Rocket Production In United States Accelerated

Dallas, Jan. 15—Here's more news for Hitler and Hirohito—Uncle Sam's deadly rockets are coming toward them in greater quantities than ever before.

United States Steel Corporation announces that rocket production lines at the vast McKeesport, Pa. works of the National Tube Company have passed from the experimental to full production stage.

One of the World War II pioneers in developing and mass-producing new type armaments, National Tube now is pouring out rocket motor tubes and "war heads" in great quantities for the Navy.

Recently the Navy reported it had developed a small rocket carrying ship which has two and a half times the firepower of a 45,000-ton battleship.

In parts of Arizona, California, Syria, and Arabia, developments in such great quantities as to be an important irrigation factor in agriculture.

Navy Needs Radio Men To Train For Radar Operators

The Navy needs radio men. Opportunity to train in one of the war's newest and most thrilling fields—"Radar." Radio technicians have many important duties in the Navy, such as installing, repairing and maintaining radio communication equipment, radio direction finders, submarine detection apparatus and other extraordinary electronic devices. Upon release from the Navy after the war, the Radio Technician will find countless new opportunities open to him. He will have a thorough ground work in ultra high frequency electronics that will still be unknown to commercial engineers. A radio technician will be qualified for many key positions in such fields as television, industrial electronics, broadcast radio, aircraft radio and many other scientific occupations.

Improved Uniform International LESSON

STANDARDS OF THE KINGDOM

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 5:3-10, 43-48 GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness sake; for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.—Matthew 5:10.

A kingdom must have laws, and here we have the laws for Christ's kingdom—the kingdom of heaven—which He shall one day establish on this earth. In the Church we have the joy of living as loyal subjects of Christ, and hence these standards are for our counsel and guidance.

The verses of this greatest of all discourses are addressed to those who have actually taken Christ as King of their lives. These beatitudes are not a substitute for the gospel. They are not laws that the unbeliever can keep and thus be saved, for this would be utterly impossible. Only he who knows and has called upon the power and grace of God in Christ can qualify to walk as a citizen of Christ's kingdom.

We note two things in this wonderful and instructive passage from God's Word:

I. The Character of the Follower of Christ (vv. 3-10).

The eight characteristics of the Christian here presented are worthy of extended individual attention, but we can offer only brief suggestions. "Blessed are the poor in spirit!" speaks of humility as a commendable quality. How contradictory the present-day philosophy, which calls for self-assertion and self-reliance. But Jesus was not mistaken. The way into the kingdom of heaven is not that of assertive self-sufficiency. "Blessed are they that mourn." The world does not believe that statement. It shuns the house of mourning. It tries without avail to philosophize away the fact of sorrow. The Christian, on the other hand, feels with his fellow man and thus receives a blessing. One can really learn from sorrow.

I walked a mile with Pleasure;
She chattered all the way.
But left me none the wiser For all she had to say.

I walked a mile with Sorrow, And ne'er a word said she;
But, oh, the things I learned from her When Sorrow walked with me.

"Blessed are the meek." Poverty of spirit comes when a man rightly sees himself, and has a sympathetic touch with sorrow. Then he "inherits the earth," because he truly comes to enjoy it as a place of service and Christian growth, and not because he has a deed to a single foot of its soil.

"It is the hunger and thirst for righteousness (v. 6), and not the possession of it, that is blessed" (Plummer). Self-satisfied people know nothing of the glory of having their hunger and thirst satisfied by God.

We have here also the Christian's spirit of mercy which invites divine mercy; a purity of heart, cleanness of mind, and sincerity of purpose, which enable a man really to see God even in this impure world; that Christlike spirit which makes him a peacemaker in a fighting world—yes, that spirit which makes him like the Master in sweetly bearing unjustified persecution. These indeed are the marks of the man who follows Christ as King.

II. The Conduct of the Follower of Christ (vv. 43-48).

There can possibly be no more severe test of a man's Christian character than the manner in which he treats his enemies. Many who pass the other tests meet failure (at least in part) at this point.

It is no easy thing to love your enemies, but it is the standard of Christ, and He will enable us to live up to it. Now is a good time to put it into practice, not only personally, but nationally.

There can be no doubt that love for the brethren will be a more intimate and satisfying experience because they return our affection (v. 46). Anyone can do that and enjoy it. Enemies often return hatred for our love—they persecute us (v. 44). But we are still to love them.

