Post mailmen are 'hoofing' it again

The local mail carriers began their "Good Friday" April 9, by 'hoofing' it around their routes again.

After being notified Thursday, jeeps were taken away Friday, thus the reason for walking the beat again.

Nine relay boxes have been planned around town and one jeep is being used to deliver mail to these relay boxes for the postmen and the jeep also carries parcel post.

Local delivery to homes may be later in the day for a while until the postmen can conform to the new system.

Reason for no more jeeps?

To conserve gasoline and energy.

P.I.S.D. trustees sworn in

The new Post Independent School District board met Thursday night to re-constitute itself, following the April 3 election.

Pru Basquez, Royce Hart, Jack Kirkpatrick, Edwin Lewis, Jack Lott, Charles McCook, and Don Payne attended the meeting.

After canvassing the returns, Edwin Lewis swore in Dr. Charles McCook, Don Payne, and Jack Lott as new board members. Dr. McCook and Jack Lott were incumbents and Don Payne was the only new board member.

The board then elected Jack Lott president of the board for the second year, the vote carried by acclamation.

Dr. Charles McCook and Royce Hart were unanimously elected vice-president and board secretary, respectively.

The board heard an architect's report on cafeteria conditions, faucets at the Primary and Elementary buildings, and improving lockers at the Junior High school. The board voted to instruct the architect to seek bids for this work.

Following a somewhat light agenda, the board adjourned.

Tammy Holly fund raiser

Tammy Holly will lead Bellingranger workers in a fundraising drive during May, Mental Health Month. Mrs. Holly will be calling on others in the community to assist with the organization and working of the drive. All citizens are called upon to aid in this drive to benefit the fight against mental illness and for the improved care for the mentally ill.

"Proceeds will benefit the Mental Health Association in Texas said Virginia Barlow, state President of the voluntary citizens' association.

As a non-governmental agency, the association can and does speak for the consumer — the person who needs professional help for an emotional disturbance. Mental illness is America's most costly health problem — in excess of 40 billion dollars annually. More than two million Texans are affected by mental health illness!

The association offers literature to the public on a variety of topics including depression, stress, and positive mental health concepts. For free information, contact the Mental Health Association in Texas, 4600 Burnet Road, Austin, Texas 78756.

Sheriff's office has calm week

The Garza County Sheriff's office reported a fairly calm week with the report of an arrest of Dempsey Zachary of Post on a Baylor County warrant for assault. Officers from Baylor County returned him to Seymour.

A. D. Taylor of Post was picked up by officers and placed in jail on a motion for bond revocation signed by District Judge George Hansard. Taylor's original charge was delivery of a controlled substance, to wit, marijuana.

Garza County and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, can be a source of quite a bit of good old summer fun if it is taken care of, and the community should make the care of this equipment a community project. (Staff Photo)

'Carmen' gets generous gifts

Several weeks ago, the Garza County Child Welfare Board issued an appeal for funds to buy new clothes for the only child from Garza County in foster care. "Carmen," who has been in foster care for about ten years, recently went to St. Louis to live with the family that adopted her.

Before she left for her new home, Shirley Hays of the Department of Human Resources in Post, was able to take Carmen on that shopping trip with over $250 which was generously donated by the citizens of Post.

Thanks to the generosity of many citizens, Carmen was able to leave Texas with warm feelings about the people from her home town.

Xi Delta Rho held its meeting Monday night, April 12, in the home of Bernice Eubanks to finalize the plans for the Little Mr. and Miss Post Contest to be held Saturday, April 17.

Pictures with memento folders will be available for $3 each to those participating in the contest.

Mrs. Price used the puppets to tell an interesting view of a fall tour to New England that she and Bernice Eubank enjoyed in the fall.

Local jail passes state inspection

While meeting in regular session Monday, the county commissioners discussed the jail inspection and storage and approval was given to Sheriff Jim Pippin to purchase the self-contained breathing apparatus required by the Texas Commission on Jail Standards to be installed by August 31, 1982. The apparatus is to be used in case of fire. The Jail Commission was in Post last week to inspect the local facility and found that the jail was up to standards.

In other action, the court approved a bond for Laura Lee Mason who is a deputy tax assessor and collector in the amount of $3,500.

The commissioners' received a statement of intent to increase rates from Southwestern Public Service Company and a copy has been filed.

Ruth Reno, Tax Assessor and Collector, recommended Goodpasture Computer Service, Inc., to print and bind the delinquent tax rolls. No action was taken on the matter.

Library Corner

Imagine Winston Churchill, in Paris, May, 1940. German panzers threaten to overrun the doomed city. "Can you?" he asks. Layd Nancy Hilary Alexandra Brookford, the one the Germans called "The English Lady" said she could kill Hitler, but only at the cost of her own life. Some of this book could be true, and the historical parallels are eerie. Maybe some of this story did happen. Read "The English Lady", by William Harrington.

