

Devastating Hail Storm—

14 Sections of Cotton Smashed

Most farmers are still scratching their heads and wondering what steps to take now, following a devastating hail storm that wiped out everything in the cotton fields last Friday night in the Western part of Garza County around the Grassland and Graham areas.

Only a few hundred acres will probably be replanted of the 12 to 14 sections that were affected.

If the hail wasn't bad enough, the sand blew following the storm and then a cool north wind blew in the first part of the week.

"It looks a little sad," said Garza County agent Syd Conner, after surveying the damage this week.

Some farmers have little green buds left on the stalks and will stay with what they have and hope for the best while a few others have said they will replant probably in feed.

Those that will replant in feed are a little late and will have to go deeper than the fertilizer already laid down.

It is impossible to report the rainfall during the storm as all who lived in the affected vicinity reported that their gauges were all broken.

It is reported that the first storm that hit left around an inch of rain, but the second go round caused all the hail and rains.

Grassland was the hardest hit but the Graham community also suffered some damage that beat leaves off of the young cotton as far as two miles east of Graham.

The City of Post itself only had the light rain with no hail reported.

Class of '53 Reunion Reports

By Judy King McAllister

The Post High School class of 1953 held its 30th reunion in the VFW Hall the afternoon and evening of Saturday, July 2.

Class members began arriving around 1:15 and continued throughout the afternoon.

As each member arrived, shouts of laughter and wonderment could be heard. Visiting, talking over old times, as well as catching up on 30 years kept everyone moving from group to group.

The first couple to cause a stir as to who was who was one this writer had not seen in 30 years and wasn't sure which of the two had been our classmate, until we finally saw the fellow face to face and knew it was Jerry.

The next was when five people walked in together — Joyce was still Joyce from that minute throughout the evening — finally realized the others were Ross, our little fat boy on ice skates, Jimmy, who is no longer our little fat boy and their wives.

After the catered dinner, the class vice president, John Boren, acted as master of ceremonies and presented awards to Jimmy Ferguson, who came the greatest distance; James Boren for being the baldest and he did have some competition; Ross Morrow won two awards, for having changed the most and for having the grayest hair (we did not ask if anyone had a hairdresser who knows for sure); Wayne Massey for the most children; Maxine Baylis Gibson, the most grandchildren; Cecil "Pete" Smith for having the youngest child and Joyce Short Vardeman for having changed the least.

Each one introduced their spouse and gave a brief history of their lives during the past 30 years. After all these years, Mrs.

We are having a reunion for my high school graduation class. So many years have gone by that I couldn't let the opportunity pass. To remember those high school days and the way things used to be, when we were just a bunch of young kids known as the class of '43.

It was the time of Glenn Miller and "Elmer's Tune". And a skinny kid named Frank, who made all the girls swoon. Amos 'n Andy, Jack Benny, Molly and Fibber McGee, How we loved them all back in 1943!

We all shopped with our ration stamps around our little town. We could go to any grocery store and buy coffee for 33c a pound. Herring's advertised coveralls for $5.49 a pair. Money was hard to come by; but we didn't seem to care.

It was around this time when the big news was the declaration of World War II. We were urged to buy stamps and bonds in support of the red, white and blue. We planted our Victory Garden when we heard Uncle Sam's plea. "Vegetables, Vitamins, Vittles in order for Victory!"

I remember the feed sack dresses and saddle oxford shoes. The pompadour, the flat tops, and the page boy hair-dos. And how together we stood and sang so confidently and bold: "High 'ore the fields of battle, waves the black and gold..."

I remember the country kids who rode a school bus to town each day. And joined our class and made it better (at least that's what they would say). They came from Barnum Springs, Cross Roads and all around. There were kids from Verbena, Garnolia, and even some from Ragtown.

And in our Junior year, when the Graham bunch came, the hallowed halls of PHS never again were the same. But together we all shared the same fears and hopes. And proudly bore the name of Post Antelopes.

We gave our teachers fits. Bless their dear sweet souls. I can still remember Punk Peel climbing out of Miss Thacker's windows. Our beloved football coaches, Howard Price and Jess Wright, they also taught math and history, and will remember some of us as not being too bright.

Miss Weakly, I will never forget, or any of her classes. I can still see her peeping over the top rim of her glasses. Passing Miss Royatt's English class was not an easy thing to do. And I fondly remember Miss Mulligan, Miss Duckworth and Miss Durrett too.

Senior Day was a big event for this graduating bunch. So off we went to Two Draw Lake for our picnic lunch. We promised ourselves, the memories of that day, we would always save. And none of us will ever forget Bobby Hutto or Jeff Justices' close shave!

"Take it or leave it" was our class motto back then. And we elected as our president, a Graham kid named Glen. And we can never forget two special ladies, who will always be dear. Mrs. Malouf and Mrs. Terry, the room mothers for our senior year.

We eagerly anticipated our graduation date. Those who would receive diplomas totaled fifty-eight. And on the fourteenth of May, we proudly drove to town. Our folks dressed in their Sunday best, and us in our black caps and gowns.

