Wins All-Around (13-15) Cowboy honors at Junior Rodeo finals—

Will Kirkpatrick world's champ

By NORMA BAUMANN

Will Kirkpatrick, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kirkpatrick, is the new All Around World's Champion Cowboy in the 13-15 age category following the finals of the American Junior Rodeo Association finals held in Snyder Saturday night.

Along with the honor, Will received a saddle and belt buckle. Not only is he the champion, but he also received a belt buckle for the Reserve Champion in tie-down calf roping and another buckle for being the Reserve Champion in optional roping.

The road to the finals is not an easy one.

Will competed in 18 rodeos throughout the spring and summer months. He also won All Around in the San Angelo rodeo and received the top prize of a horse blanket. He was named All Around in the Van Horn rodeo and received two buckles in the Big Spring rodeo for tie down and breakaway roping.

Other rodeos included in his tour this past season were Iraan, Del Rio, Midland, Odessa, Colorado City, Sonora, Baird, Carlsbad, N.M., Stephenville, Granbury, Evant, Sweetwater, Andrews, Monahans and that wasn't all of them, but just the ones that he made.

Will has been a member of the AJRA for the last five years but this summer has been his best.

In order to qualify for the finals in Snyder, a competitor must have won one point in the event he is entered and Will had no problem as he earned over 2600 points throughout the summer. During the finals, each competitor gets two runs or two head of stock and there were over 300 entries in the finals.

Will teamed up with his brother, Joel, in the team roping and Joel finished 11th in the optional roping and also won points in the team roping.

Older brother, Cliff finished fourth in optional roping in the 16-19 age category. Cliff also was named the World Champion when he was 12 and reserve champ in the 15 age category.

Brent Terry, another Garza County youth won third in the bull riding in the 16-19 age group.

The finals began last Monday and continued through Friday with each competitor performing morning and evening of each day with the top four in each event competing in the finals Saturday night. Only two buckles are presented in each event for first and second place finishes. There were 26 entered in the tie down roping and 18 teams in the team roping.

Will hopes to compete until his eligibility runs out and that is when you pass your 20th birthday.

A sophomore in Post High School this year, Will was a member of the freshman basketball team last year and played on the frosh football squad. He is now working out with the Antelope team.

If that's not enough to keep him busy, the new rodeo season begins in Midland in two weeks and Will is planning on being there.

School trustees cut tax rate by 20 cents

Post school trustees reduced the district's 1980 tax rate 20 cents to an even $1 per $100 valuation last Thursday night after adding a $150,000 maintenance package to the 1980-81 budget.

The board set Sept. 11 for a required hearing on the new tax rate on condition that the hearing could be advanced providing the tax rolls are received earlier. Trustee Mike Flanigan was the only one of six trustees present to vote against adoption of the new budget and the $1 tax rate. Flanigan wants to reduce the district's carryover surplus which this year topped a million dollars for the first time.

The school district needs a carryover surplus to operate for 60 or more days in the fall before sufficient taxes are paid. Flanigan says the surplus is too big. Action came on the $150,000 maintenance package after Dwayne McQueen of the school's Lubbock architectural firm of Whitaker and Hall, estimated the following costs for maintenance items generally included: Interior painting of elementary building $7,020; $6,863 interior painting of high school building plus $1,928 for exterior painting; $4,655 for interior painting of primary building, $41,600 for rewiring and new lighting for primary building; $20,000 for moving some interior walls to make full use of available space in primary building; $25,000 for new floor in high school gym; and $45,000 for permanent seating for 600 spectators in high school gym. Jack Lott, board chairman in proposing the $150,000 figure said possibly all the work couldn't be completed for $150,000 but as much of it as possible would. McQueen proposed that the dropped ceiling for the primary building at an estimated cost of $22,000, including insulation, be dropped because circulation of air in the building for heating purposes requires present high ceilings. He proposed moving some interior walls to make better use of some current "dead space" in the building. Trustees are seeking to get the new gym seating and floor installed prior to the opening of the basketball season in mid-November.

