County Lunches Provided For 484 Children

County schools reached high this year in the county lunch program, Robinson, county superintendent of schools, has announced. According to latest reports, 375 and 3 common schools are serving adequate noon-lunches to about 484 school children.

With the help of War Food Administration, most of these lunches could not have been served this year, Robinson said. This year's success also is due to local sponsors who are contributing in seeing that children are served adequate lunches. Highest participation last year in the county was four schools, which served an average of 297 children.

Lunch agreements were made recently by WFA and local schools who assume complete responsibility for keeping lunch program in operation. WFA's part is to supply the operating cost and to contribute perishable foods from farmers under price control programs are directed by WFA.

Contributions from WFA this year total about $6,066.77, compared with $4,044.89 received from WFA last year. This plan of sharing the cost made it possible to provide well-balanced, healthful lunches for all children for an average of 15.8 cents per child per day. No discrimination is made between children who are able to pay for their lunches and those who cannot since the purpose of the school lunch program is to provide mid-day lunches to all children, he continued.

Perishable foods bought from local farmers and distributed in the county by War Food Administration include peaches, apples, cabbage, beets and onions. These foods were cooked and served in daily lunches and are canned for use later. Other perishable local abundance also have been direct from county wholesaler and retail.

D. Liles Is Survivor Of The USS Franklin

D. Liles, seaman, second class, USS Franklin, was one of the few survivors of the sinking of the carrier USS Franklin, which was sunk in the Pacific by the Japanese. Liles was operating 60 miles from Japan with a fuel carrier on the morning of the attack. Many of her planes were loaded with bombs, and machine gun ammunition was being taken off.

At this, her most vulnerable point, a Jap dive-bomber streaked down on the carrier, releasing two 500-pound bombs. Within a minute the bombs had started a train of fires and which for hours seared the carrier's deck. The resulting fires were fed by gallons of aviation fuel.

Dark hour, when it seemed that the carrier would be abandoned, Liles wrote one of the chapters in the long story of the carrier's survival. Liles, 431, was one of 200 wounded, those who left outlived the fires. The 27,000-ton ship left back home.

Carrier's Mate Liles was awarded Thursday for his part in the carrier's survival. He completed a 39-day voyage after surviving over 100 days in the South Pacific Islands for a year.

Wendell Landtroop First Europe POW To Return Home

Private Wendell Landtroop, Garza county's first prisoner-of-war in the European theatre of operation to return home, who languished for almost seven months in a German compound, arrived in Post last Thursday on a 65-day furlough with his wife, and mother, Mrs. Janie Landtroop.

Private Landtroop was interned October 8, 1944 in a German prisoner-of-war compound near Mariadoff when Hodges' First Army cracked the Siegfried line. Landtroop, along with several other soldiers was taken prisoner when they were separated from their division. He was attached to the Thirtieth division, 117th regiment of the First Army.

He was liberated by the Russians on May 1 of this year, and flown back to Le Harve, France, where on June the second he boarded a transport for the United States. Accompanying him home were 361 other POW's.

Landtroop's opinion of the Germans is not very high, although he had not been mistreated, other than made to work, during his imprisonment. He said he knew of other American prisoners who had been "kicked around a plenty" by the arrogant Nazis. A few of the guards of the compound were wounded German soldiers who were "at least decent to us," he declared.

In speaking of the treatment he received from the Germans, Private Landtroop was loud in his praise for the Red Cross. "I don't think we could have made it if it hadn't been for the Red Cross. The Red Cross parcels were life-savers," he declared. The Germans did not have much to offer in the way of food, and what they did "dish out" could hardly be eaten. "It was those Red Cross parcels we received most every week which kept us alive," said the soldier.

Landtroop wears the Infantryman's Combat Badge, the European campaign ribbon with two major battle stars and the Army's good conduct ribbon. He went overseas in July of 1944, landed in England and crossed France, Belgium and Holland. "If I walked one foot over the continent, I walked at least 750 miles," declared the soldier.

He will report back to duty on August 23 in Santa Barbara, Calif.

Memorial Service Held For Southland Army Lieutenant

Memorial services for Lt. John Neil Harrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Harrell of Southland, were held Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the New Deal school auditorium.

The Army lieutenant was killed in a fighter plane accident in Florida on April 5. Lt. Harrell was declared lost at the end of a 30-day search for his plane following a local mission from Sarasota Army Air field when the P-51 fighter plane he was piloting disappeared.

Rev. E. C. Armstrong, pastor of Southland, had charge of the service. Other survivors are: one brother, Charles Dale Harrell of Southland and three sisters, Mrs. Nadine Allman of Livingston, N. M., Mrs. Opal Exum, Lubbock and Mrs. Elda Blackwell, also of Lubbock.

