Big July 4th in park

Another Fourth of July Celebration in the park, sponsored by the Post Chamber of Commerce, is in store for Post and Garza families and their friends here Saturday.

Topping off the 14-hour program of events will be an evening barbecue with 900 pounds of tasty beef brisket as the main course and a free fireworks display which will begin at dark.

Celebration chairman Joe Giddens reports everything is in readiness.

The day-long celebration will begin with a best ball team golf tournament at the Caprock Golf Course which has a 9 a.m. tee-off time, and end with the final aerial burst of fireworks at somewhere around 11 p.m. That's one hour longer than last year's.

Bob West, the chief cook for the barbecue, told The Dispatch this week that the brisket will go on the coals in the specially constructed cooking pits at city-county park at 10 a.m. and should be ready to start slicing in five hours.

This is Bob's third year as barbecue cook and he heads a team which includes Bryan Williams III, Pru, Mike, Juan, Mark and Tommy Basquez, Leon Mantonya, Elias Martinez and Frank Martinez.

The Women's Division of the Chamber will serve the barbecue, beginning at 5:30 p.m. and lasting for some 90 minutes, at $2 per plate.

Chamber president Charles Hardin is the affair's finance committee chairman and got out a letter to all Chamber business firms asking for donations to help defray expenses, especially the fireworks, the cost of which is going up every year.

Beans, cold slaw, onions, pickles, and bread are the other barbecue ingredients along with the beef.

Actually, the celebration program at the park will get under way at 10 a.m., an hour after the golf tourney's tee-off with the flag raising by Boy Scouts and the start of the swim meet at the swimming pool.

The Garza County Farm Bureau is sponsoring the swim meet and providing the trophies and ribbons for competition in five classes, ages 4 to 5, 6 to 9, junior high, open and open diving.

The Post Lions Club mechanical bull, a sure crowd pleaser, also will go into action at 10 a.m. for a nine-hour operation with would-be riders just asked to line up and pay their dollar.

Also new this year will be a Jaws of Life demonstration which is scheduled for 4 p.m. by the Emergency Medical Technicians here.

A borrowed "jaws" will show onlookers how a wrecked car can be quickly broken into to free injured victims. Some battered junk cars will be used for the demonstration, according to Jim Jackson who heads the EMTs and is working on both the city council and county commissioners court to share the cost of "jaws of life" for the EMTs use here in Garza County and put the expenditure into their new budgets.

Other celebration program "regulars" also will be back including five-minute canoe rides on south lake for 50 cents each, sponsored again by the Post Lions from 1 p.m. to dark; water polo from 2 to 4 p.m., sponsored by the volunteer fire department; a dunking booth from 1 p.m. to dark sponsored by the Antelope Booster club with cheerleaders, coaches and senior athletes taking turns on the dunking board; and three hours of community bingo, beginning at 1 p.m., sponsored this year by the Chamber's Women's Division.

Congressman Stenholm says choice is:

Budget cuts or calamity

"It's time for us to change our standard of living," Congressman Charles Stenholm told Post Rotarians Tuesday noon and those who came to hear him a few hours later at an ice cream party in the community center in his honor.

"We cannot continue to spend the kind of money we have and avoid fiscal calamity," he added, pointing out the national debt has climbed from $437 billion in 1972 to an anticipated one trillion dollars in upcoming 1982.

"The interest on our debt is costing us an average of $380 this year alone for every man, woman and child in this country."

In explaining his support for President Reagan's program of budget cuts, tax cuts, and the cutting away of federal regulations, Congressman Stenholm said he campaigned for all of those issues himself when he ran for congress in 1978. The only reason I could find for not supporting him was that he was a Republican while I am a Democrat. I decided for the bipartisan approach.

Stenholm stressed that "the vote I cast Friday will not cut anybody's social security payments below what they have earned." He explained the only social security cuts were those added but not earned which this country can no longer afford. "The only solution to our social security problem is to either reduce payments or increase taxes," he said. There is no other choice.

He said he disagreed with President Reagan on Reagan's proposed reduction on payments to those who beginning next year would retire at 62, because the majority of these would do so only because of health reasons or because they had lost their jobs. He said he didn't think Reagan favored

Algerita Hotel state landmark

Mayor Giles McCrary has been notified by Fred Wendorf chairman of the Texas Antiquities Committee in Austin, that the Algerita Hotel has been designated by the committee as a State Archeological Landmark under provisions of the Texas Antiquities Code.

He wrote that notification of State Archeological Landmark status is being mailed to the Garza deed record clerk here for inclusion in the records.

it either once he had looked at it.

"Everybody wants to balance the budget," he pointed out, "but everybody wants to do it by cutting the other fellow's programs."

"There is no doubt in my mind that if we didn't do what we did last week (when Stenholm and 28 other conservative Democrats voted with Republicans on budget cuts) there was no way we could balance the budget even in 1984."

"Inflation must be curbed," he declared, calling inflation the "biggest tax" for the elderly.

Turning to the farm problem, Stenholm explained that "neither side of the aisle has come up with a program to put profitability back into agriculture."

"My party hasn't been kind to the farmers over the last few years."

The congressman declared in his opinion "it is long past time to make direct government payments to farmers."

He said U.S. farm policies today are such that the Soviet Union can come in and buy our American wheat below its cost of production and have it subsidized by the American taxpayer.

"Subsidies simply do not work," he declared.

Later in an interview with The Dispatch, Stenholm said the Democratic farm bill which has been passed out of the house agriculture committee of which he is a member "is not adequate."

He said when it comes to the house floor he will introduce an amendment to make it a one year bill so that "we can start over in the fall to write a new four-year farm bill which will address the farm income problem."

Stenholm added the world market is not a free market and those who believe it is "are living in a dream world." The Common Market and Japan control their agriculture.

Stenholm said the illegal alien problem should get out onto the floor of congress next year where he hopes something can be done "before the 17th district and all of Texas is inundated."

On the subject of the draft, always a thorny one, Stenholm said the feeling in Congress is that the U.S. volunteer army is not going to meet our needs and the draft question will be before congress again within six

We especially enjoyed the Texas Press Association's summer convention in Fort Worth last weekend for two reasons. One was the honoring of Master Sergeant Roy Benavidez, who received the Medal of Honor this year from President Reagan, as the association's "Texan of the Year." The other was our brief sojourn in the Hyatt Regency Hotel.

Most of you probably recall the heroism of Sgt. Benavidez which led to his belatedly receiving the nation's highest military award. He was the only volunteer to go into a Vietnam jungle via helicopter in an effort to pull out a surrounded small U.S. army unit about to be overwhelmed.

To be brief the old regular army sergeant set up a defensive perimeter, directed return fire, collected the wounded, destroyed classified information, and ran along side the helicopter taking off returning enemy fire when the pilot was shot

Come enjoy the 'bests'

Another holiday in the park beckons Post and Garza residents Saturday in what easily has developed into this community's best established celebration.

Just as in most West Texas towns, Post celebrates the Fourth of July with a "fun day" in the park and lots of people come "home" for the occasion.

There are enough events on the program to keep most of the kids and the more active adults interested. But probably the most rewarding part of the holiday is the visiting with friends, both near and far.

