Commissioners accept Sheriff Freddy Cockrell's resignation

Appointment of new sheriff expected at April 27 meeting

by Wes Burnett
Sheriff Freddy Cockrell's resignation effective April 30 was accepted by the Garza County Commissioners' Court at the regular meeting Monday morning. The one sentence resignation letter was read to the court by Judge Giles Dalby, who explained that since Cockrell had been working for the past two weeks full time in Lamesa, he felt that the resignation was "the proper thing to do."

"I had talked with Freddy," Dalby added, "and reminded him that he could delegate authority, but not responsibility for his office, and that since he wasn't in the county it seemed prudent that he resign."

Commissioners agreed to place the appointment of a new sheriff on the agenda for the April 27 meeting. Dalby explained that traditionally vacancies have been filled with the Democratic Party candidate in situations such as this, and it is expected that former deputy Kenny Ratke will be appointed as sheriff, effective May 1.

In other action, commissioners heard a report from Chief Deputy Wes Cockrell concerning the recent jail standards inspection, outlining a number of violations which must be corrected in the next six months.

The most expensive of the building violations will be the purchase and installation of additional smoke extractors.

Cockrell was authorized to research cost and estimates for making the necessary repairs and to report to the court at its next meeting.

County agents John Senter and Ann Nobles presented reports to the court, explaining solid waste management programs and summer youth plans.

Dalby reported to the court that a joint city and county work session on solid waste management will be held Monday, May 4 at 7:30 p.m. at the Post Community Center.

"We hope that a lot of our citizens will be at the meeting," Dalby emphasized, "so that we can all learn from our special guests from the Texas Water Commission about what our options are."

Dalby also reminded the court that the April 27 meeting will include a presentation by South Plains Association of Government's Shawn Raborn concerning the regional solid waste management plan.

Judge Dalby told a group of citizens attending the meeting that the community is facing serious juvenile problems in the areas of alcohol and drug abuse and the dangerous spread of the H.I.V. virus.

"There are several youth here who have tested positive to the H.I.V.," Dalby said, "and those of us involved in juvenile matters, including our school administrators, are working together to promote awareness of the problem and to warn our young people of the dangerous situation."

Dalby cited recent problems of youth 17 to 20 years old involved in alcohol and drug related activities. "I think I saw a drug deal on Main Street right near the red light," Dalby said, "but when they saw my vehicle they scattered. We have a serious problem in this community with drug abuse and we have to tackle this problem very aggressively."

On behalf of all of us who work with the Meals on Wheels program in Post, I want to thank you for including our program in your funding efforts this year.

Your gift will help us continue this worthwhile program for the elderly of our community. Not only does Meals on Wheels provide a well balanced meal each day, but it is also a good safety check on the well-being of each person receiving the meal, and gives a daily contact with people which helps to prevent loneliness.

Garza County Extension Agent - Ag
Past and future demonstration work

Producers in and around Garza County have become very familiar with result demonstrations. Past work in demonstration areas have assisted county residents and producers in areas ranging from weed and brush control to insect control and improved production practices in agriculture and livestock.

As has been the case in past years, this year there appears to be a large amount of research to be done, especially in the beef cattle production. We have the opportunity to work with area beef cattle health and nutrition companies to compile some useful data in the cattle business. Beef cattle demonstrations can range from implants to feed additives to insect control. However, we need to know of interested beef producers in Garza county. Time is running short for implementation of these demonstrations and if you have an interest in serving as a cooperator, please contact us at your earliest convenience. The herd size, breed and registration status have no bearing on these demonstrations and it is highly possible that company representatives will be more than willing to assist with implementation of such a demonstration as well as furnishing products needed. Please feel free to let us know if you have an interest in some phase of beef demonstrations, they will surely benefit Garza County cattlemen.

One final note of interest, the summary of the 1991 demonstrations are complete and in hand-book form. If you have an interest in cotton variety trials, weed control, forage wheat production or insect control in cattle, feel free to stop by our office at your earliest convenience and pick up a copy.

"And when the sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James, and Salome, bought spices, so that they might go and anoint him. And very early on the first day of the week they went to the tomb when the sun had risen. And they were saying to one another, 'Who will roll away the stone for us from the door of the tomb?' And looking up, they saw that the stone was rolled back; for it was very large. And entering the tomb, they saw a young man sitting on the right side, dressed in a white robe; and they were amazed. And he said to them, 'Do not be amazed; you seek Jesus of Nazareth, who was crucified. He has risen, he is not here'..."

Governor signs proclamation for 911 telecommunicators week

The State of Texas has officially extended recognition to telecommunicators throughout the state that have the task of being 9-1-1 call takers/handlers. The 9-1-1 telecommunicators are trained on call handling procedures and the operational functions of all equipment related to the 9-1-1 system.

