken to Methodist where he was in intensive care for four days.

Solis has been released on $7,500 surety bond.

City asked to condemn

Post Chamber of Commerce directors voted at their May board meeting last Wednesday night to send Larry Willard and Danny Shaw to appear before the city council at its June meeting to ask that condemnation proceedings be initiated against the old Garza theater building and the storage building between Wacker's and Handy Hardware as fire and health hazards.

President Willard reported that letters sent several absentee owners of downtown buildings badly in need of repair has resulted in two of the buildings changing hands with promises that they will be fixed up by the new owners.

Directors decided to ask the city council to proceed on condemnation of the two buildings to which no replies were received. Both are considered unsafe as well as health hazards.

In other actions, directors: Authorized the Chamber office to set up a community events calendar so that costly community conflicts in scheduling can be avoided.

Organizations planning special events are asked to contact the Chamber to be sure they have a clear date and to register.

Saturday signup set

The program is scheduled for 9 a. m. to noon on Tuesdays through Thursdays, beginning next Monday.

Activities offered include gymnastics, girls softball, tennis, golf, arts and crafts, games, swimming, track, weights, football and cheerleading.

The cheerleading class is restricted to children in the fifth through eighth grades the next school year.

Joe Giddens is in charge of the recreational program.

Sprayberry rites held

Funeral services for Howard E. Sprayberry, 66, were conducted in the Hudman Funeral Home chapel here at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday by the Rev. Morgan Ashworth, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church.

Sprayberry died of an apparent heart attack about 4 a. m. Monday in Ruidoso where he had gone with his wife on a Memorial Day weekend holiday.

Sprayberry had been an auto salesman for Harold Lucas Motors here since 1973. Prior to that, a heart attack forced his retirement from the Postexp Plant. He entered the county commissioners race here last year but another heart attack put him into the hospital.

He had been a resident of Post for 26 years, moving here from Alabama. He was married to Sarah Welch Aug. 19, 1950, in West Point, Ga.

Survivors include his wife, one son, Howard Leon of Seattle, Wash.; three brothers, Van B. of Wadley, Ala.; Elbert of Op, Fla.; and Oakley of Lanette, Ala.; and three grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the funeral home.

Consider your contribution

Next week, June 3-9, is 1979 Cleanup Week for Post.

This year the Post Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the week and if given even a modest amount of community cooperation probably will continue in the years ahead as the sponsor of the community's spring house cleaning.

Post's record for cleanup weeks is quite spotty. About ten years ago, a group of women jumped in and organized about every organization in town and spent several weeks in the planning.

A lot of trash disappeared that Saturday never to bother our eyes or noses again.

The city for years sponsored the drive which has grown into a custom out here in West Texas where spring winds blow everything away that's not tied down.

Essentially the cleanup means cutting the weeds and picking up debris.

Such a cleanup drive can be broken down into two parts:

The first is for everyone to cleanup his own residential and business properties. That's a job that is never done 100 percent, of course.

The second is for volunteers, big or small, young or old, in-between and all, to get together in teams and cleanup public areas, such as highways, parks, downtown lots, etc.

Post has been "blessed" with few weeds this year — about 10 percent of normal — due to a 1979 drought yet to be broken when this was written over the weekend.

The city also has an automated trash collection system now which prevents the spring winds from blowing it out of trash cans and spreading it down streets and alleys.

If Post can raise 50 volunteers to do a good day's cleanup work Saturday, June 9, and folks will take enough pride to take care of their own premises, Post can have a very successful town cleanup.

Joy Greer is the cleanup chairman and she needs to have your work commitment so she can plan how big work crews to send where to do what when cleanup Saturday comes.