It's just about the only single "community event" on the whole year's calendar. Coming in mid-summer it makes for an easy going, relaxing day.

The park itself is about a year away from really "getting going" again. The pool's plumbing has been overhauled, but the playground equipment is still unusable for the most part.

A park improvement grant has been approved for the city, the park board reorganized, and we hope the park will benefit from some increased city-county appropriations in their new year budgets.

Gaining favor, but slowly, in the community is the proposal to build a covered bandstand, estimated to cost in the neighborhood of $25,000 to $30,000.

It certainly would be a great addition for the annual Independence Day celebration.

Don't miss the fun Saturday. Come to the park and spend a nice, lazy day. Our Fourth of July celebration mixes well all the "bests" of small town life.

Let's fill our need

For the first time in many years, Post has the golden opportunity to reorganize its municipal government under a trained and experienced city manager. What's more it can do so without any "stepping on toes."

The present city council a year ago expressed its intent to move in this direction. It clearly saw the need, as do many Post citizens who are looking to the future.

Any community these days needs a firm and able hand at the administrative controls on an day to day basis. Monthly city council meetings should be for the purpose of establishing policy not making administrative decisions.

As the cost of municipal government has increased, the need for a cost effective administrator sitting daily at a desk in city hall becomes obvious.

Not just a person to pull together details and make things run smoothly on a daily basis either, but a person who can look into the future — and plan.

Such a person should have the know-how to write applications for a wide variety of projects through which the city might benefit. In recent years, the city has had to seek outside help for such applications or such projects have been sought by a city council-person who volunteered for the job, and a lot of extra work.

The council obviously is moving carefully. The first step must be to include a new city manager in the new budget.

The actual selection may not be easy.

Post is not a large town. It would better employ a capable administrator who would stay for a number of years rather than an ambitious man seeking to climb the city manager ladder as quickly as possible.

In this regard, the council in the past has given some thought to looking for a near retirement individual, long on experience, who wants a community with less pressure than he would face in a city beset with a thousand problems.

Post doesn't really have any major problems. The tax base is excellent. No debt. Cash is paid for even municipal "big ticket items."

Law enforcement is not the problem as in many small towns where the council hires and fires its police chiefs — usually with considerably regularity, as even Post used to do. We have consolidated our "law" with the county. The sheriff is elected by the people and as long as things work well there is no city problem.

The volunteer fire department is one of the best in the area and has the solid support of council and citizens.

This time around, as the council works out the job of filling the current vacancy, The Dispatch will hope that everybody who wants to have his say on the subject is willing "to reason together."

Post badly needs an administrator and planner on the job each and every day. So let's hire one.

"YOUR ANSWERS ARE VAGUE, INDECISIVE, HEDGING AND EVASIVE... YOU'RE HIRED!"

Export market for cotton strong

LUBBOCK — Prospects for increased exports of U.S. cotton in Asia and Europe remain strong, reported Cotton Council International (CCI) Far Eastern and European directors.

The directors spoke as part of a "U. S. Cotton Export Update" at a meeting here Friday at the First National Bank Building chaired by Robert H. Squires, export sales manager of Plains Cotton Cooperative Association. A similar presentation had been made earlier in the day at the Dallas Cotton Exchange.

For the large Asian market, John Maguire, CCI Far Eastern director headquartered in Hong Kong, said U.S. cotton will be in an excellent trade position if textile demand and prices improve.

"Generally speaking," he said, "Asia is reeling from the on-again, off-again 1979-80-81 recession. But these nations' economies are closer now to stabilization, and that is crucial to their fiber imports."

"I look for Taiwan and Hong Kong to sharply increase their purchases of U.S. cotton for 1980-81,"

Dr. Pass is Synod clerk

Dr. Thomas E. Pass, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Post, recently served as Temporary Clerk for the Synods of the Sun and Red River, during their annual meeting. The meeting, June 29-July 1, was held at Trinity University in San Antonio, and brought together representatives from 1,025 congregations, with over a quarter of a million members in the states of Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, and Louisiana.

In addition to his service as Temporary Clerk for the meeting, Dr. Pass completed four years of service as a representative for Palo Duro Union Presbytery to the Synods' Round Table, Trust Center, and Executive Committees.

The Synods relate to and help support a theological seminary, seven colleges and universities, children's homes, campus ministries, new church developments, and other ministries. The Synods belong to the two major Presbyterian denominations, as does the local congregation.

Shelby Barley on B honor roll

STEPHENVILLE, TX. — Shelby Barley is listed on the B honor roll and was listed as a Distinguished Student for the 1981 spring semester at Tarleton State University.

Students on the B honor roll have a grade point average between 3.00 and 3.99 with no grade lower than a B and be taking a minimum of 12 hours. Junior and senior Distinguished Students have a minimum GPR of 3.50 with no grade lower than a C.

Maguire continued. "Japan's volume of imports depends upon its voluntary restraints on output."

He linked Korea's consumption to its continued supplying of yarn to Japan and to credit from the U.S. for purchases of our raw cotton.

In Southeast Asia, Maguire anticipates increased demand, particularly in Indonesia, based on continued expansions in production capacities.

The largest Asian importer of U.S. cotton continues to be the People's Republic of China. To date, it is committed to purchase 1.5 million bales in 1980-81. But Maguire indicates that its consumption of synthetic fibers is substantial as well.

"If the PRC's demand for the man-made fibers is as strong as trade circles report," he said, "there should be a short-term swing to cotton because of depleted availability of synthetics and higher prices. And because these fibers are used almost exclusively for export products, the stronger PRC export push will reverberate throughout Asia."

"Russia will continue to be U.S. cotton's strongest competitor in West Europe," said Paul Lewis, CCI European director headquartered in Brussels. "But Soviet domestic consumption is rising while its cotton production holds steady, leaving a supply void that U.S. cotton could fill."

"The real point of concern," he continued, "is that European man-made fiber companies have geared to a much stronger push in direct trade, industry servicing, and advertising."

Lewis added that, although European consumers have a preference for natural fibers, cotton-synthetic blends are making inroads into traditional cotton strongholds such as bed linens and towels, and men's underwear and workwear.

However, he said that U.S. cotton exports to Europe have risen steadily from 250,000 bales in 1975, representing about 3 percent of the market, to almost 1.3 million bales this year, or almost 14 percent of Europe's cotton imports.

US-380 to be seal coated

LUBBOCK — Work in the District Five Area is included in a high rehabilitation and improvement program for highways and FM roads in Texas recently approved by the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission.

Acting District Engineer C. W. Nail, Jr., said the work in this area is part of a statewide effort to modernize roads and highways which are worn out or inadequate for today's traffic.

