County Resources Show Increase In Report On Budget

Nobody came to the open house which the Garza County Commissioners Court held all day Monday for the purpose of viewing the county budget with anyone who was interested.

For the benefit of any interested invalid or someone who might have been called out of town that day, a Post Dispatch reporter studied the budget, decided it was all right and recorded the following general figures:

The balance in the treasury on January 1, 1948, was $92,487.27. If nothing unforeseen happens, the balance at the beginning of 1949 will show a $28,079 increase.

The county's total resources were valued at $186,662.25 in 1947, at $218,335.07 this year and at $268,550.67 for 1949.

The 1949 budget calls for an $11,469.10 increase in total expenditures over the $97,768.40 figure for 1948.

The balance on hand at the beginning of 1949 should show an increase of $39,746.50, according to the budget.

The estimated assessed valuation of Garza County is $8,335,000, an increase of $2,335,000 over the 1948 valuation.

The total net outstanding bond and time warrant debt of the county on January 1, 1948, was $142,700.00. It is estimated that the debt will have been reduced to $131,700.00 by January 1, 1949. The 1949 budget includes a payment of $12,000 on the principal and $4,362.50 on the interest.

The budget report which will be sent to the state auditor for approval, includes a detailed breakdown of expenditures for all salaries, the road and bridge budget, jury fund and any number of other phases of running the county.

Adolescence Course To Begin Thursday

The Post High-Elementary Parent-Teacher Association will sponsor a monthly lesson on the subject of "Adolescence," beginning next Thursday afternoon at the First Methodist Church.

The study course is designed to help attain goals in parent-teacher work.

The association believes it will be of interest to the general public and, especially, to the room mothers in the local schools.

TWO FINES PAID

Only two fines were collected during the past week in the Justice of the Peace office of Jim King, he said yesterday. One was $1 and costs for speeding and the other was $10 and costs for passing a worthless check.

NEW TEACHER NAMED

Lewis Price, former parts manager for the Post Truck and Tractor Company, has been engaged to teach in Post High School.

14,597 ft. of diversion terraces
Height ave. 5 1/2 in.

On the Paddle Ranch, seven diversion terraces, totaling nearly three miles in length, reaching around hillsides and across drains, lead the water where the rancher wants it to go. They lead the runoff water from 400 acres of grassland into four ponds.

Blue grama grass, growing two feet high is shown in this picture which was made by a staff photographer this summer on the Paddle Ranch in Kent County. Giles McCrary, through a similar conservation program, is raising grass like this on some of his pastures here in Garza County.

Drouth No Longer Ruins Paddle Ranch Pastures

Land that three years ago had been grazed to death by sheep is now producing grass two feet tall on the Paddle Ranch in Kent County, near Clairemont.

The owner, Percy Jones of Abilene, a civil engineer who designed and built his own ponds and spillways for the ranch's water conservation project, and his foreman, John Matthews, a Cornell University graduate, have done an outstanding job during the three years in which the ranch has been reconverted for purposes of raising cattle.

The only Garza County project, approaching it from the standpoint of conservation progress, is that of Giles McCrary on the O.S. Ranch. McCrary is now in his second year of deferred grazing and water and soil conservation, and the result already is evident in the form of drouth resistant grasses, growing two feet tall in some pastures.

The pasture improvement program varies on the two ranches because each is planned by soil technicians to cope with different problems. No two ranches have the same soil vegetation problems, the same as no two faces look exactly alike, says Pete Ottinger of the Duck Creek Soil Conservation District.

The Paddle Ranch's complete program includes the following steps:

1. Defers grazing of some of the pastures during the growing season.
2. Keep the range properly stocked, using the key grasses as a guide to proper use. If the key grasses are not thriving, the land is being overworked.
3. Run bulls with the cows for a definite period of time to obtain a uniform cattle crop.
4. Kill out prairie dogs and maintain fire guards.
5. Reserve feed pastures for a drouth or hard winter. These pastures should not be grazed except in an emergency.

Public Invited To Meet Teachers At School Party

The Post High-Elementary Parent-Teacher Association will sponsor a public get-acquainted party in honor of the Post school teachers in the school gymnasium tonight, immediately after the pep rally or about 8 o'clock.

All parents and the general public are invited, said Mrs. Tom Bouchier, P. T. A. president.

The occasion, a progressive forty-two party, was planned at the association's first fall meeting last Thursday afternoon in the high school auditorium.

The first fall meeting was opened with several piano numbers by Merle Jenkins. Reports were given by chairmen of standing committees, and members were urged to help enroll as many new members as possible this year.

S. D. Strasner and E. E. Pierce, principals, introduced the high and grade school teachers, then Supt. G. E. Day gave a report of the condition of the Post schools and the hopes he has for future improvements.

After Day's informational address, the class awards were made to the following winners: second grade primary division; fourth and fifth grade tie in the intermediate division, and ninth, tenth, and twelfth grade tie in the high school division.

The meetings of the parents and teachers are profitable in enabling the public and teachers to know and understand each other.

Minister-Elect To Speak Friday Night At Church

The Rev. D. A. Bryant, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Mexia, was called as pastor of the First Baptist Church here last Sunday.

He will tell the congregation whether or not he can accept the invitation at a public service at 7:30 o'clock Friday night at the church. All the members and others interested are urged to be present for an important discussion.

The parsonage is being redecorated inside and out, with new paint, wallpaper and floor finishing and the yard is being improved.

