His combined transparent and opaque technique conveys the beauty of landscapes ranging from oak breaks, roamed by the American Indians and fenced by early settlers, to snow covered mountains and mystic waterfalls.

Gamble devoted six years to teaching art in public schools and two years at Amarillo College prior to becoming a professional artist in 1973. Since then he has become nationally known for his unique water media techniques taught in workshops throughout the country, such as the 10 years at the Carrizzo School of Art in Ruidoso, N.M. He has also juried a number of regional watercolor exhibits. Gamble's works have been exhibited in various galleries and museums throughout the southwest.

He was born in Hollis, Okla. He and his wife, Beth, make their home in Canyon. They have two married children and a grandchild. Danny and Beth own and operate Gamble's Frame and Art Gallery.

Letter To The Editor

We've been inconvenienced. No Parking in the middle of main street downtown. Trucks, front end loaders, other heavy equipment, landscaping equipment, and workers have been a common sight. It doesn't matter that we walk three times as far to shop in the mall at Lubbock, we don't like to do it here. But, it's nearly over. Things are starting to take shape and we can make sense of what at first looked like confusion.

When the dust settles, as it will soon, we'll have trees, grass, brick work, trash receptacles, and benches AND parking again in the middle of the street.

In the process, $25,000.00 of State Highway funded money has been spent in Post. This was spent for services, equipment, equipment operators, fuel, motels, food, other labor and supplies and raw materials. Also, our street could very well increase our getting more of our share of the $17 billion spent annually in Texas Tourism.

Not only will Main Street be very attractive in a short time, all it can do is become more enjoyable as the years go by. We can be as proud as other less progressive communities will be envious.

Our elected and appointed community leaders, various organizations and Robert Farrow, project superintendent, are to be complimented for a job well done. Keep the progress moving forward.

Ear Drops for Some Types of Earaches

Earache is one of the most painful conditions experienced by small children. The most common cause for earaches is infection. And middle ear infections (otitis media) are very common in children. The treatment of this infection usually requires the care of a physician and the use of prescription antibotic medicines given by mouth and/or injection.

Infections in the external part of the ear (otitis externa) are sometimes referred to as "swimmer's ear." The ear canal may itch and become inflammed. In many cases a yellow fluid drains from the external canal at night and is visible on one's pillow the next morning.

Ear drops may be effective in relieving the itching and pain associated with external ear infections. Aluminum acetate solution, for example, may help decrease swelling within the ear and eliminate crusting of the ear canal.

Some authorities recommend these ear drop precautions: wash both hands before using ear drops. Hold the top of the ear up and back so as to help straighten the ear canal. Do not insert the medicine dropper into the ear or touch the dropper to the skin or other surfaces. If the drops cause burning or itching for more than a few minutes after use, contact your physi-

Tornado Destruction

Every tornado is a potential killer and many are capable of great destruction. Tornadoes can topple buildings, roll mobile homes, uproot trees, hurl people and animals through the air for hundreds of yards, and fill the air with lethal, windborne debris.

Sticks, glass, roofing material, lawn furniture all become deadly missiles when driven by a tornado's winds.

In 1975, a Mississippi tornado carried a home freezer for more than a Tornadoes do their destructive work through the combined action of their strong rotary winds and the impact of windborne debris. In the most simple case, the force of the tornado's winds push the windward wall of a building inward.

The roof is lifted up and the other walls fall outward. Until recently, this damage pattern le to the incorrect belief that the structure had exploded as a result of the atmospheric pressure drop associated with the Barbara and David Edwards with their children, Craig, 9, and Russell, 10. The family survived a storm that tore the roof off of their barn, just 500 feet from their trailer.

On May 11, 1970, Barbara McDowell a little scared because my husband and David Edwards were out on a date. Driving through downtown Lubbock, they noticed a strange calm around them. Then came the storm. The couple helplessly watched the windshield pop out, the tires go flat, and the metal crumple as the car, still carrying its passengers, was whipped through the street.

entirely different matter. Barbara, now married to David for 14 years, woke up not long after midnight and turned on the television to Channel 11. John Robison was using the Doppler radar warning system to show a tornado warning in the area between Lubbock and Shallowater, where the Edwards live in a trailer. A neighbor from Wolfforth called Barbara at 1:30 to warn her about the storm. "This is routine for us," Barbara says. "We look out for each other."

