In crisis relocation—

Garza to be host county

Post and Garza County are considered "safe areas" in case of nuclear attack on the United States and would be a "host county" to receive evacuees from the Midland-Odessa area, according to present disaster emergency plans drawn up by the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Jane Van Praag of Austin, nuclear civil protection planner, is in Post this week updating the Crisis Relocation Plan for Post and Garza County.

She spoke before a joint meeting of the Post City Council and the Garza County Commissioners court in the Post Public Library Monday night and appeared before the Post Rotary Club to talk about the same subject at the club's Tuesday luncheon in the community center.

Ms. Van Praag distributed 34-page booklets entitled "Nuclear Civil Protection and Crisis Relocation Planning" to members of the council, court, and Rotary club.

Both the city of Post and Garza county had emergency operation plans drawn up here eight to ten years ago. Ms. Van Praag is spending a week here to update information that might be outdated in these plans.

Ms. Van Praag said there are 33 probable target areas in Texas in case of nuclear attack with five of them in category 1, which are strategic military installations.

She pointed out it would cost an estimated $70 billion today to provide adequate fallout shelters for the entire U.S. population.

While Russia is spending several billion annually for fallout protection for its civilian population, the United States is not even close to a shelter construction program and is spending but $100 million annually for civilian defense planning, she said.

The distributed booklet says "at the current level of effort, we estimate completion of the initial planning cycle in nuclear civil protection planning by the late 1980's or possibly a little longer. By that time, the plans first completed would need review and updating."

Ms. Van Praag listed Lubbock among the state's 33 probable target areas, but said evacuation plans call for Lubbock's population to be moved to three counties to the northwest and west of Lubbock.

Garza County originally was slated to be a "host county" for Tarrant County (Fort Worth) evacuation.

Motorola wants to build here—

New 400-foot radio tower

The city and county agreed at a joint meeting Monday night in the library to consider Motorola's request to construct a 400-foot high radio tower at the same location as the city-county law enforcement radio tower on top of the cap.

The local governments' tower is 250 feet high.

Motorola had rented space on the law enforcement tower but that and another such lease were terminated effective March 15, 1981, because the local governments' need the space for an installation of EMT radio network equip-

Motorola engineers appear confident that a second tower would not interfere with transmissions from the original tower, but are checking out this point before making an offer for lease of the site for a second tower.

Donald Windham made a request of the city for $2,000 to help finance the Meals on Wheels operation here.

The county is contributing $1,600 to the cost of the hot lunch a day program for shut-ins, and the Garza United Fund is contributing $1,250.

The county is now operating the program with the state contributing $1,168 of (See Radio tower, Page 10)

City councilmen, county officials and Post Rotarians all have been given a taste of some 18-year-old candy with mixed results.

The big sack of candy was passed around by Jane Van Praag, nuclear civil protection planner of the Texas Department of Public Safety's Disaster Emergency Services, Monday and Tuesday.

The candy was sealed in a tin and stored for fallout shelter use in the United States in the early 1960's during the original "cold war scare."

Ms. Van Praag likes the candy and says she and her co-workers eat it "all the time." But when passed around nobody was seen taking over one or two pieces. She said there were three flavors — and "two of them are pretty good."

The candy contains extra nutrition ingredients because there are seldom any cooking or food storage facilities in fallout shelters. In fact, as Ms. Van Praag pointed out, the United States is yet to build its first shelter.

Airport trio is approved

The Garza County Commissioners Court at a recent session just before the holidays concurred with the Post City Council on the appointments of Bob Macy, T.D. (Buck) Craft and Cecil Foster, Jr., to the city-county airport board.

At the same session, the court also went along with the city's recommendation that the oil and gas lease on airport property with Dr. James R. Matthews be accepted.

Terms of the lease are three-sixteenth royalty, $50 bonus, and $2 an acre annual rental for a three year period.

The court also opened the only bid received on the county's 189 acres of school land in Bailey County. The two-year lease was accepted on a lease payment of $1,500 annually.

Car overturns several times—

Abilene woman badly injured

Mrs. Maudie Reeves of Abilene is in the intensive care unit of Methodist Hospital with critical head injuries following a spectacular one-car accident on US-84 near Justiceburg Saturday afternoon.

Her granddaughter, Karen Bonham, 13, of Panhandle also was admitted to Garza Memorial Hospital here suffering from bruises and abrasions following the accident.

Sam Reeves, husband of the injured woman and third person in the car, was uninjured, according to Highway Patrolman Louis Cardinal who investigated the accident.

Cardinal said Mrs. Reeves was driving northwest on US-84 for a rendezvous with their grandchild's parents to return the girl to Panhandle, when the car ran off the pavement into the center median. The vehicle began sliding sideways in the median,

Juveniles arrested in house burglary

Two Mexican juveniles, who have been released to their parents, have a trial scheduled in juvenile court here Jan. 19 over the burglary of the George Mindietta home, 313 Henry, on Dec. 31.

The pair was arrested Monday and a snub-nosed pistol taken in the burglary recovered by sheriff's officers. Still missing is $70 and a .22 rifle.

Sheriff Jim Pippin told The Dispatch this was the same pair of juveniles involved in another house burglary here in 1979.

