IN SERVING LINE — Margaret Bull is served pancakes by Rotarian Mike Flanigan at the civic club's benefit supper Friday night. The Rev. Frank Pickett is in the background.

PART OF BIG CROWD — Show above is part of the big crowd which contributed a total of $1,210 at the benefit pancake supper Friday night. Many gave extra donations. Expenses totaled only $276.35.

Liquor ban is adopted

The city council passed on final reading Monday night a new ordinance prohibiting possession and consumption of intoxicating beverages in the city parks, including in and around the three baseball diamonds.

Any person found guilty of violation may be fined a maximum of $200.

"I want a P.S. on my tombstone that he'd probably have lived a helluva lot longer if he didn't have to play Pittsburgh six times in two years." — Bum Phillips, Houston Oilers coach.

Bum, who will bring his famed "one liners" to Post in just a little over two weeks to speak at the Post Chamber of Commerce banquet Feb. 23, was the subject of an interesting column last week in the sports section of the Houston Post, entitled "They're waiting in line for Bum's witticisms."

The column was written by Jack Gallagher, who to our way of thinking is the best sports writer in all of Texas and a few surrounding besides.

It was a column about Bum's off season speaking engagements, so we thought our readers would like to read some of it, especially since Gallagher mentioned Post as one of Bum's upcoming engagements.

"He lives in his own special hell the opening month of each year in Pittsburgh," Gallagher writes. "But Bum Phillips is like the fellow who keeps beating his head against the wall because it feels so good when he stops. Sixty minutes in Three Rivers Stadium constitutes his form of self-punishment. He endures his annual flogging in a setting so forbidding that it has been said meeting the Steelers in Pittsburgh in January is like challenging the Russians at Stalingrad."

"Afghanistan looks better to Oall Andrew Phillips than Steel City in the off-season, right? But guess where he's (See Postings, Page 12)

Sisters in Song in concert here

The Post Music Club, a member of the National Federation of Music Clubs, will present their annual sacred music program, by presenting the Sisters in Song, Saturday night in the community center. The program will begin at 7 p.m.

The Music club each February honors American composers, which will hold true in this program, as each composer is American. The Sisters in Song are composed of Marita Jack-

The council also approved on second reading the contract with Pritchard and Abbott for oil property valuations for 1980 and new fees for the engineering firm of Parkhill, Smith and Cooper.

The council had a full agenda but not many major decisions in front of them. The new ordinance was the direct result of boys' baseball league representatives appearing before the council to ask for authority to operate the third baseball diamond for the Little League's "minor league" without interference from local softball teams who reportedly drank a lot of beer while waiting for the kids to complete their games last summer.

The council not only moved to ban beer from the baseball parks, but from city-county park as well.

The council also is seeking to restructure the city-county park board to give the baseball program representation on the board.

It is the council's thought that the park board then could organize its own baseball committee to supervise use of the three baseball parks.

The council selected six proposed members for the park board Monday night but will submit their choices to the county commission. (See City council, Page 12)

Rites held for Morris

Funeral services for Virgil Wayne Morris, 20, of Post, were conducted at 2 p.m. Monday in the Calvary Baptist Church with the Rev. Morgan Ashworth, pastor, officiating, and assisted by the Rev. Donny Crowson, pastor of the Graham Chapel Methodist Church.

Morris was found fatally shot about 3:30 p.m. Saturday near a trailer house on his father's farm southwest of Post. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Morris. He had been missing since Jan. 25.

The body was found by a member of the family.

Sheriff Jim Pippin said Morris was found with a 270 Winchester rifle in his left hand. He had been shot in the head. The sheriff said efforts to trace the gun have failed.

Justice of the Peace Pat Kitchens told The Dispatch (See Morris rites, Page 12) other unopposed for nominations, Democratic County Chairman Dick Tanner announced Tuesday.

All told, 13 candidates are seeking nominations for precinct or county offices here.

The two contests are for precinct 3 commissioner and sheriff.

Incumbent Mike Cisneros is opposed by R.G. (Wilke) Wilkerson, Bill Gandy and Cecil Foster, Sr., for county commissioner of precinct 3.

Sheriff Jim Pippin has also drawn three challengers in O.G. (Junior) Shepherd, Kennard E. Gilbreath and Lewis O. Holly.

Unopposed are County Attorney Preston Poole, Tax Assessor-Collector Ruth Reno, County Commissioner of Precinct 1 T. D. (Buck) Craft, and Justices of the Peace Zora Robinson and Pat Kitchens as they seek new terms.

For local spring elections April 5—

No candidates yet filed

Seven positions on the city council, school board and hospital board will be filled in the three spring elections here Saturday, April 5, but as yet no candidates have filed for any of the offices.

The Post school district and the city have called their elections with the hospital board scheduled to do the same at their scheduled breakfast meeting this morning.

Positions now held by City Councilmen Jack Alexander, Dr. William Wilson and Jim Jackson will be up for filling by the voters in two months. These are two-year terms.

The Post school district have positions No. 4 and No. 5 opening in April for three year terms. Currently A.C. Cash, holds position No. 4 and K. W. Kirkpatrick No.

5. Candidates in the school race must file for a particular position. On the hospital board, positions now held by Colley Gatlin and Charlie Brown are slated to be filled. See No candidates, Page 12

LEWIS O. HOLLY

Holly into sheriff race

Lewis Holly, who has lived here some 39 years, has launched his campaign to win the Democratic nomination for Garza County sheriff in the May primary.

A city councilman for two years, Holly plans to visit voters with a door to door campaign through the spring to discuss his candidacy.

Annual audit shows—

City's income widely varied

The City of Post ran a $586,069.93 business gross through its general fund last year and wound up just about $10,000 to the good in its cash account. Post's annual audit report showed here Monday night.

The audit report was made by the Lubbock CPA firm of Davis and Harding for the fiscal year ending last Sept. 30.

The city's income is quite diverse.

For the last 12 months fiscal period it received $174,135.33 in property taxes; $110,441.32 from the city's one percent sales tax; $115,033.74 from licenses and permits, most of that being $113,786.31 in utilities and occupation taxes; $29,833.92 in revenue from use of properties which included $24,913.92 in oil royalties; $47,870.81 from charges for current services of which $44,203.81 were sanitation fees charged local residences and businesses; $13,477.83 in interest; $4,795.63 in Terrace Cemetery income; $35,966 from federal revenue sharing; $22,596.25 in city court fines; and $31,929.10 for paving assessments against property owners.

The city's operating expenses totaled $446,042.59 for the fiscal year.

Tickets for the Post Chamber of Commerce banquet Feb. 23 went on sale this week at $10 each.

Houston Oilers Football Coach Bum Phillips is the featured speaker and Chamber directors need a capacity crowd of 500 to break even on the annual event.

Brisk early ticket sales indicate considerable interest here in hearing Coach Phillips.

Tickets are available at the Chamber office, Sentry Savings, Wacker's, Rick's Venture Foods, First National Bank, Post Dispatch and Radio Station KPOS.

The sale will end Feb. 15, so those who want to hear Phillips are advised to get those tickets early.

McCrary to tour Africa, Mideast

Mayor Giles McCrary flies away today to fulfill a life long ambition by visiting Africa on a near 30-day tour which includes seven days in "the bush" in Kenya observing wild animals.

McCrary also will visit Jordan and Israel in the Mideast and spend 10 to 11 days in Egypt on a tour segment conducted by the Metropolitan Museum.

basis beginning immediately, thus reducing the cost of the evaluation to the appraisal district because operational funds would not have to be borrowed to finance the evaluations over that period.

The board agreed and divided the cost of the real property valuation among the five taxing districts on the basis of 27 1/2 percent of the total cost to both the county and the Post Independent School District, 27 percent to the Garza Hospital District, 12 percent to the city of Post, and six percent to the Southland school.

The state law providing for the establishment of the county appraisal districts provides that all local taxing district will share in the cost of operations but that only the counties, cities and school districts have voting rights on the board.

None of the five local taxing districts of course had budgeted for a monthly payout on real property evaluation.