This important task includes staying calm, negotiating and determining as quickly as possible the nature of the emergency, and properly handling or directing the call to the appropriate emergency response agency(s).

The citizens of Garza County should commend their telecommunicators. These individuals are responsible for providing emergency assistance and helping to save lives and property in life threatening situations.

They are some of the most important persons at public safety agencies and deserve the courtesy and respect of citizens, officers, and supervisors.

In conjunction with National Public Safety Telecommunicators Week, the Honorable Ann W. Richards, Governor of Texas, has proclaimed April 12-18, 1992, as Telecommunicators Week in Texas. Local recognition is due to telecommunicators of this region in Garza County, Texas for a job of excellence.

On behalf of the South Plains Regional 9-1-1 Emergency Communications, the telecommunicators of Garza County, Texas are hereby recognized for their dedication and efforts contributing to the accomplishment of the National Emergency Number Association's (NENA) goal, "One Nation - One Number", and the acceptance of 9-1-1 service that works, When Seconds Count...

Congratulations to the following telecommunicators at the Garza County Sheriff's Office for a job well done: Sandy Guthrie, Melodie Yarbro, Jackie Gonzales, Vicki Ammons and Jamie Pewitt.

Garden Club sees Big Bend Video and pictures taken by local photography club members

by Margaret Barley

It was movie night again at the Garden Club meeting Thursday the 9th at Annie Laurie Francis's.

Thelma Epley was Annie Laurie's co-hostess and after they served us delicious refreshments, including magnificent brownies, we sat back and watched some beautiful and interesting scenes of Big Bend National Park. Sybil Cockrum brought the video and we were treated later to some really excellent photography by Carlene Kyle and Gladys Blair who had taken a recent trip to the same area. (Don't go to Mexico with Gladys Blair - she gets really upset if she thinks she's being cheated and this is not really the ideal thing to do with a man who carries a big knife.)

Our officers for next year were installed instead of waiting until next month since a picnic was planned for then and you never know whether the West Texas weather will cooperate. This installation service is probably one of the most moving presentations we have all year and Ida Jones really made being "a vessel unto honour and meet for the master's use" a meaningful phrase.

In addition to those mentioned above, the rest of us who enjoyed the evening were Jewel White, Eloise Gordon, Irene Mitchell, Edna Owen, Maurine Hudman, Shorty King and myself. If Shorty hadn't hidden Eloise's purse, you might say we were all very well behaved. I guess teacher's out of school are just like kids out of school.

April is Cancer awareness month

Cancer is a large group of diseases characterized by the uncontrolled growth and spread of abnormal cells.

Under normal conditions, the body's cells reproduce to replace tissue, repair injuries and allow the body to grow.

Occasionally, certain cells encounter a change that is abnormal. These cells may grow into masses of tissue called tumors.

What makes cancer so dangerous is that it invades and destroys normal tissue. In the first stage, the cells may stay at their original location, which is called localized. Eventually, cancer cells may invade distant or nearby organs and tissue, known as metastasis.

According to Doris Scales, R.N., B.S.N., O.C.N., oncology coordinator at Methodist Hospital, metastasis may be confined to one area of the body, generally the lymph nodes. But, if left untreated, the cancer may spread throughout the body and become advanced.

Scales said that various methods have been designed to define what stage a cancer has reached. She warns that because cancer becomes more serious with each stage, it is important to detect it as early as possible.

The American Cancer Society has published seven warning signals of cancer. If you have any one of these signs, see your physician.

* Change in bowel or bladder habits.

- * A sore that does not heal.
 - * Unusual bleeding or discharge.
 - * Thickening or lump in breast or elsewhere.
 - * Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
 - * Obvious change in a wart or mole.
 - * Nagging cough or hoarseness.
- For more information on cancer prevention, contact Methodist Hospital's Hodges Cancer Center at (806) 793-4214, the American Cancer Society or your physician.

Drains Run Slow?

You'll never have a slow running, or clogged drain again! The secret? Clean drains don't run slow.

Slow drains, or periodic clogs, are SIGNALS that a thick layer of GOOK is choking your pipes. Grease, hair, and other waste stick to your pipes, with every use. This gook deposits along the entire length of the pipe. It chokes your pipes gradually, as it gets thicker and thicker.

Conventional drain openers can't fix slow drains. They react chemically on the surface of the gook. To be effective, they must remain in contact with the waste. Even a small tunnel through the gook lets them flow out to the sewer, leaving the gook behind.

In the past, the only way to remove this build-up was to rooter your pipes. An expensive, temporary measure.

Now, with just a few minutes each month, you can easily clean out your pipes... and KEEP them clean with Plumb Clean. Its totally unique formula clings, and penetrates deep into the gook. That is what allows it to liquefy even years of build-up. Plumb Clean will clean the entire length of your pipes. It will make your drains run like new, when used as directed. This penetrating action is so revolutionary, we stand behind Plumb Clean with a money-back guarantee!

