School Districts To Hold Election All Day Saturday

Saturday is the day to vote on the proposal to consolidate the Barnum Springs, Cross Roads and Hartford Common School Districts with the Post Independent School District.

Voters in the Post Independent District will vote in the City Hall. Those living in the three rural districts will vote at their respective schools.

The election was called by County Judge J. Lee Bowen after receiving petitions from residents of the four districts asking for such an election.

Signers of the petitions and the Post School Board are agreed that the proposed consolidation will be of mutual benefit to all four districts.

Grade school students from the three rural districts have been attending schools in Post. Because of the increased cost of school operation the Post school no longer can take the children from those districts unless the consolidation is voted, Post Supt. G. R. Day explained to the Post Dispatch editor.

Estimated 560 To Register In Post

Five hundred sixty Garza County young men between the ages of 18 and 25 years are due to register here with the draft board between August 30 and September 18, according to estimates by the state draft director, Major General K. L. Berry of the State Selective Service Headquarters in Austin.

General Berry predicts that approximately 561,331 Texas youths of the draft ages will sign up during that period. Individual county estimates range from heavily populated Harris County's 50,400 registrants to sparsely populated Loving County's 22 registrants.

POST FOLKS AT WORK:

New REA Line Approved For Garza Farm Areas

Congressman George Mahon recently informed the Midwest Electric Cooperative of Roby by wire that "REA advises approval of $185,000 loan for 136 miles new lines and electric service. New lines in our district will be: Garza, 6; Borden, 9; Scurry, 45; and Stonewall, 2 miles." A copy of the telegram was sent to the Post Dispatch.

"To farmers who make full use of electricity, every season is killowatt season," say rural electrification specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. "The farmer who uses electricity has a full length start in the race with time and the elements in haying, harvesting, threshing of small grains, cotton picking, and the storing of these crops."

W. S. Allen and W. L. Ulich, extension agricultural engineers of Texas A. and M. College point out ways in which electricity can be of help to Texas farmers. Take haying, for example. A farmer can equip his barn with a hay drier and snap his fingers at the weather. In parts of Texas, the specialists point out, hay is cured direct from the fields with little or no loss of the valuable leaves. Better feed is obtained with properly designed

Crops Suffer From Lack Of Moisture

Cotton crops on the Garza plains, particularly in the Close City, Pleasant Valley and Southland regions, took a beating lately from the dry weather man. Crops below the Caprock were in better shape, County Agricultural Agent Robert Gibson said this week.

Grain crops all over the county are suffering seriously from thirst, he said.

Millers MIGHT Rate Shaughnessy Honors After All

If the Post Millers win their next three Oil Belt League games and Denver City loses one more league game, the locals will have a chance to participate in the Shaughnessy Play-off.

The Millers and Denver City were tied for fourth place when they met here for a make-up game Saturday afternoon. The locals lost, 8-7.

The Millers wrote up a 9-0 forfeit victory Sunday when Seagraves failed to show up.

A double header between the locals and Levelland at Levelland on Sunday and a game with Slaton August 29 will furnish the Millers' Oil Belt schedule.

Out On Bond Negro Gets Back In Jail

A local negro man was puzzled this week as to his status with the law.

Arrested for carrying a pistol, he made bond and was released from jail.

While out of jail on bond, he again was arrested on a charge of drunkenness. Tuesday he was back in jail.

The Sheriff's Department arrested three other men on drunkenness charges during the past week.

In addition, seven men were arrested for traffic violations, one for fighting, one for possession of beer for purpose of sale and one for assault and battery.

Hunting Is Good In Garza County

Three Garza County men, Edd Cummings, Charlie Scott and Elmer Hitt, have enjoyed great sport hunting in their own neighborhood.

In the canyons east of Pleasant Valley last Thursday afternoon they saw seven coyotes and killed five of them. The next afternoon, in the same area, they killed 27 rattlesnakes, ranging in size up to five feet. Saturday morning, they went back and killed three more rattlesnakes and a fox.

To the people of the Pleasant Valley Community, whose chickens have been caught by the coyotes and other wild pests, these neighbors are now great heroes.