That love must move us to treat them kindly and to pray for them. Someone says, "It can't be done." Yes, it can by the grace of God in Christ, and it is being done.

We need to exercise care lest we fall into the easy habit of speaking with derision or scorn of the ungodly—that wicked, dissipated neighbor who hangs around taverns and other questionable places. Let us never condone their sin—that we should hate—but may God help us to love them and lead them to Christ.

This lesson is indicated as being a temperance lesson. The application can only be made indirectly, but it may have value. The use of alcohol is so destructive of everything that is good, that it is quite obvious it is not in accord with these standards of the kingdom of heaven. It is time some church people decided whether they want to belong to the world or belong to Christ. If the latter is their purpose, we believe the only consistent position to take is that of abstinence from alcoholic liquors.

Sure! Tractors get tired. They ache in the worn bearings; they creak in the loose joints; poor alignment of gears is a toothache, and faulty ignition is a bad case of heartburn. Maybe they keep on going, but they can't do a real job of work.

We are specialists in the cure of tired John Deere Tractors. We put new life into them because our factory-trained experts spot and cure all these ailments before they develop into a serious case for a major operation.

Don't wait for your equipment to "sit down" on the job. Bring it in to us for inspection and overhaul. We'll turn it back to you with an assurance that you'll be free from worry about its performance.

Faculty News . . .

We are indeed happy to have a new High school principal, Mr. G. R. Day has already proved himself a capable executive. We are hoping to welcome Mrs. Day and the children here soon from Terry county.

Mr. Ranson left Wednesday to attend a meeting of superintendents held annually at Austin. This convention seems to inspire all who attend, and no doubt Mr. Ranson's newly gained information will help him and his entire faculty.

Even though classes were suspended for three days during registration, the faculty has been pressed for time on reports and files which invariably follow final examinations. We are deeply grateful that we've had a little time during registration to get things settled for the coming semester.

It has been estimated that a large passenger liner uses nearly one pound of rope per gross ton a year, or 22,000 pounds for a 23,000 gross ton liner. Cargo ships use about one-third as much for their proportionate size.

Assembly Program . . .

The Boy's Quartet from Abilene Christian College entertained the sixth and seventh grades and High school students with a lively 45 minute program.

The songs were arranged in groups and consisted of popular numbers, western songs, sentimental ballads and folk songs.

The quartet was composed of: first tenor, Robert Page; second tenor, 'Tex' Stephens; baritone Jack McKinney and bass, Ray McGlothen.

Judging from the reception given them by the students they rank top with the entertainers of the year.

Mrs. Marvin Truelock, Community Correspondent

Wednesday afternoon, Dolores, the sixteen-month-old daughter of the Haywood Basingers, fell in the lily pond and was carried to the Slaton hospital. They brought her home the next afternoon, none the worse from her water-filled lungs.

The mid-term Honor Roll probably will not be ready for two more weeks, as finals are scheduled for this week.

The A. A. Fergusons were given a farewell party at Barnum Springs Friday night and their neighbors helped them move here Saturday.

The basketball games here Tuesday night with Slaton were close enough to be interesting.

The Wilson F. F. A. brought a movie here Wednesday. It was reported that only one adult was in the audience of students but there must have been quite a number of the latter, for the Wilson boys plan to return with another picture.

Mrs. W. H. Fletcher of Plainview arrived Saturday to visit her daughter, Mrs. Marvin Truelock, who has been under a doctor's care for two weeks. Mrs. Howard Blackwelder and Mrs. Nellie Mathis have been working in the post office in her place.

Don't Look Now But . . .

Students are expecting to turn over a new leaf this coming semester and study for a change.

It's the funniest thing how persistent —PHS boys can be about dates—especially when the girls "want to be alone." "Let's see, that incident must have happened Thursday night."

It's new—Shepherd vs. Bird But the guys seem fairly cordial to one another. "Alls fair in love and war" it seems.

Ben L. Bobby, Holmes, Judge and Joe couldn't wait for warmer weather to clip their hair so now they're hunting for caps to keep their heads warm. Don still has his curly locks—wonder why?

One of the cutest couples in PHS is Iris Parker and Don Shirley. There should be more couples like them—they always seem to have lots of fun without being so serious.

Cpl. Harvey Smallwood's last letter was written on Christmas Day and received here by his parents, the G. N. Smallwoods on Jan. 9. That day he had received his first gift package—one from his brother, Cpl. Sidney Smallwood of LAFS.