"Wild Seed," by Paige Mitchell, tells the story of Ben and Anna Calder as they emigrate from Prussia in 1848, to settle near present-day Houston. Dr. Tate Calder becomes a famous heart surgeon, generations later. Paige Mitchell includes secret solar satellites, family refineries, longhorns, and intrigue, in her book. Read about Dr. Calder's wife, Joanna, who struggles with her husband who "knows everything about the human heart and nothing about love."

Combine the world of horse racing, computer programming, violence, broken lives, greed and vengeance, and you have Dick Francis' story, "Twice Shy," told by a former steeplechase jockey who still lives the track, horses, and telling the story.

Tony Tillerman knows the Navajo culture intimately, and employs those insights to unravel a mystery within a mystery. Jim Chee takes on a new police assignment in the troubled Navajo-Hopi borderlands. But how do you treat a kid who keeps damaging the same windmill, or explain the low-flying plane that falls illogically to the ground, without a cargo? What about the body that defies identification? When the dark wind takes control, Hope sorcery and Navajo witchcraft are forces to be dealt with. Look for "The Dark Wind." It's new, on the shelf at the Post Public Library.

Peter Davis chronicles the story of Hamilton, Ohio, whose history began with a hanging. In 1913 a flood nearly destroyed the town, then Prohibition corrupted it, the Depression devastated it, and industry abandoned it. Peter Davis describes a town confronting itself. The name is "Hometown," and you may like Post even more after you have looked closely to another American city.

Three boyhood friends share a dark secret one stormy night in 1950, then they take that memory with them as they begin their successful careers. They also share the risk that their secret may one day destroy them. Thomas Thompson sets his story in Texas, like many good stories, and he calls his novel, "Celebrity."

SUNDAY VISITORS

Visiting with Mrs. Ethel Edwards during Easter were Mr. and Mrs. Leland Edwards and Patti of Midland; Suzy Dutton of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Harper of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith of Big Springs; Mrs. Sherita Hair and children of Brownfield; Mr. and Mrs. Wade Peppers, Mr. and Mrs. Randy Melton, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rogers and Tandi, and Mrs. Margie Harper all of Post.

Accent On Health

Public health prenatal clinics and programs combined with the regionalization of perinatal health centers contributed greatly to the decrease in infant mortality rates in Texas during recent years.

That's the opinion of Dr. Clift Price, Associate Commissioner for Personal Health Services with the Texas Department of Health (TDH).

Dr. Price said prenatal refers to before birth, and TDH supported prenatal clinics in the regions and local health departments throughout the state to see approximately 40,000 to 50,000 women annually. This is about 20 percent of the women who deliver babies in Texas each year. The clinics teach women measures of self care during pregnancy and detect problems early so that high-risk patients may be referred to physicians.

Dr. Price said the TDH initiated the Improved Pregnancy Outcome Program in 1979 to improve the health status of women and children. An educational outreach program was contracted with colleges and hospitals and a pilot project was begun in the Lubbock area.

In the project, a perinatal nurse and a social worker trained public health nurses in regional clinics to pick out high-risk mothers who might have problems at birth, and to counsel them and refer them to private physicians. "The best way to avoid difficulties during pregnancy is to get the women who might have trouble to see a physician before the baby is born," said Dr. Price.

When the IPO pilot project began, the infant mortality rate in the Lubbock area was 15.3 per 1,000 live births. In 1979, it was 13.1 per 1,000 live births and in 1980, 12.4.

Because of this success, the IPO Program was expanded to other pockets of high infant mortality. There are no solid statistics from these areas yet, but public health physicians say early results look promising. Dr. Price said he would like to see the IPO Program expanded to eventually serve the entire state.

Dr. Price said he believes the regionalization of perinatal health centers in the private and public sector has also contributed to the decrease in the infant mortality rate in Texas. Perinatal refers to the time before, during and after the birth of the infant. Perinatal centers are strategically located now to cope with the ill mother before and after delivery as well as with low birth weight babies through the use of sophisticated equipment and trained personnel.

The statewide infant mortality rate in 1980 reached a new low of 12.1 deaths per 1,000 live births. In 1979 for the first time in Texas history, the infant mortality rate was lower than that of the United States with 12.9 deaths per 1,000 live births compared to 13.0 for the nation.

Japan Will Count Cotton Customers

The Japan Cotton Spinners Association plans to publish an annual statistical report similar to the National Cotton Council's "Cotton Counts Its Customers."

To be published in the fall of 1983, the first edition will include textile end-use data for 1982. Besides its obvious value to the Japanese textile industry in increasing cotton textile consumption in Japan, the report will be a useful guide to Cotton Council International's foreign market development efforts on behalf of U.S. cotton.

Exports Reported

U. S. cotton export shipments for the week ended April 1 totaled 144,900 running bales. This brought total shipments for the season to 4,241,000 bales. New 1981-82 sales of 37,000 bales were reported for the week and sales for 1982-83 were 16,800. Major buyers were Japan, 36,200 bales and South Korea, 9,900.

Cotton Story Told to Millions

Maid of Cotton Jann Carl is receiving extensive consumer-oriented publicity coverage during her overseas tour to promote U.S. cotton exports.

Media coverage in Japan included a 30-minute appearance on a radio talk show and 30 minutes on a TV talk show with an estimated audience of four million in 29 cities throughout the nation.

