SOLDIER OF THE WEEK

Sgt. A. B. Haws, Jr. is somewhere in Germany, according to the latest letter he wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Haws. His last letter was dated September 29. "Junior" as he is known to his many friends and acquaintances here is with a Reconnaissance Squadron of the 4th Cavalry Division, Mechanized Unit. It is believed he entered Normandy a few days after the D-Day invasion and that now he is with Hodges' Army as this army was in Belgium and Junior is known to have been in Belgium recently. Before going overseas he was an instructor at Fort Riley, Kansas. The unit he is with has had some pretty rugged assignments, the nature of which of course cannot be revealed.

Two Amendments To Be Voted On Nov. 7 Should Get Attention

Texas voters who go to the polls on November 7 should not allow their enthusiasm and interest in the presidential election to detract from the importance of the two constitutional amendments to be voted upon at this time. Too many good citizens show an indifferent attitude toward proposed changes in our constitution—in many instances they do not even take the time to acquaint themselves with the amendments, and, therefore, cannot cast an intelligent vote. Attention is called to one of the amendments, which should receive a favorable vote. We refer to the proposal which would permit Texas counties, by a majority vote of property owners, to re-evaluate tax money to the various funds. The constitution now provides that a levy of 25 cents on the $100 valuation may be collected for the general fund, 25 cents for permanent improvement fund, 15 cents for road and bridge fund and 15 cents for jury fund. This makes a total (limit) of 80 cents on the $100 valuation. By adopting the proposed amendment the constitutional limit of 80 cents would be retained, yet it would allow County Commissioners the privilege of lowering or raising the levy in any particular fund—just a matter of using the taxpayers' money in the best advantage. It would provide a method whereby emergency funds could be made available, without the possibility of raising the total tax levy. The plan would be optional with all counties, and the tax structure of no county is involved except by special vote of authority from the property owners. The adoption of this amendment could be in keeping with good, sound business principles.

Care of City Streets to Be One of Main City Projects

Welcome news to Post citizens is given last week to the Post citizens when W. F. Presson, secretary, said one of the first projects of the city was to purchase a heavy road maintainer for paving the streets in better condition. Presson was speaking before the Rotary in a regular weekly meeting and discussed other matters that drew the approval of all members. That the streets of Post need attention is not a debatable question. To repair the machinery are put to work the better. Everybody will hail the day when the streets can be kept in top-class condition and when the business streets are once again kept clean everyday of all years. Our reputation of being a "cleanest little city in West Texas" has "gone with the winds."

Carnival Proceeds Total $684.14 From All Contests, Etc.

Highlighting the year's Parent-Teacher projects was the annual Halloween carnival at the High school gymnasium on Monday night. Proceeds from the affair will be used by the association to further benefit the school projects undertaken for the year. The total figure of all events combined was about $100.00 more than was made last year. "We feel very grateful for the cooperation shown by all parents, townsmen and children in putting the carnival over in such a fine fashion. Without your support community projects of this kind would not be nearly so successful," Mrs. Davis said in speaking on behalf of the carnival committees.

Winners in the most effective costumes were: Sharon Brooks, first place; Carolyn Hudman, second place; and Wynona Pennington, third place. All were given free passes to all shows and booths in the carnival.

"VOTE FOR THAT GUY? ... NOT ON YOUR LIFE!"

"This war has taught me how important it is to use your head when you vote," we heard one Garza citizen say to another recently. Once, they could vote in Germany . . . but they got careless. Now they just say "Ja" . . . or else. Knowing who you are voting for is the best way to keep little would-be Hitlers from getting in the driver's seat over here," he continued.

Our right to vote secretly and without fear of reprisal is one of our most precious rights as free Americans. It gives us the power to protect at home the four freedoms for which we are waging a fierce and terrible war abroad.

It is the sacred trust of all of us to keep alive the fires of freedom and opportunity . . . to keep faith with terrible war abroad. To discuss your candidates freely with your neighbors is another fine thing about America.

PRAYER for the Week

-A Baptist Layman

Our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for this new day, with its privileges and opportunities. May we in gratitude for Thy love and mercy, serve Thee today with sincere hearts. Give us grace to do Thy will, and to accept Thy purposes for us in the spirit of joyful obedience, believing that Thy will is always best.

