Protect Leather
From Mildew In Summer Months

In order to keep leather shoes in shipshape condition, Mary Routh, extension clothing specialist of Texas A. and M. College, advises protective measures during the hot summer months against mildew.

With a little humid weather to get a start, mildew can do quite a bit of damage to a good pair of shoes in the closet, especially if they are on the floor. That brings up the first mildew preventive measure: keep the shoes on high shelves or racks in the closet. Such places are drier and safer against mildew than on the floor or low shoe racks. Because the damp air is heavy, it settles along the floor and makes things easier for mildew.

The heat from an electric light bulb kept burning in the closet will keep the air dry enough to prevent mildew on clothes and shoes. And you can turn the electric fan into the closet to blow the stale, moist air out of the closet.

Chemicals are also handy for taking the moisture out of damp closets. The old stand-by is a jar of calcium chloride. However, calcium chloride can soon "drink" its fill and has to be replaced by another supply. Silica gel crystals, developed during the war, absorb moisture easily, and after a time, can be heated to drive off the moisture and reused again.

And, if you have tried these and find that mildew still gets on your leather shoes when stored in the closet, wash it off right away with a cloth in mild, pure soapuds or saddle soap, and wipe dry. When the leather is thoroughly dry, polish them with a good wax shoe polish, says Miss Routh.

Farm Safety Week

The main purpose of National Farm Safety Week, which will be held July 25-31, is to do away with 30,000,000 farm hazards. This goal can be reached easily if every family will do away with at least one hazard for every member of the family.

Sanctum sanctorum, a Latin expression, means holy of holies.

Texas Farm Bureau To Offer Five-Year
Road Construction Plan To Legislature

The Texas Farm Bureau, admittedly disappointed in the action of the last legislature which failed to recognize the need for farm-to-market roads, has been making a study of the rural road situation and has developed a tentative draft for a sound and workable program. It was reported, as follows, in the July Texas Agriculture, official publication of the bureau:

The plan calls for a permanent road program, with a minimum of 60,000 miles to be constructed during the five-year period, and make provisions for adequately financing the program on a permanent basis.

The five-year plan will make it possible to actually get the program organized and construction of roads underway. Materials and equipment will not be available at once to build an appreciable amount of roads, but at the end of this period there should be available the proper facilities and personnel to continue the building of additional roads and to improve and maintain those already constructed.

To Begin With Surplus

Upon investigation it has been learned that there will be an estimated surplus of between $90,000,000 and $100,000,000 in the state treasury at the end of this year. To finance the rural road program, the Committee's plan would ask for $40,000,000 from the surplus fund in the state treasury the first year to get the program underway, and the state legislature will be asked to pass a natural resources tax to continue the program for the remainder of the five-year period and thereafter. It is estimated that 27,500,000 annually will be required after the first year to continue the program.

Administration

The plan calls for the State Highway Commission to administer the program at the state level. Allocation of funds to counties will be based on one-half rural population and one-half rural road mileage.

The Plan recommends that three types of all-weather roads be built—gravel, caliche and hard surface, with the county courts designated to determine the type of roads best suited to each particular county; also, county courts are to determine the location of roads to be built, with properties given first to school bus routes, and third, population per mile.

Under the State Highway Department's present system of road building, the cost per mile is between $10,000 and $15,000. At this high cost of construction, it will be years before any appreciable amount of all-weather roads can be built. In many counties, gravel and caliche are available and this low-cost type of roads will be practical. Where these materials are available and practical, the county courts will be in a position to expand the road building program in their particular counties. Where gravel and caliche are not recommended, then county courts will have the privilege of determining the type of roads best suited for the area.

Convention

Planning a rural road program involves much research and study. The Farm Bureau's Rural Roads Committee is continuing its work to perfect a plan that will be acceptable to the farmers of the state, and that will be fair and just to the other groups in the State. The plan will be presented to the resolutions committee and to the convention next November for their recommendations and for adoption. By the time the legislature convenes, the committee will have all the facts necessary for a positive road plan to present to the law-making body.

Farm Bureau did not have sufficient membership strength to take the offensive in putting a road program before the state legislature. With 35,000 members on the rolls at this time, and with an anticipated membership of 50,000 by the end of this year, the Farm Bureau will be in a position to carry its road program to the legislature which convenes next January.

Committee On Un-American Activities Publishes Information On Communism

"Communism in the U.S.A., the first of a series on the Communist conspiracy and its influence in this country as a whole on religion, on education, on labor and on government, has been prepared and released by the Committee on Un-American Activities of the U.S. House of Representatives. Here are some excerpts:

"There are 20,000,000 Communists, more or less, in a world of 2,295,125,000 people. In other words, one person in 115 is a Communist, on a world basis.

"About 200,000,000 people are ruled directly and 200,000,000 are ruled indirectly by Communism. An additional 250,000,000 are under daily Communistic pressure to surrender.

"The Communists have plans to seize every country not now controlled or governed by Communism, including the United States.

"In the United States, there are approximately 80,000 Communists out of a population of 145,340,000 people. J. Edgar Hoover has testified that "in 1917 when the Communists overthrew the Russian Government there was one Communist for every 2,277 persons in Russia. In the United States today there is one Communist for every 1,814 persons in the country.

Herein Lies Menace

"What is important is the claim of the Communists themselves that for every Party member there are 10 others ready, willing, and able to do the Party's work. Herein lies the greatest menace of Communism.

"For these are the people who infiltrate and corrupt various spheres of American life.

"What is the Communist Party set-up?

"At the bottom level are 'shop and street units' composed of three or more Communists in a single factory, office or neighborhood.

BE A CAREFUL Pilot!

Yes, fellows (dads, too), it's fun to fly your model planes on control wires. Most of the time your wires are short enough to go under power lines. But if they don't—well, once is enough for a bad accident! The best way is never to fly ANYTHING near any kind of lines. Then you'll be sure you won't tangle with them.

By the way: If you go in for "free flight," your plane may get hung up in the lines or atop a pole some time. Don't try to rescue it yourself. Call your Public Service office for a lineman or serviceman to handle the job. When you're flying model planes, be a careful pilot—always!