The board of trustees of the appraisal district will meet at 3 p.m. Friday in the same council room to discuss setting up a budget for the district's operation and hiring a chief appraiser, as required by law.

Let's look at our needs

Lubbock has begun a community wide effort to establish a set of goals for that city for the 1980 decade. The promotion is spearheaded by the Chamber of Commerce and gives citizens of that community an opportunity to point up problems needing solutions.

It's more difficult to do this in a small community simply because everybody knows each other and it sounds sort of silly to sit down and talk about such things.

Small town citizens reason that its city council, its school board, its county commissioners, and its hospital directors should have not trouble seeing the needs as they arise so they just expect progress to come as a natural thing.

Well, it doesn't often work out that way. The agendas of the council, the court, the school board and the hospital board are usually crowded with items, mostly routine, demanding instant attention.

The only planning staffs in a small town are the volunteer efforts of individuals or groups who care.

That often leaves the small towns flying blind so to speak.

The last time the Post community took a good look at its needs and its future was almost 20 years ago in a community clinic conducted by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. From that effort came the consensus need for a community center and youth center.

There were plans for a very similar conference last year with SPAG directing the effort but they were aborted.

Small towns need to sit down together and look ahead too. That is one item our own Chamber could well promote in 1980.

Some campaign possibilities

No top drawer politician in either party just 12 months ago could have foreseen the current realities of the 1980 presidential campaign.

President Jimmy Carter, on the basis of public opinion polls, was virtually already down the drain. Swashbuckling Ted Kennedy was the new political darling. The Republicans weren't coming up with any new White House talent. It was Ronald Reagan all the way for whatever that might be worth.

Then came the Iranian revolution with the seizing of the hostages in our American embassy there. The Soviets invaded Afghanistan, a backward country the average American knew absolutely nothing about.

What's happened since should give us all cause for thought.

Our dizzy inflation is still with us. The price of oil is almost unbelievable — and still going up to nobody knows where.

So what happens? Angry Americans rallied behind their president in his efforts to free the hostages. When Soviet troops moved across their borders into Afghanistan, more support was generated for President Carter. In both cases national interests were at stake.

The support for President Carter moved just as quickly into the political area. His political support in the polls zoomed like a missile at liftoff. Kennedy was virtually forgotten and after a Carter win in the Iowa primaries, Kennedy nosedived. He is now having a hard time finding money to sustain his organization.

Carter sticks to the White House. He refuses any and all debates. His tide is running high.

This is what alarms us so about American politics.

Let's look at the future — and its maybes.

Carter hasn't had any luck so far freeing the hostages. He has backed down several times from threatened actions. His administration has even threatened war with Russia if they move on into the Persian gulf region with its oil riches open to the taking.

But America isn't prepared for any war, especially not one to be fought with conventional weapons on the other fellow's doorstep halfway round the world. Carter proposes a new draft registration — not a peacetime draft but the getting the draft machinery ready for the emergency would it come.

The draft registration proposal opens a whole new ballgame. Campus demonstrations against renewal of the draft were held within days of the State of the Union address.

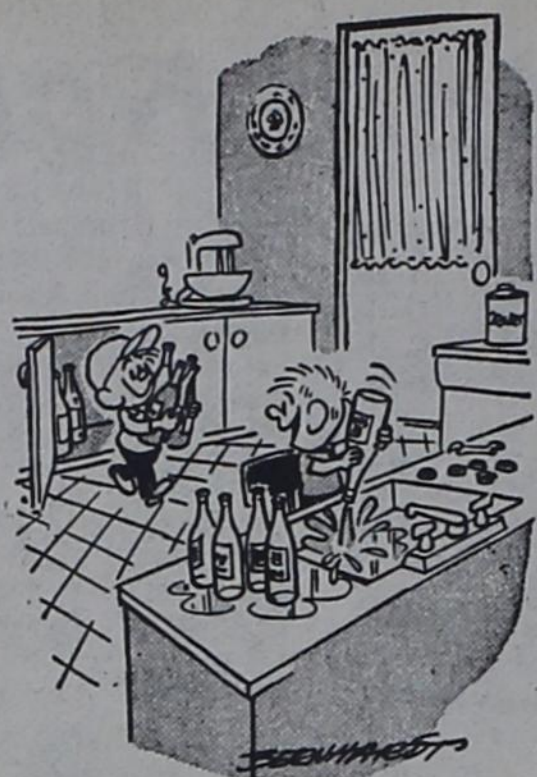

This is but a peak at the future. What if America can't free its hostages without accepting Iranian terms? What if our Olympic boycott is a bust? What if our allies give us no more support than they have done to date? What then?

Looking at these hard possibilities purely from a political standpoint in the frame of the presidential campaign of 1980, it means President Carter could lose his political following almost as fast as he has gained it again in the last 60 days.

Then what happens in the resulting free-for-all?

This newspaper would prefer a more mature American political climate and a more stable foreign policy and a sound defense program. Our next president could well be that one of all the candidates who just happened to be able to take advantage at voting time of the whims of we Americans.

This could become one of the most unusual presidential campaigns in history.

"That should give us enough deposit money to go to the movies."

Why will the 1980 census ask everyone if they are of Spanish-Hispanic origin? Because it will indicate for the first time just how many Hispanic people reside in each area of the U.S., down to a city block, and will help locate areas that require bilingual education and other special programs.

Start of weekly series on U. S. Census 1980—

For most Americans, 19 questions come by mail

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the first in a weekly series of articles concerning the 1980 U.S. census which will be taken by mail March 28 - April 1. These articles were presented by the Bureau of Census of the United States Department of Commerce. While in some instances they are overly long, and sometimes overlap, they will provide readers with a clear insight of the most monumental "counting job" in the history of the world.)

For most Americans, the 1980 census will be simple enough. A questionnaire will arrive in the mail on March 28. The recipient will simply answer the questions, which will not take long, and then either mail back the form on April 1 or hold it for a census taker to pick up, depending on the instructions. In Post, you will mail yours back.

What may not be apparent to millions of Americans, as they answer the census in the privacy and convenience of their homes, is the fact that they are making personal contributions to an undertaking so vast, so complex, that the 1980 census qualifies as one of the largest peacetime efforts ever mounted in this country.

By the time the last American is counted sometime during the summer, the Bureau of the Census will have reached an estimated 222 million U.S. residents and 86 million housing units, and gathered more than three billion answers.

The 222 million residents, a nine percent population increase since 1970, include some people who do not speak English, people with various political opinions, the rich and the destitute, the educated and the illiterate, members of all the earth's races. The census must also assess their housing — single-family homes, houseboats, condominiums, shacks, "abandoned" buildings, migrant worker camps, jails, school dormitories, at sea, and overseas. The census is expected to count 25 percent more housing units in 1980 than in 1970.

At the same time, never in the history of the census, which has been taken every 10 years since 1790, have census findings played as important a role in American life as they do today. Besides the Constitutional mandate to provide a basis for reapportioning seats in the House of Representatives, the census measures how well the Nation is doing, from the block level to the entire country. Its findings are used in the private and public sectors to decide how billions of dollars will be spent annually.

Planning for the 1980 census, which has gone on since the early seventies, reflects this heightened need for the most complete count ever taken, especially of minorities.

In 90 percent of the Nation's households, people will be asked to take their own census, in effect, by answering the questionnaires and mailing them back in postages free envelopes. Census takers will obtain the information from households that fail to mail back completed questionnaires as requested.

The remaining 10 percent, which will receive instructions to hold the completed questionnaires until census takers pick them up, are mostly in sparsely settled areas in the Western half of the Nation. In some cases, the census takers will ask additional questions.

Census questions seek basic information about people — age, sex, occupation and the like — and about subjects such as housing, personal transportation, and energy use. Most people will be asked to answer a basic census questionnaire, which has 19 questions. About one of five households, chosen randomly will be asked to answer a longer version with 46 additional questions.

Federal law requires everyone to answer the census; it also protects the confidentiality of personal information. The only people who can see an individual's replies are census employees, who are sworn to secrecy under threat of a $5,000 fine and five-year prison term.

