

Emergency Loans Available

Emergency loans for farmers, ranchers, or aquaculture operators are available through county offices of the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) Jimmy C. Hopson, FmHA County Supervisor, said today.

Mr. Hopson asked that those who need farm credit as a result of Hail, Continued Excessive Rain, Sand and Wind Damage June 10, 1982 through July 9, 1982, in Garza County make their needs known at the Farmers Home Administration office at Tahoka, Texas.

Application for assistance in the disaster stricken county will be accepted by Farmers Home until October 20, 1983, for physical and production losses.

FmHA loans covering actual physical and production losses may be used to replace installations, equipment, or buildings, (including homes) lost through this disaster. Funds may be used to buy feed, seed, fertilizer, livestock, or to meet interest and depreciation payments on current real estate and chattel debts.

"Funds can be used for essential operating and living costs," Mr. Hopson said.

Applicants that certify that other credit is not available may receive loans covering actual losses at an interest rate of eight percent and are scheduled for repayment as rapidly as feasible consistent with the applicant's ability to pay. Applicants who certify that other credit is available may also receive these loans at a higher interest rate.

To be eligible for an emergency loan, an applicant must have suffered losses from the disaster.

Dates for the next Bi-Polar Personal Growth Services were announced this week. Travis Ellis will head the seminar on February 17-19, at the First United Methodist Church. Registration deadline is Tuesday, February 1.

The inventories are used, following computer evaluation, to place the participant into one of eight basic personality types.

The main thrust of the seminar is then to help the participant recognize and use all the strengths of his or her own basic type. Specific goals resulting from this effort are better understanding-acceptance of self and others, and improved relationships with others.

Cost of the seminar is $45.00 per person. Anyone wishing to repeat the seminar may do so free of charge, if space is available.

Commissioners hear road complaints

Arnold Sanderson, of the Verbena community, met with the County Commissioners during their regular session Monday, Jan. 24 to ask for help with the new county road in the Verbena area.

Sanderson reported that the road was in "bad condition" and asked if help were available to maintain the road.

Due to heavy oilfield traffic and inclement weather, the road is reportedly to be 'suffering'.

Commissioners assured Sanderson that something would be done and as soon as possible.

Dee Justice, Justice of the Peace, Pct. 4 also met with the county commissioners to ask for permission to put a "hand-me-down" radio in his personal pickup with the court picking up the charges of an antenna and speaker. He also requested the court for a typewriter table and hall tree for his JP office with all requests given approval.

Jim Pat Claunch of Bula, Texas received the bid of $746 for one year for 189 acres of grassland in Bailey County, which had been bid out by the county.

A copying machine had been placed in the sheriff's office for a trial basis only with the commissioners nixing approval of the machine.

Polling places, voting precincts and election judges were also approved by the court with the following designations made: Precinct 1, Presbyterian Church, Dorothy Perdue; Precinct 2, Southland School, Ruby

Lee Ellis; Precinct 3, First National Bank Community Room, Mozella Rogers; Precinct 4, Justiceburg School, Charlene Ainsworth; Precinct 5, Close City Community Center, Cleo Sappington; Precinct 6, Graham

Community Center, Quanah Maxey; Precinct 7, High School Library, Mrs. Victor Hudman; Precinct 8, Junior High Library, Ruth Ann Newby; Precinct 9, Lorenzo Alexander Community Center, Billie Cross and basentee judge, Faye Cockrell.

Post schools receive accreditation

The Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, through its Commission on Elementary Schools, has awarded continuing accreditation to The Post Independent School District by action taken during the Association's 87th annual meeting held in Atlanta, Georgia December 12-15, 1982.

Through accreditation, school staff and faculty members will benefit by knowing that conditions for teaching in accredited schools meet certain minimum standards and that efforts are continuously made to improve these conditions. Regional standards require adequate faculties and facilities and their effective use.