Rumor Mill Works Overtime Turning Out Mears Yarn

The rumor mill has been at it again.

Some said it was a Mexican and others claimed it was a negro who shot at Sheriff Nathan Mears last Saturday night or Sunday morning.

There were reports that the Sheriff was badly wounded, but others knew for sure that the shots missed him.

The telephones of the local doctors, newspaper personnel, sheriff's department and others rang off the desks from Sunday morning until Tuesday afternoon. Everyone wanted to know how the sheriff was getting along.

The sheriff? He went to Fluvanna to visit his parents early Sunday morning and didn't return until Monday night. The first he heard of it was when a telephone call from Deputy Bob Reno awakened him from a nap Sunday afternoon.

"I have no idea how the rumor started," Mears told a Post Dispatch reporter Tuesday.

Number Of Positions Announced For Two Agencies Of Texas

The merit System Council, which serves as a "clearing house" for positions in the Texas Employment Commission and the State Department of Public Welfare, will hold open competitive examinations on August 7, for a number of positions now open in both agencies, according to Chas. S. Gardner, director of the Merit System Council.

Positions to be filled by these agencies consist of Field Worker, Child Welfare Worker, Senior Child Welfare Worker, Stenographers, Clerk-Typist, Clerks, and Interviewers. Qualifications for these positions vary from high school graduation to college work and experience requirements.

Gardner pointed out that application to take an examination must be made on an official application blank, which may be obtained by writing the Employment Commission and Department of Public Welfare local offices located throughout the State. "The closing date for submission of applications is July 17, 1948, and applications postmarked after midnight on the closing date will not be considered," he added.

Having a good time in Colorado this week are Mr. and Mrs. Preston Mathis and daughter, Willie Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Floy Richardson and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Richardson and Mrs. L. J. Richardson. The party left here last Friday for Amarillo where they were joined by the Leroy McCrary family on a trip to the McCrarys' cabin in Colorado. They planned to return this weekend.

Ball Game Rained Out Last Sunday At Levelland

The Post-Levelland game at Levelland was halted by rain last Sunday afternoon after one and one-half innings of play, with Post leading, 5 to 3. Five complete innings must be played before a game counts in the league standings.

In a game cut short by rain, Slaton defeated Brownfield Sunday afternoon to remain in the lead in the Oil Belt League pennant chase.

The Littlefield Wildcats gained the runner-up spot by winning over Sundown, 3 to 2, in a game played at Littlefield.

Denver City pulled up to a fourth place tie with Post by defeating Seagraves, 10 to 1, on the Denver City diamond.

Next Sunday's game finds the league-leading Slaton nine playing at home against Post, Brownfield at Denver City, Seagraves at Sundown, and Levelland at Littlefield.

Efforts were being made this morning by Manager George Sartain to play the game off here some night at an early date.

The standings:

American Legion And Garnolia Win Games On Friday

The American Legion softball team took the surprise game of the league when they upset the fast improving Garza Theatre team Friday night by a score of 8 to 7. It was the last of the seventh inning that the Legion scored three runs that ended the game without an out. Another surprise of the night was the Garnolia win over a slow Storie Motor team by a score of 25 to 4.

Postex won a hard game from Garza Theatre Wednesday night of last week when they won by a score of 8 to 6. Jake Sparling, playing right field for the Theatre team, proved to be the hitter of the night after receiving three doubles in four trips to the plate.

With less than a month for the City Softball League to end, each team is trying hard to be one of the two top teams in the playoff in August, so everyone has an invitation to come out to the Postex Park and watch these teams fight for a place in the playoff.

Boys Club To End Season At Fun Program Tonight

An evening packed with exciting thrills is scheduled at the Postex Park tonight, beginning at 8 o'clock, when the Post Boys Club will conclude the summer season with a Fun Night program.

Tickets at $1, ringside; 75 cents, general admission, and 35 cents, per student, may be bought from the Boys Club members or at the gate.

In addition to some exciting bouts by the club members, the program calls for two bouts by four Post negro boys and, possibly, some bouts staged by the Lubbock Boys Club.

Local boxing fans are looking forward to the fight between Don Brown and Jack Schmidt, 14-year-old members, who have fought each other on two other occasions with each winning one bout.

Another feature on the program will be the tussle between Nolan Williams and John Schmidt, 12-year-olds who fought to a draw the night of July 3.

A couple of 10-year-olds, Jackie Odom, and Mack Kemp, whose fight Coach Bingham had to stop because of two bloody noses July 3, also will battle it out tonight.

The youngest boxers on tonight's program are Kenny Poole and Jimmy Minor, both 5 years old, who will slug it out like the big boys do.

Other matches scheduled include: Tommy Malouf, 11, vs. Bernie Welch, 13; Bob Strange, 7, vs. Jerry Windham, 7; Larry Welch, 7, vs. Billy Williams, 7; James Williams, 9, vs. Ross Anthony, 10; Charles Toal, 10, vs. Gary Welch, 9; Jerry Hays, 9, vs. Donald Clary, 9; Larry Sanders, 9, vs. George Graham, 9; James Gibson, 10, vs. Richard Graves, 9.

Today was the final day for the Boys' Club to meet until next summer. The boys have engaged in a variety of sports, including basketball, softball, dodgeball and boxing.

Their program has required that they stay home nights, go to bed early and keep physically clean, in preparation for high school sports in later years. They have played four softball games with members of the Slaton Boys Club, winning three of them.

In basketball, Coach Bingham and one or two of the larger boys have been challenging a team of small boys. On Tuesday afternoon, a Post Dispatch reporter watched the coach and one other boy win three games from a standard team of small boys.

The reporter was impressed with the excellent discipline which the coach had from 50 youngsters. All were kept busy, with several games going at once and all were good natured and cooperative with each other and with the coach.

In the last game, dodgeball, which all the boys played at one time, each boy ran to the shower on being "hit" (eliminated) and by closing time, every boy was dressed and ready to go home.