Registration For Draft Continues

Because of the illness of J. E. Parker, Garza County Selective Service Chairman, Judge J. Lee Bowen has been in charge of the registration. Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion Auxiliary have been serving as clerks.

Men born in 1929 registered yesterday and today. Those born in 1930 will register tomorrow and until 5 p.m. Saturday, in the Commissioners Court Room.

Men born on or after September 19, 1930 will register on the day they are 18 years old or within five days thereafter. The place of registration, after Saturday, will be announced in a later issue of the Post Dispatch.

Antelope Boosters Will Meet Tonight

The Antelope Booster Club will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the high school auditorium. The public is invited to attend the meeting and stay for the pep rally and bonfire afterward. The football players will be present. Marshall Gibson, president, said yesterday.

Juniors To Put On Big Performance

Seventy-Five Are Expected To Enter

At least 75 boy and girl contestants, 18 years old or younger, are expected to enter the various events of the Southwestern Championship Junior Rodeo Saturday afternoon and night in the Post Stampede and Rodeo Arena. A number of out-of-town contestants had sent their entry fees by press time. Most of the Garza County contestants will pay their fees Saturday morning when they arrive in town for the County Fair. The deadline for entering the contests is 12 o'clock Saturday noon.

The rodeo events will be preceded by a downtown parade, beginning at 1 o'clock. Everybody in the county who owns a horse is invited to ride in the parade. All boys' and girls' 4-H clubs and any other clubs or business firms desiring to do so are invited to enter a decorated float or automobile.

The afternoon rodeo performance will begin at 2 p.m. and the evening performance will begin at 7:30 p.m. Both programs are highlighted by Boys Ranch stunts, matched roping between Jimmy Bird and the state high school champion, Scooter Fries of Bandera, and comedy provided by two clowns.

Concessions on the rodeo grounds will be operated by the 4-H boys and girls, under supervision of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McLaurin. Adult help will be needed and any parents or other adults wishing to assist with the concessions should report their names to Mrs. Jewell H. Strasner, county home demonstration agent, as soon as possible.

Boys and girls assisting with the concessions should report to Mrs. Strasner in the Garner building, on Main Street, by 10 a.m. Saturday to receive instructions, she announced.

The revival meeting closed Sunday night. Services were held by the Rev. Guy Self of Brownwood, assisted by the Rev. A. B. Cockrell.

A number of visitors attended the services and enjoyed the usual "dinner on the ground" Sunday.

Mrs. Edna McLendon, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McQuien, Mr. and Mrs. Will Cravy and John and Henrietta Nichols recently attended a surprise housewarming for the Russell Wilkes family in the Grassburr Community. The family received many beautiful gifts for their beautiful new home.

Miss Nelda McQuien of Post spent Friday night in the home of her aunt, Mrs. Edna McLendon, and attended the revival meeting.

John Nichols, accompanied by the Lester Nichols family of Post, spent the weekend in Abilene with the J. H. Miller family. Billie Louise Nichols remained there to begin her studies at Hardin-Simmons University.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Cravy visited in Spur Sunday. Their son, Dale, spent the weekend in Lubbock.

Residents of this community are looking forward to the County Fair in Post Friday and Saturday, and many of them are planning exhibits.

Mrs. Isabel Nichols was surprised this week by a visit from her nephew, Glenn Smithers of Phoenix, Ariz., and Roy Smithers and son, Clyde, of Hereford. Glenn and Roy are sons of the late Mr. and Mrs. L. N. (Lem) Smithers of the old Spur ranch. Before arriving here, they visited a brother, Claude, in Weatherford and brought their aunt two of the famous big melons from Weatherford. Glenn has visited her a number of times since moving away, but Mrs. Nichols had not seen Roy in more than 30 years.

Accidents Lead In Death Cause Among Children

A state-wide effort to reduce Texas' child accident toll of about 900 lives yearly through participation in the national child safety campaign in September was set forth by Dr. Geo. W. Cox of Austin, state health officer, as an immediate public health objective calling for concerted cooperation by all public health and medical authorities and interested civic organizations within the state.

"The needless loss of a single life, or the crippling of even one child, is an exorbitant price to pay for any neglect of this problem," said Dr. Cox.

The importance of such a campaign is evidenced by the fact that accidents are now the leading cause of death more than one year old. Among children 5 to 9 years old, the death rate from accidents was 25.7 per 100,000, as compared with a rate of 4.6 for rheumatic fever and organic heart disease, the next cause; and among children from 9 to 14, the accident death rate was 20.8 and that for rheumatic fever and organic disease 7.2.

The outstanding improvement in the death rates from all non-accident causes during recent years is the result of the advance in medical science and concentrated efforts in the field of child health. The premise of the child safety campaign is that efforts now must be intensified to bring about a somewhat comparable reduction in the number of child accidents.

C. I. Dickenson of New York City and Tom Power left Monday night for Georgetown for a short visit with Herbert Jones and family. They returned Tuesday night. Mr. and Mrs. Dickenson, who arrived here last mid-week, left this morning. They planned to visit relatives and friends in Chicago and Detroit en route home.

Proposed Constitutional Amendments Are Supported By WTCC Executive Board

A fight for West Texas water rights will be carried directly into all of the 132 counties of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce territory in a series of project clinics authorized recently by members of the executive committee in Abilene.

At the same time the committee set the date for the 31st annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention to be held in Abilene, Monday, November 8.

Project clinics have been set for the following towns: Tahoka, Tuesday Sept. 28; Panhandle, Wednesday Sept. 29; Quanah, Thursday, Sept. 30 and Decatur, Friday Oct. 1.