Area projects include the following work in Garza County:

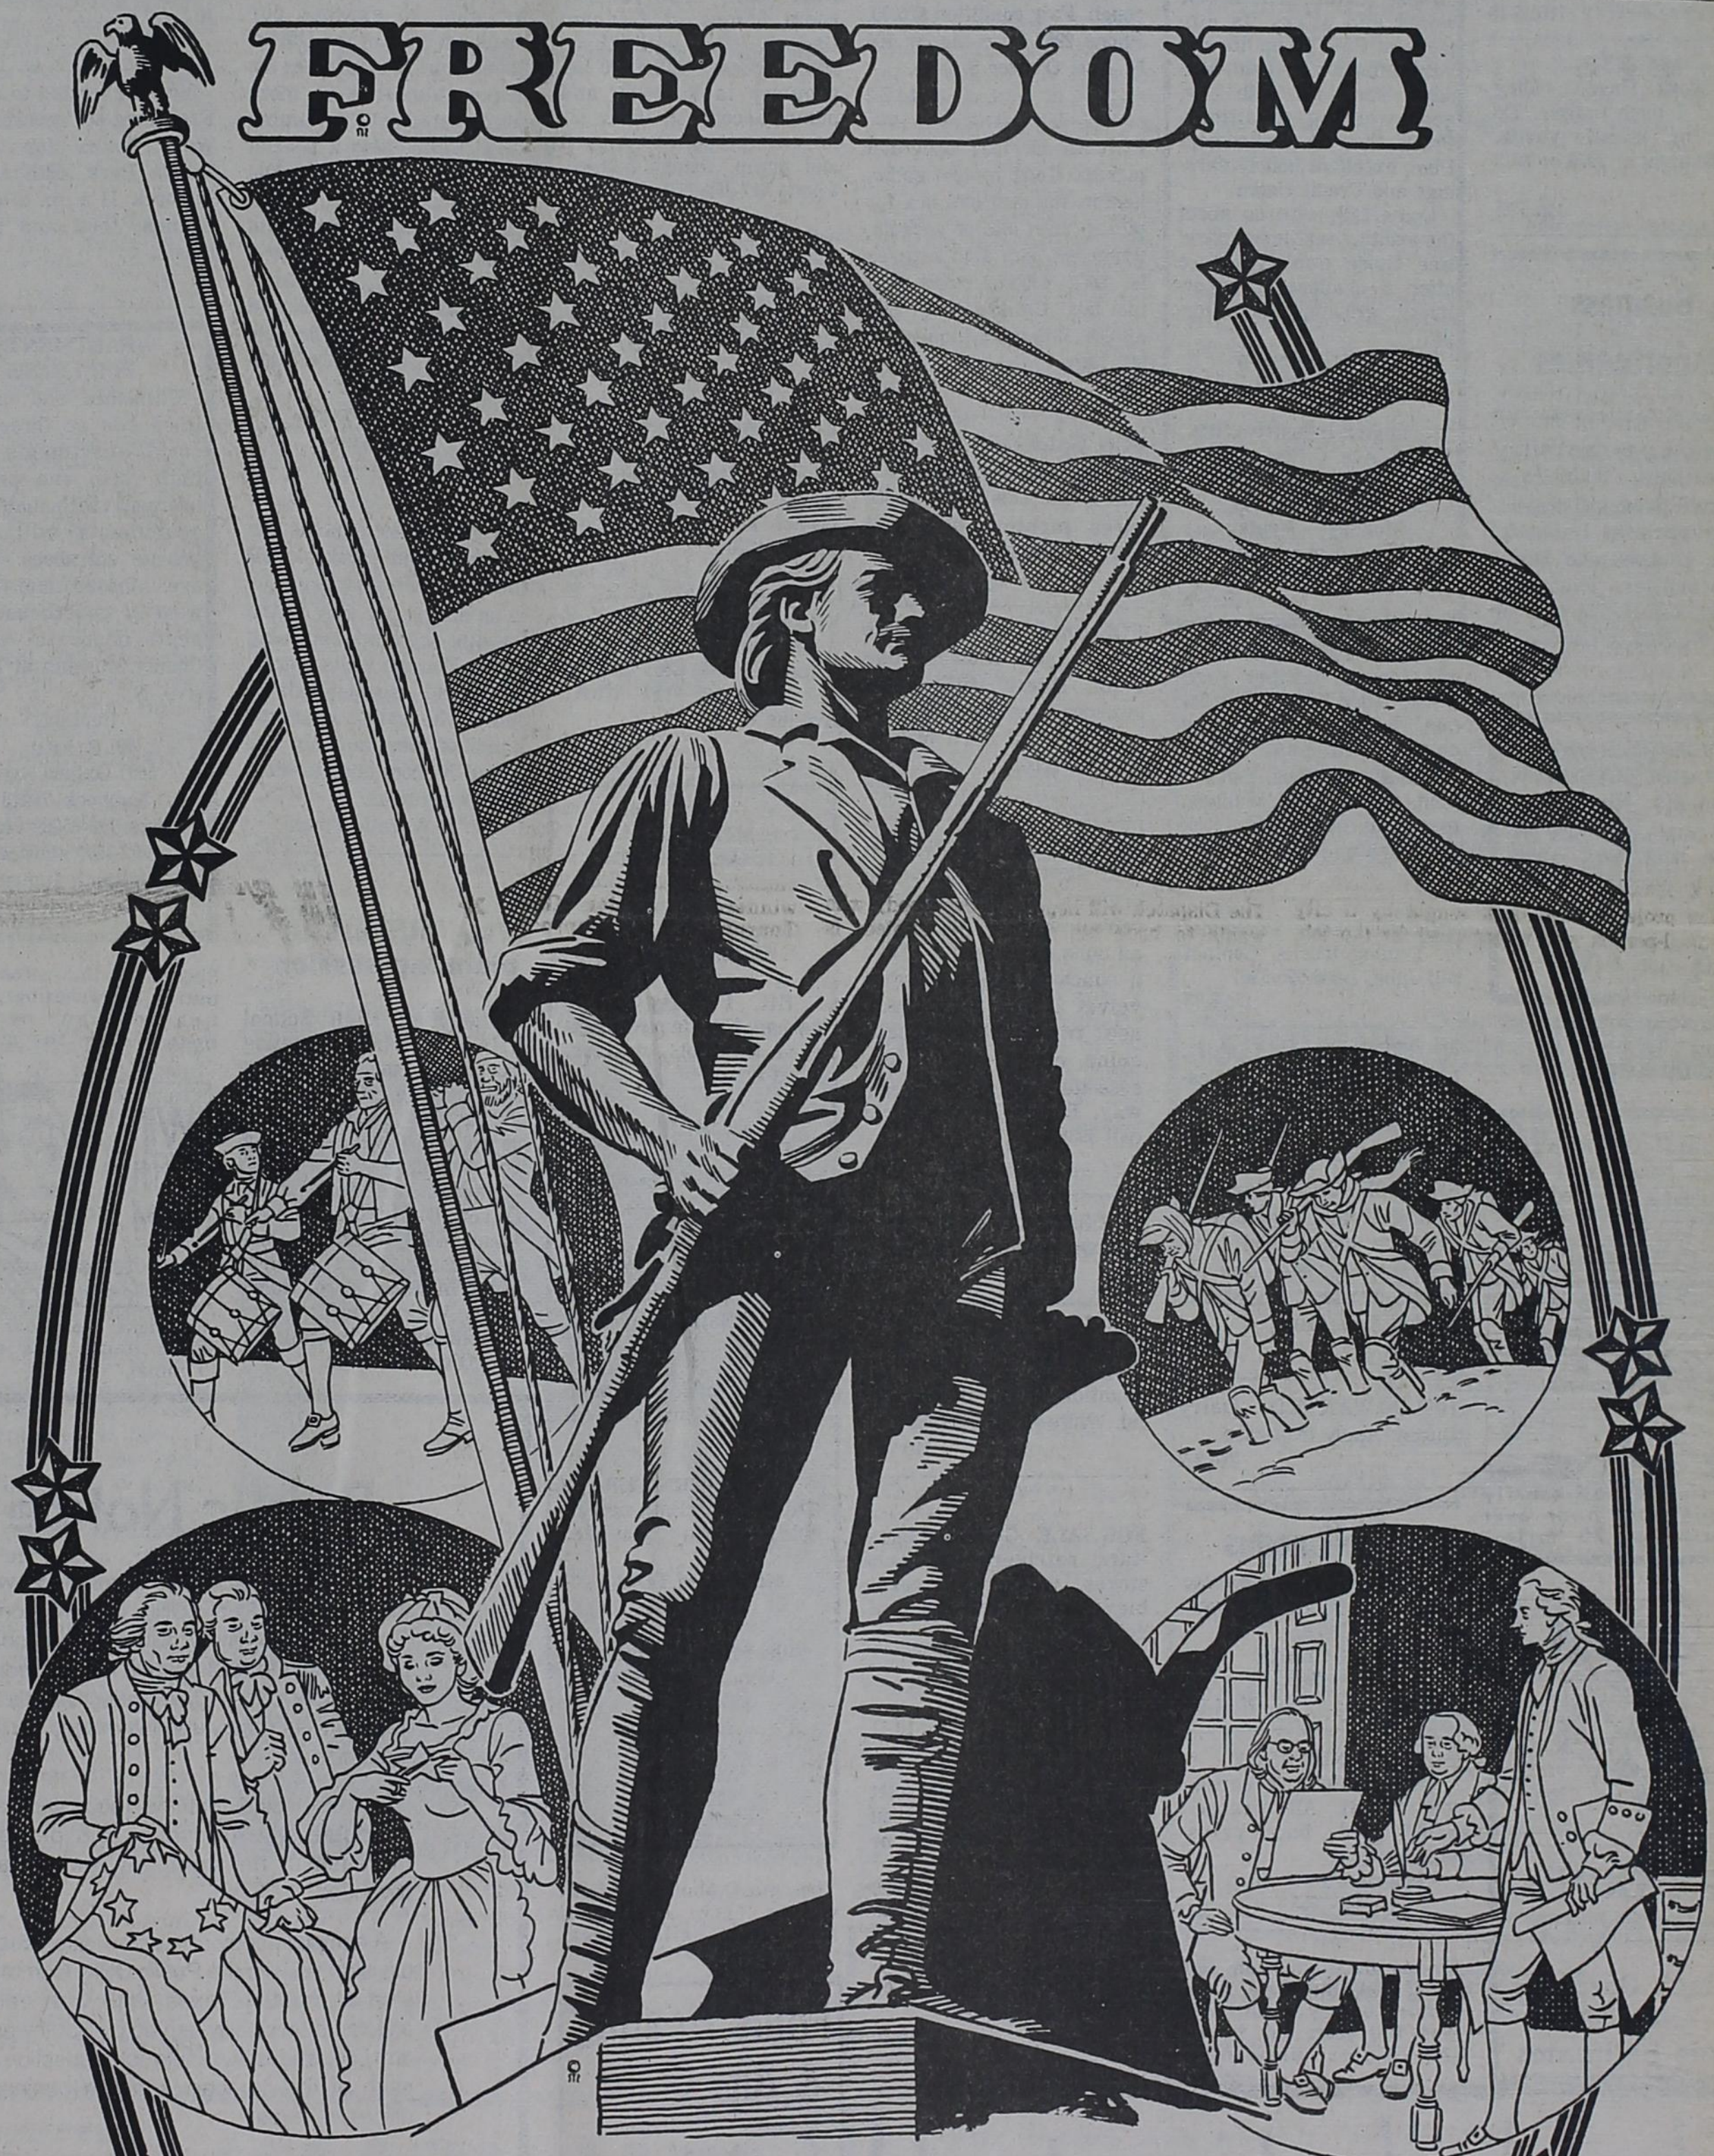

US 380 from A. T. & S. F. RR in Post, East, 7.0 miles, Seal Coat, at an estimated cost of $104,000.

The 1982 Rehabilitation and State Highway Safety and Betterment and Farm to Market Road Improvement Program will cost an estimated $218,932,900.

The program includes improvement and rehabilitation of 5,335.35 miles of state-maintained highways. In all there are 892 projects proposed in 214 counties of the state.

The work includes projects which will upgrade existing highways to handle heavier volumes of traffic, enhance safety, reduce the amount and kind of maintenance necessary and to protect the large public investment in the highways of Texas.