Flying L Rodeo To Be Attraction At Texas State Fair

Arrangements have been completed to bring the streamlined, fast-paced, star-studded "Flying L" rodeo to the 1948 State Fair of Texas for its grandstand attraction in Dallas, Oct. 9-24.

Governor Roy J. Turner of Oklahoma was a master of ceremonies in the offices of R. L. Thornton, State Fair president, when the contract was signed calling for a "new, modern and different" type of rodeo to be presented at the 63rd annual edition of the "world's greatest state fair."

The "Flying L" is the ranch where Republic Studios filmed Roy Roger's "Home in Oklahoma," and where he and Miss Dale Evaris were married and spent their honeymoon early this year.

U. S. Navy scientists expect soon to be able to produce temperatures within .001 degrees of absolute zero (-459.7 degrees Fahrenheit).

Scripture: St. Luke 12: 16-21

And he spake a parable unto them, saying, The ground of a certain rich man brought forth plentifully: And he thought within himself, saying, What shall I do, because I have no room where to bestow my fruits? And he said, This will I do: I will pull down my barns, and build greater; and there will I bestow all my fruits and my goods. And I will say to my soul, Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink, and be merry. But God said unto him, Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee; then whose shall those things be, which thou hast provided? So is he that layeth up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God.

GETTING OUT On The LIMB

By EDDIE the EDITOR

July Fourth was the first holiday I have had since Al Bird took up with that porpoise, so I entertained myself by accompanying the Mrs., a few friends and my Speedigraphic out to Verbena for the purpose of getting that promised picture and eating up a few fried crappie.

Al had positively assured me that he could get Gertrude (that's the porpoise) to surface in answer to his coyote whistle and, furthermore, he told me that she always surfaced in about the same spot in the tank. This made it easy for me to get the camera in focus before Gertrude came to the surface.

Personally I'm disappointed in that highly publicized coyote whistle. We worked for an hour or more in the broiling sun, and we took turns at blowing the whistle. The whistle not only failed to produce Gertrude but it also failed to bring up a single dog except Al's faithful, Bob, which was there, anyway.

After we gave up on Gertrude, I tried my hand at fishing. It had rained pretty hard that morning and the water was murky. After several hours I caught two little crappies that wouldn't have passed the censorship of a game warden.

We had a big fish fry, however, with loads of fish which Al claimed he caught in the tank that morning. Julius Fumagalli and Charlie Bird had dressed them and Al's wife had whipped up a bunch of salads, etc., to eat with them. I wonder if Al bought those fish from Pete Kennedy down here at the Kash and Karry?

We had a wonderful time, despite the disappointments mentioned above. While our hosts were frying the fish, in a big black washpot back of the barn, a few of us went swimming in Al's new swimming pool and you should have seen the lily white skins beneath the collarlines of us city folk as compared with Bill Fumagalli and the beautifully suntanned Mary K. Beach of California—that's Al's daughter.

Bill—who is training to be a polo player at NMMI—had thrilled us earlier in the afternoon with a demonstration on his polo pony. Now he was diving off the windmill tower into the pool, and doing a beautiful job of it. We must have watched him too long, because those lily white skins turned ruby red and stayed that way for a week.

James Hill, the Post Dispatch typesetter, took the worst beating on the sunburn. He couldn't wear a shirt for three days. And my editorial dome was so blistered and sore I wasn't able to part it with a towel.

Had a nice visit with Mama Beulah K. who came riding by on her horse for a short rest from rounding up her cattle for shipping that night. We detained her so long, some of the boys had to go help her finish the job as it was almost time for the trucks to show up.

One of the things I enjoyed most about the trip was playing with the well-behaved children. I got a huge kick out of throwing Mary K.'s small son, P. A., around in the swimming pool. Mary K.'s cute baby had tonsillitis that day and wouldn't have much to do with me, but I really made a hit with Charlie's little girls, Beverly and Margo.

I think I'll keep visiting the Verbena folk, and maybe one of these days I'll get a picture of Gertrude.

The lazy season is on and I

ROGER W. BABSON WRITES THIS WEEK:

Business Will Continue Good During Rest Of Year

New York City, — Business prospects for the second half of 1948 are now forecast as follows:

Optimism, tempered by selectivity. The second half of 1948, I predict will be better than most businessmen expected and be almost as good as the fabulous first half.

I wish to stress strongly, however, that selectivity will become of ever-increasing importance. Some industries, such as the cotton textiles, face the possibility of a sharp shake-out. Others, such as building, can expect record completions, but a slump in new contracts. Automobiles, steel, petroleum, electric power, food manufacturing, and mining may beat all previous records. Near-record crop turn-outs should stimulate the railroads and business in general; but tire makers, paper manufacturers, and cement producers may drag.

Automobile Outlook
The most magnificent performance for the last half will be by the passenger car builders. With labor, management and material suppliers now pulling together, I predict that the auto passenger car output will be better than most expect due to: (1) A decline in truck demand. (2) A tapering off of the steel needs of other than auto makers. (3) A gradual expansion in productive capacity of the steel industry itself.

Petroleum, electric power, coal operators and food manufacturers will continue to provide a powerful support to the general level of business. Furthermore, those industries where a decline is expected are by no means candidates for a sharp slump,—with the possible exception of cotton textiles.

What About Building?
Building construction to be completed may be sky-high compared with the first six months of 1948, but I am predicting that new building contracts will suffer more than their usual seasonal decline. Likewise, our railroads will be held at a high rate of operations until after the October crop peak,—at which time I expect a more than seasonal recession in traffic.

There is a possibility that the textile industry will witness a sharp recession. The cotton surplus promises to cause uncertainty in the price of this important fiber. Such a situation may induce a suspension of buying during the transition from the old crop prices to the new fiber questions. Hold off before stocking up with shirts, sheets or most cotton goods.

Miscellaneous Forecasts
Apparel and other merchandise buyers have been flocking here into New York City in unprecedented numbers—anticipating good fall retail business. Actual buying, however, is not yet heavy.
Summer resort business will be good generally. But, aside from that, free-and-easy spending is less. More liquor price-wars, at retail, are said to be ahead, although I am not an authority on this business.

