State Spending More In Schools

Texans increased spending on local public schools by $900 million last year, as trustees in 1,071 school districts adopted school budgets totaling $8.5 billion. That provided more than $300 in additional funds for each of the 2,678,000 students in the state, according to the Texas Research League.

State foundation school aid was upped by $345 million, but local property taxpayers were tagged for an additional $425 million to pay for the increase. The remainder was funded by increases in special state and federal aid programs and by higher local fees and other revenue.

The figures come from the latest issue of "Bench Marks for 1983-84 School District Budgets in Texas," an annual publication of the League. The Texas Research League is a private, nonprofit, Austin-based, educational

Parents Push Phonics

by Wes Burnett

"Before I leave tonight, I want to know if my child will be taught from the Lippincott book when school starts in two weeks, and if not, I want to know where to get the materials and I will teach my child at home," a frustrated parent commented toward the end of an hour and one half discussion at Tuesday evening's Post Independent School Board trustee meeting.

Approximately 30 parents crowded into the High School library, with a scattering of school teachers also on hand, to question school board members and school administrators as to the emphasis being placed on teaching kindergarten and elementary students to read using the phonics method.

The issue basically centered around the fact that the recognized phonetic teaching materials produced by Lippincott will not be used this year in Post schools. (see related story this page)

School board members voted to table the issue and assured parents that another meeting would be held before school starts to decide on purchasing the materials.

School superintendent Bill Shiver reported to the board that tax evaluations were down $4 million, and problems in the oil field relating to carbon dioxide recovery methods could create a drop of $20 million next year.

He also reported that the state of Texas is working on forcing all school districts to pay more to the state fund to support poorer districts, to attempt to level out the state-wide economic balance of school districts.

"We're not sure how much this will affect us or when," Shiver added.

The superintendent informed the trustees that he has requested an audit of the central

Bob Bullock Sends $23,021.32 Check

State Comptroller Bob Bullock today sent checks totalling $103 million in local sales tax payments to 974 cities that levy the one-percent sales tax.

"So far this year, we are just a little ahead of 1982 payments," Bullock said. "This is about where we expected to be by this time when we put out our revenue estimate for the state."

Bullock said seven of the 20 Texas cities that collect the most local sales tax—Houston, El Paso, Beaumont, Odessa, Abilene, Midland and Tyler—continue to lag behind last year's receipts. But the August payment to all seven showed they had gained ground since last month.

Post's sales tax check for $23,021.32 was down $3,561.77 from last year's $26,583.09 in this comparable period.

The city's payments for 1983 to date come to $109,981.71 as compared to $132,077.37 in 1982.

The difference in this year's and last year's revenue translates to a loss of 16.73 percent in tax payments.

Houston got the biggest check, $19.6 million. Dallas received $11.6 million. San Antonio received $5.8 million, bringing the city's 1983 payments 9.3 percent above 1982 levels.

Austin's $3.9 million check brought that city's 1983 total to $19 million, up 15.9 percent over 1982.

Fort Worth's check for $3.5 million was up 1.2 percent over last August's payment.

Bullock also sent August rebates to the state's two Metropolitan Transit Authorities. The Houston MTA got $21.9 million, down from last August's $22.1 million payment. The San Antonio MTA got $3.3 million compared with $2.9 million last August.

The August checks were for taxes collected in sales made in June and reported to the comptroller by the end of July.

tax appraisal district, as a result of the lower total tax assessment to the school from the original estimates.

The school board adopted a budget which calls for no change in the tax rate.

In other action, the board approved the hiring of Mrs. Peggy Ashley and Mrs. Beth Cook as elementary teachers and Mrs. Patricia Thompson as a counselor.

New lunch room prices came under discussion, with board member Don Payne recommending that the proposed $1.25 and $1.15 be lowered to offset the pinch on taxpayers.

The board voted 4-3 to approve the new, higher, lunch prices.

Opposing the issue were Payne, Dr. Charles McCook and Royce Hart.

PISD Trustees Hear From Parents, Teachers On Methods

by Wes Burnett

A group of approximately 30 parents of kindergarten and elementary students voiced their concerns about the lack of emphasis on phonics teaching to school board members at Tuesday evening's meeting.