In the 50-year history of the modern census confidentiality law, not once has the Bureau or one of its employees been formally charged with releasing census information about any individual. Landmark court rulings through this century have continually upheld the Bureau's refusal to release such information, even to the Secretary of State, the Attorney General, or to corporations involved in litigation.

Moreover, the Bureau designs its procedures to avoid situations that could lead to a breach of the confidentiality law. Names, addresses, and telephone numbers are never allowed to enter any computer. Social Security numbers are not requested by the census.

The 1980 census tabulations will yield a comprehensive statistical picture of the nation, and of every state, county, and community. This data about social and economic characteristics will be used time and again in ways that benefit all strata of society, though the Census Bureau merely provides the data, and never applies it.

Being counted is crucial to full political representation as well. Census figures, besides their role in reapportioning the House of Representatives, are also used by most states to redistrict their legislatures and to adjust boundaries in municipal election areas.

American business firms, from local stores to multinational corporations, rely on census statistics when selecting new sites, evaluating product lines, and for other purposes that ultimately affect the state of the nation's economy.

Concern is often voiced about why particular questions are included in the census. For example, one question asks about plumb-ing facilities. Why? Because, for several decades, plumbing facilities have been an important indicator of housing quality. The adequacy of plumbing facilities is a key factor in determining which communities receive Federal housing assistance funds.

Almost every question in the 1980 census is needed for legislative purposes and often provides valuable data for industry, local government, and others. All census questions survived years of scrutiny and have been reviewed by Congress.

As the importance of census information has increased, so has pressure to assure that every U.S. resident is counted. An unprecedented effort will be made by the Census Bureau to obtain the fullest possible count, especially in areas with significant minority populations.

For several years, advisory committees composed of Black, Hispanic and Asian-American leaders have worked with the Census Bureau to devise ways for improving the count of minorities. Similar meetings have been held with Native American leaders. A number of innovative methods will be used during the 1980 census to obtain the best possible count, such as double-checking households reported vacant and placing census takers in all night movies, taverns, and on street corners in major urban areas to find the uncounted.

There has also been an unprecedented effort by the Bureau to prepare a complete list of mailing addresses, to assure that every household receives a questionnaire on March 28. It is estimated that $2 million will be shaved from the cost of the census for every one percent of the nation's households that promptly mails back fully answered questionnaires.

By law, the Bureau must provide the President with the population totals for all the States by Jan. 1, 1981, for purposes of Congressional reapportionment. A new law also requires that the population of counties, cities, and other political subdivisions be provided to each State no later than April 1, 1981, for redrawing district lines.

We treat you like a person. Not a number.

When you buy insurance from an agent who works directly for one insurance company, he's probably not the person you talk to when you have a claim. Most one company agents have nothing to do with claims. It's between you and the adjuster.

That's not the case when you deal with an Independent Insurance Agent like me — Tom Power. I'm right here ready to serve you when you have a claim . . . helping you reach a fair settlement as quickly as possible.

So whether you need home, auto, life, hospitalization or business insurance, just contact Tom Power or Connie Jones at POST'S FRIENDLY INSURANCE STORE.

Thank You

Love is a beautiful thing. It has been shown to us in so many ways in the loss of our dear Jimmy Ray. We can never thank you all enough, but we ask God to bless each of you in a special way. For all the prayers that lifted us up, for the beautiful flowers, food, and those who served at church, phone calls, to Rev. Ashworth, Jim and Dortha, the wonderful music, Jackson Bros., for their gift, pallbearers and each one and all for every thought. God is so good to us. Life sometimes is so short that we don't understand, but God will take care in his own way and time. Bless each of you. You have gone all the way four times with us. Thank you all.

Microwave Ovens
Microwave ovens are truly a wonderful appliance, but they need some special attention in cleaning and operating. Routine serving, careful maintenance and proper use of microwave ovens can insure years of safe use. If the microwave oven gets hard use or if the user tends to overlook manufacturers' use and care instructions, have it checked for possible radiation leakage at least once or twice a year. Also check for possible radiation leakage if the oven has been moved either voluntarily or involuntarily.

You can buy hand-held leakage testers for home use; however, the accuracy of some of the commercially available testers has been questioned by independent testers. Call your appliance dealer or a service representative for servicing information.

Microwave ovens sold after Oct. 6, 1971, meet the federal safety standards for microwave radiation emission levels. They do not present a radiation hazard when used according to the manufacturers' instructions. However, if your oven was manufactured before this 1971 cut off date have it checked for possible leakage.

MAINTENANCE
Microwaves need to be cleaned often. Remove food and spills with a clean paper towel or sponge with warm water and a mild detergent. Never use abrasive cleansers or wire brushes. Nylon scrubbers may be used.

Be sure to wipe around door seals to remove food particles and Grease. Grease may allow excessive radiation leakage.

Remove the glass shelf and clean with warm water and detergent. Dry shelf and replace. Do not operate oven without this shelf correctly back in place.

Stubborn dried food particles can be softened by boiling a cup of water in the oven. The steam will loosen the particles. Boil 1 part lemon juice to three parts water to remove odors. Use a glass measuring cup to hold these liquids. A dish or cup of water should always be left in oven to avoid damage to oven if the oven is accidentally turned on by children.

PROPER USE
Never operate an oven if the door does not close firmly or if it is bent, warped, or otherwise damaged. Never tamper with or inactivate the oven safety interlocks. Never insert objects through the door grill or around the door seal.

Many of today's newspapers derive part of their name from the word gazetta, a small coin the 16th century Venetian government charged to read posted news bulletins.

Sorority has ERA program

Gamma Mu Sorority met Feb. 4, Monday night, at the home of Helen Mason. This was one of the year's self-improvement programs.

President Sara Holder introduced her sister, Marilyn Holder, as guest for the meeting. Miss Holder presented facts and explanations of how the Equal Rights Amendment would affect women in society. She started her program with a true-false test in which members evaluated their knowledge of ERA; then she opened a discussion of the answers to the group. Miss Holder is assistant professor of social science at Lubbock Christian College.

The sorority presented Marilyn with a gift of lotions in appreciation. Members attending were the hostess, the president, Irene Fry, Julie Hudman, Janet Justice, Johnnie Norman, Jane George, Ruth Ann Young, Jana McCallister, Orabeth White, Jane Mason, and Sharlot Sparlin.

Plans were made for the sorority's next meeting on Feb. 18. They will tour a home in Lubbock where antique lamps and dolls will be the program topic.

The group enjoyed refreshments of chips, dip, cheese roll, Valentine cookies, Coke and Dr. Pepper. Table decorations were red and white hearts on plates; and the centerpiece of a candy dish full of red hot was the door prize. Jana McCallister was the winner.

Jack Meeks to be honored

Mr. and Mrs. A.A. "Jack" Meeks of Route 2, Post will be honored at a reception Sunday, Feb. 10 in the community room of the First National Bank between 2 and 4 p.m. on their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

Hosting the reception will be their children, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Meeks of Garland and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Meeks of Lubbock.

Meeks and the former Evelyn Webb moved to the Graham community following their marriage Feb. 1, 1930 and moved to the Pleasant Valley community in 1941 where they have resided since that time.

It is requested that gifts be omitted please.

Mrs. Marks tells of Hawaiian trip

Maxine Marks presented a program on a recent trip to California and Hawaii at the regular meeting of the Graham Extension club.

Roll call was answered with "Where you would go if you took a trip."

Final plans for helping during the Garza County Livestock Show and Fair were made.

Nona Lusk, hostess served refreshments to guest Maxine Marks, and members, Loucille Bush, Mary Peel, Loucille Morris and Viva Davis.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED — Mr. and Mrs. Dayle Nelson announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Donna, to Douglas Bradbury, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bradbury, of Colorado City. The bride-elect is a senior at Post High School and the future bridegroom is a graduate of Colorado City High School. The couple plan a June 7 wedding in Trinity Baptist Church in Post.