Motion-picture industry sees cloudy weather ahead, partly because of court orders to "divorce" theatre producers from theatre ownership.

Men's clothing volume has been "off," although leading brand-name manufacturers have their output for fall well committed. Men's shoe industry is bad and you will soon see interesting markdown sales.

Meat prices are unlikely to drop much. A big corn crop, however, should result in some shading-off of prices on meats and poultry. Better buy fish and other canned goods now. This especially applies to canned peas, citrus fruits, other vegetables and fruits. Buy your groceries.

The oil industry, mindful of fuel oil shortages last winter, is moving toward voluntary rationing. Sufficient supply next winter are probable, but off and defense needs are vital. But better order your coal or oil—now.

Complaints by small businesses of difficulty in obtaining loans should lead Congress to provide some kind of relief. Lowering tax exemption of corporate profits up to $25,000 and other depreciation reserves.

Garza and the World

Editor's Note—Opinions expressed here are those of the author, and they do not necessarily reflect the opinions or policies of the Post Dispatch. The column is carried in the interest of applying world news to the situation here at home.

By EVELYN BOYD
Some screwball name of L. A. Stewart, 6239 Reiger Avenue, Dallas, Texas, sent the Post Dispatch (and probably all the other newspapers in the state) a copy of a letter which he wrote to James P. Hart, the extremely capable man who is running to keep his position as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas.

In the first paragraph Mr. Stewart questions the qualifications of the man who has already proved his ability in the job for which he is seeking election. He says:

"Recently, the question has been widely raised as to your failure to serve your country in the Armed Forces in the last World War. Your age being within draft limits and your being desirous of serving your country there are many people interested in why you did not take advantage of the splendid opportunity of serving your country in time of war."

The letter went on to say that Mr. Stewart believed that Hart's opponent, John A. Rawlings, was more qualified because his public service began as a buck private in a combat division in World War I. It also said that 800,000 Texas veterans are interested in knowing the circumstances that permitted Mr. Hart am thoroughly enjoying it. We're closing up the office every afternoon at 5 o'clock and—for the first time in a year—I have time to gossip with my friends, dream about goin' fishin' some more and even toying with the idea of taking a real vacation somewhere—like Idaho. I'd like to go skiing up there when I go and so I may wait until the skiing season starts.

Several people have been asking us about the yard beautification contest and so I spoke to one of the chamber of commerce officials about it. He said the contest is on and that everybody is entered. Later in the summer, the yards will be judged for the progress that has been made in the general beauty of the premises and the prizes will be awarded. Those who don't want to be entered will have an opportunity of dropping out of the contest by failing to fill out the entry blanks which will be available at some time during the not too distant future.

The iron lung saved another baby's life last Thursday night. We heard the fire sirens and finally asked the operator where the fire was and she told us about the baby. One of my guests said: "You know, the firemen are the most important civic workers in Post."

THE WOMEN. God love 'em: They claim they don't have a strong sense of intuition, but how is it that they know long before a man does, what he is going to do?

to avoid serving his country in time of its greatest need and what now qualifies him to seek public honor at this time.

Of all the campaign tripe that has reached my desk in recent weeks—and there have been stacks of it—this is the worst I have tried to read.

I doubt seriously that Mr. Stewart himself was ever in the armed forces. Had he ever served as buck private or in any other rank, he would have known that the ranks were filled with every imaginable type of human being that happened to be within the draft age and able to pass the physical requirement.

The army, like the civilian world, gets its percentage of misfits, crooks, problem children, near morons, etc., along with the extremely capable people. Anybody who has ever lived in an army camp knows this and he also knows that not all of the near-morons were buck privates. I've heard that some of them were second lieutenants.

Are these types mentioned above eligible to run for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas merely because they were within the draft age limit and got caught and had to serve in the armed forces?

I don't know why Justice Hart didn't serve in the Armed Forces and I don't care. I suspect he was too old, because when he addressed the South Plains Bar Association here last winter I observed that he is approximately my husband's age. My husband's age kept him out of the draft.

I don't know Hart's opponent, Mr. Rawlings, and I don't want to know anything about him because I am well satisfied with Justice Hart's record since he was appointed Associate Justice and I believe in encouraging a man as brilliant, as fair and as capable as he proved himself to be during his visit here last year. It is quite possible that Mr. Rawlings has qualifications, other than having been a buck private in the army—but why take a chance on a man we don't know when we KNOW that Hart can adequately—even superbly—fill the bill?

I had four nephews, a niece and a step-nephew eligible for service during the last war. Five of this group gladly served and one gave his life for his country. The sixth was rejected because he couldn't pass the physical. This is typical of most big families.

Would that sixth boy be any less qualified to sit on a judge's bench than the five who served?

I don't see any difference between serving one's country in combat and serving one's country here at home. All the respectable people I know did some kind of war work. Somebody had to stay here and do the work. Somebody had to serve as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas while our boys were overseas, because while our boys were fighting, the crime rate in the states was mounting at a rapid rate. We needed capable justices on the Supreme Court and we needed capable lawyers and judges, in the lower brackets.

Hart was not appointed to his post until after the war, but you can bet your bottom dollar that he was capably serving his country here at home, in a tim-

What Our Contemporaries Are Saying:

FOR NEWCOMERS—Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public, representing the citizenry of Mitchell county, take pleasure in welcoming the newcomer and his family into the community, according to Jasper Wood, president of the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce, in announcing plans for the big get-together at Ruddick Park. Old timers will play host to newcomers with a basket picnic lunch.

Lunch will be spread about 7:45 and from then until 8:15 every effort will be made to get acquainted with the new families. L. A. Chapman, manager of the local organization sponsoring the event, says 100 or more hosts are needed. More than 200 new families are registered with the Chamber of Commerce and only 100 hosts have been registered. Plans call for the oldtimer to serve lunch to a new family. If you have not registered, please call 404 and give full information to the committees in charge.

