Engineering firm selected for landfill permit application

Could cost as much as $150,000

by Wes Burnett The Post City Council voted unanimously last Thursday evening to select its long time engineering firm of Parkhill, Smith and Cooper to provide services in the application for a permit to open a new landfill site adjacent to the current facility. The meeting began at 7 p.m. and preceded a joint meeting with the Garza County Commissioners' Court.

The vote came following a discussion of the three proposals presented to the council at its regular meeting Monday, July 6.

Mayor Jim Jackson led the discussion by pointing out that Parkhill, Smith and Cooper had made "an excellent presentation", adding that the firm also is an expert in the field of solid waste management.

Other city council members adding their support for Parkhill, Smith and Cooper included Maxine Conoly, Dan Lamb, Jim Schooler and Larry Mills. Council member Jimmy Holleman supported Enreco, citing their staff of geoloists as a plus. Oller Engineering was the other firm submitting a proposal. The vote on the motion by Mills to accept Parkhill, Smith and Cooper drew

The motion included a restriction to spending only an estimated $4,000 for the first phase of the application process, which includes submitting current data on the proposed 35 acre landfill site to the Texas Water Commission to determine if the city will be allowed the "West Texas Exemption" status.

Although no firm estimates have been made, Mayor Jackson said that the total cost of the application could be as high as $150,000. Before adjourning the special called meeting, the council heard a report from city manager Bob Turner concerning the hiring of city employees to catch dogs

He informed the council that city attorney Harvey Morton discovered the practice of paying employees for off-duty work would be a potential problem with the Fair Labor Standards Act. Morton recommended not to implement the program based on those standards. "It'll only be a problem if we have a dissatisfied employee," Turner said.

Having heard the report, Mayor Jackson asked if any council member had a problem with implementing the program, to which Mills replied that he was concerned about the risk and liability the city might have. No other opposition was expressed.

County balks at funding for landfill

Too many unknown costs to suit commissioners

Meeting in joint session last Thursday evening at city hall, the Post city council and the Garza County commissioners' court came to terms on a long list of jointly funded operations, but left the funding of the proposed new landfill on

Citing the inability of the city to determine the costs of the application process and the operational costs if the permit is approved, Judge Giles Dalby, speaking for the court, said that county taxes would have to be raised to support the project and "we just don't feel real good about that."

"We need more information and more firm estimates on what it is going to cost," Dalby added.

After a lengthy, but harmonious discussion of the jointly funded operations,

Mayor Jim Jackson said, "well, now we're at the tough part." "What percentage or how much will the county be willing to help with the Judge Dalby replied, "it's our feeling that since you have already decided on an engineering firm, you did that earlier tonight, did you not? Then, since we were not consulted or even asked our opinion about the selection, we felt that perhaps the city doesn't need or want our help.'

The discussion following those opening remarks centered around the estimated high costs and Dalby's objection to county funding based on "double taxation" for property owners in the city limits.

"You will have to raise the sanitation fees, and we'll have to raise property taxes," he said, "and that to me is double taxation and really unfair."

"We aren't shutting the door on assisting in the project," Dalby added, 'but at this time, without more concrete information on the costs, we just can't make any commitments.'

He cited the expected additional costs to the county this year in meeting the requirements of the American Disability Act, which will require major modifications at the courthouse.

Dalby also explained that the county is unable to set ordinances for collecting sanitation fees and its only recourse for funding is through property taxes.

Prior to the discussion about the landfill, the two government bodies agreed to terms on jointly funding law enforcement, fire department, emergency medical services, the airport, community center, library and parks.

Attending the meeting were council members Larry Mills, Jim Schooler, Dan Lamb, Jimmy Holleman, Maxine Conoly and Mayor Jackson and commissioners Herb Walls, Albert Stone and John Valdez along with Judge

Before adjourning, Jackson set a date of July 27 for a city council work

Commissioners table city request for landfill funding

How much will it cost?

by Wes Burnett

Garza County commissioners at the regular meeting Monday morning reviewed the outcome of the joint session held with the Post city council last Thursday and agreed to table any decisions concerning funding of the proposed landfill site being planned by the city.