Monahans, Tuesday, Oct. 5; Del Rio, Wednesday Oct. 6; Stephenville, Thursday, Oct. 7 and Breckenridge, Friday Oct. 8.

These project clinics will replace the regular annual referendum meetings, which have been held in the past and will be in the towns selected by directors at last year's meeting's.

"Because of the long range character of the work program adopted at last year's referendum and to the necessity of acting upon committee reports in pursuance of that program, the Executive Board believes that in this year's annual proceedings the energies of the organization should be devoted to acting on committee reports and to carrying out objectives already adopted by previous referendums and annual conventions," the executive board, which was presided over by President C. P. Dodson announced.

In the program, as outlined by Manager D. A. Bandeen, the project clinics also will receive presentations of industrial reports made by committees of three major West Texas railroads, the Santa Fe, Texas & Pacific and Burlington. These reports will cover surveys now being completed by the respective committees and will represent approximately $40,000 of factual information.

Already for distribution is the Grain Sorghum report from the WTCC - Burlington industrial committee which was prepared by engineers of the Texas Electric Service. This report deals with factual information on the production and utilization of grain sorghums and will be a handbook for local WTCC directors in an effort at industrialization of this leading West Texas crop.

It was announced the cotton report now being prepared under the WTCC-Santa Fe committee is nearing completion and likewise will be ready for distribution at the project clinics. This is an analysis of the cotton manufacturing potentialities of West Texas. It is being prepared by Mack Wood at Texas Tech.

Another important project to be reported is that of the WTCC-T&P industrial committee, which has under way an economic analysis of the West Texas area served by the T&P. Dr. Sidney L. Miller is preparing this analysis and he has already made three independent reports which include livestock feeding, leather goods potentialities and water needs of the area.

The group also gave its support to the eight constitutional amendments to be voted on at the general election Nov. 2. Members said they found nothing political in the amendments and that each represented good support.

Garza Objects To Non-Democratic Demo Proceeding

Carl Webb, instructed to cast all three of Garza County's votes in unison but otherwise left to use his own best judgment, represented local Democrats at the State Democratic Party Convention in Fort Worth Tuesday morning.

Soon after the opening of the convention, he had a chance to cast the three local votes either for or against seating the delegation from Harris County, after an appeal had been requested from Chairman Calvert's ruling that the pro-States' Right delegation should be excluded.

Webb voted in favor of seating the Harris delegation because, he explained to the Post Dispatch last night, its members had been elected by a two to one popular vote and their credentials had been approved and accepted by the proper convention committees. The Garza votes, Webb said, were the only ones from the 30th Senatorial District cast in protest to the ousting of the pro-States Rights delegation.

The Garza votes on that issue were lost and, subsequently, all States Rights delegations were unseated.

Weno, too, left the convention, but gave the Deaf Smith delegation the right to cast

ROGER W. BABSON WRITES THIS WEEK:

Next President Is Sure To Face Difficult Times

Babson Park, Mass. — I am a statistician and not a politician. Moreover, I always vote the Prohibition Ticket rather than of either of the two big parties. Hence perhaps I am not worthy to discuss politics. But—as my mother used to say—"I like to see even the devil get his due."

Therefore, as the Presidential Campaign is now opening, the members of both parties should ponder over the following figures.

What The Record Shows
With all the cussing we give President Truman, statistics show that since his administration this country has had the highest national income in its history. At the risk of repeating some facts which I have already stated, let me emphasize that the volume of U.S. business has been above normal for the last ten years (including four of war effort). In fact, the national income for 1948 will be about $215,000,000,000 compared with $40,000,000,000 when Roosevelt became President. This fourfold increase consists of a doubling of goods and services produced and a doubling of prices.

This record outdistances the boom era of 1922-1930. The volume almost fell to the normal line in 1940. From this point, however, it recovered to a new all-time high within a period of one year. During 1947 and so far in 1948 the volume has run at record highs. The volume of business today stands at 28 per cent above normal. This is close to the April 1947 all-time high and 24 points above the low point of 1945.

Comparing The '40's And '20's
There is considerable difference between the boom period of the past ten years and the so-called Coolidge boom of the twenties. The prosperity period of the twenties was a post-war boom culminating in a period of drastic uncontrolled stock market inflation and frenzied speculation. The business of the last ten years consisted of a war and post-war boom culminating in a period of uncontrolled wage inflation which may result in a similar collapse.

During both the early 20's and 40's peacetime goods were reduced to a minimum creating a pent-up demand for consumers goods which to this day is not completely satisfied. This is further aggravated somewhat now by stockpiling of war material again and the shipping of billions of supplies to Europe.

So far there is as yet no over-production of consumers' goods; but in some instances the supply is beginning to catch up with the demand. There are still shortages in automobiles, steel, non-ferrous metals, electrical equipment, new homes and several other capital goods. The inflation at the present time is not in the stock market but in wages and the concomitant high prices.

If this country is headed for a lower national income and the natural decline in business going therewith, I cannot imagine why either Mr. Truman or Mr. Dewey wants to be President. If I were Mr. Truman I would want to retire in my glory; while if I were Mr. Dewey, I had rather wait four years and see what happens to the country in the meantime. Based upon Newton's Law of Action and Reaction, whichever is elected is sure to face hard times and—unless "saved" by World War III—will probably be defeated in 1952.

What Public Should Do
Yet if we all—employers and wageworkers—would be willing to work harder and give the consumer more for his dollar.