Michael Wayne Maddox was arrested in Jackson-

Give him your ear

Howard Jarvis, the 77-year-old tax-cutting revolutionary who authored California's Proposition 13 and then went "national" to seek a 25 percent cut in U.S. income taxes, is "blitzing" Texas this week in support of Texas 13.

He is touring 17 Texas cities prior to a statewide rally in Austin next Monday, the day before the state legislature opens its new session.

Jarvis was scheduled to speak in Lubbock Wednesday.

Texas 13, which is bringing Jarvis to Texas, is a non-profit, non-partisan statewide organization of taxpayers advocating tax relief.

The organization seeks curtailment of government spending and the adoption of a state constitutional amendment for initiative and referendum to reduce the burdens and put reasonable restraints on government growth by statewide vote.

Jarvis for the past year has been busy in Washington on behalf of his bill to cut the national income tax.

President Elect Ronald Reagan supported Jarvis and Proposition 13 in California and seeks to go even further than Jarvis in slicing the U.S. income tax.

Governor Bill Clements also can be termed a strong Jarvis supporter. He advocates cutting state bureaucracy and the amendment for initiative and referendum as the main flooring of his administration.

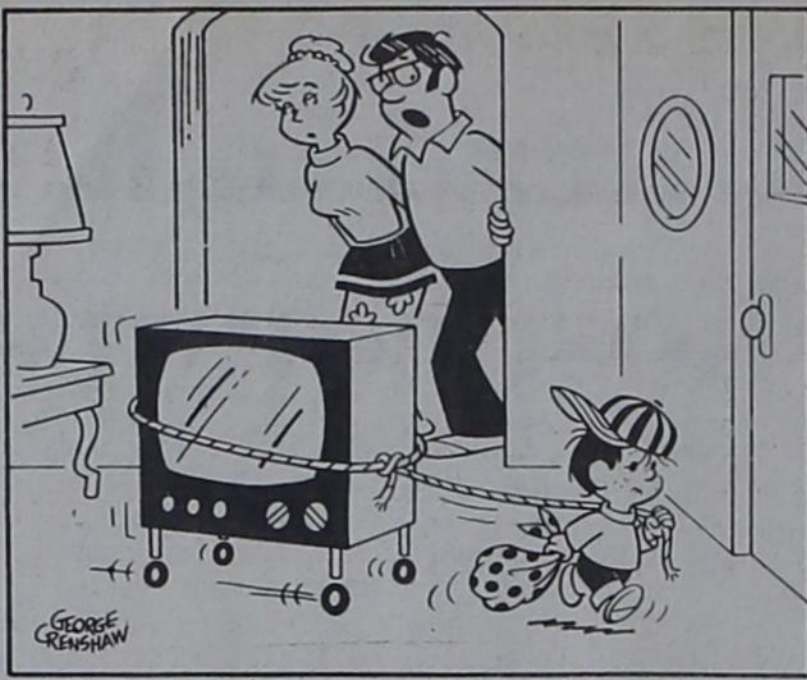

Nobody is going to slow down the cost of government but John Q. Public. In Austin, the legislative budget board is recommending increasing state spending by five billion dollars on top of the record $22 billion current budget.

The rising cost of Texas government, as well as U.S. government, continues to take more and more money out of the pockets of all citizens.

Crusty old Howard can't do it by himself. Just as budget cutters have for the first time in several decades been elected to control of the U.S. Senate in the last general election, we here in Texas must speak out for budget cutting in Texas.

If you haven't been in Austin lately, you'll be surprised how our "little state bureaucracy" has grown to the point where it almost has enough votes to elect its own state officials.

Give an ear to "Crusty Howard".

Reagan's first move

President-elect Ronald Reagan this week demonstrated his common sense approach to his new "job" by attempting to establish better U.S.-Mexican relations.

He met with President Jose Lopez Portillo, president of Mexico on the bridge between El Paso and Juarez and spent three hours in discussions with Portillo in Juarez in an effort to re-establish the friendship we had virtually lost with this nation's neighbor to the south.

They didn't get into issues, but they exchanged gifts, and Reagan made it clear he wants to work out the two nations' mutual problems.

That is a far cry from the disastrous relationships the Carter administration has had with Mexico for the last four years.

Reagan had also hoped to meet with Canada's prime minister before Reagan's inauguration but couldn't get it fitted into the schedule.

It makes good sense for the United States to have excellent and close relations to our neighbors to north and south.