Citizens are assured of accountability and of value for their tax dollars through the process of standard setting and the regular reevaluation of SACS member institutions. Communities with accredited schools can be confident that their institutions compare favorably with others in the region. Accredited schools are a "plus" for those who are interested in relocating their families and businesses.

Founded in 1895, the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools is one of six regional accrediting bodies in the United States. More than 11,000 member public and private universities, colleges, junior colleges, occupational institutions, secondary schools, middle schools, and the elementary schools enroll approximately five million students.

MY LINE

By Norm

And how has your week gone?

After shoveling through all the snow, walking to work when you can't get your vehicle out from under the carport, then looking out the window only to see the carport deciding whether to fall in or not, it has been one of those kind of weeks.

It all started out last Friday morning when I arose and noticed that we had received a LITTLE snowfall during the night. I never park under our carport but for some unexplained reason, I thought I should park under there Thursday night. Thus I did.

Friday morning when I went to get in the trusty little T1000 I couldn't back it up due to at least three feet of snow behind me, so I trudged to work on my two feet.

Have you ever walked to work and having to stay in the ruts to keep from burying up to your knees in the white stuff, noticed how some ruts are smaller than others and end up putting one foot directly in front of the other? Then others are so far apart that you almost do the splits?

Sometimes, you get the strangest looks from passersby!!!

Well after trudging at least three blocks through the thick white blanket and calling the Boss a few choice names under your breath for having to get out on a day such as that, the ambulance offered me a ride. That's right, the ambulance! I politely declined but since they were on their way to town to get snow tires put on the vehicle I decided to accept their offer. I guess it looked rather strange to see the ambulance pull up to the red light and their passenger jumping out the side door.

Well, needless to say, you did receive your Dispatch on Sunday morning due to the tenacity of the Dispatch staff who had to walk to work in all that stuff.

Saturday, my dear husband decided he would try and shovel a path for my little car when we discovered that the snow had caved in all the support beams on my carport. I thought that required a little haste on his part as I figured the roof was going in record time.

But it didn't.

Then after the snow began its slow thaw, I remembered that I had planted a little, bitty pine tree close to the house and all at once I couldn't see it anymore.

I got out and uncovered it and guess what? It froze stiffer than any board I've ever seen. Any horticulturists out there that have any suggestions on thawing it out, I would appreciate their ideas. I've always wanted to grow my own Christmas tree and sure would like to save it.

Have any of you reported your phone in trouble this week after trying to call your neighbor only to hear this DEAFENING scream in your ear?

DID YOU FORGET? This was the week that the 7 digit dialing went into effect!!!

My, my, how lazy our fingers are due to the lack of exercise in the past decade. Of all the griping I've heard this week when you automatically dial those four numbers, receive the scream, say "Oh, shoot", then start all over again.

And that's how it's been.....

Letter to Editor

Free Cheese Stirs Interest

Dear Mr. Burnett: This is the first time I have written a letter to an editor, but I feel very strongly about the article "Free Cheese...for Qualified People" in the January 26th issue of the Post Dispatch.

Who paid the dairy price supports that made it possible for surplus cheese, butter and powdered milk to exist? The American taxpayer did!

Who is paying every day to keep this surplus food locked up in storage? The American taxpayer! Who pays the salaries of those who are distributing this surplus food? The American taxpayer!!!

I think we should stop paying so much attention to whether a person is "qualified" or not and reduce this stockpile of surplus foods by giving it to anyone who is willing to ask for it and use it.

Sincerely yours,
Deloris Lindsay

Can he still get benefits?

ment for his unused vacation time.

The court has a preliminary hearing on his case and finds that Ronald is indigent and qualifies for free legal help. It is no longer necessary for Ronald to resign from his job and he attempts to withdraw his resignation, but his employer will not let him. Is Ronald entitled to unemployment benefits?