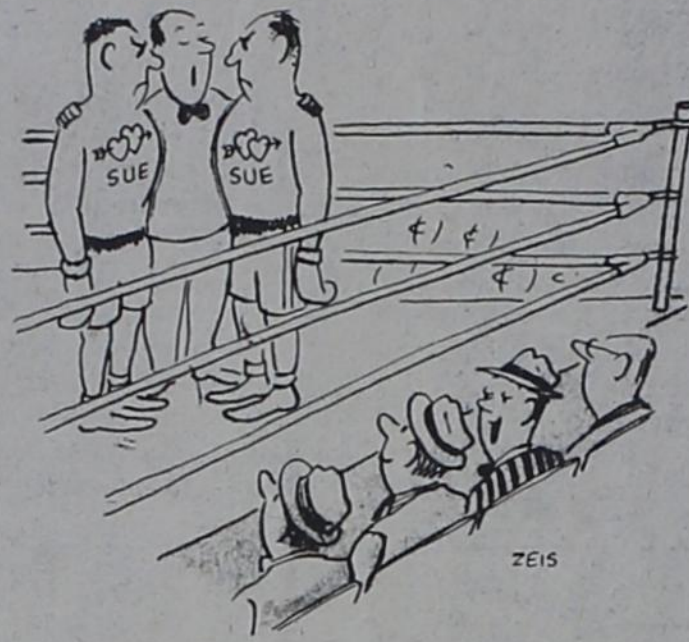

Call the Chamber office, the bank, or Joy today if you have the time, strength and community pride to volunteer.

The Chamber is making real strides in pushing for a clean community. It's yard of the week campaign goes into its second season next week and is generating a lot of enthusiasm for yard care and recognition.

The Chamber's beautification committee also has been authorized to give "pride certificates" to those who show unusual effort and pride in fixing up or cleaning up their premises.

On another front, the Chamber is pushing the owners of rundown buildings in the business district to fix them up, or face possible municipal condemnation of the structures. Two of these cited buildings have been sold since first Chamber letters were written on the project recently and their improvement is assured. As for other, two more will be carried to the city council in June with requests for condemnation hearings because the proprietors are both health and safety hazards.

The Chamber has a well rounded program and next weeks attempt to add an annual city cleanup to its projects agenda. It's a worth while cause. Consider your contribution to it right now.

"This ought to be good."

Gasohol's rosy future

It may be pure presumption on our part, but we feel sure the gasohol legislation successfully got through the legislature and is now on Governor Bill Clements' desk for signing into law.

At least we hope so. It may be some days before all the confusion clears in Austin over what happened — and didn't happen — in those final, frantic days of the legislature which wound up 140-day session Monday.

The legislation sailed through the state senate 28 to 0 last week after all the various agriculture organizations applied their lobbying muscle to subdue the powerful liquor lobby.

The liquor lobby had stalled in the house efforts to authorize out-of-state people to build an alcohol plant in Texas. For the last 40 years, it has been illegal to manufacture alcohol in Texas.

But the federal government has made available a $15,000,000 loan guarantee for a pilot gasohol facility in the Rio Grande Valley.

That plant is expected to generate 470 jobs in Santa Rosa, add $26.5 million to the state's economy, and pay some $330,000 in state and local taxes.

Agricultural Commissioner Reagan Brown has said that should ten percent of the total motor fuels market in Texas become gasohol — 90 percent gasoline and 10 percent alcohol — the impact on this state would amount to 6,000 workers employed directly in gasohol and would require 79 additional gasohol facilities the same size as the pilot Valley plant now coming off the drawing boards.

You can see gasohol can certainly boost the state's industrial picture to offset its declining oil production.

What's more we might point out that in Brazil, the world's leading nation in the use of gasohol, the mixture is now only 50 percent gasoline and 50 percent alcohol.

Should this country go this route in the future by steadily increasing the alcohol percentage in the gasohol mix, it would take a payroll of 30,000 workers and 395 gasohol plants to produce just enough for Texas. It also probably would put a whole lot of farmers into full production — growing all kinds of things to convert into alcohol.

Land bank rates hiked

Jay Dee House, manager of the Lubbock-Tahoka Federal Land Bank Association of Lubbock, announced today that the Federal Land Bank of Houston's billing rate on farm and ranch loans and rural residence loans will be increased from eight and one-half percent to nine percent effective June 1, 1979.

In making this announcement, Mr. House stated that the increase in the billing rate became necessary because of continued high cost of funds to finance the Bank's lending operation and no substantial decline is anticipated in the near future.

He also said that in today's economic climate the nine percent rate is very competitive.

The Land Bank in Houston introduced a variable rate plan in 1969 which allows the billing rate to increase or decrease with variations in the money market.

The Lubbock-Tahoka Federal Land Bank Association of Lubbock makes long-term real estate loans on farm and ranch land and rural residences throughout this area.

Final farm census report call made

A drive to round up reports that have not yet been returned from farm households in the 1978 Census of Agriculture was launched today by the Bureau of the Census.

Bureau officials have called the drive a "special effort to provide statistical results to the Nation's farmers and other users of census data as early as possible."

Most farm operators first received report forms last January, and most have, by now, completed and returned them. Although the rate at which reports have been returned has exceeded the pace of the last farm census, some farmers and ranchers have not sent in their reports.

