Dispatch publisher succumbs

Jim Cornish, 67, owner and publisher of the Post Dispatch for the last 25 years, died early Thursday of a heart condition after becoming ill last Wednesday afternoon.

A recognized leader in the Post community who directed the Post Chamber of Commerce for many years and was a member of the Post Rotary club for 25 years, Cornish became ill Wednesday while he and his staff were finishing up last week's Dispatch.

He went home, was visited by a friend later, and during the night was taken to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock, where he died about 5 a.m.

Services were conducted Saturday afternoon at First Presbyterian Church, with the Rev. Tom Pass, pastor. See Cornish rites, Page 12

Curtis Hudman, the incoming president, made the presentation to Mrs. Pennell, following the citing of her community accomplishments.

Water line repairs made

Al O'Brien, of White River Lake, informed The Dispatch Monday afternoon, that pipe will be replaced in the river crossing of McDonald Creek, between Post and White River Lake.

Work began Wednesday night about midnight, and continued through today (Thursday) to hopefully be completed today.

The reservoir for Post was filled before work began and Post residents are asked to conserve water all day today to prevent a water shortage here until work is complete.

AN UNEVEN MATCHUP — This little Volkswagen driven by Jo Thomas of Post was "caught" between the cab and bed of an 18-wheeler truck which overturned on the corner of Broadway and Main Monday evening.

Three escape death in spectacular city crash

Garza County Sheriff's Dept. investigated three vehicle accidents in the city of Post during the last week, one a spectacular smashup of a big semi-truck which overturned downtown on top of a small subcompact auto, injuring a Post woman.

Deputies also arrested a man last Friday morning at a rest stop northwest of town in a stolen car and it later was discovered that the man, although just 17, was wanted in three different cities on charges including burglary, car theft, arson, rape and abduction of a female.

According to officers, the suspect, of Tuscola, Tx., was taken into custody at the rest stop 2½ miles northwest on U. S. 84 after it was noticed that the car in which he was sleeping had been reported as stolen in Taylor County (Abilene).

It then was learned that he was wanted in Abilene also for arson and rape. He also was wanted in Big Spring for burglary and in Arlington for abduction of a female from a car wash, although the abductor reportedly turned that victim loose unharmed a few hours later.

Taylor County authorities came and took custody of the suspect over the weekend.

About 6:45 p.m. Monday a semi-truck driven by Rance Puckett of Lubbock, headed south on U.S. 84, overturned

Funeral services for L. O. Ticer, 69, of Post, were held Friday, at 3 p.m. in the Calvary Baptist Church here with the Rev. Stanley Nixon, a Baptist preacher from Tow, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Vernon Andrews, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church.

Burial was in Terrace Cemetery under the direction of Hudman Funeral Home.

Ticer died early Wednesday. See Ticer rites, Page 12

Post school board race is assured

With Wednesday the final day for candidates to file for city council and school board posts, a contested race for one of the school board spots had been assured by late Tuesday. But only two candidates had filed for three places on the city council at that time.

Councilmen Jack Alexander and Jim Jackson have filed for re-election, but no candidate had filed by Tuesday for the third seat being vacated by Jim Wells, who said he would not seek re-election.

Two candidates had filed for place two on the school board, the seat now held by Mrs. Juanella Hays, who is not seeking re-election. They are pharmacist Don Payne and Rev. Tom Evans, pastor of the Post Church of the Nazarene.

Post loses a friend

After 25 years of his reporting on every newsworthy activity in Post and the surrounding area, it is hard to imagine the Post Dispatch being published without the guidance of Jim Cornish, who spent many hours every week laboring in the profession and for the community he loved.

As Rev. Tom Pass put it Saturday, the community has lost a very good friend, because Jim fiercely defended and boosted Post at every opportunity. When he saw a need, he pointed it out editorially, and when something or someone deserved praise, he was quick with that, too.

In his final column last week, he urged support for the youngsters involved in the Garza County Junior Livestock Show and paid tribute to retiring Highway Dept. engineer Julian Smith.

Some remembrances

(Editor's Note: The following is an excerpt of the eulogy given by the Rev. Tom Pass during memorial services held Saturday.)

Twenty-five years Jim invested in this town, arriving about the time of the 50th anniversary of Post, and believing that Post had many, many reasons to celebrate 75 years of the life in this town, this coming summer.

