Your Country Is Still At War ... Are You?

As we move closer into victory, on the eve of the Sixth War Loan, it wouldn't be surprising if you were to say to yourself ... "What's the big idea of asking for all this additional money now? Isn't the war just about over?"

No Sir, it is not. Not by a long shot. Of course, now for many months you have heard mostly about the war with Germany, where our greatest effort has been concentrated. When Germany falls some people seem to think the war will be about over. They seem to forget the other battlefields.

Make no mistake about it ... the war will not be over then ... nothing could be farther from the truth. The Japanese war is a tremendous undertaking and victory will come high as all Garza countians who are in it will testify. The Italian campaign is still raging, too, as many of our home county soldiers who write home when time permits, tell us in no uncertain terms.

Garza county has not previously let the nation down on war loan drives in the opinion of John Herd and T. R. Greenfield, county chairmen, who are now laying plans for the opening of the drive here on November 28. We will do more than our share this time too ... for this happens to be our army, our navy and our war.

During this Sixth War Loan drive we see no reason why Post and Garza county cannot subscribe the major part of their quota during the first few days. In putting this drive across it will be as much our job as it is those of the hundreds of boys from this county.

Our country is still at war, are you?

GINNERS BELIEVE ONE-THIRD OF CROPS ALREADY GINNED

PRAYER for the Week

By A Layman

Our Father in Heaven, Creator and Giver of all good things: we thank thee for the blessings thou hast bestowed upon us; for the privilege of living in this great country and under this great government.

We thank thee for thy protection and thy aid for the opportunity to serve and worship thee, O Lord, we pray thee, those who are trying to direct the affairs of this Nation and those of our allies. Bless the men and women in service everywhere and their leaders. May we have an early termination of this war, followed by a peace that will accord with thy will. Forgive our sins and lead us by thy Spirit, we ask in Jesus' name. Amen.

BOOK WEEK - NOV. 12 - 18

Some years ago the book trade set apart a week in November as Children's Book Week. It was soon discovered, however, that adults needed as much education as did children on the pleasure to be derived from reading books, so now we have National Book Week— for everybody. The dates this year are November 12-18. It probably will be celebrated by parades or beauty contests or reading drives in the average town, but it is a time especially appropriate for making up a program of good reading and for listing books that will make holiday gifts.

Among the new books we recommend are: When Johnny Comes Marching Home by Dixon, Werler; Journey Through Chaos by Agnes S. Meyer; Maidens of Maine by Robert Tustman Coffin; and Birds in the Solomons by Osa Johnson.

There are innumerable books for children. A list can be obtained from circulating libraries or from any accredited book firm.

NEW PATTERNS FOR AMERICANS ... A ladies' writer: "What do they mean, fashioning around about what kind of an America we want—what kind of a world we want when we get home? Do they value America as something that can be changed with the seasons the same as women's hats and clothes?"

"You can't escape the notion now that some people back home are trying to fashion new patterns for America running around with age measure, shorts, chaps, and things and quarreling among themselves as to what style of a tailor-made country will please us after the war.

"It's swell that our first few months in civvies are getting some 'furehtight' instead of the hind-thought—or no thought—of the last time.

"When that period is over all that we want is to be free to work at what we can do best—with an employer who is free to expand—all of us managed by someone who knows how to weld us into a going business to the end that our work and risk in a fair, open market, will bring reasonable returns that will be free to use for building family and country into a still wondrous future.

FOUNDATION OF PEACE ... One of the most profound articles we have read in a long time was written by Erich Brandeis recently in his column "Looking At Life." Quoting Mr. Brandeis: "The true foundation of peace lies not in Dumbarton Oaks or Teheran or Quebec. It lies in your village church. It lies in your school. It lies in your clubs and your family circle and it lies near your back fence."

History's Greatest Armada Landed on Normandy Coast Nazi Pillboxes Wreck Tank But Crew Wanted to Return

By Ernie Pyle

(Editor's Note): Pyle recalls some of his experiences while he was with the Doughboys during the French campaign. He is now taking a long-needed rest in New England.