The same day Mrs. Ed Denton received a letter from her son, Dick. These two former schoolmates are in the same division but different companies. They were on Leyte, and may be on Luzon now.

Chief Petty Officer Neil Smallwood has been at Camp Edicotte, R. I. since Dec. 4. His wife left her home in Midland Jan. 9 to visit him.

Friday B. H. Thomas, Jr. returned from Houston where he was rejected as a future aviator in the Navy Air Force because his teeth prevented his wearing an oxygen mask. But he can get in some other branch of the Navy.

Wednesday night Harrell and Carrell Tanner left for Dallas as volunteers for the Navy.

STRONG PROTEST BY U. S. ON WANTON NAZI KILLINGS

The German Government is going to be held responsible for the wanton killing of disarmed American captives.

"The strongest possible protest" is on the way through Swiss authorities, the State Department announced, "with regard to the killing by German forces of all but 15 of a group of about 130 American soldiers and officers who had been taken prisoners by German tank corps and stripped of their equipment."

BURLESQUE ON GOVERNMENT

In all the talk about manpower shortage, one fact stands out clearly—under the present labor monopoly in the United States men are prevented from working unless they first pay to get their jobs. If you don't believe this, try to get a job in a war industry.

No American citizens should be forced to join any organization, whether it be labor, religious or political, before he can earn his living. Allowing labor unions to remain outside the laws which regulate all business corporations, while collecting millions of dollars in taxes, is a travesty on justice and a burlesque on government.

Such tryanny within so-called free country cannot be continued without ultimately leading to dictatorship by either labor bosses, political bosses, or both. Freedom flies out of the window when a man must get permission of another man to earn his daily bread.

RECORD CONVOY

The world's largest convoy, which crossed the Atlantic this past fall, consisted of 167 ships and covered an area of nearly 26 square miles. After a seventeen-day crossing, the convoy arrived safely in Britain. The ships carried 1,019,829 tons of cargo, or every living person in the United States. Cargo carried included grain, sugar, lumber, oil, molasses, steel, road vehicles, tanks, locomotives, explosives, machinery, general military equipment and foodstuffs. The vehicles alone numbered more than 10,000.

WON'T MIX IN SAME POT

The government of the United States is launched on a great experiment. It has undertaken to guarantee minimum living standards for all. It will endeavor to furnish jobs when needed, the social security system is to be expanded, farm prices are to be maintained by subsidies, and an almost unlimited program of public works has been proposed. The experiment will cost untold billions, and will come on top of a war that promises to run the public debt up to three hundred billion dollars or more.

There is only one way in which this experiment can be carried through successfully, and that is by stimulating to the greatest possible extent the productivity and the initiative of the people.
For, notwithstanding the clear propaganda of patronage dispensers that government grants are gifts, every dollar distributed by government must first be taken from the people in taxes on their earnings and their businesses.

Basic industries, including electric power, mining and transportation, should be encouraged to progress and develop as private enterprises if for no other reason than that the efficiency of private management has made these industries a primary source of government revenue. The current campaign to socialize the electric industry, thereby creating a vast tax-exempt political power monopoly, should be abandoned at once. The private electric industry pays hundreds of millions of dollars annually in Federal taxes. The government is getting a much larger share of the power industry's earnings than are the millions of investors who own it, without having to share any of the risks of operation. Plans such as the proposal to establish seven more tax-subsidized TVA Federal electric power projects in direct competition with the taxpaying private electric industry, strike at the vitals of the great experiment to eliminate human want. Obviously the country cannot kill its taxpaying industries with tax exempt government monopolies, and have its taxes too.

A government spending program requiring maximum taxes and maximum production, cannot be mixed in the same pot with socialism.

RETAIL SALES SHOW GAIN

A 10 per cent gain in retail sales for November 1944 was reported over November 1943 by independent retailers in Texas, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports. Sales for the first 11 months of 1944 were 9 per cent higher in 1944 than in the same period in 1943.

Retailers, exploring the field of new products, would like, among other things, scratchless tables. In other words, something parents of four-year-olds have always been looking for.

A London fashion designer fore-

Non-Commissioned Officers Never Become Hardened to Men's Death

By Ernie Pyle

(Editor's Note: This dispatch was written and first published when Pyle was with the GIs at the Italian front. He is now on his way to cover the boys in the Pacific war zones.)

