Armistice Day

Twenty-six years ago on November 11, the last shot of World War I was fired. Germany was beaten. An ominous silence settled over the battlefields of Europe...

In the name of those who died in World War I, and in the name of those who die today to complete the task started then, we on the home front must soberly dedicate ourselves today to working harder, longer, to buying more and more bonds...

A MAGNIFICENT FAILURE

After banking a head wind for eight and a half hours, the Handley-Page, bound from New York to Chicago, non-stop, was forced down in a farm meadow, with a broken water line, several hundred miles short of its objective.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the foregoing incident, marking the beginning of air express, is being celebrated this November. The Handley-Page was a cumbersome, four-motored six-bomber, a "crate" of the worst kind, measured by today's standards.

"All of these things" have come. Unified air express covering our nation and many foreign countries, now carries millions of pounds annually on scheduled flights.

Ernie Pyle's Slant on the War:

Officer Won Lasting Respect of His Soldiers

Wounded GI Artist Becomes Most Popular Cartoonist to Soldiers

By Ernie Pyle

AT THE FRONT LINES IN ITALY.—In this war I have known a lot of officers who were loved and respected by soldiers under them. But never have I crossed the trail of any man as beloved as Capt. Henry T. Waskow of Belton, Texas.

Captain Waskow was a company commander in the 36th division. He had led his company since long before it left the States. He was very young, only in his middle 20s, but he carried in him a sincerity and gentleness that made people want to be guided by him.

Ernie Pyle "After my own father, he came next," a sergeant told me. "He always looked after us," a soldier said. "He'd go to bat for us every time."

"I've never known him to do anything unfair," another one said.

I was at the foot of the mile trail the night they brought Captain Waskow down. The moon was nearly full, and you could see far up the trail, and even part way across the valley below. Soldiers made shadows as they walked.

Dead men had been coming down the mountain all evening, lashed onto the backs of mules. They came lying belly down across the wooden pack-saddles, their heads hanging down on the left side of the mules, their stiffened legs sticking out awkwardly from the other side, bobbing up and down as the mules walked.

The Italian mule skinner was afraid to walk beside dead men, so Americans had to lead the mules down that night. Even the Americans were reluctant to unlash and lift off the bodies, when they got to the bottom, so an officer had to do it himself and ask others to help.

The first one came down early in the morning. They slid him down from the mule, and stood him on his feet for a moment while they got a new grip. In the half light he might have been merely a sick man standing there leaning on the others. Then they laid him on the ground in the shadow of the low stone wall alongside the road.

I don't know who that first one was. You feel small in the presence of dead men, and you don't ask silly questions.

We left him there beside the road, that first one, and we all went back into the cowshed and sat on water cans or lay on the straw, waiting for the next batch of mules.

into the dead face. And he never uttered a sound all the time he sat there.

Finally he put the hand down. He reached up and greily straightened the points of the captain's shirt collar, and then he sort of re-arranged the tattered edges of the uniform around the wound, and then he got up and walked away down the road in the moonlight, all alone.

The rest of us went back into the cowshed, leaving the five dead men lying in a line out to end in the shadow of the low stone wall. We lay down on the straw in the cowshed, and pretty soon we were all asleep.

Sgt. Bill Mauldin appears to us over here to be the finest cartoonist the war has produced. And that's not merely because his cartoons are funny, but because they are so terribly grim and real.

Mauldin's cartoons aren't about training-camp life, which you at home are best acquainted with. They are about the men in the line—the tiny percentage of our vast army who are actually up there in that other world doing the dying. His cartoons are about the war.

Mauldin's central cartoon character is a soldier, unshaven, unshined, unsmiling. He looks more like a hebe than like your son. He looks, in fact, exactly like a doughboy who has been in the lines for two months. And that isn't pretty.

His maturity comes simply from a native understanding of things and from being a soldier himself for a long time. He has been in the army three and a half years.

Bill Mauldin was born in Mountain Park, N. M. He now calls Phoenix home base, but we of New Mexico could claim him without much reluctance on his part.

Bill has drawn ever since he was a child. He always drew pictures of the things he wanted to grow up to be, such as cowboys and soldiers, not realizing that what he really wanted to become was a man who draws pictures.

He graduated from high school in Phoenix at 17, took a year at the Academy of Fine Arts in Chicago, and at 18 was in the army. He did 84 days on K. P. duty in his first four months. That fairly cured him of a lifelong worship of uniforms.