Saves Money. A 1 lb. container of Plumb Clean holds up to 41 drain treatments. Even if drain openers could fix slow drains, it would take over 10 quart bottles to get the same number of treatments. Plumb Clean costs about .35¢ per treatment. We don't know of anything that cleans drains for less.

Safe Too. Conventional drain openers are dangerous chemicals. They can injure eyes on contact. They can release deadly vapors, in some situations. Some may damage your fixtures. Plumb Clean will not burn skin, or eyes. It will not release harmful fumes. When used as directed, it is 100% safe for people, and of course, all plumbing.

So, if your drains are giving you a SIGNAL, act now. Get safe, guaranteed Plumb Clean today!

Easter is here at last! Lots of us will be having Easter egg hunts as our families gather for the holiday. Because there is more emphasis on limiting the amount of sugar children eat now than ever, many families will color and hide real eggs rather than use candy ones. There are some important things to remember as we plan egg hunt parties with real eggs.

Questions often arise concerning safety of Easter eggs and their consumption after the egg hunt. These guidelines can help consumers in selecting, storing, preparing and handling of eggs before and after the hunt:

- * When purchasing eggs, choose cartons that have no cracked eggs. Use eggs within four to five weeks after purchase.

- * Keep fresh eggs stored in the original carton and in the coldest section of the refrigerator, never in the door where drafts can create fluctuation in temperature.

- * Hard-cooked eggs have a recommended maximum storage time of five to seven days. Plan to hard-cook eggs safely, place eggs in a single layer in a pan. Add water to cover eggs at least one inch. Cover pan and bring to a rapid boil. Turn off heat or reduce heat to maintain a gentle simmer. Let eggs remain in the pan for 15 to 20 minutes to assure doneness. When done, run cold water over eggs to cool them quickly.

- * Once eggs are hard-cooked, store in the refrigerator. Don't leave at room temperature.

- * If you plan to eat eggs that have been decorated, use only food coloring or specially made food-grade egg dyes.

- * Don't color or hide cracked eggs. The cracks allow contamination of eggs from an outside source such as dye or dirt.

- * Consider hiding places carefully. Avoid places that may come into contact with pets or other animals, lawn chemicals or insects.

- * Refrigerate eggs after they have been hidden and found if you plan to eat them. Follow the two hour rule. Eggs to be eaten should not remain out of the refrigerator for more than two hours.

- * A good practice is to wash Easter eggs that have been in the hunt before eating them.

- * Avoid handling eggs as much as possible. Each step in handling provides an opportunity for contamination.

Have a Happy Easter!!

Local host families needed for exchange students

Spanish Heritage, a student exchange program, is seeking local host families for boys and girls from Spain and Mexico, 15 to 18 years of age, coming to this area for the upcoming high school year.

These personable and academically select exchange students speak English, are bright, curious and anxious to learn about this country through living as part of a family, attending high school and sharing their own culture and language with their newly adopted host family.

The students are sponsored by Spanish Heritage, a not-for-profit, public benefit organization dedicated to promoting the Spanish language and Hispanic culture in the United States and Canada, and the languages and cultures of the USA and Canada in Spain and Mexico.

At the same time, Spanish Heritage promotes closer ties of friendship between these countries. In the United States, Spanish Heritage is a member of the International Exchange Association (IEA) and its programs are conducted in accordance with the standards established by the Council on Standards for International Educational Travel (CSIET).

The exchange students arrive from their home country shortly before school begins and return at the end of the school year. Each Spanish Heritage student is fully insured, bring his or her own spending money, and expects to bear his or her share of household responsibilities, as well as being included in normal family activities and lifestyles.

The students are well screened and qualified by Spanish Heritage.

Program to prevent family violence is the goal of TMA

Educating physicians and patients about preventing domestic violence is the goal of a new program being launched by Harris County physicians, according to an article in the April issue of Texas Medicine.

"Our patients need to know that we (physicians) consider violence a medically significant problem and that we are willing to discuss it," Dr Diana Fite, chairman of the Harris County Medical Society's violence prevention program, says in the Texas Medicine article. Texas Medicine is the official news magazine of the Texas Medical Association.

The program was developed by the Harris County Medical Society's Committee on Sexual Assault and Domestic Violence. Several activities are planned in April to encourage communication between physicians and patients on the subject of family violence.

Approximately 2,500 primary care physicians will receive lapel buttons with the message "Family Violence Hurts Everyone." A listing of numbers for family violence referral agencies in the Houston-Harris County area also will be provided to physicians.

Patients will have an opportunity to talk with physicians about domestic violence during a Dial-a-Doctor program scheduled for April 22.

The program coincides with an American Medical Association initiative on family violence. In April, AMA will distribute guidelines to help physicians identify and treat patients who are victims of abuse.