Approximately 70 percent of the work is on US and State numbered highways in Texas, which means that the remainder of approximately 30 percent is on FM and RM roads.

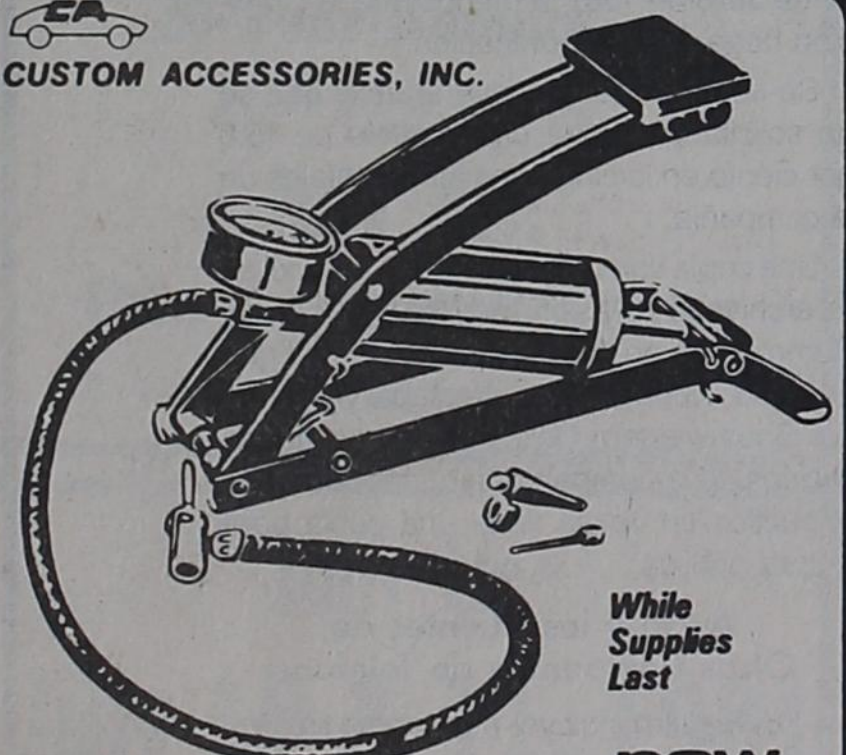

It's a privilege to be part of this great democracy . . . to be living the great American dream our forefathers fought for, so long ago. Let's show our pride on the 4th!

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas effective July 21, 1981, unless otherwise determined by the Commission.

It is expected that the requested rate schedule will furnish a 15.8 percent increase in the company's intrastate revenues.

