Tornadic Winds Rip Across Garza County

High Winds, Heavy Rains Batter County

by Lonnie Welborn

The month of June got off to a wet, windy start late Thursday afternoon with a severe thunderstorm that blew into Post bringing with it some much-needed rain accompanied by hail and high winds that toppled trees, storage buildings and fences.

Thursday's rainfall amounts over the area varied from 0.80 inches, reported to the National Weather Service, to two and one-half inches recorded at Radio Station KPOS. Rainfall amounts were sufficient on U.S. 380W to close that highway for about two hours, according to Garza County Sheriff Freddy Cockrell.

Although officially no tornadoes were reported, the tornadic-like winds that battered Garza County toppled power lines in the Southwestern Public Service Company area, downing 22 utility poles, 13 of those in the Close City area, Joe Harris of SPS said.

Power service in Post was out for about two hours, Harris added, and complete service to the Close City area was restored around three o'clock Friday morning.

High winds took their toll in almost all parts of the county;

The east lumber shed at Higginbotham Bartlett was blown down and the roof partially blown off the west lumber shed. In a west lumber shed, a wall was caved in and part of the roof was lost, manager Robert Wall reported.

In Close City, homes were damaged when roofs were blown off, windows broken or porches blown away. A trailer was also overturned and car windows broken when the high winds hit the Close City area.

In Graham, the Graham Coop Gin lost part of a garage at the gin house, tin was torn off the module shed and a burrhopper overturned. A shop roof was lost at a Graham residence and a cotton trailer was blown into the side of an apartment at the same residence.

On Highway 380W, just atop the Caprock, a Garza County maintenance barn was demolished, according to County Commissioner, precinct two, Ted Aten. What little remains of the barn will be torn down, Aten said.

Small pea sized to marble sized hail pounded almost all of the county, and was especially heavy in the Grassland and Graham areas, where inches of hail were on the ground in some places.

Some area farmers, who had been waiting for the rains, are now waiting for the fields to dry enough to plant cotton.

Victor Ashley of the ASCS office estimated that perhaps 40 percent of the acreage was planted before the storm hit and a lot of these acres were either hailed out or washed out.

Farmers still have until around June 10 to get their cotton in, Ashley said, but he also added that ranchers east of town were still in need of rain to fill tanks.

Post association being the ninth rural EMS services to request this physician assistance.

Texas state law requires that all Emergency Medical Services be supervised by a physician. SPEMS began offering this service in June of 1988, with Dr. C.R.F. Baker, Jr. and Dr. G. Jeff Young providing the service.

Medical direction includes supervision and close review of skills-proficiency of EMS providers. This is made possible through regular case-review meetings held in the individual South Plains service regular meetings.

SPEMS is a regional, non-profit support organization for EMS on the South Plains. It is governed by a Board of 32 representatives who are hospital administrators, county officials, physicians, EMS providers, nurses and public-at-large representatives. SPEMS is funded by voluntary county government and hospital assessments and Garza County has been a long-time financial supporter of this cooperative endeavor.

Post EMS is a volunteer EMS service. If you are interested in getting involved in EMS, call Melodie Yarbro or John Redman for more information.

Playday Set for Girl Scouts Friday, June 9

A one-day playday for all registered Girl Scouts in Post will be held at the City-County Park Friday, June 9.

Girl Scouts taking part in playday will meet at the swimming pool at 5:30 p.m. and bring clothes to change into after swimming.

There will be a picnic and games in the park until 9 p.m.

The playday will replace the Girl Scout Day Camp which had been held annually, but was cancelled this year due to a shortage of available scout leaders.

DESTRUCTIVE WINDS ripped through one of the main storage barns at Higginbotham-Bartlett late last Thursday afternoon, which resulted in the loss of electric power in the downtown area for several hours.

1988 Plains Cotton Crop Valued at $1.169 Billion

Cotton Talks

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. Figures released to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. June 1 fixed the official size of the 25-county High Plains cotton crop at 3,234,700 bales of 480 pounds net. PCG estimates a record farm-level crop value of $1.169 billion.

The production total, tallied by the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service (TASS), is the second highest in area history, and over 21 percent above the 2,668,550 bales grown in 1987. Record production for PCG's 25 counties was established in 1981 with a crop of 3,522,000 bales.