A. Yes, because he was not allowed to return to his job.

B. No, Ronald left the job by his own choice.

C. Ronald is entitled to partial but not full compensation.

D. Yes, Ronald is now unemployed. The manner in which he lost his job is irrelevant.

The court ruled B. It said that unemployment benefits are intended to help those who are unemployed through no fault of their own. The fact that Ronald tried to withdraw his resignation does not have any bearing on this decision.

Care of orphaned kittens

By R.G. ELMORE
D.V.M.
Copley News Service

Q. Our neighbor's cat recently had six kittens. The day after the kittens were born the mother cat was hit by a car and killed. We tried to raise one of the kittens, but were unsuccessful.

Please comment on what to feed orphaned kittens and how to care for them.

A. Raising orphaned or rejected kittens is quite demanding and time-consuming.

There are commercially available canned formulas for kittens. They can be obtained at pet stores or from your veterinarian. If a commercial formula is used the direction on the container should be followed.

If a commercial formula cannot be obtained, many homemade formulas have been printed. A simple one is eight ounces of canned, evaporated cow's milk mixed with one egg yolk. Powdered milk, mixed at twice the strength indicated on the package for feeding human infants, with one egg yolk per eight ounces of the made-up formula can be used.

Kittens usually can be fed with an eye dropper, small syringe (obtainable from your veterinarian), or a toy baby's bottle.

At 3 to 4 weeks of age the kittens should be beginning to eat solid food plus milk they can lap from a saucer. The kitten should be weaned by 7 to 8 weeks of age.

Kittens normally weigh at least 3 1/2 ounces at birth. During the first three days of life each kitten should drink approximately 20 percent of its body weight. The next four days the kitten should receive approximately 25 percent of their body weight. During the next week the kittens should get about 30 percent of their body weights. Between days 14 and 21, kittens should receive about 35 percent of their body weights. The total amount of formula should be split into six to eight feedings for each 24 hour period. One tablespoon is equal to 15 ml (cc) or one-half fluid ounce. Therefore during the first three days of life a 5-ounce kitten should eat 1 ounce (2 tablespoons or 30 ml) of formula daily. This would be approximately 5 ml or 1 teaspoon per feeding.

It is important that the kittens be awake prior to feeding them. Each kitten will be burped after feeding. Stroking the kittens stomach will often stimulate urination. Once-a-day massage of the opening of the kitten's rectum with a cotton stick dipped in mineral oil will help stimulate bowel movements.

Newborn kittens should be kept warm. A heating pad on the lowest setting is usually sufficient. The temperature should be near 80. The temperature can be reduced to about 70 degrees over a six-week period.

During the first few weeks the kittens should be allowed to sleep except when being fed.

It should be mentioned that orphaned kittens often do not make satisfactory pets when fully grown. The lack of maternal contact often causes severe psychological problems. Orphaned cats often become vicious and cannot relate to other cats. This behavior is often quite confusing and disappointing to an individual that has spent much time and effort in raising an orphan. Maternal contact during early life is important and should not be underestimated.

Your veterinarian can advise you regarding vaccinations and health care of your orphaned cat.

- 1/4 cup non-fat dry milk
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- 1/4 tsp. cinnamon
- 1/4 cup wheat germ
- 1 cup chopped walnuts
- 1 1/2 cups uncooked quick cooking oats

1st ANNIVERSARY!

SOUTHWEST AUTOMATIC MACHINE 1st ANNIVERSARY IN POST

1st ANNIVERSARY!

This is our modern building, conveniently located in downtown Post.

Sierra is an important member of the team at Southwest Automatic Machine.

Thanks for a good first year

by Eddie Wheeler

We came to Post in December 1981 and asked if a machine shop was needed. And we got an overwhelming "yes" from about everyone concerned.

We were fully set up by Jan. 1, 1982 in the old veterinarian building, located at 312 E. Main in Post.

Johnny Flores has a big job with cleaning parts.

Cast iron welding on pump jack gear box.

We drove back and forth from Lubbock until the middle of August, when we finally moved in time for school to start.