Nabokov works

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — The finest collection ever formed of the works of the late Vladimir Nabokov, Russian-American novelist who is considered a giant in 20th Century literature, has been acquired by The University of Texas.

Nabokov was author of the widely known novel "Lolita" and such critically acclaimed works as "The Gift," "Invitation of a Bezar," "Invitation of a Bezar," "Pale Fire" and "Speak, Memory."

Housed in UT's Humanities Research Center, the Nabokov collection contains almost 500 items — including his first extant book "Stikhi" (Poems) published in St. Petersburg in 1916.

Teacher shortage

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — Teachers are in short supply in Texas, says the director of placement in The University of Texas College of Education.

Dr. William Bennie attributes the shortage to a number of factors: the "job scare" in education several years ago when an oversupply of teachers caused students to go into other fields; the declining enrollment in education because of continuing low pay for teachers, and the movement into Texas of more families.

He says the calls his office is receiving now is not for next year's staff but for more teaching personnel immediately.

Why will the 1980 census ask how many bedrooms are in a home? Because the answer, combined with the number of occupants and the home's value, indicate overcrowding, housing quality, and help forecast potential school enrollment.

Rainbows were believed by the Norsemen to be bridges between earth and the home of the gods in the sky.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Governor Clements' remark last week that the U.S. hostages in Iran were "expendable" alongside national interests brought an angry rebuke from one captive's father, but it was not the gaffe some made it out to be.

Clements told reporters at his weekly news conference that the hostage issue had become secondary to the nation's interests. "If indeed our hostages are put into jeopardy, they have to become expendable—which is an ugly word—in regard to the national interest."

The ugly word "expendable" triggered a semantic reaction among a few Democratic party leaders, but most reporters let it slide. Clements was not altogether tarred and feathered, although the angry father of a captured Navy commander told reporters he wanted to talk to the Governor about the remark.

As one reporter remarked later, Clements was only verbalizing what a lot of people feel—that national defense comes first. "It was unfortunate that he did not choose a better word, but maybe "expendable" was correct in his point of view."

Dispatch

The Governor, she pointed out, was not as trigger-lipped as many make him out to be.

Clements, a former deputy defense secretary under Presidents Nixon and Ford, caught more flak for his recommendations of a Naval blockade of the Persian Gulf to cut off oil shipments of Iranian oil, and a blockade around Cuba to prevent arms shipments from the Soviets.

Drafting Women

Other Texans commented last week on the issue of registration of women for draft, and support for the plan came from all areas of the political spectrum. Liberal Congressmen Mickey Leland and Martin Frost, moderate J. J. "Jake" Pickle, and conservatives Ray Roberts, Charles Stenholm and Joe Wyatt spoke for registration, although not necessarily drafting of women for combat.

Republican Senator John Tower is opposed to registration for women.

Spending Champion

A state auditor's report on legislator spending in fiscal 1978 listed Sen. Walter Mengden, a conservative Houston Republican, at the top. Mengden spent $100,895 on himself and his office. Senators behind him were Frank Lombardino, D-San Antonio, $95,860; Ron Clower, D-Garland, $85,698; and Chet Brooks, D-Houston, $81,098.

Leading in the House of Representatives were Roy English, D-Arlington, $57,970; Al Price, D-Beaumont, $55,458; Ron Wilson, D-Houston, $54,617; and Paul Ragsdale, D-Houston, $54,329.

Senate Facelift

Redistricting next session may give the Texas Senate a more urban look in the '80s, according to figures released by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

Population has increased heavily in Texas' "Big Three" urban centers: Houston, Dallas-Fort Worth and San Antonio. As many as 10 Senators could come from those four cities in 1983.

Braecklein to Quit

Dallas State Sen. Bill Braecklein, who recently converted to the Republican Party, announced last week he will not seek re-election in 1981. He cited heavy business commitments as his reason for leaving. Braecklein narrowly won as a Democrat in 1976, and changed parties last fall saying he could not support the Democratic presidential candidates.

Unions: Two Gains

Attorney General Mark

White ruled last week that state employees may have union dues deducted from paychecks, and there is no legal prohibition against allowing employees to be represented by unions in grievance procedures.

Labor leaders were pleased, calling the opinion a breakthrough for organized labor in the state.

The opinion was sought by State Comptroller Bob Bullock and written by three of seven members of the AG's opinions committee. After the committee split votes on the issue, White ruled in favor of the opinion.

Gov. Clements was not pleased with the opinion. He said he plans to seek legislation next session prohibiting payroll deduction of union dues.

Big crowd enjoys junior class play

The Junior class play, "The Soapy Murder Case" by Tim Kelly, was presented Saturday evening in the Primary Auditorium to an almost full house. Those attending enjoyed over an hour of hilarious mystery in a fast moving comedy situation. The class and sponsors are to be congratulated on a great performance.

One might hope that Benny Kennedy who portrayed Phil Reinhold is not permanently deformed as he performed his "stance and walk", not once breaking character.

Also will Tim Tatum's waist line ever be the same, and how can one be so limber and also heavy.

The crowd was kept rolling in their seats as each murder was committed and the following events were somewhat surprising.

Characters and their roles were: Amy Thuett, Ivy M. Robespierre; Laura Mason, Dottie Duncan; Kevin Craig, Link Kennecott; David Foster, Dr. Brock; Donna Gerone, Jessica Courtney; Benny Jackson, David Somerset; Benny Kennedy, Phil Reinhold; Rhonda Rogers, Mona La Mouch; Judy Morris, Mrs. Naugebide and Tim Tatum, Horatio Tucker.

Christy Morris and Suzanne Hudman were directors.

TCCnominates Dr. Tom Pass

MCALLEN — The Rev. Dr. Thomas E. Pass of Post has been nominated to serve a two-year term as chairman of the Division of Education of the Texas Conference of Churches.

The nomination will come for vote before the 11th annual Assembly of Representatives of the TCC in McAllen Feb. 14-16.

He has served for one year as chairman, completing an unexpired term, and will present recommendations of the division to the assembly for vote. One of these calls on members of the constituent churches to work to provide opportunities for education for children of undocumented immigrants.

Does whip Cooper 53-41 for 4th in row

Lopes in 6th straight loss

Post High's two varsity basketball teams continued to "streak" in opposite directions here Tuesday night.

Coach Sonja Curry's Does won their fourth straight in second half district play after an opening loss to Slaton by defeating Cooper 53 to 41. The win brought their record to 16 wins against eight losses for the season.

It was an entirely different story for Coach Jerry Reynolds' Antelopes who lost to Cooper 55 to 52 for their sixth loss in a row and their fifth without a win in second half play.

Marinette Hays had her best scoring night of the season for the Does in leading them to their easy win over Cooper, who had won the earlier meeting of the season between the two teams on the Cooper floor.

Hays hit for nine fielders and four free throws for 22 points, the first time this season any Doe has tallied 20 points in a game. Hays' best previous effort was 17 against Crosbyton back in December.

The Does put the game away in the opening period when they poured in a dozen field goals to grab a 24 to 4 lead. Although the visitors rallied in the second period to outshoot Post 15 to 6, it didn't really get them back in the game.

In the third period, Hays scored five times from the field for 10 of Post's 13 points as the Does pulled away from their 30 to 19 intermission margin to take a 42 to 27 lead.

Other Post scoring came from Donna Baumann with 10 points, Luann Kennedy with eight, Melissa Tatum with six, Julie Davis with four, Jerri Baumann with two, and Dee Dee Redman with one.

The victory leaves the Does tied for second place in the second half district race.

The Lopes got off badly in their game and fell behind from the start.

Cooper, who had lost to Post in their two previous meetings on the road, jumped out in front 11 to 8 in the first period and then outshot the Lopes 21 to 19 in a high scoring second period for a 32 to 27 halftime margin.

Post cut that lead to three in the third period scoring 16 points to 14 for Cooper, but the final period was a 9-9 standoff.

The Lopes lost the ball game at the free throw line as the Pirates went to the line 35 times off 22 Lope infractions and put the ball through the hoops on 21 of those occasions.

Post got only 17 charity throws and converted on but 10 of them.

