Spotlight on 4-H During Week of October 1-7

"Celebrate With 4-H" is the theme for this year's National 4-H Week, and to mark the occasion, Garza County Judge E.A. Howard, Jr. has issued a proclamation declaring October 1-7, 1989 as National 4-H Week in Garza County.

To celebrate, special programs and activities are planned as Garza County 4-H'ers join others in festivities around the nation.

Among local planned activities for 4-H Week are window displays, foods and nutrition projects and the annual 4-H Achievement Banquet, which will be held at the Post Community Center, Saturday, October 7 at 7:30 p.m.

Garza County has some 145 4-H members who are among more than 388,000 in Texas and 4.5 million across the nation who will participate in this annual youth celebration.

"As we observe National 4-H Week, we recognize that the program is truly a people development program," said Katie Wolf, county 4-H program coordinator with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The agency is the parent organization of 4-H. The program assists youth in developing skills that will be useful in the real world.

Program concepts help boys and girls discover their strengths and weaknesses, and exposes them to activities in a variety of career fields. Additionally, 4-H helps them build positive self-concepts for directing their lives, while learning and having fun as well. Families can add to the fun by learning and growing together.

Volunteer leaders assisting in the 4-H program also learn new skills while sharing their expertise with young people.

About 42 adult volunteer leaders work with 4-H boys and girls in Garza County through six different 4-H clubs.

The 4-H'ers can choose from over 70 different project and program areas designed to help them prepare for the future.

For more information about the 4-H program, contact the county Extension office at 495-2050.

Museum Leads off Founder's Day with Open House Sunday, Oct 8

by Lonnie Welborn

The Garza County Historical Museum will lead off the third annual Founder's Day Celebration with an open house Sunday, October 8 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., featuring two special exhibits related to C.W. Post and the settlement of the West Texas area.

"C.W. Post - A Retrospective" is an exhibit combining items from the museum's own collection of Post memorabilia with articles provided by the Southwest Collection, including personal effects of Charles William Post and photographs, displayed for the first time, of C.W. Post and early settlers.

"The Llano Estacado Experience: Utilization of the Arid Lands of Texas" is an exhibition produced by the Southwest Collection, illustrating land utilization in the arid Llano Estacado which first occurred in a time when people, because of their small numbers, lived within the limits of a fragile environment.

The arid Llano Estacado can be a forbidding place. The climate varies among extremes and includes frequent, recurring cycles of drought. Relentless spring winds abrade the soil and, when the climate turns dry, extend to summer. Sudden, severe storms in spring and summer bring downpours, hail and occasional tornadoes.

But the land contains extremes of beauty as well; incredible sunsets; an exhilarating summer climate; a bountiful resource base in the soil.

Indians - Apache and, later, the Kiowa and Comanche - lived within the limits of the land, but during the late 19th century, the steady encroachment of Anglo settlers resulted in a series of conflicts for control of the Llano Estacado.

By 1877, bison were exterminated from the western plains of Texas. For 10,000 years, the Llano Estacado had been a natural game preserve supporting nomadic hunters and gatherers. That era passed within a decade.

In the early 1880s, with the Indians and bison removed, sheep were coaxed down the Canadian and Pecos River valleys for season (Continued on Page 13)

County Unemployment at 7.6 Percent, T.E.C. Says

The unemployment rate in Texas obviously needs a swift kick according to Commissioner Mary Scott Nabers of the Texas Employment Commission. "The rate declined just barely over the past month," Nabers said, "but we are still higher than this time last year. We cannot seem to get a good, consistent downward trend established."

The latest statistics place the August rate at 7.2 percent (down from 7.3 percent in July but above the 6.7 percent recorded in August of 1988).

In Garza County, Texas Employment Commission figures show a total civilian labor force of 2,011. T.E.C. estimates show 1,863 of this total employed and 148 unemployed, a 7.4 percent unemployment rate.

"We watch carefully for any signs that indicate the state's economy is slowing," Nabers said, "and while these numbers are definitely disappointing we do not believe this year's higher rate is significant enough to be alarming."

The total number of unemployed Texans was 607,700 and approximately 7,842,700 people were working. The state lost over 5,000 nonfarm salaried jobs primarily because of their nature.

Unemployment rates in most of the 27 major metropolitan areas for which data are currently available followed the statewide trend with slightly lower rates in August. Rates rose moderately in five MSA's over the month, while three areas' rate remained unchanged.

The areas with the lowest unemployment rates in August were: Bryan-College Station, with a 4.9 percent rate; Lubbock, at 5.6 percent; Amarillo and Sherman-Denison, each with rates of 5.8 percent; and Austin and San Angelo, each of which had a 6.0 percent rate in August.

Entered at U.S. Post Office, Post, Texas for transmission through the mails as Second Class matter, according to an Act of Congress, March 3, 1879.

- Letter to the Editor -

Dear Editor:

I am writing about an important issue that we should all be aware of before a tragic accident occurs here in Post. What I mean is about those infamous pit bulls that have been popping up around Post lately. I am sure that you have read or heard about those dogs attacking people for no reason.