The give-and-take discussion centered around the insistence of the parents that the phonetic method of teaching reading to kindergarten and the first three grades of elementary should be continued, emphasized and be used uniformly by all teachers.

School board members Dr. Charles McCook and Don Payne stated the case for the parents, who stressed to board members and school administrators at the meeting that students who are taught phonics turn out to be better readers and better students.

Several school board members asked administrators if phonics weren't already being taught.

Dr. McCook answered the question, "some teachers are, some aren't, consequently some students are getting ahead in early classes than others."

Superintendent Bill Shiver answered John Boren's question, is phonics being taught in first through third grade, "yes, and in

"Taxpayers have commented to me that they appreciated the lower prices last year," Payne commented, "and aren't we supposed to represent the people who elected us?"

The architect firm of Whitaker and McQueen was requested to prepare a master plan for the entire athletic facility and Wayne McQueen said he would return to the September meeting with some ideas.

McQueen also gave a status report on the new construction and advised that the elementary school work would be finished by August 29, but that the auditorium would be another 45 days to completion.

Attending the board meeting were president Jack Kirkpatrick, members John Boren, Dr. Charles McCook, Tommy Middleton, Royce Hart, Don Payne and Pru Basquez.

Payne asked elementary principal Don Rankin which system is mostly used, phonics or look-say, to which Rankin replied, "it's a combination of both and some other methods."

Several parents commented that one of the three kindergarten teachers does not use phonics, and asked to see results of a test administered to all the kindergarten classes at the end of school last year.

Other parents emphasized the need for phonics to be taught by all teachers and uniformly used in follow up grades.

One of the teachers at the meeting told the group that every teacher uses phonics and "we emphasize it."

School board president Jack Kirkpatrick asked, "what is the issue here? We're teaching phonics in kindergarten through the third grade."

McCook answered, "phonics is not emphasized as much as it should be, otherwise there wouldn't be so many folks here tonight."

Board member Royce Hart added, "I think many students have been passed on to

Alexander Weds Kirkpatrick

Dena Renae Alexander and Cliff Gaylord Kirkpatrick were united in marriage at seven o'clock in the evening on Saturday, July 16, 1983. The candlelight ceremony was performed by Rev. James Mitchell at Jackson Avenue Baptist Church in Lovington, New Mexico.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.D. Alexander of Lovington. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack G. Kirkpatrick of Post.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and chose a formal gown designed by Ilissa of New York.

The high wedding band neckline was accented with beaded alencon lace. The bodice featured beaded alencon lace with a sheer illusion yoke. The bishop sleeves were accented with beaded alencon lace appliques with a covered button and loop closure. The bouffant skirt fell to floor length and swept to back fullness. The front skirt featured beaded alencon lace appliques with a wide border of scalloped alencon lace around the hemline. The back skirt featured a crystal pleated ruffle in an apron effect with beaded alencon lace appliques and a wide border of scalloped alencon lace around the cathedral train.

To complete her ensemble, the bride chose a white veil by Marionat. The Juliet capulet was covered in beaded alencon lace. The illusion was gathered to the back and a narrow beaded alencon lace border finished the edge of the chapel length veil. She carried a cascading bouquet of white daisies, bridal white roses and baby's breath accented by long ribbon streamers.

The bridal attendants were gowned in slipper length navy blue taffeta gowns featuring squared necklines and elbow length puffed sleeves.

The full skirted gowns were accented at the waistline by yellow cumberbunds. They wore yellow lace gloves, navy ballerina slippers and clusters of fresh flowers in their hair. The bridal attendants carried nosegays of white daisies and baby's breath accented by yellow streamers.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Teri Graham, sister of the bride of Bartlesville, Oklahoma and bridesmaids were Rhonda Short, Tularosa and Jodi Smith, Lovington, cousins of the bride and Carla Alexander, Lovington, sister of the bride.

The groom wore a navy blue tuxedo with a white pleated shirt and white vest and tie. The groom's attendants wore white dinner jackets with navy trousers. White pleated shirts, yellow cumberbunds and yellow bow ties completed their attire.