The Post Dispatch's Pleasant Valley correspondent, however, points out that there remain plenty of snakes in the canyons and additional hunters are needed to kill them.

Garza Wins Over Spur In Roping

Five Garza County calf ropers won over five Spur ropers by 62 seconds in a match at Spur Sunday. Nathan Mears, with 72 seconds on four calves, was high man on the local team.

Jimmy Bird won first place and Lewis Nance and Alton Clark of Jayton split second and third places in the jackpot roping afterward.

The next match here will be between the Garza County Club and O. D. Cardwell's Cowboys. The date had not been set by press time.

Scout Coordination Planned By Leaders

A district meeting of Boy Scout committee chairmen was held Monday night at the home of John Lott for the purpose of re-organization and setting up a coordinated pattern of work. The reorganized committees will meet regularly in the various towns of this part of the Llano District to guide the Boy Scout program according to the pattern.

Two boys, David Pennington and Darrell Stone, passed their merit badge tests Tuesday night at a monthly meeting of the Boy Scout Board of Review at Hudman Furniture Store.

Cotton Bale Brought To Gin Monday

A. Sanchez, who operates a farm belonging to E. W. Williams north of Post, brought Garza County's first 1948 bale of cotton to the Planter's Gin here Monday. The bale was not weighed as the gin is not yet in operation, the manager, Lee Davis, said.

The Post Chamber of Commerce, in keeping with a custom established several years ago, will present a $25 cash prize to Sanchez, the secretary said yesterday.

Work to get the gin ready for the ginning season was in progress this week, Davis said.

One of the first bales of cotton ever produced in Garza County, Sanchez's bale was three days earlier than last year's first bale produced by Bandy Cash on the W. T. Earchman place at Justiceburg. Cash's bale was ginned August 19.

Postal Receipts Show Small Gain Over 1947 Period

Postmaster Harold Voss reported this week that postal receipts in Post show a gain of $231.18 over last year for the first seven months of this year. The August 1, 1948, total was 9,000.67.

Although the gain is small, it is a sign that business conditions as of August 1 were slightly better than they were a year ago, Voss believes.

There was a total gain of $1,336.85 in postal receipts in 1947 over those of 1946. The total for 1947 was $20,042.50 and that for 1946 was $18,705.65.

The 1947 total compared favorably with Slaton's 1947 total of $22,661.80, despite Slaton's thousand or so more inhabitants and large railroad payroll.

Slaton's gain for the first seven months this year, however, was $1,573.13, or 12 1-2 per cent increase, over receipts for the same period in 1947. Post's 1948 increase is less than two per cent. A 10 per cent increase is counted a very heavy gain by those who figure postal receipts as a barometer of business conditions.

C. Of C. Strives For Improvement

Although the membership drive is officially closed, it is understood that membership in the organization is open at any time to merchants and other individuals who believe in an organized effort for the general betterment of Garza County.

In announcing the membership list this week, James Minor, president of the board of directors said: "All small towns need unity of effort if growth is desired. It is the aim of the Chamber of Commerce to achieve improvements through the organized efforts of the county's business men and other leading citizens."

Supt. G. R. Day gave an interesting talk on school finances, reviewing the increased cost of operating schools within the last ten years, when he spoke at the Lions Club Tuesday night. Noah Stone, who had charge of the program, presented Mr. Day. Bill Baker had charge of the business session.

The club will be presented with its Boy Scout charter at next Tuesday's meeting. The club sponsors troop 11. John Lott, chairman of the County Boy Scout Committee, will show scout films.

Post OES Will Be Host To District Chapters Sept. 16

A capacity crowd attended the pie supper sponsored by the Rainbow Assembly and the Order of the Eastern Star last Friday night in the City Hall. They bought $64.08 worth of pies, and the money is still coming in. An additional $9 had been received by press time from persons unable to attend, making the total proceeds to date $73.08.

The money will be divided between the two sponsoring organizations.