About a month ago here in Post, two young men who own pit bulls, got into a fight over those dogs and the police were called in to calm both young men. Can you imagine two humans fighting over those dogs, when humans can reason with each other. What could happen when a pit bull attacks other dogs or even a human. Not even the police or their owners could control them.

I have read that in larger towns there is a law and a fine for letting pit bulls run loose or even to take them for a walk while leashed.

I think there should be a law passed here in Post banning the ownership of these dangerous dogs, because who knows, one day these dogs could attack me or you or even someone you love. We should look into this matter seriously before the next statistic happens here in Post.

October is Ninth Annual Energy Awareness Month

Energy is the lifeblood of America. Energy influences the quality of our lives and contributes to our prosperous economy and national security. In short, "Energy Builds a Better America."

That's the theme for the ninth annual National Energy Awareness Month. Government agencies, businesses, educators and community organizations are joining forces to help observe this October event.

In Texas, Governor Bill Clements has spearheaded this observance with the signing of a proclamation declaring October 1989 as Energy Awareness Month in Texas. In the proclamation, Governor Clements notes that we have made great strides in conservation and the development of alternative sources of energy. However, he reminds us we cannot forget the lessons of the past and encourages all Texans to "promote the efficient use of all our energy resources, not only for ourselves, but for future generations."

Last year more than 70 organizations throughout the United States sponsored official Energy Awareness Month events and activities. They ranged from poster contests to education projects, special TV programs, exhibits and open houses at energy facilities. Similar activities are expected this month.

Those desiring more information on sponsoring an event or receiving a free Energy Awareness Month poster should contact the Texas Energy Extension Service on their toll-free Energy Hotline. The number is 1-800-643-SAVE.

The EES office also provides free publications on energy resources and conservation, audio/visual materials and speakers. The Texas Energy Extension Service is a program of the Governor's Energy Management Center.

In the Neighborhood...

by Lonnie Welborn

If you've been following the items to be auctioned off at the third annual Founder's Day Celebration Dance, which will be held this year at the Two Bit Ranch, you may be wondering what an "Exclusive Ranch Starter Kit" is. I was wondering and had to ask - and I'm glad I did.

An "Exclusive Ranch Starter Kit" includes - and I'm not kidding - a cow, a pig, a rooster and a 50 pound bag of feed. And these are not stuffed animals, folks.

You'll have the opportunity to look over the starter kit - the cow, the pig, the rooster - when it goes on display soon somewhere around town. Just where it's going to be on display isn't known right now, but I doubt you'll have much of a problem finding it.

The kit is just one of the many items you can bid on during what promises to be a very enjoyable evening, Thursday, October 12. Tickets are available at the Main Street Office.

Black and Gold Day

The cheerleaders of Post High School have announced that Friday, October 6 is Black and Gold Day at the school, and you are invited to put on your black and gold and attend the pep rally at the gymnasium at 3:10 p.m. Your continued support on Friday nights is appreciated.

Touring Exhibit

Now underway, and continuing through Friday, October 13 at Western Texas College Fine Arts Gallery in Snyder, is the Post Art Guild's touring exhibit of 23 pieces in various media selected from the Art Guild's annual Spring Art Show.

You can view the exhibit on the WTC campus from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Friday...and it's free.

Museum Open House

Founder's Day gets off to a good start Sunday, October 8 with an open house at the museum's Historical Museum from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

The Southwest Collection has provided an outstanding exhibit in the "Llano Estacado Experience" and has also added to the museum's present C.W. Post exhibit for "C.W. Post: A Retrospective."

Make plans to drop by the museum on Sunday for these outstanding exhibits - and also plan to stay awhile to visit and enjoy the refreshments.

"Feeling Good About Me"

Local sponsors Strawn Transport & Acid Company, United Supermarket, Palmer's, Justice-Mason Funeral Home and The Olive Branch have provided a gift-book entitled "Feeling Good About Me" for students in the third grade at Post Elementary School.

"Feeling Good About Me" contains eight stories about realistic problems young people might encounter and how, using traditional values, they are resolved.

Each story is accompanied by a teacher's guide which covers discussion starters, lesson objectives and follow-up applications. The purpose of the lessons is to teach young people good values and encourage discussion of values of children, their parents and other family members in a home setting.

The sponsors are providing these gift books because they know young people are the most precious resource of the community.

Lubbock A&M Club

If you're an A&M fan, you'll be in Lubbock Saturday, October 7 for the Texas A&M - Texas Tech game - and you may want to attend the Lubbock A&M Club Scholarship barbecue which will be served in the Lubbock Coliseum immediately following the game.

Friends, former students, students and supporters of Texas A&M will have the opportunity to enjoy catered barbecue with all the trimmings while helping to provide Texas A&M students with scholarships.