Texas Medical Association's Council on Public Health also has issued recommendations on family violence prevention that will be presented to the Association's House of Delegates in May. Those recommendations call on physicians to learn about resources available to help battered women in their community and to make that information available to their patients. The council also recommends that TMA provide physicians with information on the symptoms of battering and that physicians record information on battering in the patient's medical file.

TMA's Council on Communication also has recommended that the Association sponsor workshops on family violence during 1992 and 1993, as well as conduct a family violence public education project.

Girl Scouts hold Father-Daughter Banquet Saturday

by Carol Tobias

Last Saturday evening was the occasion for Post's annual Girl Scout Father-Daughter banquet. All of Post's eight troops participated by bringing their dads or other special guests and treating them to a very enjoyable evening of entertainment.

The evening began with a welcome by Master of Ceremonies Ken LeBlanc, opening flag ceremony by troops 257 and 131, and the singing of "God Our Father" led by Pat Cruse before the meal was served.

After everyone finished eating, the fun began. Each troop presented a skit, dance, and/or song followed by presentation of badges each girl had earned thus far this year by their respective leaders.

Troop's costumes and their performances were all geared around the theme "Treasuring Our Heritage":

Troops 69 & 388 - Jaquita Blevins and Kyran Bratcher, leaders - Spanish Heritage dance "Son de la Negra."

Troop 47 - Carol Tobias and Tammy Balcom, leaders - Environmental heritage recycling skit and song "We Change the World."

Troop 162 - Billie Polanco and Julie Gonzalez, leaders - Indian heritage dance "Indian Stick Song."

Troop 131 - Jaquita Blevins and Pat Cruse, leaders - Asian heritage dance "Tinikling."

Troop 35 - Debbie Morris, Tammye Alomari and Norma Soto, leaders - Indian heritage song "Happy Navajo Song" performed with limmi sticks.

Troop 294 - Terri Jarrett and Lorie Rivera, leaders - Hawaiian heritage dance "Kahuli Calling."

Troop 257 - Jaquita Blevins, leader - Western heritage skit "I'm a Long, Tall Texan."

Troop 131 - Jaquita Blevins and Pat Cruse, leaders - Asian heritage skit "Teenage Mutant Kung Fu Chickens."

In between performances, Ken LeBlanc also gave an informative presentation concerning the value of scouting to society and introduced special guests: Mayor and Mrs Jim Jackson, Caprock Council Representative Dianna Phillips and her husband Glen Phillips, and Shirley LeBlanc, wife of Ken LeBlanc, who have both long been involved in scouting.

After all the troops finished their performances, Service Unit Cookie Chairman Marion Cruse awarded plaques to this year's top cookie sellers. Top Brownie cookie sellers were Asia Alomari and Naomi Gonzalez who tied at 251 boxes each. Top Junior cookie seller was Patricia Hood who sold 310 boxes. Top Cadette cookie seller was Jodie Hawkins and Tabitha Blevins who tied at 150 boxes each.

A flag ceremony was then performed by troops 257 and 131 to retire the flags and close out the evening.

Transdermal Nicotine Patches to help you stop smoking

Smokers can now resist the urge to light-up by patching up with a two-inch strip called the transdermal nicotine patch.

This small patch can be attached daily to the upper body for six to eight weeks. A gradual reduction in the dose of nicotine administered through the patch helps a person stop smoking without symptoms of nicotine withdrawal. Symptoms of withdrawal include irritability, lack of concentration, anxiety, restlessness and an increased appetite.

The surgeon general and most physicians have long warned of the health hazards of nicotine, but many long-term smokers have found that quitting isn't so easy.

"Transdermal nicotine therapeutic systems are good news for people trying to give up smoking," said Mina Home, R.N. at Methodist Hospital. "The patch's ability to deliver medication at a constant rate into the bloodstream and reduce the frequency of drug induced side effects makes it easier for the patient to adhere to the therapy."

The skin has natural absorbing qualities that allow a steady concentration of the drug into the bloodstream, enabling the dose size of certain drugs to be reduced.

"The only side effect I've heard of from the transdermal nicotine patch have been a slight skin irritation where the patch was placed and some sleep disturbances. Continuing to smoke while wearing the patch may result in a nicotine overdose, making the individual very ill," Home said.

According to the February 1992 issue of P&T, the transdermal drug delivery offers many advantages over conventional drug administration.

- * When drugs pass directly through the skin into the bloodstream they bypass the gastrointestinal tract, avoiding the neutralizing effects and the breakdown of the drug that occurs in the stomach, intestine and liver.

- * Rate controlled transdermal systems produce much steadier concentrations of drugs into the bloodstream, reducing the side effects.

