At-large Council election process may face alterations

Council elections may change to geographic alignment

by Wesley W. Burnett

City attorney Harvey Morton told Post city council members at the regular meeting Monday night that sooner or later the method of electing council members will probably change, either through litigation or through council planning.

"It's better if the council begins planning for the change now," Morton said, "than to wait until a law suit is filed." Morton explained that the current method of electing council members at large, if challenged in court, would almost certainly result in forcing a change in the election process.

"If you lose a court challenge, you have to pay the attorney's fees and cost of the plaintiff's litigation," he warned the council.

A realignment of the council election process, according to recent U.S. Department of Justice rulings in these type of cases, would require council representatives to be determined on a geographic basis, following a review of the U.S. Census Bureau statistics.

The federal courts have upheld in the past that city council elections must provide equal representation for minorities in a community, and that at-large elections do not satisfy the constitutional requirement.

Council members agreed to study the situation, although no definite plans for reviewing the election process were established.

In other action, the council approved the Code of Ordinances and the final reading of the new "skateboard and bike ordinance," which restricts riding coasting vehicles on sidewalks in the commercial district.

An expansion of the Main Street landscaping project was also discussed, with a consensus that exact costs be determined for the work on West Main Street. Mayor Giles McCrary explained that between $12,000 to $15,000 of privately funded donations have already been committed for the cash expense of the project, and that by contracting with local resources, with a considerable savings being realized.

The landscaping on West Main Street would follow the original plans, with cash outlays coming from private sources.

The mayor informed the council that at a Texas Municipal League meeting in Austin last week he learned about a move by unions to force local referendums on cities to place employees into civil service category. The TML has resisted

Double U, U Lazy S cowboys compete at Texas Ranch Roundup

Cowboys from the U Lazy S and Double U are teamed up to compete in this year's Texas Ranch Roundup in Wichita Falls, continuing through August 19 at the Wichita County Mounted Patrol Arena. The Garza County cowboys will compete with 10 other of the largest, most legendary ranches in Texas.

The friendly competition settles "braggin' rights" to the title of "Best Ranch in Texas."

The daily activities of working ranch hands are showcased in arena events which include team roping, team branding, saddle bronc riding, wild cow milking, team penning and the wild horse race.

The Texas Ranch Roundup also highlights the time-honored talents of this action for some time.

City manager Bob Turner told the council that a public hearing will be held in Lubbock August 13 by the Texas Water Commission to outline the state's water plan for 1990. Turner said the report he received specifically mentions the Lake Alan Henry and Post Reservoir as water projects to be built, which will satisfy the water demands and future needs of Lubbock.

Turner also informed the council that an all time low in fines were recorded by the Municipal Court in July, with only $307 being collected. This followed a discussion concerning budget requests by the Sheriff's Department and a planned meeting by the law enforcement committee.

Water customers in Post recorded an all-time high in a one-month period from June 15 to July 15, with a total of 37,850,650 gallons of water being pumped from White River to Post.

The daily average was 1,261,688 gallons and the peak day was July 3 with 1,563,280 gallons.

The current usage is down considerably with only 612,768 gallons on average since July 16.

A review of the proposed budget for next year revealed a consensus that the effective calculated tax rate, based on the Appraisal District's property evaluations, would be approximately three percent above last year. A public hearing will be held prior to final approval of the budget, which goes into effect October 1.

Attending the meeting were Mayor McCrary, council members Larry Mills, Jim Schooler, Dan Lamb, Larry Waldrip and Irene Fry, city manager Turner, city secretary Wanda Wilkerson and city attorney Morton.

Slaton man apparently dies from electrocution

Brent Oden, a 27 year old employee at A-Rock Materials, died Friday afternoon, August 3 following what was an apparent electrical accident at the gravel pit site north of Post on Texas Hwy 207.

Employees at the site attempted to revive Oden, as did members of the Post EMS, who arrived at the scene at approximately 1:10 p.m. The Garza County Sheriff's Department was notified at 1 p.m.

An investigation by the Mine Safety and Health Administration is continuing into the incident.

Those on the scene reported that Oden appeared to have activated a conveyer belt electrical switch. He was found lying on the ground near the electrical box.

A preliminary autopsy report indicates Oden died from possible electrocution. He was the grandson of Edna Oden of Post.

Bingo tax down 22.7% for Post

The city allocation on the two percent local tax on legalized charity bingo for the period May 2 to July 31, 1990 reflecting a year-to-date decrease of 22.7 percent, according to the recent report by the State Comptroller's Office.