United States could continue to enjoy present good business sometime to come. If we change our buying habits in accordance with demand supply, this would prevent us from going any higher.

If we would encourage government to cut its pay roll in halves and the industry, it would both save taxes and the labor force. There is much that each of us can do to help bring about this long prosperity; but are we going to do so? Remember, politics are only an expedient what we ourselves are willing to do. A river does not run to its source.

GETTING OUT On The LIMB

By EDDIE the EDITOR

It's tough on the kids, but all grown folks are glad when school starts.

The mamas and papas have their own reasons for being happy. I'm sure they are more varied and vastly different from mine.

Some other folks and I, who don't have any children, are glad school has started because from 9 a.m. until 3 or 4 p.m. we will be free from the bicycle and motor scooter menace.

I have awakened every morning all summer dreading to get out of bed, lest (1) I run over a kid on a bicycle before I get out of my driveway and certainly before I make the three and a half blocks that I live from my office; (2) a kid on a bicycle or motor scooter runs over me before I can get from my car to the interior of the office; (3) the first thing that reaches my ears is that from one to five kids have been killed in a motor scooter or a bicycle accident.

I'd rather hear of any sort of a tragedy than about the death of a fine young man whose bicycle was hit by a car whizzing through town on the busy highways. But I'm going to hear of it one of these days.

I don't know what I would do if I were a parent. Boys have to have bicycles, and there seem to be absolutely no safe places to ride them. The sidewalks not only are rough but they are primarily for pedestrians and I'd be the last person in the world to insist that bicycle-riding be done on the sidewalks.

Only the highways and Main Street are paved, and the traffic on these is too heavy to make bicycle-riding safe.

The more careful children seem to do most of their bicycle riding in other people's driveways. This not only annoys the other people, but it is dangerous. A woman called me not long ago to say that she is afraid to get out of her house in her own backyard because of the parade of kids on bicycles that zip around her back door all day long in the big driveway there.

She is some 78 years old and not too sure-footed. A bicycle hitting her could kill her instantly or make an invalid of her for life. In addition to being afraid to get out of the house, she is paralyzed with fear every time she looks out the window because (1), she is afraid a kid on a bicycle will hit one of several small children who live in the neighborhood (2) she fears that one of the cars that regularly use the driveway will run over a kid on a bicycle and (3) she frets over the corners of her lawn, the hedges and flower beds. Bicycles bumping into these are disastrous to their beauty.

So I'm glad that school has started. It gives the bicycles a rest for a good part of the days and will save some lives, flowers and tempers.

Garza and the World

By EVELYN BOYD

As everybody does at some time or other, I got into an argument over religion the other day. A friend set it off by making the remark that her religious obligations were her biggest burden.

I was very shocked, and she asked me if I was implying that it was easy for me to live a Christian life. I assured her that, by my own concepts of good and bad, upholding my own principles is the easiest part of my life.

You can imagine this went on and on; so I will skip what all led up to my telling her that to me a person's religious duties in a nutshell are: (1) trying to adhere strictly to the Golden Rule (Do unto others, etc.) and (2) trying to live as though heaven were on earth.

Then my friend was shocked when I explained that it is possible that the heaven which we deserve, if any, is that which we experience during our mortal life, and that in order not to be cheated I was trying to see to it that I experience that heaven.

She never did understand what I meant, even though I explained that I feel obligated to try to confine my activities to the things that bring happiness to me, my husband, my mother and the people with whom I work and associate. Naturally I don't often attain this goal, but it is a worthwhile aim, and trying to carry it out is a pleasure rather than a burden. Once I see the results of my efforts along this line, I will be in heaven whether on this earth or not.

This aim, on my part, necessitates a cheerfulness and a tolerance that otherwise would not become a part of my nature. This is my most difficult obligation, I think.

On the other hand, it encourages me to ignore or fail to see the things that otherwise would tend to make me unhappy.

And it gives me a convenient excuse for indulging in my harmless, enjoyable eccentricities, such as being somewhat attached to a badly spoiled the nation's hard-working stenographers.

Which reminds me of something cute I clipped from A. M. Jackson's Just Talk in the Slaton Slatonite some time ago.

A big shot was reading a prepared speech at a convention of industrial tycoons. Toward the end of the speech he swung dramatically toward his climax as follows:

"The American business man is tired. When the war approached there were many problems that caused him much worry. Then all through the war he worked under countless handicaps and terrific pressure. And now, during the postwar period of adjustments, the many confusions and delays have created more strain and fatigue. Yes, the business man is tired. He is physically and mentally tired... but he isn't nearly so tired as the girls who have to type all this eyewash."

Cocker Spaniel.

Lest I shock somebody else, I'd better explain my philosophy about General Nuisance, my pet dog, and all other Spaniels that I have observed.

The Spaniel is the world's most forgiving and tolerant dog. He lives for the people who own him, and he is happiest when lying at their feet, licking their shoes and nibbling on their shoe-strings.

He is very sensitive, and he resents being left at home alone, tied outside when there is company and subjected to the family background. But when these indignities are forced on him, he doesn't become ill-natured, and his forgiveness is instant at the conclusion of the experience.

Everybody knows that, at times, people are very trying—human nature being what it is. In the course of these trying times, almost any person occasionally is tempted to become bitter and resentful. I can go home with an attitude like this building up, and the affectionate reception I get from my lonely, forgiving little dog makes me feel like a heel. Life immediately is filled with love and understanding. If that little creature is happy to see me even when I am grouchy, just think how happy my husband or mother would be if I would improve my disposition.