"The completeness and accuracy of this important agricultural census depend upon each individual filling out the report form received," says Orvin Wilhite, Chief of the Bureau's

Agricultural Division. "I am sure that farmers and agricultural leaders want their county and State totals to be as accurate and useful as possible."

The farm census is the only government or private method for gathering and reporting agriculture information on a county-by-county basis for the entire Nation, Wilhite noted.

Important decisions will be made by farmer organizations, marketing associations and co-ops on the basis of information

Safe boating week to start Friday

June 1 through 7 was designated as Safe Boating Week in Texas by Governor Bill Clements who pointed out that "observance of water and boating safety rules becomes more important as boat users increase." Texas Safety Association notes that boat owners now number 531,781 according to Texas registrations. This is a significant increase in recreational craft. Last year, there were 265 reported boating accidents in Texas resulting in 66 fatalities, 84 injuries and $323,500 of property damage. The primary cause of these accidents was collision with another boat. Collision with a fixed object ranked second.

Captain Joe Denniston of the Division 7 Coast Guard Auxiliary said, "The most prominent cause of a collision is failure to post a lookout," adding, "Collisions also occur in periods of poor visibility."

Statistics show capsizing to be the third factor in boating accidents leading to death. The danger of capsizing which is mainly caused from improper loading or overloading of the boat or unfavorable weather conditions emphasizes the importance of using personal flotation devices. "Everyone should have them," said Denniston. "especially in the event of bad weather or fire."

"Accidents and fatalities have been cut in half since 1971," said Denniston. He attributes the decline to boating education. Boating safety classes are listed with local Parks and Wildlife Departments. Every boater should know their boat, how it should be properly equipped, loaded and fueled. Emergency procedures, legal requirements, boat handling and aids to navigation are a few of the many topics taught in boating courses.

Courtesy free boat inspection offered by the Coast Guard Auxiliary also aids in boaters' education, Denniston said. Auxiliary teams will check a boat at the dock, lake or owner's home explaining use and importance of the necessary items a safe boat should have.

France extended the vote to women in 1944.

Unbeaten Dodgers alone in first

Tigers, A's drop two of 3

The First National Bank Dodgers took over sole possession of first place in the Post Little League this week with two more victories to remain undefeated while both the Storie Gin Tigers and the Palmer Oil Field Construction A's dropped two out of their three starts.

The Dodgers proved that old adage that good pitching and a tight defense are the most important parts of baseball.

Greg Massey and Javier Valdez teamed up to hurl an 8 to 0 shutout last Thursday night over the A's, scattering two singles.

On Monday night Sammy Basquez and Valdez split mound duties as the Dodgers came from behind in the bottom of the fourth to come from behind with two runs for a 5-4 triumph with the game called at that point because of the 9:30 rule. Valdez drove in the winning tally with two away.

The Tigers dropped a 13 to 12 decision to the Post Fire Department Cards in the opener last Thursday night to enable the Cards to register their first win in their first five starts.

The Tigers' other loss came in a 3 to 2 defeat by the George R. Brown Red Sox Tuesday night which was the first win for the Sox in four starts.

The Tigers outthrew the winners 7 to 5 in this one with Catcher Guy Stewart rapping out three straight singles. But the Red Sox got two in the second on a leadoff double by Tim Couch, a walk to Rodney Oden and a single by Henry Salas. Couch got the winning run in the top of the sixth when he led off with a walk and was driven home by Wade Smith's single with two away.

The Tigers' only victory of the week came Monday night when they edged the A's 11 to 10, although out hit 8 to 4. Ten walks helped the winners more than the hits as they scored two runs or more in five different innings. Scotty Clinesmith, Delton Osborn and Tracy Price each got a pair of safeties for the A's.

The A's only win of the week came in a 11 to 7 triumph over the Red Sox in the single Saturday night game. The A's totaled 14 hits in that one with David Redman getting three and four of his mates two each. The Dodgers have their "big week" coming up with four starts scheduled in the next seven nights, just as many as they've played in their first two weeks. They'll play every team but the Cardinals.

Recognition to local couple

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Williams, 711 West 15th in Post will receive special recognition from the Post Dairy Queen.

Of all the couples with wedding anniversaries in May who have signed up for the anniversary dinner program at the Dairy Queen, the Williamses have been married the longest. They were wed May 31, 1965, and thus will celebrate their 14th wedding anniversary this month.

If they wish, they are served at a special table covered with a white cloth and special white napkins to create a festive atmosphere for the anniversary dinners.

