Greet Them With Jobs!

PLANS and preparations for greeting the returning servicemen and aiding them in securing proper employment should be uppermost in the thoughts of Post and Garza county citizens.

The future is turning into the present with accelerated speed as each week more discharged veterans are returning home. We should ask ourselves—what have we to offer them in the way of jobs; in the way of inducements in cultural and civic interests to hold them in Post?

Calling attention to the magnitude of the task of helping the veterans reestablish themselves, Brig. Gen. J. Watt Page, state director of Selective Service, said:

"No matter how many governmental agencies are set up to do the job, in the last analysis the communities will have to do the work of helping the veterans to readjust themselves."

We all know that this is true. We know most of these veterans personally and have therefore a basis for helping plan business and public interests that will be a source of benefit to them.

City Publishes Annual Financial Statement Today

Elsewhere in this issue of the Post Dispatch appears the annual financial report of the City of Post for the fiscal year that ended June 30, 1945.

The statement among other things, shows the source and amount of all income received and how the money was expended, declares W. F. Presson, city secretary.

The report further reveals that approximately 95 per cent of the current taxes were collected. A part of the remaining 5 per cent uncollected represents the taxes on abandoned vacant lots and property. Counting delinquent taxes collected during the year, total taxes collected represents approximately 105 per cent of the tax rolls for the year.

Since the city now has new street maintenance equipment to use, it is the intention of the city commissioners to continue its street improvement program until all of the streets of the town have been put into A-1 condition, said the secretary. A number of new culverts are to be installed as soon as materials are available.

Matched-Roping Called Off, Ropers Have Full Calendar

"Too many contests 'ahead'" was the response given by expert ropers of the area when they were contacted by telephone last week by Post Stampede directors for participation in two-night's matched roping contest here August 17 and 18.

The first, and one of the best ropers in the state, to be contacted to rope here was Sonny Edwards of Big Spring. Edwards said he would be roping at Pampa on the dates set aside for the local contest, and that he had too many rodeo dates on his calendar to add more. N. A. Petcock plans to participate in the Waco rodeo on August 17 and 18, so he had to be counted out. Troy Fort of Lovington, New Mexico, was also booked for the Pampa show and Lassar Riley, who is with the Army at San Angelo, could not get away to participate in the event.

Most of the contestants plan to attend rodeos and roping matches at Brownfield, Colorado City, Lubbock, Midland and Pampa within the next few weeks.

The committee in charge of making arrangements for the roping events have decided to give up plans for a show this season because so many late rodeos are being staged over the state. "We will have a meeting in the very near future to get things in order for a big time rodeo early next summer," said one of the directors. "Post needs an annual rodeo and we'll start plenty early for next season's show."

Revamped Supreme Court Provided In Third Amendment

Nine, instead of three elective judges would sit on the state supreme court bench and concurrence of five instead of two would be necessary to a decision, if voters of Texas approve the third amendment on the ballot when they vote in the special election August 25.

The present court consists of three elective justices and six appointive judges to the commission of appeals. Members of the commission do the work of justices but justices must approve their decisions.

The proposed amendment creates an chief justice and eight associate justices. If approved by the electorate the present justices would continue as such until the expiration of their terms. The judges of the commission of appeals would become associate justices until January 1 next preceding expiration of the term to which each is appointed. All terms thereafter would be for six years and three court members would be elected every two years.

The amendment also raises the qualifications of court members. A minimum age of 35 is prescribed instead of the present 30, and it further says that no one may be eligible unless he shall have been a practicing lawyer, or a lawyer and judge of a court of record together at least 10 years.

A principal point, when submitting the resolution for the amendment before the legislature, was that decisions would be more representative because more judges would have to concur in them. The amendment does not affect the salary of supreme court judges.

Two More Garza Men Are Discharged

Two more discharges were handled at the local Selective Service office this week and the men will receive new classification cards.

Congressman Mahon Gives Inside Facts On Atomic Bomb

Following the announcement by President Truman of the new atomic bomb, Congressman Mahon made known some of the inside facts in connection with the production of this deadly and spectacular weapon.

The eight man subcommittee on Military Appropriations of which Mahon is a member provided the funds for the project, beginning in the early days of the war. It was necessary to maintain the secrecy of the project in order to deny to the enemy any knowledge of it. The committee devised a way to provide funds for the project without even making known to the Congress that such an undertaking was in operation.

In commenting on the new weapon Mahon said, "Our Committee has been working on the project for more than three years. General Marshall assured us of his faith and the faith of the President and qualified experts in the project and we backed it, providing the funds, feeling that if the two billion dollar experiment was a success it would shorten the war and save lives. That apparently is what it is to happen."

