It's All A Matter Of How You See It...

By Wes Burnett

"Our teachers are given the discretion to use materials and teaching methods to fit the individual needs of our students," Post ISD superintendent Bill Shiver responded to a group of parents during a special school board meeting Monday evening.

Approximately 100 parents crowded into the High School library as school board members took up the issue of providing additional materials to kindergarten teachers for teaching phonics.

After a couple of hours of discussion, the board approved a motion by board member Tom Middleton, "That teachers be given the discretion to use Addison-Wesley materials as a supplement reader."

Addison-Wesley is a first grade reader, but has recently been added to the state approved list of books and the materials are currently in stock in the schools here.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I enjoyed reading the article in the Sunday paper about the Arno Dalby truckline.

You see, it brought back many memories. Some good, some bad.

My late husband and I grew up with that Dalby truckline. We lived in Ragtown and he was the first truck driver that Arno hired.

Our children were all born and raised in Garza County. They all attended schools in Ragtown and Post. They are Imogene Evans Morris, Virginia Evans Reese, Daphne Evans Beauchamp, Joye Evans Floyd, J.E. and L.W. Evans.

That first truck driver for Dalby truckline was Herschel Evans.

Thank you Editor

for letting me share these memories with others. I am sure they remember too.

Mabel Evans Martin

Dear Editor:

While traveling by bus from Rising Star to Post two weeks ago, I was to meet my brother at the bus stop that night.

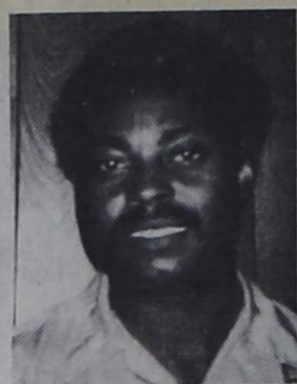

I had informed my brother that the bus stop was in the downtown area, but upon arriving in Post, I was left at Allsup. Due to the confusion of not knowing that was the night stop, I had no one to meet me.

A lady who had been visiting Methodist Hospital all day long with a relative saw the predicament I was in and offered to help me. She took me to the bus stop downtown to try and find my brother, but to no avail. She stayed with me until he did find me.

I'm sorry I don't know her name, but I want her to know how much I appreciate her kindness and thoughtfulness to me and hope someday I can return the kindness.

He and his wife, Lucy, are the parents of two children, Detra, five years of age and Gerald, two years old. Lucy is working at the central supply and surgery at Garza Memorial Hospital.

51 Estimated To Die During Labor Day Holiday

The Texas Department of Public Safety has estimated as many as 51 persons will be killed in traffic accidents during the Labor Day holiday. The estimate includes traffic deaths which may occur on urban streets and rural highways.

Colonel Jim Adams, DPS director, says Texas has about 14 percent fewer fatal accidents now than at the same time during 1982.

"We are hopeful the trend will continue downward for the remainder of the year. However holiday weekends always seem to bring higher death tolls than do other times of the year," Adams said.

The DPS reported 50 deaths during Labor Day last year. However, the inclusion of subsequent deaths due to traffic injuries received during the 78-hour period raised the final count to 57.

"During the 1982 holiday, 27 people were killed in accidents where DWI or speed was a contributing factor. This represented close to half of all the fatalities which occurred during that particular holiday," said Adams.

The DPS director called for sober driving, use of seat belts and a reduction in speed.

"We know alcohol contributes to about half of our traffic deaths, so it is obvious that a driver should not drink and drive. Also, we can prove the lifesaving effects of seat belt usage and our statistics show that slower speeds enhance one's chances for survival if an accident occurs," said Adams.

The DPS said the most recent holiday, July 4th, was one of the most deadly recorded in the past decade.

"We had 55 persons killed during the Fourth of July and some are still seriously injured and will probably die before the year is over.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service of the Texas A&M University System has appointed a computer applications leader to develop a statewide computer network. Dr. Eugene B. Smith will be giving leadership to a coordinated effort in data processing and information management to support the Extension Service's overall educational programs. He will give direction to initial pilot projects for installing microcomputers for training and general assistance in selected Extension district and county offices and to developing a long-term plan in computer training and applications for the next four to six years.