Tickets to the barbecue are $8 each, which includes a donation to the Club's Scholarship Fund and helps cover the cost of feeding the Texas Aggie Band.

'89 Boll Weevil Control Program Gets Good Start

Perfect flying weather, coupled with the warming trend that area cotton needs, gave the 1989 High Plains Diapause Boll Weevil Control Program a fast start Monday, September 25. Eight aircraft, supplied by Kimmel Aviation of Greenwood, Mississippi, reported ready to go Monday morning. After inspection by Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) and Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., (PCG) officials, they were able to treat fields from Whiteflat, Motley County, to Afton, Dickens County by Monday evening.

The entire first application was completed by noon Thursday, September 28 with 48,426 acres below the Caprock being treated, and 6,460 acres above the Cap. A total of 569 fields were sprayed in Floyd, Motley, Dickens, Kent, Garza and Crosby Counties.

Kimmel Aviation was awarded the spray contract, for the second successive year, at a well-attended bidders' meeting held in Lubbock Memorial Civic Center on September 12. Kimmel's bid of $5.93 per gallon was the lowest of 10 bids received. At a rate of 12 ounces per acre, this translates to an application cost of about 56-cents per acre, the same as 1988. Flying for Kimmel are eight experienced pilots from across the Cotton Belt. Three are from the High Plains area with the others coming from Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi.

Late September Critical for High Plains Cotton

The weather conditions when September ended should pretty well tell the fate of this year's cotton crop on the Texas South Plains, says a cotton specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

A week of cool, wet weather which began September 9 wasn't what was needed on the approximately two million acres of cotton in the 25 counties around Lubbock. This area normally produces about half of the state's $1.3 billion cotton crop.

Roughly one-third of the standing crop is irrigated cotton planted in late April to mid-May, said Dr. James R. Supak, cotton agronomist. "Most of that survived the adverse conditions we had in late May and early June, and is now our best cotton," he said.

"Much of that crop is nearing maturity, and in another week to 10 days should be pretty well out of harm's way. In fact, much of it will be ready for crop termination work with harvest-aid chemicals," Supak said.

The remainder of the crop is either dryland or late-planted irrigated cotton.

"The majority of the dryland crop wept through severe drought stress during the year and consequently its yield potential is very limited," the Extension Service specialist said. There will be some dryland production, he predicted, since some of these areas had scattered rains which permitted reasonably good fruit set.

But recent rains are actually hindering, causing the plants to resume growth at a time when they should be devoting their energy to maturing the bolls. These plants are setting additional fruit that has no chance of maturing, Supak said.

The late-planted irrigated crop made pretty good progress during August and is generally carrying a heavy fruit load, he said.

"But its main problem right now is that the fruit is immature and we're fast running out of growing season," Supak said.

"We started off September in very good fashion. We had good, open conditions and temperatures were running somewhat above normal," he said. This helped the late-planted crop and was conditioning the early crop for maturity and termination.

But on September 9, the first of the season fronts rolled in. The area stayed cloudy and cool for about a week.

"Beginning September 13, the temperatures actually dipped down into the 40s," Supak said. "We had very low readings again the mornings of the 14th and the 15th and this really slowed crop development."

Most physiologists think it will be several more days before the crop gets back to a normal productive mode.

"I think we're fortunate in that we're probably going to come out of this cool spell without too much foliar damage," he said. "That is, the leaves will stay in pretty good shape and be capable of carrying on photosynthesis."

"But the most critical aspect is that we lost 10 days to two weeks of time during a very critical period of crop development," he noted. Late September is traditionally when night temperatures begin to dip into the 50s and crop boll development gets very slow, he said.

"Unless we end up with a very good, open fall for the remainder of the year, the prospects for the crop are going to be limited, both in terms of yield and quality," he said.

The recent rains also have encouraged regrowth in the plants, which will slow down boll development and complicate harvesting. It will build a large plant that will be more susceptible to barking - causing unwanted bark and stem tissue to be picked up by harvesting equipment - and reducing the turnout of lint during harvest.

GETTING READY TO GIN - Morton Smith (left) is joined by gin crew members Gilbert Moreno, Lupe Prado, Daniel Macias and Alfred Moreno in preparation at the Hackberry Coop Gin for this year's cotton crop. Smith expects the first bale to be ginned in the next couple of weeks. An early frost hurt the crops, and Smith anticipates ginning about half of the volume from last year. "But, then last year was a good year," he comments.

JUSTICES ATTEND SEMINAR - Shelia Melton (center) and Dee Justice (right) were among the 97 justices of the peace from Region 10 attending a 20-hour seminar September 5-8 in Amarillo conducted by the Texas Justice Court Training Center headquartered at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos. Topics covered include a review of new laws recently passed by the 71st Legislature.

Oil and Gas Drilling Permits Show Increase

A total of 1,403 drilling permits were issued by the Railroad Commission in August, as compared to July's total of 1,200 and August 1988's total of 1,376.