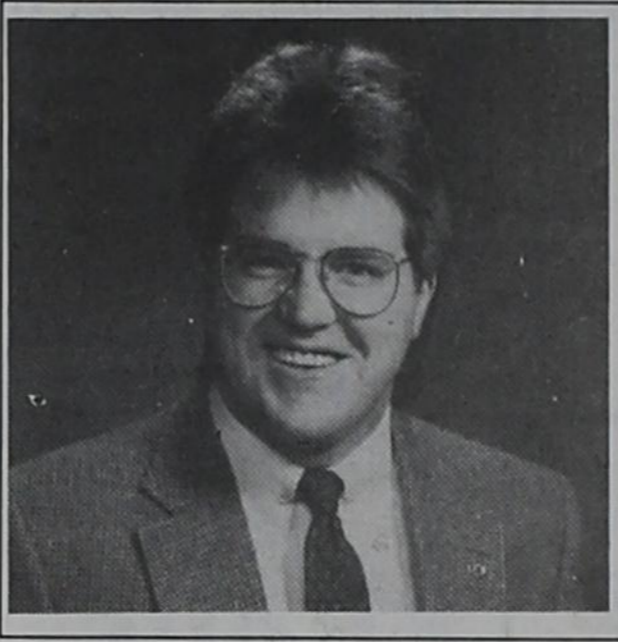

- * A once daily or weekly regimen is easier to follow than taking oral medication or injections.

- * It is easy to discontinue treatment by simply removing the transdermal patch.

For more information about Methodist Hospital's smoking cessation program called Smoke Stoppers or the nicoderm transdermal patch, contact Mina Home, R.N., or Frank Home at Methodist Hospital's LifeStyle Center at (806) 793-4386.

Stenholm announces conservative democratic forum health care

by Congressman Charles Stenholm

Congressman Charles Stenholm (D-TX) and members of the Conservative Democratic Forum (CDF) today announced the preliminary details of a plan outlining a new approach to health care reform. The CDF reform plan builds on the positive aspects of the current American health care system while introducing significant changes.

"We feel it is important to let people know there are alternatives to health reform other than those which have been discussed to this point," Stenholm explained. "Rather than nationalized plans which destroy our private market system, or 'pay or play' plans which put people out of business, we believe we can retain quality and choice while improving accessibility and affordability."

The main principle behind the CDF plan is managed competition, in which useful information on the quality and costs of health care services is provided to health care consumers, who then are better able to choose providers with the most effective and efficient care. Managed competition will require insurance companies, physicians and hospitals to pool together to form cooperative organizations which will offer health insurance and health care as a single product.

"We're already spending over $800 billion a year on health care in America -- more than 12 percent of our GNP -- but we're not getting our money's worth," said Stenholm. "I trust that, given the chance and enough information, private sector consumers and providers can do a lot better job at cutting the waste out of our current system than an army of bureaucrats can do."

The CDF plan also seeks to control costs through malpractice reform, paperwork reduction and administrative simplification. A strong emphasis will be placed on preventive health care services as an effective means to reduce the cost of illness and injuries.

Stenholm added that the changes in the CDF package will make it more affordable for small businesses to purchase insurance, the self-employed will be able to deduct 100 percent of the cost of their basic health insurance premiums and people with incomes below the 100 poverty level will be covered under a restructured Medicaid program.

Details on the CDF health plan are still being developed. The bill, with financing recommendations, is expected to be introduced in the House of Representatives by last spring.

Congressman Sarpalius voted against raising taxes

by Congressman Bill Sarpalius

Congressman Bill Sarpalius (D-Amarillo) last week voted against a House-Senate conference tax agreement that passed the House of Representatives by a 211-189 margin because of the emphasis on raising taxes, without any accompanying effort to reduce federal spending.

"The time has come to draw the line in the sand," Sarpalius said. "We have got to stop trying to figure ways to tax the American people more and start concentrating our efforts to reduce federal spending."

The tax bill went to the Senate immediately after the House acted this afternoon, where it passed by a margin of 50 to 44. The President has promised he will veto the measure.

"Hopefully, when the House convenes this week, we can proceed with passing an economic recovery bill that will attack the root problems of this prolonged recession, rather than just looking for ways to raise additional revenues and continuing to bury our heads in the sand on the issue of federal deficit spending," Sarpalius said.

Sarpalius said supporters of the bill were attempting to raise taxes under the guise of job creation, but said he saw very little in the package that would get the economy moving again.

"As with most bills, there are always some good provisions and some bad provisions," Sarpalius said. "As an example, it provided for the extension of Individual Retirement Accounts (IRA) to every taxpayer, allowing a $2,000 tax deductible contribution per year. This provision is extremely important and I hope it can be accomplished in some subsequent legislation."

"While I have no problem with rearranging the tax burden to allow the middle class to pay fewer taxes and for the wealthiest taxpayers to pay more," Sarpalius said, "This bill did not make a good faith effort to accomplish that. It would have given tax relief of 82 cents a day to a family, but for only two years. The new taxes for the wealthy, however, were permanent. I saw that as simply a ruse to increase the amount that government has to spend, without making any plans to cut government spending."

