ANTELOPES TO MEET SLATON FRIDAY NIGHT

Locals Rounding Into Shape For Tussle With Old Foes Of District

The football game of Friday night, and one that potentially packs as much fan appeal as any that will be played during the season, is the Post-Slaton tussle which will be re-fought on the local grid Friday night.

Recognized through the years as well-balanced, well-matched high school teams, the Antelopes and Tigers this season rate about the same percentage standing in district play. Both teams have lost conference games, which none the less lessens fan interest, as the Post-Slaton bout is always looked upon as the "big one" of the season. The teams have been gridiron foes ever since football came to the district more than twenty years ago. All through the years it has been the Antelopes favored one year and the Tigers the next, with each team sharing in district championships.

Putting the polish on the 'A' tack has taken up the major portion of this week's workouts for Friday night's game. Coach Lefty Solis gave the boys three new plays Tuesday afternoon, and has also been working out blocking assignments.

The starting whistle will blow at 7:15 sharp.

41 Missing, 28 Dead 423 Injured After Typhoon In Pacific

The death toll from the typhoon which lashed across the west Pacific last week stood Monday at thirty-five U. S. Navy dead, 41 missing and 423 injured.

The U. S. Army listed no deaths but a considerable number of minor injuries.

The total of Japanese dead was reported by the Japanese home ministry, which also said the storm left thousands homeless, destroyed 350 bridges and badly damaged rice crops.

The Army forces razed the typhoon damaged one-third of its heavy canvas on Okinawa, but that many tents were repaired.

Eighty percent of the Navy's shore establishments on Okinawa were damaged or wiped out.

This county has reached 65 per cent of its 1945 quota. Terry county is second with 45 per cent and Lubbock third with 42.7 per cent of its quota.

Four Years Of Starvation, Mistreatment And Hard Labor Told By Post Man Who Became A Jap Prisoner

Telling a story of starvation, mistreatment and hard labor, Sergeant Fletcher M. Hagood of this city, has returned to Post after being held prisoner of the Japanese for nearly four years.

The lanky Marine, who arrived in Post Wednesday to spend a 30-day convalescence leave with his wife and little daughter, whom he had only seen one time, and for just a few minutes then before having to "be on his way," recalled how he and 113 other buddies of a Marine detachment had fought overwhelming odds on Guam on December 10, 1941, only to be taken as slaves to the enemy.

Sergeant Hagood fared better in detention than most of the other men of his outfit, but he saw plenty of mistreatment, cruelty, hard-labor and lack of sanitation.

CIGARETTE INDEPENDENCE

Until just before war broke over Europe in 1939, the United States was dependent on outside sources for cigarette paper, which was wholly made from linen rags. New seed flax, grown mostly in Minnesota and the Dakotas, supplies all the fiber for the country's 3 billion cigarettes, as well as most of those smoked by South Americans and America's allies in Europe and the Far East. The utilization of flax straw brings new wealth from waste and gives us a thin, strong, white paper for cigarettes, books and even national currency. Not only does the

NATIONAL BIBLE WEEK

The Bible is still the world's best seller among books and has been translated in more languages than any other book. The Bible is an outstanding book not only within itself but also it has made outstanding contributions to the world in the way of literature, art, science, astronomy, anthropology and medicine. To mention a few would be Goethe's great literary accomplishment "Faust," Botticelli's painting "Madonna," Durer's "Adam and Eve," Da Vinci's "The Last Supper," Michelangelo's "The Last Judgement," Murillo's "Immaculate Conception" and Raphael's "The Sistine Madonna." Many doctors, astronomers, anthropologists and scientists have received much knowledge from the Bible.

The greatest contribution the Bible has made to the world however, is the help which it has given to millions of sincere seeking people to find their place in life and the help it has given to them when stars have come in their lives.

In a day of atomic energy, of scientific development and of improved methods of killing and destroying, there is a profound need of the Bible and its teachings in the lives of people. The Bible will go a long way to help people to live and to find the power stronger than the atom—the power of love.

READING & WRITING
BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKinn

SINCLAIR LEWIS, who made terms like "Babbitt" and "Main Street" a part of the American language, has a new novel, "Cass Timberlane," which the Book-of-the-Month Club has chosen for October. It is his nineteenth, and is being heralded as among his best.