Sandwiches, fried chicken or any when we were having more crime than the state had ever seen.

I'm for the veterans, but even the thinking veteran knows that war service doesn't qualify any and every soldier for any and every task.

Let's quit picking our candidates because they "need" the job. Let's pick them for what we KNOW they can do. There's generally a good reason why a fellow "needs" a job; particularly in times like these, because qualified workers are greatly in demand. Let's pick our political candidates like the merchants select their employees, from a business point of view.

It's time our government paid more strict attention to business methods and quit wasting my tax money. Ask any veteran about the waste that he saw while serving his country, and he will agree on this point.

Let's pick sound business men for the political jobs. If you are in doubt about Hart's qualifications, ask any lawyer on the South Plains. They all met him personally during his visit here and they will agree that he is the man for the job. They know him as a successful business man who is making a capable Associate Justice.

COSTS OF WETBACKS—Wetbacks are costing Uncle Sam a lot in board and lodging. These are, of course, the thousands of Mexican nationals who wade or swim the Rio Grande each year to enter this country illegally. In most cases they are picked up promptly by our immigration authorities but can not be deported until their trials come up in due course on federal dockets. In the meantime, the wetbacks are lodged in our best jails and fed our best prison fare, with the Federal Government footing the bill.

Judge J. C. Hutcheson of the Federal Circuit Court at New Orleans wants to ease the drain on Uncle Sam's pocket book. He knows there is not much chance of discouraging aliens from trying to get into the United States, especially when wages in dollars are high on the Texas side of the river and it looks so easy to get across in dry season. But the jurist thinks the period in which these uninvited guests stay in our jails can be cut sharply. He would have United States Commissioners conduct prompt trial, more or less on the spot, with their findings and sentences to be passed on by district courts. He knows such a system will work because he used it successfully for a number of years when he was a federal district judge at Houston. It may be necessary to ask Congress to amend a law to put the Hutcheson plan into effect; if so, the sooner the better.—Dallas News.

EXPORT TAX ILLEGAL—We see that some candidates for public office assure voters that when they are elected that Texas will no longer permit its natural resources to go out of the state without adequate taxation. So what? They would impose a huge export duty on our gas and oil! Yes, and Michigan would impose an export duty on cars; New York on manufactured goods; tobacco growing states, on their exports; etc., etc. The legislature found out 20 years ago that such export tax was illegal. But that does not keep the politicians from raising a howl about gas and oil being shipped out.—Canyon News.

Save Milk WHILE RAISING BIG CALVES WITH DAIRY QUALITY

Why waste money feeding milk to calves? You can cut out 85% of the milk usually fed and give them Purina Calf Startena at about one-half the cost.

What's more, you'll grow good dairy calves on Calf Startena: big and loose hided, with strong bones and rapped frame... the kind that will make you a real milk cow for a replacement in your herd.

Why not call us and order some Calf Startena, today? Every bag releases 4 cans of milk for you to sell.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Range Management

Much of the land on earth is grazing land, yet it is among the most neglected resources in the world. There are 1,300,000 acres of pasture land in the Duck Creek Soil Conservation District. Abundant continuous growing plants and plentiful humus are a means of which to build up this resource.

Deferred Grazing

Deferred grazing at the right time will help bring about better pastures. In order for grass and forage to grow it must have moisture, plant food and sunlight. With this combination a stand of grass must be protected during its early growth period to maintain and increase the density of the stand, and help increase the vigor of the plant.

Grazing a pasture too early in the growing season reduces the yield of forage. This reduction would be gradual, with the disappearance of a few choice variety of feed plants. Also causing denuding of small areas of soil, non-edible plants coming in and replacement of long-lived plants with plants with shorter lives. A pasture in this condition soon loses all moisture falling on it in rapid runoff of rain and erosion of the soil.

Benefits By Regulated Harvest
Some benefits of regulated harvesting of grass by deferred grazing are:

1. The feed can grow up uniformly over the entire pasture.
2. Allows a wider variety of feed because the good feeds have not been eaten first.

3. Plants will be more vigorous, taller, easier to crop.

4. Feed will be more nourishing and less watery, bringing about better gains in weight.

5. Feed can be cured for winter or for drouth periods.

6. Livestock will do less traveling over the pasture in search of food if grass is given time to develop in size and height.

BAKER FUNERAL RITES—

Fletcher Keeton, M. K. Bingham, W. A. Gray, M. J. Malouf, Harold Voss and Homer McCrary.

She is survived by five children, Mrs. Dietrich and Mrs. B. E. Young and John Wesley Baker of Minneapolis, Minn., and Roy J. and Lew B. Baker; nine grandchildren, Bob Dietrich of Andrews, James Dietrich, Helen Hopper of Alvarado, Marjorie and Jackie Baker of Minneapolis, Harvey Porter of Childress, Harriet McBride and Gene and Beverly Young; four great grandchildren, and a sister, Mrs. Charles Weaver of Blossburg, Pa. A daughter, Harriet Baker Porter, died in 1929. All members of her immediate family were here for the funeral except the John Wesley Baker family and Harvey Porter.

Housewives Prefer Quality And Size Over Potato Price

A recent USDA survey shows that with housewives who know potatoes best, it's quality 12 to 1, says Myrtle Murray, extension home marketing specialist of Texas A. and M. College.

The survey, conducted by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics under the Research and Marketing Act, took a cross-section sample of housewives in towns of 2,500 population and over. Texas was one of the 26 states covered in this survey and Texas women from Shamrock, San Antonio, Lubbock and Galveston made up part of the 3,500 women in the nation that were interviewed. These homemakers were asked about their preference in potatoes. Their answers showed that, 12 to 1, they considered quality more important than either size or price.

And when it came to size and price, they placed size above price three to one. Southern housewives were just a little more interested in price than those in the North.