Finally after months of impatient waiting for the production of the first bomb, Secretary of War Stimson came to the Capitol last May and asked for a secret meeting with five members of our Committee. He said that the first bomb was about to be produced and that the chances for success were better than 99 percent. He requested that we proceed immediately to Oak Ridge, Tennessee and inspect the plants there. We were flown to the plant and escorted through the different facilities by Major General Groves, the manager, and a group of scientists. I was amazed by the high size of the project. It was unbelievably big and the complicated process for the production of the bomb was astounding. We were cautioned as to secrecy and shown the whole works. The processes are not only secret—they are incomprehensible to the layman. The final product is a very ineffective looking substance, but its power defies description. It will be up to the President to decide just how much information can be made public.

"The bomb has such terrific power it poses a threat to civilization itself. America must stay far ahead in scientific research or face destruction. Our plans for future protection must be well laid. We must not only insist upon an organization for world peace—we must demand it and make it work. That is the only hope for civilization."

Public Address System Installed Throughout School

An inter-communication system has recently been installed at Post High school, according to an announcement made by Supr. R. H. Hanson.

The new equipment is manufactured by "Talkaphone" and is modern in every respect. There are twelve stations, one in every class room, with the main broadcasting station installed in the superintendent's office. A hook-up from the main office to the gymnasium is also in operation.

This new "Talkaphone" communication system is one of the most efficient time-saving devices. Almost all schools are installing similar equipment for the benefit of carrying on the school routine in a quicker and more effective manner.

Seniors of 1945 donated funds toward this communication system as their gift to the school.

Mr. Hanson is busy engaged in plans for the opening of the fall term of school and will have announcements concerning dates, teachers, etc. ready for publication by next week.

A POOR SOLUTION

In Paris the lights may soon be dimmed. In the huge textile mills of Lyons, the spindles are idle. In Belgium the great steel mills at Liege, Charleroi and La Louviere are shut, and in many a European village there is ample food, but no way to get to the hungry cities, says Time magazine.

Why is the economy of Western Europe still paralyzed? It has a coal famine. Like a wagon without a horse, it lacks the power to start. Until the coal shortage is solved, there is little chance that Europe's shattered economy can be rebuilt or that any sizable trade with the United States can be revived, says Time.

The only remedy that France suggests is to nationalize its coal mines. It seems to have the idea that state socialism of industry, such as the Hitler government established, will in some miraculous manner encourage increased production, even though it destroys the incentive that flows from individual opportunity.

According to the latest figures, this year will see the United States 37 million tons short of its coal needs. We tried temporary socialization of the coal mines as a remedy for coal strikes. The result was not surplus coal but continued shortages.

One gloomy official in the European area, says: "If the people don't get coal, you can count on chaos and revolution." That would mean less coal and more freezing. We had the modern revolution—strikes—in the United States mines when our country faced its greatest war danger. And the result was less coal. It takes more than revolution and government seizure of property to get production. Until people learn this, they must expect suffering.

POST-WAR FLYING IN YOUR HOME TOWN

By C. C. CAMPBELL, Member, Aviation Writers Association, Washington, D. C.

Freedom of Personal Flight

The development of aviation has been so rapid that many of the rules and regulations made only a few years ago to govern it, are already obsolete.

"Not only are many restrictive regulations considered needless in these days of advanced mechanical controls and vastly improved operating facilities," says Joseph T. Geuting Jr., manager Personal Aircraft Council, "but it is contended that they endanger the whole future of flying in America by preventing many people from flying."

Joseph T. Geuting Jr.

In order to call this situation to the attention of the country and to Congress and Washington aviation officials, the Council has drawn up a statement of policy on the "Freedom of Personal Flight."

Just as the airplane has made tremendous technical and operational strides during the war years, the Council points out, it is now necessary for the rules of flying to be simplified and advanced in proportion.

The airplane's most important role in the future may very likely be as a private conveyance of the ordinary citizen, similar in social and economic importance to the automobile. It is asserted. Yet the Civil Air Regulations up to now have taken little cognizance of the personal plane or its ownership and operation by folks like you and me. Instead, many of the rules governing fast commercial flights of passengers and cargo were applied to those flying small, private airplanes. Naturally, as they now stand, they just do not fit any more than rules and regulations written for bus and truck operation would fit personal automobile operation. Fortunately, regulations now are being revised to do away with a great deal of needless and time-wasting procedures and requirements.

Among the points which the Personal Aircraft Council makes are: 1. The air is free; 2. airspace should be available to all persons for all purposes of air travel; 3. ownership and operation of an airplane should not be restricted to any greater degree than is the comparative use of an automobile. The statement of policy also calls for termination of special clearance, flight plan, and other "paper work"; and that no airport built partly with public funds should be permitted to exclude any type of air traffic, unless special fields are provided for such excluded craft.