There's a great lesson to learn from an animal like General.

But life with him is anything but constantly rosy. While he is forgiving me for the lonely life he must lead at times, I have to forgive him for killing my friends' chickens, eating up my best books, bedroom slippers and hundreds of other items, jumping up on my guests with his muddy feet and howling in the wee hours of the morning when the train blurts out with its hair-raising whistle.

It's a give and take proposition—just like life.

The only thing wrong with my philosophy is that it tends to make an idealist of me. For instance, I keep wanting the various fighting elements within the Democratic party to apply it to each other.

And I keep wondering why it wouldn't be a practical thing to apply a bit of give and take in our international relations.

If nations applied the Golden Rule (and I understand it is the one Christian principal that has a counterpart in every other known religion) and did unto others as they would have done unto them, we wouldn't be having to pay all these high taxes, etc.

But this idealistic philosophy is not practical. If it were workable, it would have been demonstrated long ago.

And this brings me back to my religion. Too often we make a public display of "living the Christian life" and we forget that God might be present even when there is no visible audience. And we are inclined to make our religious practices too complicated, just as our government set-up with its ever-increasing branches and bureaus is too complicated to be practical. Sometimes we lose track of the simple religious aims that, when accomplished, could result in a small heaven on earth for ourselves.

From January to May of this year Navy and Coast Guard crews destroyed 143 floating Japanese mines which had just reached the West Coast since the recent war.

What Our Contemporaries Are Saying:

ELECTION REFORMS NEEDED.

ED—Hundreds and hundreds of thousands of new Texas citizens who have voted in Texas elections for the first time in recent years were shocked when they first entered a Texas polling place. No curtained booths to give them privacy, people sitting around able to see how they voted, and ballots numbered in such a way that any individual's vote can be easily ascertained.

Texas needs to reform her election laws. One of the first steps would be to adopt a truly "secret" ballot. It should be numbered so that its legality can be proven, and at the same time protect the identity of the voter. Curtained booths could be provided without bankrupting the state. Votes should be tabulated, promptly recorded and reported in accordance with the law. Present election laws should be amended or changed to make these things possible and real "teeth" should be provided to make strict enforcement possible. Shorter ballots would probably aid the Texas electorate in casting a wiser vote. This might be made possible by holding state and local elections in alternate years and so reducing the number of both state and local elective officials.

No state can boast of having a "perfect" election system, fool-proof against illegal voting and official tampering, but that doesn't give Texas any excuse not to seriously consider some needed reforms in her own backyard. Let's back any sensible reform movement and help do away with unnecessary doubts. —Hockley County Herald.

THE LOWDOWN—They told us a few campaigns back to beware—never change horses in the middle of a war—for even though we could come out on top on the scraggin' angle, we could lose our shirt making the peace. As it turns out, we lost both—shirt and peace.—Lorenzo Tribune.

JUST TALK — A couple of weeks ago I reported that a man in Post by the name of Powers, had subscribed to the Slatonite and that he had spelled the name of the Slaton paper "Slatonite." This week I got a letter from Mr. Power and he got even with me by calling my attention to the fact that his name is Power and not Powers, a fact that I should have noticed as he wrote his letter on a printed letterhead.

To Mr. Power I apologize and I'll leave it to him to make peace with Mrs. Bryan Williams, who he refers to as the former "Minnie Will Wootton." Tut, tut, Mr. Power, our local Mayor spells his name "Wootton," not "Wootten." Mrs. Williams is his daughter.

Things like this are what cause newspaper men to grow old early, seem scared of their shadow and have to take soda and aspirin every few minutes. —Slatonite.

WHY BELONG?—"Why should I belong to the Chamber of Commerce?" is a question asked frequently by merchants in towns the size of Hamlin, and often the answer received is neither logical nor convincing.

There are numerous reasons why every business firm should be a member of, and support the Chamber of Commerce, and The Herald will not attempt to list all of them. But there are a few reasons that would seem sufficient:

We belong to the Chamber of Commerce because there must be substantial growth. No town springs into being full blown, nor can any village or hamlet grow without the concerted efforts of those who are civic minded.

We belong to the Chamber of Commerce because our firm, as one individual, could do nothing at all to promote civic progress, but by acting with our neighbors all united for a common purpose, we can achieve much.

We belong to the Chamber of Commerce because it provides a focal point toward which to direct our energies in a civic way. Without the Chamber of Commerce there would be a hundred different individuals and organizations, each with a distinct and different plan, and all pulling at cross purposes—the result: Confusion and chaos.

We belong to the Chamber of Commerce because we believe in cooperation, and that is possible only through some central organization where each of us can air his thoughts and where every angle can be discussed and decided by a majority.

We shall continue to believe in and support the Chamber of Commerce as long as there is a need for civic progress, and as long as we are an integral part of the community. After that time, we will be content to drop our membership and go into stagnation—for when we cease to believe in cooperative effort, we will no longer be needed by the Chamber of Commerce as a member.—Hamlin Herald.

Public Assistance Program Explained By Texas Employment Commission Worker

C. Raymond Jones, local office manager of the Texas Employment Commission, in Lamesa, explains Public Assistance in the following paragraphs:

The "Public Assistance" type of program provides a monthly income for aged persons and blind persons who are unable to support themselves and have no means of support and for children derived of parental support.

Funds for payments to the aged, the blind, and dependent children are provided by appropriations from the Texas Legislature and Congress. The Department of Public Welfare is the administering agency for the State Government.