Mark Holly led the Lope attack with 14 points.

He was followed by Larry Rodriguez with nine, Mike Macy with eight, Chuck Black and Rance Adkins with six each, Jimmy Pruitt with four, Drew Kirkpatrick and Leslie Willard with two each, and Jackie Stelzer with one.

The Lopes are now 5-17 for the season.

The Does and Lopes will journey to Roosevelt Friday night and then close their respective basketball seasons here Tuesday night against Denver City.

Frosh girls thump Tahoka

Coach Sonja Curry's Post freshman girls grabbed an easy 57 to 36 win over the Tahoka frosh here Monday night.

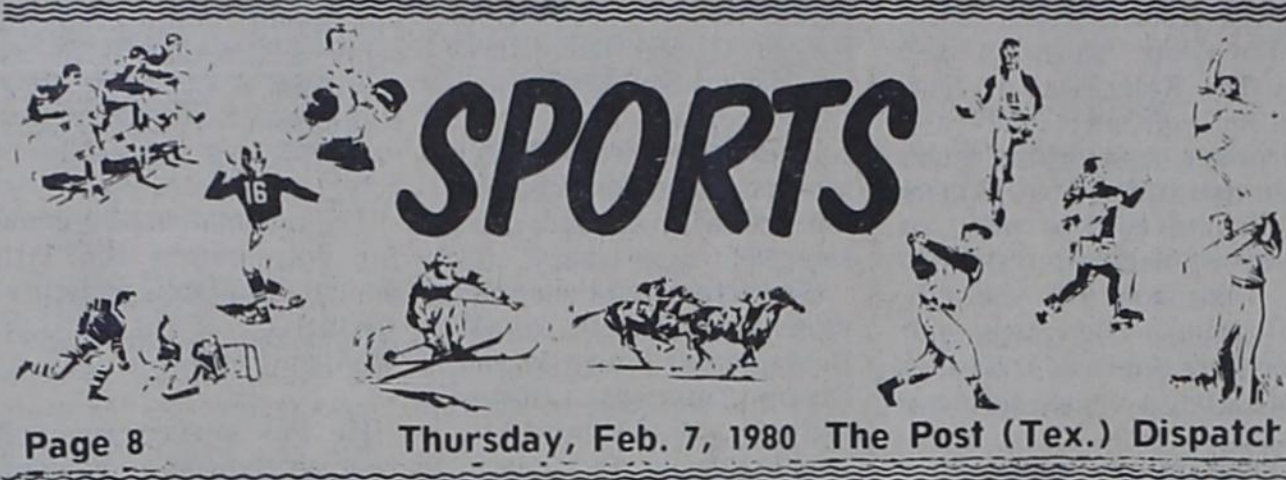

After the two teams played to an 8-8 standoff in the first period, the Post girls took control and outscored the visitors the rest of the way, leading 27 to 18 at the half and 39 to 28 after three.

Darla Jackson had her best scoring night of the season in hitting eight fielders and four frees for 20 points.

Other Post scoring was by D.Linda Tyler with 11, Charlie Dalby, Cynthia Poole, and Tina Greene with six each, and Monique Claborn and Norma Samora with four apiece.

The team will need a victory here Monday night against Roosevelt in its closing game to even its season's record at eight wins and eight losses.

The 1980 census will probably be the first since the Civil War to record that blacks moving to the South outnumber those leaving.

Lopes beaten at Tahoka, 65 to 47

Coach Jerry Reynolds' Post Antelopes stayed up with the Tahoka Bulldogs for the first period at Tahoka Friday night, but after that it was all Tahoka.

Tumblers win power trophy

Post won the first place team trophy for power tumbling in division 4 and 5 recently in the Littlefield Invitational Tumbling Meet.

Kerry Hart, Deke Willard and Jeff Lamb all placed first in the age bracket 10 and over.

Also placing in the meet were Cindi Gilmore, third; Tandi Rogers, fourth; Becky Shumard, fourth; Risa Willard, second and Keith Hart second.

Other teams participating in the meet were Slaton, Lamesa, Plains, Denver City, Lubbock Fine Arts, Levelland and Post.

8th girls whip Tahoka

Coach Lu Allen's eighth grade girl cagers defeated Tahoka, 24 to 19, here Monday night with Doris Pringler leading the way with nine points.

Tahoka held a 6 to 5 lead at the end of the first quarter, but Post moved ahead 10 to 8 at the half and extended that lead to 18 to 14 after three.

Michele Hill got seven points for Post. Denise Smith added four and Cindee Jackson got two to complete the locals' scoring.

The team will wind up its season here Monday against Roosevelt.

Blood pressure checks surprise

Members of the Garza County Chapter of the American Heart Association, Svan Nichols and Ida Wilks, conducted a blood pressure screening at the Pancake Supper Friday night.

Of the 50 persons screened, eight had elevated blood pressure and were advised to see their family physician. This represents 16 percent of the total checked which is unusually high.

The AMA urges you to have your blood pressure checked on a regular basis.

The 1980 census is expected to show a nine percent increase in the U.S. population for the past decade, the smallest increase in the Nation's history except for the 1930's the time of the Great Depression.

JV girls win close game

The Post JV girls rolled to an easy 43 to 25 triumph over the Tahoka JVs at Tahoka Friday night in the preliminary of the tripleheader.

Sheryl Anderson led the Post attack with 11 points, followed by Trushell Marts with 10, Karen Davis with eight, Lana Dunn with six, Beatrice Curtis with four, and Amy Babb and Lisa Holly with two each.

The Post team jumped in front 16 to 9 in the first period, led 30 to 17 at the intermission, and held a 35 to 19 advantage after three periods.

The girls next game is Friday night at Roosevelt.

COTTON TODAY

A NATIONAL COTTON COUNCIL SERVICE

Cotton Leaders Named
Cotton men from the Southwest were elected to key leadership positions at the recent National Cotton Council annual meeting. Top spot went to Herman A. Propst, Anson, Tex., who was named president of the Beltwide organization.

The 1980 board of directors includes Wiley Felty, Altus, Okla.; Earl Julufka, Robstown, Tex.; Eugene B. Smith, Jr., Raymond V. Cooper, and Peter Hirschfeld, Dallas; Rex Steele, Fort Worth; and Rex McKinney, Lubbock.

Lloyd Cline, Lamesa, Tex., was elected secretary of the Council's Producer Steering Committee. Wiley Felts was named a regional director, and David Stratton, Clinton, Okla., and W.B. Criswell, Idalou, Tex., are state producer chairmen.

Officers of the Texas State Unit of the Council are Jerry Harris, Lamesa, chairman; Eugene B. Smith, Jr., vice chairman; and Adolph Hanslik, Lubbock, secretary. Elected to these positions in Oklahoma are Jack Myers, Snyder; A. G. Murphy, Guthrie; and Wayne Boothe, Cordell.

Help Promised on Cotton Dust

An industry delegation led by National Cotton Council President Herman Propst has called on Agriculture Secretary Bergland to assume the lead in finding and eliminating the byssinosis-causing agent in cotton. The group presented a proposal for $9 million over 24-month period for research on the problem. Bergland complimented the industry highly, stating, "You have acted responsibly and we are going to help." Secretary

JV girls whip Tahoka 43-25

Coach James Easterling's Post JV girls club came from behind in the fourth period here Tuesday night to edge the Cooper JVs 38 to 37 in the preliminary of the tripleheader.

Cooper had taken a 28 to 26 lead in the third period after Post had managed to stay in front through the first half, 9 to 8 and 20 to 16.

The Post team had three girls in double digits, Karen Davis leading the way with 14 followed by Trushell Marts and Lana Dunn with 10 apiece. Amy Babb and Beatrice Curtis with two points each were the only other Post players to tally.

The local girls have two more games left, at Roosevelt Friday night and here against Denver City Tuesday in the windup.

Does whip Tahoka for 3rd straight

Coach Sonja Curry's Post Does scored their third straight victory at Tahoka Friday night with a 51 to 40 triumph over the Tahoka girls to bring their second half district record up to 3-1.