A report of the supper was submitted at a meeting of the O.E.S. Chapter Tuesday night in the Masonic Hall. The highlight of the meeting was a candlelight program commemorating Robert Morris, the O.E.S. founder, staged by the Star Points and Lester Nichols and Truett Fry. Nichols portrayed the part of Morris. The program was planned and directed by Reba Turner.

A Friendship Night program was planned for the night of September 16. The local chapter will be host to the other 13 chapters in the district.

Henrietta Nichols was elected and installed associate conductor to replace Bonnie Cearley who moved to Fabens.

Storie Motor Ends Year With Victory

The Storie Motor Hardball Team ended its first season last Friday with a 17-15 victory over Wolfforth in the Postex Park.

"Although we'll probably have to take up a collection among the players to meet expenses," manager Jerry Queen said yesterday, "Friday night's good crowd proved to us that our efforts were worthwhile. We'll be back next year with an even stronger team."

TEACHER RESIGNS

Mrs. Pauline Stotts who taught in the first grade here last year resigned last week. There are still several teacher vacancies in the Post School System. Most of these can be filled immediately if adequate housing can be obtained, Supt. G. R. Day said this week.

The mouth of the Orinoco River is in Venezuela. Chartreuse is a color combination of green and yellow.

Loan Program On Maize Is Pushed By Congressman

Congressman George Mahon recently reported to the Post Dispatch that he had personally appealed to the Secretary of Agriculture, Charles Brannon, to use the full force of his office to make effective the Government loan program on combine maize. He explained that much of the West Texas crop was not yet beginning to move and that plans should be perfected now to avert millions of dollars in losses to West Texas farmers.

Foreign demand for American grain has receded and the price of grain has sagged. Mahon said that some Central Texas farmers were already selling their grain at 50c per hundredweight below the loan rate.

Under the law the producer is entitled to a loan of 90 per cent of parity on his combine maize, but loans are dependent upon the availability of storage, and the law will not be effective if storage arrangements cannot be made. Adequate freight cars and storage were not available during the war years but the market price for grain was above the loan rate and there was no serious question as to a support price and no considerable demand for loans.

Mahon said that if the loan on grain sorghum should not be available many producers would sacrifice their grain sorghum below the support price, but that if the loan were available the market price should remain firm above support price levels.

Secretary Brannon advised Mahon that the Department would intensify its efforts to move the wheat crop out of the pipe line insofar as possible and would give sympathetic assistance in trying to meet the situation confronting producers of combine maize.

Following a long distance telephone conversation with Walter Hammond, Head of the Texas Farm Bureau, Mahon in his capacity as chairman of the Texas Congressional Delegation, appointed Congressman Poage of Waco as chairman of a committee of six members to cooperate with Texas farmers and the Texas Farm Bureau in finding ways and means to meet the situation.

A large additional amount of storage that will be acceptable to government loan officials will be necessary.

The new Post-Tahoka-Brownfield hiline, which is the latest in hiline construction, has been completed and will be put in service on arrival of the 69/22 KV transformers which are due this month. The new line was actually used last Sunday afternoon for three hours at 22000 volts so that the old line could be "killed-out" between Southland and Slaton for repair.

REDDY'S face has been quite red several times in the past but after materials were ordered for the new line nearly two years ago he knew that he could breathe a sigh of relief on completion of the new line which would give Post-Tahoka-Slaton and other small towns in this area as well as the REA electric service from two sources.

REDDY Says, "the latest improvements in furnishing dependable electric light and power is none too good for my customers."

Unemployment And Old-Age Insurance Claim Appeal Procedure Is Explained

An individual who files a claim for unemployment or old-age insurance, is called a "claimant."

When the claimant for unemployment files his first claim, a copy is forwarded to his last employer. The original goes to the Administrative Office of the Texas Employment Commission. The copy of the initial claim forwarded to the claimant's last employer advises him that the individual is claiming unemployment insurance. It also advises him that the claimant has made certain statements concerning his reason for separation from his employment. If the employer wishes, he may protest any payment to the claimant. He may take this protest on his copy of the initial claim. He may also protest by letter to the Commission, according to information released by C. Raymond Jones, Lamesa office manager of the Texas Employment Commission.