IN ITALY.—If you ever heard a dive bombing by our A-34 invader planes you'd never forget it.
Even in normal flight this plane makes a sort of screaming noise, and when that is multiplied many-fold by the velocity of the dive you can hear the wail for miles.

On the ground it sounds as though they are coming directly down upon you. It is a horrifying thing. The German Stuka
could never touch them for sheer frightfulness of sound.

Ernie Pyle

Also, the Stuka has always dived at an angle. But these planes come literally straight down. If you look up and see one a mile above you, you can't tell where it's headed. It could strike anywhere within a mile on any side of you.
That's the reason it spreads its terror so wide.

But our pilots have to hand it to the Germans on the ground. They have steeled themselves to stand by their guns and keep shooting. Pilots say the Italians would shoot until the bombs were almost upon them, then dive for their foxholes, and then come out and start shooting again after the bombs had exploded.
But not the Germans—they stick to their guns.

Maj. Ed Bland, a squadron leader, was telling me about coming suddenly over a hilltop one day and finding a German truck right in his sights.

Now it's the natural human impulse, when you see a plane come upon you, to dive for the ditch.
But the German gunner in this truck swung a gun around and started shooting at Bland. German and American tracer bullets were streaming back and forth in the same groove in opposite directions, almost hitting each other. The German never stopped firing until Bland's six machine guns suddenly chewed the truck into complete disintegration.

Our dive bombers don't have such trouble with German fighters.
The reasons are several. For one thing, the Luftwaffe is weak overseas now. For another, the dive bombers' job is to work on the infantry front lines, so they seldom get back where the German fighters are. And for another, the in-vader is such a good fighter itself that the Jerries aren't too anxious to tangle with it.

Flying Allotment.

For several months the posting period back to America was set at a certain number of missions.
Then it was suddenly upped by more than a score. There were pilots here who were within one mission of going home when the order came. So they had to stay and by a few more months. Some of them never lived to finish the new allotment.

Nowhere in our fighting forces is cooperation closer or friendship greater than between Americans and British in the air. I have yet to hear an American pilot make a disparaging remark about a British flier. Our pilots say the British are cooler under fire than we are.

They like to listen in on their radios as the RAF pilots talk to each other. For example, one day they heard one pilot call to another:

"I say, old chap, there is a Jerry in your tail." To which the imperiled pilot responded:

"Quite so, quite so, thanks very much old man."

And another time, one of our invaders got shot up over the target.
His engine was smoking and his pressure was down and he was losing altitude. He made for the coast all gone, easy meat for any German gunner that might come along. He was just barely staying in the air, and he was a sad and lonely boy indeed.

Then suddenly he heard over his earphones a distinctly British voice saying:

"Cheer up, chicken, we have you."
He looked around and two Spit-fires, one on either side, were nobering him back to his home field.

Rest Not Welcomed by Sergeant

Buck came to the little group of 40-timers in the company with whom I was standing, to say goodbye. You'd have thought he was saying forever. He shook hands all around, and his smile seemed sick and vulnerable. He was a man staining off his departure.

He said, "Well, good luck to you all." And then he said, "I'll be back in just five days." He said goodbye all around and slowly started away.

Buck Eversole is a platoon sergeant in an infantry company. The means he has charge of about 40 frontline fighting men.
He has been at the front for more than a year. War is old to him and he has become almost the master of it. He is a senior partner now in the institution of death.

Platoon Leaders.

His platoon has turned over many times as battle whittles down the old ones and the replacement system brings up the new ones. Only a handful now are veterans.

"It gets so it kinda gets you, seein' these new kids come up," Buck told me one night in his slow, barely audible Western voice, so full of honesty and sincerity.

"Some of them have just got fuss on their faces, and don't know what it's all about, and they're scared to death. No matter what, some of them are bound to get killed."

We talked about some of the other old-time non-coms who could take battle themselves, but had gradually grown morose under the responsibility of leading green boys to their slaughter. Buck spoke of one sergeant especially, a brave and hardened man, who went to his captain and asked him to be reduced to a private in the line.

"I know it ain't my fault that they get killed," Buck finally said.
"And I do the best I can for them, but I've got so I feel like it's me killin' 'em instead of a German. I've got so I feel like a murderer. I hate to look at them when the new ones come in."

Buck himself has been fortunate.
Once he was shot through the arm.
His own skill and wisdom have saved him many times, but luck has saved him countless other times.