Keep our hearts from sin, our minds pure, and our motives true. Forgive us when we fail. Grant that we may consecrate the commonplaces of the day with the consciousness of Thy presence. Whether the day brings prosperity or loss, sunshine or shadow, bliss or bereavement, may our faith remain firm, our love unflinching, our hope undimmed. Through us today may mankind be blessed and the coming of Thy Kingdom hastened, for His sake's sake.

Exchange—American troops for the first time in history have invaded German soil. We know not what a day may bring forth, but we feel it being written, it looks as if the Allied forces are sweeping on to a swift and overwhelming victory. Hitler should be calling for the rocks and mountains to fall upon his head before a worse fate overtakes him.

COMMON SENSE

The great and the little have need of one another. —Thomas Fuller

Man will find that they can prosper with mutual aid far more easily than they can, and avoid the more easily the perils which beset them on all sides, by united forces. —Spinoza

Individuals, as nations, unite harmoniously on the basis of justice, and this is accomplished when self is lost in Love—or God's own plan of salvation. —Mary Baker Eddy

The greatness of modern, as compared with medieval or ancient civilization is that it posits a larger stock of demonstrated truth. —J. B. Seelye

We are coming to see that there should be no stifling of Labor by Capital, or of Capital by Labor, and that there should be no stifling of Labor by Labor, or of Capital by Capital. —John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

PROVIDE FOR THE MOURN

The ant and the bee are good providers. They are classic examples of creatures who, when food is plenty, look ahead to the time when there will be scarcity. The squirrel does the same thing. He sets aside a store of nuts in the autumn for his winter's supply. Men, of course, in his granaries, barns, pantries and cellars saves from summer's abundance enough to last him until the year rolls around again and replenishes his larder. The farmer who is not foresighted enough to fill his hay loft for his cows and horses and his corn crib for his pigs would not last long. And now is the season when much of the food is stored for the long winter ahead of us.

The wise man looks ahead. He is not going to eat, drink and be merry today, spending all his substance in riotous living. He will live soberly today and be prepared for tomorrow. Like the wise bee and ant and farmer, the man who buys War Bonds and stores them away in safety deposit boxes is providing for the morrow.

GOOD NEWS FOR ARMY OF OCCUPATION MEN

Congress is talking about a plan that will allow the wives and families of men stationed on Army of Occupation duty to join them in the foreign country in which they are stationed. If it goes through then the morale problem over there after the war will be cut down 90 per cent. Discharged men aren't subject to draft call any more. For a while there was the chance that even if you had a CDD you might still be called back by your draft board. Citizens over 30 can enlist in the Army if they qualify for a special position. War prisoners have earned $1,429,173 for Uncle Sam. German, Japanese and other prisoners of war are paid full salary when they work on civilian projects. The rest goes into Uncle Sam's pocket.

Ernie Pyle's Slant on the War:

Arabs Profit by Yanks Liberal Trading Policy Infantry the Underdogs of African Battles Carried on Without Fanfare

By Ernie Pyle

(Editor's Note: Pyle relates some of his experiences while he was with the doughboys during the African campaign. He is now taking a long-needed rest in New Mexico.)

NORTHERN TUNISIA.—One night at Kairouan three of us correspondents, finding the newly taken town filled with newly arrived British and American troops, just drove out of town into the country and camped for the night. We didn't put up a tent. We just slept in the open.

The mosquitoes were fierce, and we draped netting over our heads.

We were in a sort of big ditch right alongside an Arab graveyard. But neither the graves nor the mosquitoes bothered us that night, for we were tired and windburned, and before we knew it morning had come and a hot sun was beaming down into our squinting eyes.

And what should those sleepy eyes behold but two Arab boys standing right over our bedrolls, holding out eggs. It was practically like a New Yorker cartoon. For all I know they may have been standing there all night.

At any rate they had come to the right place, for we were definitely in the market for eggs. They wouldn't sell for money, so we dug into our larder box and got four eggs in trade for three little cellophane packets of hard candy. Then we started all over again and got four more eggs for a pack of cigarettes.

We thought it a good trade, but found later that the trading ratio which the Germans had set up ahead of us was one cigarette for one egg. We Americans have to ruin everything, of course. But as one tough-looking soldier said:

"If I want to give $20 for an egg it's my business and my $20. And from all I've seen of Arabs an extra franc or two ain't gonna hurt them any."