Other recommendations would make the right to pilot aircraft dependent solely on proof of ability to fly with reasonable skill, and would shelve many of the difficult but unnecessary qualifications for pilot certification for personal flying. Changes in traffic rules are also advised.

It seems unlikely that any one will take issue with the purpose of the suggestions, which is to make personal flying simple and easy within reasonable bounds and thus advance the whole progress of America's aviation.

This is the second of a series of articles on post-war flying and its effect on community life. The next article "On the Air Map" will appear in an early issue.

ARREST OF THE TIMES

Just about the time the general public comes to the conclusion that the good old days are gone forever, the high costs will prevent expansion, and that it will be necessary for a benevolent government to look after all its unemployed citizens, industry comes along with some new and helpful plans which upset the pessimist's apocalyptic. As evidence of this, the possibility of a postwar building boom has stimulated interest in improved building codes throughout the country, according to a report just issued by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

While the public has feared the cost of building will be so high after the war that the average man cannot hope to own a home, the National Board cites that the "predictions are widely made that postwar houses embodying materials now generally unknown, will be fabricated in greater quantities in factories so that they can be quickly assembled on the building site. Unbelievably low costs to purchasers are talked about.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States is on record advising cities to restudy their building codes. It is hoped that provision may be made to take advantage of technological materials which are in the process of development. Lower building costs with the same promise of safety are in prospect."

The eyes of the world are now focused on another eclipse—that of the Rising Sun.

Your Mutual Minute of Prayer

IN BEHALF OF THE POTSDAM CONFERENCE

by Rev. JOHN W. RUSTIN, Minister of Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church of Washington D. C.

Let us pray— Eternal God, Our Father, grant us in this hour of great decisions a sense of Thy guidance. Make us channels of Thy peace. Direct, we pray Thee, the leaders of these Nations who even now make plans for tomorrow's world, to make those plans wisely, unselfishly, and with deep humility. Rid our minds of suspicion, hate and selfish interest, that all we do may be done in the spirit of mercy, faith, and love. Through Jesus Christ our Lord, we pray. Amen.

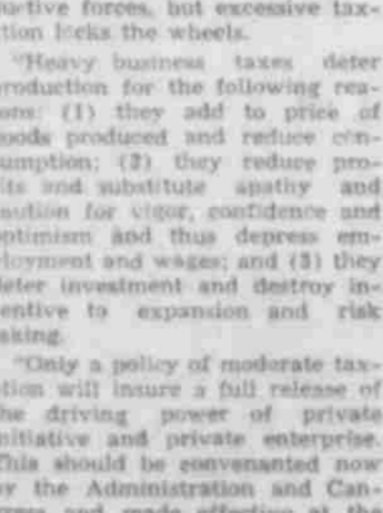

UNLOCK THE WHEELS

Under the title, "Untaxing Business," the Texas Tax Journal says: "It is only under conditions of a free enterprise system that substantial advancement has been made in the elevation of living standards and the spread of security to a substantial number of a nation's population. But enterprise is not free if it is subjected to excessive regulation and oppressive taxation. Unwise regulation is a powerful brake on productive forces, but excessive taxation locks the wheels.

"Heavy business taxes deter production for the following reasons: (1) they add to price of goods produced and reduce consumption; (2) they reduce profits and substitute apathy and caution for vigor, confidence and optimism and thus depress employment and wages; and (3) they deter investment and destroy incentive to expansion and risk taking.

"Only a policy of moderate taxation will insure a full release of the driving power of private initiative and private enterprise. This should be consented now by the Administration and Congress and made effective at the end of the war."

Do they call it the Wooden Anniversary just to remind a man what a blockhead he was?

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for August 12

ISAAC'S TESTIMONY TO GOD

LESSON TEXT.—Genesis 26:10-28. GOLDEN TEXT.—Blessed be the Lord God, the God of Israel, who only doeth wondrous things.—Psalm 12:18.

A man of peace in a war-torn world may seem to be a bit out of place, but he assuredly is not if the peace he has and promotes is the peace of God.

Our world has seen anew a demonstration of the awful results of the philosophy that might makes right. Violence and bloodshed have been man's way of asserting his supposed or assumed rights. One could hope that we are now ready to recognize that we need a new viewpoint, that patience and meekness are not weakness, that kindness and love are Christian virtues worth emulating and cultivating.

That result can come only if men will recognize Christ as the King of their lives and nations will receive His Word as their law. Let us proclaim His truth and the gospel of His grace anew, and win all we can to Him.