Mauldin belongs to the 45th division. Their record has been a fine one, and their losses have been heavy.

Mauldin's typical grim cartoon soldier is really a 45th division infantryman, and he is one who has truly been through the mill.

Mauldin was detached from straight soldier duty after a year in the infantry, and put to work on the division's weekly paper. His true war experience started in Italy and have continued on through Italy, gradually gaining recognition. Capt. Bob Neville, Stars and Stripes editor, shakes his head with a veteran's admiration and says of Mauldin:

"He's got it. Already he's the outstanding cartoonist of the war."

Mauldin works in a cold, dark little studio in the back of Stars and Stripes' Naples office. He wears all-weather glasses when he works. His eyes used to be good, but he damaged them in his early army days by drawing for too many hours at night with poor light.

He averages about three days out of 10 at the front, then comes back and draws up a large batch of cartoons. If the weather is good he sketches a few details at the front. But the weather is usually lousy.

"You don't need to sketch details anyhow," he says. "You come back with a picture of misery and pain and danger in your mind and you don't need any more details than that."

Mauldin Still Just a Kid
Even though he's just a kid he's a husband and father. He married in 1942 while in camp in Texas, and his wife was born last August in Chicago. He is now in the States and they are living in Phoenix, Ariz. He is a member of the American Legion and is a member of the Post Office.

International SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for November 12
Lesson subjects and scriptures listed for the week.

THE CHURCH DURING WAR AND PEACE

Everywhere men are talking about the coming peace. They are concerned lest having won a war we may lose the peace through the selfishness or the indifference of men.

I. A Higher Measure of Love
(Mat. 5:43-48)

The world has established its own principle of conduct based on selfish advantage. It pays to be polite to those who can favor you, an cultivate their good will by acts of courtesy and kindness.

II. A Higher Degree of Loyalty
(Rom. 12:1-4)

An intelligent Christian is the best citizen. He knows that all government is based on the power and authority of God, and hence he recognizes the legality and authority of duly constituted governmental agencies.

III. A Higher Standard of Patriotism
(Rom. 13:1-7)

There is more to real patriotism than flag waving and high-sounding oratory. There must be a conscientious willingness to serve the nation in willing obedience to the command or the request of proper authority.

IV. A Higher Standard of Citizenship
(Rom. 13:8-10)

The Christian gives just that kind of patriotic support to his country. He is enlightened conscience demands it, and he responds.

V. A Higher Standard of Government
(Rom. 13:11-14)

The Christian has no share in such things, for he is ready to pay the share of the expenses of government as a ministry of the Lord.

VI. A Higher Standard of Personal Conduct
(Rom. 13:14-17)

No government can function properly and long endure which does not have the respect and confidence of those governed. There can be nothing but criticism, discontent and dissatisfaction in a government.

VII. A Higher Standard of Personal Conduct
(Rom. 13:18-22)

Everywhere men are talking about the coming peace. They are concerned lest having won a war we may lose the peace through the selfishness or the indifference of men.

Genes Of Thought

Christianity holds him the greatest who is himself most useful to others. Great opportunities come to all, but many do not know they have met them. The only preparation to take advantage of them, is simple fidelity to what each day brings.

Information On Sale Of Used Army Motor Vehicles Released

In response to inquiries from prospective purchasers of used Army vehicles, District Manager K. F. Reims of the Office of Defense Transportation today announced from Lubbock that he had received information from the Treasury Procurement Division as to how such vehicles may be acquired.

Used Army equipment is sold through the Treasury Procurement Division and negotiations for purchase must be handled directly with that agency. The ODT does not participate in these negotiations in any way other than to certify to Treasury Procurement the eligibility of the purchaser.

If a truck is sought for farm use, the applicant should get a letter of recommendation from his local County Farm Transportation Committee. With such a letter the prospective buyer should obtain assurance from ODT that he is eligible for a Certificate of War Necessity.

If the prospective buyer is seeking a truck for commercial usage, he should contact the district office of ODT for a certification to Treasury Procurement that he is eligible for a Certificate of War Necessity. If the purchaser is seeking to institute a new operation, it will be necessary for him to show it is essential to the war effort or essential civilian economy and file formal application with ODT to inaugurate the service.

According to Treasury Procurement, the purchaser then should contact a dealer and make known his needs. The dealer takes his customers with him to view available vehicles. The dealer also may buy vehicles and take a chance of selling them later. Dealers in the past have bought trucks largely by competitive bidding, but the Treasury Procurement Division regional office at Fort Worth now advises that it is making some negotiated spot sales.