All this transpired before we had got out of our bedrolls. But the youthful traders didn't leave. As we were pulling on our pants each boy whisked a shoe-shining box from under his burmose and went after our shoes. Then when we started a fire and were feeding it with sticks, one of the boys got down and blew on the flame to make it burn better. It was easy to see that we had acquired a couple of body servants.

The boys were herding about two dozen goats in some nearby clover. Now and then one of them would run over and chase the goats back nearer to our camp. We called our boy Mohammed and the other Abdullah, seemed to like them. They were good-natured, happy boys of about 15.

One of them tried on my goggles. He seemed to imagine that he had wonderful in them, and giggled and made poses. He didn't know the goggles were upside down. Also he didn't know that I was hoping fervently his eyes weren't as diseased as they looked.

The boys told us in French that the Germans had made them work at an airport, opening gas cans and doing general lumpy work. They said the Germans paid them 20 francs a day, which is above the local scale, but it turned out they were German-pressed francs, which of course are now absolutely worthless.

Our self-appointed helpers hunted sticks for us, poured water out of our big canteen and helped us wash our mess kits. They kept blowing in the fire. They cleaned up all the scraps around our bivouac. They lit our heavy bedrolls into the jeep for us, and just as we were ready to leave they gave our sheep a final brushing.

We paid them with three cigarettes and two sticks of gum, and they were delighted.

When we were ready to go we shook hands all around, un-revived, smiled and saluted. And then one of the boys asked epologically if we could give them one more thing maybe. We asked what it was they wanted. You'd never guess. He wanted an empty tin can for his goats to chew on. We gave him one.

"Hadi" is the Arab word used in place of "Mr." before the name of anybody who has journeyed to Mecca and become hady. Seven journeys to Kairouan equal one to Mecca, so we correspondents now go around calling each other Hadji, since most of us have crossed the city line more than seven times.

Another word we've adopted is "djebel." It's Arabic for hill or mountain. On the maps every knob you see is Djebel This or Djebel That. So we also call each other Djebel, and if you think that's silly, well, we have to have something to laugh at.

We're now with an infantry outfit that has battled ceaselessly for four days and nights.

This northern warfare has been in the mountains. You don't ride much any more. It is walking and climbing and crawling country. The mountains aren't big, but they are constant. They are largely treeless. They are easy to defend and bitter to take. But we are taking them.

The Germans lie on the back slope of every ridge, deeply dug into fox-holes. In front of them the fields and pastures are hideous with thousands of hidden mines. The forward slopes are left open, untenanted, and if the Americans tried to scale these slopes they would be murdered wholesale in an interval of machine-gun crossfire plus mortars and grenades.

Consequently we don't do it that way. We have fallen back to the old warfare of first pulverizing the enemy with artillery, then sweeping around the ends of the hill with infantry and taking them from the sides and behind.

Our artillery has really been sensational. For once we have enough of something and at the right time. Officers tell me they actually have more guns than they know what to do with.

All the guns in any one sector can be centered to shoot at one spot. And when we lay the whole business on a German hill the whole slope seems to erupt. It becomes an unbelievable cauldron of fire and smoke and dirt. Veilera German soldiers they have never been through anything like it.

I love the infantry because they are the underdogs. They are the mud-rain-frost-and-wind boys. They have no comforts, and they even learn to live without the necessities. And in the end they are the guys that wars can't be won without.

I wish you could see just one of the incredible pictures I have in my mind today. In this particular picture I am sitting among clumps of sword-grass on a steep and rocky hillside that we have just taken. We are looking out over a vast rolling country to the rear.

A narrow path comes like a ribbon over a hill miles away, down a long slope, across a creek, up a slope and over another hill.

All along the length of this ribbon there is now a thin line of men. For four days and nights they have fought hard, eaten little, washed none, and slept hardly at all. Their nights have been violent with attack, fright, butchery, and their days sleepless and miserable with the crash of artillery.

The men are walking. They are 30 feet apart, far dispersal. Their walk is slow, for they are dead weary, as you can tell even when looking at them from behind. Every line and sag of their bodies speaks their human exhaustion.

On their shoulders and backs they carry heavy steel tripods, machine-gun barrels, leaden boxes of ammunition. Their feet seem to sink into the ground from the overload they are bearing.

They don't slouch. It is the terrific deliberation of each step that spells out their appalling tiredness. Their faces are black and unshaven. They are young men, but the grim and whitish and exhaustion makes them look middle-aged.