SINCLAIR LEWIS

In other books, the American Business Man, the Social Worker, the Ambitious Doctor have been the victims of Mr. Lewis' own brand of irony. In "Cass Timberlane" he has chosen a more extensive field for his ruthless inspection—the institution of marriage, particularly as it exists among the more respectable citizens of the Mid-western town, Grand Republic. His conclusions are devastating. This in spite of the fact that the marriage of his hero and heroine, with all its ups and downs, turns out happily.

Cass Timberlane is the town judge, forty-one and considered middle-aged by the younger generation. He is quiet in his tastes, dignified, incorruptible. He has had one marriage with a selfish and ambitious beauty, and is apparently being slowly and steadily led into another with a plump, pleasant woman who "understands" him. Then he meets Jinny, who is little more than half his age—and becomes immediately and irrevocably her slave. How Jinny grows up to her husband through the painful process of falling in love with a "heel" (and, incidentally, Cass' best friend), is the gist of Mr. Lewis' story.

From the time he was ten, Sinclair Lewis decided that he wanted to be a writer. His father, a doctor, would have none of it. Why shouldn't the boy be a doctor like himself, or anyway a teacher? Writers were a bad lot, he said. He'd stay out nights, if he got to be a writer. He'd get to drinking. He'd never make any money. . . . But when "Main Street" came out in 1920, Dr. Lewis had to admit that his son was making a name for himself.

Sinclair Lewis was, incidentally, the first American novelist to win the Nobel Prize for Literature. In 1926 he had been awarded the Pulitzer Prize for "Arrowsmith," and he had refused the honor, stating that he did not believe in prizes and that there were other authors more worthy than he to receive it. When, four years later, the Nobel award was announced, Mr. Lewis went to Stockholm for the formal presentation. This was more of a world event than a mere provincial prize-giving, he said.

WHITE CROSSES

In military cemeteries here and there around the world little white crosses mark the graves of our men who made the supreme sacrifice in the war. The names are stenciled in black on the crosses of white.

Some time ago when I was on Tarawa in the Pacific, I heard the Commanding Officer say as he pointed first to the beaches and then to the cemetery: "There is where our boys stormed the beaches and that is what it cost us."

I think the loved ones of those men who sleep beneath the white crosses would like to know that the graves are being well kept. I saw many of these cemeteries and all that I saw are well kept and attractively laid out. The one on Tarawa was especially well kept and the chapel of native construction was very beautiful. The principal cemetery on Guadalcanal was similar in appearance and had an equally beautiful chapel. There is a little office adjacent to the cemetery where a soldier keeps the register of the men buried there. Some fresh graves were being dug in the Guadalcanal cemetery. It was explained that during the thick of the fighting a few of our men were buried at isolated places on the island and that their remains were being brought to the main cemetery. It was also explained that the remains of a number of the men who had been buried in the New Hebrides Islands were being brought to Guadalcanal for re-interment.

Our plane did not stop at two Jima but circled the tiny island at low altitude a couple of times. The island was rimmed with war installations, but the cemetery with its many white crosses was about as obvious from the air as Mount Suribachi where the flag was raised and the memorable photograph taken.

I saw three of the seven cemeteries on Okinawa. In the center of one of them was the grave of Lt. General Simon Bolivar Buckner, who led our forces there, and all about him were graves of heroes of the Okinawa campaign. There were no chapels at the Okinawa cemeteries, but they were well kept. At one of them I observed a little shelter which protected a register of the names of those buried there.

The largest cemetery in the Pacific area is at Finschhafen, New Guinea, where about seven thousand of our men are interred. The remains of our men in many of the smaller cemeteries throughout the Pacific are being removed to the larger cemeteries where they can be better cared for, about fifty cemeteries thereby being abandoned.

In the European theatre, the remains of our men who lost their lives on German soil are now being removed to semi-permanent cemeteries in France, Belgium and Holland. Our cemetery at Henri-Chappelle, Belgium, not far from Aachen and Edege, is the resting place of 17,223 American dead. This is our largest cemetery in Europe.

About two hundred thousand of our brave fighting men of World War II, who gave their lives for this country, rest beneath white crosses overseas. One-fourth of them are in the Pacific area and the others are in Europe. Congress plans to provide at a later date to return to the United States the remains of these men for re-interment in national or local cemeteries, in accordance with the wishes of the next of kin.

LIGHTER MOMENTS OF THE WAR

Lighter moments of the war are being recalled with increasing frequency now that the strain of strategy are over.

During the height of the Pacific campaign, a New York draft board found its records of one of its draftees incomplete. He was Lieutenant William W. Harrissizazi. The draft board asked for his middle name. They got it. "W" stood for Wilikinitz-sizazi.