NORMANDY BEACHHEAD, D DAY PLUS TWO.—I took a walk along the historic coast of Normandy in the country of France.

It was a lovely day for strolling along the seashore. Men were sleeping on the sand, some of them sleeping forever. Men were floating in the water, but they didn't know they were in the water, for they were dead.

The water was full of squishy little jellyfish about the size of your hand. Millions of them. In the center each of them had a green design exactly like a four-leaf clover. The good - luck emblem. Sure - Hell, yes.

I walked for a mile and a half along the water's edge of our newly-milled invasion beach. You wanted to walk slowly, for the detail on that beach was infinite.

The wreckage was vast and startling. The awful waste and destruction of war, even aside from the loss of human life, has always been one of its outstanding features to those who are in it. Anything and everything is expendable. And we did expend on our beachhead in Normandy during those first few hours.

For a mile out from the beach there were scores of tanks and trucks and boats that you could no longer see, for they were at the bottom of the water—swamped by overloading, or hit by shells, or sunk by mines. Most of their crews were lost.

You could see tracks tipped half over and swamped. You could see partly sunken barges, and the angled-up corners of jeeps, and small landing craft half submerged. And at low tide you could still see those vicious six-pronged iron snares that helped snag and wreck them.

On the beach itself, high and dry, were all kinds of wrecked vehicles. There were tanks that had only just made the beach before being knocked out. There were jeeps that had burned to a dull gray. There were big derricks on caterpillar treads that didn't quite make it. There were half-tracks carrying office equipment that had been made into shambles by a single shell hit, their interiors still holding their useless swag of smashed typewriters, telephones, office files.

There were LCT's turned completely upside down, and lying on their backs, and how they got that way I don't know. There were boats stacked on top of each other, their sides caved in, their suspension doors knocked off.

In this shoreline museum of carnage there were abandoned rolls of barbed wire and smashed bulldozers and big stacks of thrown-away life-rafts and piles of shells still waiting to be moved.

In the water floated empty life rafts and soldiers' packs and ration boxes, and mysterious oranges.

On the beach lay mangled rolls of telephone wire and big rolls of steel matting and stacks of broken, rusted rifles.

On the beach lay, expanded, sulky men and mechanics for a small war. They were gone forever now. And yet we could afford it.

We could afford it because we were on, we had our hold, and behind us there were such enormous replacements for this wreckage on the beach that you could hardly conceive of their sun, hot, sea and equipment were flowing from England in such a gigantic stream that it made the waste on the beachhead seem like nothing at all, really nothing at all.

A few hundred yards back on the beach is a high bluff. Up there we had a tank hospital, and a barbed-wire enclosure for prisoners of war. From up there you could see far up and down the beach, in a spectacular crow's-nest view, and far out to sea.

And standing out there on the water beyond all this wreckage was the greatest armada ever hit over sea. You simply could not believe the gigantic collection of ships that lay out there waiting to unload. Looking from the bluff, it lay thick and clear to the far horizon of the sea and on beyond, and it spread out to the sides and was miles wide. Its utter enormity would move the hardest man.

As I stood up there I noticed a group of freshly taken German prisoners standing nearby. They had not yet been put in the prison cage. They were just standing there, a couple of doughboys leisurely guarding them with Tommy guns. The prisoners too were looking out to sea—the same bit of sea that for months and years had been so safely empty before their gaze.

They didn't say a word to each other. They didn't need to. The expression on their faces was something forever unforgettable. It was the final horrible acceptance of their doom. If only all Germany could have had the rich experience of standing on the bluff and looking out across the water and seeing what their compatriots saw.

The hospital was in our hands, but just barely. On up the street a block there seemed to be fighting. I say seemed to be, because actually you can't always tell. Street fighting is just as confusing as field fighting.

One side will hang away for a while, then the other side. Between these rallies there are long lulls, with only stray and isolated shots. Just an occasional soldier is sneaking about, and you don't see anything of the enemy at all. You can't tell half the time just what the situation is, and neither can the soldiers.