Jim was President of the Rotary Club several years ago. He headed the United Fund drive the last ten or twelve years. He labored for the Chamber of Commerce, and loved to compare the strengths of this town to the problems of other towns he heard and read about. Jim served as a ruling elder and trustee of the Presbyterian Church, sang in the choir and sat from Sunday to Sunday in the same pew that he and Helen shared for 13 years, before her death.

He traveled thousands of miles to cover athletic events, civic functions, and meetings all over. He watched hundreds of football games from the press box at Antelope Stadium. The youth of this town have lost a dear friend and supporter, though many of them never knew him.

Jim had his finger on the pulse of this town like none else. From birthdays to barnyards, from the hospital to the jail, sitting with the City Council, the School Board, and the Library, Jim kept his notebook and his pencil handy and wrote the story of this town in great big letters for all to see.

I sometimes laughed because Jim had his own way of making a mountain of meaning out of a molehill of material, but he also had a way of making some slighted people feel they were special.

One would try to imagine Jim doing anything but his newspaper, but couldn't imagine. It's a lonely business, to point at the problems of a small West Texas town, in black and white to be read all over. I loved Jim's challenges, his editorials calling for someone to step forward and do something. . . . about the hospital, or the streets, or the housing shortage, or public office. He was a real friend of this town, and he raised us for 25 years, and I am not sure we are ready to go on along, without him.

In every way, Jim Cornish was a dedicated and professional newspaperman, highly respected by all of his peers in the newspaper profession throughout West Texas. He had definite ideas of what is right and wrong to do in the newspaper business.

Jim's death, so unexpected, was a shock to all who knew him, but the rest of us in the newspaper business can appreciate that he wrote "30" to his life in a way that all of us would like to go: he got the paper out, and then he died.

He will, of course, be greatly missed, and remembered forever.

And the Post Dispatch will continue, hopefully maintaining the high standards he has set.

(Written for The Dispatch by Dalton Wood, publisher of The Lynn County News)

Jim loved the printed word. Not just his own words, but books and magazines of all descriptions. . . . and he wanted everybody to love this language. That's one reason he and Helen worked so hard to establish, and then breathe life into one of the classiest libraries around. Jim was still carrying the "library" ball when we talked to him Wednesday afternoon. "We've got money in the Memorial Fund," he said. "How can we spend it so that people will come use the library?"

Finally, journalists indicate the end of their writings with the numerals "30" at the bottom of the page. Jim had no chance to fill in that "last line" in the true journalistic tradition, but I find that omission extremely proper for his life. For I prefer to think that instead of writing his "finale" on that old typewriter next to his desk, that many of those things for which he worked so hard, those dreams he put in our heads, will survive him, and will keep his words and his spirit alive in the lives of many people who shall never know him.

I think of Jim. . . . we knew it was Monday morning because we saw him walking, slower all the time, through the downtown area, asking about "ads". We'll miss him there.

We'll miss him at the Rotary Club, the Chamber of Commerce, in the stadium, in this church. We will miss him especially because he was "the eyes and mind of this town." He saw problems and needs that the rest of us overlooked. He dreamed dreams for this community that most of us never imagined, until we saw those dreams in black and white, on the pages of the Dispatch.

And some of us said, "Why didn't I think of that?" And the wisest of us said, "Thank God, not so much for a newspaper man, as a man who cared." We do thank God for Jim's life, for the dignity he brought to this town, and the way his family, his work, his church, and his community were so important to him.

These are not our "final respects" for Jim, but our public respects. In the coming days we will all find ways to express more privately how important Jim really was to us, to all of us. And we will miss him.

Cotton Talks Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

LUBBOCK — Five matters of major concern to High Plains cotton producers were pinpointed in an "issue paper" submitted February 18 to Secretary of Agriculture John Block by Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

The paper went to the Secretary for his consideration in advance of his scheduled visit to Lubbock Feb. 25 and 26, during which time he will be discussing agriculture's problems face-to-face with PCG officials, individuals farmers and agribusiness people. It is understood that other commodity groups and general farm organizations have submitted similar papers.

The top function on the Secretary's itinerary in Lubbock is a town-hall meeting at 8 p.m. tonight, Feb. 25, in the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium on the campus of Texas Tech University. Secretary Block is expected to present an overview of the Administration's agricultural policies and respond to questions from the floor.