Dee Dee Redman hit eight straight free throws as she scored 10 points to tie for high point honors with Donna Baumann who got her ten with five fielders.

7th girls in 22-18 triumph

Coach Lu Allen's Post seventh grade girls team took a 22 to 18 win from Tahoka here Monday night.

Tahoka rallied in the last period to narrow the gap to a four-point margin after Post went into the final quarter with a 19 to 9 lead and an opportunity to substitute freely.

Post jumped ahead 8 to 2 in the opening quarter, but the visitors came back in the second to narrow Post's margin to two, 11 to 9. Tahoka, however, was blanked in the third as Post scored eight to take a commanding lead.

Jan White and Channa Williams led Post scorers with three fielders apiece for six points.

8th graders edged 31-30

Tahoka's eighth grade boys team rallied in the final period at Tahoka Monday night to come from behind and nip Coach Compton's eighth grade cagers, 31 to 30.

Tahoka held a narrow 11 to 10 lead after the first period, but Post moved in front 17 to 15 at intermission. At the end of three, Post held to a 25 to 24 lead.

Mendoza led the Post attack with nine points, followed by Williams with seven.

The club will close its basketball season at Roosevelt Monday night.

7th grade boys bow at Tahoka

Coach Randy Josey's seventh grade boys team dropped a 22 to 12 cage decision to Tahoka at Tahoka Monday night.

The score was tied 4 all at the end of the first period, but Tahoka pulled away with eight points in the second while holding Post scoreless.

Greg Massey led the Post shooters with six points.

Tahoka rips Frosh boys

Tahoka completed its "basketball shutout" of Post's four boys teams Monday night by thumping Coach Lane Tannehill's freshman club, 55 to 43 at Tahoka.

The local frosh started out like it was going to be completely different by jumping into a 15 to 8 first period lead and holding on for a 25 to 22 advantage at the half.

But Tahoka came out for the second half with a much better shooting touch as they outscored Post 19 to 9 in the third and 14 to 10 in the fourth for the victory.

Will Kirkpatrick led the Post attack with eight fielders for 16 points.

Other Post scoring was eight by Bill Black, six by Irvin Price, five each by Tim Tannehill and Mark Odom, two by Wade Gidens and one by D. Odom.

CCI Work Lauded

Strong buyer-seller relationships between U.S. cotton exporters and Chinese officials are paying off with record sales already topping 2 million bales this year. U.S. Ambassador Leonard Woodcock, in a recorded message from Peking to the National Cotton Council's annual meeting, said American cotton now has a major share of China's raw cotton import market. He said situation reflects the effectiveness of activities carried out by Cotton Council International with Chinatex, the government agency which purchases all of China's raw cotton imports. He suggested that these marketing activities be continued and expanded to maintain and service the important Chinese market.

And Cotton Yesterday

This year is the 90th anniversary of the movement of the boll weevil across the Texas border from Mexico.

$20,000 raised in donated quilt sale

ABILENE — More than $20,000 was raised from the sale of 114 hand-made quilts and afghans donated to the West Texas Rehabilitation Center for Rehab '80.

Because not all of the donated needlework was displayed on the air during the telethon on Jan. 26, the bidding was extended through Jan. 31 and the quilts and afghans were displayed in the Gist Memorial Center, WTRC, Abilene.

A steady stream of visitors viewed the quilts and afghans, inspecting the delicate handwork and bidding as much as $2,000 for a single quilt.

No full-sized quilt was sold for less than $100 and most brought $300 or more. Afghans sold for approximately $100 apiece.

Quilting clubs, senior citizens groups and individuals from West Texas and Oklahoma contributed the coverlets to WTRC.

"We are so appreciative of the time and work put in by these people to help the West Texas Rehabilitation Center," executive director Shelley V. Smith said. "We know how much love has gone into making each one of these beautiful quilts and afghans. The money we receive will mean many hours of treatment for the handicapped."

Rehab, '80, the tenth annual telethon benefiting WTRC, raised more than $800,000 in gifts and pledges.

This year's budget for the facility in Abilene, San Angelo and Snyder will be approximately $2.7 million.

In 1979, more than 7,000 handicapped children and adults were treated at the West Texas Rehabilitation Center without charge.

High School Basketball Games with Meadow

The junior varsity girls bowed to Meadow 34 to 27 Jan. 25 on the homecourt. Bonnie Koslan led with 10 points, followed by Lupe Diaz with 8.

The varsity girls lost a close game to Meadow 58 to 54. Camille Wheeler pumped in 16 points. Sherri Alvis added 13 points.

The Southland varsity boys stomped Meadow 70-45. Perry Hill was high scorer with 26. Sherman Daugherty pumped in 16, and Gerry Hill and Fred Lucero added ten and eleven, respectively, for the Eagles.

J.V. Boys Win Loop Tournament

The Southland junior varsity took first place at the Loop J.V. tournament Jan. 24-26. Their first win came against Loop 57 - 20. Andy Wheeler was high point with 14 points. Amador Vasquez

Holly special on channel 5

Twenty years have passed since '50s pioneer rock n' roll artist Charles Hardin (Buddy) Holly was killed in a plane crash following a musical performance in Clear Lake, Iowa. What has happened in the lives of the people closest to him and some reasons for the intensity of his continuing popularity twenty years later is the subject of "Buddy Holly: Reminiscing," premiering Monday, Feb. 11 at 7 p.m. on KTX-TV 5.

Although Holly was part of the music scene for only 18 months, he left behind a legacy of nearly 50 songs including such great hits as "That'll Be The Day," "Peggy Sue," and "Not Fade Away." But his brief recording career ended suddenly when Holly, along with singers Ritchie Valens, The Big Bopper (J.P. Richardson), and their pilot died in a plane crash February 3, 1959.

"Buddy Holly: Reminiscing" examines the life and music of this remarkable artist by focusing on the changes that have occurred in the lives of members in Holly's band (The Crickets), his widow, and the world of music.

and David Farquhar helped with 13 and 11 respectively. In the championship game, Southland rolled over Dawson 72-32. Louis Milo contributed the most with 21 points. David Farquhar added 11.

Basketball Games Cancelled

The high school A boys and girls teams have rescheduled their Jan. 29 games at Union to 6:30 p.m. Feb. 11 at Union.

Public Notice

ORDINANCE NO. 337
AN ORDINANCE PROHIBITING THE CONSUMPTION OF INTOXICATING BEVERAGES, THE POSSESSION OF INTOXICATING BEVERAGES, AND THE DISCARD OF CONTAINERS FOR ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES WITHIN THE CORPORATE LIMITS OF THE CITY OF POST, PROVIDING A PENALTY FOR VIOLATION, PROVIDING FOR SEVERABILITY AND PUBLICATION, AND REPEALING ALL PREVIOUS ORDINANCES IN CONFLICT.

WHEREAS, the possession and consumption of intoxicating beverages in public parks creates a condition dangerous to the safety of persons within those areas, and

WHEREAS, the indiscriminate discard of bottles and cans presents both a health, safety and esthetic problem in city parks. Now Therefore

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY OF POST:

Section 1. The possession or consumption of intoxicating liquor, including beer and wine, in any public park, including public parks utilized for athletic competition, within the corporate limits of the City of Post, Texas, is hereby declared unlawful.

Section 2. It shall be unlawful for any person to discard any intoxicating beverage container, including glass, can or paper containers for beer or wine, in any public park, including public parks utilized for athletic competition, within the corporate limits of the City of Post, Texas.

Section 3. Any person violating any provision of this Ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding Two Hundred Dollars ($200.00).

Section 4. If any Section, clause or phrase of this Ordinance shall be adjudged invalid or held to be unconstitutional, such shall not affect the remainder, which shall remain in full force and effect.

Section 5. All Ordinances, or parts thereof, in conflict with this Ordinance are hereby repealed.

Section 6. The City Secretary is directed to publish the caption and penalty clause of this Ordinance in compliance with legal requirements.

PASSED, on First Reading, January 7, 1980.
PASSED on Second Reading Feb. 4, 1980.