About a block beyond the hospital entrance two American tanks were sitting in the middle of the street, one about 50 yards ahead of the other. I walked toward them. Our infantrymen were in doorways along the street.

I got within about 50 feet of our front tank when it let go its 75-millimeter gun. The blast was terrific there in the narrow street. Gism came tinkling down from nearby windows, smoke puffed around the tank, and the empty street was shaking and trembling with the concussion.

As the tank continued to shoot I ducked into a doorway, because I figured the Germans would shoot back. Inside the doorway there was a sort of street-level cellar, dirt floored. Apparently there was a wine shop above, for the cellar was stacked with wire crates for hold-alls, wine bottles on their sides. There were lots of bottles, but they were all empty.

I went back to the doorway and stood peering out at the tank. It started backing up. Then suddenly a yellow flame pierced the bottom of the tank and there was a crash of such intensity that I automatically blinked my eyes. The tank, hardly 50 feet from where I was standing, had been hit by an enemy shell.

A second shot ripped the pavement at the side of the tank. There was smoke all around, but the tank didn't even fire. In a moment the crew came boiling out of the turret.

Great as it was, I almost had to laugh as they ran toward us. I have never seen men run so violently. They ran all over, with arms and heads going up and down and with imprecation - race grimaces. They plunged into my doorway.

I opened the door excitedly with them. We changed to another doorway and sat on boxes in the empty hallway. The floor and steps were thick with blood where a soldier had been treated within the hour. What had happened to the tank was this: They had been firing away at a pillbox ahead when their tank tumbled, hitting the tank with smoke and blinding them.

Crew Worried About Running Engine

The first shot hit a tread, on the tank's main drive. That was when the boys got out. I don't know why the Germans didn't see it then as they poured out.

The captured tankers naturally were excited, but they were as jittery as Jim-crows and ready for action. They had never been in contact before the breakout of Normandy, yet to these weeks their tank had been shot up three times. Each time it was repaired.

The main worry of these boys was the fact that they had left the engine running. We could hear it chugging away. It's bad for a tank motor to idle very long. But now they were afraid to go back and see the crew off. For the tank was still right in line with the hidden German gun.

Gene Of Thought

CHARLES FULFORD

Between forty and fifty million there is a wide distinction of mind that is most keen to the temper to inventively a diverge in the latter.

The highest wisdom is continual cheerfulness, such a state, like the region above the moon, is always clear and serene.

If good people would but make their goodness agreeable, and smile instead of frowning in their virtue, how many would they win to the good cause.

He who sees most clearly and enlightens other minds most readily, keeps his own lamp trim and burning.

Cheerfulness keeps up a kind of daylight in the mind, filling it with a steady and perpetual serenity.

A laugh, to be joyous, must flow from a joyous heart, for without kindness there can be no true joy.

Give somebody a lift

One of our leading citizens who is one of our most sincere Christians offers a suggestion that we want to underscore with a red pencil.

It is that we go back in memory and recall some person who gave us a lift when we needed it most—then give him an earnest thank-you, either in person or by letter. It's a simple way of reviving an art that tends to be lost by busy men, the art of being grateful.

SANTA FE DEPOT UNDERGOES RECENT REBUILDING
The Santa Fe depot has undergone a bit of remodeling and facelift recently. The newly painted exterior and interior make the old building look like new. The blue and white color scheme of the outside is repeated on the inside. The freight office was moved some time ago to the main building and now passenger and freight depots are in one unit. New wall heaters were installed and a uniform room temperature will provide the proper warmth for the waiting rooms and offices.

The townspeople and other interested folks are invited to look over the new arrangements and decorations.

There were 119 votes cast here Tuesday. One overseas soldier's vote was cast.

Thursday, the last game of the season on the home grid was played. Sudrown defeated our football team 21 to 6.

Wednesday and Thursday Mrs. S. M. Truelock, accompanied by her small daughter, and Mrs. Marvin Truelock, visited in Post with the former's sister, Mrs. Bud Odum and Mrs. Lennis Carlton.