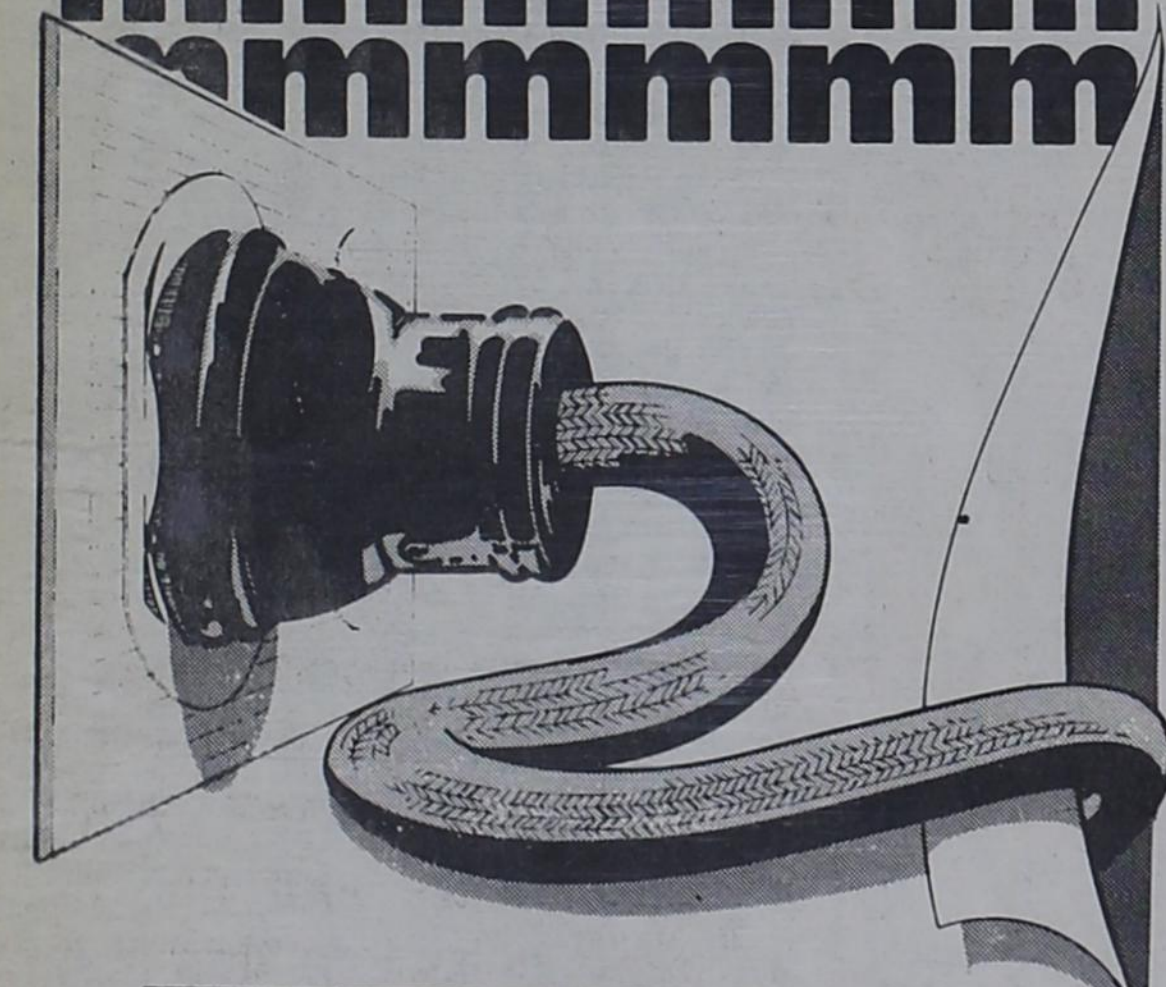

Reagan's initiative in seeking a more cooperative North American neighborhood is a good indication to the American people, to our neighbors and to the world that the president-elect is approaching foreign affairs in a sensible manner.

Whether we like it or not, Communism is beginning to make major inroads into central America with El Salvador, Mexico's neighbor to the south, now in the throes of what amounts to a three-way civil war.

Texans can understand better than most Americans that it will be virtually important in the decades just ahead to have a strong Mexico with a democratic government and a better balanced economy on our southern flank.

Certainly having close ties with both Canada and Mexico will put this country in a much better position than the one in which Russia finds itself today. The Soviets have taken virtually military control of all their neighbors — but they are finding such dominance to be a real and expensive problem.

Listen To The Hum

It's the sound of growth, prosperity and progress in the Southwest. It's the sound of the Southwest making a bigger and bigger contribution to our nation's economy. It's the sound of electricity. Electricity that surrounds us with opportunities and jobs, pride and security. And with proper use of our resources, and new power plants using efficient, reliable fuels like coal, that sound is going to keep right on humming.

In announcing the receipt of the Certificate, Maritta Reed, Administrator, Garza Memorial Hospital, said, "Our hospital's cost containment goal is very ambitious! In the face of double-digit inflation, it will require greater dedication and support from our governing board, medical staff, and employees to continue the successful containment of the increases in our expenses. Nevertheless, we are determined to do so while at the same time preserving the availability and quality of the services we currently provide to our community."

Ms. Reed added, "In order for our efforts to be effective, we must have the support of our community and a greater understanding of the problems we

The hospital joins other Texas hospitals in participating in the Texas Voluntary Effort, a program of the Texas Hospital Association, the Texas Medical Association and the Texas Federation of Hospitals. Together, they have saved the citizens of the state $300 million from 1977 through 1979.

Participants in the TVE include hospitals, physicians and nurses, and over 20 health, business, insurance and state government groups who have organized to effectively deal with the problem of rising health care costs.