Five Garza Boys Still Together; Are Anxious For Food

Five Garza county boys, O. R. Cook, Jr., Ted Aten, James Brookshire, Don McClendon and "Porky" Davis are in the Pacific together, according to a letter received several days ago by Mrs. O. R. Cook. The five men, all in the infantry, sailed from the states the 28th of May. The letter was mailed while they were en route to their Pacific island destination. The Post soldier, in behalf of himself and buddies, expressed his happiness at their still being together and also told his mother to send him some food. "We are hungry for anything besides this de-hydrated and powdered stuff," Mrs. Cook promptly got busy and mailed a box of food to her son.

This group of Garza youths all entered service on December 26.

Light Rain Visits County Last Week

Rain of insufficient quantity to be beneficial to "dry planted" cotton fell over the county last Wednesday night in varying amounts.

The heaviest precipitation was reported from the northern section where as much as three-fourths of an inch of moisture fell during the night, but according to farmers, was of little value because of the lack of "bottom season." Some farmers had planted cotton to be covered by provisions of government insurance.

Precipitation in Post amounted to .31 inch.

Fire Destroys the R. P. Tomlinson Home Tues. Night

Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the 2-story residence of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Tomlinson Tuesday night.

Volunteer fire boys answered the call and spent more than three hours at the scene fighting the flames which were fanned by high winds.

The Tomlinsons who were asleep on the top floor were awakened by a crackling sound. When Mr. Tomlinson went to investigate he discovered the entire lower floor in flames. Escape from the upper story was made down the outside stairway. Only a few clothes were saved from the building.

Japs Surrender And Offer To Drive Jeep To Prison Camp

An Advance Base In The Marianas (Delayed)— Lt. Stephen B. Luce, 34, civil engineer corps officer, USNR, of Post, is no cynic but when it comes to allowing a captured Jap soldier to chauffeur his jeep, he's dubious.

Lt. Luce, member of a Navy Seabee battalion based here, was driving along a new road with Donald V. Confer, 35, carpenter's mate, first class, USNR, of Akron, Colo., when four Jap soldiers marched out of the jungle bearing a white flag and making surrender noises. The rest was easy.

After loading the captives aboard the jeep, one of the Japs gleefully went through the motions of driving to convey the idea that he not only could, but would be only too glad to chauffeur the party to the nearest prisoner stockade.

Lt. Luce declined the offer, with the explanation that the Jap might not drive in the right direction. In that case, he said, "I couldn't even surrender because I don't have a white handkerchief."

Mrs. Luce and daughter, Katherine, are in Post spending the summer in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Manly.

Post Sergeant Decorated

With the 96th Infantry Division In Germany— Sergeant Artin E. Windham of Post is shown in the above photo as Major General Lowell W. Rocks pins the Silver Star Medal on him. Sgt. Windham is a member of the 359th Infantry Regiment and received the award for his bravery in action in Germany.

During the Saar River operation, in the vicinity of Dillingen, Germany, Sgt. Windham (then corporal) directed the ferrying of carrying parties across the unbridgeable current through intense enemy artillery, mortar and sniper fire, delivering food and ammunition to front line troops. At the risk of his life the sergeant advanced through the continuous shelling and pioneered a supply route which proved of inestimable value in subsequent supply operations. His courageous action contributed materially to the maintenance of an excellent regimental supply system during the river crossing. His bravery and devotion to duty were in accordance with high military tradition.

Recently Mr. Windham received a letter from the Post sergeant stating that he had visited Goering's home, and also Hitler's birthplace in the Alps.

ICE OF THE FUTURE

"Sized" ice—crushed, powdered, cubed or lumped—is the ice of the future. A machine designed by John R. West, instructor in mechanical engineering at the University of Texas will "tailor-make" ice in the future, if the machine reaches commercial development. Now in experimental stages, the machine will cut the cost to a fraction of present costs, eliminating the 10 to 25 per cent wastage involved in crushing or shaving ordinary 300-pound ice cakes to required forms. Factors creating an increasing demand for "sized" ice are the steadily increasing consumption of fresh vegetables and fruits, reliability of ice over mechanical refrigeration for food transport, and increasing consumption of iced drinks.

"SACK SUITS" ON THE FARM

When a farm wife says, "I'm going to the feed store to pick out a piece of dress goods," she isn't trying to be funny—necessarily. She is taking advantage of a war emergency.

When the burlap supply which India had been sending to America went out, manufacturers of stock foods were faced with a serious shortage of bags. Even before they had begun, a bit dubiously, to use sacks made of gay cotton prints, rural housewives soon were making these into house dresses.

Bag manufacturers, quick to sense this trend, are now selecting their prints with considerable taste. At the same time they obligingly stamp their brand names with water colors, which wash off easily. In consequence, farm women have to a large extent taken over the buying of stock foods. This is necessary if they are to match the designs they now have on hand. Bagmakers question whether the old-fashioned, non-utilitarian burlap sack will ever regain its place.