Choices of two types of seating was offered by McQueen but no final decision made. Either would cost about $30,000 for 300 seats on either side of the playing floor with the other $15,000 going into construction for a tiered seating floor on either side. One firm offered uphols. In hill eight miles south of Post by Tech paleontologists— 180-million year old claw found

The clue was a sharp inch-long claw, virtually lost in the red clay soil of a 60-foot-high hill eight miles south of Post. A casual passer-by wouldn't have noticed it and a future rain would have washed the 180-million-year-old claw into an infrequent creek at the base of the hill. But the three Texas Tech University paleontologists one hot July afternoon were no casual passers-by. For a month they had been looking for something just like that seemingly unimportant sliver of bone. The claw was an indication that the eroding hillside contained other fossils. The paleontologists — Dr. Sankar Chatterjee, his wife, Sibani, and research assistant Dave Proctor — were looking for 180-million-year-old proof that arid West Texas once was covered by a sub-tropical coniferous forest similar geologically and climatically to now-distant India and Europe. Three weeks' digging not only uncovered further evidence for the theory of continental drift — that the earth's land once was joined in one super continent, only to slowly separate and drift apart — but also uncovered a bonus as well. The scientists found what they believe is a new genus of (See New digs, Page 12)

Teachers report today for two days of preparation— Post schools open for fall term Monday

The Post schools will open for the fall term at 8:30 a.m. Monday for the students. The teachers will report at 8 a.m. today (Thursday) for two days of in-service preparations.

Any new Middle school students transferring from another district may register in the principal's office either today or Friday between 8 a.m. and noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Instructions for the primary and elementary school students are a little more lengthy. Kindergarten and first grade students are asked to enter the east door of the primary building Monday

Annual signing party tonight

The 1979-80 high school annuals have arrived. Principal Joe Giddens announced Tuesday and said a "Caprock signing party" will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. tonight (Thursday) in the high school gym. Giddens told The Dispatch that the annuals would be released at the party tonight either to the student who paid for one or to his parents. This is because five annuals "disappeared" when picked up by students last year for their friends.

$500 reward offer

A $500 reward is being offered by the Southland Schools (see page 4) for information leading to the arrest and conviction of person or persons who broke into the Southland school ag barn sometime early Sunday morning, Aug. 10, and stole a pickup load of tools worth $5,368.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Donnie Walker said the loot included mechanic wrenches, all kinds of power tools, torches, an electric generator and an air compressor.

Entrance was gained by prying open the east door of the barn. All the stolen tools were marked "Southland VO-AG".

The sheriff's office is continuing its investigation and running down leads in the case. Another tool theft was reported Tuesday. Some $244 worth of oil field tools were stolen off a Palmer Oil Field Construction truck parked at 910 West W. 13th, an employee's house.

Your wrong if you think the varsity will open Post's 1980 football season. The Post freshmen will get the honor in the first game of a twin bill in Antelope Stadium here at 5:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 4, against Lockney. The junior varsity will follow against Lockney in the nightcap of the doubleheader.

How 126 equals 2

The Dispatch has been told secondhand that our protest of 126 uncounted houses by the census in the northeast portion of the city didn't hold up. The report was the census counters could only find two of them.

Of course we have no idea how they recounted last week. We provided Mrs. Marks with a block by block count on a city map to be used for comparison purposes.

Of the 533 units we counted in that third of the city, 36 were obvious empties and really shacks. They might not have counted the shacks, but that still would have left us with 90 housing units more than they found and with no other empties whereas they listed about 30 or so "empties" of their own.

What struck us as unusual in our five hours of Sunday afternoon driving was that we totaled a few more units than the census enumerators did without even crossing the railroad tracks and counting the Lincoln addition.

We find ourselves surprised and disappointed in our first brush with federal bureaucracy.

Houses do not move around like people. They stay put. What we counted two or three weeks ago should be virtually the same as what they counted two or three months ago.

If the census enumerators have so much trouble counting houses, we can see that counting mobile units like people would be a whole lot more difficult for them. People might not be home or might not be answering a knock at the door.

We listened to a CBS news discourse between census official and the mayor of Detroit Tuesday morning. The mayor has taken the census folks to court claiming too many Detroiters weren't counted which will mean fewer congressmen representing the minorities and less federal funding for those minorities.

On a "minute scale of comparison" the very same thing could be happening in Post.

Tahoka got busy when they came up 200 people "short" in the count than they had expected and "found" a section of 70 homes which the enumerators had completely missed. That's an illustration of what the value of an independent check.

The yardstick on federal aid is that one person means $200 in federal bucks coming home to roost. (We presume that means over the decade the census is in effect.) So the stakes obviously are high.

We also are disappointed because nobody else in Post seems to care about our census count one way or the other.