Korean publicity included ten appearances on network radio and television news and featured programs with cumulative audiences of more than 32 million and stories in all major newspapers and leading magazines.

The Maid starred in two all-cotton fashion shows attended by more than 7,500 consumers and officials. The tour, sponsored by Cotton Council International, is continuing with stops scheduled in Hong Kong, Singapore, Thailand, Greece, and England.

The dessert the average American orders most while eating out is apple pie according to some surveys of restaurant owners.

FFA Judging Contest to be April 17 at Texas Tech

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech University will host some 1,700 high school students for the 54th Annual Future Farmers of America Judging Contest April 17.

Six of the 11 contests serve as qualifiers for state and national competition. Those events are livestock, dairy cattle, milk quality and dairy foods, poultry, meats judging and agricultural mechanics.

Teams finishing in the top 10 percent in these contests will represent FFA Texas Areas I and II in the state competition April 24 at College Station. Students winning at the state level will advance to the National FFA Judging Contest scheduled Oct. 5 in Kansas City, Kan.

The five competitions held strictly on the regional level, due to their economic importance on the South Plains, are cotton, wool, land, crops and grass judging.

Registration for the judging contest will begin at 5:30 p.m. April 16, at the Livestock Arena located at Indiana and the Brownfield Highway. The Student Council of the College of Agricultural Sciences will sponsor a free hamburger dinner for all contestants and their teachers beginning at 6 p.m.

The 17 agricultural clubs in the college will have information booths at the Livestock Arena during the dinner to allow contestants to meet with Texas Tech students and faculty. A meeting for vocational agriculture teachers is planned for 8:30 a.m. in the University Center Ballroom. Contest results will be announced at 1:30 p.m. in the University Center Ballroom. A luncheon, prior to announcement of results, will be held in the University Center Cafeteria. Reservations for the noon luncheon and the contest must be made by Wednesday, April 14.

VINEGAR — MANY USES

Have you used vinegar for household cleaning? If you answer yes or no, you may still be interested in the following hints. Listed are household uses for distilled white vinegar I found in some recent reading.

To perk up your coffee pot so you get fast, freshly brewed coffee without any bitter tasting overtones, simply fill the reservoir with vinegar and run through a brew cycle. (Check owner's manual for specific cleaning direction.) Rinse thoroughly with water.

To clean chrome, stainless steel and many enamel kitchen appliances, sponge clean with full-strength vinegar. Wipe with dampened cloth and buff to a lustrous shine.

To clean water deposits on faucets, wrap with a cloth, soak with vinegar and let stand for 3 or 4 hours. Scrub with nylon net and polish.

Straight from the bottle, moisten cloth with vinegar and wipe filmy dirt and greasy grime from the tops and sides of your stove and refrigerator. Use inside refrigerator too.

To keep fresh cut flowers blooming longer, add 2 tablespoons of vinegar plus 3 tablespoons of sugar to each quart of warm water. Keep stems in 3 to 4 inches of water.

To clean, sanitize and deodorize toilet bowls, pour vinegar into toilet, let stand 5 minutes, flush. For tough stains, spray vinegar on stain, brush and flush.

Soak shower curtains in vinegar or run through wash cycle using cool water — add ¼ cup vinegar to rinse cycle, and dry on clothesline.

Mop tile or linoleum with a solution of ½ cup vinegar and 1 gallon water.

Vinegar in the rinse cycle cuts through soapy residue and leaves laundry clean and fresh smelling. (Especially good for perspiration stains and baby's diapers.)

To help nylon hose last longer, add one tablespoon vinegar to rinse water.

Venetian blinds require frequent cleaning to remove dusty film. For hard-to-clean blinds slats, clean with terry cloth or sponge and full-strength vinegar.

You never can tell where or when your pet will "do its thing" on the rug, floor or furniture. To undo whatever your pet has done, pour undiluted vinegar on the stain. Let stand for a few moments to dissolve stain. Wipe clean with virorous brush strokes. Repeat if necessary. Vinegar not only removes the stain and deodorizes the pet's lingering stain odor, it will also keep your pet from returning to the scene of the "crime". Spot test first

Mr. and Mrs. Boone Evans Celebrate 65th Anniversary

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Boone Evans honored their parents on their 65th anniversary, Sunday, April 11, with a reception at the First United Methodist church.

The couple came to Garza County in 1915 with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Spence and Mr. and Mrs. Bloomer Evans. They married at Close City April

5, 1917 and have resided in this county most of their married life. To this union was born four children, Jack Evans of Amarillo, Marion Wheatley of Post, Nedra Foster of Houston, and Joyce Tyer of Hale Center. The Evans' have eight grandchildren, five great-grandchildren and a great-great grandchild. Over two hundred friends and relatives of the Evans family came to celebrate this joyous occasion with them.

The hall was decorated with bouquets of spring flowers, many of them gifts from friends.

Table appointments included brass and crystal serving pieces; decorations included the flowers, brass candelabra with candles in the same hues as the flowers.