For the next two hours, Barbara continued watching the reports. "I was

"Usually I'm the first one in the cellar and the last one out whenever there's a warning," Barbara says. "But, with the Doppler, I knew we were safe." Their barn, however, did not fare so well. Seeing You Safely Through the Storm

Tornado Characteristics

By definition, a tornado is a violently rotating column of air in contact with the ground. The air column may be seen when it contains condensation in the form of a cloud or when it contains surface dust and debris. Often its appearance is a result of both. When a tornado touches the ground there usually is a swirl of dust and debris even when the visible cloud portion is missing or fails to reach all the way to the ground. When the column of air is aloft and does not produce damage, the visible portion is properly called a funnel cloud. A waterspout is a tornado in contact with a water surface.

Tornadoes vary greatly in size, intensity and appearance. Most (62 percent) of the tornadoes that occur each year fall into the weak category. Wind speeds are in the range of 100 miles an hour or less. Weak tomadoes account for less than three percent of all tornado deaths. About one of out of every three tornadoes is classified as strong. Wind speeds reach about 200 miles an hour with an average path length of nine miles and a width of 200 yards. Almost 30 percent of all tornado deaths occur each year from this type of storm. Nearly 70 percent of all tornado fatalities result from violent tornadoes. Although very rare (only about two percent are violent), these extreme tornadoes can last for hours. Average path lengths and widths are 26 miles and 425 yards, respectively. The largest of these may exceed a mile or more in width, with wind speeds approaching 300 miles an hour.

The color of a tornado is determined by a number of factors, such as the amount and direction of sunlight and the type of debris being picked up at the surface. Not only does the shape of a tornado vary from one storm to another, but an individual tornado usually changes its shape frequently during its life cycle. During the late stages of a tornado's life, it is not unusual for the tornado to become highly tilted and shrink in size. This reduction is size does not mean that it is less intense. It is still very dangerous! With exceptionally large tornadoes, the classic "funnel shape" may be absent. The tornado may appear to be a large, turbulent cloud near the ground. It may even be mistaken for a large rain shaft or even a non-weather event such as a fire.

Sometimes as series of two or more tornadoes is associated with a parent thunderstorm. Occasionally, two or more tornadoes can occur simultaneously, extending downward from the same thunderstorm. As parent ulunderstorm moves along, tornadoes in contact with the ground and dissipate or lift, followed shortly by other tornado touchdowns, and so on.

Tornadoes can also be made up of a number of smaller but intense vortices that rotate about a common center. With this type, the most intense damage is concentrated along the paths of the small vortices.

While an individual tornado usually destroys a relatively small area, major tornado outbreaks may cause widespread damage over an extensive area. During the afternoon and evening of April 3 and the early morning of April 4, 1974, a "super outbreak" of 148 tornadoes across 13 states killed more than 300 people, injured more than 6,000 and caused $600 million in damage. On March 18, 1925, the Tri-State tornado traveled some 219 miles across Missouri, Illinois and Indiana. It lasted for over three and one-half hours and killed 689 people.

Except for weak tornadoes and waterspouts in coastal areas, tornadoes usually develop from strong or severe thunderstorms. Most significant tornadoes have their origin within the right rear quadrant of the thunderstorm where a circulation develops at heights between 15,000

A tornado or funnel cloud is observed when this circulation develops further downward toward the surface. Tornado development can also occur along the leading edge of a single thunderstorm or line of thunderstorms. While dangerous, such tornadoes are usually weak and Tornado Facts!

Tornadoes travel at an aver age speed of 30 miles an hour but speeds ranging from stationary to 70 miles an an hour have been reported. While most tornadoes move from the southwest to the northeast, their direction of travel can be erratic and may change suddenly.

While hail may or may not precede a tornado, the portion of a thunderstorm adjacent to large hail is often the area where strong to violent tornadoes are most likely to occur.

Once large hail begins to fall, it is best to assume that a tornado may he nearby, and seek appropriate emair in a protected area until the thunderstorm has moved away. This will usually be 15 to 30 minutes after the hail ceases.