Sarpalius pointed out that the House-passed plan also failed to allow self-employed workers to deduct 100 percent of the cost of their health insurance. "This was a most important provision that needed to be included in the bill as far as my district was concerned," Sarpalius added. "The 13th Congressional District is heavily populated with small businesses and small family farms that only get to deduct 25 percent of the cost of their health insurance, while corporations are allowed to deduct 100 percent of that cost."

"The main point and the main effort that I now intend to make is to make sure that before we look at the tax and revenue side of the equation, we must address the issue of cutting spending," Sarpalius said. "The working families that I have visited with -- and there have been many -- have almost unanimously told me that their two great concerns were protecting their jobs and cutting federal spending. This bill did not do anything toward either of those issues, so I voted against it."

"Hopefully, when we start addressing this issue again next week, we can carve out the very positive parts of the bill, such as the IRA provision, the Investment Tax Allowance, the extension of such things as the targeted job tax credit (TJTC) program," Sarpalius said. "The capital gains tax cut proposed in the plan was a good start, but it needs to be improved to assure that the windfall that would result from the wealthiest in this country results in their reinvesting that savings in the United States."

Sarpalius voted against the Democratic bill February 27, before it was sent to the Senate, as well as voting against the President's tax bill and the Republican substitute. He pointed out that the President's tax package received only one vote in the House of Representatives and that was from a Democrat from Utah.

He said his no votes were cast because the Democrat plan would have raised taxes unnecessarily, while the President's plan added $53 billion to the deficit and the Republican substitute added $32 billion to the deficit.

"Maybe when all three of these bad efforts are wiped off the table, we can join together in a bi-partisan fashion and craft some legislation that will get this country moving again and cut federal spending," Sarpalius said.

Cancer programs encourage detection, prevention

Cutting abnormally high rates of cervical cancer in the Rio Grande Valley is the goal of one of two cancer detection and prevention programs being launched by the Texas Medical Association and two other organizations, according to an article in the March issue of Texas Medicine.

The two cancer prevention programs are cooperative efforts between TMA, the Texas Academy of Family Physicians and The University of Texas M.D. Anderson Cancer Center in Houston, states the official news magazine of the Texas Medical Association.

The Rio Grande Valley Cancer Prevention and Detection Program has enlisted more than 100 family physicians to help reduce cervical cancer rates in the Valley, which are significantly higher than in the rest of the state. The program focuses on the need for doctors to educate patients about the importance of Pap tests. If a patient cannot afford a Pap test, the physician is encouraged to donate his or her services and send the test to M.D. Anderson for interpretation.

The second program, SPOT Your Cancer Risk, is aimed at identifying patients at high risk for lung, breast, colon, cervical, prostate, testicular and skin cancers. The program provides an organized approach to integrate cancer prevention into family physicians' practices.

Family physicians are encouraged to give comprehensive risk evaluations to all patients. Materials such as a risk questionnaire, office flowchart, chart stickers, patient schedule cards, appointment reminders and screening flow sheets are included in the program packet.

Development of the program was funded through TMA's Physician Oncology Education Program (POEP). The POEP, M.D. Anderson and Texas Medical Liability Trust are funding distribution of SPOT materials to family physicians.

Both programs share the common goal of making every physician's office a cancer prevention and detection center, the Texas Medicine article says.

The Texas Medical Association is a professional organization of more than 31,000 physician and medical student members. It is located in Austin and has 119 component county medical societies around the state. The Association represents 82 percent of the doctors of medicine licensed and residing in Texas and 96 percent of the state's allopathic medical students. TMA's key objective is to improve the health of Texans through professional and personal development of its members.

Cattle, ranch thefts were multi-million dollar problem in 1991

The theft of livestock and ranch equipment in 1991 cost Texas and Oklahoma cattlemen and farmers million of dollars, according to Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, a Fort Worth-based producer group that has fought the problem for more than a century.

In an annual report given March 25 to TSCRA members, Secretary-General Manager Don C. King said in 1991 the association's 33 field inspectors, all certified peace officers with special Ranger commissions, developed 201 theft cases, primarily involving cattle thefts. Working closely with state and local law enforcement officers, the inspectors recovered or accounted for 4,432 head of cattle and horses, 17 trailers, 170 saddles and miscellaneous ranch property valued at more than $4,147,124.31, or $11,361.98 per day.

"I cannot emphasize too strongly the important role that brand inspection in Texas played in resolving many of these cattle-related cases and the eventual recovery of these valuable animals for their owners," King said.