Dealers are notified of the dates of sales and the number and kind of trucks available.

Used Army equipment is not rationed but is sold to the ultimate user at OPA ceiling prices.

The TEXAN'S SHARE In The WAR

Both the Japs and Nazis have been catching it hot and heavy lately... and so many Texans are in the fight that even the enemy never knows when one will turn up. So many Texans are serving in the Royal Canadian Air Force (they joined before the U. S. entered the war) that some correspondents refer to it as the "Royal Texas Air Force."

Incidentally, Sgt. Steve Hourihan, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hourihan of Belcher, has set some sort of a record in this war. A mechanic and gunner aboard a B-24 Liberator flying from Southern Italy has completed 300 combat missions and helped drop more than 13,000 tons of bombs on the enemy. His group has two presidential citations.

J. W. Woodward of Athens has been returned to the U. S. after 18 months in the Southwest Pacific, where he was twice wounded and awarded the Purple Heart and Oak Leaf Cluster. Lt. Charles Brandon of Pecos, assistant operations officer of a B-24 Liberator group in England, has completed 100 missions in only 140 days. That's flying!

And word comes now that Pvt. Frank Lozano of Manor, who has been missing in action since July 31, is a prisoner of war in Germany.

Most American anti-aircraft units have had little actual fighting during the sweep across France into Germany, due to the fact that few Nazi planes dared oppose our air fighters, but the unit of Corp. Bill Ammons, Jr., of LeFors, is an exception. That outfit has shot down several German planes, and is still on the move toward Berlin.

Capt. Irby Dyer of Monahans, a bomber pilot stationed in Italy, has won an unusual distinction. For several months he has worked in close collaboration with Yugoslav airmen. Now he has been made an honorary member of the Yugoslav Air Force, and wears the RYAF wings in addition to those given him by Uncle Sam. Dyer is a former Peer's attorney.

From Briggs, Texas, comes news that Mr. and Mrs. Kyle Smith have been notified that their son, Pvt. Floyd B. Smith, was slightly wounded in fighting inside Ger-

First Patent Granted Narrow Bladed Scythe

The first patent granted in the new world was for an agricultural tool, a scythe. This was invented about 1666 by Joseph Jenks, a famous transcriber of colonial days, who was granted a patent which gave him a monopoly of the manufacture of the scythe for a period of 14 years. The scythe consisted of a long narrow blade similar to the scythes now in use. It represented a great improvement over the sickle shaped like a quarter moon, and Jenks built up a prosperous manufacturing business at Pawtucket, R. I. These New England scythes were an superior that many of Gen. were shipped to Pennsylvania and her firm returned in payment. It was not until about 150 years later that someone thought of attaching a series of wooden fingers to the scythe and so making a cradle which would be useful in the reaping of wheat as well as the mowing of hay.

The replacement of the sickle by the scythe doubled the speed with which hay could be cut, but it required more manual labor, and, made with poor steel, the scythe was soon fitted. It became the custom to stave the best barrel of hard cider on every farm, to be hunched at harvest time, when it was known as "the scythe sharpener." The haying season meant hard work but with a barrel of hard cider it became a festive event.

S-Sgt. Yonnie Peel Is With Hodges' 1st Army In Germany

With Hodges' First Army in Europe, Yonnie Peel is in Germany. He is attached to the Medical unit and is now in Germany. His family received a letter this week written on Oct. 17. He wrote that he had just three weeks' leave and had not been home but that he had received 13 letters when the mail did come through.

Yonnie who is a farmer when he was Uncle Sam was inquiring in his most recent letter about the crops here and the weather. He stated that it was pouring rain but that was a characteristic of the country over there. He seemed quite interested in news of home town folks commencing in their school friends who are in college now, the football team, Ashley Lawson and others.

Yonnie received a new rating the day he wrote his last letter—that of Staff Sergeant. "I am now the highest rated non-commissioned officer in the Third Platoon of my company. I was surprised but pleased when I got it."

Staff Sgt. Welden Skinner Is Connected With One Of Oldest Fighting Groups

An Eighth Air Force Fighter Staff Sergeant, Staff Sgt. Welden Skinner, son of Mrs. A. M. Skinner, Grand Prairie, Texas, and formerly a teacher in the Post public schools, is a member of the oldest fighting group in the VIII Fighter Command, the high-sounding P-51 Mustang group commanded by Col. Don Blakeslee, at Fairport Harbor, O., which celebrated its second anniversary recently by destroying 24 enemy planes in two days.