A week before a new administration is inaugurated in Washington, farmers from across West Texas will gather at the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center as a blue-ribbon group of Agricultural specialists gaze into the year ahead for major farm products of the area.

Agricultural trends, the 1981 farm bill, the Reagan transition, commodity prices, and expected policies of the new administration are among the issues which will be examined in depth at the special outlook conference from 9:30 a.m. until 4:14 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 13.

The conference is the highlight of the annual meeting of the South Plains Development Program (SPD). SPD is a regional organization sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. It promotes economic growth and development and improved family living in the counties of the South Plains.

"The outlook conference is designed to answer major questions on the minds of area producers and give farmers, ranchers and agribusiness firms up-to-date information to help them in their decisions for 1981," said S. M. True, of Plainview, SPD chairman. Registration fee for the conference is designed to answer major questions on the minds of area producers and give farmers, ranchers

FLB loan rate is increased

Jay Dee House, manager of the Lubbock-Tahoka Federal Land Bank Association of Lubbock, announced today that the Federal Land Bank of Texas' billing rate on farm and ranch land and rural residence loans will be increased from 9 3/4 percent on farm and ranch loans to 10 1/2 percent. The rural residence loans will be increased from 10 1/4 percent to 11 percent effective January 1, 1981.

In making this announcement, Mr. House stated that the increase in the billing rate became necessary because of the continued high cost of funds to finance the Banks' lending operation.

"While we regret this action is necessary; even with the increase in our rate, it is still substantially under rates being offered by other lenders."

The Lubbock-Tahoka Federal Land Bank Association of Lubbock makes long-term real estate loans on farm and ranch land and rural residences throughout this area.

LUBBOCK — In a reverse adaptation of the old football adage that says "The best offense is a good defense," the incoming Republican administration in Washington may take the initiative in the next session of Congress and immediately drive for a new four-year farm program.

Earlier speculation was that the administration would most likely propose a one-year extension of the current law, basic provisions of which were passed in 1973 under the Republican administration of Richard Nixon. The reasoning was that this would give Reagan and Co. time for more deliberate study of the agricultural picture before committing to a long-range farm policy.

But in the opinion of Dr. Ron Knutson, Texas Agriculture Extension Service Economist serving on Reagan's Agriculture Transition Team, there's a good chance for passage of a four-year farm bill in 1981. Knutson left that impression in an address at a Texas A & M Sponsored Farm Policy Seminar for Texans in Irving December 12.

However, according to seminar participant Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Knutson doesn't expect the Republicans to propose drastic changes in the principles behind current law.

For example, the loan-target concept will probably be acceptable to the Reagan team as the foundation of price supports, with room for debate on possible changes in the way loan and target prices are set. On the other hand, one prominent feature of farm programs since 1973, the PCG-conceived disaster program, will face tough sledding in the development of new legislation, Knutson believes.

On the food price issue, expected to draw top priority in the early months of 1981, Knutson anticipates somewhat greater reliance on free market prices and unfettered production to exercise control as opposed to government intervention.

Johnson theorizes that this thought probably stems from the economic convictions of Richard Lyng, one of the leading contenders for Secretary of Agriculture. Lyng, past president of the American Meat Institute and Assistant Secretary of Agriculture under Richard Nixon, reportedly has been heard to say "When the price of eggs gets high enough, the roosters will tart laying."

Other early efforts of the new administration in 1981 will be directed toward reducing costs and gaining tighter control of USDA operations. Special attention, Knutson believes, may be given to the $17.7 billion of FmHA loans, many of which are not directly related to agricultural production.

The food stamp program, which takes some 60 percent of USDA's budget, also will come under close scrutiny, Knutson told the group. But on the same subject, another seminar speaker, Dr. Bill Boehm of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, apparently advising caution against severe cuts, pointed out that every dollar of tax money spent on food stamps contributes about four cents to net producer income.

What's Happening in Home Economics

By MRS. CHERYL WALKER
County Extension Agent - Home Economics

Learn about the cost of "fast foods" versus home-cooked meals and about their nutrition. Home-cooked or "fast food" meals they are about the same in nutrition, but not in calories or in cost. More and more women in the labor force and a busy lifestyle are sending Americans out to eat, especially "fast foods".

Specifically, how do fast foods compare, in cost and nutrition, with home-cooked meals? One USDA comparison shows that fast food chain meals are as nutritious as their homemade counterparts but cost about twice as much.

For example, in the Washington, D.C. area in July 1976, a meal of hamburger (or cheeseburger) plus french fries plus soft drink cost about 1.8 times as much as it would have at home, and dessert (apple pie) cost 3.5 times as much.

Seven meal-type combinations of food from the same chain and corresponding meals prepared at home were similar in nutritive value. Five of the seven restaurant meals provided one-fifth or more of the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowance for protein, riboflavin, thiamin and vitamin C.

None of the meals furnished much vitamin A, since vegetables in the usual "hamburger place" are almost limited to french fries. The meal with milkshake exceeded one-fifth of the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowance for calcium. This indicates that more of some nutrients and less of others were provided.

In "fast food" hamburgers, thiamin values were consistently lower, though riboflavin values were higher. Protein levels in home-made hamburgers were higher, probably due to the amount (2 ounces) of ground beef used for the higher protein content of the beef.