The fly in the ointment is that the farm women's city cousins can't buy a piece of dress goods in town that approaches the feed sacks for quality.

From a current issue of "The Branding Iron," Rotary club paper edited by J. A. Stallings: "Current war news is greatly affecting our younger generation. On a sidewalk recently was chalked the figure of a heart, inside which was inscribed: 'Tommy loves Helen.' Beneath this had been added, in childish scrawl, 'This is an unconfirmed report!'"

War Dogs Aid in U. S. Operations Against Japs

Used to Detect Presence of Enemy and Serve as Messengers

By Lee G. Miller

WITH 25TH DIVISION, AT BALETE PASS, LUZON.—Jim Head used to hunt with falcons in Saudi Arabia. Now he hunts with war dogs on Luzon. And this time it's not birds he's hunting but Japs.

I was chewing the rag with him here. A German shepherd named Captain lay under the cot on which Head sat. Somebody tossed a cigarette on the floor without putting it out. Head spoke softly: "Captain!"

The dog emerged and stood attentively. "Put out the cigarette," said Head. Captain sniffed and looked around, spotted the smoking butt, slapped a paw on it, and the deed was done.

Captain has other tricks, but Head emphasizes that this stuff is extra-curricular and has nothing to do with the war-dog business.

Head — First Lt. James S. Head, Carlyle, Ill. — is commanding officer of the 25th Infantry Scout Dog Platoon. His outfit came overseas in June of '44 and saw action at Bish, Atape and Morotai before coming to Luzon, where it has been working with the 25th or "Tropic Lightning" division around Balete pass.

Jim brought 31 dogs to the Pacific. Now there are only 12. Three have been killed—two of them by grenades in the Balete fighting. Most of the other losses have been due to shellshock.

Dogs are very sensitive to artillery. Jim said "We usually give a shellshocked dog to some outfit further back, as a mascot."

A war dog can detect enemy soldiers as far as 800 yards away if the wind is right, Jim said.

The dogs are specialists—some serving as scouts with patrols, some as messengers. They have carried battle messages as far as three miles here. They are also used in sentry duty.

"We've run more than 700 patrols," Jim said. "Until we came to Luzon we had never had a patrol that was accompanied by a dog fired on unexpectedly. Up here it has been tougher. The wind currents in these mountains are tricky. I've had five men wounded, all in the Balete area."

Some infantry officers have a high regard for the war dogs' work. Others aren't "believers," Jim explained.

Most of the dogs were donated to the army quartermaster corps. The dog corps is a quartermaster unit, but those elements sent to this theater have been transferred to the infantry. So Head and his men were entitled to wear the combat infantry badge—and are proud of it.

Captain was donated by a resident of Oakland, Calif., who had given him that name. This platoon's dogs are all German shepherds or crosses of that strain except for one Norwegian elkhound. There used to be an Irish setter, but he was killed by a land mine on Morotai.

Jim Head is 29. He has a wife and two children. He did petroleum exploration work in Arabia in 1938-40 for the California Arabian Standard Oil company. That's where he practiced falconry against the kurzan and honors birds of the Sand's realm.

Leaves Way Open to Ladies

There I was, up at the tunnelled command post, my combat boots plastered with wet clay, my poncho dripping, my tin hat carefully in place since we were within range of a Jap mortar.

I was feeling every inch the war correspondent. But this seemed far enough to go. Tomorrow would be another day. I might as well go on back with Colonel Johnson.

And then some people came down the muddy steps to the entrance to the cave. Officers and men, in any number of myself, gaped. For here in this Godforsaken maddy rainswept spot were two women!

They were Chinese—newspaper women from the Chungking Times at Manila. They were just stopping in with Maj. Charlie Sun, on the way up a few hundred yards forward, where a company of crack Chinese troops from Manila, attached to this division, were bivouacked.

One was Miss Joseph, 40. The other, a child and tiny child whose short bonds were inadequate against the thick mud, was Miss Mei-lan.

Pyle Memorial to Aid Budding Journalists

For years to come journalism students at Indiana university will be the beneficiaries of a memorial fund in honor of Ernie Pyle, war correspondent who was killed by a Japanese machine gunner on Iwo Jima off of Okinawa.

Veterans of this war will be given preference in scholarship awards under the memorial fund, Herman N. Wells, president of the univer-

Ouyong. I asked how old she was. "What do you guess?" she asked. I guessed 20, and she said, "Something like that."

Well, losing face fast, the big strong newspaper man went on down the hill and left it to the ladies to play forward on foot.

Colonel Johnson pointed to the big trees as we walked toward the jeep.