The August total included 887 permits to drill new oil and gas tests, 46 permits to re-enter existing well bores, 88 to deepen existing holes, 206 to plugback existing holes, and 14 for other wells. Operators were also issued 162 amended drilling permits.

New oil and gas holes in August included 103 in the Lubbock area (District 8A) and 23 in the Panhandle (District 10).

In the first eight months of 1989, the Commission has issued 9,281 drilling permits, a 13 percent decrease from the 10,690 issued during the same period in 1988.

The 1,403 permits issued in August included 621 oil permits, 275 gas permits, 438 oil and gas permits, 47 injection permits, four disposal permits, and 18 other permits.

Oil and gas operators reported 266 gas and 523 oil completions in August, according to the Railroad Commission. In July the total was 196 gas and 324 oil completions. August 1988's total was 217 gas and 581 oil completions.

Total completions reported in August included 523 oil, 266 gas and 64 service completions. In July, operators filed 324 oil, 196 gas and 31 service completion reports.

In the first eight months of 1989 the Commission has recorded a total of 5,601 well completions, a 20 percent decrease from the 7,066 well completions recorded during the same period of 1988.

Cotton Talks...

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

Adapting a hackneyed phrase from political oratory of the past, Donald Johnson says cotton people can "point with pride" to the consumption record compiled by their fiber in 1988.

Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, made the observation after reviewing figures from the 1989 issue of "Cotton Counts Its Customers," an annual market research report published by the National Cotton Council.

The report shows cotton continuing in 1988 to hold a healthy share of U.S.-produced apparel and home furnishings, the two largest market categories, accounting for 83 percent of all fiber usage. The remaining 17.2 percent of fibers goes into industrial uses.

Cotton held the 53 percent share of the clothing market achieved in 1987, confirming that the four percent increase from 49 percent in 1986 was no fluke. Apparel continued to be cotton's strongest end-use sector, accounting for almost five million bales and over 60 percent of the year's total domestic cotton consumption.

Consumer preference for 100 percent cotton and cotton-rich blends was also evidenced by an increased use of cotton in knits such as sport shirts, sweatshirts, underwear, non-sheer hosiery and sweaters. Knit items used almost 2.3 million bales, 47 percent of the cotton that went into apparel. Comparable numbers for 1987 were 2.2 million bales and only 44 percent of the total.

Woven fabrics however continue to dominate cotton in apparel constructions, consuming over 2.5 million bales or 53 percent of total clothing use. Denim and twill cotton constructions proved the most popular end-uses.

Home furnishings, cotton's second strongest market sector, also consumed 2.5 million bales, about 32 percent of the total in 1988. That equals the 2.5 million consumed in home furnishings in 1987 and is a significant gain from the 2.3 million used in 1986.

A more detailed breakdown reveals that cotton's top five end-uses accounted for almost four million bales, about half the eight million consumed in all end-uses. Men's and boys' shirts, with 1.033 million bales used, topped the list.

They were joined in the top five by men's and boys' trousers and shorts, 976,000 bales; towels and washcloths, 895,000; drapery, upholstery and slipcover fabrics, 541,000; and women's slacks and jeans with 522,000 bales consumed.

The number one factor contributing to the increases in cotton consumption in 1988 and in the steady trend of gains in cotton's market share since the 1960's, Johnson believes, is producer support for the research and marked development work of Cotton Incorporated.

"Producers themselves have made the difference," he states, "and it's something they have every right to be proud of."

Free Number October 1 for DPS Reports

Beginning October 1, motorists in Texas will be able to use a toll-free telephone number to report traffic accidents, suspected driving while intoxicated cases, criminal activities and other emergencies.

The new number is 1-800-525-5555. It will be answered on a 24-hour basis by communications personnel at the Department of Public Safety Headquarters in Austin. Calls will be routed to the appropriate law enforcement agency on a priority basis.

"The new 800 number is intended to be used in cases where no 9-1-1 service is available, or in instances where the person needing assistance does not know another emergency number to call. It should not be used to seek routine information or service," DPS Assistant Director James Wilson said.

The new emergency service being offered by the DPS was provided for in House Bill 1633 by State Representative Betty Denton of Waco. Governor William P. Clements signed it into law on June 16, 1989.

"We expect the 800 number will be the most useful to motorists on rural highways, many of whom are travelers not familiar with the phone number they should call in case of emergency," Wilson said. "Those who live in areas served by a 9-1-1 system, or those who know the police, sheriff's department or DPS number in their area, should continue to use that local number."

Texas is now only the 14th state to adopt 1-800-525-5555, which has been designated as the universal telephone number for state law enforcement agencies.

Antelopes Make it Four in a Row, Whipping Cooper 40-6

by Wes Burnett

The Post Antelopes faced down a determined attack by the visiting Cooper Pirates last Friday in the district opener for both teams, but by halftime the 'Lopes held a convincing 21-0 lead, scoring three times in the second quarter and slammed the door shut in the second half with a 40-6 win.