Disappointment number three was that the other third of the city was not counted independently for houses. The southeast third could have produced similar results to the northeast third but nobody took the trouble.

For the reader's understanding we note we also counted the western third of the city and found our home count just 10 more than that of the census takers so for all practical purposes no big discrepancy was obvious there although their vacant house count was a whole lot higher than ours.

In the end we expect Post's 1980 census will be a little larger than the preliminary figure. But not a whole lot bigger.

But then again, it doesn't seem to be of very great concern here one way or the other.

Our forgotten hostages

The only time any more we hear about the 51 American hostages being held in Iran is when Walter Cronkite signs off his evening CBS news telecast.

Certainly it wasn't mentioned in the Democratic convention last week. Even the commentators remarked at the end that the hostages appeared to have been forgotten.

The trouble is the hostages are 51 Americans we can't forget.

What's more the time is drawing close for even those crazy Iranians to face up to a decision as to what to do with them.

You can be sure they won't just be turned loose — for free. Along in the fall sometime we anticipate the Iranians coming out with a long list of demands if they are to send our hostages home.

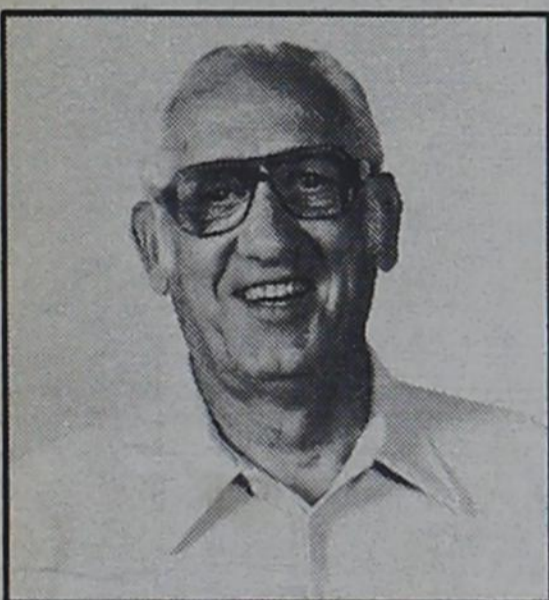

The ransom will be high. When the time comes the Carter administration will have to face up to some hard decisions even though they are in the midst of a presidential campaign. The world goes on whether or no Jimmy is running for reelection. The hostages then can't be put off like the Mideast crisis until after the November vote.

Will the hostages be tried as spies? Certainly we can expect the threat to be made even if just to increase the pressure on us to pay their ransom.

If such a dreary day comes to pass, and America bows to the "crazies", the presidential campaign will be over. Jimmy Carter's last hopes of staying in the White House much past Christmas will be gone.

SAVE SCHOOL CHILDREN'S LIVES

Mr. & Mrs. Motorist:
POST SCHOOLS WILL OPEN

It isn't that children mean to be careless . . . it's just that in their zest and vitality they sometimes forget to stop, look and listen before crossing the street. It isn't that we mean to be careless, yet the very car we drive may be considered a lethal weapon and the consequences of our negligence could be fatal. It is our moral obligation to be extra alert these days when school children crowd the crosswalks!

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carter White of Hale Center, formerly of Post, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E.E. (Buddy) Thurman of Plainview.

The Rev. Carrol Green of the First Baptist Church of Friona read the vows before an altar area flanked with standing baskets of pink gladiolas, and flanked with brass spiral candleabras entwined with garlands of Lillie of the Valley accented with pink roses. Two arrangements of white stock and baby's breath in brass urns also flanked the altar. The pews were marked with pink bows overlaid with white lace.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a formal length gown of white organza, fashioned with a high neckline edged with Venise lace. The gown featured long petal point sleeves with lace inserts. The Empire bodice was accented with a sheer yolk outline and Venise lace motifs. The skirt was a full a-line cascading into a chapel length train with a deep band of satin organza forming the hemline of the skirt and train. Her veil was a Juliet cap with pearls and scalloped illusion veil edged in lace.

Miss Cristal Dawn Didway and Michael Phelps exchanged wedding vows at 7 p.m. Thursday, August 14, in the country home of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Graves of Post.

Mr. Jack Sneed, Post Church of Christ minister, performed the double ring ceremony before a rock fireplace decorated with Boston fern on the hearth and English Ivy entwined seven lighted brass candlesticks with two large yellow satin bows on the mantle.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Didway of Post and Mr. and Mrs. David J. Phelps of route 2, Avery. The bride's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Graves and Mrs. Zula Didway, all of Post.