The cotton issues highlighted by PCG in its communique to the Secretary include the commodity Credit Corporation cotton loan level, loan program discounts applied to High Plains cotton, production financing, raw cotton and textile exports and research and promotion.

In accord with the policy adopted by its 50-man Board of Directors, PCG called on the Secretary to support a minimum cotton loan at 65 percent of parity. "Current and rising production costs," the PCG paper states, "require a higher base loan if the loan is to facilitate production financing and serve as an orderly marketing tool as intended."

Loan discounts on High Plains cotton impose an unfair price penalty on typical High Plains cotton qualities, PCG advised the Secretary. The PCG letter blames this inequity on the treatment of data used to figure quality differentials, contending that equal weighting of price quotations from all markets has resulted in discounts "essentially unrelated to either end-use value or true market demand" for shorter staple, lower micronaire cottons.

Calling attention to a combination of factors that have reduced thousands of High Plains cotton producers to the brink of bankruptcy, PCG urged "that USDA provide adequate FmHA and economic emergency funds for production financing at the lowest possible rate."

On the subject of exports the PCG paper noted that the High Plains traditionally sells approximately two-thirds of its production in export markets and went on to say "It is of utmost importance to us (1) that these markets be maintained and expanded through vigorous development programs, (2) that the revolving export credit fund authorized by the Agriculture and Food Act of 1981 be implemented at the earliest possible date and (3) that all barriers to U. S. exports of both raw cotton and textile products be eliminated."

Staff member to visit Post

A member of Congressman Charles Stenholm's district staff will be in Post on March 5, 1982. He will be at the Community Center from 9 a.m. until 12 noon.

In announcing plans for regular visits by members of his staff, Congressman Stenholm said that this is part of an effort to do a better job in serving the people of the 17th Congressional District.

"With thirty-five counties to represent and help in any way I can, I believe this will be a valuable means of access to my office," Stenholm said.

Anyone with a problem or desiring to have direct communication with the Congressman is urged to take advantage of this opportunity.

NOTICE

CABLE CUSTOMERS

During the first two (2) weeks of March, some degradation or loss in signal for all satellite stations will occur on your local cable service. This phenomenon is called a Sun Outage. The outage will occur between 3:00 and 3:20 PM from March 1 to March 12.

Twice each year, the revolution of the earth around the sun causes the sun to be directly behind the programming satellite (Satcom 3R). This lasts from one (1) to twenty (20) minutes as the earth goes through its rotation. This causes the cable company's earth station to receive not only the energy transmitted from the satellite, but also energy emitted from the sun.

Due to the uncontrollable and temporary nature of these outages, the local cable company would appreciate the patience of local cable subscribers.

This would be a good unit for reserve officers in Crosbyton as the 155.550 frequency is the same as Crosbyton is now using. Parkinson Electronics of Lubbock have appraised this unit at $600. It cost much more than that a few years ago when it was new. Will take $600 or any reasonable offer. Can be seen after 5 p.m. at 512 East Main in Post. For the curious: I bought this unit when I was a deputy medical investigator for the State of New Mexico. A DMI replaced the old coroner system in New Mexico.

17th Annual Garza Co. Livestock Show huge success

By ORABETH WHITE

The 17th Annual Garza County Junior Livestock Show and Fair turned into a record breaking event as the bidding at the premium sale Saturday hit a new high by over $20,000.

The premiums for the 1981 sale were $31,159 and this year the all time high was $54,550 on the 21 steers, 32 lambs and 32 hogs that went thru the sale ring. Auctioneer Bobby Fletcher from Wolfforth kept the action moving and the bids high.

The sale had been delayed for one hour for the memorial service for Jim Cornish, publisher of the Post Dispatch, who was a strong supporter and friend of the Garza County Junior Livestock Assn. The Directors of the Association purchased an animal in memory of Mr. Cornish at the sale.

A large number of buyers from over the area were present or had representatives to bid on the animals.

Floor prices set just prior to the sale were steers, 62¢ a pound by Floydada Livestock and they would haul them; lambs, 54¢ a pound by Monford of Colorado at San Angelo and hogs, 47½¢ a pound by Plains Swine Market of Lubbock and Clovis.