Fat levels in the restaurant-type meals were not excessive. The percentage of food energy provided by fat was lower than 35 percent.

In all but one of the fast food chains' hamburger meals, fat provided less than 42 percent of the calories, the average in most U.S. diets. The "fast" fillet of fish sandwich used over one tablespoon of mayonnaise-type spread and the apple pie — more crust than fruit — contained more fat than the home-prepared versions.

The non-fat dry milk base of the fast food restaurant shakes provided considerably more calcium than the shakes made at home from whole milk and ice cream. The french fries prepared at home supplied more vitamin C than the restaurant product, depending, of course, upon the variety of potato, storage conditions and the method of preparation.

Of course, the fast food meal provided over the recommended allowance for calories than for some nutrients — assuming an allowance of around 2,600 calories. Women and children who have lower energy

GIVE AN APPETIZER PARTY THIS YEAR

Give a party that's more than just cocktails and hors d'oeuvres, but not quite a meal. Begin the festivities with Teacher's Punch, a delightful blending of fruit juices and Scotch. Add a Scotch Cheese Ball, Veal en Croute and Scotch. Add a tart and you'll have the makings of the perfect get-together.

TEACHER'S PUNCH

- 1 quart cranberry juice cocktail
- 3 cups pineapple juice
- 2 cups orange juice
- 1/2 cup lime juice
- 1 bottle (4/5 quart) Teacher's Scotch Ice cubes
- Pineapple rings

In pitcher or punch bowl, combine juices. Chill well. Just before serving, add liquor, ice and pineapple. Makes about 3 quarts punch.

SCOTCH CHEESE BALL

- 1/2 cup chopped dates
- 1/4 cup raisins
- 1/4 cup Teacher's Scotch
- 1 pound Cheddar, shredded
- 1/2 pound Jarlsberg, shredded
- 1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese, softened
- 1/2 cup chopped toasted pecans
- 2/3 cup chopped parsley
- Assorted crackers

In small bowl, combine fruits and Scotch. Cover and set aside for at least 1 hour. In bowl, blend cheese. Stir in marinated fruits, including allowances would need to be aware of the higher caloric percentage of these meals.

When families elect to eat at a fast food restaurant, it is wise to remember that the remainder of the day's food should provide the recommended amount of nutrients without an excess of calories.

Across the nation, the popular fast food restaurants are a convenience that save the busy homemaker's time.

ing liquor and nuts. Shape into ball and chill at least 4 hours. Just before serving, roll in chopped parsley. Serve with crackers. Makes one ball (2 pounds).

VEAL EN CROUTE

- 2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 2/3 cup butter or margarine
- 5 to 6 tablespoons ice water
- 2 eggs
- 3 pounds ground veal
- 2 cups coarse dry bread crumbs
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup minced green onion
- 1/2 cup minced celery
- 1/2 cup minced mushrooms
- 1/4 cup minced parsley
- 1/3 cup Teacher's Scotch
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 medium clove garlic, minced
- 4 hard cooked eggs
- 10 dill pickle spears

In bowl, combine flour and 3/4 teaspoon salt. Cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse meal, using pastry cutter or two knives. Add 2 tablespoons water and 1 egg. Blend well. Gradually blend in remaining ice water until mixture leaves sides of bowl and forms ball. Cover and chill until ready to use. In bowl, combine veal, bread crumbs, eggs, onion, celery, mushrooms, parsley, Scotch and spices. Blend well. Roll out half pastry on lightly floured baking sheet. Place 1/3 meat mixture down center of pastry. Lay eggs and pickles on meat down center. Top with remaining meat, shaping mixture into loaf. Fold up sides of pastry around meat. Roll out remaining pastry on lightly floured board to cover loaf. Place over meat, folding under to seal pastry. Cut trimmings and use to decorate loaf. Beat remaining egg. Brush over loaf. Bake at 400° F. until golden. Chill until ready to serve. If desired, serve with hot mustard sauce. Makes one loaf.

TEEN SCENE By Norm

Here it is the end of the first semester and the school is gearing up to wind down. My how time flies. Semester tests are scheduled for Thursday and Friday of this week, if you haven't studied yet, you're a mite late!

This is the second week after Santa's visit and it takes me at least three to recuperate. After asking several kids what they got for Christmas, the majority answered "nothing", which I find hard to believe. But the most popular item this Christmas seemed to be the latest in ski wear and DIAMONDS in one form or another.

Susan Sawyers, accompanied her brother, Dan and her parents to Wolf Creek the day after Christmas for a bit of skiing. She said it was really crowded, but she had a blast.

Sharla Macy has returned to her native Post as she will enroll in PHS for the last semester. Welcome home Sharla!!

Berry Max Borchardt of Hale Center visited in Post this week with his cousin, Bill Short.

Kathy Kirkpatrick returned back to Dallas for school Monday. Had a nice visit with Kathy at the New Year's Eve dance.

Chuck Black and Bill

along with their dad visited in Buna with Chuck and Bill's grandparents. Chuck said they had a nice visit but had a terrible time getting there cause Bill looked at the map wrong and got them lost several times.