Claims usually are investigated by a field office of the TEC in the community where the claimant resides, and where the employer's establishment is located. When the field office has made its investigation the file is forwarded to the administrative office for a decision of entitlement. If the employer has protested payment within the statutory time limit, eight days in this case, he will receive a copy of the determination made by the administrative office.

Appeal May Be Made
When the employer and claimant receive their copies of the determination each may appeal to the Commission's Appeal Tribunal. This appeal must be made, in either case of disagreement, within 12 days from the date of the determination. After due investigation and opportunity for appearance at a hearing, a decision is rendered by the Appeal Tribunal and a copy of the decision sent both the claimant and employer. Again, the claimant or the employer may disagree with the decision of the Appeal Tribunal and decide to appeal further. This time, the appeal is to the Commission. The appeal in this instance, must be made within 10 days from the date a decision is mailed by the Appeal Tribunal. There's still one more step either party may pursue in case of dissatisfaction with a Commission ruling. The claimant of the employer may appeal to a court of competent jurisdiction. Provided the appeal is made within 10 days after the decision is final.

As in the case of the claimant for unemployment insurance, the claimant for old-age insurance may appeal decisions made on his claim. He may desire to appeal because his claim has been disallowed, or because he believes an error has been made in calculating his benefits. His case may be reconsidered by the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance, or reviewed by a referee, or both. If the claimant chooses to have his case go to a referee and is not satisfied with the referee's decision, he may ask for a review by the Appeals Council. If he is further dissatisfied, he may then take his case to the Federal Courts.

Benefits Can Be Withheld
Old-age insurance benefits can also be withheld in the case of unemployment insurance. If a claimant goes back to work on a job that is covered by the old-age and survivors insurance program, his benefits must be suspended for any month in which he earns more than $14.99. His benefits begin again when he stops earning more than $14.99 and notifies the Social Security Administration.

An old-age insurance claimant may, however, work on a job covered by this insurance program, or he may run his own business and continue to receive his insurance benefits, no matter how much he may earn. Other cases where benefits under the old-age program are withheld are: When a woman remarries or becomes divorced (unless she has benefits on her own account); a child's benefits end when he reaches age 18, gets married, or is adopted by any person other than a step-parent, grandparent, aunt or uncle. (If the worker on whose account the child is entitled to benefits is alive adoption by any person ends the child's benefits.)

Local offices of these agencies are located as follows: Texas Employment Commission, 320 North Austin, Lamesa.

Rye And Vetch To Solve Home Needs

C. P. Witt of Calgary, a member of the Board of Supervisors of the Duck Creek Soil Conservation District, plans to plant 50 acres of a mixture of hairy vetch and Balboa rye. He wants to use 200 pounds of phosphate fertilizer per acre. Witt hopes this planting will yield enough to have seed at home. If the farmers and ranchers of this district could produce enough legume seed for all of the home needs, they would have solved the problem of securing their seed when it is needed, according to Soil Conservation Service advice.

State Equalization Aid Must Be Offered To More Districts For Better Education

If comparable educational facilities are to be made available throughout Texas, state equalization aid must be extended to more districts, Miss Emma Mae Brotze, president of the Texas State Teachers Association, has informed Garza County School Supt. Dean Robinson.

Higher costs of operating schools make it imperative that some of the poorer districts be given even more aid than they are receiving, she said.

Twenty-seven school districts were unable to pay the minimum salaries for teachers as prescribed by law last year, Miss Brotze said.

"These districts all had a high rate of taxation and most of them had a high valuation on property for assessment purposes," the State Teachers' president said. "They are, however, unable to meet expenses."

"With costs rising almost constantly, I fear that even more districts will be unable to meet the minimum teacher salary requirements and keep their doors open for nine months during the next school year."

The state is now spending $18,000,000 annually for equalization aid. It is a fund intended to help districts which cannot obtain sufficient money from local taxation, plus the usual state per capita apportionment, to bring their schools up to standard.

Aid Is Limited

This aid is now limited to school districts with not more than 1,500 pupils and large consolidated districts. Miss Brotze listed the Palestine school district as an example of the inability of some to pay their way. "Palestine, the county seat of Anderson County, has a tax rate of $1.45, just five cents under the maximum allowed by law. The wealth in the district, however, is low as compared with many districts. The property value totals $8,654,371.