The Antelope second quarter scoring spree began with 5:38 left in the first half, hit paydirt with 1:44 left and added seven more points with just seven seconds on the clock.

A stout Post defensive effort began to show its mark early in the game following a nine play sustained drive by the Pirates, which was shut down on fourth down with less than a yard to go for a first at the Post 37 1/2 yard line.

It looked like the entire defensive squad piled up in front of Cooper's Jimmy Martinez as he tried to penetrate over his left guard slot. A measurement put the ball about 12 inches short of a first down.

The Antelope offense returned with a seven play drive ending on fourth down at the Cooper 42.

Cooper picked up a first down at the Post 11 yard line on its next possession, only to see a penetration to the three yard line end up with another Post defensive wall on fourth down. Lindsey Farmer was slammed to the ground at the three and the Antelopes took over with 2:03 left in the first quarter.

Floyd Slay quickly got the 'Lopes out of the hole as he blasted over right guard, broke through a would-be tackle and put the ball at the 48 yard line. A holding penalty at the 28 brought the ball back to the 14, after a protest, the official spotted the ball at the 19.

The Antelope offense ran off a 19 play drive, going the distance with a mix of running and passing, scoring on fourth down from the three yard line as quarterback Rance Sappington rolled to his right and found Kevin Williams in the right corner of the end zone. With 5:38 left in the half, Junior Gonzales found the mark and the 'Lopes led 7-0.

The drive included running by Slay, Darren

Brown, Williams, Jacob Bustoz and a critical fumble recovery by Robby Blair at the Cooper 12 yard line.

Outstanding offensive line blocking and extra effort by the running backs were obvious.

Second Score

Cooper could do nothing on its next possession following the kickoff, as Victory Chapa, Jimmy Holleman and Brown played key defensive roles, forcing a fourth down punt.

Brown got the punt at the 45 and returned it to the Cooper 26 and with 4:09 left in the half the 'Lopes began their charge toward the end zone.

It took five plays, featuring running by Slay, Jamie Perez, Lannie Lee and Bustoz and capped off by a second down pass from the seven yard line to Bill Rankin in the right corner of the end zone. Gonzales added the extra point and with 1:44 left in the first half, the home team led 14-0.

One More Time

Cooper bobbled the kickoff and began a four play effort at their own seven yard line. Holleman, Bobby Curtis, Brown, Rankin and Jay Whitehead were instrumental in holding the Pirates to a fourth down punting situation from the nine yard line with 57 seconds left on the clock.

Whitehead caught the punt at the 47 and with a little dip here and there and good downfield blocking, raced down the left sideline to the end zone...after all the celebrating subsided, the yellow flag on the field brought the ball back to the 48 as Post was penalized for clipping on the return.

With 44 seconds remaining in the first half, Sappington began a two play scoring drive. First he threw a pass to Williams around left end to the 41 yard line, then on second down Sappington rolled to his left and lofted the ball deep to a wide-open Bobby Blair at the five yard line, who grabbed the ball, turned and ran untouched into the end zone. Gonzales put his touch to the ball and with only seven seconds left the 'Lopes took a commanding 21-0 lead into the locker room, following Sappington's interception of a Cooper desperation pass in the final second.

Second Half Action

Three downs and punt faced the 'Lopes as they took the ball at the opening of the second half, then on Cooper's first possession Acey Light was hit hard by Holleman and Rankin at the 17 yard line and Rankin came up with the loose ball for the 'Lopes.

With 10:03 on the third quarter clock, the home team began a four play drive, featuring Lee and Slay running and a second down pass from Sappington to Lee in the end zone. Gonzales' kick was nullified when the snap went over the holder's head and with 8:08 left in the third quarter the 'Lopes took a 27-0 lead.

Sappington cut short the next Cooper possession when he intercepted a second down pass attempt after Curtis deflected the ball at the Post 49 yard line.

The seven play drive ended with a fourth down punt, putting the defense back in action at the Cooper 20. A running play and two pass plays later the Pirates punted, the 'Lopes offense sputtered again and with 59 seconds left in the third quarter the visitors put together a two play scoring drive, capped by a 63 yard scamper by Martinez. A two point conversion attempt failed and Cooper looked at the six points the remainder of the game.

Another 'Lope TD

Matt Holly scooped up the squib kick at the 15 and returned it to the 41 to open the next Antelope scoring drive with six seconds left in the third quarter.

Brown got the running chores, setting up a third and short at the 49 as Slay kept the drive alive hitting through a right guard hole opened up by Keith Holly, Holleman and Rankin to the Cooper 46.

The 12 play drive also included solid performances from Sappington and a clutch pass reception by Rankin, who picked up a first down at the 20 on a fourth down situation.

Brown went to the 16 and then to the four and Sappington squeezed to the one half yard line on first and goal. On second down from the 1/2 yard line Brown followed the blocking on his right side into the end zone. With 7:15 left in the game, Gonzales put the ball through the uprights for a 34-6 lead.