Stenholm To Meet With Sec. Block

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm (D-Stamford) will take farmers' and ranchers' drought concerns to a meeting with Secretary of Agriculture John Block and other state and national officials Sept. 2.

"The situation is critical and not getting better," Stenholm said. "Our West Texas stockmen and farmers face devastating losses from Mother Nature on top of the shocks and jolts they've received from poor market conditions in the recent past."

Stenholm will meet with Secretary Block, other members of Congress and governors from states affected by the current severe drought. After the meeting, to be held in Chicago, the Secretary will report to President Reagan on the effects of the drought and what can be done about it.

"We have been talking with county officials in the areas where drought damage has been heaviest," Stenholm said. "They have given us up-to-date reports on the situation in their own countries. The picture they paint is not a pretty one, as I know from walking the dry fields and pastures."

"But they also have very definite and concrete ideas to help the situation," he continued. "Their suggestions -- about CCC-stored grain, about further changes in regulations on PIK acreage, and so on -- will be what I will take to Secretary Block."

Stenholm said that while the recent declaration of several counties as disaster areas eligible for emergency loans has helped some, there is a need for further action.

"I anticipate that other counties of the 17th District may become eligible for emergency loan assistance," he said, "and emergency crop loans will be needed as well.

"More can be done, and more needs to be done," Stenholm said.

Registration Set For Senior and Cadette Scouts Through Sept.

Registration forms for the Senior and Cadette Girl Scout program will be available at the Caprock Council Service Center, 2567 74th St., Lubbock, Texas 79423, throughout the month of September. Senior and Cadette Girl Scouting is open to young women ages 12 through 17, according to Personnel Services Director Alarah Russell.

"The program is especially exciting for Cadettes and Seniors since it focuses on their unique talents, interests and abilities with an emphasis on developing the potential of each girl. Young women may register as a troop or as individuals on a non-troop basis. The Caprock Council already has several events scheduled for this age level throughout the year," explained Mrs. Russell.

Girls who participate are allowed to choose several areas of interest to explore. Those who wish to increase self-awareness and develop skills in relating to others are offered the "Challenges: An Invitation to Action" program. For girls interested in community and volunteer service, programs related to these are available.

A career exploration program is provided for girls who wish to develop their potential for future employment. Leadership training is available for those who enjoy taking on responsibility and finding opportunities to direct and support the efforts of others.

We are very glad to hear that Mrs. Jet Puckett is doing good and to hear that she is back home.

"Their quarterback will run and throw the football," Post Antelope head coach David Thompson observes about this Friday's contest at Roosevelt.

"They have a good set of running backs," the coach continues, "with senior quarterback Tony Garcia leading the offense."

The Eagles use the services of seniors Ira Johnson, 155 pound tailback, Darrell Mann, 180 pound fullback and Bo Roberts, 170 pound running back, behind a good-sized line.

Defensively, the Eagles operate from a 5-2 alignment, with Roberts at the nose guard position. The team has eight returning starters from last year.

The Antelopes hope to repeat last year's 28-6 trouncing of the Eagles as they invade Roosevelt's stadium with an 8 p.m. kickoff.

.....OOPS

The Dispatch inadvertently named the wrong quarterback for the junior varsity squad in Sunday's Dispatch. The correct quarterback should have been Greg Storie not Delton Osborne and one of the receivers should have been Sammy Hardin.

Coach Thompson reports that the Antelopes are in good healthy condition and are ready to play.

United Convalescent News

By Nell Mathews
Dear friends we here at United Convalescent home want to say hello to all of you and invite you to come to see us. We are having a good time. The last two Sundays we have enjoyed church service with the Calvary Baptist and Post Methodist Churches. Visiting with Iva Sanders were her brother and sister-in-law Luther and Alene Donhan from Rotan. Mrs. Brawley went to Spur for a visit. Mrs. Ruby Woodard went to Justiceburg, also Mrs. Eldess Floyd, Mrs. Maudie Pettigrew and Winnie Henderson went for a drive with Iris Truelock. If you come by some time in the morning you can take exercise with us or you can hear a good Bible Study and in the afternoon you can play 42 with us or have coffee with Mrs.