"Mahogany," he said "Good red mahogany. See where a shell has split that one open? Now that we are getting a road up here some smart Filipino will come in logging and make a fortune."

It was raining harder still as our jeep started, and the slippery mud gave it poor footing. We hadn't gone a hundred yards before it got stuck. We got out and pushed, the wheels throwing mud over us. We started again, but this time the jeep slid halfway off the road and stopped at a precarious tilt. We gave up and walked.

It was downhill, but no fun. Combat boots have little traction after they're smeared with wet clay.

We passed a bulldozer trying to improve the road—mud doesn't bother those babies. We passed sopping linemen stringing wire. And a lone rifleman taking occasional shots at something moving at the foot of the hill.

"Probably a chicken," he said. "But why take a chance?"

"The bulldozers are winning this war up here," said Colonel Johnson. And it's easy to believe. All over this area you see new roads carved around the ridges. Without dozers to make roads the supply problem would be appalling. It's bad enough now.

'Major' Kept Japs on Run

One of the most interesting soldiers in this veteran division is Staff Sergeant—log sargeant, I mean Lt. Col. Jay D. Vanderpool, also known (to Japs) as Maj. Vanderturu.

He is short and wiry—there's no suet in his 146 pounds. He used to box and play football, and although his job here is primarily a desk job he gets plenty of exercise plowing around the front lines.

Van is Regular Army. His parents are dead and he is unmarried. He enlisted in 1936 at 19 and was assigned to the Field Artillery. It took him three years to make private and his permanent rank is still only staff sergeant. Van was commissioned a second lieutenant eight months before Pearl Harbor. He was there on that fateful day. The 25th division lost a score of men to Jap strafing. The following October the division left for Guadalcanal, and Van began to show his stuff.

In October of '44 he embarked from New Guinea in a submarine with 3 officers, 19 men, and 20 tons of radio equipment, ammunition, etc. He landed on Luzon November 7 and proceeded to organize the highland and leading guerrillas of Cavite, Batangas and western Laguna provinces.

He moved around boldly in full army uniform, establishing coast watch stations and a courier network—and discouraging the guerrilla practice of killing couriers for their guns. He helped crashed aviators escape. He personally sneaked into Nichols airbase at Manila to estimate the Nips' strength there.

After the Lingayen invasion his guerrillas knocked out communications and blocked highways. In February he commanded 10 guerrilla rifle companies which shared with paratroopers and amphibious troops the spectacularly successful liberation of Iloilo at Los Banos. During those guerrilla operations the Japs captured a letter signed "Vanderturu Major General Staff Corps." Apparently the Japs didn't know what the General Staff Corps was. They decided this meddler was a bigshot, and hunted hard but vainly for "Major General Vanderturu" which was as close as Nips could come to pronouncing the name.

Van has just received the Legion of Merit for those operations.

Sidelights

from Washington

By GEORGE MAHON

The President last week, prior to leaving for the Pacific coast by plane, made a recommendation to Congress that the law be changed so as to provide that in the event of his death or inability to act, the Speaker of the House should succeed him as President. Under existing law, the Secretary of State would be next in line. President Truman explained that this made it possible for him to name his own successor, the Secretary of State being an appointee of the President. The Speaker is an elected official. He is first elected by his Congressional District and later by the representatives of the people as Speaker.

The President's recommendation was apparently prompted by the fact that in the near future he plans to make many trips by plane, somewhat hazardous in nature, including a flight over the Atlantic to the Big Three Conference.

The president's plane is a four-engine C-54. We save many of them in the Air Transport Command. In fact, every thirteen minutes of the day, a C-54 takes off on a hop across the Atlantic. Only two of them have ever been lost on the Atlantic flight. The British by mistake shot one down in the vicinity of the Azores. Another one disappeared with sixteen litter patients aboard, and no trace has ever been found of the plane or passengers.

The ATC planes fly on schedule in fair weather or foul, but the presidential plane would only fly in good weather, thus, fortunately, reducing the hazards to the very lowest minimum.

The C-54's of the Air Transport Command will have a big part in flying home from Europe 50,000 soldiers per month. Loved ones of these men can be thankful that the trips will not only be speedy but also relatively safe.

Bringing 50,000 men home by plane from Europe per month will require a half million barrels of gasoline. The big planes require an average of one gallon per mile.

Our men who return home by boat will cross the Atlantic in five days if they are lucky enough to be aboard the Queen Mary or Queen Elizabeth. But the Victory Cargo ships which are being converted into troop carriers will make only fifteen knots and will require fourteen days.

The shifting of the war in Europe to the all-out effort in the Pacific will not only tax to the limit our transcontinental railroads, but will also give the Panama Canal its biggest war job. I had a talk not long ago with General Joseph Mahaffey, Governor of the Canal Zone, and he said he was ready for the task.