TASS reported 3,227,000 acres planted to the fiber crop on the Plains in 1988, an almost unheard-of 96.7 percent of which, or 3,119,200 acres, remained for harvest. The 1987 crop came off 2,819,000 planted acres, 2,599,000 of which were harvested. The record crop of 1981 was produced on 4,473,500 harvested acres.

Average yield for the 25 counties came to 497.8 pounds per acre in 1988, a scant 3.1 pounds above the previous year's yield, but 52 percent above the area's 10-year average of 329.5 pounds through 1987. The High Plains record yield of 513.2 pounds per acre was set almost 30 years ago in 1965.

Gaines County with its huge acreage produced a bale-count of 314,800 in 1988, topping all others for the third consecutive year. Highest per-acre yield, a distinction that went to Parmer County in 1987, switched to Hale County with a yield of 570 pounds in 1988.

The farm-level value of the crop exceeded the billion-dollar mark for the second time in as many years. The $1.169 billion figure compares to the $1.06 billion value PCG assigned to the 1987 crop.

In 1988, Garza County, according to the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service, had 38,100 acres planted; 37,400 acres harvested; a yield of 386 per harvested acre; and a total production in 480-pound net weight bales of 30,100.

Guitar, Photography on Tap by CCA for Summer

Registration is now open for the Caprock Cultural Association sponsored summer guitar classes, with John McCullough, and photography classes, with Joe Miller, for Post and area youths. The CCA has tentatively scheduled these classes for the middle and last of June, but registration is needed now for the classes to develop.

John McCullough, popular radio host on Radio KPOS, will conduct the guitar classes, geared for young people ages 11 and up, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. Classes will offer individual instruction, with no more than five students per class. The CCA hopes to start these classes by June 19.

A member of the Caprock Photographers and recipient of many ribbons at local art shows for his work, Joe Miller will conduct photography classes designed for youths 10 and up. The classes will give the young photographers needed camera skills and are scheduled to begin June 29 at 7 p.m.

The guitar and photography classes are part of an effort of the Caprock Cultural Association to coordinate and introduce cultural activities for area young people for the summer months.

Please contact JoAnn Mock, administrator of the CCA, at 495-4000 or at the CCA office in the Algerita Arts Center on Mondays, Tuesdays or Fridays for pre-registration and full information concerning these summer activities.

Electric safety is looking up...

On the farm, on the job or at home, you should always be aware of power lines. Touching a power line with anything... an irrigation pipe, tool, a kite string... could divert the electricity through you causing serious injury or death. For safety's sake, look up for power lines.

AND, REMEMBER THESE SAFETY TIPS

- Do not trim trees near power lines.
- Do not shoot at insulators on poles, towers or structures.
- Avoid using electrical tools like lawn mowers or hedge clippers when grass and leaves are wet.
- Be careful when digging. Call SPS to find out if there are any buried electrical lines in the area.
- Beware of exposed wires.

SPS Program "Kid-Care" Will Assist Children

Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS) and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) Local 602 have implemented a community-watch program designed to assist children who are lost, hurt or feeling threatened.

"Through the "Kid Care" program, a child needing assistance can go to any utility truck bearing the distinctive SPS logo. These vehicles are equipped with radios allowing SPS employees to contact a company dispatcher with a request for help.

The dispatcher, in turn, notifies the appropriate medical of law-enforcement agency, and the SPS employee remains at the site until help arrives.

The police or other authorities will hand the situation reported by the child. SPS employees have been instructed only to relay requests for help.

"I think there's a natural inclination to try to help a kid in trouble," said Clayton White, business manager for the IBEW Local 602. "We're just asking our people to remember that they're utility workers, not policemen or paramedics, and they should let the authorities handle any Kid Care situation that comes up."

Posters featuring large white trucks with SPS's orange-and-black logo have been placed in elementary and middle schools throughout the company's 52,000-square-mile service area. Principals and teachers at these schools will help educate students about the program, and parents will be encouraged through flyers and other materials to discuss the Kid Care program with their children.

"Kid Care is a natural addition to SPS's existing community service." (Continued on Page 10)

by Lonnie Welborn

There's a lot of talk this spring, and there'll be more talk this summer when vacationers hit the road, about the Ramses the Great exhibit in Dallas - the first exhibit of its kind to hit the United States since a fellow Egyptian, King Tut, was here.