The program, believed to be the first of its kind for Dairy Queen, encompasses almost 50 DQs in Central and West Texas that are a part of the Chapman Fast Foods organization.

3 homers in minor loop

The opening game of the Post Minor League was declared a tie after darkness halted proceedings with the Mets leading the Rangers 24 to 9 after four and one-half innings.

League officials decided six inning games were too long for the players and beginning Tuesday games were reduced to four.

The Colts defeated the Texans 10 to 9 Tuesday evening with three home-runs being hit.

Gregg Benham and Ricky Cruz hit three-run shots for the winners and Matt Pennell hit one out for the losers.

Lamb's team is state champion

Jeff Lamb of Post was one of the three members of the Flying Matadors, boys gymnastic team of Lubbock's Briercroft Center, which won the 13-14-year-old boys state championship in Division III of the USGF at Freindwood last Friday.

The other two team members are James Wood and Kerry Satterfield of Lubbock.

In the state meet, Lamb scored 7.25 points in the floor exercise, 7.70 in the pommel horse, 7.10 on the rings, 8.30 in the vault, 8.0 in the high, 6.95 on the parallel bars for a total all-around of 45.30 points.

Woods had 46.75 and Satterfield 43.90.

The Lubbock team qualified for the state meet by scoring over the required minimum of 36 points each in a division III sanctioned meet at Farmers Branch May 5.

Wood scored a 49.20 in that meet for first place all-around boy, Lamb had a 41.90 for third place and Satterfield a 37.70 for fifth.

Keith Hart of Post competed in that meet in the 10-12 division. He picked up one second place ribbon and had four fifth places and ranked fifth all-around boy in his division.

Boys scoring 42 and above in Division III this year will be moved up to Division II competition next year.

These schools deal with the rules and regulations, rule changes, proper positioning and knotty problems as well as providing practical on the field experience. # Tiny parasitic wasp may be answer to bollworms

Cotton bollworms and tobacco budworms, which destroy about a billion dollars worth of the nation's crop annually, are getting tougher and tougher to control each crop season. A possible solution is a tiny parasitic wasp. A wasp

Insects Research Lab in College Station hatches and rears these wasps by the millions as part of a major pest management project.

Trichogramma work to control bollworms and budworms is effective and does not present some of the problems that are sometimes associated with broad spectrum insecticides. The wasps are usually flown on a field by plane. The Trichogramma then find the budworm or bollworm eggs on a cotton plant and sting the eggs to kill them. They bore a hole in each egg and lay their own egg inside.

When the Trichogramma egg hatches, it goes through the larval and pupal stages within the budworm or bollworm egg and then emerges as an adult ready to find more eggs. By releasing large numbers of Trichogramma, scientists at College Station have been able to achieve high levels of kill of pest eggs in heavily infested fields of cotton.

"Farmers are beginning to realize that beneficial insects such as the Trichogramma wasps are a valuable resource," said Dr. Roger Ables, another of the scientists working on biological control at College Station. "Under the proper conditions beneficial insects can be quite useful, if you can conserve them through careful and selective use of insecticides, then it may be possible to reduce the costs of pest control."

"We've got to get away from our dependence on broad spectrum insecticides. Those that wipe out everything in the field. We've got to go more selective chemicals which affect the target pest while having relatively little or no effect on our beneficial insects," Ables concluded. Trichogramma are currently available from a number of insectaries

COTTON TODAY

A NATIONAL COTTON COUNCIL SERVICE

Take a look at the next dollar bill you spend. George Washington's picture will still be there. But a fluffy white cotton boll would be just as fitting.

Cotton had a lot to do with putting that dollar in your pocket. Especially if you live in a 20-county area on the Texas South Plains.

In these 20 counties cotton provides more than 48,000 jobs, supplies some $1.1 billion in products and services, and contributes better than $36 million in sales and income taxes.

But that's not the whole story. That $1.1 billion revenue attributable to cotton becomes even more impressive when you consider the federal government's estimate that every cotton dollar creates an additional $2.50 to $3.00 in economic activity.

Cotton is the mainstay of 8,783 businesses in the 20 counties — including farms, gins, cottonseed oil mills, warehouses, and raw cotton merchandising firms.

These farms and businesses provide for almost one out of every two — 48 per cent — of all the jobs in the 20-county area.

Lynn County tops the list. Ninety-two per cent of the jobs in the county are cotton related.

Nine other counties — Bailey, Briscoe, Cochran, Crosby, Floyd, Gaines, Hockley, Lamb and Terry — top the 50 percent mark in jobs generated by cotton.

