Texas land commissioner applies new product at Cotton Unlimited

JOE PATE (left) demonstrates one of the products at Cotton Unlimited to Texas General Land Office commissioner Gary Mauro during the commissioner's visit here last week.

by Wes Burnett
"I've looked at lots of different products and I've never seen any of them do what this product just did," Texas General Land Office Commissioner Gary Mauro emphasized here last Thursday on a visit to Cotton Unlimited in the Postex Building.
Mauro's comments followed a demonstration at the plant of Instasorb, a new cotton product which absorbs oil and petroleum based products without absorbing water.
"This company is making use of the old Postex mill in a way that addresses one of our most critical environmental challenges," Mauro said, "putting money into the pockets of workers in the South Plains, and it holds great promise for enlarging the markets of Texas farmers."
The product "has the unmatched ability to soak up oil, separate it, and lift it right off the water. Exactly what you want in combatting oil spills," the commissioner added.
"Mechanical booms and skimmers are ineffective in very shallow water and in choppy seas," he continued, "cotton can help fill in the gaps in existing technology."
"We think the pallets developed by Cotton Unlimited Inc. can play an important role in Texas oil spill response strategy," Mauro said.
"County Judge Giles Dalby and the Post Economic Development Corporation recognized the great promise that another natural substance holds in combatting oil spills. In fact, they've been helping Cotton Unlimited raise capital and pursue new environmental avenues for the last three or four years," he said.

"About a month ago, Joe Pate of Cotton Unlimited came to see us at the Land Office and showed us what Texas cotton can do," Mauro continued. "Cotton is one of nature's most absorbent substances, but wax on the fibers repels water. Joe demonstrated this by tossing a little sheet of white cotton in a container of clean water. The water just beaded up on it."
"Then Joe poured crude oil into the container, and the cotton at once turned black. Sounds simple, and it is."
"And what do we do with oil soaked cotton when it's fulfilled its task? Those microbes I mentioned can eat the oil off the cotton and render it safe for disposal in landfills," the commissioner explained.
Mauro and the General Land Office are now in charge of state prevention and response to oil spills. The past session of the legislature passed and the governor signed the Oil Spill Prevention and Response Act of 1991.
The act allows establishment of five response centers on the coast, levies a two cent per barrel fee on oil moved through Texas ports and allows for purchase of equipment and expenses for research and development of means to combat spills.
"The old methods of containing and cleaning up oil spills are primitive at best," Mauro said. "The oil spill bill signed by Governor Richards commits the state to encouragement and development of new technologies that can do the job better. That's where Cotton Unlimited Inc. comes in," he added.
Mauro said that although use of cotton on spills isn't the ultimate revolution in the textile industry, "it is creating new jobs in a plant that had fallen idle. And as farmers in West Texas can tell you, creation of new demand counts. Every bale of cotton they can sell counts."

City council begins process for assisting Cotton Unlimited

by Wesley W. Burnett

The Post City Council Monday night authorized its attorney to begin work with Cotton Unlimited Inc. and Diversified Lenders toward the development of a financial assistance program, with city manager Bob Turner appointed to serve as liaison to the council.

The decision followed a video tape review of Cotton Unlimited's insulation and oil absorbing products.

A variety of funding plans were presented earlier in May at a special called meeting, when loan programs available to cities through state legislation were outlined.

Among those answering questions at the meeting were Cotton Unlimited president Joe Pate, Diversified Lenders representative L. Scott Mann and Post Economic Development Corp. (PEDC) board members Patty Kirkpatrick and Wanda Mitchell.

Mayor Jim Jackson expressed his confidence in the products and Cotton Unlimited and invited comments from council members. Council members Larry Mills, Jim Schooler, Dan Lamb, Larry Waldrip and Irene Fry in turn praised the efforts of the PEDC and expressed their support for the industry.

"The future of our town is at stake here, this could very well be the difference between growing and dying," Jackson said.

"We appreciate your comments and your positive attitude," PEDC's Kirkpatrick said, "we need to move on this as quickly as possible."

Pate said that were it not for PEDC, Cotton Unlimited would not be here now.