Friday afternoon Miss Virginia King, who has been employed in Phoenix, Arizona, arrived home.

Last week and E. M. Hasinger had an attack of heart trouble and was some better Monday afternoon.

Last week Marvin Truelock installed many new pieces of new machinery in his repair shop.

Mrs. Grady King and new daughter, Glendell, came home Sunday from Slaton's Mercy hospital.

W. W. Gilliland was worse again last week and Friday night his daughter, Mrs. Dave Draper of Slaton came to visit him.

Mrs. Phil Gossett of Arp arrived here early Monday morning. She is the older daughter of Clyde Sartain.

There were no church services at the Methodist church Sunday because of the absence of the pastor and his wife. Someone heard the broadcast of the pastoral appointment from Sweetwater and reported that Rev. E. C. Armstrong would return here, as most everyone expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Arda Long of Barnum Springs and Mrs. Robert Pennell and Larry of Post visited the Donald Pennells Sunday.

Donner Gossett Visits Home After 23 European Air Raids

Miss Sgt. Ray Osborne, formerly of Post, who wears the Air Medal and three oak leaf clusters, wouldn't take a million of what he has seen during a year in the European area, but he wouldn't give a dime for a chance to do it over again. He recently returned from Italy.

As gunner and photographer on a Liberator, Osborne completed 60 bombing missions before he was sent back to the States. He is now visiting his wife and parents in Corpus Christi.

His first stop overseas was Africa. Most of the action was over there, and he was moved into Italy. From there, his plane took off for all parts of German-occupied territory.

He has a Me 109 in his credit on a combat mission. The whole story of how he shot that down, he wrapped up in the words, "It was just there."

Texans were thick in Osborne's outfit, and all the time they weren't dropping bombs, they were teaching classes in Texas lore. He said the Italian children learned to speak English quickly and his gang taught them long speeches about "Texas, the capitol of the United States." Osborne wore a jacket with "Texas" in large letters embroidered upon it.

"And the Italians know all about Corpus Christi and the bay too," Osborne laughed. "We saw to that."

The trip on the troop train across the United States when Osborne was on the way home had all the trimmings of a college football special. The boys had been put on the train with a brass band. They painted "Texas or bust" and other slogans on the side of the train with soap, and started a hilarious cross-country tour. In many towns, he said they were met by shouting crowds, the Red Cross representatives, who gave them boxes of cookies, milk, and other foods they had not had overseas.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Snowden have heard from their son Lt. Benjamin H. Snowden. He arrived recently at the Army Air Forces Redistribution Station No. 3 in Miami Beach, Fla. He is there for reassignment processing after completing a tour of duty outside the continental U. S. Lt. Snowden was a B-17 pilot in the European theatre.

Miss Sgt. Ray Osborne spent last week in Ft. Worth, Tex., accompanied by her mother, Mrs. J. E. Parker, and several members of the Post P-TA in the metropolitan city.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Lawson and children of Odessa spent Armistice Day in Post with friends.

The other evening at an informal supper I saw "in action" the very special convenience of a nest-of-tables. In this home there were a pair of these very decorative pieces on either side of the fireplace.

As time for refreshments arrived, I noticed there were still no signs of a table being set, although there were eight to be served, and there was plenty of evidence of activity in the kitchen.

The husband appeared with a big tray. This he set on the low cocktail table. And in a twinkling he moved out the two smaller tables from each of the "nests," placing these conveniently by the chairs the guests were occupying. Then the hostess came from the kitchen with a steaming percolator of coffee and a huge platter of sandwiches. When these were passed, each guest shared with another the use of one of the small tables from the nest. It all took place quickly, easily, and gracefully. I realized more strongly than ever why in the recent survey of Imperial Furniture Company of Grand Rapids, nests-of-tables were third in popularity among all types of tables. Since that evening I have been talking with some of my friends who have nests-of-tables in their homes, to learn other uses to which they are being put.

One woman, who has two high school age children, finds that the use of nests solves the problem of a small desk for doing home work. And she herself uses one of the nests for sewing. Another uses one of the nests for parties really shine. You can put a small table on diagonal corners for ash trays, drinks, and even serve pads, keeping the card table clear for playing.