In their eyes as they pass is not hatred, not excitement, not despair, not the tone of their victory—there is just the simple expression of being here as though they had been here doing this forever, and nothing else.

personal worry had been lifted. It was like the way we used to feel at children on the farm, when parents regarded us by seeing work was done and we were going to the city for a day. And when we have looked, again and again, at these doughboys here you even wanted to see in your life, you say and as if you have been in a it.

The "Texas Regulars" Are NOT Democrats!

"Texas Regulars" is a new third party in Texas. It has no more connection with the "Democratic Party" than does the Republican party or "America First Party" headed by Gerald L. K. Smith.

"Texas Regulars" have no right, morally or legally, to use the word "Democratic," as the Supreme Court of Texas has held that this group of BOLLERS, LOBBYISTS, ISOLATIONISTS, AGENTS and PAID ATTORNEYS of the big oil companies, utilities, sulphur companies, and other monopolistic corporations cannot foster their interests under the banner of the "Democratic Party." Just remember this in the same group that deliberately attempted to disfranchise the voters of Texas in the recent electoral conspiracy.

REMEMBER To RENEW YOUR LUBBOCK AVALANCHE Bob Warren, Agent Tuesday Is The National Election Every elector should vote according to his best judgement. This is the fourth race of the New Deal Party. The slogan in their first New Deal race was: Cut down government expenditure and repeal the Prohibition Act. Result: (The Prohibition Act was repealed but the expenditures were very greatly increased).

The second race slogan of the New Deal was: To keep us in power so we can cure the depression. Result: (The depression became worse and the number of government relief increased. Only the war broke the depression). The third race slogan was re-elect the New Deal because it alone can keep our nation out of war. Result: (The worst war in all history came). The fourth race slogan is: Re-elect the New Deal because we are in war. There is a probability that the New Deal will win the fourth race. If so, it is predicted their next slogan will be: elect the New Deal because it alone can wrestle from the radical labor unions and communists the power to control the government and thus save our democracy from utter destruction.

Following the Mexican menu a series of bridge games were enjoyed.

News of The Bill Gowen Family

News of the Bill Gowen family was received last week in a letter to Dan Cochran family. The Gowens are former residents of Post who moved to Longworth, Texas, some time ago.

Mrs. Gowen is still confined to her bed most of the time and when she wrote Bill had gone to Amarillo for a check-up at the Veterans hospital.

A clipping from the Nolan County News was enclosed which told about Longworth's Scout Troop winning the attendance banner at a court of honor held in Roby September 18.

The younger boy, George, goes to school in Longworth. The daughter, Lorain, is employed in Los Angeles.

The Dispatch is eagerly awaited every Friday morning so we can read the hometown news, said Mrs. Gowen.

(Greetings and best wishes to the Gowen family from the Dispatch staff.)

PLANE TALK

By Rowland Burdette

Men have been thinking about flying for many centuries. What is surprising is the fact that it took as long as it did for the simpler phases of flying (gliding) to be discovered.

American ingenuity in the field of aircraft engines. Probably the greatest stride in early design was made by Charles L. Lawrence. Starting with a 3-cylinder air-cooled radial engine, he perfected in 1923 a 3-cylinder model of 180 horsepower, which later became the famous "Whirlwind."

Most of the developments and characteristics of his designs, because of their outstanding performance, are retained in present radial engines which produce upwards of 3000 horsepower.

Charles Lawrence is still actively associated with aviation and now has in design an inexpensive light-weight engine of 200 horsepower to be used in lightplanes for private flying.

Soil Conservation District News

Will Wright, Supervisor of Zone 1 of the Duck Creek Soil Conservation District, attended a Supervisor's approved Conservation plans of the following farms: S. C. Stone, 648 acres; Ada Webb Estate, 843 acres; M. K. Hingham, 524 acres; and A. J. Bishop, 148 acres.

They also approved an amendment to the Conservation Plan of the John Davis farm, which is in the Polar community.

Earnest Treate of the Polar Conservation Group has recently purchased a Whirlwind Terracer, with which he plans to build new, and rebuild old terraces.

Another practice which Mr. Treate is following is the removal of mesquite along the boundaries between the pasture and cultivated land. This practice increased production up to 80 percent for a strip 15 feet wide in all places where the mesquite had been removed.