A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices in Texas.

Notice to Customers of Other Telephone Companies

The filing includes, but is not limited to, proposals to increase rates for interexchange private line and foreign exchange (FX) service. Changes in such rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies because such companies provide interexchange private line and foreign exchange service in accordance with rates specified in Southwestern Bell's tariffs.

Southwestern Bell

Aviso Público

Southwestern Bell, en conformidad a las reglas del Public Utility Commission (Comisión de Servicios Públicos) de Texas, por la presente hace saber su intención de establecer un nuevo arancel para servicio de teléfono en Texas con vigencia a partir del 21 de Julio de 1981, a menos que la Comisión haga otra determinación.

Se espera que el nuevo arancel que se ha solicitado rendirá un aumento de 15.8 por ciento en los ingresos intraestatales de la compañía.

Una copia completa del nuevo arancel se ha archivado en las oficinas del Public Utility Commission en Austin, Texas, al igual que en cada municipalidad afectada y servida por Southwestern Bell, y cada una de las oficinas de la compañía para negocios con el público en Texas tiene una copia para lectura pública.

Aviso a los Clientes de Otras Compañías de Teléfono

El registro incluye, pero no se limita a, propuestas para aumentar las tarifas para servicio de línea privada entre centrales telefónicas (interexchange private line) y servicio de central telefónica extranjera (foreign exchange FX). Cambios en dichas tarifas de servicio también afectarían a clientes de otras compañías de teléfono porque dichas compañías proveen los servicios ya mencionados en conformidad a tarifas especificadas por Southwestern Bell.

Kristie Kerbow, Bud Jones are wed in Wichita Falls

The sanctuary of the First Christian Church in Wichita Falls was the scene of double ring ceremonies performed Saturday June 27, at 7 p.m. uniting Kristie Lea Kerbow of Wichita Falls and Ivan Lee Jones, Jr. of Post. Dr. John T. Muir performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kerbow, Jr. of Wichita Falls, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan L. Jones of Post.

A mammoth arrangement of pink and white pom mums, white carnations and gladiola, pink cushion mums, stock and fern adorned the baptistry. The couple passed through chancel rails swagged in smilax interspersed with miniature pink and white mums to exchange vows before the altar flanked by brass candle trees entwined with greenery and cushion mums and antique Italian brass basket candleabra centered with smaller arrangements of pink and white mums, stock, carnations and fern. Candles were lighted by Paula Steinocher and Carolyn Sutton. Wedding music was provided by Ray Dillinger, soloist, and Brent Stratten, minister of music and organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white silk organza and Venise lace. The slightly raised bodice was lace embroidered with seed pearls and featured a yoke of pointe d'esprit and a Queen Anne neckline. The long fitted sheer organza sleeves were inset with point d'esprit and extended to a flounce banded at the wrist in lace. The full organza skirt was appliqued with Venise lace, and a deep hem flounce trimmed in the lace and formed a chapel length train. She chose a veil of bridal illusion edged and appliqued in Venise lace drifting from a Queen Anne cap of lace appliqued with pearls. The bride selected as her jewelry a diamond cross pendant and diamond earrings. In keeping with tradition, she had in her shoe the sixpence worn by her mother at her wedding.

She carried a bouquet of white carnations, cushion mums, pink roses, English ivy and white satin streamers. Nestled in the center was a single white orchid. Serving as maid of honor was Patricia Groves of Wichita Falls, with Karen Kerbow, sister of the bride, Carla Holt, cousin of the bride, and Debbie Jones, all of Wichita Falls serving as bridesmaids.

Serving as best man was Danny Gunn, cousin of the groom of Post, with Steve Mason, Randy Barr, Craig Kerbow, brother of the bride, Evans Heaton and Mike Leach, cousin of the bride serving as groomsmen.

A reception was hosted by the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a white damask and lace cloth overlaid with white lace. The four-tiered cake of spun sugar roses in rosebud pink, pale pink and white with green leaves, was served by Lynn Haley, Marilyn McEwen, Julie Cassidy and Cheryl Kerbow, cousin of the bride.

The grooms table was covered with a champagne linen cloth and was centered with a heavy antique brass compote candle. The applesauce cake was served by Darlene Gunn and Nita Jo Heckaman, cousins of the groom and Hope Heaton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Jones, parents of the groom, entertained the bridal party at a dinner held at Old Town Steak House on Friday evening following the rehearsal. Tables were decorated in bridal colors, and the couple presented their attendants with mementoes of the occasion.

The bride is a graduate of Rider High School in Wichita Falls and is currently majoring in Journalism at Texas Tech University where she has been a section editor of the Tech yearbook, and she is on the Dean's list.

The groom graduated from Post High School where he was active in FFA and was a two year letterman in football. He is also an Eagle Scout. He graduated from South Plains College where he was named Outstanding student in Diesel Mechanics. He is currently employed by Halliburton Services in Snyder where the couple will reside following a wedding trip to Red River, N.M.

Guests attended from Franklin, La.; San Antonio, Seminole, Temple, Mesquite, Hurst, Grandbury, Euless, Roanoke, Keller, Post, San Angelo and Amarillo.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Less than a month after the Legislature ratified new boundary lines for state House and Senate districts, the entire redistricting process is in upheaval again.

Governor Bill Clements has vetoed the plan for the Senate, thereby allowing the plan to be redrawn by the constitutionally provided redistricting board, composed of five state officials.

The board, headed by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, tried to meet for the first time last week, but postponed action pending the outcome of a lawsuit filed last week which challenges the new House districts.

The class action lawsuit, with three legislators heading up the list of plaintiffs, charges that counties have been illegally split in each of the five major metropolitan areas: Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio, Houston and El Paso, as well as Laredo and Amarillo.

A state district judge was scheduled to hear the case this week. If the judge finds for the plaintiffs, the new House districts will be invalidated and the redistricting board will assume the task of drawing an acceptable plan.

Congressional Redistricting
Meanwhile, Clements has not backed down one iota from his announced intent to veto any plan approved during the coming special session which does not provide for a black congressional district in his hometown of Dallas.

The Legislature adjourned last month without reaching a compromise on new congressional districts. Due to population growth, Texas is entitled to create three new congressional districts.

Clements & Blacks
Clements has been insistent in his desire to create a predominantly black state senate and congressional district in Dallas.

He has publicly and loudly said the Dallas blacks must get a fair shake. That's a worthy cause, but some legislators are saying Clements has other motives hidden behind the civil rights banner.

The real targets are liberal Democrats who are a pain in the neck to Clements: State Sen. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas, and congressmen Martin Frost and Jim Mattox.

Perhaps the most influential black in the Legislature,

Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston, was highly critical of Clements' statements concerning the veto of the Senate plan.

"Clements doesn't care about blacks and he never has, but blacks are protected by the Voting Rights Act and Republicans are not."

Washington said the Senate plan had "a Dallas district that in excess of 66 percent minority. Is Clements suggesting that blacks are so lethargic and lazy that we cannot elect one of our own without packing all of us into one district?"

Mauzy, Two GOPs
Washington was referring to the Dallas district now represented by Mauzy. Clements may have a problem because Mauzy, a white liberal, is in good standing with blacks and has been repeatedly re-elected in predominantly minority district.