Isaac was a man of peace. He was a rather ordinary man, one of the common people, but his life is both interesting and instructive. He had come through varied experiences of victory and defeat before the time of our lesson. Fearing a famine, and apparently not trusting God at the moment, he had gone down from the promised land to the country of the Philistines, there re-digging the wells which his father Abraham had dug. The result was that he prospered. Ere long, however, envy on the part of his enemies taught Isaac that one may expect

I. Strife in the World (vv. 19-21). Isaac had prospered, but he was still out of the promised land, and while he was in the land of Philistines he could expect no permanent peace.

We are in the world. We long for peace, and would throw all our influence and service into the cause of bringing a righteous peace to the troubled peoples of the world. But let us not be misled by that desire into the support of unscriptural and impossible peace programs. This world is a sinful world, and as long as that is true, there will be strife and war.

Our business in such a world is to preach the gospel of grace, winning men to Christ, that they may become men of good will. Isaac was such a man, willing to yield even what seemed to be his right, rather than cause contention.

Undoubtedly there are times when one must defend his name and his possessions, but all too often those who do "stand for their rights" have wrecked homes, churches, and nations, and have gained nothing but an empty victory.

The peace of this world is temporary. Is there then no real abiding peace and joy?

II. Joy in God's Fellowship (vv. 22-25). When Isaac came up into Canaan, the land which God had promised to him, he found real peace and an abiding joy in renewed fellowship with God. Even so, the Christian man and woman who will step out of a spiritually destructive fellowship with the ungodly world and come over wholeheartedly into the spiritual Canaan of full consecration and separate living, will find true peace and satisfying communion with God.

III. Testimony in Right Living (vv. 26-31). These men were wicked men, even speaking falsehood in their claim of friendship toward Isaac (v. 26). Now that they perceived that God was continually blessing Isaac in spite of their repeated injustice toward him, they decided it would be well to make a covenant of friendship with him. Even those who follow the way of war and aggression cannot deny the effectiveness of true Christian testimony.

Observe also that by his patience and kindness, Isaac ultimately made friends out of his enemies. "It is better to turn enemies into friends than to beat them, and have them enemies still." And so this man with the patient, self-sacrificing spirit brought peace not only to himself, but to those about him, because he believed and trusted God. "When a man's ways please the Lord, he maketh even his enemies to be at peace with him" (Prov. 16:7).

IV. Blessing in Service (vv. 32, 33). The thing to do when the selfishness of others is about to cause strife is to go and "dig another well." If we will do that, we will find that God has been there ahead of us and prepared a rich flow of fresh water with which we may refresh and encourage ourselves.

Isaac's men said, "We have found water," and he then named the place Beer-sheba, which means "the well of the oath," referring undoubtedly to God's fulfilled promise to bless him. He had found the way of peace, fellowship and blessing, because he had gone God's way,

HIS SLEEVES STILL ROLLED UP

We like the attitude of Sgt. Charles M. Paddock who refused to accept a discharge, despite his 243 points. He has been 52 months overseas and has earned 27 combat decorations, but he wants another crack at the enemy. Somehow or other Sergeant Paddock reminds us of a figurative Uncle Sam, who having cut up the logs and laid aside his bucksaw, picks up his ax to split them and says: "No use rolling down my sleeves till the job's done."—The Christian Science Monitor.

Commissioner E. W. Cross introduced the following order and moved its adoption by the Court.

Whereas, at the general election held throughout the State of Texas on the 7th day of November, 1944, the qualified electors of the State, voting on the proposition, approved the amendment to Section 9 of Article 8 of the Constitution of Texas by changing said Section 9 so as to provide that the Commissioners' Court in any county may re-allocate the county tax levies authorized in said Section by changing the rates provided for any of the purposes authorized in said Section by either increasing or decreasing the same, but in no event shall the total of such taxes exceed Eighty Cents (80c) on the one hundred dollars' valuation for any one year, but that before such Commissioners' Court may make such re-allocations and changes in such levies that the same shall be submitted to the qualified property taxpaying voters of such county at a general or special election and shall be approved by a majority of the qualified property taxpaying voters, voting at such election, and in event such re-allocations and changes in such county tax levies are approved by the qualified property taxpaying voters of any such county, such re-allocations and changes shall remain in force and effect for a period of six (6) years from the date of the election, at which same shall have been approved, unless the same again shall have been changed by a majority of the qualified property taxpaying voters of such county, voting on the proposition, after submission by the Commissioners' Court at a general or special election for that purpose; and,

WHEREAS, it is the judgement of the Commissioners' Court of Garza County, Texas, that it will be to the best interests and general welfare of the County to re-allocate the County taxes authorized to be levied annually by Section 9, Article 8, of the Constitution, by changing the rates in respect of certain County taxes as herein provided; and