Winners of the showmanship awards in each of the five shows were presented trophies. They were rabbits, Joel Kirkpatrick; swine, Keitha Beth White; horses, Jana Terry; lambs, Kayla Peel and steers, Mike Johnson. Kraig Peel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Gene Peel and a senior at Post High School, was named winner of the coveted overall sportsmanship trophy. Kraig was noted for his friendly grin and always being ready to help or do what was needed throughout the show. His sportsmanship exhibited through the four days was reported outstanding.

The showmanship and overall sportsmanship trophies were sponsored by Lubbock Livestock Auction, Jim Prather and Richard Hart, owners.

Jana Middleton showed the grand champion steer with Keitha Beth White's steer being named reserve champion over the 31 steers entered, also a record number of steers. They both were exhibited in the heavy-weight class.

Cynthia Poole received the rate of gain trophy and a check from Arnold Sanderson for $100 and check for $100 from the GCJLA. Her steer had gained 263 lbs. since Nov. 1, 1981, for an average daily gain of 2.39 lbs. per day.

Judge of the steer show was Dr. Jim Jenkins, of the Animal Science Department at South Plains College in Levelland. Neal Clary was show superintendent.

Brad Byrd's heavyweight medium wool lamb was awarded the grand champion trophy with Tim Terrell's heavyweight medium wool receiving the reserve champion lamb trophy.

Lamb show judge was Kyle Smith, Gaines County Extension Agent from Seminole. Show superintendent Bobby Terry was assisted by Jerry and Judy Bush.

Grand champion hog belonged to Derick Dunn and reserve champion was shown by Marlana Adamek. Dunn's animal was a heavy weight cross and Adamek exhibited a heavyweight Hampshire.

The hog show began at 7:30 p.m. and was not over until almost midnight with 100 hogs exhibited. Judge for the event was Scott Doss, Frenship FFA Instructor, from Wolfforth.

Jana Terry exhibited the grand champion mare of the horse show with Jana Middleton showing the grand champion gelding. The reserve champion mare was shown by Lex Dunn and the reserve champion gelding was owned by Jana Middleton and shown by Jana Terry. Bill Hedrick, local horse club adult leader, was the horse show superintendent. She was assisted in the ring by John Bill Hedrick and Noel White. The judge was from Texas Tech, Warren Young, a member of the national winning horse judging team from Tech last year and a member this year of the Tech Livestock Judging Team.

The rabbit show, only the second year for this event, had 10 pens of meat animals entered. Each pen consists of three animals. During the show, there were 30 rabbits and 30 exhibitors showing at the tables in the show ring.

The grand champion pen of rabbits was entered by Joel Kirkpatrick and shown by Joel, Russel Graves and Sam Binford. The reserve champion pen was exhibited by Abel Reyna who was assisted by Connor Howell.

Due to the snowstorm which was in progress, the judge from Lubbock was unable to make the show. The rabbit judging was done by Keith Rowan, Southland FFA Instructor. Tommy Young was the show superintendent.

The awards at each of the shows were presented by the Southland FFA Sweetheart, Olga Hirschete, Garza County 4-H Sweetheart Kayla Peel, Post FFA Sweetheart, D'Linda Tyler, Post FFA Greenhand Sweetheart, Mendy Tatum and a 4-H member, Trevah Bush.

Jerry Thuet, one of the directors of the GCJLA, served as announcer for each of the events. Orabeth White, association secretary, was assisted during each show by Judy Bush.

The cake auction at each of the events totaled $1127 for the building fund. The cakes were made by Extension Homemakers Members and others.

The GCJLA officers for 1982 are President, Noel White; Vice-president, Jimmie Bartlett; Recording Secretary, Mack Terry; and Corresponding secretary, Orabeth White.

United Convalescent News

We are so excited about our plans for this summer. We are planning to plant a garden and flower bed. Also, plans are in the making for a fence at the back of the home so we can have a place to sit outside. In order to do this we are going to have a Yard Sale. The date to be announced at a later time. Everyone is busy making things to sell.

While we had the pretty weather we went for walks. Oscar Babb, Thomas Warren, Clovis Hudman, Bonnie McMahon, Henrietta Nichols, Eunice Porter along with Nell Mathews and Darlene Rylant surely enjoyed the nice sunshine.

Our hearts were saddened over the loss of Golden Johnson and Dessie Duren. We will surely miss them.