Serving as best man was Will Kirkpatrick, brother of the groom of Post. Groomsmen were Gib Bell of Dryden, Texas and Joel and Ben Kirkpatrick, both brothers of the groom of Post. Ushers were Mark Kirkpatrick, Richard Kirkpatrick and Drew Kirkpatrick of Post, cousins of the bride and Grady Cunningham, Andrews; Dale Redman, Post, cousins of the bride and Will M. Black, friend of the groom of Ozona, Texas.

The flower girl was Jessica Erin Berry of Eunice, New Mexico, cousin of the bride. Her gown was fashioned after the bride's gown and she carried a basket of daisy petals.

The ringbearer was Travis Hastings French of Baxter Springs, Kansas, cousin of the bride. He wore a white dinner jacket, navy trousers and yellow cumberbund and tie.

Candlelighters were Wesley Shoemaker, Galena, Kansas and Matt Alexander, Lovington, cousins of the bride.

Attending the bride's book was Miss Nelda Camacho, long time friend of the bride of Lovington. Serving in the house-party were Mrs. Jennifer Shoemaker of Galena, Kansas; Mrs. Paula French of Galena, Kansas and Mrs. Debbie French of Baxter Springs, Kansas, all aunts of the bride. Also serving in the house-party were Miss Lisa Alexander, Lovington, cousin of the bride and Miss Nelda Camacho of Lovington.

The altar area of the church was centered with a large spiral arch candelabra. It was flanked by large candle trees. Interspersed among the candle trees were twenty potted palms. Pew markers were hurricane globed candles attached with large blue satin bows. A garden reception was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R.E. Smith, Jr., cousins of the bride. Individual tables were scattered throughout the yard and pool area. Pale yellow cloths covered each table and they were centered with small bouquets of daisies. The pool featured a floating arrangement of candles, white doves, daisies and miniature white carnations fashioned into a lily pad.

The bride's table was centered on the covered patio area. The table was covered with a white satin cloth trimmed in wide white lace. Yellow fruit punch was served from a silver punch bowl. The white wedding cake was a five tier confection trimmed with fresh flowers and tiers were separated with white columns. The top of the cake featured a china bride and groom. Nuts and mints made by Mrs. Pam Shipp of Lovington were served from silver appointments.

The centerpiece for the bride's table was a silver five branch candelabra filled with daisies and greenery. The groom's table was covered in a floor length navy blue cloth. Coffee was served from a silver service. The groom's cake was a double horseshoe chocolate cake. Nuts and mints also were served from silver appointments. Groom's table flowers were daisies, baby's breath and greenery arranged in a silver epergne.

The groom is a graduate of Post High School and attended Howard County Junior College and Texas Tech University. The bride is a graduate of Lovington High School and has attended New Mexico State University and Texas Tech.

The groom is currently engaged in a family ranching operation in Post. For a wedding trip to Hawaii, the bride wore a white jumpsuit accented at the waist with a wide woven contrasting belt. Gold jewelry and chocolate brown sandals completed her ensemble.

Following the wedding trip, the couple is at home at the family ranch near Post.

Special guests at the wedding included Mrs. Harold French, Jr., of Galena, Kansas, maternal grandmother of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Alexander of Lovington, paternal grandparents of the bride. Also present were Mrs. W.M. Kirkpatrick, paternal grandmother of the groom of Post and Mr. and Mrs. E.E. Merriman of Lubbock, maternal grandparents of the groom.

Miss Alexander is the great-granddaughter of Mrs. Ethel Redman of Post.

Letter To The Editor...

Dear Parents:

I counted and I think 45 parents came to the school board meeting showing concern over a recent decision to discontinue the teaching of intensive phonics in the kindergarten classes.

Before there was a choice, now a complete Look-Say method has been proposed. I can't quote where these facts come from but the statement was that an early intense phonics program results in children having a 2,400 word vocabulary and the Look-Say method only 400.

You see articles in books, newspapers and TV that we are fast becoming a nation of functional illiterates. I feel it is due to people not being able to read well.

The phonics system is the oldest method taught and you seldom meet an older person who went thru school that can't read well.