WHEREAS, it now being impracticable and impossible to submit the proposed re-allocations and changes in such County taxes to the qualified property taxpaying voters of said County at a general election, it is accordingly the judgement of the Court that the proposition be submitted to the qualified property taxpaying voters of said County at a special election; therefore

The said election shall be held under the provisions of the Constitution and laws of the State of Texas, particularly amended Section 9 of Article 8 of the Constitution, Section 2-a of Article 8 of the Constitution, and all persons who are legal voters of said Garza County, and who are resident property taxpayers of said County, and who have duly rendered notice of election shall be given by posting a copy of this order at the top of which shall appear the words:

"NOTICE OF ELECTION FOR THE RE-ALLOCATION OF COUNTY TAXES"

Said notice shall be posted in each of the election precincts of the County of Garza and at the Courthouse, thirty (30) days before the election. Posting of said election notice shall be made by the sheriff or a constable, who shall make return on a copy of such notice, how and when he executed the same.

END TO SHOE RATIONING FORECAST AT EARLY DATE

Some trade quarters believe that shoe rationing might be lifted within two or three months, according to National Footwear News, official bulletin and news survey of the National Shoe Retailers Association.

The bulletin pointed out that the shoe situation has changed recently and that trade quarters "quickly sensed that a variety of objections to concluding the shoe rationing program have literally dissolved before the facts of supply."

COMBINATION HOME MACHINE IS DEVELOPED

An electrical appliance manufacturer said this week a combination clothes washer, potato peeler, dish washer and ice cream freezer will be on the market early in 1946, barring unexpected developments.

Edward N. Hurley, president of the Hurley machine division of the Electric Household Utilities, said the Thor automatic washer, as the gadget will be called, will sell for less than standard prewar washing machines; can be operated daily as a dishwasher and potato peeler; and can be converted to a clothes washer by an attachment which the housewife can connect in less than a minute.

Civilian Clothing Stocks Increasing

Supplies of civilian clothing are increasing, generally although retail stocks will not improve noticeably before spring, a survey by the Associated Press showed this week.

Its downward plunge halted, garment production is showing a gradual upturn, government and trade experts indicated. However, unless shoppers re-

Why Prices Have Advanced And Where Difference Is

By Mary Lanham

Every person who buys apparel or household goods made of textiles knows of the tremendous increase in prices of these items.

The prices the consumer has to pay have gone up to an alarming extent in the last three years. But the cotton farmers and the cotton manufacturers are not to blame.

Last December, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture released figures showing the approximate distribution of the dollar spent by the consumer for apparel and household goods made of cotton in the United States in 1939.

Here are the figures: Farm production, 7.5 cents; ginning and baling, 0.7 cents; merchandising raw cotton, 2.1 cents; spinning yarn and weaving cloth, 10.5 cents; dyeing and finishing cloth, 8.5 cents; manufacturing apparel and household goods, 28.9 cents; wholesaling, 8.2 cents; retailing, 32.6 cents; total, $1.00.

These figures, which apply today just as they did in 1939, show that only 19 cents of each dollar spent goes to those who manufacture and finish the cloth. They show, too, that, even in 1939, the cotton farmer and the cotton manufacturer were getting little of the price of the finished textile product.

Since 1939, much has happened. There has been Pearl Harbor and there has been the war which was fraught from heavy buying as sought after garments reappear, pent-up demand will prevent retail stores from accumulating wide selections for some time.

Output of wool, rayon, and heavy cotton fabrics is definitely on the upswing, experts say, and should approach normal pre-war amounts for civilians by the end of the year.

Marring the brighter outlook are continued shortages of better cotton weaves for shirts, shorts and housedresses, and sheets, sheeting and toweling.

There's plenty of raw wool and cotton, but record military requirements, slim mill profits in some lines and lack of men and machinery for processing block increasing civilian manufacture of these items now.

won in Europe a few weeks ago. There is today the war with Japan. There was July, 1941, when the first textile ceilings were fixed, and there was May, 1942, when the ceilings were frozen.

A study of the history of textile ceiling prices shows that from May, 1942, to December, 1944, the cotton mills were allowed to advance their prices by only 6 per cent. The Office of Price Administration's rigid ceilings on the textile industry has kept these prices down to this low level of increase. But the OPA's effect on other costs has not been so strong. Statistics issued by the Bureau of Labor cost of living index show that in the same period—from May, 1942, to December, 1944—the retail price of men's shorts jumped up by 41.1 per cent, the retail price of pajamas went up 32 per cent, the retail price of undershirts went up 15 per cent, the retail price of women's house dresses went up 39.2 per cent, the retail price of street dresses went up 33 per cent, and the retail price of nightgowns went up 37 per cent.