And Clements is probably more worried about the political survival of two Republican senators from Dallas who find themselves paired in a new district: Dee Travis and John Leedom. Travis, however, is expected to run for Congress.

Dallas Congressmen
That brings up the issue of congressional districts in Dallas. Clements says he wants a district cut where a black can win. Be that as it may, the plan he has in mind will do that and weaken two liberal Democrats, Frost and Mattox, at the same time. Clements has already called Mattox "a disaster" and vowed he must go.

The Libs
If the Democrats dominated the Senate plan, not all Democrats were pleased. Two members of the House liberal faction, John Bryant, D-Dallas, and Ted Lyon, D-Mesquite, said they welcomed Clements' veto of the Dallas senatorial plan.

Lyon, in fact, had already drawn up the papers for a lawsuit challenging the Senate plan. Bryant and Lyon oppose the plan because it would divide Dallas County into six different districts, many largely rural in character.

Redistricting Board
At any rate, the task is now before the Legislative Redistricting Board, composed of five Democrats: Hobby, Bill Clayton, Mark White, Bob Bullock and Bob Armstrong.

Texas drivers challenged

The Texas Department of Public Safety will be conducting "Operation Motorcade" for this 1981 Fourth of July. The week-end death count will begin at 6 p.m. July 3 and end at midnight July 5.

Major C. W. Bell, Regional Commander of the Department of Public Safety, said, "During the 54-hour 'Operation Motorcade' period all available troopers will be on the highways. The troopers will be especially aware of drinking drivers and violators of the speed laws. All drivers should be aware of their condition and the condition of their vehicles. If you are planning a trip, you should know your routes and what exits you will need to take. Sudden movements or lane changes can cause accidents and might possibly cost you your life."

The Texas Department of Public Safety challenges each driver to drive defensively and help make this the safest holiday on record.

1980 — worst since 1952

Garza had one of its worst cotton crops in the last two decades in 1980, according to figures just released by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Only 11,100 bales were harvested from 47,600 acres with a yield of only 112 pounds per acre.

A total of 55,000 acres were planted to cotton last year. The average yield for the 25-county represented by the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. was 244.5 pounds with the 450 pounds in Parmer county the best and 104 pounds in Bailey county the lowest.

This average yield was the lowest for this West Texas area since the 199.9 pounds harvested in 1952 and well below the 356.3 pounds per acre average for the last 10 years.

Some observers have wondered if Clements' veto was the right political move for him, throwing the task of protecting Republicans to five Democrats.

Clements has said that at least four of them will be facing the state's voters in the next election, and that is incentive for them to be fair. Republican state chairman Chet Upham said the old plan barely protected the GOP status quo in the Senate, so really the party has little to lose by the veto.

In fact, it sends the issue further along the process to what may prove to be its ultimate conclusion: a plan drawn up by the U.S. Justice Department sitting under a Republican president.

Twin Cedars Nursing Home News

Mrs. Blanche Clayton, our oldest resident of Twin Cedars, expired this past week. Mrs. Clayton had been a resident at Twin Cedars for 15 years. We all loved her dearly and will miss her with all our hearts. Our thoughts are with her family during their loss of this beloved one.

Visitors this past week were plentiful. Again we wish to thank all of them for their time and consideration of our elderly folks.

Rosemary Stelzer brought us bananas for all. These are appreciated by all. Bingo winners this week were Robert Jones, Irene McCommis, Blanche Graham, and Evelyn Roach.

Other games this week were dominoes and card games. Mrs. Hodges daughter, from Pasadena, Tex. has been here visiting this week. We enjoyed meeting her and getting to know her.

The VFW ladies auxiliary brought cologne and after shave lotion to our male residents for father's day.

Thelma Thomas provided refreshments of jelly cake and ice cream for everyone on Father's Day.

Everyone at Twin Cedars appreciate all these people

Play tonight and Friday—

Bucks grab opener 13-0

The Slaton baseball league got under way in Post's Babe Ruth Park Monday night with the Post Bucks, a league member, thumping Slaton's Citizens National Bank team, 13-0.

Raymie Holly and Bryan Compton who divided mound duties to shut out the Slaton club each hit a homerun to help power the victory.

The Bucks' next start was scheduled to be at 7 p.m.

Wednesday night, July 1, in the first game of a doubleheader with Perkin's of Slaton as the opponent.

They will play again here Friday night at 7 p.m. against the Slaton Stars in the first game of another league doubleheader.

All league play for the first two weeks is being played here in the Babe Ruth park because of the unavailability of the Slaton baseball park.

Post teams lose in Lubbock meet

Both the Dodgers and A's lost their first round games Saturday in the Lubbock invitational league tournament.

The Post champion Dodgers lost 9 to 6 to the No. 2 team of the Lubbock Western league, the Raiders although outpitching their opponents 9 to 8.

Rodney Guthrie and Lupe Perez each had three hits in four official trips for the local club with two of Guthrie's blows being doubles and one of Perez's.

The locals came up with a four-run rally in the sixth to make it interesting after the Lubbock club had pulled in front with three in the second, one in the third, and five in the fourth.

The A's took a 22 to 4 whipping, being held to two hits while giving up 14.

Two Post boys place in AAU

Two Post boys, Jay McCook and Ben Kirkpatrick placed in the midget division of the AAU track meet held last weekend in Borger.

McCook was third in the long jump with a best leap of 13 feet, 6 inches, and Kirkpatrick was fourth in three events, the long jump, 100 yard dash, and 50 yard dash.

Others from Post competing in the meet were: Bantam division, 10 and under: Traci Tannehill, Kristi Radle, Matt McCook, Bobby and Robby Blair and Michael Radle.

Midget Division, 10 and 12 year olds: Tammi Braddock and Kim Smith.

Intermediate division for 15 and 16 year olds: Alphonso Reyna.

Sponsors accompanying the local group include Lane and Marge Tannehill, Darrel and Susan Radle, Zoe Kirkpatrick, and Dr. Charles McCook.

Scanning Social Security

By JIM LATIMER

It is important for the people in the local area to know when to contact a social security office, a social security representative said recently.

A person should contact social security:

Before getting his or her first job, because a social security number is required to get proper social security credit for earnings. This should be done at least 6 weeks before the number will be needed.

After a death in the family, to see if survivor benefits can be paid.

When someone in the family is disabled, to find out if disability benefits can be paid.

At retirement age - at 65 for full rate cash benefits, or as early as 62 for reduced payments. Sign up for Medicare 2 or 3 months before 65, even if there are no retirement plans.

Any time there is a question about social security.

When a person calls a social security office, the people there can tell him or her:

How much work credit is needed to be insured for benefits.

Who can receive benefits. How to replace a lost social security or Medicare card.

How to get a free statement of the earnings reported to a person's social security record.

What documents a person applying for benefits needs.

For more information about social security get in touch with any social security office. The address and telephone number of the nearest social security office can be found in the telephone directory.

average cost of anew book published in 1981 was $21.71 up from the 1979 average of $18.95, according to Publisher's Weekly.

A half century of library service to the blind in Texas is being honored this month.