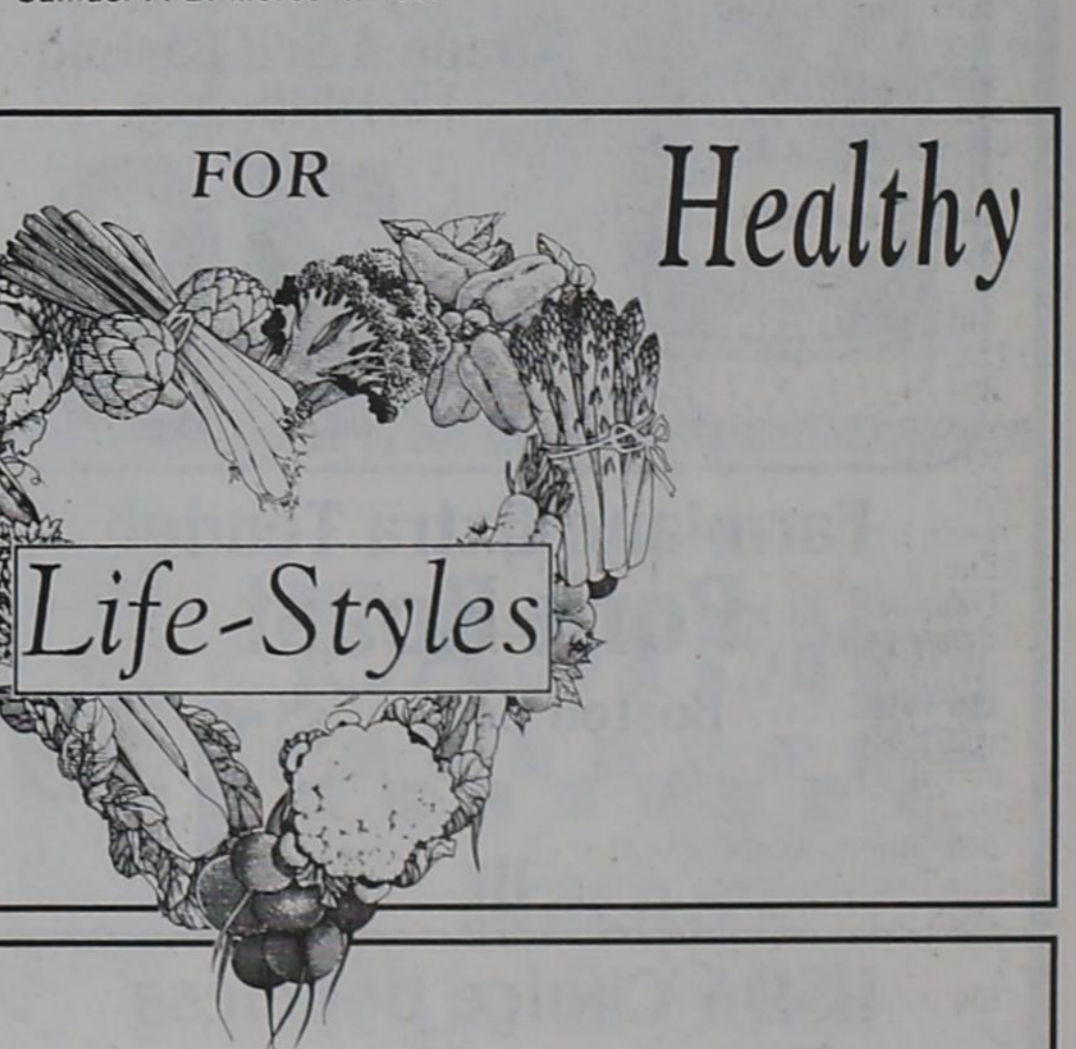

The cattle raisers group also employs approximately 82 brand inspectors who identify five to six million head of cattle at the time of their sale each year. They report their findings to the group's Fort Worth headquarters, where the information is tabulated for computer retrieval.

The theft of livestock in Texas is a felony offense even for the theft of one animal.

The cases worked in 1991 by the TSCRA field inspector and other law enforcement officers, when presented for prosecution, resulted in more than 1,135 years of prison, probation, suspended, deferred, and community service sentences for the offenders. The courts ordered those convicted to pay $356,010.12 in restitution to the victims. Fines, court costs and other compensation were assessed in the amount of $69,500.88, King said.

The longtime lawman encouraged all cattlemen and owners of farm and ranch equipment to take steps to protect themselves from theft. He invited them to contact their local TSCRA field inspector or the Fort Worth office for theft prevention and brand information.

The team edged Slaton 7-6 last week.

In this week's game the Antelopes collected six hits and five runs with five errors.

Tahoka got seven hits on four runs and one error.

Tommy Ammons got the winning pitcher designation and Phil Leiningner took over the duties in the sixth inning to polish off the contest.

Tahoka had two runners on the bases with one out when the Bulldogs attempted a bunt, but it went straight to Leiningner on the mound for the second out, then Leiningner got Corey Whitaker to hit a high pop fly which Manuel Zubia snagged for the final out and the victory.

What would have been the second homerun of the game for Leiningner in the bottom of the sixth was ruled a ground rule double by the home plate umpire.