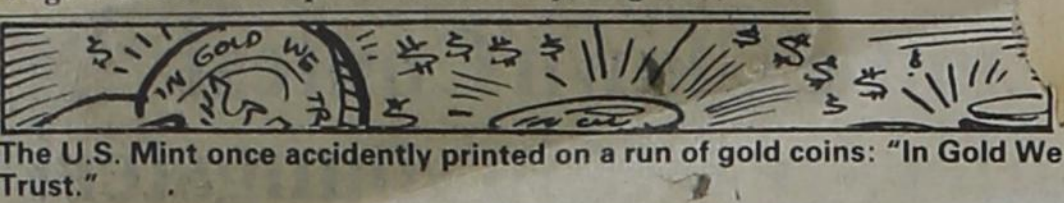

The net payment for the period to Post was $692,611, compared to $1,098,233 for the same period in 1989.

The total tax returned to the city this year is $2,554,10, compared to $3,305 for 1989.

Bingo is regulated by the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission, and is sponsored locally by the Post Chamber of Commerce as a charitable game.

The two percent local tax levy is based on the games' gross receipts.

Prevention & Removal of Excess Ear Wax

The accumulation of excess cerumen or ear wax occurs in many individuals. Wax may accumulate due to overactive wax producing glands, narrow or curved ear canals, or secretion of a wax that is either harder or softer than normal. Ear wax may become impacted and will be difficult to remove when it is pushed deep into the ear canal. Generally, there is no wax in the inside half of the ear canal unless it has been pushed there.

The best approach to excess ear wax is to go to a physician for professional removal of the wax with the proper instruments. Do not attempt to remove the wax with a cotton-tipped stick applicator or swab. Wax pushed next to the ear drum can cause loss of hearing. Also, accumulated wax may trap water inside the ear, producing problems during the warm summer months when many individuals go swimming.

In some instances, accumulation of wax in the external portion of the ear canal can be prevented. Many nonprescription wax-softening products contain propylene glycol or glycerin. Other wax-softening substances include olive oil, mineral oil, and diluted hydrogen peroxide solution. After the wax has been softened, it should be removed by gently irrigating the ear canal with warm water, using a rubber ear syringe.

Youth and senior citizens map intergenerational exchange

A plan to build bridges across the generation gap in 20 South Plains counties and improve the quality of life for both youths and rural senior citizens has come off the drawing board and gone into construction here.

The project is Youth Exchanging with Seniors (Y.E.S.) Its goal is to promote positive intergenerational relationships between youth and seniors by providing assisted-living services that enhance independent lifestyles of the elderly in rural communities.

Y.E.S. is a cooperative effort of the Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center, the Texas Tech College of Home Economics and the South Plains District of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, an agency of Texas A&M University System.

It will link members of 4-H Clubs and Future Homemakers of America with senior citizens in Bailey, Borden, Briscoe, Castro, Cochran, Crosby, Dawson, Floyd, Gaines, Garza, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Lynn, Lubbock, Parmer, Scurry, Swisher, Terry and Yoakum counties.

It is a model program, funded principally with a $254,000 grant from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, the nation's largest health care philanthropy. It is intended as a pilot effort which can be duplicated across the nation.

Co-directors of the project are Dr Sheryl Boyd, assistant chairman for development in the Department of Internal Medicine and associate professor of health organization management, TTU HSC; Dr Betty Stout, assistant professor of Home Economics Education in Texas Tech University's College of Home Economics, and Dr Kathy Volanty, South Plains District Director for Home Economics with the Extension Service.

The program was initiated (July 18-20) with a summer institute at the Texas Tech Health Sciences Center which provided two-and-a-half days of training for adults and a day-and-a-half for teens. More than 100 high school Home Economics teachers, County Extension Agents for Home Economics and senior citizens and some 20 youthful 4-H and FHA members from the 20 counties took part. Participating from Garza County were Sharla Wells, Economics teacher at Post High School; Stephanie Palmer representing Post FHA; Labeth Jones representing Garza County 4-H; and Katie Wolf, Garza County Extension Agent - Home Economics.

"This institute is not just about the Y.E.S. Project, it's about aging," Volanty told the participants. It included such topics as understanding aging processes, myths about aging, the project structure, existing services, involving youth and seniors, strategies for community involvement and support, fostering business skills of participants, county planning and program implementation.

"The two best resources we have in our rural communities are our youth and our elders. This is matching them up," Boyd said.

Institute trainees will form the nucleus of county resource teams which will coordinate efforts in each county. Teams will include an Extension Service Home Economist, a high school Home Economics teacher, and a health care professional or senior citizen.