Lee's kickoff must have caught Cooper by surprise, as the ball landed at the 10 and rolled forward to the 13, Shannon Myres looked at the ball as it rolled and watched as Jamie Perez raced downfield, landed on the ball and claimed it for the 'Lopes.

Final Touchdown

With 7:14 on the clock, the Antelopes opened up a two play scoring drive, highlighted by Curtis slicing off his left tackle spot and out running defenders untouched into the end zone. The extra point kick failed and with 7:03 left in the game the 'Lopes held onto a winning score of 40-6.

Both teams had two more possessions with no scoring threats.

The Antelopes travel to Brownfield this Friday for an important 7:30 p.m. kickoff.

Cubs Pose Threat to 'Lopes in District Race

by Wes Burnett

The Post Antelopes, sporting a four win and no loss season record, head to Brownfield Friday afternoon at 4 p.m. for a District 3-AAA battle expected to be a key element in this year's race for the championship trophy.

"They have one heck of a good ball team," Antelope head coach Dewayne Osborne says, "they are loaded with talent, lots of speed and we're going to have to play our best."

"We really need a strong showing from our fans," the coach emphasizes, "especially at Brownfield, where fan support can make a big difference for our players." Game time is at 7:30 p.m.

The Cubs come into the contest with two wins and two ties, whipping Muleshoe 28-0, Friona 51-3 and knotting the score 14-14 with Seagraves followed by last week's 21-21 tie with Lamesa. Brownfield's offense is guided by sophomore quarterback Blake Decker who has fair speed and is a good passer.

The offensive line is big, led by 230 pound senior tackle Jimmy Don Pence, 225 pound senior tackle Lawrence Washington, 185 pound guard Brant McMeans, 165 pound senior center Chris Teague and 155 pound senior guard Gerald Gonzales.

"Not only are they big, the line is quick," Osborne adds.

The real threat for the Cubs is senior tailback Clarence Brown, a 150 pound speedster who is the fastest running back the 'Lopes have faced this year.

Wingback C.J. Griggs, a 165 senior, is a good receiver and caught a touchdown pass against Lamesa last week.

The Cubs operate primarily from an I formation, running 70 percent and passing 30 percent. Defensively the front seven are quick and aggressive, anchored by six seniors and one junior. The secondary has good speed and supports quickly.

Raymond Martinez, 210 pound junior linebacker, seems to be the best linebacker and is aided by McMeans.

If you want to see really good football West Texas style, you won't find a better match-up this Friday than the rivalry at Brownfield.

7th Graders Pound Cooper

The Post 7th grade football team pounded visiting Cooper last Thursday in a 22-0 shut-out.

In the first quarter the young 'Lopes capped a 40 yard drive following a fumble recovery by Jeremy Eilenberger. Casey Hart threw a 10 yard touchdown pass to Javier Saldivar and wingback Oscar Acevedo ran in for the two point conversion.

In the second quarter the home team scored again on a 47 yard drive, with Lance Clay getting the touchdown on a 25 yard scamper. Brad Lawson took the ball over for the two-point.

The final touchdown came in the fourth quarter as Russ Bird scored on a two yard run. The two point conversion attempt failed.

The Post 7th graders collected 188 yards to Cooper's 59.

The team travels to Brownfield tomorrow.

8th Grade Team Loses to Cooper

"Our kids played better than last week, but against a better team," coach Darrell Radles commented about last Thursday's 8th grade football team 30-0 loss here to Cooper.

"We had good effort from Cody Collier at quarterback and safety. Brett Martin and Clint Martin also played well in the line," the coach added.

The team travels to Brownfield tomorrow.

CRUNCH! - Jay Whitehead (24) stops a Cooper running back in his tracks as Bill Rankin (84) and Kelly Crispin (72) get ready to help out.

PUNT RETURN - Darren Brown turns the corner on a punt return during second half action here last week against Cooper.

SEEING THE GAP - Kevin Williams (42) hits the hole provided by good up-front blocking as the Antelopes romped to a 40-6 win here last week.

STOP THAT PASS - One way to stop a passing attack is to tip the ball before it gets to the receiver...as Bill Rankin shows last week here, with teammate Jimmy Holleman (51) is fast on the attack.

Weather Conditions Raise Questions About Cotton Crop

The weather conditions when September ended should pretty well tell the fate of this year's cotton crop on the Texas South Plains, says a cotton specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

A week of cool, wet weather which began September 9 wasn't what was needed on the approximately two million acres of cotton in the 25 counties around Lubbock. This area normally produces about half of the state's $1.3 billion cotton crop.

Roughly one-third of the standing crop is irrigated cotton planted in late April to mid-May, said Dr. James R. Supak, cotton agronomist. "Most of that survived the adverse conditions we had in late May and early June, and is now our best cotton," he said.

"Much of that crop is nearing maturity, and in another week to 10 days should be pretty well out of harm's way. In fact, much of it will be ready for crop termination work with harvest-aid chemicals," Supak said.

The remainder of the crop is either dryland or late-planted irrigated cotton.