Basic requirements for public assistance is that a person must be in need of assistance. Needy persons are eligible if they meet certain other requirements. Those who can qualify are the aged (65 years of age or over); the needy blind, 21 years or over; children under the age of 14 who have been deprived of parental support because of death, absence, or physical or mental incapacity of a parent. There are also specific residence and citizenship requirements for eligibility.

Payments Explained

Who gets payments? Let's take old-age assistance and aid to the needy blind, first. Payments are made to persons able to qualify. Payments to persons able to qualify for aid to dependent children are made to the responsible parent or to the relative with whom the child lives. Payments are made in the form of checks, which are mailed monthly from the State Office of the Department of Public Welfare in Austin. You may ask the questions, "How much are these payments? How long may they be received?" Within limitations fixed by federal law, amounts are based entirely on need. Need is determined by careful investigation of the income and other resources of the applicant. The monthly amount of an applicant's resources is then deducted from the amount required to maintain him in decency and health, and the difference is the amount of the monthly payment.

When Insurance Stops

Old-age insurance stops when a person earns or has a monthly income in excess of $14.99 in insured work. Likewise, when he becomes unemployed again his payments begin again.

Payment of public assistance continue or decrease as his resources change.

Applicants for public assistance must be filed in the county where the applicant lives, through one of the local offices of the Department of Public Welfare. Investigations of applicants are made by members of the Welfare staff. If the applicant meets the requirements for eligibility his application will then be approved. Of course, payments of public assistance may not be made when the applicant fails to meet all eligibility requirements for one of the three types of public assistance. Once started, payments cease if he becomes able to support himself, or if support is provided by other persons or through institutions.

Fair hearings are provided for those individuals who disagree with decisions made as to eligibility for public assistance, just as they are for those people for unemployment insurance and old-age assistance.

September Planting Is Recommended For Lake Bottom Grass

The month of September is an excellent time to plant grasses in and around lake bottoms to obtain more pasture. Cool season grasses such as western wheat grass, centered wheat grass and Canada wild rye are adapted to growing in low areas. These grasses make their best growth from September to June, producing grazing when feed is scarce. These low areas if properly managed, can produce many times more grass than the adjacent uplands, Duck Creek District Soil Conservation technicians say.

Trip To National 4-H Congress Is Most Worthwhile

With the forthcoming National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, more than 26,000 rural boys and girls from all parts of the nation will have attended the event since the first meeting in 1922. The Club Congress, scheduled this year Nov. 28-Dec. 2, is held annually to honor 4-H Club members for work well done in agricultural and home economics activities. Fifteen hundred 4-H delegates, leaders and extension service workers, together with youth from several foreign countries, will attend.

The delegates—state and sectional winners in national 4-H awards programs—will take a part in group discussions and educational tours. They will also be guests at special functions given in their honor by awards donors and civic groups.

Trips to the Club Congress are a part of the prizes offered in the programs. With other incentives such as college scholarships, watches, savings bonds, county medals, plaques and leader training funds, more than $325,000 worth of merit awards are provided in 1948 through the National 4-H Club Committee by private citizens, educational foundations and industrial organizations interested in furthering 4-H Club work.

The national 4-H programs are conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service. Programs and awards donors include: National 4-H Achievement trophies presented in the name of the President of the United States.

Lack Of Interest May Eliminate Kindergarten Here

Only seven or eight prospective kindergarten pupils had been "signed up" in the Post Grade School office by press time.

A kindergarten will be started, after the completion of the new cafeteria building, if as many as 25 pupils are enrolled in the near future, so that a teacher may be engaged and other arrangements can be made.

A tuition of $8 a month will be charged for each pupil. All children who will be five years of age by January 1, 1949, will be eligible to enroll.

If their parents do not sign for them in the near future, the present lunch room quarters will be converted to some other use after the cafeteria is completed, school officials said yesterday.

Lack of materials had delayed the cafeteria project this week.

PADDLE RANCH—

 6. Establish 110 acres of native grass on agricultural land no longer fit for cultivation.

7. Finish terracing and contour farm 310 acres of cultivated land, rotating the crops to include a winter legume. The legumes are good cover crops which improve the fertility of the soil and provide a cash income from the seed.

Jones and Matthews have a system for deferring the grazing over the entire ranch. The plan is necessarily flexible because the weather can't be anticipated.

The variety of grasses that have developed during the past three years proves that properly grazed grasses withstand drought better because the root system of a plant is in proportion to the top growth.

The most nutritious grasses now thriving on this ranch include blue grama, buffalo, side-oats grama, and crowfoot grama. Other grasses thriving in the pastures include fall witchgrass, wild millet and feather bluestem.

A necessary part of the Paddle Ranch conservation program is a large network of diversion terraces, ponds and spillways.

Jones has discovered that with good spillways, he can build longer diversion terraces and collect enough water from a medium amount of rain to keep his ponds full.

His ultimate aim, of course, is to be able to produce more beef per section.

In only three years, he has succeeded in growing a good cover of grass, which protects the soil from erosion, and keeps the soil open so that it can absorb more moisture. It is estimated that the root stems on his grasses extend four or five feet into the soil to make use of the subsoil moisture during dry weather.

The long root stems compete with mesquite and weeds for the soil moisture. The better the grass, the less is the chance of the mesquite getting the water. It takes 1700 pounds of water to produce one pound (dry weight) of mesquite, Ottinger says. This is enough water to produce about four pounds of blue grama grass.

Giles McCrary has some pastures almost as well-grassed as the Paddle Ranch lands. During McCrary is Garza County's outstanding soil and water conservation rancher, Ottinger says, and his successful range management is being watched with a great amount of interest in the ranching profession.