When the LIGHTS go on again. "When the LIGHTS go on again"—maybe phrase that signifies the return of peace! The end of war will end many another dislocation in civilian life, but we somehow express ourselves most vividly in terms of light. For an abundance of light, above all else, means comfort, relaxation, modern conveniences, civilized life. Your homes, at least, need not be "blacked out" these days. In fact, most electric lights now stock bulbs in all common sizes. Adaptive lighting will save little, but it will save many more in cost in terms of water, heat, and electricity. Make sure your light is right before the winter evening arrives. Good lighting at home for eyesight protection will help in all. It will help you see what is in front of you, and it will help you see the way to victory when the lights go on again—all over the world.

Well, Juanita Bingham certainly likes our new Superintendent. Do you suppose she really does or is it because of his son?

And just what is it that Lois Hunt and Evelyn Ruins know that they are not telling anyone?

Was it really Wayne Hurdley and Josh Cook we saw together the night of the Junior Box Supper?

It looks as if Gene Rylant can have his pick of quite a few of the girls. Which one are you going to take, Gene? Will it be Lorraine Baker? Can't say as we blame you.

Glendon Fresson Writes From England.

The following letter describing some of the historic spots in England was received this week by Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Fresson from their son, Glendon:

Dear Folks:
How is everyone? I am doing okay. Recently I visited in the famous old cathedral town of Wells. Perhaps you saw something of the place in a not too old copy of "Life." The cathedral and premises are really very interesting and so is the history, most of which I've forgotten by now.

I have visited the famous old town of Bath. Remember the "Wife of Bath" in Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales?" The main attraction here is the ruins of the ancient Roman Baths which are remarkably well preserved. You know, mother, when I saw all of this, it reminded me of the pictures of the ancient town of Pompeii that Stoddard's Lectures have in them. I got some postcards and will save them.

I have visited the Salisbury cathedral, as well. This cathedral, although not so beautiful on the inside as the Wells cathedral or Westminster in London, is noted for its tall spire, which towers into the air for some 514 feet and can be seen for miles around.

We took some pictures of ourselves when we were visiting here and if they are any good I will send them on.

Everything is O. K. here, I suppose. Write soon.
Love,
Glendon

Cpl. Thomas L. Millap Is Somewhere in France

Cpl. Thomas L. Millap is with the radio division of the 514th Field Artillery somewhere in France. His parents heard from him the first time since the 26th of September. He said he had lots of room for he and Rex (the late Mrs. Custer's nephew) were both in the same post tent, with all kinds of conveniences, running water—water running in one end of the tent and out the other. The wildest imagination can't picture just how much France is torn up. The Frenchman's family on whose farm they were stationed hadn't seen any bread in four days. Thomas wrote for their blades as they couldn't get them there. He hopes the Post Dispatch gets through for he reads it all even the want ads.

Tom Petty and family spent several days in Post with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Petty. He also spent one week in Fort Worth with his brother James and wife.

Sgt. F. J. Jenkins Recovered After Heavy Fighting in Italy

Sgt. F. J. Jenkins is now able to be up and about in the hospital he would like to return. He is in Italy and was wounded about September 17th. He has been in the hospital 93 days and wore a cast 34 days, he stated in one of his most recent letters.

"I have seen some hot spots and the day I was wounded was one of the hottest. If I get sent back to the states I'll let you know as soon as I can," he said.

Jenkins is with the 361st Infantry Regiment and was for a time attached to the 36th Division. The 361st Infantry Regiment has participated in bitter fighting, has made spectacular gains and took all assigned objectives and never gave ground once. It holds a 4000 yard record. Battle baptism came 48 hours after landing. Pointe d'Ischia was one of the most successful engagements of the regiment.

"The folks at home," he said, "are getting a little ahead of themselves planning for V-Day. People back home don't seem to realize there is a war on. If people over there only knew what the boys over here are going through night and day they surely wouldn't do so many queer things. We wonder sometimes if we are fighting for our freedom or for the Germans."

"Home fell six hours before we entered, however, we were fired on by snipers. The going was pretty tough anywhere we went."

Miss Zora Ann Outlaw who is a Freshman in Southwestern University in Georgetown is spending between semesters vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Outlaw. Recent visitors with her in Georgetown were two other Postites, Mary Margaret Duckworth and Jeff Justice, Jr., who are students at Baylor University.