Members of the houseparty included Mrs. Doris Dunn, Delores Dunn, Sue Shytles, Zoe Kirkpatrick, Jerri Lott, Polly Cravy, Barbara Ethridge and Pat Webb. Mrs. Doll Haire, Margaret Bull and Mattie Collier registered guests. Serving the brides and grooms tables were Mrs. Pam Humble, Marsha Hart, and Miss Dianna Collier.

Assisting with the serving were seven granddaughters of the honored couple, Sylvia Webb, Jacqueline Clark, Cathy Clark, Rebecca Foster, Lisa Foster, Terry Tyer and Tanya Tyer.

MAKING YOUR WORLD EASIER

Trash Compactor

Messy household trash has always been a problem. Smelly garbage bags in the kitchen—messy cans in the garage—flies—and neighborhood dogs holding a curbside buffet on garbage day. Fortunately there's an appliance that can put an end to this.

Whirlpool Corporation invented the Trash Masher compactor to help homemakers eliminate the nasty rituals of trash day. Rather than carrying and storing several large, clumsy bags, the trash compactor simply mashes trash problems down to approximately one-quarter of its original size. It compacts a whole week's worth of normal household trash for an average family of four into a small, portable bag. When your hands are full, just press the touch-toe bar with your foot and the drawer slides open slowly, and you simply drop in those bottles, cans and cartons.

Just 15 inches wide, the Trash Masher compactor comes in both built-in and free-standing designs. At a rate of one compacted bag a week, the total energy cost, based on national cost per KWH, is under 25¢ a year.

Schronk - Harper Vows read Apr. 3

Kenneth Dwayne Schronk, Jr., would like to announce the marriage of his mother Freda Louise to Michael Dean Harper.

The couple were united in marriage on Saturday, April 3, at 5:30 p.m. at the Calvary Baptist Church with Brother Morgan Ashworth officiating.

The bride wore an ivory street length dress and carried a nosegay of peach carnations and baby's breath. She carried out the tradition of something old, a necklace presented to her by the groom, something new, her dress, something borrowed a penny with the groom's birth year, something blue, her garter.

Matron of honor was Trisha Cockrell of Post, wearing a peach street length dress and carrying one single peach carnation. Best man was Jerry Stegall of Post and music was provided by Kay Hays.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church. The wedding cake and punch were served from a table decorated with the bride's chosen colors of brown, ivory and peach with streamers bearing the names of the bride and groom.

Coffee was served from the groom's table. Serving was Emmer Jean Lingnau, sister of the bride, and Joyce Harper, mother of the groom.

Out of town guests were from Lubbock and Slaton. Following a short wedding trip, the couple will reside in Post.

Slides shown to club

The Green Thumb Garden Club met Thursday, April 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Ida Jones.

Mrs. Jones showed beautiful as well as interesting slides of flowers and mountains she made on their trip to "The Big Bend Country." Officers were appointed for the new club year with Mary Goodwin as president, Ida Jones, vice-president, and Iva Hudman, secretary-treasurer.

An Easter theme was carried out as delicious refreshments were served to Sybil Cockrum, Thelma Epley, Mary Goodwin, Iva Hudman, Martha McLendon, Alma Williams, Jewel Taylor and the hostess, Ida Jones.

A "Santa Claus School" was opened in 1937 in Albion, NY to train men to play the part of Santa Claus. Six students enrolled for the one week course.

Breaking the deadlock.

"I think an expensive piece of jewelry is the only way to go," said Bonnie Murray. There was a small outbreak of moans.

"Look, we've been over this a million times and we can't agree on anything. I think we ought to quit arguing and buy her that United States Savings Bond," Doris Rapp said in a voice bordering on anger.

It was the third meeting of the "Gift for Hattie Walker Committee." Hattie had been in charge of all the secretaries and office workers at the company for over ten years. Now she and her husband were moving to a small town to run their own business.

The night before the meeting, Beth Miller had said to her next-door neighbor, "Hattie is really amazing. Ten years on a job like that and everyone still loves her. We've collected over $500 for her going-away gift. $500, imagine! Course we'll never be able to decide what to buy with it."

And it was beginning to look as though Beth was right. The committee had considered 42 separate suggestions and was hopelessly deadlocked.

Grace Brown, a close friend of Hattie, rose to speak. "I agree with Doris. With that $500 we can give her a $1000 Bond and she can do whatever she wants with it. Save it, or spend it on a watch or, or..."

"Or a Hawaiian vacation," shouted Ann Taylor. "Or some fancy luggage," piped up Beth Miller.

In a second, everyone was shouting out alternative uses for the Bond.

Doris Rapp held up her hands for silence. "Hey, hey, everybody...we all agree at last...it's a U.S. Savings Bond." Applause drowned out the rest.

The lunch was held at La Sorta. It took over the entire restaurant and it still was crowded.

Grace presented Hattie with a funny card and everyone laughed. Then she handed her the $1000 Bond and said, "We couldn't decide on what to buy, so this is for you. For one of your little dreams or part of a big dream."