Southland Boys In Service

Mrs. Ben Becker's nephew 1-c Oscar Meissner who is with the Navy Air Corps, left here Tuesday after one and a half days visit with the Beckers. He has seen eighteen months of service in the West Pacific where for 11-2 months they lived on rice and potatoes. He states that it is no propaganda that our boys are mopping up on the Japs.

Sunday the Harry Kings received a letter their son Cpl. Henry (Babe) King had written Oct. 31. Babe has visited Paris, Chateau Thierry, San Lo, Holland, Belgium and has seen the Dragon Teeth of the Siegfried line.

August Becker, Jr. and Arthur Veight, Jr. reported in Dallas at 9:00 a. m. Monday of this week. This is the third son of the A. Beckers to volunteer for the Navy.

Sgt. Ralph Landers' first letter in almost six weeks was received Monday. He has been traveling around so much that his mail had not caught up with him—he had just learned that his sister Ruth was married Sept. 7. Landers had gone through Paris—"a beautiful place," what he could see of it.

Saturday Pfc. Wayne Whitted left for Fort Ord, Calif. for reassignment.

Mrs. Whitted received a letter from Junior Hord, written Oct. 30, from Luxemborg County, Belgium.

Pvt. Alton L. Warren Writes From Somewhere In France

Pvt. Alton L. Warren writes the editor from somewhere in France, saying he had just received a bundle of Post papers. While they had been delayed, he said they were interesting just the same.

"I've been on foreign soil 2 years and have 3 or 4 ribbons, but I don't wear them, I might lose them and they don't mean much over here."

He also said he enjoyed reading about his buddies. It has been 3 years and 7 months since he left Post for the service. He said he expected to spend another Christmas in the mud as he had done before.

Greeting to you, Pvt. Warren, from your friends and we too "hope to see you soon."

Club Work Reviewed By Mabel Manley, Garza H-D Agent

By Mabel Ann Manley, County Home Demonstration Agent
Three of Garza county's 102 4-H club girls are second generation 4-H'ers.
Mrs. W. A. Long of the Barnum Springs community was a 4-H club member when she was 7 1/2 and her two daughters are now 4-H clubbers. Carol Jean served her club as president during the summer and has volunteered to serve as clothing demonstrator for the Post High school 4-H club. She met all except one of her 1941 club goals by equipping a sewing box, making a scarf, an apron, and planting four different vegetables. She kept her clothes in good repair and made an oven nest to aid her in handling hot jars and pans. She preserved 22 1-3 qts. of beans, corn and pickles. In addition to sewing required in 4-H club work she made a skirt, and a dutch bonnet.
The slip cover demonstration for the Home Demonstration club was given at Mrs. Long's home and Carol Jean aided by sewing all of the cording. At the county Rally Day program she took an active part.
Verna Dell, the other daughter, of Mrs. Long's, also made a good club record. She met approximately the same goals that her sister met. The total amount she canned was 20 quarts. Perhaps Verna Dell's greatest accomplishment outside of her 4-H goals was the making of a cork purse which she worked long hours to complete.
She served her club as secretary treasurer during the summer and now serving as secretary of the Post High school 4-H club. Her minutes are neatly and accurately written.
The Long sisters have both kept neat, attractive scrap books which will be of great value to them in years to come.
The third 4-H club girl is Clynda Grantham, the daughter of Mrs. Marvin Truelock of Southland. Mrs. Truelock was a 4-H'er when she was a girl and was very anxious for her daughter to become a 4-H club member.
Clynda met all her goals. In addition to her 4-H work she made a housecoat, 2 blouses, dress and skirt. She preserved 48 quarts of food.
This young lady of nearly ten has been active in Sunday school, G. A., and the scrap paper drive. She has taken expression and piano lessons.
Twenty-nine of the 4-H club girls in the county have returned the check sheets sent them by the County Home Demonstration Agent and other members are urged to do so soon.