A horned toad isn't a toad but a lizard.

PAPER HOUSES

The Institute of Paper Chemistry has announced plans for paper-panel homes to serve for at least temporary emergency shelter. Waste paper is pressed into panels which can be assembled into a small one-room house in less than an hour at a cost of about $100. Materials will come in a single bundle weighing about half a ton. Of course several of these single-room structures can be put together to form a larger house. The paper panels are treated to be fire and weather resistant. Between the strips of chipboard about an inch apart is a curved strip for bracing and insulation. The panels are numbered for sequence in assembly, have cellulose windows, and even have paper shades. The only metal is the flanges.

Recently receiving his honorable discharge from the Army is John M. Graham, son of Mrs. Nellie Rodgers of Dallas, formerly of Post. He visited friends in Post Sunday and returned to California where he plans to make his home temporarily.

Sergeant Hagood

At the end of the first year of detention the men were wearing what clothes they managed to salvage from the raid on Guam. They were issued Japanese army uniforms in 1942, and later some British clothes which were taken by the Japs at Hong Kong. The shoes issued had worn-out soles and many of the men preferred to go barefoot.

Red Cross packages were distributed the latter part of November 1942, and again in November of '44, but only after the Japs had looted them and taken out all the "sweets" and things they wanted themselves. Cigarettes, Japanese knives, were rationed 30 per week to the officers, 20 to rated men, and 10 to non-rated boys. "They tasted foul, but we were glad to get them," he asserted.

One gathered that Sergeant Hagood was happy over one great blessing, and that was that no epidemic ever hovered over their camp. "While many ailments developed among the men, we lost only 14 men during our many months of imprisonment. We had poor medical care, but a Godsend was in having Dr. Van Peenen, a Naval doctor and resident of California, with us. With his meager supplies and equipment he performed miracles and saved many lives. Often he performed appendectomies and major operations."

The Post Marine lost 45-pounds while held prisoner. He is extremely nervous, but otherwise is in good health and fine spirit. Since being liberated, he has gained back twenty-five pounds.

After being freed, he was cleared through a hospital at Wakayama, Japan, returned to Guam for 10-days hospitalization, and then transferred by ship to San Diego, California. He was flown from San Diego to Amarillo Tuesday and arrived home Wednesday morning.

When his 30-day convalescent leave expires, he is to report to the Naval hospital at Corpus Christi for a check-up, and will then be given a 90-day leave. Beyond that time he has made no plans. . . he may stay in the Marines as he has only four more years to put in before qualifying for 20-year retirement.

His wife, the former Miss Hattie Collins, and small daughter, have resided in Post during the time he was away.

Mrs. Maud Greas of Sweetwater is a guest of her sister, Mrs. Bob Warren, and Mr. Warren.

ELECTRIC RATES ARE REDUCED TO POST CONSUMERS

Southwestern Public Service Company has announced another reduction in electric rates, according to an announcement the first of the week by Ted Hibbs, manager of the local office. It is the second voluntary rate reduction made by the electric service company in one year's time. The new rate for residential service starts at 6c per kilowatt hour and graduates down to as low as 1 8-10c per kilowatt hour.

When Southwestern Public Service Company took over the operation of the electric system in Post in September, 1942, the top rate was 10c. On October 1, 1944 the top rate was reduced to 7 1-2 cents, and, effective October 1, 1945, the top rate has been further reduced to 6c. The new reduced rates are already in effect and will apply to October use. The two rate reductions which Southwestern Public Service Co. has made in Post since this county entered the war, were designed to bring the rates in line with those elsewhere in the territory served by the Company. The lower rates of the residential rate scale down to 1 8-10c per kilowatt hour.

Southwestern Public Service Company has operated the electric system in Post for only three years, all of which has been during war time, but has operated in other cities, towns and communities in the Texas Panhandle and in New Mexico for more than twenty years and has long followed the policy of voluntary rate reductions as frequently as possible, consistent with the maintenance of adequate and reliable service. The Company is now busily engaged in a broad program of increasing its power plant and line capacities to provide for the increased use of electricity which it feels is bound to come through the industrial and rural expansion of this territory and through the increased use of electric service in homes and business establishments when new electrical appliances and apparatus become available.

While prices in general have risen during the war, and will probably continue to rise, the Southwestern Public Service Co. has demonstrated its ability to reduce rates as the result of increased production and efficiency and hopes to be able to continue this program in the future.