All other methods come after phonics. I can only speak for myself but I feel phonics is a tried and proven way to teach most children to read well.

The Dispatch welcomes new subscribers. Dollie Irving of Post.

If you feel your child is having difficulties reading well, please join us Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Reddy Room. Sheri Riedel

New Service Offered

In response to reader interest, The Post Dispatch begins publishing today final judgements of the four judicial courts of Garza County.

Because of the tradition in the United States of innocent until proven guilty, it is the policy of this newspaper to inform the public when guilt or innocence is determined by a court.

"To report the names of defendants in arrests, charges and grand jury indictments," publisher Wesley W. Burnett comments, "puts in the minds of most people the idea that the defendant is guilty, even before a trial has been held."

"This, in our opinion, is contrary to our principal of fairness," Burnett continues.

By reporting the actual disposition of cases from the official court records, The Post Dispatch will be serving the public with its right to know, consistent with the doctrine of fairness in judicial action, which is an American tradition.

No Tax Increase

The Commissioners' would like to explain their position regarding the tax rate for the coming fiscal year and how the decision was made.

Even though the county is losing 12 million in valuation for the coming year due to the depressed farming and oil economy and the closing of Burlington Industries the Commissioners' felt it was necessary for the county to take no tax increase for the coming fiscal year. The tax rate of .14 for the coming fiscal year is up from last year's tax rate of .12832 to allow the county to collect the same amount of dollars as last year.

The Commissioners' plan to provide the people with the same services as they have been provided in the past; however, if some services are not as they have been the Commissioners' ask that you be understanding in what they are trying to accomplish.

corporation engaged in governmental research.

School budgets adopted for 1982-83 called for spending $2,610.23 per student for current operations. Post ISD's budget provided for $3137.74 per student based on the 1043 students in average daily attendance in 1981-82.

Locally, the Post ISD's tax levy was increased by 6.4 percent for 1982-83 as compared to a 14.8 percent increase for the average school district in Texas.

The average salary for classroom teachers paid by PISD in 1981-82 was $17,919 which was 29.5 percent above the minimum salary prescribed by the state. The average among all school districts in Texas was $17,537 per classroom teacher or 20.6 percent over the minimum. The legislature further increased the state minimum schedule by $88-$196 a month for 1982-83.

students in average daily attendance. The SISD tax increase was 3.9 percent for 1982-83. Southland teachers earned an average salary of $14,373. There was an average of one teacher for 15.2 students in PISD compared to a statewide pupil-teacher ratio of 1 to 16.4. The pupil-teacher ratio is not the same thing as the average class size because teachers and students are not necessarily in class the same number of hours each day. The report noted that the share of the total school payroll paid to classroom teachers has dropped from 73.4 percent of the total in 1969-70 to 60.4 cents of each payroll dollar last year as many more nonteaching personnel have been hired. Locally, classroom teachers were paid 60.4 percent of the school payroll in 1981-82. The average school property tax rate in 1981-82 was $0.531 per $100 of market value so that the school tax on a property selling for $100,000 was $531 in the average school district. Locally, the rate on market value in PISD was $0.455 or $455 on a property selling for $100,000. If the property were a homestead or owned by a senior citizen, the school tax would be less because of various exemptions. Open-space land if qualifying would be valued on productivity value rather than market value and would be taxed less. The report noted that the 68th Legislature increased appropriations for public schools by almost a billion dollars ($962 million) for the next biennium. However, only an additional $192 million increase (5.4 percent) in foundation aid to local school districts will be available for 1983-84 school budgets that school trustees are now working on.

School Board Meeting

higher grades without getting good reading habits and our program has not been strong enough in teaching reading." McCook added that no criticism of teachers was intended, that the real problem was the lack of proper phonics materials for teachers to use. Not everyone at the meeting agreed that phonics was the best method to teach reading, as one teacher commented, there are many students who do not respond to phonics as well as they do to other methods. When pressed for an answer concerning the Lippincott materials, principal Rankin admitted that the materials were not available this year, primarily because they were not on the list of state approved books. McCook responded, "The state list is not a good list...we can and should order the Lippincott materials because they are the best for teaching phonics." After much going back and forth, the discussion came to a close as board members voted to table the issue. One parent asked pointedly, "Are you going to have an open meeting to decide on this before school?" Payne answered, "yes." Kirkpatrick reminded the group that all school board meetings were open.