The scooped neckline featured a bodice of knit and lace overlay with softly gathered lace to form a capelet over the shoulders and tapering below the waistline in the back with a soft pleated skirt flowing from the empire waistline.

The bride carried a bridal bouquet of yellow rosebuds, yellow daisy chrysanthemums, and white baby's breath with antique white streamers. She wore a corsage of the same flowers in her hair. Carrying out tradition, she wore pearls belonging to her grandmother Didway and wedding rings in her bouquet belonging to her grandmother Graves for something old, her wedding rings represented something new, her wedding dress was borrowed from the groom's sister, Mrs. Teri Tidwell and her something blue was a garter given to her by her cousin, Angela Graves.

The flower girl, Angela Graves, wore a yellow floor length dress trimmed with white lace and she carried a nosegay of flowers the same as the bride's. She also wore a hair piece of yellow daisy chrysanthemums and white baby's breath.

The ring bearer, brother of the bride, Blair Didway wore a beige vested western suit with a yellow carnation boutonniere.

TEEN SCENE By Norm

The Magic Day is almost here, just four more days and counting, boy this summer has gone by super fast.

Don't forget the first football scrimmage to be held tomorrow night (Friday) at Ralls. Go if you can, the boys need your support.

And then there's the annual "Meet the Lopes" night to be held at Antelope Stadium Tuesday night, Aug. 26 beginning at 7 p.m. Lots of good home made ice cream will be on hand.

Then there's the Seniors of 1980-81. They will have a back to school swim party and ice cream social at the Jack Lott ranch Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5:30.

Then, there's the class of 1980 who just recently graduated. They will have a cookout in the Mike Mitchell's back yard Monday night beginning at 8 p.m. You don't have to bring anything other than yourself. One last chance to see everyone before they leave home for their respective schools.

The annuals have finally arrived and there will be an annual signing party in the high school gym tonight (Thursday from 7 to 10). A golden opportunity for everyone to get that favorite person to sign the yearbook. Annuals may be picked up at that time.

And if the DJ hasn't forgotten, there will be a "Back to School" dance in the community center Saturday night from 10 to 1 with seventh grade through college invited to attend. Admission is $2.50 a person or $4.50 a couple. See ya there.

Congratulations to Pat Mitchell for he is an Uncle for the very first time. Her name is Macee Marie and her parents are Dr. and Mrs. Larry Mills.

Congrats are also in order to Cristal Didway and Jendy Thomas on their marriages last week. We hope they have long and happy lives together. Jendy is now soaking up the Hawaiian sun and Cristal is home nursing her new husband's broken foot which happened on their honeymoon while riding a motorcycle.

Happy Birthday this week goes out to Jerry Pruitt as he celebrates his this Sunday. Jerry also is the proud owner of a new car, a bright red Mustang II.

OK Moms, it's time to bring out the ole crying towel again. We all knew the time was coming, but didn't think it was going to get here so fast. The kids are all loading boxes and boxes and curlers and clothes and shoes and stereos and everything that isn't tied down to get ready for that long trek to college. How in the world do you get all that stuff in one little car? The eyes are getting a little teary and a lump comes up in the throat, but it's time to give them up to bigger and better things. Look on the bright side though, look at all the extra room you're going to have!!!!

Field day to be held August 27

A field day will be held at the Soil Conservation Service Plant Materials Center at Knox City August 27.

Dwaine Binford, district conservationist for SCS at Post, said the public is being invited to the event. The center serves both Texas and Oklahoma.

Billy Carr, manager of University Lands (surface interests), Midland, will be the principal speaker. Carr will speak at 12:30 p.m.

Guided tours will be conducted through the 90-acre center from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. The center is located on FM 1292, 2 miles north and 2 1/2 miles west of Knox City.

A barbecue lunch will be available on a prepaid basis at $4 per plate. Payment should be sent to Ms. Doris Crowover, Chamber of Commerce, Box 91, Knox City, Texas 79529 by August 23.

Seed or rootstock from native plants that show potential for solving specific soil and water conservation problems are collected, then grown and evaluated at the Knox City Center. The more promising ones are then tested under field conditions. Selections which prove superior to commercial varieties are then released to seed growers. These producers then grow seed and sell it to the public.