Simple Clothing Recommended For Baby's Welfare

"Clothes for baby will be chosen for protection, comfort and freedom for exercise and growth, if the mother has the baby's welfare in mind," Mrs. Jewell H. Strasner, Garza County home demonstration agent, points out.

For healthy exercise and growth, clothes should be short, light-weight and loose in style. For daytime wear, simple slips are better than the usual dresses. If they're cut on the bias, they will have an advantage over the straight-cut slips, for they'll stretch in any direction and will be flat and smooth without gathers and tucks.

Leave off the lace and knotty embroidery around the neckline, for they may irritate the baby's skin. Collars are not good, either, the agent says, as they may "cup up" and may get into the baby's mouth.

The fabric of all baby's clothes should be smooth, soft and supple and yet firmly woven. Young babies are sensitive to even a slight feeling of heaviness and for that reason, the materials should also be lightweight. Mrs. Strasner suggests such fabrics as fine quality nainsook, batiste and soft crepe, all easily washed yet durable enough to stand frequent laundering.

Choose clothing with seams that are flexible, narrow and smoothly finished. Edges may be finished by rolled hems, narrow bindings or soft shell stitch. Full-length, front openings make easy dressing.

"You might consider safety, too, in dressing the baby," the agent concluded. "Long ribbons or ties can easily catch or pull around the baby's neck. Hairs or fibers in fuzzy sweaters may shed and get in the nose, mouth or eyes. And watch out for buttons—they should be non-breakable, and neither so large nor so hard that there is any chance of bruising."

Bingham's Home Town Grooms Heavily For Game With Post Antelopes Friday

Having calmed down over the excitement of playing and winning their first 1948 game at Ralls last Friday night, the Post Antelopes have been busy this week ironing out some of their wrinkles and getting ready for a tough game with the Spur Bulldogs on the Antelope Field tomorrow night.

Although Spur was defeated by Haskell last Friday night, the boys will play Post harder than any other team this year. Coach V. F. Bingham, a former Spur citizen, believes.

Spur always looks forward to beating Post and nearly did last year, in a 6-6 struggle. This year's team is said to be exceedingly fast.

The visiting team will be supported by a large group of Spur fans and the Spur School Band. Bingham learned this week. The game will begin at 8 o'clock.

Six Games Booked For Second Team

Coaches V. F. Bingham and Vernon Ray this week announced the schedule for the Junior Antelopes, consisting of football players who did not make the first team this year and boys expected to qualify for next year's first team. It follows:

Thursday, September 23, O'Donnell, here; September 27, Crosbyton, there; September 30, Crosbyton, here; October 7, Seagraves, there; October 21, O'Donnell, there, and October 28, Seagraves here.

The first game will begin at 7:30 p.m. on the Antelope Field.

Parking Rules At Football Games Announced Today

Supt. G. R. Day this week called attention of football fans to some new local rules regarding attendance at the games.

The west side of the Antelope Field will be fenced off, and driving or parking behind the west grandstand no longer will be permitted. Patrons will be permitted to park their automobiles on the east side of the field for a fee of 25 cents a car.

It is planned that an attendant will be on hand to assist with the parking. It is also planned that there will be sufficient light around the field to provide safety for the cars parked outside the fence.

Admission prices to this year's football games will be 35 and 75 cents, in keeping with the admission prices set by the District 4-A officials for all Class A games. All students and other fans, attending out-of-town first-team games should prepare to pay this admission price, Day explained.

Advance Sale Of Bus Tickets To Seagraves Asked

Post football fans are urged to buy their tickets by Wednesday of next week for the chartered bus to Seagraves, where the Antelopes will play their first 1948 conference game on September 24.

The tickets may be bought at Hundleys, and the bus or busses will leave from there.

Last week, prospective fans were disappointed because they waited until after the Wednesday deadline to try to buy tickets and so a second bus was not chartered.

Marshall Gibson, Antelope Booster Club president, says the club will charter as many busses as desired by the fans, if they will buy their tickets in time.

All living things can be grouped into two main divisions, flora and fauna.

Linen rags are used in making the best grade of writing paper.

Sound travels at approximately 1,110 feet per second.

Admission prices of 40 and 20 cents will be charged. Proceeds will go into a fund to buy equipment and awards for the players.

PHS Classes Name Officers, Cheer Leaders, Sponsors

Classes of Post High School elected the following officers for the year at separate meetings last week:

Eighth Grade—President, Olan Rains; vice president, Robert (Pete) Hays; secretary, Charlotte Brown; treasurer, Dorothy Jones; reporter, Darrell Stone; cheer leader, Nelda Woodell; room mother, Mrs. Ike Brown; sponsor, Lewis Price.

made a good showing for Post, as did Roy Wade, a first year man who was outstanding on gaining yards, and Junior Malouf, who made four touchdowns, ran one of the extra-points across. Wade made a 12-yard gain the first time he got hold of the ball. The second time, he ran 70 yards for a touchdown. The game was characterized by several long, broken-field getaways.

Post made about 15 first downs to the Jackrabbits' three. Jimmy Smith, as center, showed a lot of hustle.

Thirty-three Antelopes made the trip and each one played.

Accompanying the Antelopes was a chartered bus and a number of private automobiles, loaded with fans, and the Post School Band which staged a commendable performance at the half.