One night Buck and an officer took refuge from shelling in a two-room Italian stone house. As they sat there, a shell came through the wall of the far room, crossed the room and buried itself in the middle wall with its nose pointing upward. It didn't go off.

Another time Buck was leading his platoon on a night attack. They were walking in Indian file. Suddenly a mine went off, and killed the entire squad following Buck.
He himself had miraculously walked through the mine field without hitting a one.

One day Buck went stalking a German officer in close combat, and wound up with the German on one side of a farmhouse and Buck on the other. They kept throwing gra-nades over the house at each other without success. Finally Buck stepped around one corner of the house and came face to face with the German, who'd had the same idea.

Buck was ready and pulled the trigger first. His slug hit the German just above the heart. The German had a wonderful pair of binoculars slung over his shoulders, and the bullet smashed them to bits.
Buck had wanted some German binoculars for a long time.

The ties that grow up between men who live savagely and die relentlessly together are ties of great strength. There is a sense of fidelity to each other among little corps of men who have endured so long and whose hope in the end can be but so small.

One afternoon while I was with the company Sgt. Buck Eversole's turn came to go back to rest camp for five days. The company was due to attack that night.

Buck went to his company commander and said, "Lieutenant, I don't think I better go. I'll stay if you need me."

The lieutenant said, "Of course I need you, Buck, I always need you.
But it's your turn and I want you to go. In fact, you're ordered to go."

The truck taking the few boys away to rest camp left just at dusk.
It was drizzling and the valleys were swathed in a dismal mist. Artillery of both sides flashed and rumbled around the horizon. The encroaching darkness was heavy and foreboding.

I walked with him toward the truck in the dusk. He kept his eyes on the ground, and I think he would have cried if he knew how, and he said to me very quietly:
"This is the first battle I've ever missed that this battalion has been in. Even when I was in the hospital they were in Germany."

Mrs. Jewel Long as Hostess To Club With All-Day Party

The Bartram Springs Home demonstration club met with Mrs. Jewel Long Thursday, Jan. 11, in an all-day meeting. There was a luncheon at the noon hour with each member bringing a covered dish. The club members cut and pieced quilts for an old-fashioned "spool party."

The business meeting was called to order by our new president, Mrs. Ray Hodges. The secretary's book and funds were turned over to our new secretary, Mrs. Byron Haynie. There was no business, but we decided to sell all of our old magazines to a central for the wounded soldiers. Everyone bring them to the next meeting where we will tie them up and get them ready to send.

We then adjourned to meet with Mrs. Lee the 4th Thursday, Jan. 18. Miss Manley will be with us at this meeting. We don't know what the program will be for that day as we do not have our new year books. Everyone is urged to come and we especially invite the new ladies that have moved in to our community. —Reporter

State Officer Is Guest Speaker At Recent P-TA Meeting

Mrs. H. G. Stinnett, Jr., of Plainview, district and state executive officer for the Congress of Parents and Teachers was the speaker at the regular meeting last Thursday at the High school, bringing to the local group her resume of the findings of the recent state convention.

The meeting was opened by the unison reading of the P-TA prayer followed by several songs by the Mother Singers.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick, as program chairman, introduced Mrs. Stinnett, chairman of life membership for the 14th district and chairman of by-laws on the State board. Mrs. Stinnett stressed youth and its participation in programs. She told about the group of youngsters who attended the convention and at the last got up and expressed their own ideas concerning speakers and subjects which they had heard.

The grade school P-TA members were present for this meeting and all in attendance were benefited by hearing this very interesting speaker. The new high school principal, G. R. Day, was introduced by Miss Durrett.

A business session, with Mrs. Parker presiding, was conducted and it was voted to place Bibles in the school library. Mrs. Cash was appointed to see to this. It was further decided to buy additional chairs for the Home Economics room. Miss Weaver, Meses Haws and Hudman were appointed to make this purchase.

The seniors won the attendance award.

The February meeting will feature a Founder's Day program and tea will be served in the Home Economics room.

Forty-four 4-H club girls in Garza county qualified for membership pins by completing their 4-H club work, according to an announcement made by Mabel Ann Manley.

The pins are being awarded the girls by the Post Chamber of Commerce. They are or bronze with the word "first" at the top of the 4-H emblem which is a 4 leaf clover with an H on each leaf symbolizing the Head, Hands, Heart and Health used in the 4-H Pledge.