"The majority of the dryland crop went through severe drought stress during the year and consequently its yield potential is very limited," the Extension Service specialist said. There will be some dryland production, he predicted, since some of these areas had scattered rains which permitted reasonably good fruit set.

But recent rains are actually hindering, causing the plants to resume growth at a time when they should be devoting their energy to maturing the bolls. These plants are setting additional fruit that has no chance of maturing, Supak said.

The late-planted irrigated crop made pretty good progress during August and is generally carrying a heavy fruit load, he said.

"But its main problem right now is that the fruit is immature and we're fast running out of growing season," Supak said.

"We started off September in very good fashion. We had good, open conditions and temperatures were running somewhat above normal," he said. This helped the late-planted crop and was conditioning the early crop for maturity and termination.

But on September 9, the first of the season fronts rolled in. The area stayed cloudy and cool for about a week.

"Beginning September 13, the temperatures actually dipped down into the 40s," Supak said. "We had very low readings again the mornings of the 14th and the 15th and this really slowed crop development."

Most physiologists think it will be several more days before the crop gets back to a normal productive mode.

"I think we're fortunate in that we're probably going to come out of this cool spell without too much foliar damage," he said. "That is, the leaves will stay in pretty good shape and be capable of carrying on photosynthesis."

"But the most critical aspect is that we lost 10 days to two weeks of time during a very critical period of crop development," he noted. Late September is traditionally when night temperatures begin to dip into the 50s and crop boll development gets very slow, he said.

"Unless we end up with a very good, open fall for the remainder of the year, the prospects for the crop are going to be limited, both in terms of yield and quality," he said.

The recent rains also have encouraged regrowth in the plants, which will slow down boll development and complicate harvesting. It will build a large plant that will be more susceptible to barking - causing unwanted bark and stem tissue to be picked up by harvesting equipment - and reducing the turnout of lint during harvest.

School Lunch

served since school cafeterias opened, but breakfast is a meal that, for many years, schools had the option of serving or not serving.

However, breakfast is now mandatory in all schools and in Post it is a big item on the menu. An average of 100-130 breakfasts are served daily by the Post crew.

Johnnie Willson has seen a number of changes since she began working with Post schools, and one of the main changes has to do with bread. When she started to work, hamburger and hot dog buns came in packages, but she soon changed that. Now every hamburger and hot dog served is on a homemade bun.

Other changes are being made in lunch rooms in area schools, Johnnie said. While attending a meeting in Midland recently, she discovered that a Midland high school had installed a jukebox in the lunch room. So far, this is one innovation that hasn't made it to Post.

Enacted by Congress in 1946, the National School Lunch Program has made it possible for the nation's children to enjoy nutritious, well-balanced, low-cost lunches for 43 years.

37th Annual West Texas Ag Chemicals Conference

Techniques and tools to help farmers protect their most valuable resources - the land, water and air - will be presented Wednesday and Thursday, October 4-5 at the 37th annual West Texas Agricultural Chemicals Conference in Lubbock.

Theme for the two-day seminar at the Lubbock Plaza Hotel, South Loop 289 at Indiana, is "Agriculture's Leadership Role in Protecting the Environment." Registration begins at 8 a.m. Wednesday with the educational conference opening at 1 p.m.

Seminar speakers include specialists from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, scientists from the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES), and representatives from the Texas Water Commission (TWC), Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA), production agriculture and chemical companies.

Certified commercial and non-commercial applicators, who must complete five continuing education units of training by the end of December to be recertified by TDA, can get those units by participating in the conference.

Environmental issues and their effects upon Texas agriculture will be examined during the opening session. The economic impact of the state's "Agricultural Hazard Communication Act" (the "Right-to-Know" act), will be discussed by McAllen Mayor Othal E. Brand, Sr., chairman of the board of Griffin and Brand Produce Company.

The effect of federal regulations on company re-registration of chemicals will be addressed by Jerry Quinn, director of market development for ICI Americas Corp., Wilmington, Del. Also to be discussed is the projected impact of implementing the endangered species act.

Dr. Denise McWilliams, Extension Service training specialist for agricultural chemicals, from College Station, will explain how to avoid water quality problems. An overview of water quality will be presented by Dr. John R.

The challenge to local schools throughout the nation is to continue to provide nutritious lunches to school children and to promote the development of good eating habits that will last a lifetime. With 43 years of success behind it, the National School Lunch Program has proven it is, indeed, a way for children to grow.

Abernathy, resident director of research for the Experiment Station in Lubbock.

During the opening session Wednesday, the West Texas Agricultural Chemicals Institute (WTACI) will award two scholarships to students from area colleges. At the evening banquet, the institute will present awards to two leaders in education and business.

WTACI is an organization of dealers, industry representatives, scientists and educators who further educational and research programs relating to agricultural chemicals.