REVENGE OR JUSTICE?

Germany for years built up a war machine which was used to trample the peoples of Europe. By reason of a might greater than hers she has been temporarily subdued.

Shall we again feel sorry for the poor people of Germany and assist them to rebuild their own land?

Rather should not those same poor German people rebuild what they have destroyed in other lands. Rather should not those poor people till their own soil to feed themselves instead of being fed.

Germany can not bring back those things she has destroyed but she can by the sweat of her brow rebuild. Lives can not be restored but new hope can be provided for those who yet live.

To see that Germany is so busy repairing this war's damage that she has no time to plan for another would seem to be one way to insure peace. For those to rebuild who were responsible for destroying seems not revenge but simple justice.

The post-war pattern of airport traffic handling may be emerging from tests at Army training fields where fighter planes take off and land every 35 seconds and super-bombers take off at the rate of one every minute.

It's all right with us for women to be trained in many lines of defense activities, but we strongly oppose their being taught how to shoot rifles and revolvers.

Surplus Vegetables
Can Be Frozen In Home Refrigerator

If garden peas, beans or greens get a bit ahead of family appetite consumption these days, a small quantity may be held over in the freezing compartment of the home refrigerator, we have learned from Mrs. Wilma Keeney, county home demonstration agent.

Gardeners are wise who pick all vegetables when they are just right, even if there are more than the family can eat that day. The extras may be frozen and kept in the refrigerator for meals a few days ahead.

Wash and prepare vegetables as for cooking. Put them in a cheese cloth bag and dip in boiling water for the length of time recommended for freezing in lockers—approximately two minutes. Then cool immediately by dipping in ice water. Drain and place in the freezing compartment of the refrigerator.

Vegetables frozen in this manner will be ready to cook in just a few minutes. Never try to keep them longer than a week or two in the home refrigerator.

Did you know that the word pugilism is taken from the Latin "pugil," meaning "one who fights with his fists"? It is probable, indeed, that pugilism was a sport enjoyed by prehistoric man.

If pugilism is the oldest form of sport, what is the second oldest? Cock fighting. Almost as far back as the history of fowls can be traced, there is mention of cock fights.

Roy M. Green
Tells a Farm Story

By President Roy M. Green
Colorado A & M College
Fort Collins, Colorado

Big crops and good prices left a wheat farmer not long ago with $30,000 cash in the bank. Said he: "If I don't invest this in inflated land values, what can I do with it to earn anything?" I said to him, "Did you ever think of using part of it to insure yourself a steadier farm income after the war? For $150 a month, or $1,800 a year in War Bonds, you can begin to collect ten years after the war $250 a month. As you will be getting older by that time, wouldn't that be a better supplement to what income the farm then produces than having to turn again to the cream can and what your wife can make out of chickens? Wouldn't it be a nice retirement fund for a fellow that is now 55 years old? Wouldn't you like to have had $200 a month cash coming in last time?"

In addition, if you can put in War Bonds a lump-sum as reserve for operations in bad years, for deferred purchases of equipment, for repairs, for up-keep, for new household equipment; and then whatever the postwar adjustment, you would have an easier time of it than you had last time.

You wouldn't have to wait on somebody's extra special plan; you would have already completed one of your own.

If you are proud of the independence of your occupation, and jealous of preserving as much of it as possible, don't orate and speculate—order WAR BONDS!

Dale Stone, S-1-c and crewman on one of the Navy's big transport ships, is on the high seas again after spending about ten days in San Francisco with his wife and son, Eddie Warren, editor and publisher of the Post Dispatch who is here on leave, came back across the Pacific on Dale's ship and during the 16-day voyage enjoyed daily chats with the sailor. Dale has been in the Pacific war area seven months and was returning from Okinawa when Warren boarded the ship. Mrs. Stone was in Los Angeles when the ship docked at San Francisco and immediately went to Frisco to be with Dale during his leave. The Dispatch received a letter from her this week in which she indicated she would remain in San Francisco where she is employed by a large drug firm.

Notes From County Agents Office

Dairy Cows:

On Friday, June 22, Dr. A. J. Lewis and the County Agricultural Agent took blood samples from 85 cows to be tested for Bang's disease. The testing laboratory reported five definite positive reactors, 60 negative reactors and no suspicious reactors. Dr. Lewis will be back Monday, July 2, to brand the 5 positive reactors and will at the same time test other cows if anyone wants their cows tested. There has been a change made in the charge for testing where there is only one or two cows. Dr. Lewis now charges $2.00 for one cow, $3.00 for two cows, and $1.00 for three or more cows. Any one desiring to have their cows tested on Monday, July 2, please notify the County Agricultural Agent not later than 5:00 p. m. Saturday, June 30.