Our Bingo winners these last weeks were Henrietta Nichols and Gladys Wood. We have movies every week. They are presented compliments of the library. This week we saw "Who Do

You Tell", "Sun and Silver Mexico", "Blaze Glory", and "Wings and Things."

Kenneth Cook came and played the piano and sang for us. Our own Myrtle Andrews also sang for us. We all enjoy music. The Senior Citizens will be with us every first Tuesday. This Thursday night, March 4, Noel White and Jane Mason will be here to play and sing for us.

A special thanks goes to all our volunteers. They surely make our days brighter.

Luncheon honors 3 School employees

Dan Rankin, elementary principal, honored employees Mrs. Geneva Espitia, Ruben Espitia and Mrs. Mary Espitia with a luncheon Friday, Feb. 19.

One of the reasons that three employees were honored was because the State Health Department inspection in December indicated that "proper environmental health practices were generally being followed." Good health practices are very important to a school system.

COTTON TODAY
A NATIONAL COTTON COUNCIL SERVICE

National Cotton Council economists look for world cotton supply and demand to shift into a better balance in the coming season, and restore some degree of prosperity to the industry.

Reporting at the annual meeting, Council economists identified the global supply bulge as cotton farmers' biggest problem and the worsening textile trade deficit as one of the chief culprits behind cotton mill difficulties.

World cotton production is expected to take a 5.2 million bale leap this season, soaring to a record 70.8 million bales due to increased yields and acreage. The average world yield jumped 5 percent over last year.

World cotton use is expected to reach a new high of 66.5 million bales this season. While this is 1.5 million above a year ago, the economist said it could have been significantly higher except for depressed economic conditions.

These factors directly influenced U. S. cotton's market as the large global supply weighed heavily on depressed economies and pushed prices down to the loan level, the economist said.

Cotton exports for the season are expected to total 7 million bales, but U. S. mill consumption at 5.6 million bales for the 1981 calendar year is below projections.

Council economists said the economy alone is not to blame for weak domestic consumption, noting that the cotton textile trade deficit plunged to 1.3 million bale equivalents. This was more than twice the 1980 deficit, and resulted from both a rise in imports and a drop in textile exports.

Adding net cotton textile imports to U. S. mill consumption reveals that consumer use of cotton was actually about 100,000 bales higher in 1981 than in either of the previous two years.

For the 1982-83 season, the economists believe world cotton production will be near 65.5 million bales or about 7 percent below this year. Lower acreage is anticipated in view of current prices, and yields are not expected to equal this season's record levels.

World cotton consumption is expected to post another gain of 1 million to 1.5 million bales or perhaps more if the global economy improves significantly.

Most of the increase will occur in the net importing countries and, since the U. S. is again expected to have sufficient supplies, exports of 8 million bales or more are generally expected for 1982-83.

Domestic demand for cotton could be stimulated by lower interest rates which would remove some of the disincentive for inventory ownership and lead to some rebuilding of stocks. While stocks have been reduced to bare-bones levels all the way from mills' raw fiber warehouses to retailers' shelves, the practice of hand-to-mouth purchasing will probably continue until buyers are convinced that the upside price risk exceeds the carrying cost.

The economists see prospects for a U. S. offtake of 14 million bales which would reduce domestic stocks to 4 million by August, 1983.

New tax law changes to relieve family workers

DALLAS — Beginning in 1982, new provisions in the federal tax law will bring some tax relief to many two-earner families. Working couples generally pay higher taxes on their joint income than they would pay if they were single. This is called the "marriage tax penalty."

Under the new law, working couples filing jointly may be able to deduct up to $1,500 in 1982 and $3,000 in 1983. They will not have to itemize deductions on Schedule A of Form 1040 to claim this deduction.

The new tax law will allow working couples filing a joint return to deduct from gross income either five percent of the earned income of the spouse with the lower qualified earned income, or $1,500, whichever is less, in 1982. In 1983 and thereafter, the deduction increases to 10 percent, but cannot exceed $3,000.

Also increased in 1982 is the Child and Dependent Care Credit. A taxpayer with an income of $10,000 or less and one qualifying child or dependent will get a maximum credit of $720, while those who make more than $28,000 get a $480 maximum credit. For two or more qualifying individuals, the maximum credit will range from $1,440 to $960. Under prior law the maximum credit was $400 for one qualifying dependent and $800 for two or more.

