This article and the upcoming five news articles have been prepared by Gina, a 4-H'er who has been successfully working on her 4-H Record Book in Family Life. Gina's book has placed 2nd in state competition and will be working closely with the Extension Office in studying current research on issues facing the family. Gina has taken this research based information and compiled it into her articles titled "Kids Talk" -- a column not for kids but parents.

Kids Talk -- Talking To Parents

Hey! Kids! Are your parents driving you crazy? Are they on your case all the time? Do you wish they'd just back off and leave you alone?

The griping and squabbling which occurs between us teenagers and our parents is quite common and by no means a recent phenomena. In fact adolescent-parent squabbles date back to the beginning of recorded history.

We teenagers need to distance ourselves from our families as we give up our childhood identities, as example, "the Barns' little girl (or boy)" and we establish our new, separate identities.

This process of separating from our parents and establishing an individual identity is normal and healthy, but it can also be painful for both us and our parents. We can have considerable love for each other, but yet we can still be unable to keep from bickering.

Here are some tips on what you can do to ease this difficult time and improve communication with your parents.

- Avoid looking at your parents as the enemy. Chances are that they love you and have your best interests in mind, even if you don't necessarily agree with their way of showing it.

- Try to understand that your parents are human beings, with their own insecurities, needs, and feelings.

- Listen to parents with an open mind and try to see situations from their point of view.

- Share your feelings with your parents so they can understand you better.

- Live up to your responsibilities at home and school, so that they'll be more inclined to grant you the kind of independence you want and need.

- Bolster your criticisms of family, school, and government with suggestions for practical improvements.

- Be as courteous and considerate to your own parents as you would be to the parents of your friends.

Hopefully, these suggestions will help improve your relationship with your parents. For more information about family life matters, contact your County Extension Agent. I am going to ask you teenagers to please talk to your parents. It will help you out with your growing pains. It has worked for me!

In the Neighborhood

by Lonnie Welborn

Vacation time is here again - and I took a little time off for a short vacation recently myself. (Please note the "little time off" and "short vacation." I'm making it perfectly clear, for the record, how brief my absence from the paper was in case I get the urge, and money, to take off again.)

I went to Arizona - Tempe, Sedona and Oak Creek Canyon, and the Grand Canyon. This wasn't my first visit to Arizona, but it was my first visit to the Grand Canyon - and I was impressed.

I had expected something grand - after all, consider the name - but not as grand as what I saw.

When we got our first good look at the Canyon, we were with tour groups from Germany and Japan - and you've never seen a more quiet group of tourists - all of us.

We didn't have a common language, but after that first long, silent look, people were turning to other people and smiling - and you knew exactly what they were trying to say.

After seeing this wonder, I now know where the word awestruck originated.

In Sedona I talked with a man who asked the usual questions you get in vacation spots - "Have you seen this or that? Where are you folks from?"

When I told him we were from West Texas and began to explain exactly where Post was, he said, "Post, oh, I know where Post is. I know that area - did the Canyon remind you a little of the view from the Fluvanna Cap?"

Makes you feel good, hundreds of miles from home, to run into someone who knows your area.

If you can bear with the Welborn family just a little longer - Mary Welborn is now in Las Vegas, for the first time, learning the ins and outs and ups and downs of gambling and seeing shows with her daughter Margaret and granddaughter-in-law Carol McBee.

Quilt Show Winner

Congratulations to Doris Giddens whose work was entered and won in the June 17 Frontier Day West Texas Quilt Show at historic Fort Concho in San Angelo.

And thanks to Louella Bilberry for bringing in the clipping about the show. Louella was in San Angelo and ran into Joe and Doris Giddens at the show. She didn't know until she saw the exhibit that Doris had placed second in Best of Show and had won First Prize in the Appliqued Quilt division.

Ammons Named TWC Employee of the Month

A Texas Water Commission spokesman announced recently that Randy J. Ammons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ammons of Post, has been recognized as the recipient of the Employee of the Month Award for June.

He is currently an Engineering Technician in the Lubbock Field Operations office.

After graduating from Texas Tech University with a B.S. in Geology, Ammons began his work with the Texas Water Commission as an Environmental Quality Specialist.

In November 1986 and again in November 1987, he volunteered to serve as a moderator for the West Texas Regional Water Utilities Short School. This short school is one of the largest in the state, attracting nearly 500 students annually.

Ammons also finds time to meet with various groups of private citizens, responding to their concerns on water and wastewater services.

A Water Commission press release praised Ammons' work and added, "His two years with the Texas Water Commission have been fast paced and full of learning opportunities and challenges.

"As a result, he was promoted to his present position of Engineering Technician in October 1987. His positive attitude and willingness to do whatever is needed has enabled the District to meet 100 percent of inspection and sampling commitments, and has earned him the respect of his co-workers and supervisors as an outstanding Engineering Technician."

Ammons was officially recognized as Employee of the Month in ceremonies at the Commissioners' Meeting on Tuesday, June 7, 1988.