Poultry:

The County Agent has culled quite a number of flocks of laying hens recently. The season for general flock culling is just around the corner. There is no one specific date that culling should be done, because culling should be a continuous process, as sick, injured, or unthrifty birds should be removed from the flock immediately after being detected. On removing these birds, or any dead birds, they should be destroyed, and that does not mean scattered up and down roadways. These birds should be buried deep or completely burned. The months of July, August, and September comprise the general flock culling season, with the exact date being immediately following a slow down in production. Except in the case of exceptionally good breeding stock, hens two years or over should be disposed of as culls, as they will very seldom, if ever, lay enough eggs to pay for their feed, much less pay a profit above feed and labor costs.

Now back to the statement concerning the disposal of dead birds. The reason for that statement is the heavy losses being encountered by poultry raisers from fowl typhoid, cholera, and contagious respiratory diseases. The local roads and highways are literally lined with dead birds, the most of which died from one or more of the above mentioned diseases. Almost every day while driving over the county, I have noticed dogs and cats dragging these dead birds up to farm houses. There is no better way in which to scatter poultry diseases, and as for the diseases mentioned there is no satisfactory treatment for any of the diseases. Some of them such as typhoid, pox, and cholera can be prevented by vaccination.

Broader Educational Benefits Proposed For G. I. Bill of Rights

In a communique released from Washington a broad expansion of educational benefits under the GI "bill of rights" is proposed in a bill introduced by Senator Pepper (D-Fla.).

Pepper said in a statement that the legislation embodies recommendations of the American Legion and National Education association.

It proposes an increase in dependency allowances for veterans obtaining an education under the G. I. bill.

The Pepper amendment would allow $100 a month for two dependents, $125 for three, and $150 for four.

Men over 25 no longer would have to prove that their education was interrupted when they entered service, but would be entitled to the same benefits as veterans under 25.

The Pepper proposal would grant qualified students in professional courses up to seven years.

One for the Book

The Favorite War Story of STONEY MOSELEY MRS NEWS Commentator

My story starts many months before the Allied forces stormed the beaches of Normandy on June 6th, 1944. Day and night in London, the Allied high command burned the midnight oil planning for the all-important "D-Day."

The Allies, aware the Nazis were trying to discover the date and the plans for the landing they knew was to come, formulated plans to throw the Germans off the true date of the crucial crossing—a difficult assignment.

In a high domed room in London, Allied Intelligence finally hit upon a scheme. They planted some faked plans on a dead body of a British Naval officer.

One foggy night, the body, fully uniformed, was dropped into the Channel opposite Calais, at the time Intelligence knew the Channel tide would carry the corpse to the other side of the Channel held by the Germans.

As the Allies anticipated, the Nazis discovered the body of this officer and dragged it from the water. They examined his pockets for the usual documents, which seemed to be in order. There were personal letters, membership cards and money, as well as the forged and erroneous secret plans for the night invasion of Europe.

It can now be told that those forged Allied plans helped pave the way for the highly successful invasion of Normandy—which in turn brought the Allies to their present victorious position in Germany today.

Harvest Of Wheat Gets Off To Good Start In Panhandle

Harvesting of wheat got off to full swing in the panhandle section last week with adequate labor and equipment, according to press reports from many of the Panhandle weekly newspapers.

Farm labor moved into the Amarillo and Plainview area from the South Plains where dry weather, until the latter part of the week, had reached drought proportions.

The wheat harvest was nearing its end in Plains counties of Hale and Floyd with the yield averaging from 3 to 20 bushels.

The peak for cheese production in Texas was 1941, when more than 21,000,000 pounds were produced.

GOD'S JOY IN CREATION

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 1:1-5, 10-12, 16-18, 26, 27, 31. GOLDEN TEXT—God saw everything that He had made, and, behold, it was very good.—Genesis 1:31.

The destiny of this world seems to be in the balances in our day with wicked men ruthlessly trying to destroy that which is good and upright. We are deeply concerned in our hearts that the right should triumph and that a just and righteous peace should come.

In such a day it is good to remind ourselves, as we will in our three-month series of studies in Genesis, that man did not make this world, nor is it the product of natural forces. God made it.

God, who is eternal, infinite, and knows all from the beginning, is not moved by the impulses of the moment nor staggered by the catastrophes of a day.

He made the world. He made man. He had a plan for them, and still has a plan which He will in due season work out for His own glory.

I. God Made Heaven and Earth (vv. 1-5, 10-12, 16-18).

The biblical account of creation—"In the beginning God"—stands as a dignified, satisfactory, intelligent explanation of the origin of things, and in bold contrast to the confusing and almost unbelievable theories of men.

The best of scientists admit that they know nothing of the origin of things, and some say that they never will know. The answer to this query, with which every human philosophy opens, is the affirmation with which the divine account in Genesis opens—"In the beginning God."