It's The Law

If your prescription says "Take This To Jones Pharmacy in Kalamazoo, Michigan," then see us before you leave. That piece of paper that the Doctor hands you, is your prescription to have filled where you want to, and is nobody's property but yours. It continues to be yours down through the years and belongs to nobody but you. The druggist doesn't own it, he merely keeps it for you, and will give you a copy at any time. There is one and only one exception to this rule. If your prescription contains a narcotic then that prescription belongs to the druggist and no copy can be obtained, because you must have a new prescription from your Doctor to have it filled again. If you obtain a prescription in another town, give your home town druggist a chance to fill it for you. He has established his home here in your city in order to care for you and your family and to supply you with your drug needs. Naturally your druggist can't possibly hope to have every drug in stock that every doctor in the United States uses, but at least give your home town druggist a chance to get it for you. All we ask is the chance to serve you, and if we fail, then let's both go to the big city to have them filled.

Teacher Shortage Not So Acute Now

The teacher shortage is not as acute as it was last year, in Garza County at least. Post Supt. G. R. Day said early this week that, unless some unexpected resignations occur, all the teaching jobs in the local schools are filled.

All, with the possible exception of one, are filled in the rural schools, County Supt. Dean Robinson said Tuesday.

The Post Independent School Board, at a regular meeting Monday night, elected Miss Betty Jane Travis to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Mrs. Joe Norton on the grade school faculty. Miss Travis, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Travis, is a 1948 graduate of Abilene Christian College.

Gloria Day left Saturday for Waco to visit her father who is seriously ill.

Mrs. A. R. Mills and daughter, Betty, are visiting in Ft. Worth. Julia and Frank Smith returned home Friday after a visit in Colorado City and Sweetwater. Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wright and daughter, Greta, of Los Angeles, are visiting her brother, John Leake, and family in Southland.

Athlete's Foot Is Often Caused By Chafing Shoes

"Few, if any, people have escaped the inconvenience and the annoyance of athlete's foot. It is said to be the third most common skin disease of the summer, and, contrary to popular opinion, the fifth most prevalent disorder in the winter."

So says Dr. George W. Cox of Austin, state health officer, in a recent press release. Dr. Cox explains that athlete's foot is due to a small mold-like growth of fungus which thrives on moist, warm parts of the body such as the feet.

"The infection of athlete's foot is usually gotten directly or indirectly from someone else," Dr. Cox says, cautioning that the most likely places to contract the infection are around bath houses, locker rooms, and other public places where people go barefoot.

"It is probable that at least one-half of all adults suffer from the infection at some time." In suggesting some effective measures to be taken to prevent initial cases and avoid recurrent attacks of the disease, Dr. Cox emphasized drying carefully between the toes; use of a mild alcoholic solution on these areas after drying; liberal applications of talcum powder in the socks and shoes; and wearing socks that are absorbent but not coarse.

"Ill fitting shoes are often the source of athlete's foot. Dr. Cox warns, 'Shoes that rub and chafe should be corrected or discarded.'"

Does A Texas Cow Eat More Than A New York Bossy Who Grazes 90 Pounds A Day? Farmers Urged To Cooperate With ACP Requirements

Ever follow a cow all day to find out the what, when and why of the walking milk factory?

No? Well, according to the Lubbock Morning Avalanche, the boys up at Cornell University recently did just that with a herd, despite the intrusion into the private life of Bossy who nonchalantly took the checkup in stride and without protest. The Avalanche reported:

These intruders found, for instance, that Bossy takes 50 to 70 bites of grass per minute while grazing, that she chews her cud seven hours a day and spends 12 hours lying down, and in that 12 hours of lying she gets up nine times.

That, we presume, was a contented cow.

Maybe it makes no difference to you whether Bossy takes 20 or 160 bites a minute, but the why and when Bossy does things, and the things she does, are of much interest to the dairy operator who is responsible for your principal calcium food.

You had probably always thought, if it mattered to you, as we had, that a cow would graze until she was full, then would lie down and chew her cud. If, for instance, she was in lush pasture of grass and clover, she would eat her fill in an hour or two, but if in a poor pasture might have to hustle all day.

But the boys at Cornell did not find that true. Cows in the herd under test grazed an average of seven and a half hours a day, whether on lush or poor pasture, then lay down for a rest.

How About This?

Remember, though, those were New York cows, and cows in big Texas, where a Texan will modestly admit everything grows and does bigger things, might show up a little different.

Maybe, for instance, a Texas cow would eat more than the 125 pounds of grass eaten by the Cornell cow during her seven and a half hours spent on lush pasture. Maybe she would beat the Cornell cow which on average pasture ate 90 pounds during the day's grazing, or one on short pasture that managed to gather only 45 pounds.

Unsatisfied Appetite Possible Either bracket sounds like lots of green stuff to pack around. No wonder Bossy has to lie down to rest.

But that's not all. Cornell's average Bossy traveled four miles during her day of grazing—two and a half miles in daytime, and a mile and a half at night. She spent 60 per cent of her grazing time in daylight, and 40 per cent at night.

What about Bossy's water boy?

He would be plenty busy if he kept Bossy supplied by hand. She drinks ten times a day if it's handy, but the Cornell boys did not say how much water Bossy consumed in a day's time.

They did find that she chews her cud seven hours a day, almost equivalent of the time spent grazing.

It was not made clear what Bossy does with the nine-and-a-half-hour balance of the day after spending seven and a half hours rustling for grass, and another seven hours lying down chewing up what she found.

It seems that the principal lesson for the dairyman to come out of the tests is that if a cow lies down and chews her cud, it does not necessarily follow that her appetite is satisfied. She is getting along on what she managed to find while grazing, whether it is 125 pounds on good pasture or only 45 pounds on short grass.

And the process of a cow getting along has much to do with what she produces to go into bottles that eventually reach city kitchens.

Farmers of Garza County who are cooperating in the Agricultural Conservation Program are urged to follow through on their indicated intentions to carry out conservation practices—and actually complete the practices.

Will Wright, chairman of the County ACP Committee, says that every year some farmers fail to complete or fail to meet specifications in the practice to carry out.

Mr. Wright explains that the county committee has the responsibility of seeing that funds used to assist farmers in carrying out conservation practices are used to obtain the maximum of soil and water conservation. Assistance is given to help a farmer build a terrace system only when the system meets specific requirements. The same is true of other practices.