Pam Baker of Idalou visited in Post Saturday night with Jerri.

Randall Stotts, Kelly and Theresa Davis had New Year's dinner with us.

Good luck to the Does and Lopes in the Colorado City tourney this weekend.

More next week.

Happy 29th Birthday

New SPS electric plant takes shape

Blue steel reaches high in the air at Southwestern Public Service Company's Tolk Station near Earth, Texas. The coal-fired plant in Lamb County is becoming a reality — no longer just blueprints or a large hole in the ground surrounded by huge construction equipment, piles of blue steel, a few temporary construction buildings.

Although still a year and a half from scheduled completion, the unit is taking shape. In the plant itself, not including the stack nor the coal handling facilities, 42,360 yards of concrete have been poured with 2,600 tons of rebar in the concrete. The majority of the steel has been erected, 7,535 tons so far.

The boiler construction is continuing on schedule with high pressure piping now being welded. The sliding is being put on the boiler and turbine buildings. All concrete has been poured on the 400 foot high stack with the baghouse structure about half complete.

The office building has been occupied by the plant manager Ben Green and the senior engineer Earl Zwickey. There are presently about 650 people, both construction and SPS personnel, at the plant location.

Tolk, like all of Southwestern's plants constructed since 1952, is designed and engineered by Southwestern personnel. No two units have been built exactly alike but the first and second unit at Tolk will be very similar. However, if new technology is introduced which would make the second unit more efficient or easier to operate, then changes would be made.

Southwestern is one of very few electric utility companies in the United States that design and engineer their own plants. This procedure has proven to be very efficient and economical — so economical in fact, that Southwestern's plants are built for about one-half of the national average per kilowatt. And when you consider that the first unit at Tolk will cost well over $200-million, the savings to Southwestern's customers becomes apparent.

For the last few years, Southwestern has put a new unit on the line about every two years but each unit takes longer than two years to construct. When the third unit at Harrington Station near Armarillo, Texas, went on the line last summer, Tolk Station had been under construction for over two years.

Tolk, like Harrington, will be coal-fired plant and will use a baghouse filter system for emission control which operates on much on the same principal as a vacuum cleaner.

Tolk will be equipped with a Direct Digital Control

(DDC) System. Harrington III has a DDC system and is one of only five or six DDC systems in operation in the United States today. The DDC incorporates three computer systems; the boiler control system; the data acquisition system (or plant computer which is the eyes and ears of the plant operators and continuously monitors the efficiency of the plant); and the turbine speed and load control system.

The coal-handling facility at Tolk will feature rotary-dump cars. The railroad cars, moving through a dumping building located over the coal stackout hopper, will be turned upside down while still attached to cars in front and back. The rotary-dump cars are five to seven tons lighter than the bottom-dump cars used at Harrington Station and will carry more coal while remaining within the maximum gross weight per car. The conveyor vents are now being assembled on the coal-handling facility.

When Tolk goes on the line, it will have a capability of 543,000 kilowatts and will be Southwestern's largest single unit. This one unit will generate more electricity than any of Southwestern's gas-fired plants and considerably more than a single unit at Harrington. Tolk will generate enough electricity to supply a city of 225,000 people.

One unit at Tolk will burn 296 tons of Wyoming coal per hour, 6,104 tons per day, 2,592,960 tons per year. Four trains per week, each composed of 110 cars, will be required to supply coal to Tolk.

The largest single piece of equipment, the generator-stator, is scheduled to be shipped from East Pittsburgh Pennsylvania, the last of this month. This Westinghouse generator, weighing 385 tons, will be shipped by rail on a special rail car owned by Westinghouse.

$20.4 million to cotton research

Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland today approved a 1981 budget of $20.4 million for a cotton research and promotion program.

This producer-funded program is authorized under the Cotton Research and Promotion Act and is administered by a 10-member Cotton Board appointed by the secretary of agriculture.

Research and promotion projects are designed to strengthen the competitive position of cotton and expand its uses. The projects are planned and carried out by Cotton Incorporated, a producer-governed organization under contract to the Cotton Board. Cotton Incorporated is headquartered in New York City and has research facilities in Raleigh, N.C.

The program is funded entirely by producer assessments averaging about $2.40 per bale. Individual producers who do not wish to take part may obtain refunds of their assessments upon request to the Cotton Board.

P. R. Smith, assistant secretary of agriculture for marketing and transportation services, said the program has provided the industry with many tools for competing with synthetic fabrics and recapturing cotton's share of the textile market. Contributions listed by Smith included:

Marketing of durable press cotton shirts and sheets, and development of additional new durable press products. The cotton industry had lost a considerable share of the market to synthetic fabrics with durable press capabilities.

Development of energy-efficient dyeing and finishing techniques for cotton.

Development and marketing of fire-retardant cotton fabrics for apparel and home furnishings.

A new fiber processing line for non-woven cotton suitable for medical uses and personal care products.

Marketing projects that encourage mill and manufacturers to use more cotton.

An effort to expand the export market for U.S. cotton.

The program has also funded intensive research on problems of byssinosis, a disabling lung ailment that affects some workers after prolonged exposure to dust generated in handling and processing such natural fibers as cotton, flax, and hemp.