Sarpalius takes lead in fight to prevent OTS

Congressman Bill Sarpalius has taken the lead in the fight to prevent the Office of Thrift Supervision (OTS) from permitting savings and loan organizations to branch nationwide without state approval.

"The Administration wants savings associations to branch nationwide regardless of state law, and they are willing to go behind Congress' back to get what they want," Sarpalius said.

"Congress refused to give banks the right to branch nationwide, but the Administration seems to think they can get away with it for savings and loans," he added. OTS's decision comes despite two Federal Reserve bank studies that highlight the economic downside of large interstate branching financial institutions.

"The Administration is ignoring the facts and American history," Sarpalius said. "We don't have branching for a reason -- financial over-concentration. But, the Administration is bent on ignoring recent S&L history as well as our nation's own financial past."

Sarpalius introduced legislation in March to allow the states to determine if they want to permit interstate branching by savings and loans. "My legislation, H.R. 4584, allows the states to decide if they want branching. And, as an additional safeguard, my bill will require the OTS to determine if a S&L is adequately capitalized before allowing it to branch -- even if state law permits branching."

"The lessons of the eighties should have taught the administration the dangers of unbridled financial expansion. I favor a go slow approach that allows states to determine if branching is in their best interests, but gives the federal government veto power over branching by unhealthy institutions," Sarpalius commented.

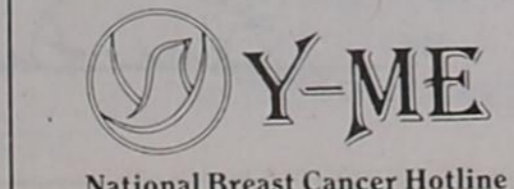

Sarpalius noted that his legislation would not effect those states which already have thrift branching. He said the current mood of the Congress on this "end run" by the Office of Thrift Supervision could result in action on his legislation within the month.

Easter

Early on the first day of the week, while it was still dark, Mary Magdalene went to the tomb and saw that the stone had been removed from the entrance. So she came running to Simon Peter and the other disciple, the one Jesus loved, and said, "They have taken the Lord out of the tomb, and we don't know where they have put him!"

So Peter and the other disciple started for the tomb. Both were running, but the other disciple outran Peter and reached the tomb first. He bent over and looked in at the strips of linen lying there but did not go in. Then Simon Peter, who was behind him, arrived and went into the tomb. He saw the strips of linen lying there, as well as the burial cloth that had been around Jesus' head. The cloth was folded up by itself, separate from the linen. Finally the other disciple, who had reached the tomb first, also went inside. He saw and believed. (They still did not understand from Scripture that Jesus had to rise from the dead.)

TO: L. MacKechney

Defendants, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to appear by filing a written answer to the Plaintiff's Petition at or before ten o'clock A.M. of the first Monday after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being Monday the 25th day of May, 1992, at or before ten o'clock A.M. before the Honorable George H. Hansard, 106th District Court of Garza County, Texas, at the Court House of said County in Post, Texas.

Said Plaintiff's Petition was filed in said court, on the 20th day of March, 1992, in this cause, numbered 4739 on the docket of said court, and styled Brazos River Authority, Acting for and on Behalf of the City of Lubbock, Plaintiff, vs. Chevron USA, Inc., Nations Bank, Midland, Texas, Trustee of the H. L. Huffman Estate, L. MacKechney, William F. Smith and William S. Spradling, Defendants.

is Plaintiff and

CHEVRON, USA, INC., NATIONS BANK, MIDLAND, TEXAS, TRUSTEE OF THE H. L. HUFFMAN ESTATE, L. MACKECHNEY, WILLIAM F. SMITH and WILLIAM S. SPRADLING

are Defendant(s).

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to-wit:

This is a proceeding in eminent domain wherein the Plaintiff, Brazos River Authority, seeks condemnation of a property interest, involving subordination of all right, title and interest, which Defendants have or may have to explore, drill, develop or produce oil, gas or other minerals from tracts of land out of Section 21, Block 6, H&GN RR Co. Survey, Garza County, Texas, more particularly described in the Plaintiff's Original Petition on file in this cause, in which the Defendants are alleged to own undivided mineral interests, with Plaintiff seeking subordination of the rights of the Defendants to explore, drill, develop or produce oil, gas or other minerals from said property to the rights, needs and requirements of the Plaintiff and the City of Lubbock in connection with the construction, operation, maintenance and use of a water impoundment project in Garza and Kent Counties, Texas, for the purpose of providing fresh water for the needs of the City of Lubbock in the future. All rights of the Defendants to explore, drill, develop or produce, oil, gas or other minerals from their mineral ownership interest in the property described above are to be declared inferior to the rights and interests of the Plaintiff and the City of Lubbock to construct, operate and utilize the project for its intended purpose, as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.