In the next two months, these teams will enlist a variety of business, health care and civic organizations to teach the youth service providers and match them with seniors requesting services. Seniors will also work with youths to carry out a joint activity that will benefit the community or county. The projects and services selected in each county will begin in January and continue throughout 1991. Possible services might include routine housekeeping assistance, lawn care, personal services and minor home or auto care.

Living on the Edge of the Cap

by Lee Howard
County Agent - Agriculture
Summer Gardening, Part I
"Heat wave" hardly does justice to what our plants and we have been through this summer so far. Three solid weeks of 100-degree weather in June put plants, water systems and gardeners under extreme stress. We can look forward to a long late summer and fall with much better temperatures for vegetable growth.

Iron deficiency is showing up in many landscapes and gardens. Extreme heat in June has made the interveinal yellowing of leaves more severe than usual. Iron treatment of soil and plants is helpful. Iron 138 chelate is the most efficient iron source for our region.

Intensely hot and dry weather stresses vegetable plants and favors spider mites and aphids. Mites start and proliferate on the underside of oldest leaves nearest the soil whereas aphids multiply quickest on tender growing tips at the top of plants. To test for mites tap a suspect leaf on a white or very dark surface. Light colored specks that move are mites. Washing leaf surfaces and rose buds with a moderately forceful stream of water is often enough to dislodge aphids and mites. If you need to spray to control these insects, first scare the bees and other pollinators, lacewings, tiny wasps, lady bugs and other beneficial off plants by tapping branches. They'll return when the spray has dried and is less toxic to them.

Summer Gardening, Part II
If your annuals look "stressed out" beyond reasonable rejuvenation you can start over. Replant with potted transplants of: ageratum, dwarf fibrous-rooted begonias, coleus, impatiens, cosmos, marigold, petunia, periwinkle, portulaca, and zinnia just to name a few. Some kinds will come from seed but time is too short for a long period of bloom enjoyment before frost. Nurseries are taking fall gardening more seriously and continuing to stock good plants, in pots and packs. Impatiens thrive in shade with good indirect light.

Many people are discovering the virtues of vinca (periwinkle). Hot weather tolerance, continuous blooming, bright clear colors, pastels, and whites are among its virtues. Vinca seems to thrive on heat. You might say it is fireproof, almost. Vinca does best in full sun.

You might like to try a new kind of plant, that grows very well on the High Plains. Look for Firebush plants in the nurseries. Firebush has grown very well and will behave as an annual here — it is not cold tolerant — but is well worth the expense for the spectacular display of blooms it presents all summer.

Severe winter injury to Bermuda grass turf is widespread. Bare patches and weak growth are common complaints. Adequate irrigation and nitrogen fertilization are important to encourage regrowth. Before topdressing lawn with nitrogen, irrigate. Then apply nitrogen at the rate of one pound of the element per 1,000 square feet of lawn. To get this rate of nitrogen apply slightly over two pounds of urea (45-0-0) per 1,000 square feet every month until early September.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap, or national origin.

F.M. 2458 and F.M. 3519 NOTICE AFFORDING OPPORTUNITY FOR A PUBLIC HEARING

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation is affording the public the opportunity to request a public hearing regarding the proposed widening and reconstruction of approximately 3.0 miles of the southerly section of the existing F.M. Highway 2458, and the proposed acceptance of approximately 3.40 miles of an existing Garza County road to the State Highway System for widening and reconstruction and designation as F.M. Highway 3519. The proposed projects would provide all-weather current design roadways connecting U.S. Highway 84 to the proposed Lake Alan Henry water reservoir and adjoining recreational area located in southeastern Garza County. The projects would be supervised by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation and funded from the 1991 District Discretionary Fund.

The proposed upgrading of F.M. 2458 would begin at the intersection of F.M. 2458 and U.S. 84 approximately fourteen miles southeast of the city of Post and would follow the existing alignment of F.M. 2458 to the roadway's turn to the north and tie-into the west-to-east alignment at this location of the proposed F.M. 3519. The construction of F.M. 3519 would begin at the easterly limit of project construction of F.M. 2458 and would approximate the west-to-east-to-north alignment of an existing county road to the northwest projection of the Lake Alan Henry recreational area. The combined projects are approximately 6.40 miles in length and are located on a mostly west-to-east alignment north and east of the Lake Alan Henry reservoir.