Also for the first time in 1982 the new legislation will allow workers who are already covered by an employers' qualified pension to make deductible contributions to an Individual Retirement Arrangement (IRA) or to the company plan itself provide that the plan provides for voluntary employee contributions and the employer agrees to treat such contributions as deductible. The maximum amount workers will be able to contribute is 100 percent of their earned income, up to a maximum of $2,000.

The old requirement limited the amount deductible to 15 percent of earned income up to a maximum of $1,500 and restricted its application to those individuals who were not active participants in employer retirement plans.

Another change increases the tax-free amount allowed for an IRA and spousal IRA from $1,750 to $2,250. A spousal IRA allows married taxpayers to set up an IRA for themselves and a separate one for their non-working spouses.

Taxpayers filing 1981 returns due by April 15, 1982 will not be affected by the new changes.

Information on the new tax changes may be found in IRS Publication 553, "Highlights of 1981 Tax Changes." It is available free by using the handy order form that comes with the tax package.

Rev. Friberg is a missionary to Africa and is on furlough holding deputation services across the United States and in Canada.

he now serves as the Editorial Coordinator.

Rev. Friberg's presentation will be an exciting and interesting one in light of his experience in a Mozambique prison and his work in Africa.

After the morning worship service the congregation will be enjoying the fellowship of Rev. Friberg, members and friends of the church at a pot luck dinner.

Mission Day will conclude with the evening service and the Annual Missionary Meeting highlighting the events and accomplishments of the past year and elections of next year's council will be held.

The denominational church of the Nazarene has always been mission-minded since the day of its organization and March 7 will reaffirm this local church's support for World Missions. Everyone is invited to attend and to join in on the pot luck dinner.

Congressman Stenholm Report

— from Washington

WASHINGTON, D.C. —

There is little question that economic matters are among the most important issues to be faced by the Second Session of the 97th Congress, but there are a number of other vital issues for us to address this year, issues that sometimes get overshadowed by budget and tax bills.

There is no question that the budgetary issues will receive top priority, as well they should, and will take up a great deal of our legislative time in Congress this Session.

Congress must adopt a their fiscal year 1982 budget resolution updating the second resolution adopted in December. In addition, the House and Senate will have to adopt a fiscal year 1983 budget. The President was to have presented Congress with his 1983 budget plans this past week, with additional federal spending cuts of some $30 billion expected.

Buy sometime during the first months of 1982, Congress may well be asked to decontrol all natural gas immediately, rather than waiting until 1985 when about half of the nation's natural gas will be decontrolled. A tough fight is expected in the House on this issue.

Just one of several environmentally sensitive issues that are sure to create extended debate is the revamping of the Clean Air Act, as well as a proposal to ban oil and gas exploration from wilderness areas.

Unless Congress acts, money to continue Clean Air programs is to expire on March 31, with Clean Water programs (other than the already approved sewer grant program) slated to end September 30. It is likely that each of these two environmental acts will be renewed in one form or another by the Congress.

We will also likely see action on legislation relating to jobs, with the President wanting to establish "enterprise zones" to create jobs in inner cities and Democrats pushing for job training legislation that would replace the Comprehensive Education and Training Administration (CETA) that is being phased out.

Action is also expected to focus on the continuing effort to reduce regulations, specifically those relating to inter-city bus transportation, the maritime industry, savings institutions and the telecommunications industry.

And of course, there are the "New Federalism" moves that I discussed in a previous column. The move to transfer many federal programs to state hands must be examined closely and thoroughly, making sure that we place no unmanageable burden on the state or local governments.

Other issues facing congressional action include tightening the Freedom of Information Act, making it a crime to reveal the names of intelligence agents, foreign aid to Central American countries and a curtailment of the Federal Election Commission, just to name a few.

It is obvious that we have a full legislative agenda before us. Judging from the past record, I have to wonder whether or not Congress will be able to meet all of those obligations (I can't forget that we failed to even pass a budget at our last Session). Each of the issues mentioned is important to our country and, even with the many problems caused by a weakened economy weighing down upon us, must be given close and thoughtful consideration by the House and Senate.

Library Corner

"The book is available in your Public Library." That sounds like a simple statement, but only a determined drive by hundreds of people brought the Post Public Library to life. The death of Jim Cornish, chairman of the Library Board, may be a fitting time to briefly review the history of our library.