Several hundred strains of grasses, legumes, forbs, and woody plants are being tested at Knox City.

Mrs. Skeet Workman and Mrs. Donna Muldrew of Lubbock met here in Post Monday night with a group of local people to help organize a local Chapter of Eagle Forum, Inc.

Mary Ann Gordon has been appointed and approved by Mrs. LaNeil Wright, State President of Eagle Forum, to be the president of the Post Eagle Forum.

The next meeting will be on Monday, August 25, at 7 p.m. in the Reddy Room. Officers and directors will be elected, by-laws approved and dues collected.

This local chapter has been formed as the result of the concern of conservative citizens in Garza county who oppose destructive forces such as ERA, abortion, pornography, humanism in school systems, drugs, and government control.

As a unified group, the purpose of the organization is to provide information and aid to members in order to achieve its objectives and support its principals.

Mrs. Phyllis Scholafly, leader of the anti-ERA movement is National President and founder of Eagle Forum.

Two Post men on water study

Two Post men, Mayor Giles McCrary and Postex Plant Engineer Colley Gatlin, are among the 82 members of the Planning Advisory Committee selected by Governor Bill Clements to conduct the Brazos Basin 208 Water Quality Management Planning Study.

The first meeting of the committee to complete its organization will be held at 1 p.m. next Thursday, Aug. 28 in the Waco Convention Center.

The committee which consists of representatives of local governments and citizens of diverse interests will provide general policy guidance and serve as a public forum for the Brazos River Authority which is the planning agency for the 208 studies in the Brazos Basin and adjacent coastal areas, excluding the Temple-Belton area.

The Section 208 Water Quality Planning program was authorized by the Congress in the 1972 Federal Water Pollution Control Act which was subsequently amended by the Clean Water Act of 1977.

The program is administered by the Environmental Protection Agency through planning grants with the State of Texas.

Basically, the intent of Section 208 was to encourage and facilitate the development and implementation of water quality management plans to serve as the primary vehicle in achieving the clean water goals of the act.

The initial phase of the Brazos Basin 208 plan has been approved by the governor and currently is being reviewed by the EPA. From these initial planning efforts, several specific areas have been identified requiring further study. These include (1) evaluation of sewer system needs for communities throughout the Brazos Basin, (2) an examination of septic tank impacts on Lake Granbury, and (3) a review of water uses and water quality conditions in the Oyster Creek area.

Antelopes now set at all but 2 positions

1st scrimmage Friday at Ralls

Coach David Thompson will send his 1980 Antelope footballers into their first gridiron combat at Ralls Friday night when the JVs and varsity will scrimmage the Jackrabbits.

The junior varsities of the two schools will take the field at 6 p.m. with the two varsities tangling about 7 p.m., Coach Thompson said.

The Lope squad has come through its first two weeks of practice without injury.

Drew Kirkpatrick will get the call at quarterback with Barry Wyatt at fullback and Alonzo Luna at tailback. All three are seniors.

The wingback assignment is now a contest between Barry Morris, a senior, and Richard Cisneros, a sophomore.

Five of the offensive starters also will start on the defensive platoon.

Coach Thompson said the Lopes will continue to use the multiple set offense and 29 defense they used last year.

"The squad's attitude is real good," Thompson said. He commented he was pleased with the Saturday morning controlled scrimmage.

Of the 12 players mentioned as probable starters on offense eight are seniors, three are juniors, and one is a sophomore. On defense, probable starters include five seniors, five juniors and two sophomores.

This totals up to juniors and sophomores manning half of the starting positions on offense and defense.

Four other sophomores also are making a strong bid to win places on the 23 to 25-player varsity squad.

They include the Wynne twins, Marvin, a fullback, and Melvin, a quarterback; Tim Tannehill, quarterback and safety; and Bill Black, an end.

David Foster is the club's reserve quarterback. He is a senior.

"We're going to be pretty exciting," Coach Thompson promised. "We're going to throw the football."

Asked by The Dispatch if Quarterback Kirkpatrick will get better protection from defensive linemen and blitzing linebackers than he got last year, Coach Thompson replied: "We sure hope so — and he does too."

Approximately 20 freshmen reported this week for football and are practicing separately from the combined varsity and junior varsity squad.

Double this number are expected to report by the time classes start.

Admitting that the varsity is thin in reserves, Coach Thompson said, "We're looking at a number of sophomores to use as backup players."