The council heard proposals from three auditing firms. Current city auditor Sandifer & Swindle, Steve Sawyers and Mason Warner & Co. each presented proposals.

Council members entered into a discussion about the proposals and voted to accept Mason Warner and Co. to serve as the city auditor.

A lengthy explanation of the city's landfill situation was presented by Parkhill, Smith and Cooper engineer Butch Davis. In his briefing, Davis reminded the council that the city's Type II landfill is nearing its maximum capacity and there is no permit to expand, requiring the city to find other means of disposing solid wastes.

Davis said the landfill will probably reach its capacity in four months. He also outlined alternatives, which includes filing for a permit to open another landfill, which would take up to two years to process, "and then you still might not get it approved."

The cost of the permit application is estimated at $80,000 to $100,000.

Following the extensive briefing, the council approved an agreement with the city of Slaton for transporting solid wastes when the Post landfill exceeds its capacity. The agreement provides for Post to pay Slaton on the basis of one ton of solid waste per citizen per year.

The new federal Environmental Protection Agency rules governing landfills are expected to require all Type II landfills to meet Type I specifications.

The cost of upgrading to a Type I facility, along with the burden of manpower costs and the $1 million liability cash reserve requirement, has been a strong factor in previous council decisions to delay opening an additional landfill site.

Local contractor Leon Davis expressed his concern about the closing of the Post landfill, especially pointing out the difficulty for citizens doing remodeling or roofing. He also emphasized that county residents should pay their share of maintaining a landfill.

City manager Turner pointed out that the county commissioners are planning to use the services of a private contractor to provide vehicles for dumping and disposal of solid wastes.

"Really, we have no other choice right now," Jackson said, "we have to make plans to do something about our garbage when the landfill is filled up."

The council agreed to a street improvement project this summer, which includes seal coating of 56 to 58 blocks of streets. The project is expected to begin in July with a completion date of no later than September 15.

No decision was made on the sale of 69.13 acres of city owned property on top of the caprock. The land was originally part of the old water system and has been leased for the past several years. The council authorized an appraisal of the property and placed the item on next month's agenda. If sold, the property would be advertised for sale so that any citizen interested in purchasing the tract could submit a bid.

Letters to the Editor

Letters to the editor policy: Letters to the editor are encouraged and invited. Letters may be edited for brevity. Letters which are deemed slanderous or libelous will be rejected. Letters must be signed, but the name may be withheld from publication if requested.

Dear Editor:
As I drive US 84 to Lubbock and back frequently, I am delighted to see the spring and early summer wildflowers (Mexican Hat, Coreopsis, Evening Primrose, Wild Honeysuckle, Skeleton Plant) blooming in the roadside ditches and medians. Even though we have not had great amounts of rain this season, it does not take much for our West Texas flora to abound.

God created the many species that grow well here. Mrs Lady Bird Johnson encouraged us to utilize and appreciate them, and the Texas Highway Department has provided the manpower and machinery to plant and tend to them.

I wish to publicly thank the Highway Department personnel here in Post and Mr Jerry Moore for allowing the wildflowers to grow, bloom and re-seed themselves by NOT MOWING them down while they are in full bloom (and saving gasoline in the process).

We West Texans know that the cross-overs on our highways need to be mowed more often for safety reasons but most of us are learning to admire and enjoy the "natural look" of the roadsides as the beautiful native wildflowers flourish. We can patiently get through the short period of time when the plants are not so pretty because we know that the seeds need that time to mature as they prepare for another season of vibrant color. Then when they are moved, later in the summer, it is as it should be.

Because you refrain from mowing too soon, you give us the assurance that each year there will be more wildflowers than there were the year before. A pat on the back to all of you.

Sincerely,

Zoe Kirkpatrick

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (Company), in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas (Commission), hereby gives notice of the Company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas for residence Custom Calling Services, effective August 1, 1991, unless otherwise determined by the Commission. The Company has filed an application with the Commission to restructure and change the rates for certain residence Custom Calling Services.

The Custom Calling Services affected by the Company's application are optional telephone service arrangements that provide the following features: Call Waiting, Call Forwarding, Three Way Calling, Speed Calling 8 and Speed Calling 30.