The group was formed Sept. 12, 1943, when the three Eagle Squadrons of the Royal Air Force transferred to the USAAF and became the first fighter group in the Eighth Air Force.

In the two-year period the eagles, complemented by U. S. trained pilots, have flown Spitfires, Thunderbolts and Mustangs. They have destroyed 687 enemy aircraft, 222 while on hazardous ground strafing operations.

Sgt. Skinner is a technical supply clerk with a squadron in the group. The 35-year-old soldier has served in England since Jan. 1943.

Squeezing Mr. Moto!

NEW YORK—The pattern of the Allied squeeze on Japan is indicated in the above map which shows: 1. Where U. S. Forces have landed on Leyte Island and quickly established strong points which included capture of two key air fields; and 2. Where Allied air and sea attacks hit the Nicobar islands in the Indian Ocean, the last barriers to a drive on Singapore and Malaya. Some observers believe these operations are more a matter of fine timing than of coincidence and may be the beginning of the long-anticipated push from both the east and west to cripple Japan. Reports indicate that most of the U. S. Pacific fleet was engaged in the Philippines campaign and naval forces were aided by land-based bombers flying from China (3) in pre-invasion assaults on Formosa.

Armistice Day

We pay tribute not only to those courageous men who fought and fell in World War 1 - - but now added to that honor roll are these men's stalwart sons who bravely fight and fall in World War 2 - - fight and fall in a valiant effort to win the Peace that flickered and burned out after the last bloody battle of 1914-18.

Yes, to all liberty-loving men we pay tribute on this Armistice Day. For, to keep our blessed land a land where we might live as a free people, they have made the supreme sacrifice. They have paid the highest price for Victory and Peace.

With bowed heads and a prayer in our hearts let us pause and meditate on this Armistice Day, 1944 for those who did not return from the last war - - for those who will not return from this war - - for the speedy return of those who still fight - - for Total Victory and a Lasting Peace.

Your Home

What about those small suitcase-size furnaces weighing less than 20 pounds which are supposed to be able to heat homes as large as 20 rooms? I have been hearing about them, the same as you, so I put the question to the chief engineer of the world's largest installers of home heating equipment.

This authority told me that there was no trick to building a vast pocket furnace; several companies have already done so, but for purposes entirely remote from home heating. The trick isn't in making the miniature heating unit; it's in making it practical for home use.

These small heaters, as perfected for wartime usage, generate their terrific heat by burning high octane airplane fuel under great pressure, with a high velocity blower fan to propel the heat. Of necessity, the noise is a mighty roar. Furthermore, the hot air is of a degree altogether too high for home comfort. Then, too, there is the high cost of the fuel, as well as the short life of the heater (probably not more than 1,000 hours) under its concentrated generation of blast furnace heat. All of these objections would have to be overcome before the miniature heater could be adapted to home use.

And so, without meaning to throw cold water on the idea, I'm afraid we shall have to wait quite a long while before the engineers have succeeded, if ever, in practically adapting the much publicized suitcase heater to our homes. In the meantime, however, we do have some mighty fine improvements and advantages to enjoy in the heating units that are to be made available when factory production is permitted.

FALL IS BEST TIME TO PLANT ROSES

Fall planting applies to roses more than other plants especially so for West Texas. This bit of new was passed on to us by several Garza county gardeners.

Give your roses 15 inches of good top soil instead of 6 or 8. They'll respond with added growth and added bloom. Once planted, mound them 4 or 5 inches high. Then cut them back to the mound. In severe weather, cover the whole thing with leaves or straw or similar mulching material.

Water plants at least once each month throughout the entire winter.

Further Output Of Southern Pine Mills Is Cut

A further cut in production of lumber at Southern Pine Mills is reported and a survey shows the average weekly output per unit of 261,770 board feet during September.

Weekly production during the month of August was 213,400 board feet per unit, and that of September, 1943 was 222,702 board feet per unit.

Weekly shipments likewise declined from 236,299 board feet in August to 214,381 in September.

Shipments in September 1943 were 244,737 board feet per unit per week.

Unfilled orders at the end of September were 1,443,755 board feet per mill.

Remefolks Have Doubled Mail To Boys Overseas

World War boys fighting in all parts of the world Texas home-folks have almost doubled their prewar volume of mail according to postal authorities.