For those who might believe the farmers or the manufacturers are getting big increases in prices for their products and are responsible for the large costs they have to pay for their shirts or their cotton dresses, it is interesting to study the history of these price boosts and to learn just where the trouble lies. The real facts will show that the extra price that the cotton manufacturer is getting today—in comparison with those he received in May, 1942—are so small that they are only an insignificant percentage in relation to the over-all increase of costs to the consumer.

The record shows that while textile products in the finished state or in garments have been rising in costs by leaps and bounds, the unfinished fabrics, known as gray goods, have gone up only an average of 1-2 cents a yard since the first textile ceilings were established in July 1941. A woman's dress can be made from four yards of material and often from less. Multiply the four yards by the price increase of 1-2 cents a yard and you have 6 cents, the manufacturer's increase in price for each dress for a period of four years. But don't go look for a cotton dress that has gone up only 6 cents in that period for you certainly won't find one.

Women's dresses are good items to study if you want to see how much prices have gone up and just how little the cotton manufacturer has to do with it. A purchase of four lower priced garments from a Southern store and an analysis of these garments shows that the mill man's part of the final cost is remarkably small.

One of these dresses was a tailored seersucker priced at $7.98. It was made of four yards of material which the manufacturer sold to the dress manufacturer for 35 cents a yard, or a total of $1.40.

Another was a plain white waffle pique selling at $1.95. The cotton manufacturer received for this dress 19 1-2 cents a yard, or 98 cents for four yards.

The third was a dotted swiss priced at $9.95 and made from material for which the manufacturer's price was 28 cents a yard, or $1.12 for four yards.

The fourth dress was made of chambray and was tagged at $7.98. The manufacturer sold this chambray for 35 cents a yard—$1.40 for four yards.

Other interesting facts were brought out recently when a research executive bought a number of standard items and traced their fabrics back to the mill selling prices.

Almost any textile item examined will reveal the same big spread between the prices of the cotton farmer and cotton manufacturer and the cost to the consumer as that shown in cotton dresses on which figures have been quoted here.

That the cotton farmer and the cotton manufacturer are not making big profits and that their prices have not shot up during the war is evident. The consumer who studies the problem will soon realize that mistakes of the OPA in textile pricing are responsible and that the sooner these mistakes are corrected, the sooner the consumer will be able to buy his cotton apparel and household goods at more reasonable prices.

19,134,000 ESTIMATE 1945 COTTON CROP

The Agricultural department at Washington Wednesday forecast a United States cotton crop for 1945 of 19,134,000 bales of 500 pound gross weight based upon information as of August 1.

This would be 17 per cent or 2,096,000 bales less than 1944 production and 2,159,000 bales less than average production for the 10-year (1934-43) period.

The indicated lint yield per acre of 269.7 pounds is 39 pounds above average and has been exceeded in only three years—1944, 1942 and 1937.

Miss Hundley and Lt. Young Wed In Twilight Ceremony

Miss Helen Jo Hundley, daughter of Clyde E. Hundley, became the bride of Lt. (j. g.) R. B. Young, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Young of Rails, in a twilight ceremony August 2 at the Methodist church.

Organ music was played by Miss Betty Williams who also accompanied Miss Iris Joy Parker as she sang "I Love You" as the prelude to the ceremony.

Rev. Bratcher, Methodist minister from Rails, read the double ring ceremony. White tapers marked alternate pews along each aisle and were arranged in branched candelabra along the altar rail. Mary Ann Hundley, young sister of the bride, and Ann Gates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gates, served as candlelighters and wore white and pink sash and net dressed with floor length ruffled skirts.

A beautiful arrangement of dahlias and gladioli formed an effective background for the altar.

Mrs. Steel of Waco, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Rita Beights of Lorraine, room-mate of the bride at McMurry college, were bridesmaids. Mrs. Steele wore rose colored net and Miss Beights wore pink. Their bouquets were old-fashioned nosegays.

The groom was attended by Wayne Hundley as best man and by Sonny McCrary. Ushers were N. W. Stone Jr. and Bobby Cash.

The bride, escorted by her father who gave her in marriage, wore a white satin gown. The yoke of chiffon was edged with a ruffle. The sleeves were long and fitted and the folds of the full skirt formed a train. Her finger-tip veil fell from a Juliet cap made of net encrusted with seed pearls and edged with starched lace. Tiny clusters of orange blossoms held the veil to the cap. The bridal bouquet was of gardenias and tuberose.

This marriage is a culmination of a college romance the couple having met soon after Helen Jo entered McMurry college. She graduated this past spring as an honor student in all college affairs. She was also a top-ranking graduate from Post High school.

Lt. Young recently returned to the States from 18 months duty in the Pacific area. He entered the service just before the completion of his senior year at McMurry after a fine record as a leader in school activities.