Some farmers failed to qualify for assistance because they didn't understand what was required. The committee doesn't want any farmer to carry out practices and then find that assistance cannot be given because the practices fail to meet specifications.

Farmers also are reminded of their responsibility in furnishing acceptable evidence of conservation practices carried out. Measurements, price slips, analysis tags, or whatever is required should be obtained at the time the material is purchased or the practice carried out. A little attention to these matters now, said the county chairman, will save time and money later on, and only in this way can the nation be assured of maximum conservation.

A REPORT TO OUR CUSTOMERS . . .

WHAT WE ARE DOING TO INCREASE OUR GAS PIPE LINE CAPACITY

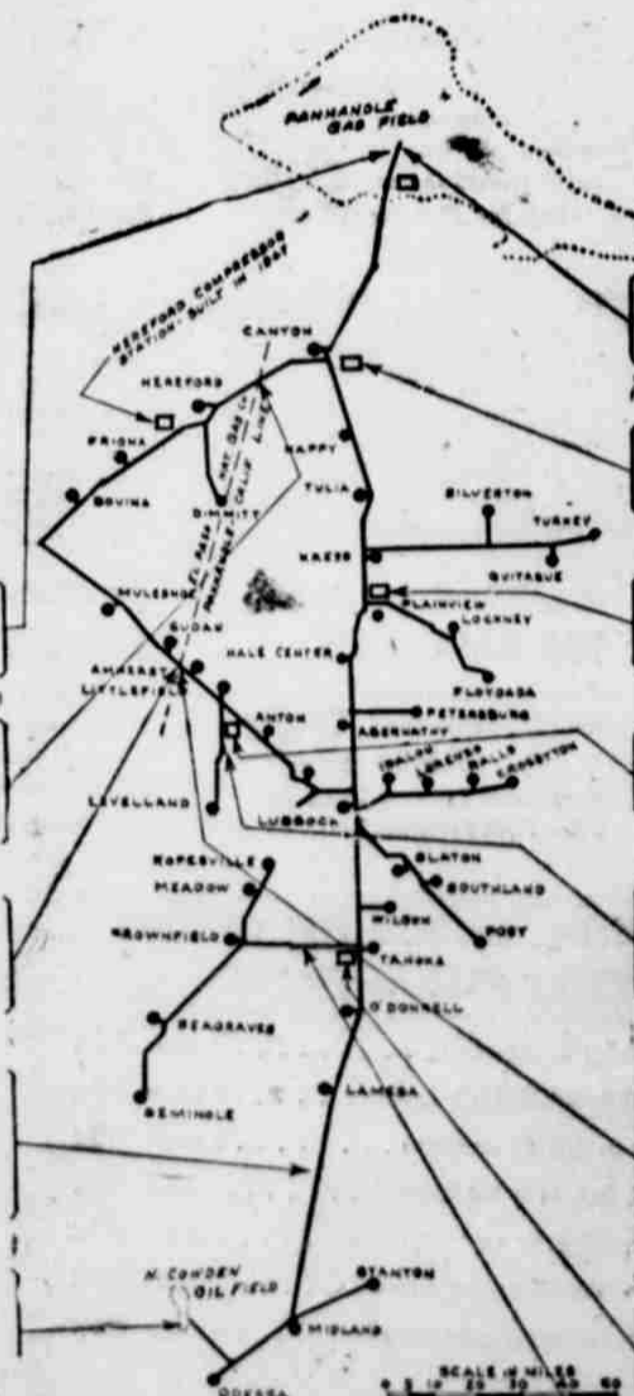

TWO NEW SOURCES OF SUPPLY ARRANGED

We have signed an agreement with El Paso Natural Gas Company to purchase gas from that company at two points. Barring unforeseen contingencies, this gas, which will benefit all towns on our system, will be available by November 1, 1948

Thus, by next winter, we will be receiving natural gas from FIVE sources, as follows:

1. From Panhandle Gas Field, through our own transmission lines.
2. From El Paso Natural Gas Company line at point of intersection with our line near Hereford.
3. From El Paso Natural Gas Company line at point of intersection with our line near Amherst.
4. At a point 25 miles south of Lamesa, from Empire Southern Gas Company, whose line from Andrews County to Big Spring intersects our line there.
5. From Cities Service Oil Company's Compressor Station in North Cowden Field, Ector County.

We are conducting investigations and studies which may result in our tapping still more sources of supply.

NEW FACILITIES TO BE INSTALLED ON PIPE LINE SYSTEM

Here are the new facilities expected to be installed before next winter, with estimated month of completion:

1. Near Turkey Creek Compressor Station will be installed a 300 hp. booster compressor. (September.) Main plant is 2350 hp.
2. At McSpadden Compressor Station, three more 400 hp. compressors, increasing capacity to 2850 hp. (July.)
3. At Plainview Compressor Station, one more 300 hp. compressor, increasing capacity to 2400 hp. (December.)
4. At Littlefield Compressor Station, one 330 hp. compressor, to increase capacity to 330 hp. (August.)
5. Between Littlefield Compressor Station and Whitharral, nine miles of 6 1/2-inch pipe will replace 3 1/2-inch pipe. (4.4 miles June; remainder when pipe now on order received.)
6. From Littlefield to point of intersection with new El Paso Natural Gas Company line, ten and one-half miles of 8 1/2-inch pipe will replace 4 1/2-inch pipe. (Pipe expected July; will be installed soon as received.)
7. At Tahoka Compressor Station, one 300 hp. compressor, to increase capacity to 780 hp. (September.)
8. Between Tahoka and Brownfield, ten miles of 6 1/2-inch pipe will replace 4 1/2-inch pipe. (Pipe on order; will be installed soon as received.)

Four-H Raisers Of Poultry Solving Higher Feed Costs

Higher feed costs is another challenge to successful poultry raising, but 4-H Club members taking part in the project are meeting this problem by good care of flock and the keeping of quality producing birds.