Space forbids full discussion of the account of creation, but a study of it will reveal its beautiful order, symmetry, and completeness.

Compare that orderly account with the absurdities of the ancient human cosmogonies, and you have a new regard for Scripture.

II. God Made Man in His Own Image (vv. 26, 27).

Although man has often so debased himself by sin and disobedience to God that it seems almost unbelievable, it is nevertheless true that he was made in the likeness and image of God. Because that is true, we never give up hope for him. Because of that image, no matter how deeply defaced by sin, man still may be touched by redeeming grace and restored to fellowship with God.

The likeness and image of God in man refers to a moral and spiritual likeness. Man is a living soul with intelligence, feeling and will. He is a moral being, knowing the difference between right and wrong. He is a self-conscious, personal being.

To man God gave dominion over the earth and all its potential powers. Sometimes one has been hopeful that man was making good progress in the development of the earth's resources for his own good and the glory of God. But one is sad to see how he has used this great God-given opportunity for destruction and death. Only a revival of real Christianity can bring him back to his senses. Let us pray and work for it.

Observe that the family was established as the center of man's life on earth, as God gave him a "help meet unto him." Woman was taken "not out of man's head that she should rule over him; nor out of his feet to be trampled upon; but out of his side to be equal with him, under his arm to be protected by him, and near his heart to be loved by him" (Matthew Henry).

The decay of family life and the modern substitution of social and civic units as the basis of life have led to disastrous results, one of which is juvenile delinquency. Not only do we need a revival of religion, we also need a revival of the home life of the nation.

III. God Made All Things Well (v. 31).

When men do recognize the hand of God in creation, they often seem to feel that what He made was rather limited and defective. It would almost seem that God should be grateful that man has been so clever about perfecting His work, developing it and making it useful.

As a matter of fact, God, who had all knowledge and whose standards are higher than man's standards could possibly be, looked over His creation and "behold, it was very good" (v. 31). It was a "finished" job (2:1).

Man has destroyed much of creation's beauty. Sin came in and marred it. What man's inventive cleverness has developed of the possibilities of this world is only a minute fraction of what is yet available. Instead of boasting, man might well be distressed at the pathetic slowness with which he has "thought God's thoughts after Him."

Instead of fighting and destroying, he ought to give his energies in building, developing, and above all, to loving God with all his heart and his neighbor as himself (Matt. 22:37-40).

Rules Announced For Additional Gas For Vets On Leave

Additional gasoline rations may now be obtained for servicemen having furloughs of more than 30 days, the Office of Price Administration rationing division has announced.

Furlough gasoline will still be issued at the rate of a gallon a day, but the 30-gallon limit is being removed for the benefit of released American prisoners of war who get leave or temporary duty assignments for 90 days in this country, and for members of the armed forces who return from overseas and get more than 30 days leave.

The servicemen applying for furlough gasoline rations should apply at any local War Price and Rationing board, take the mileage rationing record for the car to be used and be ready to show his furlough papers.

Service men on terminal leave before discharge are eligible for furlough gasoline rations at the rate of a gallon a day until the date of discharge.

Air passenger and crews now are able to secure life insurance protection on the most liberal basis of any time in history. Of 30 life insurance companies surveyed, more than two-thirds now include airline passenger travel, regardless of the amount, at standard rates.

AH! . . . WHAT FUN it will be to live in a home where even the faucets are touched with magic! Where a faithful automatic Gas water-heating system keeps all the hot water you need constantly on tap!

Ample Hot Water Is Essential Need In Modern Homes

Modern living standards in America demand a supply of hot water at uniformly correct temperatures between 120 and 140 degrees Fahrenheit available at any time of the day or night. At these temperatures, hot water provides the greatest usefulness for the upkeep of the home and the health and physical well-being as well as comfort of the family.

An automatic gas water heater provides the practical means for this standard of hot water service, and is the most popular equipment for the purpose because of its reliability and economy.

The economy of a gas water heater results from an easily controlled and dependable automatic device which turns on the gas as required by the household needs for hot water, thus using precisely the amount of fuel necessary, no more, no less.

Ways To Get More Lumber Repair Their Homes

An additional 23,000,000 board feet of lumber has been allotted to the War Food Administration for distribution and repair of farm buildings in the third quarter of 1945, WPB announced. Farmers should apply for the lumber through the County Agricultural Conservation Committees and applications are rated by Delegation of Authority to WPB to WFA. Emergency applications are limited to repairs of damage caused by fire, flood or similar disaster, or repair of buildings that would be unstable or a definite hazard to health of the occupants if not repaired immediately. WPB said.