Prior to 1966, the city-county kept its 1600 books on the shelves of the high school library. In March, 1966, the school board decided that those "city" books needed a different home.

Mayor Harold Lucas and Dr. Harry Tubbs attended a Governor's Conference on Libraries in Austin. On his return, Mayor Lucas convened a group of citizens, including Jim and Helen Cornish, to a meeting. A group called Friends of Texas Libraries, Garza County Chapter, grew out of that meeting, with Tom Gamblin, chairman. The city council agreed to remodel space in the city hall for a new library. The council also named a library board, with Jim Cornish, president, Patty Kirkpatrick, Ruth Young, David Newby, and Mrs. Tom Gamblin, the other members.

Prior to the grand opening, June 23, 1966, dozens of volunteers catalogued books, built shelves, donated money, and books for the new library. Dr. A. C. Surman was among the first to apply for one of the brand new library cards, and Mrs. C. K. Pierce was one of the volunteers on hand for the opening.

The next years demanded the involvement of hundreds of citizens, with Rosemary Chapman and George Miller serving as the first "head librarians." Five and one-half years later, the board employed Mrs. C. K. "Pee Wee" Pierce as the first salaried librarian.

And now, "you know (a small part of) the rest of the story." "yes, the book is available at your Public Library," but only because people like Jim and Helen Cornish worked to establish the library, and have kept devoting time and energy to its health and growth.

Green Thumb Workers observe Older Worker Week

To recognize the importance of meaningful employment for senior Americans, the U. S. Department of Labor has announced March 14-21 as "Older Worker Week". Texas Farmers Union Green Thumb, a rural senior employment program, is encouraging both public and private employers to join them in honoring older employees during this week. Older Worker Week is an annual event designed to spotlight the valuable qualities of the mature worker. Green Thumb employs about 1,000 senior Texans in 107 counties. Sponsored by Texas Farmers Union, the program provides part-time work opportunities for people over 55 who are "loaned" to non-profit organizations to provide needed services in rural communities.

Director Diane Parrish says "Older workers value job security while younger workers tend to change jobs frequently. The fact that older Americans lived through the Great Depression while younger workers grew up in an affluent age perhaps affects the way each sees the need for security. Consequently, there seems to be less job dissatisfaction among older workers."

The increasing number of retirees returning to the workforce and employers' favorable receptiveness to their return is evidence of a changing trend in American society. Only a few years ago, 65 was considered to be the traditional retirement age. Mandatory retirement policies were accepted without question and complied with automatically by almost everyone. But today, 79 percent of workers age 55-64 and 73 percent of those over 65 say that they prefer as least part-time employment to total retirement according to a National Council on Aging survey.

Sen. Richard Lugar (Ind.) says "For most Americans, work means everything. It's a definition of our lives, the way in which we serve others. To be cut off arbitrarily by law or regulation is devastating." Surveys have shown that maximum intellectual function is achieved between the ages of 40 and 65. Older employees can evaluate tasks and project outcomes more accurately than can young workers.

The wisdom gathered through experience would appear to account for this. Recognizing this fact, many employers are taking a second look at the mature worker when openings are available in their companies.

"Hiring the experienced is good business," says

Green Thumb Director Parrish. "Green Thumb helps locate jobs for older workers in the private job market," she says, "and when looking for openings, we find that the ticking off of birthdays is the least important measure of a person's true value to an employer."

She made that tiny little part stand out and took her bows to thunderous applause.

Bravos for Aunt Ethel.

I was born in a tough little town where the people worked hard for a living. My family loved to sing and dance and a trip to the theater was a real treat. But the idea of having an actor in the family was something that wouldn't go down easy.

"Listen, Pop, it's what I want to do. I know I can be good at it and I'm not really interested in working in the mill." I was trying to explain to my father why I felt I had to leave home and get some money for acting school in New York.

I'd been bitten by the acting bug in high school and was determined that acting was going to be my career. My father shook his head and explained in a pained voice, "Now look, son, if you wanted to be a doctor or maybe a lawyer, I could see digging up every cent I could lay my hands on to help you through school and all, but an actor?"

He put his hand on my shoulder and continued, "It's not a job for a grown man. Playing make believe all your life. I wish you'd think about it some more."

Aunt Ethel seemed to be the only one in the family with any interest in the theater at all. She'd been the star of all the high school plays and was big in the local playhouse that had existed before it closed for lack of interest.