Maggie Sprayberry, one of our new residents. You can visit with Mrs. Lelea Stewart, Eugenia Cross, Myrtle Ledbetter. Mr. Douglas Buchanan or play a game with Mrs. Pearl Wallace, those are our new residents. We had good singing and music by Noel White last Monday night. We had movies and popcorn last Thursday.

We play 42 almost everyday. I don't know about who is the best player, or is the biggest cheat. If you come by to see us, someone will tell you who is the biggest cheat. We are planning a full month next month, so be around and see what is going to happen.

Lesson For Teacher

Pastor Steve Traw First Christian Church It was the candid confessions of a kindergarten teacher that illustrates this underlying thought. The teacher had just been challenged by placement in a new school amid a classroom full of youngsters, each vying for attention.

One of the first projects was foot-painting. Afterwards each foot was placed in the pail of sudsy water. The feeling of repressed resentment began to be washed away with the scrubbing of each dirty toe. Peace and acceptance began to replace those inappropriate feelings as the attitude of a teacher was changed through that act of foot-bathing.

The problems of that year did not surely all end. But they were handled in a positive way. Challenges were met from a new vantage point. A simple act of caring had changed within.

Even as Christ taught, may we so do, "If I then, you Lord and Master, have washed your feet; you also ought to wash one another's feet." Here is portrayed the Master's greatest example of humility and service.

May we, by his help, also change within that, as teachers or whatever role we have, we may be ones of humble service to others.

The frigate bird can fly at a speed of 260 miles an hour.

Post City Reunion

stationary that was left at the school and Evelyn Jones had a poem printed on the stationary. The poem read as follows:

She stands alone-deserted
Dreaming of yesteryears
She has fulfilled her days of service
And remembers them with tears.
Probably happiness too, enters into her thoughts

As she dreams the time away
Because there were joys as well as sorrows

In the school where children played.
She dreams of books and pencils
Paper wads and erasers thrown
When the teachers asked where they came from,

No one had never known.
The love notes and arithmetic answers
That were passed down the aisles with care

Made for fond memories,
And these secrets she never shared.
As time passes she lets her thoughts stray

To the many pupils from years gone before

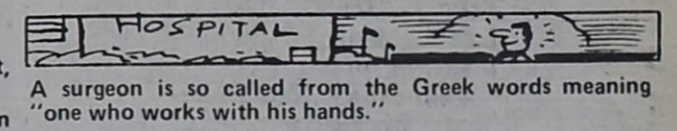

She thinks she was especially privileged
To have them pass through her doors.
For some are pastors and laymen, others farmers teachers and such

Some gave their lives for their country
And all of them she loved very much.
She stands alone-defeated?
No, that never crosses her mind

Even tho' her walls and ceilings are crumbled,
Because of the passing of time.
Seems like there is a smile on her windows,

No wonder she seems to stand so tall,
Her mission in Close City is accomplished

And she seems to shout it to all--well done.

A surgeon is so called from the Greek words meaning "one who works with his hands."

The Post Dispatch Football Contest!

All entries must be submitted to The Post Dispatch at 123 E. Main or postmarked no later than 5 p.m. Fridays in order to be considered as a contestant.

Contestants must print legibly their names, addresses and telephone numbers. There is no limit to the number of entries allowed per person.

Winners will be determined by the most number of correct selections of the games listed. Contestants should circle the team they think will win the game.

All entries must be on the printed form in The Post Dispatch, facimiles or

The tie-breaker score must be what the contestant thinks will be the actual score, and the tie-breaker will be determined on a point-spread basis.

The tie-breaker will only be used in case there is a tie between contestants on the total number of correct selections in the contest.

Dispatch Football Contest winners will be notified by telephone and the weekly winners' names will be published on the football contest page.

All decisions by the contest judges are final.