While Lubbock County falls below the 50 percent mark in jobs related to cotton, it ranks highest in most other measurements.

There are, for example, 1,022 cotton-related farms and businesses that create 5,525 jobs in Lubbock County. These farms and businesses generate products and services valued at more than $284 million annually. And the sales and income taxes collected as a result of cotton business in the county total more than $9 million.

So there's cotton in the next dollar bill you spend. And it goes deeper than the cotton fibers used in the paper showing the picture of George Washington.

Garza County has 111 cotton-related farms and businesses, providing 436 cotton-related jobs or 17 percent of all county jobs. In Garza $9,689,000 in revenue is attributable to cotton with $312,000 in state taxes attributable to cotton.

COTTON YESTERDAY — Cotton was grown in Pennsylvania in 1777 to supply the Revolutionary Army.

How to fight off 'sneaky calories'

COLLEGE STATION — Fight "sneaky" calories. Set a weight-control climate, says a foods and nutrition specialist.

Unwanted calories "sneak" into the diets of many overweight people who add them without even realizing they're doing so, explains Frances Reasonover with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System.

Overweight people are very sensitive to the sight, taste, smell and thought of food — especially when it's clearly in sight and readily available.

In addition, they eat almost as much food when they're thinking about something else as when they're thinking about food.

For example, they don't realize how much they are eating when their attention is on television or something they are reading.

Finally, some overweight people eat less when they have to prepare their own food — but others have a habit of tasting while preparing foods.

In order to set a climate for weight control, one battle plan is: know when we eat food without realizing it and then re-order eating habits to avoid "sneaky" calories, Miss Reasonover says.

Below are her suggestions for changing eating habits.

1. Put snack foods (crackers, cookies, cakes, soft drinks, candy) on a high shelf or in a hard-to-reach place — or avoid buying them at all.

Buy raw fruits and other low-calorie, high-nutrition items for snacks.

2. In eating snacks, take only one small serving from the package. Put the package back and repeat this each time you decide to snack. Have family members without weight problems keep their snack foods out of your sight.

3. During meals, don't leave serving dishes or pans on the table. Serve your plate and put all food away so you don't have to look at it.

4. Wait at least two minutes after eating before taking a second helping. To get a second helping, take your plate to where the food is kept, get a moderate-size serving and put the food away again before eating.

New Charge-a-call service offered

A new long distance service for the traveling public is being introduced throughout the four-state operating territory of General Telephone Company of the Southwest.

Called "charge-a-call," the service is being described as payphones which won't take money," according to James B. Emery, the firm's vice-president — marketing.

The first installations are being made in locations such as airports, hospitals, motels, truck stops, etc., which experience heavy payphone use.

"Charge-a-call," according to O.D. Hearn, Brownfield division manager, "is designed for customers to make collect, third number and credit card long distance calls and frees them from the burden of searching for change in order to place a call. In fact, it's just like using a home or office phone. The customer talks now, pays later and has the advantage of having all of the billing details of the call recorded on his or her phone bill."

Aside from the obvious advantages for those who actually use the "charge-a-call" phones, all customers will benefit according to the division manager.

"The new 'coinless' phones are less expensive to install, less expensive to maintain and less subject to vandalism," he pointed out, "which, thereby reduces the cost to the company and its customers of providing payphone service."

"Charge-a-call" phones are identified by a distinctive blue-orange-yellow striped sign. To place a call, the customer simply picks up the receiver and follows the dialing instructions posted by the phone. The "charge-a-call" station is automatically identified to an operator who accepts only credit card, collect or third number billings. Local calls cannot be placed from "charge-a-call" phones.

Residential or business customers may obtain telephone credit card by making application for one at the local telephone company business office, Emery said.

"Charge-a-call" phones have been in service in many locations for several months now," the division manager commented, "and generally have been well accepted by customers. However, some old habits die hard. Customers are so used to depositing money in payphones, our coin crews frequently find nickels, dimes and quarters jammed into any opening on the phone the caller could find. Truly, no coins are needed for charge-a-call."

GRANDSON GRADUATES

Mr. Charlie Williams Sr., accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Williams Jr., attended graduation ceremonies for Monterey High School Saturday night in Lubbock. Williams' grandson, Michael Evans was a member of the graduating class and is the son of Mrs. Mary Jo Evans.

Nelson and Donna Baumann.

Congratulations to Shorty Bilberry, Dale Redman, Beth Elliott, Larisa Shiver, and Kerri Pool for their scholarships.