In July, 1931, the Texas State Library became one of the original 19 libraries participating in a Library of Congress program to provide embossed books to blind persons. Today not only blind Texans but also those who cannot read ordinary printed material because of other physical handicaps can obtain books and magazines through the service. Recorded books are now made available. This service is handled entirely by mail or telephone. The postal service carries the materials at no charge. Any reader who would like more information about the service should write the Texas State Library, Box 12927 Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711, or call 1-800-252-9605.

Senior Citizens News

Twenty nine Senior Citizens left the Algerita Center Friday June 26 at 1 p.m. headed for Canyon the see "Texas". There was a total of six vehicles that made the trip. We had a very enjoyable trip and the program "Texas" was fabulous and was really enjoyed by all. We visited the museum at Canyon and then had supper and fellowship was enjoyed by all who went.

We are having an average group every day for lunch, several are still gone on vacation. There are some leaving and some coming back from vacation. It seems they return every few days. We are serving real good lunches and have a nice cool place to eat so you folks who can't come down and eat with us are really missing a lot. We have good fellowship and enjoy playing or just sit and visit or watch TV.

Blood Pressure lady Jodi Moore will be here this Tuesday since she missed her regular day. We really appreciate these ladies who take time down and offer these services to our people.

Randy Brackin, Bel-Tone hearing aid man, was here this past Thursday and will be back the fourth Thursday of the month of July.

We will be singing at the Tahoka Senior Center Monday for them in a fund raising gathering. Also we have been put on the program at the July 4th picnic at the park. The Senior Citizens are really enjoying this getting together and singing and having fellowship one with another. This is good for us all.

Don't forget, blood pressure is taken 4 times a month at the Algerita Center. First and Fourth Tuesdays and First and Third Thursdays. Also hearing aid assistance is offered to you who need it without any charge unless you need a battery or something of this sort. So please take advantage of this. Randy is a very nice person and wants to help you any way he can. Just call 2998 if you need any assistance at all and we will help you in any way we can.

Senator
Lloyd Bentsen

Watching Washington

Al Capone, the famous Chicago mobster of the Roaring Twenties, headed a huge criminal operation which had its hooks into everything from gambling to the illegal sale of liquor. Yet law enforcement officials of that era were unable to convict Capone of any crimes.

By 1927, he had amassed a fortune worth around $100 million and his tightly-run syndicate continued to elude police nets until 1931 when he finally was indicted, found guilty and shipped off to prison. The charge: income tax evasion.

Chances are, if Capone were alive today, authorities would have to devise another strategy to tuck him safely behind bars. Changes in the U.S. Tax Code have taken the punch out of the Internal Revenue Service's once-effective role in helping law enforcement officials crack down on lawbreakers—especially organized crime and drug trafficking.

As the law now stands, a suspect can stymie efforts of the IRS to obtain his financial records from a bank or other financial institution by simply notifying the institution.

The suspect doesn't have to give a reason why the IRS shouldn't see his records and there's no limit to the number of automatic stays he can initiate. As a result, the IRS is forced to take the issue to court and explain why it has the right to see those records.

The stays have dragged on for as long as 33 months, with an average of nine months elapsing before IRS can get hold of the records it needs to conduct its investigations.

In a recent survey, the General Accounting Office found that over 75 percent of all persons taking advantage of the automatic stay are known organized crime figures, illicit drug dealers or people who habitually protest paying their taxes.

An IRS study of this problem showed that 80 percent of some 200 people surveyed failed to show up in court after invoking the automatic stay.

I am cosponsoring legislation that would do away with the automatic stay procedure. No longer would the subject of such an investigation have the right to block an IRS summons simply by notifying the bank. No longer, either, would the IRS experience needless, costly delays in summoning these records.

This would not grant the Internal Revenue Service excessive power and authority. In effect, my bill would give IRS the same summons power that other federal agencies already have.

My bill also allows the IRS to ask the court to let them seize records without notifying the suspect in advance, in cases where evidence shows that a notice to the taxpayer could lead to destruction of records, obstruction of justice or threats to witnesses.

Under the Bentsen bill, the subject of the investigation could still challenge the IRS summons in court. But the onus now would rest with him; the suspect would be required to convince a court that the IRS has no right to see his records.

This bill is carefully written to protect the privacy of the ordinary, law-abiding taxpayer. We must do that. We must also, however, clamp down on criminals and tax evaders who, lately, have succeeded too well in flouting the laws of our land.

Congressional Comment

WASHINGTON, D.C. — There are more government programs that are unworkable, uneconomical, and unpopular with the people the programs were supposed to assist than I could possibly list in six of these columns.

Congress has taken a hard look at all government programs this year, with an eye toward trimming unnecessary and expensive programs. Members of the House Subcommittee on Tobacco and Peanuts, myself included, balked this week, however, at dismantling a program that does work, is economical, and has proven itself to the people it was designed to assist — the peanut producers.

The Reagan Administration had targeted the peanut program for extinction, with the intention of gutting the program of its most vital supply-management provisions.

The current peanut program works. In fact, it works far more economically than the Administration's proposal would work. The federal cost of the current peanut program has been reduced 60 percent in the last three years and peanut growers have proposed a program to continue this trend to a point of zero cost in 1985. To ignore the producer request this year is to ignore the personal sacrifice they have made over the last three years attempting to reduce federal costs and produce peanuts competitively priced for the world market.

The current program has also been beneficial to the consumer by encouraging production of a steady supply of peanuts over the last 25 years, even though this year's supply has been shortened by a rare national drought. With a normal production year, the price of peanuts and peanut products can be expected to return to pre-drought levels.

Masonry work

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.)—The University of Texas is one of the largest researchers in masonry in the U.S. and one of only a few institutions offering masonry engineering courses.

Many UT civil engineering faculty members conduct masonry research on cracking due to expansion from heating and freezing; on the deformation phenomenon known as "creep," and on acid rain experiments.

Lecturer Tom Grimm says one of every 3.6 architect-engineering firms will be sued each year because some building failed to perform. About half of those failures are due to masonry design errors, he says.

NEWS

Of Solar Energy UNIQUE LENS—A RAY OF SUNSHINE

A bright idea for fans of solar energy is a unique new lens that is lighter and more effective than old conventional lenses.

More light-gathering power is now possible for solar collectors thanks to a lighter, flexible lens.

Conventional lenses focus light by a continuous surface curvature which often means considerable thickness and bulk. The new Fresnel Lens, developed by 3M, consists of individual, closely-spaced, grooved refracting surfaces which bend light precisely to duplicate conventional lenses. The result is a thin, highly effective lens without the bulk weight of conventional lenses. The thinness gives greater design flexibility. This means solar collectors will be lighter, more economical and ultimately more efficient.

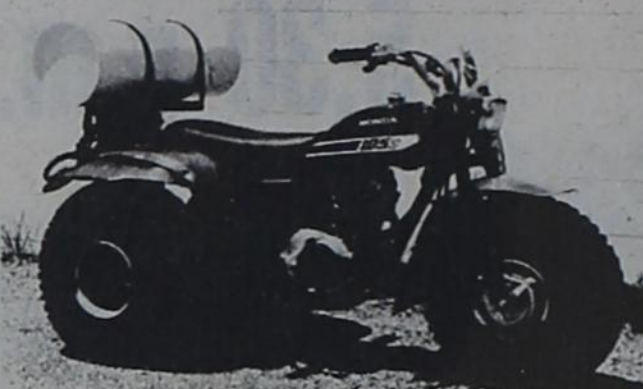

All in all, a light on the horizon in our search to harness more energy from the sun.