We patiently listened to speeches by Johnny Malouf and Dixie Nell. They were our honor graduates and represented our class quite well. At last we received our diplomas on that night in spring, and wondered to ourselves what the future might bring.

After that night, everything changed. We began to scatter afar. And soon many boys in our class would be fighting in Uncle Sam's war. But they grew up fast, when to many parts of the world they had to roam. And when it was all over, there was one who didn't come home.

We all went our separate ways, during the next forty years. But never forgot the bond we shared, or the laughter, or the tears. Time has touched us all since 1943. And those who are no longer with us, are remembered fondly.

This reunion just goes to prove old friendships never die. As we remember the good times we shared together at Post High. And we will reminisce about our fashion, fads, and far-out ways, and proclaim that they were, without a doubt, truly "the good 'ole days."

Written by Nedra Childs Ellis

Fleming finally told us her age and that she and Mr. Fleming would soon celebrate their 55th anniversary.

Letters from C. D. Lee, our principal and classmate Janyce Lobban Morgan were read.

Attending the reunion were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Ferguson, Memphis Tennessee; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Winkler, Mr. and Mrs. Joe (Maxine Baylis) Gibson all of Austin; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Johnson, Colleyville; Mrs. Carl (Buena Welch) Adcock and Mrs. Mike (Joyce Short) Vardeman, all of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Morrow, Dallas; Mrs. Bob (Sue Stephens) Lovinggood, Odessa;

Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. (Velma Dee Daniels) Phillips, Tahoka; Mr. and Mrs. James Boren, Mr. and Mrs. Burl

(Wilma Welch) Carey, Mrs. Mary Jo (Williams) Evans, Mrs. Dennis (Pearl Craig) Herman, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Massey, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Crockett, all of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ainsworth and John Boren, Justiceburg; Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rogers Jr., Mrs. James (La Verne Furr) Aten, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Hays, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Fluitt, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gunn, and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. (Judy King) McAlister and daughter, Donna Brown, all of Post.

Much too soon the magic hour of midnight came and the ones left were thrown out with plans for the next reunion to be held in five years and we were all still talking!!

Henri J. M. Nouwen describes the poverty of our living in this way: "In many ways we are like the busy man who walks up to a precious flower and says, 'What for God's sake are you doing here? Can't you get busy somewhere?'"

Then he finds himself unable to understand the flower's response: "I'm sorry sir, but I am just here to be beautiful."

And that is enough!
 To bloom where we are planted, to be beautiful, and to recognize the beauty around us.

Jesus described "the lilies of the field, which neither spin nor reap," and yet have a glory all their own, the gift of God. He then added, "don't worry about tomorrow."

The Presbyterians of Post gather every Sunday morning to put worries aside, and worship God, the giver of all life. Even if we later pick up those same worries again, it helps to see them in the light of God's love and concern.

We invite you to worship with us.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texas lawmakers made quick work of the special session called by Gov. Mark White last week.

In four days, the Legislature re-enacted the Texas Employment Commission, passed brucellosis control legislation needed to avoid a federal quarantine of Texas cattle, created a human rights commission, mandated the installation of smoke detectors in all hotels and motels and appropriated funds totaling more than $15 million for several purposes.

However, the biggest surprise of the special session may have been the successful power play pulled off by black and hispanic legislators.

The minority lawmakers succeeded in getting White to add creation of a human rights commission and workers' compensation for farm workers to the call of the special session in exchange for their votes on the brucellosis and TEC bills.

The minorities did not have enough votes to block passage of either bill, but they did have the votes to prevent those measures from going into immediate effect.

According to Austin Rep. Gonzalo Barrientos, chairman of the Mexican-American Legislative Caucus, putting the brucellosis and TEC legislation into immediate effect was important enough to the governor and others to make the trade-off possible.

Unfortunately for the minorities, the farm workers bill ran into immediate problems when a compromise worked out by Sens. Hector Uribe of Brownsville, Bill Sarpaluis of Amarillo and others fell apart because of technical problems.

Those problems could not be overcome, but minorities expressed confidence the bill can be corrected in time for a special session expected later this year on the subject of teachers' salaries.

Meanwhile, the minority lawmakers did win the victory they had hoped for on the human rights commission.

The new agency will investigate job discrimination complaints.

Currently, such investigations are the responsibility of the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, but some black and hispanic lawmakers feel the EEOC has no teeth.

Credit Cards

Interest rates on bank credit cards will be going down in July under new legislation that becomes effective July 1.

The new law, passed during the regular legislative session, will make Texas interest rates among the lowest in the nation for bank credit cards.

"If you hold a Texas-based card, your rates should drop from as high as 21 percent in June to 16.69 percent after July 1," said Mesquite Sen. Ted Lyon, one of the sponsors of the credit card bill.

The lower rates will take effect on the first new billing date after July 1. That means if your next billing date is July 15, the lower rates will become effective starting July 16.