Well, go to Dallas if you can, by all means, to see Ramses the Great. But if you can't, you're still in luck - because you'll be able to see a little Egypt when the Post Chamber of Commerce brings the Ramses Touring Exhibit to town.

That's right, folks, the Chamber of Commerce will host the Ramses Touring Exhibit for a week-long stay at the Algerita Art Center, July 17-24.

The touring exhibit is a photographic essay containing reproductions of Ramses the Great's Mortuary Temple; two video tapes on RTG - one for adults and one for children; and reproduced artifacts of the Ramesside age.

It isn't too early to start planning a trip or a group tour to see the exhibit. At this time Post is the only West Texas town scheduled to host the tour, and it's sure to attract a lot of area-wide attention.

Admission for the exhibit will be $2 for adults and $1 for children. If you'd like more information, call the Chamber at 495-3461.

State in Second Place After 1988 Ag Receipts

Texas' gross 1988 agricultural income advanced moderately over the previous year, with farm and ranch cash receipts totaling about $10.95 billion.

Dr. Carl G. Anderson, an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said these receipts are expected to keep Texas in second place behind California among all states based on 1988 farm receipts.

He said that farming and ranching in Texas, when compared to most other states, continues favorable.

"Texas ranks first in sales of cattle and calves, sheep and wool, goats and mohair, cotton, value of farm real estate, number of farms and ranches, and farm and ranch land," Anderson said.

He said that although the drought changed the 1988 income picture somewhat, crop sales last year increased sharply with livestock receipts also posting a sizable gain.

"Government payments also remained large, but farm expenses increased slightly to hold net income in line with the improved 1987 levels," Anderson said.

He said other factors influencing last year's cash receipts were a marked increase in grain prices and a large cotton crop that boosted overall crop sales substantially.

In addition, higher cattle, broiler and wool prices and strong dairy and poultry marketings increased livestock sales somewhat. Receipts from nursery plants, eggs, sheep, aquaculture and outdoor recreation slowed, while income from hunting leases and horses edged upward.

Anderson said farm assets in Texas, including land, buildings, machinery, crops and livestock on hand, and farm financial assets, total about $78 billion, down from a peak $108 billion in 1984.

The state currently has 156,000 farms that average 846 acres.

"Adequate supplies of crops and total meats are expected to push 1989 agricultural cash receipts for Texas below those of the fairly strong showings of 1988," Anderson said.

Local Students Attend WTS Leadership Seminar

Robbie Francis of Post and Robert Elliott of Southland were chosen to attend the annual Crown of Texas, Hugh O'Brien Youth Leadership Seminar hosted by West Texas State University, June 2-4 for outstanding sophomore students.

The seminar was conducted in 84 locations across the United States with the purpose of bringing a select group of students together with groups of distinguished leaders in business, government, education and the professions.

The students and leaders discussed present and future issues, using an informal question and answer format. The specific goals were to seek out and reward leadership potential in high school sophomores and to encourage and assist students in their quest for potential leaders through give-and-take discussions on a variety of current and critical topics.

The seminars provided through this exposure the opportunity to explore America's incentive system and the democratic process.

Drought Aid Available for Garza County

Garza County is one of 110 Texas counties where farmers and ranchers are eligible for more help to survive the drought that has scorched much of Texas' agricultural land since last year, U.S. Senator Phil Gramm reports.

"The Department of Agriculture has approved almost half of the counties in Texas for at least one of the several drought aid programs that are available," Gramm said.

"The primary program will allow farmers and ranchers in these counties to harvest hay for feed on set-aside land or to graze livestock directly on this land," he said.

"Also, many counties are eligible for the department's emergency livestock feed program in which USDA shares the cost of buying feed."

On a related front, Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee Chairman Jerry Harris told a House subcommittee hearing in Lubbock last week that disaster assistance to wheat producers alone could top $81 million this year in Texas.

The estimate is based on extension of the 1988 drought bill with provisions for other weather damage added, he said.

"The crop losses are due primarily to drought and freeze damage," Harris said. "In 1989, due to the combination of dry weather and late freezes, the prospects of harvest a crop are very poor."