Vegetable-Cheese Casserole Makes The Most Of Summer's Harvest

Summer is finally here, bringing a bounty of farm-fresh vegetables and fruits. Green beans, firm and juicy, overflow bins with a crispness that means they're straight from the field. Crimson tomatoes, just off the vine, burst with juice at the touch of a knife. It's the season to feast on vegetables picked at the peak of ripeness!

Fresh beans and tomatoes can easily stand alone at mealtime — but why not combine them in a zesty casserole? This recipe from The Kraft Kitchens adds sauteed onions and crunchy bits of bacon for a flavor accent. And to blend everything together, there's a rich sauce made from creamy Casino natural Monterey Jack cheese.

With its mild flavor and soft, smooth consistency, Monterey Jack is the perfect complement to the medley of fresh tastes and textures. The cheese was first made by 19th-century monks in Monterey, California, and is a distant cousin of English cheddar.

Monterey Jack has long been a snacking favorite, but it's worth knowing as a cooking cheese, too. Its understated yet mellow flavor makes it a natural choice to top seafoods and vegetables. And because some recipes call for more spice excitement, Casino natural Monterey Jack comes three ways: plain, with caraway seeds, and with jalapeño peppers.

Fresh tomatoes and beans are married with delicate Monterey Jack cheese sauce.

DEFENDING YOUR RIGHTS The Civil Justice System

American Civil Courts, say the experts at the Defense Research Institute, have "been and remain the best method for accomplishing the proper purpose of our substantive civil law." Nevertheless, that Institute has some suggestions on how those courts might be made better, to the benefit of us all.

Why does the system excel? This is spelled out in the first report of its kind — "Administration of Civil Justice Position Paper."

The paper cites these and other reasons why the system excels:

- It encourages and strongly supports settlements.
- It provides maximum opportunity (in non-criminal cases) for parties to a dispute to present and challenge evidence.
- It provides mechanisms for minimizing the impact of prejudice by the decision-maker.
- The system is flexible enough to provide adequate remedies.

"The goal of the adversary process," the paper contends, "is to resolve disputes fairly, efficiently and promptly — at affordable cost [to the consumer]."

After establishing its case, the Institute's paper offers a number of proposals to improve the administration of civil justice.

The position paper calls for each state to develop a "unified court system designed to administer effectively and efficiently the business of the courts." It also calls for "Professional court administrators . . . to assist the judiciary in improving court productivity."

Mindful of overcrowded court calendars, the Institute offers various other ways to relieve the pressure on the courts and increase their trial time. One approach, says the position paper, would be to "increase the use of auxiliary judicial officers, such as magistrates and court commissioners, for judicial functions of a routine . . . nature."

This method, the paper observes, has had effective results in civil and criminal matters within the federal court system.

Through meetings of judges and others within the system, court productivity could be further increased. The dual benefits of these

His heroic exploit remained unrewarded for a long, long time, but his friends, who included Fred Barbee, editor and publisher at El Campo, finally succeeded in documenting his efforts and the Medal of Honor was presented.

We met the sergeant at the President's reception — as we call it — Thursday evening. He explained his leg wound was giving him the worst trouble. We asked him in a round-about way his philosophy of life. "If you believe in yourself, and believe in God," Sgt. Benavidez said, "you can do anything."

On Friday noon with his wife and children on hand, Benavidez was given a standing ovation by about 150 Texas newsmen when he stepped forward to receive the large plaque. He got a second standing ovation after he spoke a few sincere words. Then the whole family was introduced. It was a moving experience for everyone.

The second reason we want to expand on for a few paragraphs is the Hyatt Regency Hotel. Situated right next to the new Fort Worth Civic Center, it is the old Texas Hotel (where President Kennedy made his final political speech before heading for Dallas).

It's been redone from top to bottom with just about every convenience a traveler could ask for and a few extra thrown in for good measure. Carpeted bathrooms do impress us, as do turning down the bed, pulling the drapes, and turning on the night light and music in every room.

There were no parking problems with an underground garage just outside the front entrance. The convention food was excellent and the breakfast we ate in the dining room Saturday morning just before our departure was the best breakfast we've enjoyed anywhere in the last decade.

P.S. Of course you paid a good price for all the good service and good accommodations.

As we headed out for an evening on a nearby "ranch" Friday night (where we were entertained by the same musical group we enjoyed at the Post Chamber banquet in the spring), one had to notice all the new tall buildings going up in downtown Fort Worth.

Budget cuts—

In his interview after the talk before the Rotary luncheon, Stenholm said he supports the Hance-Conable tax bill (also supported by President Reagan) and he expects the tax bill to pass congress easier than the budget cuts.

"The only disagreements on the tax cut bill are on size, 15 or 25 percent, and whether to make the cuts 'across the board' on more to favor the middle income Americans."

Asked about the estate tax, the congressman said extending the estate exemption from $175,000 to $600,000 is now in the Hance-Conable bill and this will be the biggest tax victory for the farmers and small business people in the 17th congressional district. He added that raising the exemption would not have been possible without the conservative Democratic coalition.

As for the Democratic leadership complaint that nobody knew what was in the budget cut bill last week, he said he knew more about that budget bill than any he has dealt with in his three years in congress because he had a part in forming it.

Asked about the windfall profits tax, Stenholm said he and many others are working to phase out "this unfair tax" completely but it will take time.

He said he has hopes of legalizing some relief during this session and that "we already have a $2,500 exemption for small royalty owners" in the Hance-Conable tax bill.

He predicted in time the windfall profits tax will start to hold down the search for American oil just as price regulations did for so many years.

Stenholm predicted that the 1982 congressional elections "will be the most interesting in the history of our country." He pointed out more people today in all parts of the political spectrum are involved in the political process — "and that's healthy."

Effective Self-Medication

Patient: Heal Thyself (Sometimes)

Intelligent self-treatment has a major role in health care today, notes consumer leader Sarah Newman. We can neither afford, nor do we have access to, unlimited professional health care for our minor ailments.

American consumers now spend more than $5 billion per year for nonprescription medicines. Under Secretary for the Department of Health and Human Services Nathan Stark said at a recent symposium on self-medication, "9 percent of these expenditures are for drugs, and of that only one dollar in three is paid for nonprescription products. That may seem like a small fraction, but the proper use of over-the-counter drugs yields a huge saving by enabling people to manage for themselves minor health problems that, might otherwise result in an unnecessary visit to a doctor or hospital." A recent study indicated that 98 percent of American adults know they should read the labels on nonprescription drugs before taking them, reports The Proprietary Association — a trade association representing the manufacturers of nonprescription medicines.

Pediatric expert Dr. Jay M. Arena suggested that parents and other responsible adults see themselves as captains of the child health-care team, using their physician as coach. They should become more knowledgeable and adept at self-medication.

Our excellent Civil Courts may soon be even better.

conferences? Says the Institute: they would "tend to improve the quality of justice within the court system."

A summary of the proposals offered in the paper is available on request to: Defense Research Institute, 1100 West Wells Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin 53233.