The seniors left on their trip early Monday morning and I don't know if they had more fun before they left or while they were gone, but there sure were some noisy people about 2 a.m.

Youth Center hours are going to change today (Thursday) opening at 8:00 and closing at 10:30. 7:30 is a little too early for most people, including me. Saturday will be 8:00 til 11:30.

Jerri (Alias OZ) received a surprise from her third period Biology class last week. They went together and bought her a T-shirt with her picture on it and her name on the back. She thanks you for it (I think).

Don't forget the swimming pool is opening Friday at 1 p. m. So you people that don't have to work will have something to do and soak up the sun.

Happy Birthday this week to Jimmy Odom, Meg Chow . . . . .

Well, graduation is over and a nice, tearful affair, despite the 50 mile an hour wind and the 40 degree weather and the threat of rain. Who would think that the 25th of May would be cold enough for a winter coat? Anyway, the hustle and bustle of last minute things to do has come and gone for a while.

And with Monday being the last day of school, some are sleeping late while others are getting up in the wee hours of the morn to get to work on time. Tuesday was the first day for most and sunburned, aching muscles and just plain out of shape was the complaint Tuesday night. Oh, those fun days of summer!

Lisa Cowdrey left bright and early Saturday morning for Colorado and promises to let us hear from her and her adventures on the Dude Ranch up there.

Talk about a HOT DANCE! Well, we had one at the Youth Center Saturday night. It was so hot you could hardly stand it. The temperature was about 150. No exaggeration. There was just a lot of heat being generated by the kids on the dance floor and the air conditioning couldn't cool it off fast enough.

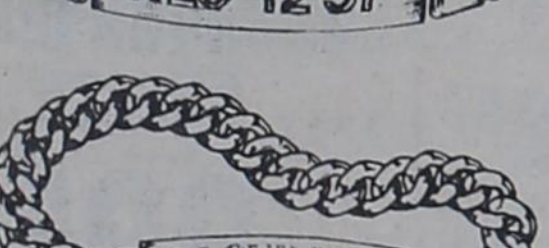

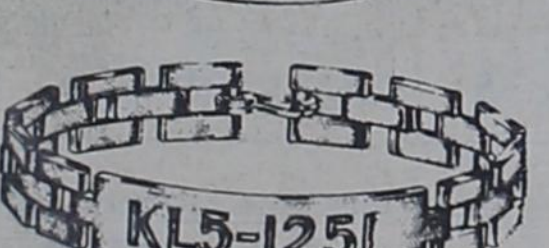

The freshmen (of next year) were introduced to the "fun" things of being a freshman Monday afternoon following graduation. Lipstick, shaving cream, and various things were applied to their faces, arms and legs. They all looked so???

This is a fish story to end them all. Charlie Cendalski and Bobby Macy went fishing last week and caught a fish. But the fish got away. But to hear them tell it, it was a bass that could have easily tipped the scales at 9 lbs. Believe it or not.

Happy Birthday this week to Jimmy Odom, Meg

Poultry, fresh produce best Texas market 'buys'

COLLEGE STATION — Best buys at Texas grocery markets this week includes poultry products, some fresh produce and several items "on special," according to Gwendolyn Clyatt, a consumer marketing information specialist.

Mrs. Clyatt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System.

POULTRY — Whole fryers and mixed fryer parts are quite economical. Now's the time to freeze extras to avoid higher prices later during the summertime barbecue demand.

Turkey is a feature item in some stores, and egg prices are low. Use eggs as a meat alternate, and save the difference.

FRESH VEGETABLES —

Prices are lower on soft-shell squash (yellow, zucchini, and some patty pan or white varieties) and fresh corn. Buy corn in amounts you can use within a day or so, buy from refrigerated cases, and refrigerate at home.

Other items with attractive prices are cabbage, carrots, dry yellow onions, head lettuce and potatoes. Blackeyed peas are coming to market, but prices are relatively high as yet.

FRESH FRUITS — Strawberry prices are lower and quality is good. Other items worth considering are avocados, bananas, pineapples and apples.

Melon prices are dropping, but really lower prices are still some time away.

MARKET AISLES — Specials include canned vegetables, soup, cooking oil, pasta products and peanut butter. Lower prices appear on chopped and minced dried onions and oregano.

FROZEN FOOD — Features appear on ice cream, pot pies, orange juice, strawberries and vegetables.

PORK — Large supplies coming to market will mean several features this week. They include center and end chops, quarter-loin cut into chops, shoulder roasts and liver.