The existing F.M. 2458 is comprised of twenty feet of asphalt travelway on a shallow depth of base. The existing county road is dirt surfaced with an ill-defined crown sloping to unlined drainage ditches. The improvements proposed for the roadways are typically comprised of two twelve-foot travel lanes and three feet of fully surfaced shoulder widths. The construction of the water reservoir would inundate much of Gobbler Creek Canyon and would necessitate the construction of a bridge with thirty-four feet of travel width spanning the canyon above the reservoir's design high water elevation as a part of the F.M. 3519 project. The typical widths of the proposed travelways and the clear bridge width would accommodate specialized farming equipment commonly using area roadways and would also benefit anticipated recreational vehicle use of the roadways.

The usual existing right-of-way on F.M. 2458 is one hundred feet and the usual existing right-of-way on the county road is sixty feet. The proposed minimum right-of-way width is one hundred feet on both projects and the proposed maximum right-of-way widths two hundred forty feet at Gobbler Creek Canyon on F.M. 3519. The implementation of the proposed projects would require the acquisition of approximately forty-one acres of land to accommodate the proposed design of the roadways and bridge. Garza County in cooperation with the city of Lubbock and the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation will acquire the right-of-way on behalf of the State of Texas.

Although additional right-of-way will be required, no houses or businesses will be displaced. Information concerning benefits and services which may be available to affected property owners as well as information about the tentative property owners as well as information about the tentative schedules for right-of-way acquisition and construction can be obtained from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation Office at 135 Slaton Highway in Lubbock.

Maps and drawings showing the proposed location and design, environmental studies, and other information about the proposed projects are on file and available for inspection and copying at the office of Mr. Frank Phillips, Resident Engineer, at 135 Slaton Highway in Lubbock. A copy of the Environmental Assessment with a schematic layout of the project has been placed on file with Garza County, office of the County Judge, at the Garza County Courthouse in Post, Texas.

Any interested citizen may request that a public hearing be held covering the social, economic and environmental effects of the proposed location and design for the highway project by delivering a written request to the Resident Engineer's office at 135 Slaton Highway in Lubbock, Texas, on or before September 3, 1990. In the event a written request is received, a public hearing will be scheduled and adequate notice will be published about the date and location of the hearing.

Local cowboys compete at Ranch Roundup

dedicated ranchers and their families, featured in a ranch cookin' contest and a talent contest in the categories of painting/photography, crafts and music.

Just as their forefathers did before them in the late 1800s, these seasoned cowboys gather their families together, swap stories with other ranch families, and watch dads, brothers, cousins and hired hands compete against each other at working cattle. It's still the rough and romantic lifestyle that makes Texas cowboys known worldwide.

Attending the event from the Garza County ranches are Joe Marts, Jay Lott, Jeff Lott, Joe Pennell, Rooster Swartz, Sam Whitley, Jeff Scott, Shawn Pennell, Jack Lott, Cody Scott, Staci Marts and Staci Whitley.

Folks at the Double U tell the legend for truth, since the real story has not survived the years.

Not long after the turn of the century, it seems that one of the original owners stepped off the train and onto Texas soil, taking a good look at his newly purchased land for the first time. So impressed was he with the sprawling open spaces, that he dug deep into his pocket and pulled out a shiny silver dollar. Tossing the coin high into the air, he shouted excitedly, "This is where I'm going to double you."

Another of the legends attributed to the Double U owner, C.W. Post, is that when he was asked later about the name, he said it stood for "Double Utopia."

Established in 1906 and owned today by the Post-Montgomery joint venture, the Double U Hereford Ranch encompasses approximately 55,000 acres in Garza, Lynn and Hockley Counties. Each October the Double U holds its production sale, offering cattle from both its commercial and registered breeding operations. About 80 commercial heifers are sold each year, along with 60 registered bulls and 30 registered heifers.

In addition, the ranch also produces about 12,000 acres of cotton.

Run by ranch manager Tom Copeland and seven employees, one of whom has been at the Double U for more than 20 years, the ranch is worked from both horseback (for cattle) and by pickup truck (for general chores, such as mending fences).

Almost 50 percent of the ranch's water is still generated by windmill, a practical use for the ever present West Texas wind.

The Double U has seen and adapted to many changes in the cattle business, including the public demand for leaner beef, which the ranch has met through selective breeding.

But even as things change, things stay the same. According to foreman Kenneth Marts, two of the biggest challenges today are brush control and drought, the same challenges which faced the ranch's original owners.

Ranch work is hard work, Marts asserts, and cowboys spend as much time with general chores as they do working cattle. "You have to really want to be a cowboy," he says.