Postal receipts in 45 Texas cities during September amounted to $5,561,966—the equivalent of more than 45,000,000 3-cent letters, while in September, 1940, postal receipts were only $1,259,500.

August receipts were $5,406,058, and those of September 1943 were $2,065,094.

For the first nine months of 1944 receipts were $20,948,505, compared to $18,170,439 for the first nine months of 1943.

Just about the time we learn to make the most of life, most of it is gone.

Soil Conservation District News

The County equipment is building terraces for H. M. Ford of the Barnum Springs Conservation Group. About six miles of terrace lines were run last year, but Mr. Ford was unable to get them built at that time. By using the lines for contour guide lines and planting feed on the land to be terraced, Mr. Ford was able to get an early start on his terraces this year.

June Propst recently purchased a Whirlwind Terracing Machine. He is building up his old terraces and building new ones between some of the old terraces that were too far apart. Altogether, Mr. Propst has about ten miles of terraces to build and rebuild.

W. C. Quisenberry of the Greenburr Conservation Group has combined his trial planting of Chinese Red Peas. They proved to be good producers, yielding about five hundred pounds on one-half acre of land. "Even then we only harvested about half of them because of the difficulty in combining in the extremely sandy land," said Mr. Quisenberry.

Will Wright was re-elected Supervisor for Zone 1 of the Duck Creek Soil Conservation District in a meeting held at the City Hall Saturday night.

Only One Texas Firm Gone Bankrupt Since Jan. 1

Not a single commercial failure marred the Texas business scene during September, according to the monthly report of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

As a matter of fact, only one Texas firm has gone into bankruptcy since January 1, as compared with nine during the first nine months of 1943.

Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Smith and F. E. Greenfield are attending the Northwest Texas Methodist Conference in Sweetwater this week. Mr. Greenfield is a delegate from the local church.

Stop. Look Where You Are Going! . . . Look all around you and see where is the many, where is the few. Listen at God. "Come out from among them and be separate both the Lord and touch not the unclean things and I will receive you." ## Staten Defeats Post 12-7 In Tough Battle Friday Night

The Staten Tigers made it two in a row over the Post Antelopes Friday night when they hung up an 18-7 victory. Staten won the previous game 12-0.

In the first quarter the Antelopes were in complete mastery of the game until Hanna, backfield ace of the Tigers, broke into the clear and went 30 yards for the first Tiger touchdown. The kick for extra point was low. The quarter ended with Staten leading 6-0.

In the second quarter the Antelopes pushed deep into Staten territory on a pass from Cash to Shirley. However, a costly fumble gave Staten the ball on their own 20 yard line. After working the ball up the Antelope 45 yard line, Hanna smashed over the tackle remaining distance for the second tally. The kick for the point was blocked. The half ended 12-0.

In the third quarter Cash again passed to Shirley for a long gain deep into Staten territory. The Staten line stiffened, however, and took over the ball. Hanna took the ball on a reverse around his own right end and raced 20 yards for the final Tiger touchdown. The kick for point was wide. The quarter ended 18-0.

Late in the fourth quarter the Antelopes worked the ball down to the Staten three yard line. After three plays failed to gain, Cash rifled a pass to Thomas in the end zone for a touchdown. Shirley split the bars with a perfect place kick. The game ended with a score of 18-7.

The Antelope will journey to Seminole Friday night, Nov. 10, to battle the Seminole Bulldogs.

Hold That Light, Please! Match Boxes Continue To Go To Armed Forces

Hold that light, please, will continue to be the popular phrase in coming months, according to a War Production Board report which states that about 80 per cent of all penny box matches and 95 per cent of all book matches produced in the next six months will be delivered to the armed forces. Although few penny box matches will be available to civilians during this period, matches of the household "strike anywhere" type will be produced in sufficient quantity to meet all civilian needs, WPB said.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to try to express our thanks and appreciation to our loved ones and friends for their many kind words and deeds and for helping us carry the burden of the loss of our precious baby. There's a place that is vacant in our home; A voice we loved is still; A place that is vacant in our home. Which never can be filled. May the Lord's richest blessings be yours.

PLANE TALK

BY Rowland Burnston

The use of high octane gasoline has made possible the development of greater horsepower in modern aircraft without a proportionate increase in size and weight.

Most people have a misconception of high octane rating. An octane number is numerically the percentage by volume of iso-octane in a mixture of iso-octane and normal heptane. The octane number of fuel is the octane number of the mixture of iso-octane and normal heptane which it matches in antiknock value.