He and his wife Julie live in Lubbock.

David Counts

David Counts Named as Democratic Nominee for State Representative

Knox City businessman David Counts was chosen Tuesday night by Democratic chairs of the 78th District to replace state Rep Steve Carriker as nominee for the district's House seat.

Taylor County Democratic Chairman A.L. "Dusty" Rhodes of Abilene conducted the "unofficial" meeting, which was described by district leaders as "gentlemen's agreement."

Of the 12 Democratic chairmen, ten votes were cast. Counts, Knox County Democratic chairman for the past eight years, chose not to vote, passing instead, and Lynn County Democratic chairman Tommy Lawson was not present. Of the ten votes cast, Counts received six while Carriker aide Greg Wortham of Sweetwater had four. Those counties supporting Counts included Jones, Kent, King, Scurry, Stonewall, and the 14 rural precincts of Taylor County. Wortham had the backing of Cottle, Fisher, Garza, and Nolan counties.

Wortham, 27, was first to speak to the group, citing his legislative experience, and the need for strong representation from rural counties.

Counts, 51, introduced his family who was present and mentioned both civic and business accomplishments during his years in Knox City. He said he would make only two promises during his campaign -- first, to always listen, and second, to work as hard as he knew how to for the good of Texas and "especially for the good of the 78th District."

Following the voting, Wortham congratulated Counts and said he would support the chairman's decision.

After the roll call vote, the chairmen unanimously selected Counts as the nominee.

Counts will be formally placed on the ballot once Carriker becomes nominee for the 30th Senatorial District seat. Republicans may claim that Carriker cannot legally be replaced as the House nominee; however, Rhodes said that Counts should not have any problem winning in November.

Former Snyder Mayor Rod Waller is the Republican candidate for the House seat.

Energy Assistance Available for Low Income Households

Some low-income Texans may be eligible for help in paying cooling bills this summer through the Home Energy Assistance Program, according to Texas Department of Human Services Commissioner Marlin Johnston.

Johnston said the one-time payment is available to any low-income households. Applications for energy assistance were mailed to households that received food stamps, Aid to Families with Dependent Children, or Supplemental Security Income in May. If those households have at least one member who will be 60 or older in 1988 or a member with a medical condition that is aggravated by heat, they may qualify for assistance. Other low-income individuals may request an application from local DHS offices during the enrollment period of now through July 19.

Eligibility is limited by gross income and resources. This year, because of budget cuts and participation rates, the benefits for the cooling program may be lower than last year's. Aid is available for a one-person household having less than $589.49 gross income per month. The gross income limits are $781.49 for households of two persons, $973.49 for three, $1,165.49 for four, $1,357.49 for five, and $1,549.49 for six.

Households are eligible if the cost for cooling is included in the rent payment or if the household pays a portion of its home energy costs.

Energy assistance checks are sent directly to the people who are eligible for assistance. However, the checks are made payable to the energy company.

Persons receiving one of these energy assistance checks should mail it or take it in person to the energy company business office with their regular energy bill. The check can be cashed only by the energy company. If the HEAP check is more than the energy bill, the additional amount will be credited to the person's account for the next month's bill.

Area Cotton Crop Off to Good Start

Although some of the area's young cotton crop has been plagued with problems ranging from sand to hail and dryness to moisture, the 1988 crop is off to a better start now than in the past few years, said Dr James Supak, agronomist and cotton specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Contrasting this year's planting season to those of 1986 and 1987, Supak remarked, "This represents the most uniform start in several years." He noted that the plantings were late the past two seasons because wet, cool conditions persisted. Supak estimated nearly 3.2 million acres reserved for cotton this year, 90 percent of which has already been planted. This shows an increase from the 2.8 million acres planted in 1987. Supak said this is partly because there is no need to abandon any cotton acreage yet since there has been no widespread adverse crop conditions. However, rain and hail has caused damage to some cotton in western counties such as Bailey and Cochran. Sam Field, Cochran County agricultural Extension agent, reported that 30 percent of the cotton in the county needs replanting. Eastern counties such as Crosby and Garza have experienced some dryness with any precipitation wel-

The Post Dispatch Wednesday, June 22, 1988 Page 9 come. "Although rains have been timely," Supak said, "We are still moisture deficient." Supak stressed that deep moisture reserves aren't present, and more rain is still needed. Sand and wind have also damaged young seedlings in many of the surrounding counties. Field noted that cotton in Cochran County has had as much damage due to wind as rain. Billy Warrick, Hockley County agricultural Extension agent, reported that a sand storm on May 30 damaged some 4,000 to 5,000 acres of cotton in the county.

Agricultural Income for Texas Up in 1987

Agricultural income for Texas increased substantially in 1987 from 1986 levels, says Dr Carl Anderson, an agricultural economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Anderson says a sharp gain in livestock sales was allowed by a moderate rise in crop receipts. In addition, sizable government payments and steady farm expenses boosted net income, Anderson adds.