She came to see me in every play at school and was very encouraging.

"Tell you what, James," she said, "I've been on the Payroll Savings Plan at work since I was a young girl and I've got lots of Savings Bonds put aside. Now I'll make you a loan to go to New York and get some training. I know you've got more talent than almost anyone I've ever seen."

I could hardly believe such a generous offer. "Well, the people around here don't agree with that. Besides, I couldn't take all your savings on that kind of gamble."

She shook her head and said, "You won't fail. And when you get where you're going, you'll pay me back in full." Then she smiled. "Maybe you can give me a front row seat to one of your big hits... as a bonus."

After a lot of arguing I finally agreed and spent some hard years in New York before I got lucky.

And I really did get lucky. Being in the right play, in the right part, at the right time, and all of a sudden I was on my way. All the hard work began to pay off. And I paid off Aunt Ethel.

But that was just money. I wanted to give her that bonus, so I had her flown into New York for a small part in my new play.

Last night we opened to rave reviews. Aunt Ethel still has the magic. She made that tiny little part stand out and took her bows to thunderous applause.

"If you had never returned a cent, but just gave me this night, it would have been payment enough," she sobbed as we sat backstage after the final curtain.

Knowing Aunt Ethel, she probably meant it.

When you join the Payroll Savings Plan and buy U.S. Savings Bonds, you play a part in helping your country. You also help yourself.

National Cotton Council raises strong objection

MEMPHIS — The National Cotton Council has raised a strong objection to the National Weather Service's proposed elimination of its agricultural weather program in fiscal 1983.

The proposal is included in the agency's budget recommendations now being considered by a House Science and Technology subcommittee chaired by Rep. James H. Scheuer (D-N.Y.).

Council President Edward Breihan of Lubbock, Texas, in a letter to the subcommittee chairman this week, described the program as "highly valuable" to farmers as well as consumers.

"It saves farmers hundreds of millions of dollars each year," Breihan stated, "and also means untold additional savings to consumers in terms of increased production and lower prices."

Breihan cited a 1978 study which showed that the availability of timely weather information meant a potential 16 percent savings in cotton-growing costs in Mississippi. In 1981, he noted, this amounted to nearly $57 million in savings for only one crop in one state.

The Council president pointed out that weather has to be taken into consideration in every farming operation, and that unexpected rain can make it necessary for farmers to repeat land preparation or insecticide applications.

"With today's high fuel and chemical prices, each such operation may cost as much as $10 or more per acre," he added.

Breihan said the proposal to end the program comes at a time when farmers are especially financially vulnerable to weather problems. Most have had two successive years of financial losses due to the drought in 1980 and to unusually low prices this season, he added.

"We strongly urge that you and your committee find a way to continue this highly valuable program in fiscal 1983," the Council president wrote.

Home construction called a "disgrace"

COLLEGE STATION — Many new homes in Texas are constructed so poorly that they constitute a disgrace, says a state specialist in training city building code inspectors.

Although nearly three-fourths of all Texas towns and cities have building codes, there are not enough inspectors to approve new construction, said George Stock of the Texas Engineering Extension Service (TEEX), which conducts year-round classes for inspectors.

The poor quality of some new homes stems from a heavy influx of new people into the Sunbelt

The average SPS customer spends the same percentage of his budget for electricity as he did in 1976. SPS keeps electric service costs lower by engineering and designing its own power plants, cooling towers and certain pollution-control devices. SPS is continuing its research into alternative energy sources to guarantee that our customers will have a reliable supply of electric power.

Jim Martin, district manager, Clovis.

SPS employees pay the same rate for electric service as do the Company's other customers. Although some utility companies in other areas offer special employee rates, SPS employees do not receive a discount on their electric service.

Jim Steinhilper, senior rate analyst, Amarillo.

SPS must build new power plants to take advantage of coal, a more reliable, less expensive fuel. Gas-fired plants cannot be economically converted to other fuel sources, so SPS must construct coal-fired plants to meet the energy needs of its customers. Coal-fired plants are more expensive to construct than gas-fired, but the SPS engineering and design staffs are able to build coal-fired plants at about one-half the national average.

Berry Smith, reports control supervisor, Amarillo.

Knowing what electricity is worth is worth knowing. For answers to your questions, call or write your SPS manager.