Congressional Comment

WASHINGTON, D.C. — As the attention of the world has been drawn to the Middle East during the long and frustrating siege of our American Embassy in Iran, many Americans have begun to focus on attitudes held not only by our enemies, but our so-called allies as well.

We have watched with growing concern as one after another of our allies has demonstrated less than united support for the American position in Iran, conceding more and more to their own petroleum dependencies. The United States, we thought, stood alone.

All Americans were heartened, therefore, when the Canadian government revealed their involvement in the concealment and recent escape of six American diplomats from under the noses of the Iranians.

The successful plot to conceal the six in the Canadian Embassy in Tehran for three months undoubtedly has severely threatened Canadian-Iranian relations, but must surely seal a growing bond between the U.S. and our neighbors to the north.

It would seem that in our clamor for support from allied and non-allied nations abroad, we have often failed to keep our fences strong with our two closest neighbors — Mexico and Canada. With the increasing recognition of Mexico as an oil-exporting nation, we have turned more and more of our attention to that tattered fence along our southern border, while paying less and less attention to Canada.

Mexico has, with some cause, treated overtures toward more favorable trade with the U.S. with some disdain. Their actions in refusing the return of the Shah following his medical treatment in this country, were, to say the least, an embarrassment to our government, to point out only one example.

On the other hand, Canada, with perhaps the same justifiable sense of neglect, has demonstrated what I feel is a level of admirable support.

They have supported our position in Iran on every front, from the U.S. resolution on economic sanctions (vetoed by the Russians) to halting their own imports of needed Iranian petroleum. This latter was done in the face of fuel shortages of their own.

Canada remains an important exporter of natural gas and some liquid petroleum to the U.S. Current long-standing contracts call for Canadian exports of up to 1 trillion cubic feet of natural gas per year to the U.S., making up 5 percent of our domestic consumption. The actual amount of Canadian liquid petroleum exported to the U.S. (about 100,000 barrels per day) is less significant in terms of overall supply than in its importance in easing a critical transportation bottleneck to the northern states.

On another front, Canada

Storms slow grading job

Last week's general ice and snow storm slowed cotton movement from field stored modules to area gins, according to Paul R. Dickson, area director for the Texas High Plains Cotton Division offices.

Sample receipts at the four High Plains offices averaged about 11,000 per day this week compared to about 17,000 per day a week earlier Dickson said.

High Plains Cotton Division offices graded 51,000 samples during the week ended January 31. This brought the season's total to 2,304,000, according to USDA's Agriculture Marketing Service. About 1,788,000 had been graded by this date one year ago.

Predominant grades for the week were grade 31 at 21 percent and grade 42 at 39 percent. About 10 percent were reduced one grade because of bark.

Predominant staples were 30-30 percent, staple 31-39 percent and staple 32-18 percent.

Micronaire 30-32 was 35 percent, 27 - 29 accounted for 39 percent while mikes 26 or below amounted to nine percent of the samples classes.

Prices paid growers continued to advance. Mixed lots of mostly mikes 30-32 sold around 1475 points over 1979 loan rates - up about 75 points from a week earlier. Mixed lots of mostly mikes 27 - 29 brought about 1125 points over loan-up about 150 points.

recently took the position that they would not make up the shortfall of grain exports to Russia caused by the American embargo precipitated by the invasion of Afghanistan.

While we might wish that our neighbor would join us in actual economic sanctions against Iran or in stopping their own scheduled grain sales to Russia, we cannot quarrel that when American lives were involved — six of them — they stood strong and tall on our side. That stand should not be minimized — or forgotten.

A great big bouquet of roses to the Junior Play cast and crew for its production Saturday night. It was very funny. I never knew Benny Kennedy could be so serious and WALK THAT WALK and when Benny Jackson gave the supposedly mouth-to-mouth resuscitation he turned so red in the face I thought it was going to have to be administered to him, for real. Anyway, GREAT JOB, kids.

The sheriff's department is investigating theft of a brass pump head from the yard of B & R Coating here. The theft occurred sometime over the weekend. The pump head was valued at about $1,500 according to Sheriff Jim Pippin.

Vandals broke the lock off the door at the Garza Junior Livestock show barn sometime Monday night to gain entrance, but nothing was found to be missing.

Joe Page, 22, of Post was ordered to pay fine and court costs totaling $160.50 in city court Monday after pleading guilty to two counts of assault and one count of littering Sunday night. He is out on $750 surety bond on a criminal mischief charge also filed against him in county court.

Juan Bostoz, Jr., 27, of Post pleaded guilty in city court this week to a charge of disorderly conduct and ordered to pay fine and court costs totaling $103. He was arrested by sheriff's officers Saturday night after getting into a fight at a local tavern. The other man involved in the fight ran away from officers and escaped.

UT Press issues book on football

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — It happens in many small Texas towns in the fall — bonfires, pep rallies, beribboned cars, refrigerated mums, bands, happy and sad locker rooms.

It is high school football, and the special kind of fervor it seems to generate has been captured in a new book from The University of Texas Press, "Rites of Fall: High School Football in Texas."

About 170 photographs record the rituals of Texas high school football — from gridiron action to partisan fans.

City council —

The council also Monday night voted not to pay some $2,500 billed the city by the county as its half share for repairs on the law enforcement building. Since the building is owned by the county, the city understand it cannot legally spend city tax money on the county building.

In voting to pay its share of law enforcement bills for December and January, the city laid aside a $1,310.21 item in supplies which it had not been advised about in advance.

The council's unhappiness over what it considers the lack of cooperation from the tv cable company surfaced again. The new cable firm, which has yet to have its local franchise approved here by the city, has failed to supply the city the names of its principal stockholders.

Several at the council meeting told of receiving numerous complaints on the lack of repair service by the cable firm, especially on nights and weekends.

Harvey Morton, attorney for the city, was instructed to look into the subject of how much legal control the city can exercise over the tv cable firm and report his findings at the March meeting.

Harold Lucas Motors was awarded the sale of two truck cabs and chassis to the city on a bid of $19,390. Three bids were submitted. One by Town and Country Chevrolet of Slaton was lower, but the bid was not itemized as required by the city so it was not considered.

The city's audit report for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1979, was presented by Jim Harding of Lubbock. (See separate story.)

The council decided to quickly get busy on plans for 1980 seal coating of both city streets and airport runways if enough money is available for both.

City Manager Pete Maddox was instructed to get the city's engineering firm busy on specifications and to hold a special called meeting of the council as soon as recommendations are available so bids can be advertised for as soon as possible.

Louille Morris was named as election judge and the city's spring election called for April 5.

Dr. Wilson, the council's representative on the new county-wide tax evaluation board, reported on the signing of contracts by the board with two firms to do a complete revaluation, starting this year, with the participating local branches of government paying agreed upon charges monthly on a pay-as-you-go basis. (See separate story for complete details.)

Heard a report from City Manager Maddox the city's new sanitation department dumpsters are in compliance with safety standards. The city had received a letter from the federal consumer products safety commission that many cities had dumpsters which were dangerous for neighborhood youngsters to play around, causing a number of injuries and deaths.

The council approved a building permit for Handy Hardware's new front on its

Midkiff rites are pending

Funeral services were pending for Mrs. Nannie Mae Midkiff, 83, at Hudman's Funeral Home here Wednesday morning but burial was set for Wekes Chapel Cemetery in Jasper, Tex.

A native of Jasper, Mrs. Midkiff moved to Post some 20 years ago.

She died at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 5 in Lubbock's Methodist Hospital following a lengthy illness.

Survivors include two sons, David Midkiff of Tahoka and Orlan Midkiff of Hemphill, Tex.; two daughters, Hazel Rushing of Pineland, Tex., and Madelyn Zurinski of Lubbock; one sister, Mary Clark of Pineland and two brothers, Everett Parker of Jasper and Hardy Parker of Post; several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

next-door gift store. It also approved a resolution for the highway department granting the highway department the right to upgrade railroad crossbucks and other related signs and pavement markings within the city limits at no cost to the city.