"It just isn't prudent at this time," Judge Giles Dalby said. "I have a problem with idea of double taxation for property owners in the city limits."

"I want to know how much is it going to cost?" commissioner Herb Walls

"We just couldn't get a clear indication of that," Dalby replied. (see related story this page)

In other action, commissioners agreed to authorize the purchase of trees that had been vandalized last year, using restitution funds provided by the verdict

Commissioner Walls agreed to serve as coordinator for completion of the old jail to be converted inside to accommodate storage of old files. Representatives of Santa Fe Railroad met with commissioners to discuss operating procedures for repairing road approaches at various crossings in the Walls complained that when his graders are working on the approaches he could be sure that they wouldn't get hung up on the tracks, which especially at Justiceburg are difficult. Santa Fe's Mike Stanfill said that given proper notice, the railroad would provide supervision and personnel to make sure everything is safe for the work. Discussion centered around who is responsible for maintaining the roadway to the tracks, and Stanfill reminded the court that the road up to the tracks is the responsibility of the government agency maintaining the roads, according the agreement with the county.

County attorney Preston Poole asked for clarification as to the right of way and Stanfill agreed to send maps showing the railroad right of way. Walls mentioned a problem recently at the crossing on Boy Hart's ranch,

'Mrs Hart couldn't get her car over the crossing and it is really dangerous. Boy asked me to help and we took a grader out there and that is a problem," the Precinct Four commission said.

"Is this on private property?" Stanfill asked. "Yes," Walls replied.

"Well, it's normally the property owner's responsibility to maintain roads and approaches," Stanfill added.

James Aaron complained about the crossing at FM 1269 on the Fluvanna road, requesting a signal. Stanfill said that the state of Texas has a regular process for installing signals based on priorities and he would investigate to see what the status at that crossing is.

A discussion followed on the condition of the underpass on White Road, which is used primarily by oilfield service vehicles. Stanfill said that the structure was originally built for drainage and was not intended to be used as an underpass. Poole said that the county could face a serious liability problem without proper signage at the underpass.

Commissioners agreed to work with Santa Fe for coordinating road repairs. In other action, the court heard reports from county agents Ann Nobles and John Senter. Nobles reported that the food service program has fed a total of 1,088 breakfasts and 2,887 lunches for an average of 60 to 70 at breakfast and 100 to 200 at lunch. The program has been extended through July 31. Senter said that he will be traveling with 28 Garza County 4-H youth this week to the summer camp at Brownwood. Caprock Cultural Association's JoAnn Mock presented a report and request for funding at $1,000 for the arts programs. The court approved a request by Action Telcom's Keith Hargrove to review the county's communications system and to analyze its needs. Financial assistance of $100 was authorized for the veterans affairs officer to attenda conference.

Post's 'Cardiac Kids' going to District

by Michael Stearns

The Post Little League All-Stars advance to district play this week in Lubbock by virtue of sweeping through the field at the Area 4 playoffs. But it wasn't easy going in the play-offs last week in Tahoka. In fact, the young Post ball club may have contributed more to the Coronary Care unit of the local hospitals than any other source.

Post trailed in every game of the tournament and rallied late in the game to score a string of come from behind victories. It started in the very first game against host

Post fell behind 4-0 and even preserve the win for Post. trailed 7-3 as late as the fifth inning. Then came a furious rally which saw Post tie the game in the fifth, blow a great scoring opportunity in the sixth, and win the game in the seventh.

The "come back kids" struck again in their 7-3 win over Shallowater in the next game. 7-3 should have been an easy victory, right? Not for this group. Post trailed 3-1 coming into the fifth inning and things looked bad for the Garza County nine until Sam Woods hit a homer over the left field fence to tie the game at 3-3.

That home run shook up Shallowater pitcher Tony Ortiz as he walked two more in the inning and hit two batters. Post scored four more times and Ramon Perez struck out the side in the top of the sixth to greatest come back against Slaton. Slaton came into the game after defeating Spur 39-5 so Post knew Slaton had a good team. Slaton drew first blood on a home run by Jeremy Thomas. He was the first batter Post pitcher Anthony Flores Post crew scored three runs and Slaton added two runs in the second, two in the third, and one in the fourth to lead 6-2. It looked like Post would have to fight their way carry that loss into district through the loser's bracket. Then competition. Post would have to came that magic fifth inning.