In cured pork, look for special prices on boneless hams, frankfurters, bacon and smoked picnics.

BEEF — Supplies are short, so prices are high on what there is. Look for only a few specials on ground beef with soy protein, round and sirloin steaks, liver and chuck cuts, including boneless blade chuck. Also, remember that the cuts of meat in least demand usually cost less. These cuts take more time and attention in cooking, but the results are worth it.

Consumer Watchwords — Make your own frozen prepared foods at home rather than buying commercially prepared foods. It's usually more economical. Be sure to use only fresh, high-quality ingredients. Use your own favorite recipes for freezing. Season lightly, because pepper, cloves and synthetic vanilla tend to become strong and bitter in frozen foods.

Cook only until "almost done," since the reheating process will cook the food a bit more. That will avoid overcooking the food during reheating.

NAMED TWIRLER — Melissa Beauchamp, formerly of Post, now of Stamford, has been named high school twirler. She will attend twirling camp along with other twirlers the last week of June in Fort Worth. Missy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beauchamp. Melissa will be a sophomore at Stamford High School next school year.

Shaky start for cotton

COLLEGE STATION — Delays in cotton planting and replanting due to prolonged periods of wet weather in Central and South Texas plus hail damage in the Rio Grande Valley and Coastal Bend are getting the state's cotton crop off to a shaky start.

So, farmers in these areas who are still planting cotton should select early, rapid fruiting varieties, advises Dr. Bob Metzger, cotton specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System.

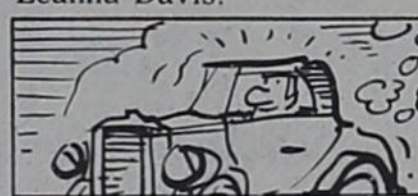

"Much of the cotton crop is two to six weeks behind schedule in central and southern areas and will require close management and a near optimum season to harvest a profitable crop," points out Metzger. "A late crop often spells trouble in terms of lower yield potential, high insect pressures and later harvest, which usually cuts into profits."

Although producers do not like May-planted cotton, in most cases there is no good alternative crop.

13 students in piano recital

Thirteen piano students of Georgie Willson were presented in a recital Monday night, May 28 in the First Christian Church at 7:30 p.m.

Students participating in the recital were Mark Linn, Janell Jones, Kerry Hart, Jackie Wartes, Nancy Wilson, D'Lynn Young, Tanya Bland, Todd Wilson, Brad Sharp, Donna Nelson, Jeff Sharp, Melodie Wilson and Leanna Davis.

In 1925 it was possible to buy an automobile for as little as $260!

LUBBOCK — The National Council of Agricultural Employers (NCAE) May 22 in Washington expressed its views on labor-related problems in agriculture to some 70 Congressmen and Senators and their representatives from 25 states. The occasion was an NCAE sponsored "Congressional Awareness" breakfast.

Speaking with the legislators from the High Plains was Ed Dean, Field Service Director of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, an NCAE director and Executive Committee member.

Dean and other NCAE board members concentrated on informing legislators of legislative and administrative changes needed in the Immigration and Naturalization Act (INA), the Farm Labor Contractor Registration Act (FLCRA) and the U.S. Employment Service (USES).

In addition the group was unanimous in expressing strong opposition to the proposed federalization of state unemployment compensation programs, which they contend would bring on higher costs to employers, unwanted Federal controls and a new mass of red tape.

Agricultural workers cannot be brought into the U.S. under the INA until after employers have staged a nationwide recruiting effort to prove the absence of available U.S. workers. The NCAE seeks an amendment to this Act permitting the importation of labor when employers have proven the absence of able and willing workers within a radius of 200 miles of the need.

"With this change in the law and with its fair administration by the Department of Labor," Dean says, "foreign workers could become much more rapidly and readily available to agricultural employers when needed."

In a similar vein, Dean notes that agricultural employers find themselves in a "catch 22" situation with regard to the employment of illegal aliens. Employers are required to accept workers referred to them by the USES, but sometimes face penalties when it is later discovered that some of the workers have no legal U.S. status.

The NCAE seeks to have USES require its local office to make positive identification of each worker's citizenship status before referrals are made.

The major problems, Dean explains, stem from the fact that willing and qualified U.S. workers are increasingly difficult to find, while at the same time the U.S. Department of Labor is making it increasingly difficult to obtain authorization for the use of temporary foreign workers.