"The Palestine district has 73 teachers and paid them $206,659, yet fell short of meeting the requirements of the minimum salary law. There are 2,794 pupils in the Palestine schools."

Cuero, a district with 1,555 students, just 55 too many to be eligible for equalization aid, levies the full $1.50 tax. It was another of the districts unable to comply with the salary law, Miss Brotze said. Cleburne, with $1.25 tax rate, and Waxahachie, which has $1.22 tax, are other typical examples, she declared.

Must Change Rendition

"It is certain that with our present rendition of values we cannot ever reach equality of educational opportunities throughout the state unless equal-

THE REV. C. A. RAY

A revival meeting will be held at the Calvary Baptist Church from August 22 through August 29, the Rev. I. D. Walker, pastor, has announced.

Services will be held daily from 9:30 until 10:30 o'clock each morning and at 8 o'clock each night.

The Rev. Cecil A. Ray, pastor of the Arnett-Benson Baptist Church in Lubbock, will be the evangelist and Billy Baker of Post will be in charge of singing. Merle Jenkins will serve as pianist.

The public is invited to attend all of the services, the Rev. Mr. Walker has announced.

Defoliants To Be Topic At Lubbock Meeting Oct. 14

The important role of chemical defoliants in mechanically harvesting cotton and the experimental work in developing new types of "man-made frost" will be told by Dr. M. V. Bailey, New York, director of agricultural research of the American Cyanamid Company at the Beltwide Cotton Mechanization Conference in Lubbock October 14-16.

Defoliation, a problem growers consider increasingly important as more and more cotton is harvested by machines, is one of a number of production topics listed on the conference program which has as its theme, "A Challenge—The Mechanization of Cotton and Related Crops."

Tests by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and experiment stations in various sections of Cotton Belt have shown that after defoliation—a process in which chemicals are dusted or sprayed on cotton plants to cause the leaves to drop off—mechanical and hand gathering of a much cleaner crop is possible.

Calcium cyanamide, agricultural specialists explain, is effective as a defoliant in areas such as the Southeast and the Delta where dew plays a big part in the reaction which causes the leaves to break off the cotton stalk.

Research is being pushed on a more effective defoliant for dry areas in Texas and the West where lack of dew is a handicap in the use of calcium cyanamide. Satisfactory methods of application which would allow the chemical to reach the lower part of the cotton plant as well as the top—thus causing all the leaves to drop off—are also being sought.

The Agricultural Experiment Station of the Agricultural Extension Service of the A. and M. College of Texas Statewide Cotton Committee will be hosts for the conference. Land grant colleges, the Farm Equipment Institute, United States Department of agriculture, vocational agriculture workers and farm organizations are cooperating with the National Cotton Council in sponsoring the Beltwide cotton meeting.

zation aid is extended," Miss Brotze declared.

"Where there are many populous counties which have many children and land values are low, the state is paying 60 to 75 per cent of the total cost of the schools, although these cases are rare. Yet we find in these sections of the state poor buildings and poorer equipment.

"On the other hand there are many counties with sparse population in which the state is paying as little as 25 per cent of the cost. But because of oil discoveries there are great modern buildings, splendidly equipped, which are badly in need of more pupils to be able to carry on a varied program."

"A re-allocation and extension of equalization aid funds appears to be the only answer," she concluded.

Recent visitors in the Moore home were Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Landers of Littlefield and Miss Smart and two nieces of Stillwater, Okla. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Davies of Hibbs, N. M., are now visiting the Moores.

Seed Attachments For Conservation Program Purchased

Two special seeder attachments for planting small seed were received this week at the Post Work Unit of the Duck Creek Soil Conservation District. Supervisors purchased this special equipment to assist District cooperators with soil conservation work on their farms and ranches.

The attachments are seeder boxes that will be put on a two-row sod planter. The planter boxes can be adjusted to plant as little as two ounces of weeping lovegrass seed per acre, or they may be set to plant several pounds. A trial will be made to plant rye and vetch with the special boxes and at the same time spread fertilizer through the regular planter boxes.