The tornado's atmospheric pressure drop plays, at most, a minor role in the damage process.

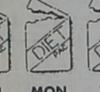

Most structures have sufficient venting to allow for the sudden drop in atmospheric pressure. Opening a window, once thought to be a way to minimize damage by allowing inside and outside atmospheric pressures to equalize, is not recommended. In fact, if a tornado gets close enough to a structure for the pressure drop to be experienced the strong tornado winds probably already will have caused the most significant damage. Furthermore, opening the wrong window can actually increase damage.

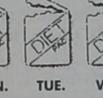

While most tornado damage is caused by the violent winds, most tornado injuries and deaths result from flying debris.

Small rooms, such as closets or bathrooms, in the center of a home or building offer the greatest protection from flying objects. Such rooms are also less likely to experience roof collapse. Always stay away from windows or exterior doors.

Manna Square

by Jan Herring Crawford

JAN'S SWAROVSKI show was a tremendous success. It was informative and a delight to my guests, Post Culture Club and my customers. I think I will replay this share time in my mind for a long time to come.

It was truly BIG SHOW-time in Post to have Swarovski's National Collectors Society Representative, Christine Testoni and Bill Clark, Western Regional Manager, showing videos and telling how the famous Swarovski Silver Crystal is produced.

Thank you, Wes, of The Post Dispatch, and Dave of KPOS Radio for making my day with live broadcasts. 'Twas fun!

I am happy that JAN'S is the flagship shop for MANNA SQUARE. A Dallas customer told me last week that MANNA SQUARE was ahead of Post. My reply was that the town will fast catch up with the tree planting on Main Street. In addition to beauty, the trees fight air pollution. So...let's finish planting the rest of Main Street as well as Broadway by becoming tree arborphiles!

There is an old saying, "we only live once but if we play our cards right, once is enough!"

I have a hunch the cards are falling into the correct slot up and down Main Street. Do you hear the vibes?

Wanda is all over the place and it is great to have her stir us out of our stale rut! What can we do to help? Merchants, let us please regain our initial enthusiasm of three years ago. It is essential to progress for Post.

An 84 year old New Englander was asked, "At your age do you ever think of the hereafter?" His answer: "Yes, I do...in my office, my basement, in my den...I think, what am I here after?" We might ask ourselves in business, "What are WE here after?" I strive for an ideal environment in my shop as it ages well. I shoot for a layering of character to develop.

JAN'S is the only account of HADLEY POTTERY in Texas, so I am constantly adding to this line. A new shipment has just arrived, so I invite you to come in and HADLEY is hand decorated under glaze stoneware. The Country pattern is the most popular one and it makes a colorful and delightful table setting. Priced from $7.50 to $135.00.

If you need to lift your spirits come in and listen to the Musical Clowns at JAN'S. One is a clock that plays a tune on the hour, charm without a regal price tag! Graduation gifts are also arriving, $10 and under.

RUMORS BEAUTY SALON is thrilled to add Cynthia Morris to its staff! She is a talented and imaginative hair stylist. She and Juanella Hays can add glamour to your facade in short order! Redkin and Matrix hair care products are available at Rumors.

The BIG NEWS for MANNA SQUARE!! Let's welcome the VIDEO DEPOT! Remember, their grand opening is tomorrow. Glad you're with us Bob, Lisa and staff. More space in MANNA SQUARE is available for lease, utilities paid. We may not be a full house yet, but I'll bet'cha our section of Main Street is having more fun than anyone in Post! Come join us!

by Katharine Cathcart

Linda Malouf was hostess to a luncheon for the Woman's Culture Club in her Plainview home, Wednesday, April 25.

Mrs Malouf, ever the gracious hostess, served a beautiful lunch, from attractively laid tables centered with fresh spring flowers. Her famous chocolate cake and coffee were the perfect finish to a sumptuous meal.

Louise Dietrich, Storyteller and Distinguished Toastmaster, told a story entitled, "Shopmade Boots and Stetson Hats," which was a heartwarming glimpse into the life of her father, the late Ed Park of Thumbnail sketches of fathers were given by others present. Our forebearers were a colorful and courageous group of men.