Other ranches competing in this year's roundup are The Green Land & Cattle Co. of Albany, the Johnson Ranches of Amarillo, the W.T. Waggoner Estate, R.A. Brown Ranch of Throckmorton, Burnett/Triangle Inc. of Guthrie, Lewis Ranches of Clarendon, Moorhouse Ranch Co. of Benjamin, Pitchfork Land & Cattle Co. of Guthrie, Renderbrook-Spade Ranch of Colorado City and Tongue River and Spur Headquarters Ranch of Dumont.

During the past nine years, the Texas Ranch Roundup, sponsored by Budweiser and the North Texas Rehabilitation Center, has raised more than $570,000 for the North Texas Rehabilitation Center, West Texas Rehabilitation Center and the West Texas Boys Ranch.

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between October 15 and December 10 with enclosed planting instructions. The six to twelve inch trees are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free of charge.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 membership contribution to Ten Dogwoods, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410, by August 31, 1990.

Post Potpourri

by Ruby M. Williams

Vacation time and summertime is also the time for grandchildren and those special visits between grandparents and grandchildren. I know some of my fondest memories are the trips to my grandparents where we spent many days fishing (a past time I still enjoy today and I can still bait a hook with most anything but a worm). And remember when the soap operas were on the radio and you had to sit very quietly to listen and the drama just dripped!

Imogene and Albert Stone had their grandchildren over the weekend for what is an established tradition of staying at the Stones and gathering the summer garden. This tradition has grown with the addition of the great-grandchildren but I understand each child left Sunday with a watermelon with their name scratched on it. What special memories for years to come! Attending during the weekend were Tim and Leslie Tatum, Jordan, Laurel and Cass of Post; Cody Stone of Gail; Christy Stone of San Angelo; Chase Tatum of Post, and Cam and Wendy Stone of Midland.

July 31st ended a month of grandchildren visits and activities at the home of Nell and Giles Dalby. Each of the seven granddaughters have spent time at the Cross H in what will surely grow into an annual schedule!

Robbie King cooked fish last Tuesday evening for his family. Here for the evening were Gaynell and Bill Ireland, Brenn and Rusty of Shallowater, Melanie and Richard Blumgardner and Shawn Thomas of Slaton, Diane and Jeremy.

Diane Graves is proof-positive, and living proof at that, that it does pay to wear your seatbelt. Diane, Ronnie and Angela were in El Paso visiting Russell and family and while returning from an errand, Diane was blinded by the sun and ran a red light, resulting in a car wreck. She suffered a fractured right foot and will be on crutches for 4-6 weeks, and also the bruises from the seatbelt...however the investigating officer indicated it could have been a fatal accident had she not been wearing her seatbelt. So buckle up everyone!

By the way, the Graves family, Ronnie, Diane and Angela, were in El Paso to see Russell and Lonna and son, Zachary. Russell is stationed at Ft. Bliss and is a Sergeant with the U.S. Army.

In the Neighborhood

by Wes Burnett

I guess we were wrong in pointing blame for the window breakage at the Algeria onto vandals...seems that larger than normal pigeons, roosting in the upstairs area, are using the windows as escape hatches. This information was first brought to our attention last Wednesday by Barbe Bevers, who says that she and co-workers at the Appraisal District office across the street have seen the birds banging into the upstairs windows. To add to the story, city manager Bob Turner told city council members Monday night that Sheriff Freddy Cockrell and Charles Wallace discovered a large pigeon upstairs in the Algeria and they feel the birds are doing the damage.

How about the price of oil? Of course, we all realize how fragile that can be...just as soon as the dust settles, we can probably count on a flood of oil spewing out of the midwest and you know what happens then...

But, what if? Imagine the way we would live if I stayed at $30 to $40 a barrel for a long time...what if the price of gasoline got so expensive that we just couldn't afford to run off to Lubbock every whim?

Now, wouldn't that change the way we live? If we all stayed home a little more, we might even have a movie theatre again. The thing is, we really have no idea what kind of future we are facing, especially with the dramatic world political changes...imagine, we might even beies with Iran in a fight against Iraq...as my grandad used to say in the 1950s, "what this world is coming to."

Stay in touch, the whole picture may change again next week.

Airman Warren visits Post AIC Dewayne Warren of Holloman AFB, N.M. visited in the home of his parents, Chet and Becky Warren, over the weekend. Dewayne returned to Holloman AFB in July after spending 31 days in Holland. While most he was honored with a barbecue dinner. Also visiting here were AIC Kenny Boteler and Christy Yender, who were guests in the home of his parents, Carl and Ingrid Boteler. Kenny is stationed at F.E. Warren AFB, Wyo. and will be in Post a while. Both Warren and Boteler are 1988 Post High School graduates. Others visiting with the Warrens were her sister and brother-in-law Pat and Fairy Wolfe.