Improved Uniform International SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, P. D. Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for October 21

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

MAKING THE HOME CHRISTIAN

LESSON TEXT—Luke 10:28-42; 1 Corinthians 13:4-13.
GOLDEN TEXT—Love suffeth long, and is kind.—1 Corinthians 13:4.

Things do not just happen. It takes praying and planning and real effort to accomplish a worth-while purpose. We are thinking these weeks of the home as a Christian center of influence. We trust that many are asking in their hearts, "What can I do to make my home really Christian?"

The answer is clear. A home will be Christian when those in it are Christian and put their Christianity into daily practice. First, you must be sure of your own salvation and that of the members of your household. Then you can proceed to put the principles of godliness to work. Our lesson presents the believing home as one that is well-balanced. There is both:

I. Work and Worship (Luke 10:28-42)

No home can be a place of comfort and pleasant fellowship without much work. A disorderly, dirty or run-down house is a disgrace and a discouragement to all that is finest in the relations of those who live in it.

Home need not be a mansion. It does not have to be richly furnished, but it does need to be clean and orderly. Meals must be made. Cleaning must be done. So far Martha was right, but she went too far. She let the labor of the household hinder her from what she so deeply needed—fellowship, not only with her family but with the Lord.

Now, notice that Mary had not shirked her duty to share the work. Observe the word "also" in verse 39. She had worked, but she also sat at Jesus' feet. She knew when it was time to call a halt to labor and make the most of good comradeship. Blessed wisdom! Would that many burdened housewives would learn of Mary!

Jesus made it clear that life in the home is to strike a proper balance between work and worship. If you do not know where to make the division in your home, err on the side of worship. Give that more time than it should have rather than less.

Alas, it is not true that in most homes, even in Christian homes, worship is almost, if not entirely, forgotten! Something should be done about that. Will you do it in your home?

II. Love and Longsuffering (1 Cor. 13:4-7)

We are apt to think of love as the warm feeling of interest and emotion which suffuses one's nature in moments of special pleasantness or of intimate fellowship. But life is not made up of a succession of pleasant incidents, of sunny afternoons and moonlit evenings.

Life is real; it is earnest, and often it is drab and irritating. What about such times? Can love meet them? Yes, for love knows how to be longsuffering.

But someone may ask, Does love really work, or is this just a fine-sounding but obsolete theory? It works!

Think of the things in life which irritate and depress us. Then put opposite them the qualities of Christian love as given in verses 4 to 7, and you will agree that what this world needs most of all is love.

Remember that talking about love, or reading about it, or studying it in the Sunday school will not make it effective. We must put it into practice. Why not start now? You will be surprised at the results.

III. Promise and Perfection (vv. 8-13)

Christianity has a hope, and that is not just a vague wishing that something might come to pass; it is a sure hope. In Christ all the rich promise of prophecy, of faith, of hope will come to pass.

The Christian home is the place to teach boys and girls to believe with assurance that He who has begun a good work in us "will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ" (Phil. 1:6).

We who see only dimly shall one day see our Lord face to face, and love shall abide through all eternity. Many gifts are only temporary in their usefulness; in fact, almost everything that man makes or does (apart from his service for God) is transient.

Even as vital a matter as prophecy shall one day find its end in fulfillment. Hope shall eventually find its longed-for expectation satisfied. Faith will be justified in seeing what it has believed. Childish things will be put away by the full-grown man; knowledge will increase and darkness disappear.

But love—love is eternal. It never fails, and will never fail. God is love, and God is eternal. From all eternity and unto all eternity love continues. Therefore, we agree with Paul who, in the verse preceding this chapter (1 Cor. 13:13) says that while you may covet the best gift, here is the more excellent way.

Antelopes Lose Conference Game To O'Donnell

A game which was more closely contested than the score indicated, was that of last Friday night when the Antelopes tangled with the O'Donnell High school football team on their grid.

The score 26-0 in favor of O'Donnell, was a one-sided count, but according to local fans who saw the game, the Antelopes played the Eagles all over the field and though no record was available, it was said the antelopes piled up more yardage and more first downs than O'Donnell. The scoring came as a result of O'Donnell's passes clicking at the proper time. The Eagles scored early in the first quarter and again in the second on passes. In the third quarter an Eagle intercepted an Antelope pass and ran 50 yards to score the third count. Another touchdown was scored in the final quarter on a pass.

Jimmie Bird, Junior Malout, Billy Odum and Paul Duren were outstanding in play for the Antelopes, fans said.