Hattie took the Bond and looked at it with relief. "Last week I found a sheet of paper someone left on the copier," she said. "It was a list of 42 different gift suggestions. Everything from a Hawaiian vacation to fancy luggage. I didn't understand what it was at the time. Now, all I can say is I'm so glad you decided on the Bond."

As the crowd cheered, she kissed Grace on the cheek and smiled a big smile. Then she sat down and burst into tears.

U.S. Savings Bonds make a perfect gift. They fit everyone. They're indestructible. And they cost only half the face value.

Graham Texas? Near Post?

(Editor's Note: The following was brought to The Dispatch by a reader who thought it might bring a chuckle.)

Graham, Texas? Sure everyone knows where that is. Just ask Jimmy St. Romain and his crew. First you go to Post, then turn north...
Maybe we should explain.

The whole thing started when St. Romain and his crew, troubleshooters for Manufactured Energy Products of Fort Worth started this way to iron out some problems Wayne McFadden and the people at PALTEC well service were having with a new logging truck. "You do know where Graham is, don't you?" asked the dispatcher. St. Romain didn't, but he had his trusty road atlas. He checked the map and sure enough, there it was, big as life in big bold letters Graham. Just go to Post, jog north a little, then back west a few miles.

"Should take you about an hour and a half to get there," St. Romain was told. An hour and a half to make about a 270-mile trip. It was a joke, he thought.

But by the time St. Romain's crew rolled into Graham — the second Graham, the one 88 miles from Fort Worth — about 10 hours and several hundred misplaced miles later, no one was laughing.

"I actually knew there were two Gramahs in Texas," said McFadden later. "But the other one — the one out by Post — we always called that one Graham Chapel."

So does everyone else who has been there, the few hundred of us who can make that claim. And everyone who has been there also knows that Graham Chapel consists of a gin, two churches, and an old store converted to apartments and a community center.

Not one outfit in Graham Chapel needs the services of a well logging truck repair crew.

Not one. Everyone knows that, that is, except the people who made the atlas and shortened Graham Chapel to simply Graham and made it look like a town bigger than Post.

We don't know if the atlas people have been informed of the mistake yet, but we'd bet by now they've gotten at least one call about it from one mad well logging truck fixer.

did you know?

Unlike most other businesses, electric utilities like SPS require large investments in plants and equipment. For example, for each $1 in annual revenues, the Company has more than $2 invested in plants, equipment and other assets necessary for providing electric service. This investment plus a fair return (profit) is recovered through revenues received from customers over the useful life of the property.

Kurt Shaughnessy, Accounting Coordinator, Amarillo.

In regions with relatively mild winters, an investment in six inches of ceiling insulation will pay for itself in fuel savings in only one year. In the heating season, adequate insulation in the ceiling can save up to 20% on your fuel bill. During summer months, this insulation will help retain the cool air generated by your home's air conditioning system.

Bob Spaulding, Consumer Services Representative, Roswell.

Our customers' electric bills are lower because SPS sells the byproducts created by the burning of coal. Flyash, the powder-like substance given off during combustion, is sold as a construction material. The ash is sold under contract directly from the plant, with transportation costs paid by the buyer. Profit from the sale of the ash is applied to the Company's fuel costs. This saves our customers money, since fuel costs are passed to customers in the form of adjustments to their monthly bills.

Ronnie Blaythe, Environmental Coordinator, Harrington Station, Amarillo.

Knowing what electricity is worth is worth knowing. For answers to your questions, call or write your SPS manager.

Steven Carriker holds area press conference

In an afternoon news conference at the Nolan County Courthouse in Sweetwater, Steven A. Carriker of Roby blasted his opponent's voting record for the last two sessions of the legislature as "anti-farmer, anti-education, and anti-rural." Carriker's opponent is Walter Grubbs, formerly of Abilene, who moved his legal residence last fall to be able to run in the newly created 78th district.

Carriker listed several specific votes by Grubbs to demonstrate what he called his opponent's lack of sympathy for rural areas. Grubbs, said Carriker, voted every chance he had against legislation to enable the production of gasohol in Texas. Grubbs also voted against an amendment to lower local school taxes and voted to increase the local funds assignment by 165 million dollars, causing a huge increase in local property taxes. Grubbs was one of only 25 out of 150 representatives to vote against a modest increase for teacher salaries in 1979.

But worst of all, Carriker said, was Grubbs' total devotion to higher interest rates. "He voted for every bill and every amendment to increase interest rates in both 1979 and 1981. He even voted to raise interest to 30 percent and then said after it was all over that 'Nobody's forced to borrow money'. I'd like to see him say that to our farmers and businessmen now."

Carriker, who is a farmer himself, said that the rural 78th district needs its own representative "who really understands what's going on out here."

American Cancer Society develop Cancer self-test

The American Cancer Society announced today it plans to reduce by one-third the majority of cancer deaths in the state by helping Texans determine their own risks in getting cancer.

The Texas Division of the American Cancer Society has developed a personal self-test for individuals to assess their own risks of cancer with questions based on heredity, lifestyle, age and environment. Each question relates to one of the five major cancer sites — lung, breast, colon and rectum, uterus and skin — which represent 52 percent of all cancer deaths.