Home of Mrs. Dezzie Power Is Scene of Club Meeting Wed.

Mmes. W. L. Davis and Dezzie Power were hostesses to the Woman's Culture club last Wednesday in the Power home. Mrs. Jones presided for the discussion of several matters of business.
Mrs. J. P. Manly was leader for the Time Magazine news program and discussed in her topic "What Would You Pay Teachers"—being a study of conditions of rural teachers and their salaries.
Mrs. Jones presented two short subjects: What Will You Do With Your Bonds and The Paris Fashion Shows. Many people have rushed to redeem bonds and a wave of spending has resulted. Paris is eager to regain her place as fashion center and so presented fashion shows, somewhat crasy, soon after liberation.
Mrs. Cearley presented Should Local News Items be True or Tactful, a discussion of the type of news editing as done by small weekly newspapers.
The hostesses served a delicious refreshment plate of sandwiches, tea, and mints to seven club members.

Delegates From Post Attend The P-TA Congress

When the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers met last week in Fort Worth these Post leaders were in attendance, Mrs. J. E. Parker, Tol Thomas, D. C. Williams, and B. J. Edwards.
At the closing session of the 5th annual meeting it was unanimously resolved to demand a permanent world peace conference.
A principle objective of 163,000 members of the congress will be support of all measures to prevent wars.
The congress also adopted a resolution calling for higher qualification standards for teachers with proportionate salary increases and continued emphasis on a program of parent education.
Mrs. E. H. Becker of Houston was elected to a three year term as president, succeeding Mrs. Jack M. Little of Dallas.
Mrs. H. F. Godeke of Lubbock, well known to club women in Post, served as chairman of the nominating committee.
Mrs. E. W. Williams, who was already in Fort Worth, also registered for the session.

Families of soldiers engaged in operations in the Philippines will soon be receiving batches of mail that have been delayed for security reasons during the period preceding the invasion of these islands. Some 400,000 letters and a large number of parcels were impounded. This mail regiminated with units now engaged in American army operations in the Philippines. Some of the letters date as far back as last July.

Stocks Look Whisper You Are Going... Listen, what God says... "Blessed is the way that leads to destruction and luxury those to which go in the street, because instead in the gate and narrow is the way which leads to life and few there be that find it." Matthew 7:13-14. Where are you going? Look into your own heart. Look into the Bible. Look at God. Look into your church. Look into the theatre. Look into the dance hall. NO CERTIFICATE NEEDED FOR THESE "SPARES"

Keep spare lamp bulbs on hand in your home to replace burnouts as soon as they occur. Most electric dealers now have bulbs in all common home sizes. You need no points, coupons or certificates to buy them—never did, in fact. So don't be without light these dark fall days and longer evenings.

If it costs you time to have light in your home where you need it. You can be sure you are getting all you pay for if you keep your home lighting equipment in shape this way.

Begin by putting the RIGHT SIZE bulb in each lamp or fixture. Then keep the shades and diffusing bowls, as well as the bulbs, free of dust and dirt.

Use the white or light-lined shades on your lamps, to reflect more usable light.

Move lamps closer to points of use, to shed more light directly on the work. You can often increase their usefulness by rearranging furniture so that one lamp will serve two people.

Your eyes need the correct amount of diffused light to perform difficult seeing tasks like reading or sewing without strain. Now is the time to see that your home lighting equipment can furnish proper illumination.

PLANE TALK
 BY Revlon Burnette

The air age brings with it new words such as "airports," "flight steps" and "airbarbers." The Aeronautical Council of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce has a countrywide campaign under way to develop several of these landing facilities within the next few years. These new airfields will become a necessity as private flying becomes more popular with private flyers. Among the new aeronautical terms will be:

Airports: Community aviation centers of fixed size built with community funds. They should be constructed adjacent to main shopping districts or within convenient walking distance.

Flightsteps: Runways built along highways, equipped with telephone pay stations, automatic fuel vendors and rest rooms. Planned as state and country highway department projects.