When the couple left on their wedding trip Mrs. Young wore a blue wool suit with brown accessories. Lt. Young has a 30-day leave before re-assignment.

Besides the immediate family of the bride, her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Edwards now living in Clovis, N. M., attended the wedding. Also present were her cousins, Mrs. Groce and Castevens of Lubbock, and Messrs. Mmes. R. J. Hundley and Jim Hundley of Post.

Parents of the bridegroom and a sister-in-law, Mrs. J. P. Young of Levelland, and Mrs. Ada Powell of Rails were also in attendance.

Reception Held In Jim Hundley Home

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hundley were hosts Thursday night to members of the wedding party, family, and friends at a reception at their home.

The nosegays carried by the bridesmaids were used for decorations on the refreshment table. The wedding cake, a triple-tiered confection, was served with punch.

Motion pictures were made of the bride cutting the cake. Many friends called to congratulate to the young couple.

Miss Thelma Cromer, L. D. Speer Marry In Lubbock July 16th

Announcement of the marriage of Miss Thelma Cromer to L. D. Speer on July 16 will be of interest to the Post friends of the former Grade school teacher. The news of the wedding was sent to Mrs. Lefty Davies with whom the bride made her home while living in Post.

The wedding took place in Lubbock on July 16th at 7:20 o'clock in the evening in the home of Rev. Ben D. Johnson, minister of the Tabernacle Baptist church.

Vows were exchanged before an improvised altar decorated with summer flowers and fern. The ring ceremony was used.

The bride wore for her wedding a becoming blue crepe dress with all white accessories. Her only jewelry was a string of lovely Choker pearls and she carried a beautiful white lace bridal handkerchief.

Miss Launa Cromer, her sister, was bridesmaid. She wore a navy and white crepe frock with companion accessories.

Brooks Speer, cousin of the bride-groom, who has just returned home after being liberated from the Germans, served as best man.

A reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Speer was held following the ceremony.

The couple are now at home in Lampoc, California, near Camp Cook where Speer is stationed. The soldier, who is with the Headquarters Detachment, spent several months in the hospital after returning from overseas duty in the Pacific. He expects to be assigned to state-side duty for several months.

Mrs. Speer taught in the school system here for three years and has many friends in Post.

Shower Honoring Bride Given In Williams Home

Miss Hundley, married last Thursday to Lt. Young, was honored the day before when Mrs. Jessie Voss, O. L. Weakley, J. E. Parker, and D. C. Williams were hostesses in the Williams home for a miscellaneous shower.

Calling hours were from 4 till 6 p. m. and a host of friends came to visit with the honoree and view the array of lovely gifts.

A most attractive refreshment table was arranged with an oblong reflector on the burnished table top. A fluted border encircled the reflector on which stood a pair of love birds. Silver candles were used also.

Fruited punch was served. Open sandwiches and cookies were served from a tiered sandwich tray.

Ann Gates read "The Bride at the Grocery Store." The Melody Maids, Anita Kennedy, Sue Bell Beister, El Wanda Davies, La Rue Stevens, and Mary Ann Hundley sang. Misses Hazel Cash and Betty Williams provided the piano music during the afternoon. Miss Pat Morrow presided at the registry table.

Dahlias were the favored flowers, all the members of the house-party wearing dahlia corsages. Mrs. M. K. Young of Rails and Mrs. Steel of Waco were special guests.

Mrs. Tom Gates and daughter, Ann, of Lubbock left Saturday after being here for more than a week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Warren. Mrs. Gates was confined to the house most of her visit, however, with a painful case of eyeritis.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stanley of Grand Falls are here this week visiting Mr. Stanley's mother and friends. Floyd is employed with an oil company.

Mrs. J. L. Mitchell spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Williams of this city. She has been spending the summer with her daughters, Mrs. Tom Ferguson of Rails and Mrs. W. O. Fluit of the Graham community. She is planning to return to her home in San Benito to live with her daughter, Mrs. Emery Wiley.

Alfred Beauchamp, AMMie, of the Naval Air Station at Oltbe, Kansas, and his brother, Wayne Beauchamp who is in civil service work at the same station, are visiting here until the 18th of the month with their mother, Mrs. Lilly Beauchamp and friends.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Teach me that sixty minutes make an hour, sixteen ounces one pound, and one hundred cents one dollar.

Help me to live so that I can lie down at night with a clear conscience without a gun under my pillow and undaunted by the faces of those to whom I have brought pain.

Grant, I beg Thee, that I may earn my meal ticket on the square, and in doing this that I may hand out to others, what I would have them hand out to me.

Close my eyes to the faults of my neighbors, but reveal to me my own.

Plug my ears to the jingle of tainted money, and above all to the rustle of unholy skirts.

Lead me so that each night when I look across the dinner table at my wife, who has been a wonderful blessing to me, I shall have nothing to conceal.