One major objective of the 4-Hers taking part in the 1948 National 4-H Poultry Achievement program is to find the place of poultry in the economy of the general farm. To do this, they study scientific developments in poultry production and demonstrate the application of new findings to their own poultry flocks.

Questions And Answers About Selective Service Offered As Guide To Young Men

As a guide to those men who might be drafted under the Selective Service Act recently passed by Congress, the Post Dispatch is presenting the following questions and answers which was worked out by the Liberty Vindicator in cooperation with the U.S. Army and U.S. Air Force Recruiting Office in Liberty:

Q.—Are selectees going to be trained separately or are they going to be mixed together with the regular outfits?

A.—Selectees will not be trained separately but will be trained with and in the same manner as volunteers.

Q.—How long will men be trained before they are sent overseas?

A.—It is anticipated that no enlisted personnel will be sent overseas without having a minimum of eight weeks basic training.

Q.—How will selectees be allocated to Army, Navy and Air Force?

A.—Through the Selective Service.

TO THE PEOPLE OF GARZA COUNTY:

With the Democratic Primary Election of July 24, 1948, just around the corner, I am taking this means to again remind you that I am in the race for Sheriff, tax assessor and collector.

Since making my first announcement, I have tried to reach as many of you as possible by personal contact without making a house to house canvass. The most of you know that I am not much for electioneering, as I just take it for granted that "you do or you don't, you will or you won't." And that's your privilege, the true spirit of Democracy.

But I do want to say here to each one of you: I shall be most happy over every vote cast for me. Please accept this as my personal request for your vote and influence, in event I have been unable to personally contact you.

Should I be chosen as sheriff, I shall do my best to prove myself worthy of the confidence placed in me by the people of Garza County. I have been here a long time and have you all, both young and old, in the interest of my heart, and it always has been my desire to live for the service of my people. I feel that my previous experience in the office and my understanding of the problems involved will help me to serve you in a creditable manner.

With grateful appreciation for all your consideration, I am your humble servant and friend.

vice system.

Q.—Will Army draftees be able to transfer to the Air Force or Navy if they want to?

A.—No and vice versa.

Q.—Will training be modern?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Will the selectee have a chance for promotion?

A.—He will have an excellent chance for promotion as well as advancement and education. Many schools and training courses are now offered to further his chances of promotion.

Q.—Why can't the Army get enough volunteer enlistments?

A.—The competition with the other services and with civilian life is too keen.

Q.—Will selectees have any freedom in choosing their branch of service, their jobs, their place of assignment?

A.—To only a limited degree. Every effort will be made to place the selectee in the job and assignment for which he is best suited. Service requirements must govern.

Q.—What kind of life will the selectee lead?

A.—He will lead a normal, wholesome, busy and active life, though more carefully planned and supervised than he ever imagined with a view to making him a trained and efficient soldier and a better citizen.

Q.—Will he be stationed near home?

A.—Personnel will be afforded the minimum amount of travel consistent with the capacity of training division and/or trained personnel becoming available with adjacent states. However, upon completion of basic training, he will become available for Army-wide assignment and will be assigned to the Army area where the greatest need for his service exists.

Q.—Will he have to render service overseas?

A.—Personnel inducted under Selective Service will be available for world-wide assignment. This does not apply to the 18-year-old volunteers.

Q.—Will he get good medical care and food?

A.—Adequate medical care and hospital accommodations will be provided. The American soldier has always been the best fed in the world.

Q.—What about his disrupted education?

A.—He may continue his formal studies in off-duty time. There will be educational courses available to him which will fit directly into his educational plans for the future and which are, in general, accredited by civilian educational institutions.

Q.—Will selectees be entitled to veterans benefits as the GI Bill provided World War II veterans?

A.—The GI Bill does not apply to those entering the Army after July 25, 1947, under present legislation. Very liberal reemployment benefits will be made to the selectee after his term of service.

Santa Fe Indian Village

CHICAGO RAILROAD FAIR

You'll think you are really on an Indian reservation in the Southwest—when you visit the Santa Fe Village at the Chicago Railroad Fair this summer (opening July 20).

You'll see Navajos, Apaches, Hopis, Zunis, San Juans and Jemez—125 colorful Indians living in pueblos, hogans and wickiups. You'll watch ceremonial dances seldom seen away from the reservations, and see Medicine Men make their famous sand paintings and destroy them every day at sundown.

Indian craftsmen weave rugs, make moccasins, baskets and jewelry. In fact, in the Village you actually see a faithful portrayal of costumes, ceremonies and living quarters of Southwestern tribes. Their way of life today is noticeably unchanged from that of their ancestors who inhabited the Southwest years before Columbus discovered America.

Ralph Brock

Solicits Your Vote
for

State Senator

30th Senatorial District of Texas

BROCK IS DEPENDABLE—He has been active in worthwhile community activities, civic projects and church work. He is a teacher of a large Bible class and a member of the Board of Stewards of the First Methodist Church in Lubbock, and has been for many years. Those who know Ralph Brock know they can depend on him.

BROCK BELIEVES in re-districting local control of underground water, adequate support of teachers salaries, schools, colleges, Elementary Institutions, old age assistance, farm to market roads and soil conservation.

RALPH BROCK SAYS:
"I believe that your senator should be a fighting Senator. Although the legislative process sometimes makes it necessary to trade and to compromise, I will never trade your vote in the Senate for personal gain, nor will I compromise against sound principles, good morals or the interests of those who have by their faith in me, elevated me to this high and important office. But, when all honorable efforts at compromise have failed to bring about a fair result for our district and the battle line is drawn, I believe that your Senator should have the ability and the courage to stand on the floor of the Senate and with vigor and with fire prosecute and defend the rights of the people he represents.

"To all counties, big and little, I pledge fair and equal representation. I was reared in Crosby, Dickens and Lubbock Counties; I have lived and worked with the farmers, ranchers, laborers, white collar workers, public officials and the business and professional men. It is with the feeling that my background, experience and ambition for public service suits me for this office that I earnestly seek to be your STATE SENATOR.