Maxine Marks, who had been requested a month ago to head a study committee on a new set of regulations for the cemetery here, discussed some proposed rules with the council and pointed out the proposed future cemetery development from a cemetery map she brought with her.

The council noted members have received packets of information from Southwestern Public Service for a rate increase request the utility firm will make in the near future.

Postings —

"To the home of Terry and the Terrible Towels, to the torture he endures each winter. But this time Bum's on the giving end. And Pittsburgh is paying him. Paying him handsomely, in fact."

"If the road to the Super Bowl leads through Pittsburgh, as Bum so aptly put it, then our phrase-making philosopher is following it to the Super Bowl of Public Appearances. He speaks in the once-Smoky City in February and returns for another engagement in April.

"Over last weekend, Bum appeared in Greenville, S.C. He's also scheduled in Key Largo, Fla., Miami, Bryan College Station, Post and Lubbock. Though the home-spun Oiler coach increased his fee he's in twice as much demand as a year ago.

"He declines more dates than he accepts. Which adds to the appeal of the Earl Campbell Appreciation Dinner and the Houston Sports-writers and Sportscasters Toast and Roast of Bum. His local February appearances may be the last chance to hear him until next season. Unless you tune in on one of his commercials."

Oiler publicist Jack Cherry, who handles some of Bum's bookings, reported: "I got a letter from Dr. Mark Rigby of the Tomball Rotary Club. They want him for mid-February. Dr. Rigby added: 'You'll be pleased to know that President Carter is our second choice.'" But it looks as if Tomball will have to settle for peanuts. Bum's booked in Austin for that date.

In the past most of Bum's speaking requests came from Texas. Cherry points out. "Two playoff appearances really spread the word on Bum. Now the bulk of our requests come from other states. He has about 10 engagements left and that's all he'll take between now and the draft. After the draft he has a vacation scheduled."

A fan stole his $50 cowboy hat on the field at Three Rivers Stadium a year ago but Bum and some friends ran down the thief and retrieved it. However, not even the locker room is safe at Three Rivers, Gallagher reports. This year the Pittsburgh "stealers" again purloined his felt Stetson and he never got it back. "I'd rather have somebody grab it and run off the field like they did last year than steal it when nobody was looking," Bum complained. "He didn't even have the Gladys Stone Wright, associate conductor of the touring wind band, is the founding president of the Women Band Directors National Association.

The United States Collegiate Wind Band will travel for three weeks, July 13 to Aug. 5, in England, France, Germany, Austria, Italy, Holland and Switzerland.

Concerts will be performed in London, Paris, Lucerne, Innsbruck, Lugano, LaChaux-de-Fonds, Munich, Amsterdam, Montreaux, Cologne and Heidelberg.

The group will assemble in New York City for rehearsals prior to their departure from Kennedy Airport July 13. While in New York City the band will play invitational concerts at the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts and in the Plaza of the Americas at Rockefeller Center.

In addition to performing concerts, the wind band members will visit musical shrines, museums, and places of musical interest including Richard Wagner's house in Lucerne, Mozart's birthplace in Salzburg and Beethoven's home in Bonn. They also will attend selected concerts and performances in various British and European concert halls and opera houses.

guts to fight for it."

"I won't say it's a pleasure to play Pittsburgh," Gallagher quotes Bum as saying. "It's an honor. You know you're gonna have a heckuva fight on your hands. When that fight is over it's kinda like when you had fights with your brother and sister. You work your business out and go back to likin' each other. That's kinda like the Oiler-Steeler rivalry has been."

Despite his putdown of Steeler fans, the bulk of Pittsburghers empathize with him, Gallagher reports. In fact, the blue-collar types that order shots and beers in neighborhood taverns love him. They see one of their own in the tobacco-chewing, beer-drinking, pickup truck-driving down-home Texan.

Not long ago, Gallagher writes, a Pittsburgh newsman quoted excerpts from "He Ain't No Bum", the recently published book, on the Phillips story. Soon Cherry began receiving queries from Pittsburgh wondering where they could order copies. Sales of the book have reached nearly 10,000 copies and the book soon will go into its second printing.

Concludes Gallagher: "Both Bum's book and Bum's team have come a long way since that mid-season embarrassment at Seattle. Next day the crestfallen Phillips phoned his collaborator, Ray Buck, and wondered how much a losing coach's book would sell. Answered a reassuring Buck: 'Don't worry. If the team flops we'll publish a sequel and call it "Yes He Is."'"

If you've read this far it's time to rush right out and buy your Chamber banquet ticket to hear Bum in person in the community center Saturday night, Feb. 23. After all, after they've sold 500 they'll have to stop. That's all they can crowd in the place.

Morris rites—

Morris had been a student at South Plains College in Levelland. He was a graduate of Post High School.

Besides his parents, he is survived by four brothers, James, Wesley, and Ray all of Post, and Ricky of Lubbock; two sisters, Janey McMillan of Tahoka and Peggy Hair of Post; and his grandparents, W.C.W. Morris of Post and Mable Martin of Post.

Pallbearers were Steve Davis, Billy Smith, Eric Howard, Bud Jones, Lane Tannehill, Butch Booth, and Evans Heaton.

Burial was in Terrace Cemetery under the direction of Hudman Funeral Home.

No candidates—

(Continued From Page One) None of the seven incumbents as of Wednesday, had indicated whether or not he intends to seek reelection.

Normally, the biggest contest develops for city council positions, although there have been hot races for both the school and hospital boards in recent years.

City audit—

(Continued From Page One) city court costs of $72,433.52, including the dog catcher, with $61,187.22 going as the city's half share for county law enforcement; $27,562.45 for fire department operations; $187,751.32 for the street department with $76,234.35 of this going for new paving last year; $59,405.90 for the sanitation department; $3,028.18 for the park department; $13,619.62 for cemetery expenses; $4,963.49 for Post Public Library operation; $600 for city health officer; $8,938.07 for ambulance operation, and $304.06 for airport expense.

Capital expenditures for the fiscal year totaled $86,519.37 of which $6,454 was the city's share toward purchase of the new ambulance, $18,964.59 went into payments on the community center, $49,250.19 was spent on new city equipment, $5,965.59 went for new garbage containers and equipment and $5,885 for the purchase of a new police car.

During the year $21,680 was paid off on note principal for trash container system, $4,100 paid on note principal for fire station, and $2,907.77 paid on note principal for the community center. Paving notes received increased $13,869.60 and delinquent taxes increased a net of $877.19 for the year.

That left a net increase in city cash of $10,073.41 for the year.

The city started its fiscal year with an unappropriated surplus of $80,872.83 in its general fund and 12 months later saw this balance increased to $128,210.80.

The city's water and sewer fund, which is kept separate from income and expense in the city's general fund is already reported, showed an earned revenue of $20,389.74 on total income of $190,748.64 for the year.

The income was derived from $163,435.52 in water sales, $1,854.20 in water tapping fees, $26,930.20 in sewer rentals and $195 in tapping fees.

Operating expenses of the water and sewer fund included $36,493.11 for general expenses and administration, $72,600 for the purchase of White River water, $61,317.47 for water distribution expense, and $8,285.33 for sewage expense.

The city at the close of the year had fixed assets valued on the books at $1,380,108.12 plus another $345,003.55 in water and sewer fund fixed assets.

Protect against those too-dry winter days... help prevent damage from harmful drying out of wood furniture, fine upholstery, draperies, carpets, wallpaper, paintings and other moisture-sensitive furnishings... reduce annoying static shock.

There's also excellent energy-saving potential, too, because you can lower the thermostat without discomfort when there is a proper degree of humidification.

Combining practicality with craftsmanship in their design and construction, these Kelvinator Humidifiers present a warm and distinctive walnut appearance that goes with almost any decor. Choose from four beautiful models. The units, with concealed casters, move easily. Just add water and plug in anywhere.

HOW IT WORKS

Dry room air enters humidifier through louvers in the back, picks up moisture as it is fan-blown through and around revolving water-saturated Humidrum sleeve and is discharged through the grille in the top, spreading its Springlike freshness throughout the home or office.