Six-Point Travel Program Given for Reader's Benefit

The six-point voluntary travel curtailment program follows:

1. Ask yourself sincerely "Is this trip necessary?" It is not, if the trip does not help with winning of the war, or if its purpose can be reasonably accomplished by telephone or correspondence.
2. Vacation-at-Home. The vacation season coincides with the peak of the military movements.
3. Cooperate with the requests of the War Committee on Conventions. While local group meetings may still be held, it may be necessary to curtail even these.
4. Large users of transportation. Sports, entertainment, commercial concerns and other enterprises should re-examine their requirements and reduce their travel to a minimum. As yet no formal restrictions have been imposed, but there will be if the need is indicated.
5. Shippers of freight and all industrial organizations should continue to faithfully follow ODT regulations. The limited supply of freight equipment must be completely utilized. Receivers of freight should operate on a six day basis, load and unload cars without delay.
6. Private motorists must keep their cars in good running condition. Observe wartime speed limits. Tires, batteries and mechanics continue in critically short supply. It will be years before the average motorist can buy a new car. With local transit facilities already over-loaded, they cannot carry careless motorists.

Questions And Answers Given To Help Clarify Inquiries Made At AAA Office

The War Food Administration has announced a beef production payment which is for the purpose of encouraging greater beef production by giving the feeder higher returns from feeding more cattle and feeding to better finish, to avoid higher prices to consumers which might cause disastrous inflation along the entire price front, to promote better distribution by directing more cattle to authorized slaughterers who sell through regular trade channels. The reason for the beef production program is that current meat supplies are down from a year ago due largely to a decline in hog production. Although cattle slaughter has increased above a year ago, a further increase in beef production is needed to meet increasingly heavy demands. The number of unfinished cattle on the ranges and on farms is still far above normal. The beef payments are part of a general program to increase the production of all meats.

Listed below are questions and answers to help clarify some inquiries that have been made at the County AAA office.

Q. Who is legally authorized slaughterer?
A. Any slaughterer who at the time of the purchase of the animal is operating under Federal inspection or under a permit or license issued by the Office of Price Administration.

Q. Can a slaughterer who also is a feeder collect the payment?
A. Yes, provided no payment had previously been made on his cattle, and if his cattle were fed 30 days or more; and weighed at least 800 pounds, with the resulting carcass grading A or AA beef when slaughtered. He is eligible to collect payment on cattle raised by himself that meet the requirements at the time of slaughter.

Q. What type of evidence must a feeder other than feeder-slaughterer present to his county AAA committee in applying for payment?
A. Written evidence substantiating (a) the date of sale; (b) the name of buyer; (c) the point of sale; (d) the number of head; (e) the total liveweight; (f) the price received; (g) and the name of the legally authorized slaughterer to whom sold. These facts may be verified by sales receipts, invoices, scale tickets, or other written evidence from the buyer. In addition, the feeder, if he did not raise the cattle, must show the status of the cattle at the time he purchased them by furnishing the name of the person from whom purchased and the date of purchase.

Q. What type of evidence must a feeder-slaughterer present in applying for payment?
A. It covers all eligible cattle sold on or after May 19, 1945, as long as authorized funds for payment are available.

There are three classes of legally authorized slaughterers. Class 1 slaughterers are those operating under Federal inspection. Class 2 slaughterers include all slaughterers not subject to Federal inspection and other than Class 3 slaughterers. Such slaughterers are required to register with their district OPA office. Class 3 slaughterers are resident farm operator slaughterers who must register with the local War Price and Rationing Board of the area in which his plant or farm where the slaughterers is located. Since all slaughterers are required to register by July 1, 1945 the name of the legally authorized slaughterer must be accompanied by his permit number on or after that date.

Soil Conservation District News

The Supervisors of the Duck Creek Soil Conservation District held their regular monthly meeting at Spur on Thursday, June 21. At this meeting soil conservation plans were approved on three farms for this part of the District. They were farms belonging to T. R. Greenfield, O. G. Hamilton and W. A. Cash.

Application for technical assistance on 5,079 acres was approved for Blanche Connell Dalby in conservation group 63.

The rain last Wednesday, June 20th, was spotted. Some farmers reported receiving as much as an inch, while neighboring farms got considerably less than an inch. Some farmers were planting, but many were waiting for more rainfall. Some were planting in the water furrow.

Of the five rain gauges set out by the Duck Creek Soil Conservation District, Bud Stevens at Graham reported .65 inches, Sam Lewis at Pleasant Valley .55; R. L. Cummings north of Post .40; C. P. Witt at Kalgory .23, and Lee Reed at Justiceburg .12 inches.

R. D. Williams, whose farm is about one and one-half mile south of Southland on the Lubbock highway, has done a good job of crop residue management on his wheat stubble land. Immediately after combining, Mr. Williams one-wayed the land leaving most of the stubble on top of the ground. After the recent shower the soil protected by this stubble mulch was not puddled or crusted.