Ladies attending the luncheon were Mrs Malouf and her houseguests Louise Wright and Jenny Shehadeh of Plainview; Louise Dietrich and Pauline Mills of Lubbock; and from Post: Donna Craig, Joyce Strubhart, Iva Hudman, Jan Crawford, Dorace Wilson, Ruby Kirkpatrick, Buena Bouchier, Doll Haire, Lillian Potts and Katharine Cathcart.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, May 9, at 12:30, in the Woman's Clubhouse. The Social Committee will be hostesses for a covered dish salad luncheon.

Betty Green of Tahoka, former GTWC, TFWC State President, will install new officers for the coming two years.

'Texas County Cookin'

Phillips Productions, Inc., producers of "8 Country Reporter" and the syndicated version "Texas Country Reporter" have been collecting recipes for a new cookbook tentatively titled "Texas Country Cookin'." The book will be comprised of recipes sent in from around the state and will be in book stores and other outlets around the state in November of 1990. The program is aired locally on KCBD TV, Channel 11.

'Texas Country Cookin'" will be a compilation of recipes sent in from viewers of the two TV shows and from the features' subjects themselves. Bob Phillips, Executive Producer and host of the Country Reporter programs said, "We wanted to include the people we've had on the show because we consider them to be the real salt of the earth. That's usually where you find your best Texas style recipes.

"Our cookbook will be geared toward our show's viewers because it was their idea mainly, but I think it will interest all Texas lovers," Phillips said. We're including some personal stories that go with the recipes to give the readers a better feeling and understanding of others from around the state. The book will also include short stories on the show's feature subjects that have provided recipes.

To date the collection of recipes ranges from squirrel stew to clam cheese log to German Sputniks. An oil field worker sent in a recipe for meat and potatoes that cook on a rig during the midnight shift and are ready for the dinner break. "We have received recipes from Mrs Collard, Mrs Sage, Mrs Hunger, Mrs Haddock, Mrs Newberry and Mrs Peppercrisp." Phillips said, "but we're still waiting to hear from a Mrs Cook and Mr Baker."

With a collection of recipes from a nine year old boy to a 99 year old grandmother, "Texas Country Cookin'" should be a fun and exciting addition to any cookbook collection.

Amber will serve a term of one year. Her duties will also include helping with the year end banquet.

Stephanie Palmer is Garza County's other Mesquite County Delegate with Labeth Jones and Kim Reiter serving as alternates.

Dunlap Named Distinguished Tech Physics Alumnus

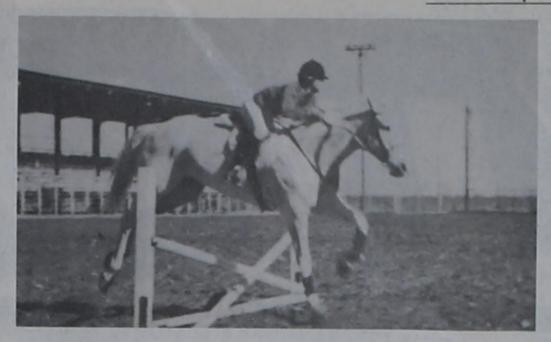

Bobby Dunlap, a 1955 graduate of Post High School, and a 1959 Texas Tech graduate with a bachelor of science degree in physics, was recently chosen by the physics faculty as the distinguished physics alumnus of Texas Tech for 1990. He also holds a PhD in physics from the University of Washington.

In 1966 he began a career with Argonne National Laboratory in Argonne, Ill., where he is now director of the Material Science Division.

Dunlap was the featured speaker at the annual Society of Physics Students' banquet, which was held April 20 at the Lubbock Inn. He pointed out in his speech why he chose physics, how he applied it to what he had learned and how Tech was just right for him. Dunlap also offered suggestions to the students as they prepare for the outside world.

During the banquet Dunlap received awards on behalf of the S.P.S. and the physics department. Some of the departmental awards to students were announced, presented by Dr W.L. Borst, professor and chairman of physics.

Among the guests at the banquet were Dunlap's wife, Carol, his mother, Mable (Dunlap) Voss and stepfather Glenn Voss of Post.