Gym seats considered—

McQueen also inspected the boiler room and controls at the remodeled Middle School where a heating problem exists and promised trustees to have some electric wiring corrected, remount circulating pump on concrete pad, and have volume control dampers on heating ducts installed as specifications called for instead of slide dampers which were used instead.

He also said two metal doors will be replaced due to poor fabrication of doors installed, and two door closers will be repaired.

He also promised to get an answer, although he didn't have one at the time, on why mats were coming off the wall in the mat room.

The Post schools' general fund budget is up $256,027.87 or 11 percent from the $2,361,987.74 last year to $2,586,044.71.

Other school budgets for this year include: adult education $8,253.69, up four percent; vocational education $88,420, up seven percent; driver education $8,773, up 26 percent; bilingual $19,140, up eight percent; interest and sinking fund $78,150, down four percent; lunchroom $128,867.85, up 13 percent; athletics $189,815.45, up 15 percent; special education $118,231.74, up 11 percent; Title I (federal) $78,059.31, a reduction from last year but application not yet approved; and Title IV-B $1,842, also down from last year with application not yet approved.

Trustees set 10 a.m. Tuesday for final inspection of the school cafeteria project prior to final acceptance. McQueen said the new cafeteria tables have arrived in Lubbock and will be delivered here this week.

The cafeteria has an air conditioner because of the type of heating system installed, but the air conditioner was not to be hooked up as school trustees have a policy against air conditioning units for regular school use because of the high cost of utilities.

But the lunchroom air conditioner was hooked up by mistake. The trustees voted unanimously to leave the air conditioner on for a maximum of two months spring and fall providing the temperature is not dropped below 78 degrees.

It was the first breakover from the long standing "no air conditioning" school policy here.

Trustees also voted to employ three more teachers, one of them a coach, and to accept the resignation of one teacher.

Resigning was Mrs. Wanda Resendez. New teachers employed are Greg Johanssen, who will be a football assistant coach and teach health; Miss Dorothy Hathorn, a recent LCC grad with no experience who will teach compensatory math; and George Byrd, former Post resident who has moved back here to teach junior high science.

Byrd has nine years teaching experience and a master's degree. Johanssen has five years teaching and coaching experience and also holds a master's degree.

Supt. Bill Shiver presented trustees with a breakdown showing how the $1,047,898.71 budget surplus developed. This is an increase of $362,782.64 over the $650,000 surplus with which the school district started the last school year.

The breakdown showed $190,958.08 in unbudgeted income, including $59,233.62 in payment of delinquent taxes, $44,725.46 in tax discounts not called for (taxpayers waiting until discounts ran out in fall before paying taxes), $72,000 in interest on school district investments of funds; $6,000 in interest on oil wells, and $9,000 in county available funds.

The breakdown also showed a total of $191,823.56 in budgeted expenses which were not spent.

These included $17,000 in capital outlay, $2,300 in driver education (by reduction of one teacher), $12,000 for special education, a portion of which still might have to be paid, $3,700 for bi-lingual education, $7,000 for instructional equipment upkeep and $14,000 for supplies not ordered.

Also $14,000 for media supplies, $2,100 for copy machine supplies, $1,700 for junior high equipment, $2,080 for junior high supplies, $2,700 for tires and tubes for buses which still may be partially needed, $20,971.56 for budgeted lunchroom subsidy which was not needed because the Post school lunchroom was one of the very few in West Texas to make a little money, $4,780 in savings by combining a bus route, $10,000 in required unemployment reserve, $3,700 for substitute custodian, $1,700 for tennis court upkeep, $9,000 for gas to heat buildings, $11,466 for insurance, and $40,383 for building improvement, and $11,243 for a public address system which was entered on books twice by mistake and only spent once.

School trustees approved a proposal by the Antelope Booster Club that the boosters install the old football lights to light the new running track, but only if all underground cable is installed as required by law to avoid any future liability to the school district.

Lott appointed Flanigan to check into this and all other features of the project.

A letter from the booster club asked for the approval, saying the lights would be installed in accordance with Southwestern Public Service recommendations with Richard Dudley to be the supervisor of the installation. It was understood that six poles will be erected with five lights to the pole.

Trustees also spent about 40 minutes discussing teacher-pupil classroom ratios and what action is being planned to correct deficiencies found in the state mathematics tests given fifth and ninth graders last year.