Post teams to Colorado City tournament

Both openers to be Friday

Both of Post's varsity basketball teams, Coach Sonja Curry's Lady Lopes and Coach Sid Wright's Antelopes, will compete in the Colorado City tournament Friday and Saturday as they come off the holidays trying to whip into shape for district play.

The two teams will both play their first rounders Friday afternoon.

The boys bracket is a four-team affair with Post playing the Lubbock Christian High team at 4 p.m. in the upper bracket with host Colorado City meeting Clyde in the lower bracket at 8 p.m. Friday night.

The boys championship game is scheduled for 8 p.m. Saturday with the third place playoff billed at 4 p.m. Saturday.

Six teams are entered in the girls division with Post playing the winner of the Clyde-Midland Greenwood Thursday afternoon first rounder in the upper bracket semi-finals at 12 p.m. Friday.

Lubbock Christian High will play Stanton in the lower bracket first rounder Thursday afternoon with the winner meeting Colorado City at 6 p.m. Friday.

If the Lady Lopes win Friday they will advance to the championship game at 6 p.m. Saturday, and if they lose will play for third place at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Games will be played in the Wolf gymnasium, at 12th and Chestnut streets.

Following the Colorado City tourney, the two clubs will hit the road again Tuesday night for their final pre-district tuneup against Idalou with the JV girls playing the preliminary of the tripleheader.

The Post varsities then will open their district schedule at home against Roosevelt here Friday night, Jan. 16, with the JV boys playing the preliminary of the tripleheader, beginning at 4 p.m.

Tahoka wins strange game

Tahoka's eighth grade girls basketball team virtually shut down the Post offense in the second half here Monday night to rally and pull out a 23 to 19 victory.

The first and second half were two entirely different ball games. The Post eighth graders led 15 to 5 at intermission, but Tahoka returned to the floor to outscore the locals 18 to 4 in the second half for a four-point win.

Post had seven players in the scoring column with Jan White leading the way with six points. Channa Williams had four and the other five had one or two each.

Post will entertain Roosevelt here Monday night in its next start.

Cotton harvest nears completion

High Plains cotton harvest remained in high gear during the week containing Christmas and New Year holidays, according to Mack Bennett, Area Director for USDA's Marketing Services Office at Lubbock. Many ground salvage machines have moved in from other cotton areas. "We may exceed earlier volume estimates", Bennett continued.

Harvest was estimated 90 to 95 percent complete as the New Year began. Many gins had good sized back logs stored in trailers and modules, while some closed

7th girls in easy win

Coach Lu Allen's seventh grade girl cagers romped over Tahoka here Monday night in the opener of a tripleheader, 24 to 10 with Marcie Sneed and Golden Capps leading the local scorers.

Sneed had 10 points and Capps nine with Resa Willard adding three and Bunny Miller getting the other two.

The score would have been considerably higher had the local girls been able to hit from the free throw line. They managed only four out of 19 attempts.

The score was tied 2 all at the end of the first quarter and seven all at the half, before the locals came up with five field goals in the third to take a 17 to 10 lead and win going away.

The team will play Roosevelt here Monday night in their next district contest.

8th graders edge Tahoka

Coach Randy Josey's eighth grade boys basketball team eked out a one-point victory over Tahoka at Tahoka Monday night, 34 to 33, in a resumption of district cage play after the Christmas vacation.

The locals won it at the charity line as the Post players hit 14 of 25 opportunities, while Tahoka managed only three of nine.

Tahoka drew 17 fouls to eight for Post. Post trailed through the first half, 6 to 2 at the quarter and 13 to 9 at the intermission, but came on to knot the count at 21 all at the end of three.

Mike Ollison led the Post scoring with 10, followed by Greg Massey and Curt Greer with six each, Javier Valdez and Danny Storie with five each, and Chuck Morris with two.

Storie hit five of six frees in the second half, four of them in a row in the final period.

The eighth graders will journey to Roosevelt Monday night for their next start.

Frosh girls whip Tahoka

The Post freshman girl cagers pulled out a comparatively easy 31 to 25 district win over the Tahoka frosh here Monday night.

Post led by 22 to 10 going into the final period.

Jean Price led the Post scoring with five baskets and three frees for 13 points, followed by Rhonda Storie who also had five baskets for 10 points.

The Post team will meet Roosevelt here Monday night in their next start.

At Jayton Tuesday night— Post sweeps four games

Post's high school basketball teams swept a quadruple-header from Jayton at Jayton Tuesday night to get back in the cage hunt after a two weeks Christmas layoff from game action.

Coach Sid Wright's Lopes had the toughest time in the last game, coming from behind in the fourth period for a 71 to 66 triumph.

But it was probably the best example yet of Coach Wright's "run and gun" offensive philosophy. Every one of the 11 varsity players on the squad not only saw action but everyone scored.

Coach Sonja Curry's Lady Lopes had a much easier time as they finally got their attack rolling in the second period to sweep to a 54 to 41 victory with three girls totaling a dozen points apiece.

The Post girls JV club scored eight points in each quarter as they posted a 31 to 27 win, and the local JV boys came out firing to lead all the way for a 56 to 34 victory.