My wife, Sierra and I have two children - Douglas Coty and Choyia Doll.

We attend the First Methodist Church. We moved to Lubbock in 1979 from Tulia and worked to the top in pay and duties as a tool and die maker for Vally Industries, Pump Division, when we decided to put in our own shop.

In Lubbock I built new pump jack parts for several firms in the business. Also, in the agricultural field, parts were made for Howel Cotton Module.

Upon entering the oil field repair business, we found it was a horse of a different color...but it didn't take long for us to get the hang of things and we are able to complete all the work with one employee.

Johnny Flores is with us through the Post High School Home Economics Cooperative Education (HECE) program.

Johnny disassembles parts, cleans and paints them and keeps the shop in a safe and orderly manner.

Some of the services we provide include: pump jack bearing repair, in-shop welding, salt water pump valve rebuilding, centrifugal pump rebuilding, complete fabrication of pump jack parts and farm equipment.

All bearing for pump jacks, including saddle, tail and wrist pins are assembled with the best roller bearings and brass available.

The many types of welding we do include: steel, cast iron, brass and aluminum.

We build up and return to original shape with the use of the machinery and use the cutting torch to work on irregular shapes for many parts.

We also offer fabricating of many types.

If a pump jack bearing is completely destroyed, Southwest Automatic Machine can build a new one with exact dimensions for the customer.

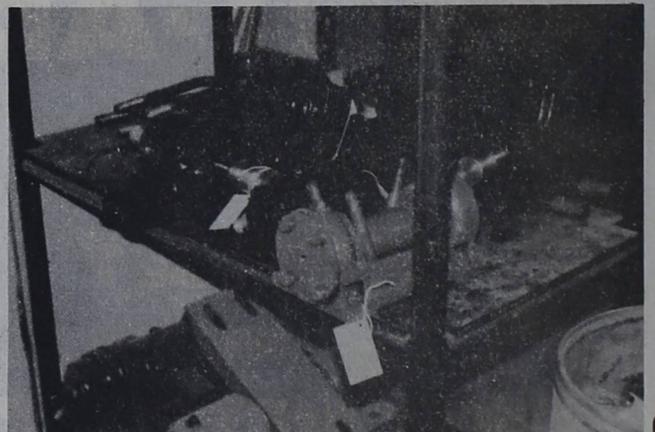

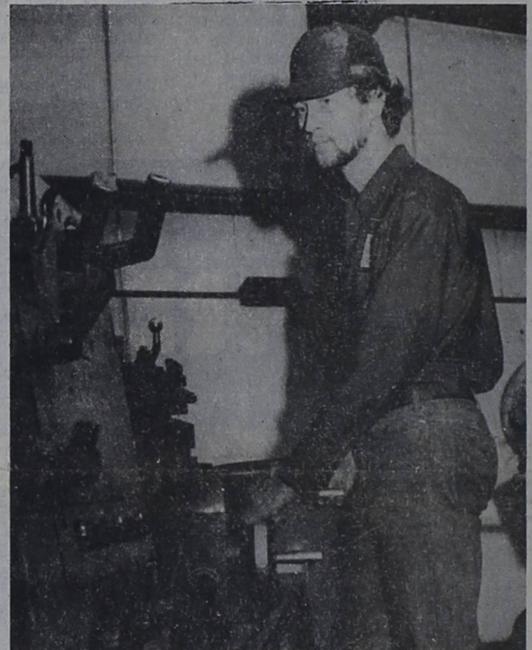

Many parts of farm use may also be duplicated, even outdated machinery parts.

IF A PART CAN'T BE REPAIRED, A NEW ONE CAN BE BUILT AT SOUTHWEST AUTOMATIC MACHINE.

We want to thank our many customers for making our first year in Post such a successful one and promise to keep serving you with the same quality work in the future.

Complete fabrications of destroyed parts.

Parts completed, ready for the customer.

Parts ready for machine work.