The Company's proposal would increase the monthly rate for the individual Call Waiting feature from $2.10 to $3.10 for residence customers. Also, the rates for certain combinations of Custom Calling Features (Call Waiting, Call Forwarding, Three-Way Calling and Speed Calling-8) would increase or decrease depending upon the combination of features. In addition, the company proposes to obsolete the optional Custom Calling Service feature Speed Calling 30 for residence customers except for existing customers at their existing locations. Following are the feature combinations and their current and proposed rates.

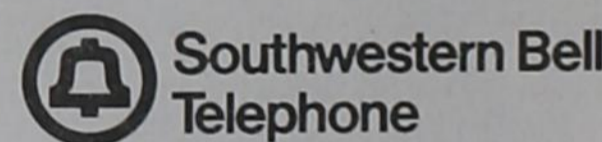

One Feature Per Line	Current	Proposed
Call Waiting	$2.10	$3.10
Call Forwarding	2.10	2.10
Three-Way Calling	2.10	2.10
Speed Calling-8	2.10	2.10
Two Features Per Line	Current	Proposed
Call Waiting, Call Forwarding	3.75	4.50
Call Waiting, 3-Way Calling	3.70	4.50
Call Waiting, Speed Calling-8*	3.70	4.50
Call Forwarding, 3-Way Calling	3.70	3.50*
Call Forwarding, Speed Calling-8	3.70	3.50*
3-Way Calling, Speed Calling-8	3.70	3.50*
Three Features Per Line	Current	Proposed
Call Waiting, Call Forwarding and 3-Way Calling	5.30	5.90
Call Waiting, Call Forwarding and Speed Calling-8	5.30	5.90
Call Waiting, 3-Way Calling and Speed Calling-8	5.30	5.90
Call Forwarding, 3-Way Calling and Speed Calling-8	5.30	4.90*
Four Features Per Line	Current	Proposed
Call Waiting, Call Forwarding 3-Way Calling, Speed Calling-8	6.90	7.30
Speed Calling 30	3.20	3.20

*denotes rate decrease

Southwestern Bell's application proposes to obsolete residence Speed Calling 30 except for existing customers at their existing locations.

Most of the Company's residence customers in Texas who subscribe to one or more of the Custom Calling Service features will be affected by the proposed rate restructuring. It is expected that the proposed rate restructuring of Custom Calling Services will increase the Company's annual revenues by $15.9 million, which is an increase of approximately one half of 1 percent in the Company's adjusted revenue for the twelve-month period ending December 1990. The restructuring will result in an increase in the Custom Calling Services rates for approximately 2.5 million residence customers and rate decreases for approximately 15,000 residence customers. Also, the obsolescence of the optional feature Speed Calling 30 will affect approximately 156,000 residence customers.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

The first stop the group made on Tuesday was to go to the Washington Monument. There the group got their first look at all the D.C. area from the top of the Washington Monument. After dinner at Pentagon City the group went to check into the Hilton.

The group toured three days with a group of students from Blackwell, Oklahoma.

Wednesday the group went to United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. The group got a walking tour of the campus area and got a first-hand glimpse of a mid-shipman's room. Upon entering Annapolis the group saw General Norman Schwarzkopf's motorcade entering Annapolis. Gen. Schwarzkopf or "Stormin Norman" delivered the graduation address at Annapolis on Wednesday.

After the tour of Annapolis the group left for Baltimore and a tour of the U.S.S. Constellation, the oldest Navy warship afloat. They then went to the Baltimore National Aquarium together. The aquarium houses 6,000 mammals, reptiles, fish, amphibians and birds in their natural habitats.

The group went to Fort McHenry site of the battle that inspired our National Anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner." The group then met the group from Oklahoma and went back to Washington in the evening.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday were spent touring the following places: Mount Vernon, Alexandria, Ford's Theater, Petersen Home (where Lincoln died), Vietnam Memorial, National Archives, White House, Smithsonian Complex - American and National History Complex and the Air and Space Museum, Embassy Row, National Cathedral, National Zoological Park and Arlington Cemetery.