"Estimated cash receipts totaled $10.6 billion, a marked increase from the previous year. Higher cattle prices pushed cattle sales up sharply. Receipts from marketings of hogs, sheep, goats, wool and mohair also increased, and dairy product marketings advanced slightly. Poultry and egg receipts, however, declined," Anderson says.

"Cotton sales posted a big increase, with higher prices and record yields. Citrus, vegetables, nursery crops and timber receipts improved somewhat, but marketings of oil crops, feed grains and food grains declined," Anderson adds.

"Texas is expected to challenge Iowa for second place among states in 1987 cash receipts, behind California. Texas ranks first in sales of cattle and calves, sheep and wool, goats and mohair, cotton, spinach, value of farm real estate, number of farms and ranches, and farm and ranch land," Anderson says.

"Farm assets in Texas --- including land, buildings, livestock, machinery, crop and livestock on hand, and farm financial assets -- total about $64 billion. The state has 160,000 farms averaging 838 acres with value of land and buildings averaging $482 per acre," he adds.

Agribusiness

The economic impact of 1987 agricultural production in Texas is estimated in excess of $33 billion, Anderson notes. Businesses related to agriculture employ more than 20 percent of the state's work force. Many business, financial institutions and individuals are involved in providing supplies, credit and services to farmers and ranchers, and in transporting, processing and marketing agricultural commodities, he explains.

"Texas agriculture remains strong. Major efforts by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, agencies of The Texas A&M University System, support development of the state's agricultural industry to its greatest potential. Agriculture in Texas benefits from a relatively warm climate, productive soils, and excellent export and transportation facilities," Anderson says.

Meat Animals

Beef cattle in Texas boost the nation's cattle industry and represent 14 percent of the U.S. cattle herd and 16 percent of all beef cows. Cattle fed in Texas account for about 23 percent of the U.S. total, he adds.

Cash receipts from cattle and calves in 1987 are estimated at $5.1 billion -- 48 percent of the state's agricultural sales. Marketing from hogs totaled $88 million.

Sheep herds are expanding, while goat numbers are down slightly. Estimated receipts from sheep totaled $92 million and goats $29 million.

Miscellaneous Livestock

Wool and mohair sales totaled an estimated $59 million. Mohair receipts of $43 million exceeded wool sales of $16 million.

Food Grains

Receipts from wheat and rice harvests added about $353 million to Texas agricultural marketings. Sales of rice approximated $120 million. Per-acre yield decreased from 6,250 pounds in 1986 to 5,900 pounds on 7 percent fewer acres.

Texas wheat farmers harvested 3.6 million acres, down 25 percent from the year before. Estimated cash receipts were $233 million, with per acre yields of 28 bushels compared with 25 bushels in 1986.

Feed Crops

Feed crop cash receipts amounted to $633 million. Grain sorghum marketings totaled $242 million, with yield increasing to 3,528 pounds per acre from 3,192 pounds a year earlier. Harvested acreage totaled 2.65 million, a 30 percent decline.

Corn yield decreased from 107 bushels per acre, down from 112 bushels in 1986. Acreage harvested declined 6 percent to 1.25 million. Sales of hay, oats, barley and ensilage increased slightly.

Cotton

Cotton and cottonseed marketing increased to $1,120 million due to increased acres and higher yields. Acreage harvested totaled 4.4 million, a 28 percent increase over 1986. Yields rose to a record 502 pounds from 353 pounds per acre the previous year.

Oil Crops

Estimated oil crop sales increased slightly to $137 million. Texas farmers harvested only 150,000 acres of soybeans, a 21 percent decrease from 1986. Soybean yield averaged 28 bushels per acre, up from 23 bushels in 1986, with marketings at $18.8 million.

Peanut yields averaged 1,800 pounds per acre, compared with 1,750 pounds the year before on 235,000 acres. Sales were estimated at $115 million. Sunflowers and other oil crop receipts totaled $3.7 million.

Applications Now Accepted for FLHP

Longtime Texas farm and ranch families once again have an opportunity to preserve their agricultural heritage as participants in the Texas Department of Agriculture's Family Land Heritage Program.

"TDA is again searching for Texas farms and ranches which have been continuously owned and operated by members of the same family for 100 years or more," Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower said today.

Since it was first launched by TDA in 1974, over 2,200 properties throughout the state have been enrolled in the program.

Participants who qualify will be recognized by TDA at a ceremony in Austin in November where they will receive a certificate of honor in the name of their property and a metal sign to hang on their farm or ranch gate. Honorees will be listed in the annual Family Land Heritage Registry. The deadline for application for the 1988 ceremony is July 15.

Under provisions of the program, Texas residents who own agricultural land may apply if they can trace the line of ownership from the first family member to the present either through direct relatives or by marriage.

Texas residents who own agricultural property which they think may qualify can obtain application forms and information about the program by contacting their county judge, county Historical Commission chairperson, their nearest TDA district office, or by writing the Family Land Heritage Program, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.