"Targeting our efforts at these most common cancers is the most logical approach," said F. Michael Schultz, M.D. of Brownwood, chairman of the Division's Public Education Committee which originated the self-test. "And by identifying certain risk factors for each, we are helping individuals learn about how they can protect themselves. It is our hope that when people find they are at high risk, they'll talk to their physicians and take appropriate health action."

The self-test takes approximately 5 minutes (slightly longer for women) is now available for use on home computers. Both forms of the test have been endorsed by the Texas

Medical Association and the Texas Hospital Association. Leading health officials, including Texas Commissioner of Health Robert Bernstein, M.D., have termed it "an innovation in cancer education."

In helping to reduce those cancer deaths, an abbreviated form of the self-test is being distributed statewide this month by ACS volunteers as part of the Society's annual educational and fund-raising Crusade.

"We've traditionally emphasized the educational aspect of our drive," said

Schultz. "I think this year's Crusade will be the most educational of all. The test is action-oriented and the volunteers have been shown how to discuss it at each door."

After piloting the self-test in various parts of the state last year, overwhelming acceptance of both the pamphlet and computerized versions have prompted translations into Spanish.

Volunteer officials report increasing concerns over testicular and prostate cancer have initiated studies to include questions on these sites as well.

INSIGHT INTO EYESIGHT

DAVID R. GIBSON
DOCTOR OF OPTOMETRY

ASTIGMATISM

One of the eye problems that causes blurred vision is astigmatism. This happens when the cornea or "window of the eye" is out of shape. A normal cornea has a perfect curve, with the same degree of slope on all sides. Light rays that pass through the cornea come together at a single point on their way to the retina.

But that isn't possible in the astigmatic eye. The rays of light don't come together at the same point. There are two separate images. This doesn't mean that people with astigmatism see double. But it does blur their vision.

There are three kinds of astigmatism, depending on the eye's point of focus. It's "nearsighted" if the focus takes place before the image gets to the retina. It's "farsighted" if the focus takes place after the image reaches the retina. Or it can be a combination of both.

Whatever the cause, happily, it can be corrected with glasses. Then the images will be sharp and clear when they get to the brain.

In the interest of better vision from the office of:

Vaccination is recommended

AUSTIN -- Cattlemen working their cattle should add one more chore of things to do for better management: get your eligible heifers vaccinated for brucellosis.

That advice comes from Dr. John W. Holcombe, executive director, Texas Animal Health Commission. Vaccination ages for heifers as official vaccinates are 4 to 12 months of age for all breeds. "Cattle producers should consider vaccination for brucellosis as a routine management practice. A one-time vaccination is normally sufficient for the life of the animal," he said. The reduced dosage of Strain 19 vaccine is recommended.

Personnel approved by the Texas Animal Health Commission must perform the vaccination, Dr. Holcombe said. "This is needed for several reasons," he noted. They include:

1. The vaccine is a live bacteria, and it must be handled with care;

2. The vaccine is fragile, and must be handled under controlled conditions to establish a good immunity;

3. There is some personal danger involved when untrained people handle brucellosis vaccine. Humans can contract brucellosis, too.

4. Official records must be maintained to assure you that an animal is indeed an official vaccinate.

"Financial assistance is available. You should contact your area Texas Animal Health Commission office or your own veterinarian for details," Dr. Holcombe said.

"Texas cattle producers are to be commended for their efforts in increasing vaccination in the past few years. During 1981, almost calf crop in Texas was vaccinated for brucellosis. But the fact is: we need a 70 percent level of vaccination of eligible calves to significantly reduce this disease," he said.

"Commissioners of the Texas Animal Health Commission have launched an information and educational program to encourage more vaccination. Although vaccination by itself is not the single answer to brucellosis control, it is the most important thing a cattle producer can do to build up immunity against the disease in his herd," Dr. Holcombe said.

Scanning Social Security

By Jim Latimer

More and more older Americans wish to continue working and retire later. Inflation is considered the most pressing problem among the aged. Since 3 out of 5 people 65 & over own their own homes, elderly Americans as a group are no more likely than younger Americans to feel financially strapped, despite lower retirement income.

These and other findings and views - some of them surprising - are from a survey of the elderly for the National Council on the Aging.

As the Nation's primary source of retirement income for the elderly, Social Security is especially interested in such data. They reflect both current and future involvement of the program in the lives of older Americans and help administrators anticipate future program impact. The study showed an increasing emphasis on wanting to remain active in society, primarily through work, but also through unpaid volunteer work. For example, in 1974 the proportion of workers age 55-64 planning to retire at 65 was 57 percent; today it is 67 percent. Another indication is the decrease in the number of workers age 65 and older who are looking forward to retiring - from 24 percent in 1974 to 15 percent today.

Upper as well as lower income workers had little interest in total and complete retirement, preferring strongly to remain active and contributing members of society. About three fourths of the 55 and older workforce would prefer some kind of part-time work. The level of volunteer activity has remained steady at about 22 percent over the past 7 years, despite the inflationary pressures on retirement income and standard of living.