ERIN BOWNDS, daughter of Kathy Bownds, formerly of Garza County, demonstrated English riding techniques for the Garza County 4-H recently.

NOTICE OF PETITION FOR WAIVER

Notice is hereby given that Brazos Electric Power Cooperative, Inc. ("Brazos Electric"), a wholesale generation and transmission electric utility, and the following Brazos Electric member retail distribution electric utilities ("Members"), Bartlett Electric Cooperative, Inc., Belfalls Electric Cooperative, Inc., B-K Electric Cooperative, Inc., Belfalls Electric Cooperative, Inc., B-K Electric Cooperative, Inc., Comanche County Electric Cooperative Assn., Denton County Electric Cooperative, Inc., Dickens Electric Cooperative, Inc., Erath County Electric Cooperative Assn., Fort Belknap Electric Cooperative, Inc., Gate City Electric Cooperative, Inc., Hamilton County Electric Cooperative Assn., Hill County Electric Cooperative, Inc., J-A-C Electric Cooperative, Inc., Johnson County Electric Cooperative Assn., McLennan County Electric Cooperative, Inc., Navasota Valley Electric Cooperative, Inc., Tri-County Electric Cooperative, Inc., Navasota Valley Electric Cooperative, Inc., Tri-County Electric Cooperative, Inc., and Wise Electric Cooperative, Inc., have filed a Petition for Waiver with the Public Utility Commission of Texas ("PUC"). In the petition, assigned Docket No. 9453, Brazos Electric requests waiver of the obligation to sell retail power to qualifying cogeneration and small power production facilities ("OFs") and the Members seek a waiver of their obligations to purchase power directly from OFs. These obligations are contained in PUC Substantive Rule 23.66(d)(1)(A) and 23.66(d)(2), as well as 18 C.F.R. 292.303(a) and (b).

The proposed waivers will not impair the ability of QFs to sell electric capacity and energy or to purchase electric capacity and energy. In the territory served by Brazos Electric and its above-listed Members (63 counties throughout Texas), Brazos Electric will assume the obligation for all purchases of QF generated electricity and the Members will assume all obligations for sales to QFs of capacity and energy. Only duplicate obligations which would otherwise be applicable to both Brazos Electric and its above-listed Members are proposed to be eliminated.

Reciprocal waivers of the type requested by Brazos Electric and its above-listed Members have recently been granted by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission. The proposed waivers will not discourage cogeneration and small power production. Members' avoided cost can never be more than Brazos Electric's avoided cost because the Members purchase all of their wholesale power requirements from Brazos Electric.

The proposed waivers are subject to approval by the PUC. An Original Petition for Waiver specifying in detail each proposed waiver, the reasons waivers are being requested, and the effect of waiver is available at the general offices of Brazos Electric in Waco, Texas, and at an office of each of its above-listed Members.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the PUC as soon as possible. The deadline for intervention is June 18, 1990. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the PUC Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 OR (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Country Caravan

South Plains College in Levelland, Texas, rolls into Post, Texas for an evening of delightful family entertainment on May 25th.

Sponsored by Main Street and Chamber of Commerce, the 90minute revue of hand-clapping and toe-tapping country music hits begins at 9 p.m. at the Courthouse. Admission is free.

Featuring a cast of 14 vocalists and musicians, County Caravan presents a musical program that will satisfy the most discriminating country music critic. Produced by South Plains College's Creative Arts Department, the show takes the best that country music material has to offer, mixes it well with tremendous vocal talent, paints it with colorful costumes, and frames it with topflight musicianship and precision dancing. The net result is non-stop country music fun.

"Our goal for Caravan goes beyond just 90 minutes of entertainment," says John Hartin, the general director for the show and chairman of SPC's Creative Arts Department. "We look for those magical ingredients in country music that enable us to capture a person's full attention for that moment and touch their soul."

To achieve just that, Hartin and his crew rely heavily on the lyrical qualities of country music, performing powerful country tunes which have deep roots in the music industry and which in many instances have weathered the years and remain solid favorites. The result, Hartin says, is an inspiring show which simply makes its audiences feel good.