Airbarbers: Improved landing places in quiet waters. The landing facilities described by those terms will thus differ in purpose from airports, a term identified with large commercial landing areas for airline and air traffic.

Official recognition of the new terminology has been secured from the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

Planning groups in several sections of the country have approved it tentatively and plans are getting under way to build several thousand of the facilities after the war.

Countians Urged to File Birth Records For Vital Statistics

Explaining the need for all Garza County births to be registered through the Bureau of Vital Statistics, Texas State Department of Health, Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, said in Austin recently, "There are many reasons why every person needs a birth certificate. It is necessary for entrance into school, for the right to vote, for work in federal defense projects, for proving American citizenship, for entering military service, to prove legal age for inheritance of property, for proving claims of widows and orphans, for settlement of insurance, for right of admission to certain professions, for collecting compensation from the government and for many other important activities.

In Texas whenever a birth is attended by a physician, it becomes the physician's responsibility according to law to file a certificate of birth. There are, however, children born in the state without medical attendance, and it is the parents' responsibility to have this birth registered through the regular channel.

Much of the delay and embarrassment to people in search of a delayed birth certificate could be entirely avoided by general recognition of the value attached to each individual having his own certificate of birth.

Denver City Black Post 25-6

The high-stepping Denver City Mustangs clinched the 4A title Friday night when they trounced Post, 29-0. The Mustangs were in complete mastery all the way and were never in any danger.

On the first play from scrimmage, Post recovered a Mustang fumble on the Denver City 45 yard line. However, the Antelopes were forced to punt. On the following play, Harrison went wide around his right end and raved untouched for the first touchdown. The attempt to pass for the extra point failed. After regaining the ball on a bad punt, the Denver City eleven worked the ball down to the Antelope 20 yard line from which point Tarrell scored on an end run. The kick for point was good. Late in the first quarter, Terrell, on a reverse, worked his way 32 yards for the third tally. The kick for extra point was low. The quarter ended with Denver City leading 19 to 0.

In the second quarter, there was no scoring. However, the Mustangs were the more consistent ground gainers.

In the third quarter, the Mustangs pushed across two more touchdowns. The first came on a 6 yard quarterback sneak by Jones. The kick for point was low and wide. The second tally came when Ward smashed over tackle and raced 40 yards for the score. The kick for point was good. The quarter ended 22-0.

Late in the fourth quarter, Ward smashed straight over the middle of the Antelope line, reversed his field and raced 29 yards for the final tally. The kick for point was good. The game ended with the score standing 30-0.

The Post Antelopes will journey to Seminole, Friday, November 17, to battle the tough Seminole Indians in a conference game.

"Don't Apologize" is Most Important Rule For Hostess.
 Our most important hostess rule is "Don't apologize for your house, your food, or your personal appearance, even though these things may not be up to standard on this particular occasion. Guests of a hostess concerned more about housekeeping or grooming details than it's welcome she extends, have reason to doubt their welcome and often wish they hadn't come. Furthermore, apologizing does not remedy the imperfections for which you are concerned; it calls specific attention to them.

The Freshman class met Nov. 10 to select the class favorites. Jane Ann Turner and Maynard Thomas were chosen favorites.

Personality of the week...
 Viola King has earned the title as "personality of the week." She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andy King. Viola is one of the highest ranking students in school. Her smile and pleasant disposition have won her many friends.

BOYS CLUB PLAN TO ATTEND BOND MEETING IN MIDDLE NEXT WEEK

At a regular meeting of the Post Lions club, it was decided that all members who could would attend the mass meeting scheduled for Snyder next week. Jay D. Foster presented a fine program on radio communications. Following the meeting club members went to the Red Cross display window where they assisted Jerry Hoover in re-arranging pictures and souvenirs that have been turned in the past week. Citizens are advised that pictures and souvenirs will be placed in the window only once a week. It takes quite a bit of time to rearrange those already in the window to accommodate additional pictures. Turn your souvenirs and pictures over to Jerry Hoover at Greenfield's Hardware Store.

A guest of the club was Col. Alton Lobbin of the Army Air Corps.