Thursday's program will open at 8:45 a.m. with discussions of integrated pest management (IPM) strategies. It will include segments on weed resistance to herbicides, managing changing weed problems, post-directed herbicides, the impact of the conservation reserve program on the boll weevil and other insects, mite resistance in corn, and cotton aphids.

Speakers will include Bill Rogers, TDA pesticide specialist; Norm McKinley, cereal herbicides product sales manager for Dupont, Wilmington, Del.; systems agronomist Dr. Wayne Keeling, research entomologist Dr. Tom Archer, senior research associate Eddie Bynum, and research associate Stan Carroll, all with TAES, Lubbock; and weed specialist Dr. Dave Weaver and entomologist Dr. James Leser, Extension Service.

The final afternoon will cover crop protection chemicals and application techniques. Don Bradley, bulk herbicides marketing manager for American Cyanimid Co., Wayne, N.J., will discuss safe handling of chemicals. Storage and disposal of pesticide containers will be the topic of Charlie Rodgers, compliance officer with TWC.

Weaver will discuss off-target effects of herbicides. Cotton crop termination will be explained by Dr. James Supak, Extension Service cotton agronomist. Sprayer calibration will be covered by Dr. John Bremer, Extension Service weed specialist, Corpus Christi. New requirements for chemigation equipment also will be discussed.

Cotton Talks...

Perfect flying weather, coupled with the warming trend that area cotton needs, gave the 1989 High Plains Diapause Boll Weevil Control Program a fast start Monday, September 25. Eight aircraft, supplied by Kimmel Aviation of Greenwood, Mississippi, reported ready to go Monday morning. After inspection by Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) and Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., (PCG) officials, they were able to treat fields from Whiteflat, Motley County, to Afton, Dickens County by Monday evening.

The entire first application was completed by noon Thursday, September 28 with 48,426 acres below the Caprock being treated, and 6,460 acres above the Cap. A total of 569 fields were sprayed in Floyd, Motley, Dickens, Kent, Garza and Crosby Counties.

Kimmel Aviation was awarded the spray contract, for the second successive year, at a well-attended bidders' meeting held in Lubbock Memorial Civic Center on September 12. Kimmel's bid of $5.93 per gallon was the lowest of 10 bids received. At a rate of 12 ounces per acre, this translates to an application cost of about 56-cents per acre, the same as 1988. Flying for Kimmel are eight experienced pilots from across the Cotton Belt. Three are from the High Plains area with the others coming from Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi.

Ultra-low malathion is used in the program. Commonly used by cities for mosquito control, this safe, low-toxicity insecticide has been delivering consistently effective control of the boll weevil since the program started in 1963, officials state.

One hundred thirty local people are employed this season. Some are on boll weevil control for the first time while others have many years experience with the program which is now in its 26th year.

Program officials said, "We really appreciate the attitude and cooperation of the local residents in the control zone" which extends from Silverton in the north to Vealmoor in the south. "Most people in the area understand the benefits the program has on cotton production and the local economy."

The program objective is to kill the maximum possible percentage of weevils each year before they reach overwintering sites from which they emerge to attack fruiting plants in the spring of the following year.

The second application for this season is expected to start October 9. It will be conducted from airports at Roaring Springs, Spur, Jayton and Post. Field surveys currently in progress indicate that 1100 or more fields will be treated.

The program is funded 70 percent by High Plains cotton producers and 30 percent by USDA. It is administered cooperatively by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. Boll Weevil Steering Committee and USDA Plant Protection and Quarantine.

grazing; and soon cattlemen were attracted to the lush open ranges. With the advent of the windmill, bringing an adequate water resource, cattle culture topped the Llano Estacado.

Permanent settlement was now possible, but the region was isolated from the rest of Anglo culture. Changes in land laws between 1890 and 1907 brought the first wave of settlers - stock farmers - to the region.

A newer, different emigration followed the railroads after 1910. This influx coincided with the breakup of the large ranches and the ensuing land sales through sophisticated promotion techniques. Suddenly, the land itself acquired monetary value. The Llano Estacado was one of the last agricultural frontiers in the United States.

Steel rails linked the Llano Estacado with the rest of the nation. Railroads were the technology that ferried the region's produce out and brought settlers in.

Between 1910 and 1930, many large ranches were subdivided and sold through land colonization schemes using national advertising, excursion fares, testimonials and demonstration plots to entice prospective buyers to the Llano Estacado.

The land promotion efforts attracted an experienced, agrarian class, and convinced the new settler that the plains were, with work, a potential agricultural paradise. The Llano Estacado evolved from a region of large ranches and scattered pockets of subsistent settlement to small, cultivated parcels of family farms.

But the transition to agrarian land use held serious repercussions for the Llano Estacado when the prairie disappeared beneath the plow.

In a series of 12 panels utilizing early photographs and text, the "Llano Estacado Experience" is a look into the past illustrating the accelerated development that occurred on the Llano Estacado. And now, when global population grows ever larger and the world looks to marginal land - arid lands - for relief, the "Llano Estacado Experience" also offers a glimpse of the future.