"Where are you from?" the grand lady asked, just a trifle condescendingly. "Idaho," replied the stranger. The Bostonian smiled with gentle courtesy and said, "I know, dear, that you won't be offended if I tell you that here we pronounce it 'Ohio.'"

Congressman
Charles W. Stenholm
Congressional Comment

Washington, D.C. — On May 16 the House of Representatives passed one of the most comprehensive conservation bills ever considered by the Congress — The Alaska Lands Act. If this legislation is also passed by the Senate and signed by the President, it will shut off much of Alaska to economic development. Alaska's Outer Continental Shelf, with its large potential for oil and gas reserves (10 to 14 billion barrels), will remain unexplored. Under the provisions of this bill 130 million acres would be closed to mining. Development of the world's second largest molybdenum deposit would be stopped. Other natural resources affected include large copper and coal deposits, tin, and cinnabar. Also 30 million acres would be closed to hunting.

Despite the fact that this state is 5000 miles away, this legislation will affect all of us. We are dependent on Alaska for large quantities of oil and gas production, many of our essential minerals, and much of our timber supply. This is a delicate issue trying to balance the needs of the environment against the needs of the American people. The current House-passed version, in my opinion, does not recognize this balance and precludes the production of many of our vital resources. The bill is opposed by all of Alaska's representatives in Congress. Much of their opposition is centered around the power of the Federal versus state governments. Are we going to allow Alaskans to rule Alaska or are we going to permit Washington to rule the people of this state? It is my belief that local problems can best be solved by the people in the individual states and communities. It is very difficult and inefficient for officials in Washington, most of whom have never been to Alaska, to dictate policy to the people of this area.

I supported a more evenhanded approach that recognizes the needs of the national economy and the environment. The Breaux-Dingell bill was also supported by most Alaskans. This region of the Country should be proected — but it should be protected wisely. This legislation would have designated 85 million acres as wildlife refuges, 33 million acres as national parks, and 3 million acres of national forests. The bill would have also designated the National Petroleum Reserve as a wildlife refuge potentially subject to oil and gas exploration. The Arctic National Wildlife Ranges would be studied for seven years for its oil and gas potential. While oil and gas exploration could occur, congressional action would have been required to actually open the lands to oil and gas production. I believed this to be an intelligent compromise, but it was defeated by a vote of 268 to 157.

This Country will have to make some hard choices as to how to allocate our scarce resources. The energy crisis is only the first of many resource shortages. We will some day be faced with deficiencies of minerals, timber, and foodstuffs. It does not make sense to lock up these assets never to be used. Man can live in harmony with nature only if we recognize the needs of both.

Graham Community honored its nine graduating seniors recently with a pot luck supper at the center.

Those honored either live in the community or attend church there. They were Jarita Norman, Cindy Terry, Belinda Fluit, Lisa Cowdrey, Melinda Adams Mason, Danny Ray Nelson, Julian Flores, Barry Tyler and Jay Lott.

President Noel White welcomed the guests and congratulated the seniors. Lisa Cowdrey made a short talk thanking the community for everything everyone had done to encourage and help them while in school. Each senior was introduced by Jarita Norman as she told of their plans for the future.

The nine individual gift tables featured graduation decorations. The serving tables were covered with white cloths and centered with red geraniums and English ivy.

ATTEND GRADUATION

The Trail Blazers original constitution and bylaws were copied almost verbatim a proposed constitution and bylaws offered by the government for senior citizens clubs, much of it not applicable here.

The board has had this constitution and bylaws rewritten to cut out much of the detailed wordable and to be made to apply to the local situation. This new, revised set of constitution and bylaws has been approved to the board, but has yet to be brought before the membership for final approval.

The board hopes to carry the revised constitution and bylaws to the membership for approval by early fall to clear the way for election of target area board members by Nov. 1.

The board decided to leave to the membership the decision of whether or not it wished to stagger the terms of board members to leave carry-over experience still on the board after each election. The federal agency recommends staggered terms.

It was pointed out in the discussion, the Trail Blazers, Inc., has a long-term lease on its present new quarters with the Garza County Heritage Association and an annual contract for funding of its program with the federal agency of aging.

A group of senior citizens in recent weeks have attempted to break away from the Garza Trail Blazers, form a senior citizen organization of their own, and propose to try to take over the Algerita Senior Citizens operation.

The Garza Trail Blazers board Saturday agreed it wanted to heal any breach in its membership. Some expressed the thought that with better communications and with a better understanding of the organization and operation of Trail Blazers that a united front can be restored by fall.