When asked about the two or three greatest problems facing the elderly in this country today, all age groups agreed that inflation, inadequate income, poor or failing health, and crime were significant in that order. However, as in 1974, the public and older people themselves tend to overestimate the prevalence of problems facing the majority of people over 65. In reality, only minorities or the elderly cited such problems as fear of crime, inadequate income, high cost of energy, and loneliness as serious personal problems.

Median household income levels decline as age increases, from a high of $22,400 among the 18-54 age group, to a low of $6,000 among persons 80 and over. From 64 to 68 percent of people 65 and over (depending on age) have bought and paid for their own house and therefore have relatively low monthly housing expense, as compared to 12 percent of the public 18 to 54. The study concludes that home ownership is a major reason why 22 percent of the people 18 to 64 reported inadequate income as a "very serious" problem personally, while only 17 percent of the people 65 and over did so.

Social Security benefits were the major single source of income for 63 percent of the households surveyed containing people 65 and over. Supplemental security income was the second single most important source named by this age group.

Gift-Giving Ideas

THE GOLD BUG

Want to give a gift of money for an important occasion? What more attractive way than to give a gold piece, a true keepsake.

Since ownership of gold became legal in the U.S. in 1975, estimates are that eight million people have invested in the yellow metal. More than half of it has been purchased in the form of gold coins!

Some gold coins are legal tender as well as an investment. Suitable to anyone's budget are the gold bullion coins of Mexico, because they come in nine different sizes. They are also considered by collectors as the world's handsomest.

At your local coin dealer, a two-peso size is around $25. A quarter-ounce Mexican gold coin is about $100.

Gold coins are unforgettable gifts. Mexican coins also make fine jewelry.

Hedrick
competes
in NIRA

SNYDER — John Bill Hedrick of Post will be among the Western Texas College students competing in the NIRA Rodeo scheduled April 15-18 in the Scurry County coliseum.

The rodeo will attract some of the top student cowboys and cowgirls from the Southwest Region of the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association. They will come to represent some 20 colleges and universities in the region, which includes parts of New Mexico and Oklahoma as well as Texas.

WTC and Sul Ross State University will be pre-rodeo favorites in the men's teams, but Eastern New Mexico or Tarleton could be the spoilers.

The Sul Ross women's team is currently leading the region. The team from ENMU is in second place, hoping to repeat last year's championship.

Tickets for the WTC rodeo are $3 for adults and $2 for students, with box seats $5 each. Tickets may be purchased at the box office or in advance of the rodeo at the coliseum office, Fenton's or Bar H Bar Western Wear. The rodeo will begin at 8 p.m. on April 15, 16 and 17 and at 2 p.m. on April 17 and 18. A concession stand will be open at each rodeo.

FISHING
Facts & Fancies

Choosing The Right Line
You may think you have the perfect excuse for when that big fish gets away during your next fishing outing — "the line broke." With all due respect to the fish, it's up to you to keep your line in A-1 condition . . . and that means knowing when to replace it.

In general, the lighter the line, the more often it needs replacement. Line in the four to eight pound test range should be changed daily when under heavy use; 17 to 20 pound test line needs to be changed only after eight or ten fishing trips. The key is to inspect it regularly.

STATE CAPITAL
HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — After more than a year of haggling, debating, closed-door politics and state and federal court battles, Texas finally has both congressional and legislative redistricting plans under which to conduct this year's elections, and it appears that the May 1 party primaries will take place as scheduled.

Shortly after a three-judge federal panel in Austin handed down a new plan for congressional districts, federal judges in Dallas decided that the Texas House and Senate plans could stand virtually unchanged.

The court approved the Senate plan as it was passed by the Legislative Redistricting Board, and changed only a few districts contained in the House plan.

That action cleared the way for the Democrats and the GOP to go ahead with their primary elections, and the filing deadline for congressional and legislative races — which had been pushed back to March 19 — were moved forward again.

The final ballot line-ups have now been finalized, although the redistricting confusion prompted some incumbents and potential challengers to stay out of the campaigns.

AFL-CIO Endorsements
And as the political season moved forward, several political groups announced their endorsements in the statewide races.

Meeting in Austin, the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE) announced its support for a slate of Democratic candidates that includes incumbents U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Comptroller Bob Bullock and Railroad Commissioner Jim Nugent.

The labor officials also endorsed U.S. Rep. Jim Mattox for attorney general, Jim Hightower for agriculture commissioner, former Travis County Commissioner Ann Richards for state treasurer and both Garry Mauro and Rockdale Rep. Dan Kubiak for land commissioner.

leaders' endorsements — and not surprisingly — was an endorsement for governor.

Although Railroad Commissioner Buddy Temple seemed to get the warmest reception at the Austin meeting, COPE withheld an endorsement for governor until after the primaries.

That action partly resulted from the squabble that occurred in 1978, when labor leaders endorsed former Gov. Dolph Briscoe while rank-and-file union members supported former Attorney General John Hill.

Failure to endorse a Democrat, however, cannot be seen as support for Republican Gov. Bill Clements. One AFL-CIO official reported his group probably would support "anybody but" Clements.