Bingham's Home Town Grooms Heavily For Game With Post Antelopes Friday

Having calmed down over the excitement of playing and winning their first 1948 game at Ralls last Friday night, the Post Antelopes have been busy this week ironing out some of their wrinkles and getting ready for a tough game with the Spur Bulldogs on the Antelope Field tomorrow night.

Although Spur was defeated by Haskell last Friday night, the boys will play Post harder than any other team this year. Coach V. F. Bingham, a former Spur citizen, believes.

Spur always looks forward to beating Post and nearly did, last year, in a 6-6 struggle. This year's team is said to be exceedingly fast.

The visiting team will be supported by a large group of Spur fans and the Spur School Band. Bingham learned this week. The game will begin at 8 o'clock.

Six Games Booked For Second Team

Coaches V. F. Bingham and Vernon Ray this week announced the schedule for the Junior Antelopes, consisting of football players who did not make the first team this year and boys expected to qualify for next year's first team. It follows:

Thursday, September 23, O'Donnell, here; September 27, Crosbyton, there; September 30, Crosbyton, here; October 7, Seagraves, there; October 21, O'Donnell, there, and October 28, Seagraves here.

The first game will begin at 7:30 p.m. on the Antelope Field.

Parking Rules At Football Games Announced Today

Supt. G. R. Day this week called attention of football fans to some new local rules regarding attendance at the games.

The west side of the Antelope Field will be fenced off, and driving or parking behind the west grandstand no longer will be permitted. Patrons will be permitted to park their automobiles on the east side of the field for a fee of 25 cents a car.

It is planned that an attendant will be on hand to assist with the parking. It is also planned that there will be sufficient light around the field to provide safety for the cars parked outside the fence.

Admission prices to this year's football games will be 35 and 75 cents, in keeping with the admission prices set by the District 4-A officials for all Class A games. All students and other fans, attending out-of-town first-team games should prepare to pay this admission price, Day explained.

Advance Sale Of Bus Tickets To Seagraves Asked

Post football fans are urged to buy their tickets by Wednesday of next week for the chartered bus to Seagraves, where the Antelopes will play their first 1948 conference game on September 24.

The tickets may be bought at Hundleys, and the bus or busses will leave from there.

Last week, prospective fans were disappointed because they waited until after the Wednesday deadline to try to buy tickets and so a second bus was not chartered.

Marshall Gibson, Antelope Booster Club president, says the club will charter as many busses as desired by the fans, if they will buy their tickets in time.

All living things can be grouped into two main divisions, flora and fauna.

Linen rage are used in making the best grade of writing paper.

Sound travels at approximately 1,110 feet per second.

Admission prices of 40 and 20 cents will be charged. Proceeds will go into a fund to buy equipment and awards for the players.

Mr. and Mrs. Tate arrived here Monday and are at home in the Kendall Courts until they can find a furnished apartment.

It has been announced also by the City Commission that the sale of the local water system by the Community Public Service Company to the City of Post became effective today, as did the sale of the local sewer system by the Post Sewerage Company to the city.

Both projects and the expansion of them will be managed by Tate who was the 57th engineer in the state to receive an A Certificate five and a half years ago from the State Board of Health. It is now required by law that approved water engineers have an A, B, or C certificate. The A Certificate is the highest possible rating.

Mr. and Mrs. Tate are looking forward to affiliating with the First Baptist Church here, as they were active in the Jacksboro Baptist Church for a number of years. He served as a deacon.

The Tates have two children, both of whom are married, and one grandson. Their son is school coach and principal at Mart and their daughter, Mrs. W. C. Mask, Jr., and family live at Jacksboro.

The new engineer will succeed Alton Carr, who eventually will be transferred by the Community Public Service Company to another property. The company delayed his reassignment to give him ample time to help the City of Post and the new engineer perfect the organization under the city administration.

All other members of the local Community Public Service set-up, except Harold Caffey, have indicated they will remain with the system here. Caffey and his family left several weeks ago for his new assignment with the company in Breckenridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Carr and their daughter, Camilla, expect to be here at least several weeks.

Carr is busy at present bringing the Community Public Service Company books up to date. In an advertisement, elsewhere in this issue, his company calls attention to the fact that water bills mailed to patrons today are the final ones owed to the company and that they are payable on or before October 1.

When paying their bills, water patrons are asked to bring their security deposit receipts, so that their refunds may be paid. At the same time, the patrons can make the required deposits with the city.

Mrs. J. Lee Bowen will leave tomorrow for Electra because of the serious illness of her brother-in-law, Charlie Pace, who is being brought to his home there today from the Scott and White Hospital in Temple.

Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Dickinson of New York City, who were visiting the Power, Babb and Boyd relatives here, spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bardwell and other friends in Lubbock.

Soil Technicians Here Training To Push Irrigation

E. C. Buie of Fort Worth, Soil Conservation Service Zone conservationist, has been here this week training soil technicians at the Post Work Unit to design and lay out irrigation systems. Buie says "farmers are interested in two things in irrigated systems: To irrigate the most land with the water available and with the least amount of labor."

On the Henry Edwards farm the first step was measuring the gallons per minute or cubic feet of water per second flow of the irrigated well. Next, technicians made a complete topographic map of the farm. This showed where water would run. From a soils map made in 1943, the depth and coarseness of the soil were determined.

With this information, technicians will be able to assist Edwards in laying out an irrigated system that fits the well, the soil, and his cropping system.

Edwards plans to install a temporary system for his immediate use to start a crop of wheat.

A permanent irrigation system will be laid out next fall when Edwards establishes permanent tame pasture, where he is planting wheat.