In the Lopes victory, the teams battled to a 16-all first period standoff. Jayton took a 36 to 32 intermission lead by outshooting Post 20 to 16. Jayton clung to a 52 to 50 win at the end of the third, but the Lopes came up with their best effort in the fourth outshooting their hosts 21 to 14.

Mark Holly led the Post attack with 13, closely followed by Irvin Price and Will Kirkpatrick with 12 each and David Foster with 11. Other scorers were Kevin riag with eight, Leslie Willard five, Benny Kennedy three, Barry Wyatt and Dana Scott two each, and Gary Lamb one.

Tahoka beats frosh boys

Coach Lane Tannehill's freshman boys were dealt a 44 to 35 loss by the Tahoka freshmen at Tahoka Monday night to drop them to 1-2 in district play as action resumed after the holiday vacation.

Tahoka jumped into a 16 to 8 first period lead and were never headed as Travis Moore poured in 21 points for the winners.

Milton Williams led the Post shooters with 11 points. R. J. Greathouse and Adam Mendoza added eight each. The local frosh will play on the road next week too, journeying to Roosevelt Monday night.

attack was sparked by Tim Tannehill with 15 points and Melvin Wynne with 14. Other scorers were Bill Black, Curtis Clinesmith, and James Lee with six each, Ruben Storie and Gaylon Murphy four each.

Cotton producers meeting Feb. 13

All U.S. cotton producers and their families have been invited to the second Annual Producers' Meeting of Cotton Incorporated, scheduled for February 13-14, 1981, at Raleigh, North Carolina.

Announcing plans for the meeting, L.C. Unfred of Tahoka, Texas, chairman of the Cotton Incorporated Board of Directors, said it will provide the ideal opportunity for cotton producers to get fully acquainted with the company's activities through 1980 and its plans for the coming year.

Financed by producers' per-bale assessments, Cotton Incorporated conducts a full program of research and marketing aimed at lowering producers' costs and expanding cotton's markets.

The first Annual Producers' Meeting was held last February and, according to Unfred, proved to be a great success.

"Producers from every state in the Cotton Belt came to that first meeting," he noted. "They went back home and told their neigh-

Rehab telethon Saturday

Fans of country and western music will have a special reason to watch Rehab '81, the eleventh annual telethon benefiting the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, Saturday, Jan. 10.

Not only will they be able to help this treatment facility for handicapped children and adults, but also they can see some of their favorite stars.

Familiar to watchers of previous telethons are these entertainers: Rex Allen Jr., Margo Smith, Jeannie C. Riley, Sammi Smith, Tex Williams, Montie Montana and the Lone Star Travelers.

Rex Allen Jr. (his father, as always, will be host of the telecast) has made his mark as a country and western singer. He grew up in the entertainment field and formed his first folk group at age 13. He considered acting but decided he'd wait until movies changed before taking on a screen career. "They wanted me to take off my clothes and I didn't figure anybody wanted to look," Allen said in an interview in 1978.

Allen's special project has been the Colonial Rehab Rangers, a fetarued event in the Rehab '81 telethon.

Jeannie C. Riley, a native of Anson, sings with a heavy country sound with a touch of bluegrass. Since her first hit song, "Harper Valley P.T.A.," in 1968, Jeannie has become known for both her country and her gospel music.

Montie Montana, a trick roper who has put his lasso around President Eisenhower and President-elect Reagan, has been in show business since 1925. He has been an actor, wrangler, stuntman and technical advisor.

These stars and the others including singers from the Big Ban Era and entertainers from the Lawrence Welk Show can be viewed on 15 television and 11 radio stations making the Rehab '81 network.

The telethon, the beginning of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center's year-long funding program, will begin at 7 p.m.

how the meeting helped them get a better understanding of how their research and promotion dollars were being invested. For that reason, we expect an even larger turnout this year."

On Friday, February 13, producers and their families will have the opportunity to visit a leading textile mill to learn first-hand how cotton is processed from the bale into finished products. That evening, they will join the Cotton Incorporated Board of Directors and management for a reception and banquet in Raleigh.

The Annual Meeting on Saturday, February 14, will include special reports on the company's programs in agricultural research, textile research, economic research, domestic sales-marketing, international marketing, and such marketing services as advertising. The program will be followed by a tour of the laboratory facilities of Cotton Incorporated's Raleigh research center.

Unfred noted that producers will be responsible for their transportation to and from North Carolina and their lodging expenses. However, he pointed out, "the company's attorneys have advised us that expenses for both the annual meeting and the mill tour should qualify as a business expense federal tax deduction for cotton producers."

A Raleigh travel agency is assisting with airline tickets, including lower-cost group rate tickets from various points in the Cotton Belt. These will be assigned on a first-come, first-served basis, as will hotel rooms, so interested producers should get their requests in as soon as possible, Unfred emphasized.

Unfred said the company has tried to inform as many producers as possible of the meeting by letter. He said, however, that any producer who has not received the information can get the appropriate forms by writing to "Annual Meeting, Cotton Incorporated, P. O. Box 30067, Raleigh, N.C. 27622," or by calling Ms. Evelyn Costello at (919) 782-6330.