Lucas family holds reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lucas and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Reno attended a family reunion of the Lucas family at Lake Buchanan last weekend.

All the six brothers and sisters and their families got together renting six cabins at the lake for three days. Many other relatives from all parts of Texas drove in during the reunion for visits.

The six include Mrs. Marguerite Claiborn of Sterling City, Okla., accompanied by her husband, Albert; Mrs. Jo Morrison of Munday, Ill.; Wilburn Lucas of Kansas City, Kan.; James Lucas of Sherman Oaks, Calif., who was accompanied by his son, Nicholas, Harold Lucas and Mrs. Ruth Reno of Post.

Accompanying the Post's Lucases were their son-in-law and daughter, John and Dixie Gass of Lubbock and their two grandchildren, John David and Andrea Lynn.

New digs here—

Key to their belief is the rotary-joined ankle, unlike the hinged ankle of dinosaurs common to the one adult and three younger rausuchids unearthed from their primordial burial ground.

Rausuchids, which Chatterjee says grew to a full length of about 30 feet, were almost identical to dinosaurs except for different ankle joints. The rotary-joined dinosaurs walked erect. This erectness probably gave dinosaurs greater speed and mobility, a factor that may have led to their eventual dominance of the earth and the extinction of the rausuchids, Chatterjee said.

The tell-tale claw belonged to one of three young, 10-foot-long reptiles. Parts of their skeletons, plus the skeleton of the still-growing 20-foot-long adult, were found in a common "grave."

Rausuchids are a relatively new-found form of reptile discovered in Brazil, Argentina, East Africa, Switzerland and perhaps China. Rausuchid fragments first were reported in North America in 1979 in Wyoming, and now in 1980 in West Texas. Unlike other rausuchids found so far, however, those near Post were bipedal — they walked semi-erect on their hind legs, not unlike the late Tyrannosaurus rex.

Two years will be needed to do comparative studies to catalog his finds and publish a paper establishing discovery of a new genus of rausuchid, Chatterjee said. One significance of the West Texas discovery is "the excellently preserved skeletons, which will give detailed interpretation of this animal's anatomy."

Chatterjee's team began in June to explore the area south of Post — a red clay and sandstone region that is part of one of the most extensively exposed continental Upper Triassic formations in the United States. A National Geographic Society grant provided funding for the summer-long dig, which Chatterjee hopes can be re-funded for another three or four years.

Reason, he said, is that he suspects at least two other previously unknown reptile species lie buried about 20 feet away.

Where the team is digging — a formation known as the Dockum rocks — is one of only four late-Triassic paleontological sites in North America. The other three formations are the Chinle rocks in Arizona and New Mexico, the Newark group on the East Coast, and Chugwater rocks in Wyoming.

The Dockum rocks were chosen not only for their proximity to Texas Tech University, but also because this now-dry landscape once teemed with fish, amphibians, and aquatic and semi-aquatic reptiles. A full understanding of animal life in that region's distant past, Chatterjee said, will provide "a more sufficient basis for interpretation of relationships to contemporary and later vertebrates in different parts of the globe."

During the Late Triassic period, West Texas was covered with thick coniferous jungles. Meandering rivers, swamps and lakes dotted the landscape and torrential rains, with flash floods, frequently occurred. The cocodnt reptiles were especially abundant in the hot and humid forests.

Commonest forms, Chatterjee said, were phytosaurs — aquatic, long-snouted, crocodile-like creatures, and aetosaurs — plant-eating armadillo-like reptiles covered with bony spikes.

The newly-found rausuchid may have been the chief predator in the Late Triassic jungle, using his sharp, serrated teeth and recurved claws to tear into his prey. The lightly boned rausuchids could run relatively swift on their hind legs, easily catching their slower four-legged victims, Chatterjee said.

The Triassic was the crucial period of vertebrate evolution when reptiles past their evolutionary peak had evolved into various rather specialized lines. Chatterjee said. Along these lines may have been the ancestors of crocodiles, dinosaurs, birds and mammals. A full understanding of West Texas' Dockum fauna will form a sounder basis for establishing this evolutionary succession, he said.

Chatterjee has discovered and described fossil vertebrates from the Late Triassic period in the Maleri Formation of India, where the fauna are "exceedingly similar to the Dockum fauna," he said. Chatterjee and his wife came to Texas Tech in 1979 from Washington, D.C., where he worked for the Smithsonian Institution.