Meanwhile, Hightower, Kubiak and Mattox also garnered endorsements from the West Texas Democrats, an organization with membership throughout the Panhandle. That group also supports Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong for governor and former Waco Rep. Lane Denton for treasurer.

Bell Refunds
Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. apparently has struck out in its attempt to delay refunds on excessive rates it implemented late last year.

A state district judge has ordered Bell to make those refunds totaling $21 million by April 11, even though the phone company contends it should be required to refund only $600,000.

Bell implemented a temporary rate increase totaling $246.8 million in October 1981 while the Public Utility Commission was considering a rate hike request of nearly twice that amount.

The PUC, however, granted only a $243.7 million increase and ordered the refund.

Plains Cotton Growers meeting to be April 21

LUBBOCK — The Twenty-fifth annual meeting of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. will be held on Wednesday, April 21 from 1:30 to 5 p.m. in the Theater Room of Lubbock Memorial Civic Center, PCG officials have announced. All cotton producers, ginners and other interested parties are invited.

According to Donald Johnson, PCG Executive Vice President, attendants will gain a better understanding of cotton classing by instruments, hear a summary of the current overall cotton situation and learn more about PCG's work on behalf of High Plains cotton producers.

The bulk of the PCG program is built around instrument classing of cotton and what it might mean for High Plains producers in both the long and short terms. Three speakers will address the issue, giving their respective views as a textile manufacturer, a top USDA official and a cotton producer.

The bulk of the PCG program is built around instrument classing of cotton and what it might mean for High Plains producers in both the long and short terms. Three speakers will address the issue, giving their respective views as a textile manufacturer, a top USDA official and a cotton producer.

Speakers on the subject of cotton classing include Jesse Moore, Director of the Cotton Division of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, Washington; Bob Hale the vice president of Textile Operations, American Cotton Growers, Littlefield, and Jerry Harris, farmer, gin-ner and past president of Lamesa Cotton Growers.

The Lamesa Classing Office in 1981 became the first such facility in the U.S. to operate with full instrumentation and has classed all of its receipts by instrument for the last two years.

Moore has given his talk the title "Cotton Classing: Past Present and Future." Hale will speak on "Utilization of Instrument Values for Spinning and Weaving," and Harris will give "An Overview of Instrument Classing at Lamesa."

All of the speakers on cotton classing will participate in a panel discussion of instrument classing, with questions from the audience.

Preceding these speakers will be Earl Sears, Executive Vice President of the National Cotton Council, Memphis, Tenn. Sears, who will speak from the title "Cotton in a Time of Trial," has said he plans to "emphasize the need for a total program approach to our problems," and will allow time for questions.

Gary Ivey of Ralls, PCG President and General Chairman of the meeting, will give the President's Annual Report, and Johnson will present the Executive Vice President's report.

The PCG Board of Directors will convene after the membership meeting to elect 1982-83 officers.

That Government which is closest to the people is in the best position to know the needs and desires of those it governs.

The President's New Federalism proposal is an attempt to turn over many responsibilities from the federal government to state and local governments.

I like the idea in general terms. Let me cite an example to show why.

Texas has historically gotten the short end of the stick when it comes to the federal highway program.

When I went on the Senate Transportation Subcommittee I learned that the year before our state had gotten back only 60 cents in federal highway funds for every $1 paid out in federal gasoline taxes.

We managed to increase our share to 68 cents by 1975 and up to 88 cents in 1980. That is a great improvement over what it used to be, but Texas still pays out more in gasoline taxes than we get back in highway funds.

Under an ideal new Federalism program the federal government would turn back to Texas all the gasoline taxes collected in our state and all the responsibility for building and maintaining our highway system. In that event, Texas would certainly come out ahead.

We don't yet know the full details of the President's New Federalism proposal, but from what we know so far it appears that it will fall short of the ideal. Only a portion of the gasoline taxes collected in Texas will come back to Texas, along with part of the responsibility for our highway program. They are talking about transferring to the states transportation, education, social and community development programs now funded by approximately $47 billion in federal grants. A trust fund would be established with revenues from the gasoline, tobacco, alcohol, telephone and oil windfall profit taxes to finance the transfer until 1991.

At least some of the gasoline taxes paid by Texans would still be used to subsidize highway programs in other states. That causes me some concern and my concern is increased by what we know now about other facets of the New Federalism program.

The formula for dividing up New Federalism Trust Fund monies among the states is based on outdated census information and, since Texas grew more rapidly than anyone predicted during the 1970's, use of this old date will cost us money. The formula uses estimates based on the 1970 census even though 1980 census information has been available for some time now.

Texas today accounts for 6.2 percent of the people in this country. Yet, according to the White House, we would receive only 5.4 percent of the money in the New Federalism Trust Fund. That is a difference of some $300 million a year and I have asked the President to even it up by using 1980 census information.

I want to support New Federalism. It is an attractive concept. I do not intend to prejudge the President's program. He is consulting closely with Congress and with state and local officials to produce as effective and fair and equitable a program as possible.

But if in the end New Federalism means that tax dollars from states like Texas will be used to unfairly subsidize programs in other states then I will oppose it.