90 octane does not mean the percentage of octane in the gasoline. Actually what 90 octane gasoline is, is a gasoline that detonates or knocks at the same compression as a mixture of 90 per cent iso-octane and 10 per cent normal heptane. It is merely a standard for expressing how much gasoline may be compressed without knocking.

The more the fuel can be compressed the more power an engine will develop and the less resistance the gasoline will have to detonation. It is this that makes possible greater horsepower in present day engines.

Each engine has its prescribed octane fuel requirement. Although a higher octane gasoline may be used than is necessary, it is wasteful to do so since the higher octane gasolines are more expensive than the lower ones.

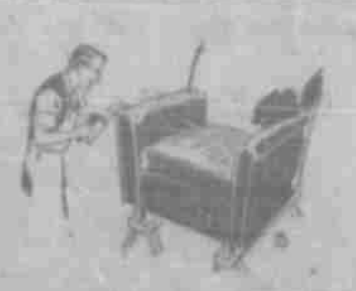

The ability of American manufacturers to develop higher and higher octane fuels has contributed materially to the superiority and greater efficiency of our fighting aircraft.

Pvt. Milbert Gray, Jr. of Grandbury, former Garza county boy, ran into his cousin Vance Brooks of Post in his camp at Shepherd Field. The boys didn't know they were stationed at the same camp until they met last Monday morning. They have been there for six weeks.

Wherever you eat - BALANCE YOUR LUNCH with FRESH FRUITS and VEGETABLES

Another brother, Sgt. Robert Fulton Fletcher (a Southland graduate) recently wrote his parents from a Pacific island where he is stationed. "We keep our ears glued to the radio when we are not working. We can pick up a few West Coast stations at night. 'Radio Tokyo' sure stays on the air. I really get a kick out of their broadcasts. Their propaganda is so obvious that a grammar school kid can see through it. They've 'sunk' our navy dozens of times in as many different ways, and shot all our planes down. Some of us are sitting under the apple tree with every guy's gal. According to them, we're in a tough shape. You 'would never know it, though.'"

T-Sgt. Norman Irwin wrote his parents, the J. Irwins, from Gold Coast, Africa, of the intense heat, big centipedes, etc. The ant hills there are built on top of the ground like bee hives; he broke into one to see what made it tick and found the inhabitants didn't have good manners. He was told of the roving ants which move their habitation from place to place—when they start migrating, even the monkeys and snakes give them plenty of room.

"JUST BABY AND ME"

The noonday lunch is most often neglected by the busy housewife. A raw vegetable salad, a quick-cooked vegetable or two, milk and bread, with fresh fruit for dessert, require very little time and are easy to prepare. Whether you eat at home, in a restaurant or other eating place, be sure you get plenty of vitamin-rich fruits and vegetables.

LUNCH TIME AT SCHOOL

Children grow fast and play hard . . . and every bite they eat must be full of food value. For strong bones, good teeth and a healthy body, include plenty of "protective" fresh fruits and vegetables in their luncheon menu. For a better lunch, whenever you eat, follow the luncheon menu pattern.

It's Lt. Col. Minor Now

According to word just received by his wife, the former Marian Lee Minor, Major James L. Minor, now in France, has been promoted to Lt. Colonel. The following item recently appeared in the "T-Patch," 38th Division newspaper published in France:

"Something new was added when Col. G. E. Lynch announced the promotion for outstanding leadership during operations in France of Major James L. Minor, 1st Inf., to Lt. Colonel."

Minor has served in the 38th Division since Nov. 20, 1940. A law student at Texas University, at the time he entered the service as a private, he has served as platoon leader, regimental ammunition officer, liaison officer, assistant operations officer, executive officer of a company, company commander and battalion executive officer. He is now battalion commander.

He has been awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action and the Purple Heart for wounds received in action. He also wears the Combat Infantryman Badge. Minor wrote recently:

"Recently my battalion and I have been behind the German lines and I've had several miraculous escapes. But I'm still all in one piece, although more exhausted than at any time since I've been over here—a little rest will fix me up, I think."

GAS HEATER STOCK FAR BELOW NEEDS

Gas heaters are still hard to get. Mason & Company advises its customers. In 1940, the last production year, 1,897,000 gas heaters were bought. Total United States production this year will be 510,000 heaters. This information was released to all dealers through the OPA.

This means that only 27 per cent of those wanting gas heaters this winter will be able to obtain them. Mason said. Those wanting gas heaters are advised to see about priorities as early as possible.