Sam Woods led off with a single. Anthony Flores came to the plate and hit a towering homerun to runs, 6-4.

important again in the sixth inning. Both batters walked and then scored on a double by catcher Ramon Perez. With the score tied and Perez on second base, Slade "Tater" Bevers hit a sharp single to left. Perez scored and the Post boys had another miracle victory 7-6.

Post finally decided to find out what it would be like to have lead in the Championship contest against Shallowater. Pitcher Ramon Perez struck out eight Shallowater batters through four scoreless innings to spark the Post defense. Ramon helped his pitching effort by hitting a first inning three run homer to give Post a 3-0 cushion. Post scored another run in the second and one in the fifth to The "cardiac kids" staged their increase their advantage to 5-0.

Shallowater scored three in the bottom of the fifth to make the game close 5-3. Post then nailed down the win in the top of sixth on back to back doubles by Slade Bevers and Jamie Hernandez. The won the championship 8-3.

Post now advances to the District 2 play-offs without a loss. The teams that lost in their tournaments loss two games to be eliminated. Post takes on Brownfield at the Southwest Little League Field Wednesday night at 7:30. Go up center field to bring Post within two and see the team as they try to nail down a berth to Sectionals. ## Senior League boys battle Tahoka for Area championship

by Michael Stearns

Post and Tahoka battled through three games this past week for the right to advance to Lubbock and the district play-offs. It was a battle that was not decided until the last inning of the championship game

The week started with the Post boys holding off a furious rally by Tahoka sending the Lynn County bunch into the loser's bracket to face Slaton 13-12. Slaton got to the loser's bracket courtesy of the pitching of Patrick Soto and the Post Lumber crew 12-1. Tahoka beat Slaton 9-8 to earn the right to face Post for the championship.

Post scored early on a two run double by Bodie Simpson in the first inning. The senior boys increased their lead in the second by scoring three to lead 5-1. Reservations were being made for Lubbock in the stands.

Then disaster struck. Tahoka began a rally after Armondo Ayala struck out the first two batters in the inning. Two walks, an error, and three singles later, Ayala found himself behind 6-5.

Tahoka added two more in the fourth on a homer by Oscar Garcia.

Tahoka owned a 9-6 advantage before Post added two in the sixth to close

Tahoka pitcher Edward Ramirez struck out three of the five batters he faced in the seventh to retire the Post threat and secure the win for

The loss meant that the two clubs would then have to face each other again for the right to advance to District.

Tahoka scored two in the top of the first on a homer by Edward Ramirez. The blow only served to ignite the Post offense in the bottom of Armondo Ayala and Justin Terry led off the home half of the inning with back to back singles, after Bodie Simpson flied out Raymond Garza plastered one over the left field fence to bring in three Post runs. It was Garza's third home run of the series. Post added another in the inning when Oscar Acevedo scored on a wild pitch to bring the Post lead to 4-2.

The game turned into a pitcher's duel over the next four innings. Tahoka ace Gerald Cantu struck out five over that span and got some good defensive help from his infield. But Tahoka couldn't take advantage of the defensive effort as Bodie Simpson was spectacular on the mound for Post.

Simpson struck out eleven batters in the seven innings, eight of those coming during the four scoreless

The game remained 4-2 until Bodie hit a solo homerun in the bottom of the fifth. Sensing the me getting away from them, Tahoka rallied for three runs in the top of the sixth to tie the score 5-5. The bottom of the sixth began with Tori Harper receiving a free pass to first and then stealing second. Larry Haynes single to left scored Tori and gave Post the lead

6-5. David Perez then singled advancing Haynes to second. Back to back sacrifices by Chris Guerrero and Armondo Ayala scored Haynes and Post led 7-5.

The Post defense then set Tahoka down in order to preserve the win and advance to Lubbock.

Justin Terry, Raymond Garza, and David Perez all had an exceptional play-off series batting .550, .467, and .444 respectively. Oscar Acevedo and Raymond Garza sparked the Post defense throughout the play-offs.

Post advances to the District play-offs in Lubbock this week.