Keep me young enough to laugh with little children and have brains enough to know my place among the old folks.

And then, when the final day, the smell of flowers, the tread of soft steps, and the grinding of the hearse's wheels on the gravel in front of my home, just make the ceremony short and the epitaph simple:

"HERE LIES A MAN"

I believe that, if there were fifty million Masons in the United States, instead of three million, there would be no fear of any invasion of foreign ideas contrary to the spirit of religious and personal freedom of America.

—Thomas E. Dewey

BERLIN, GERMANY — Soundphoto — "Go away girls, you bother us," plainly says the attitude of these money-conscious GI's pictured pointedly ignoring the approach of a couple of German girls back in the days of non-fraternization ban. CRIME CLUES

Can You Name the Victim of This Much Discussed Murder?

Death struck suddenly one spring morning, with one of the best-loved young males of the community as the victim.

All went into deep mourning for their friend, known affectionately as "the early bird," since he gathered food for his family even before the dew was off the ground.

Offers came from friends to make his shroud, even to dig his grave. The funeral procession was the saddest yet, with two members of his immediate family as chief mourners, and another relative singing the funeral dirge.

There was no need to look for the killer; the neighborhood bully boasted of accomplishing the deed—with a bow and arrow! Moreover, one of the deceased's friends had seen the killing committed; another had come upon the scene of the crime while blood still poured from the wound.

Mourners formed a posse to bring the murderer in, and after trial he was hanged by the neck from the highest branch of a cherry tree, his wicked deed becoming a by-word for the entire community.

This sad tale, reviewed by Gerald Mohr, "Toby" in "Crime is My Pastime" on MBS, had to do with:

- 1. Billy the Kid 2. Lucretia Borgia 3. Cock Robin 4. Jack, the Giant-Killer

The Favorite War Story of CECIL BROWN MBS Commentator

WHEN the U. S. First Army moved into Belgium, a group of its signalmen paused one day to admire the spunk of a little puppy. The love of an American boy for a dog prompted these hard-bitten signalmen to make friends with the unknown pup. They named him "Tuffy," and when it was time to move on toward the German frontier, Tuffy went along as mascot.

East they went across Belgium—the First Army and "Tuffy." Days and nights in fox holes, long rides over shell-pocked roads in jeeps, snacks from cans of army rations, fitful but trustful sleep in the arms of American doughboys—such was the life of "Tuffy."

Then came the German break through in the Belgian Bulge. German tanks and infantry came pouring into the American lines. Doughboys fell back. Some hid; among these, one little group of nine, plus "Tuffy," in a handy cellar.

Suddenly heavy footsteps approached. The cellar doors were flung back. The Americans froze to the walls as did "Tuffy." Two Germans peered in.

The Americans exchanged whiffs of mutual joy and relief when the Nazis left. "Tuffy," seeming to sense the elation of the men, could contain himself no longer. He barked!

The strong, slim fingers of an American doughboy closed over "Tuffy's" nose and mouth. When he continued to bark they slipped to "Tuffy's" neck and tightened.

Footsteps came and went. The hours dragged on. Finally, there was silence.

Then, trying hard to be matter-of-fact about it, the nine battle-hardened American soldiers went up the cellar stairs and into the sun to dig a grave for "Tuffy."

Whitie's Cafe Nip Winning Streak For Visitors Sunday

Whitie's Cafe baseball team dropped over into the slugging department Sunday afternoon and won a hard fought ball game from the high tooting Liberty nine by a score 7-2. A home run by Carl Jones in the last half of the ninth inning with R. M. Thomas on base gave the local team the winning score. With the score standing 7-4 in the fifth inning in favor of the visiting team, Travis Gilmore came to the plate and with two men on bases knocked a home run, tying the score and bringing about the greatest uprising of the day. Such batters as these two and Demus Altman who made five trips to the plate and counted for three scores that forced the visitors main pitcher from the mound and call for a new man.

Holland started on the mound for the local team and did a swell job before tiring and being replaced by the local team mound ace, Ed Altman, who gave the visitors nothing better than curves and strikeouts to hold them while his teammates slugged the ball to tie the score and later go ahead to win the wildest and uproaring base ball game played this season on the local diamond.

The defeat was the fourth for the Liberty nine in the last two years and also broke a long winning streak which they had accomplished the last two months.

Line up for the Whitie's Cafe team was R. M. Thomas, 1st; Demus Altman, 2nd; Dud Altman, 3rd; Ed Altman, ss; Dan Altman, cf; Carl Jones, cf; and Durwood Bartlett, lf. Walter B. Holland pitching and his brother, Wade, catching. Subs were Gilmore, Weatherspoon, and Duren.