"We know our critics. Our audiences are regulars with us," says Joe Carr, the show's musical director and master of ceremonies. "They keep coming back each year to see the show, and we have discovered the formula to entertain them." After 13 seasons, that intuitive knowledge of what keeps audiences flocking to see performances of Country Caravan each summer helps to mold the show's musical palette.

More than anything else, Caravan presents a dab of many different country music colors as it tells its story in song and dance. As a result, the program for the 1990 season runs the gamut of contemporary country chartbusters. So the show's portfolio includes hits from artists who reaped Country Music Association awards this past year and which emulate the many musical styles of country music. You'll enjoy songs like George Strait's "Ace in the Hole" which puts a modern sound to traditional western swing; the Judds' "Let Me Tell You About Love" which gives a new shade to the country blues; and Rodney Crowell's "After All This Time", one of the year's most popular love

City Taxes Lowest Around

Everyone gripes about paying taxes, but taxpayers in Post have got a real sweet deal, compared to other area cities. Not only are our tax rates the lowest, we also have a zero bonded indebtedness. According to the Texas Municipal League, March 1990, Post has the lowest tax rate in the South Plains area at $.318. Nearest is Snyder at $.359. Spur has the highest at $.87, followed by O'Donnell, $.86; Ranson Canyon, $.79; Ralls, $.728; Lamesa, $.65; Lubbock, $.64; Levelland, $.588; Slaton, $.56; Tahoka, $.511; Brownfield, $.476; Littlefield, $.425; Jayton, $.419; Floydada, $.40 and Crosbyton, $.399.

Only Lamesa and Littlefield join Post with zero bonded indebtedness. Of course, everyone also knows that we've got the best looking town to live in too.

Foreign Student Exchange Homes Needed

The American Scandinavian Student Exchange (ASSE, Int'l) program is in need of host families for European Exchange Students due to arrive in August of this year. The students are active, outgoing and sure to be a happy addition to any family.

Arriving in August, the students dream of spending an academic year living and learning a culture foreign to them. Under the ASSE program, they will be covered by their own insurance program and will need only room, board and a little tender loving family care during their stay in the

Nelda Dalby Hosts Visitors to Post

Wanda Mitchell, Post Main Street manager, brought to our attention the visit recently of a special group of out of town guests. "Nell Dalby and Mary Young (Dickens County) had the special job of entertaining wives whose husbands were attending the Judicial School in Lubbock," Wanda reports. "Nell and Mary decided it would be fun to bring the women to Post and show off what we have to offer," Wanda added.

The group was met for lunch by Ruby Williams, who already knew most of the visitors, and by Wanda Mitchell. During lunch, Wanda told them about the Garza Theatre and about the landscaping project now underway on Main Street.

After lunch and a short tour of the downtown area, the group was entertained at the Garza Theatre, with the always popular duo of Zoe Kirkpatrick and Will McCrary in their famous one-act version of "I'm Her-

Guests were from the counties of Newton, Dickens, Kaufman, Archer, Limestone, Milan, Upshur, Kendall, McMullen, Glasscock, Llano and Bee. "They promised us they would be back next year and we promised better weather," Wanda concluded.

Emphasizing everyone's role in churches, organizations and individuals to join the nationwide observance of Soil and Water Stewardship Week, April 29 - May 6,

> The local district, which works throughout the year on soil and water conservation measures, is providing literature and speakers that highlight man's responsibility to be active stewards of our nation's soil and water resources.

> Sam Ellis, chairman of the Garza SWCD, said that everyone needs to learn about the impact of their actions and the action of those around us. "Recognizing that, we can commit ourselves to individuals and community action. By using good erosion prevention practices, conserving water or simply planting a tree, we'll each help make the world a better place for our chil> dren's children," said Ellis. Since 1955, the National Association of Conservation Districts has sponsored Soil and Water Stewardship Week, in cooperation with nearly 3,000 local district nationwide, as one way to emphasize the importance of good stewardship > of basic soil and water resources. Materials especially designed to convey the theme, "Citizens of all Creation," are being distributed by the Garza SWCD and may be obtained by calling or visiting the district office during business hours at 210 W. Main and 495-2056.