John R. St Clair, D.D.S.

Dr John R. St Clair is recognized throughout the area as performing a valuable service for the health and well-being of our citizens. Most of us are born with less than a perfect set of teeth. Aside from a better looking smile - orthodontic treatment has many benefits. Crowded teeth are hard to clean and may contribute to tooth decay, gum disease and eventual tooth loss. A poor bite can result in abnormal wear of the tooth surface, difficulty in chewing and damage to supporting bone and gum tissue. Jaw joint pain (TMJ) and associated headaches can sometimes be attributed to crooked teeth and incorrect bites. Orthodontics has progressed a great deal in the past few years and braces are less obvious as a correctional service due to new materials. Dr St Clair has successfully fitted braces on both adults and children that are designed to be less conspicuous. They specialize only in orthodontics and can completely restructure your smile with little discomfort. We are pleased to recommend Dr John F. St Clair in Lubbock at 5203 79th and 3802 24th, phone 799-6780 or toll free 1-800-759-6780.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (Company), in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas (Commission), hereby gives notice of its intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas for Directory Assistance Services, effective August 1, 1991, unless otherwise determined by the Commission. The Company has filed an application with the Commission to restructure and change the rates for Directory Assistance Service.

To help recover its costs, the Company is proposing to increase the rates for Directory Assistance calls from $.30 to $.40 per call (after the three-call allowance). Southwestern Bell is proposing that there be no change in the number of free Directory Assistance calls allowed each month (currently three) and that customers who qualify for exemption of Directory Assistance charges because of visual or physical handicaps continue to be exempt from these charges. The company also proposes to begin charging $.25 per call for Directory Assistance from pay telephones.

If approved by the Commission, this proposed rate change for Directory Assistance will increase the Company's annual revenues by $15.4 million, which is an increase of approximately one half of 1 percent in the Company's adjusted revenue for the twelve-month period ending December 1990. This proposed rate change would affect approximately 900,000 residence customers and approximately 155,000 business customers.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. City Council...

In other action, the council voted to approve the purchase of uniforms for city employees who work primarily outside. Voting for the purchase were Larry Waldrup, Dan Lamb and Larry Mills, opposed were Irene Fry and Jim Schooler.

The council authorized Waldrup to begin the process of purchasing a new fire truck to replace the 1968 unit.

Security at the cemetery was discussed, with Fry presenting a proposal at the recommendation of the cemetery board, to place a mobile home at the cemetery. Turner said that although a city employee need not be the occupant, one employee had agreed to live in the mobile home and "hopefully by going about normal family living, vandals will be deterred knowing there is someone at the cemetery. Turner recommended the employee be allowed to live in the mobile home at no charge.

A discussion followed, and after pointing out some difficulties with the arrangement, Fry suggested that perhaps flood lights at the cemetery might be a better idea. The proposal was tabled and Jackson requested Fry to meet with the cemetery board and bring back recommendations next month.

No decision was made concerning the establishment of a drug testing program.

The council tabled for further details a request by The George R. Brown Partnership for unitizing oil production later in the year, which eventually will include water flooding. Citing the complexity of the proposal, council members asked for more time to study the issue.

"If there is to be water flooding, I would hope they will be able to buy the water from us," Mills said.

Turner reported to the council that a new fire plug will be installed on the southeast corner of the courthouse and a faulty fire plug on Broadway was repaired and the water line replaced.

An improvement of the water line on West 15th is also planned, by looping the line through a fire plug.

The handicapped restroom has been completed at the baseball park.

Recent advertisement for bids for a storm siren received no bidders, Turner asked the council for guidance. He was requested to contact suppliers and put the item on next month's agenda.

The problem of the basketball court at the park brought a suggestion by Fry to turn it back to grass. The concrete is cracking and continues to be an expensive problem because the court is on top of the lake sub soil.

Mayor Jackson reported to the council about last month's meeting with White River Municipal Water District board members and suggested a joint meeting be held "to clear up some of our misunderstandings."

Attending the meeting were Mayor Jackson, council members Fry, Waldrup, Lamb, Schooler and Mills, city manager Turner and city secretary Wanda Wilkerson.