Central Air Needed In Our Schools

by Wes Burnett

We are fortunate to live in a community with such an excellent school system, complete with dedicated volunteers who serve on the school board, professional school administrators and devoted teachers. It is to our benefit to have Bill Shiver as our school superintendent...in case some have forgotten or didn't know it, when Shiver came to Post our school system was in serious financial difficulty...and he has done a magnificent job of managing taxpayers' funds and brought our system to a strong economic position.

In fact, at Tuesday evening's school board meeting, the trustees renewed two certificates of deposit totalling $2,362,100.60. Interest in one year will total $183,683.69.

We applaud Shiver, his staff and the school boards, past and present for their sound financial management.

With such a strong base to work with, we are able to pay school teachers above the state minimum to attract quality educators for our children.

We should also be able to support modern, adequate physical plants for this educating process to do its best job.

Unfortunately, past and present school boards have refused to funnel taxpayers' funds into an important and basic necessity to provide for an environment conducive to learning.

It's a gripe that school administrators and school board trustees have heard before, many times, and have seen it in print in the Post Dispatch...our school classrooms need to be updated to modern times with refrigerated air conditioning.

Parents of school aged children have demanded, pleaded and persistently called for action to correct an intolerable situation in our schools...so far the talk has been just that, talk.

It is our intent in this editorial to point out to the elected officials who serve on the school board, that these printed words are an echo of most parents of school aged children, and friends of school teachers who have to endure the heat, humidity and uncomfortable conditions in our schools from September to November and from March to June.

If there is any doubt in anyone's mind about how hot it gets in these classrooms, we challenge you to physically take yourself to a classroom, sit there for a while and take a thermometer along.

Evaporative coolers, which are distracting and add humidity to a crowded classroom, are hardly the answer. Many children have allergies to mold and those evaporative coolers contribute to an already uncomfortable situation.

The way we understand it, teachers are allowed to purchase air conditioners for their rooms, at their expense.

Question...who paid for the air conditioning in the principals' offices?

If just doesn't seem fair to us, as taxpayers, that our children should have to suffer in some classrooms while others may have more comfort if the teacher can afford to buy an air conditioner.

We vote for a central air conditioning system for the entire school system's classrooms.

And to the arguments we've heard against such a proposal we offer the following answers:

AIR CONDITIONING IS ONLY NEEDED TWO-THREE MONTHS OF THE YEAR - Probably not true, most years we have near 90 degree weather consistently until early November. Even if it were true, that is not an acceptable excuse. During the first part of a school year is when major learning procedures are taking place and an overheated classroom does not help children or teachers do well.

WE DIDN'T HAVE AIR CONDITIONING WHEN I WAS IN SCHOOL--True, but we also didn't have indoor plumbing and toilets for some folks...should we do away with our bathrooms? That argument is so silly, we find difficulty even giving it lip service.

WE CAN'T AFFORD IT--Hogwash, with more than $2 million in certificates of deposit and one of the best financial managers as a school superintendent, the money can be found.

So what's stopping us from moving into modern times with central air conditioning for our school classrooms?

Only the school board of trustees can answer this question.

We welcome and encourage opinions for print in rebuttal in our case.

In the meantime, we urge our elected officials to find a way before next spring to have central air conditioning for all our classrooms.

To do otherwise is not in the best interest of our children and their education.

Bold Gold Battles Frenship's Tigers

by Phil Riddle

The Frenship Tigers blew into Post Friday evening for the first scrimmage of the grid season.

The offenses battled up and down the field but each unit could manage a single score.

Post's All-State senior running back, Milton Williams, ripped off one long run of 50 yards, plus a pass from sophomore quarterback, Joel Kirkpatrick, that netted the Antelopes 50 yards and set up the Bold Gold score.

Kirkpatrick had a successful debut as the 'Lopes' field general, completing several key passes, while remaining cool in the pocket.