Woman's Culture Club Elects Officers For Next Two Years

Mmes. Hodge and Young were hostesses to members of the Woman's Culture club Monday night in the Hodge home. Nine members were present.

The club voted to send their donation for the March of Dimes to the White House. Officers as elected for the ensuing year are: Pres., Mrs. Jones; 1st v-p., Mrs. Manley, 2nd v-p., Mrs. D. C. Williams; secy., Mrs. Cearley; treas., Mrs. W. L. Davis; literature chairman, Mrs. L. A. Presson; and critic and parliamentarian, Mrs. Lee Davis. Members answered the roll call with their assigned topics.

Mrs. D. C. Williams, in a most interesting manner, presented an article on delinquency written by Warden Lewis E. Lawes of Sing Sing Prison. He stated that findings of prison records showed that many criminals were caused by physical failings and that there "no problem children only children with problems."

In "Are We Growing?" Mrs. Parker gave the proposed plans of the national federation presidents for women's work concerning V-Day, youth and health.

Mrs. Hibbs spoke about "Women and Safety" and led the discussion of questions on driving and traffic. Mrs. Hibbs and Mrs. Parker had recently passed the rigid test for driver's license and both spoke about the requirements.

A very satisfying conclusion was furnished by the hostesses who served delicious pecan pie with coffee.

If Robert Louis Stevenson were here, he might say it this way—just maybe!
Oh, how I like to go up in a swing,
Up in the air so cool.
To go sailing over the housetops and all
Is the pleasantest thing at school
Up in the air and over the town, Like in a fairy land,
It's a different world back on the ground Where the other children stand.
Till I come sailing down again, Down to the earth so brown, Then my heart sings as back I go Up in the air—then down.
Well anyway, many thanks to the P-TA for our new swings. The children love them.

Assembly Program . . .

In assembly Friday afternoon, Mrs. Wright's sixth grade gave an interesting and entertaining dramatization of "Elizabeth Irving's Last Ride"—taken from their reading text. Mary Nell Bowen played the part of Elizabeth, and the part of Francis Irving was played by Buddy Davis. There were real Indians too! Sixth grade Indians with painted faces and brightly colored war-bonnets. They were so mean, but they got on the warpath just once too often; because when they decided to ravage the town of Deerfield, Virginia, brave Elizabeth learned of their scheme and rode many miles horseback to warn the people and save her childhood home. After the play, the entire sixth grade sang "Carry Me Back To Old Virginia." Included also on the program was the Melody Maids' rendition of "Surry With Fringe On Top." If you want to know what sort of a concoction spring weather and "shivery" midterm exams make, just be around next Thursday when this semester's reports are handed out. Good luck all!

Primitive Living Is Described By Sgt. Harold Lucas

The following letter was received from Sgt. Harold W. Lucas who is now in the Marianas. He has been stationed for 2 1/2 years in Hawaii. He is attached to the Medical Corps.

Dec. 25, 1944

Dear Mether, Dad and Family:
At last I have found time to write altho there isn't much I can write about. At the present I'm in the Mariana Islands. Living conditions right now are rather primitive but will gradually get better. I'm sleeping in a tent without a floor, on a cot without mattress or pillow, but its not too bad. It rains quite a lot here and mud is deep in some places, also there are some flies and mosquitoes, but I'm sure there are worse places. One thing we don't have to dodge bullets. They say there are some Japanese here—I haven't seen any. Our trip was as pleasant as could be expected under the circumstances. I don't like riding boats anytime. The Navy was nice to us and the voyage was most pleasant. We had a short delay en route at one of the islands and were permitted to go swimming in water that was three hundred feet deep. It was a grand swim.

During our trip we crossed the international date line so we automatically lost a day. We are a day ahead of you now in date. Today is Christmas but its Christmas Eve with you. Christmas here is somewhat different. . . . There wasn't any celebration. Everyone worked this morning but took off in the afternoon. Yesterday (Christmas Eve) we had church and then again today at 10 p. m. The Sacrament was offered to everyone. We have two new Chaplains and I think they are fine fellows. Our Christmas dinner was enjoyed by all. We had chicken and gravy with green peas and potatoes and apple pie. After eating Army field rations for days a change was appreciated.

There was a battle here one time. Our town was totally destroyed and I didn't see a whole building standing. I can imagine what is going on in Europe. Can't think of anything else to write. I'm OK. Write soon and don't worry about me. With love, Harold