Phone Rates

While interest rates are going to be coming down, telephone rates apparently are about to see a massive hike.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. has requested a $1.7 billion rate hike from the Public Utility Commission, which will more than triple most basic monthly local phone rates.

The proposed rate hike began drawing criticism almost from the moment it was filed.

Carol Burger of the Consumers Union called the proposed increase outrageous, exorbitant and extravagant.

Texas Municipal League attorney Don Butler added that there is no doubt the rate hike proposal is designed to prod the PUC in the direction of approving local measured service.

Local measured service—which means telephone customers would pay for local calls on the same basis they now pay for long distance calls—is a concept Southwestern Bell has been pushing for several years.

Bell has complained in the past that local rates have not come anywhere near paying the actual cost of providing local service, while long distance rates subsidized local service.

Now that federal courts have forced Southwestern Bell's parent company, American Telephone & Telegraph, to divest itself of all its local telephone subsidiaries, Southwestern Bell will no longer have long distance revenues to rely on, the company's officials contend.

AT&T will keep all long distance service after the divestiture becomes effective Jan. 1, 1984.

Southwestern Bell has not requested local measured service in the present rate case, but they are quick to point out that it is the only alternative to basic monthly rates of between $30 and $40 just to have a phone in your home, whether you use it or not.

However, TML and the consumer groups are not the only ones who are not convinced the Bell rate request is justified.

PUC chairman Al Erwin already has put Bell on notice that it will have to justify every penny of its request. There will be no assumption that any part of the request is needed, Erwin said.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas, effective August 1, 1983, unless otherwise determined by the Commission.

A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Texas Public Utility Commission (PUC) at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices in Texas. The Commission staff has contended in the past that all rates are subject to change as a result of Southwestern Bell's rate application.

As a result of the settlement of a lawsuit brought by the U.S. Department of Justice against AT&T, Southwestern Bell, on January 1, 1984, (or as otherwise ordered by the United States District Court) will no longer be a part of the Bell System, but will be owned by public shareholders. Under the terms of the settlement, Southwestern Bell has identified 15 areas in the state within which it may provide service, and the federal court with jurisdiction of the settlement has tentatively approved these areas, called LATAs (Local Access and Transport Area). On or about January 1, 1984, Southwestern Bell can not provide service between these LATAs, and in addition, must transfer to AT&T customer premises equipment that it leases to customers.

Southwestern Bell has filed a proposed revised rate schedule with the PUC reflecting these changes. These rates would become effective August 1, 1983, if they are not suspended by the PUC; however, it is expected that they will be suspended and that the rates ultimately set by the PUC will become effective on or about January 1, 1984. If the rates were to become effective as filed, they would produce a 48.2% increase in Southwestern Bell's unadjusted test year revenues (or a 76.36% increase in Southwestern Bell's test year revenues adjusted to reflect the effect of Southwestern Bell's divestiture from AT&T). Any change in the rates for any interLATA services offered by AT&T or a subsidiary after January 1, 1984, could affect customers of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Notice to Customers of Other Telephone Companies

While Southwestern Bell has proposed no increase in rates for intraLATA interexchange toll services, any change in those rates could also affect customers of other telephone companies. Southwestern Bell is proposing changes in the structure of the present private line and foreign exchange services. Changes in these rates may affect customers of other telephone companies. Any change in the rates for any interLATA services offered by AT&T or a subsidiary after January 1, 1984, could affect customers of other telephone companies.

The Worth of a Sparrow

By Rev. Arthur Kelly Pleasant Home Baptist Church

Because God remembers and cares and provides for his people they should never fear.

Aren't five sparrows sold for two pennies? Yet not a single one of them is forgotten by God. Even the hairs of your head have all been numbered. So do not be afraid.

You are worth much more than many sparrows. Luke 12: 6-7. How frightening this world would be without God. Thank him for his presence and help and for the gift of Jesus Christ through whom we have eternal life. We have not been forgotten by God. He has not given us life only to desert us and leave us alone.

Listen to these reassuring words of Jesus from the gospel of Luke: Why God is even aware of the little sparrows, and they aren't really worth very much. So how much more is he aware of us for whom he gave His only son.

There are many troubling and even frightening things going on in our world today. Many people are running scared, but not God's people. Because He is with us.

God loved us so much that he gave us his only son to die on the cross, that we might have eternal life. Now there is nothing to fear not even death itself. God has not forgotten us; let us not forget God. May we remember that God cares for us, that Christ died on the cross, and that his love and forgiveness have been made available to us.

DID YOU KNOW?

Last year, about 45,000 men, women and children died in automobile accidents. During that same period more than one million people were injured. About half of the vehicle occupants killed might be alive today if they had been wearing seat belts.

Non-belted occupants of cars have been killed in crashes at speeds as low as 12 mph. At just 10 mph, the force of impact is equivalent to the force involved in catching a 200-pound bag of cement tossed from a first-story window. In the event of a head-on crash with another car also going 30 mph, the total forces involved are equivalent to an impact at about 60 mph into a parked car.