SUPERVISORS TO MEET

The Board of Supervisors of the Duck Creek Soil Conservation District will hold their monthly meeting in Spur today. Two conservation plans are ready for their approval. These include one for T. J. Head and the other for the Star Ranch. As a request for assistance in soil conservation work on the S Lazy S Ranch was made by Hinton Pruitt, it was sent over with the arrangements.

The rat population of the United States has been estimated at 130,000,000.

With Strong Conference Opponents Antelopes Anticipating Rough Going

Four "teams" of Post Antelopes are working out daily now until school starts from 8:30 until 10 a. m. and from 6 until 9 p. m. to get themselves in shape for the 1948-49 football schedule which opens September 10 with a game with Rails at Rails.

With only four lettermen from last year's regulars back, the Antelopes are not as strong at the outset as some of the four other teams in the south half of the District 6-A Conference. According to the grapevine, Slaton, having the best looking team it has had in the past five or six years, is the team to beat.

O'Donnell's prospects are fair and Tahoka's are good, the Dispatch's scout report. The Antelopes are wary of the Seagraves Indians, who lost only three of last year's regulars.

At the morning sessions with Coaches Bingham and Ray, the Antelopes are drilling on plays and learning fundamentals. The evening workouts are devoted to blocking and game conditioning. In the group work, one coach works with the offense while the other works with the defense. The coaches also alternate in working with the backs and the line.

With the addition of some new equipment, the Antelopes are in good shape as to working materials, Bingham said. "But there is lots of work to be done before the team is satisfactory. Lots of changing of boys' positions will be necessary before the opening game," the coach said.

Squadmen include Jerry Odom, end; Jimmy Puckett, guard; Roy Davis, tackle, and Donald Carpenter, guard.

Jay Gresham postcards from Fez in French Morocco that he's staying over to do some paintings for the interior of Barbara Hutton's home there. He was sent to nearby Casablanca several months ago to do some artistic research for the Conde Nast publications. He's Mrs. J. H. Babb's grandson.

Carolyn Boren is home from her vacation in Elida, N. M. It's always good to see Paul Duren, Jr., when he's home from Carlsbad. He was here last weekend.

Anita Kennedy is visiting Barbara Ferguson in Littlefield. The ghost is still writing these words. Gay Nellie and family arrived home from Colorado in time to see Alene and Wayne wed at Sundown Saturday, then she and her mom left after the reception for Fort Worth for a week.

Wayne's sister, Mary Ann Hundley of Crosbyton, registered the 25 guests at the reception Saturday night in the home of Alene's parents. Gay Nellie poured punch, and Misses Jerry Lindsey and Lamoine Lindsey, both of Brownfield, helped in serving.

Harold Reno is up and around again after his accident of two weeks ago.

Nelda Floyd, Theona Beauchamp, Jennete Stewart and Glenda Mae Young, majorettes of Post High School Band, are going to be ready to step high when school opens on September 6. Glenda has her majorette suit and the other girls are being measured and fitted this week.

A little bird told me that cute little Winifred Anderson of Seminole, formerly of Post, is to be married the latter part of September. The wedding I understand will be in Post and several Post boys and girls will probably be in the wedding party.

Lester Josey placed a beautiful diamond on third finger, left hand of Theona Beauchamp this week.

ROGER W. BABSON WRITES THIS WEEK:

Only Cure For High Prices Is Less Purchasing Power

Gloucester, Mass.—It may be safe for investors to assume that Dewey and Warren will be elected in November; but it is not safe for them to believe that under a Republican Administration everything will be "peaches and cream."

This constantly increasing cost-of-living must be licked in some way. Mr. Truman has made some suggestions as to how to stop prices rising anymore. Whether or not his recommendations are practical during peacetime is debatable; but Mr. Truman should not be abused for making these suggestions. He is at least trying to get the problems discussed at once before it is too late.

Otherwise, on November third, it will be found that the combined Truman-Wallace popular vote will exceed the Dewey vote even although Dewey is elected. This could easily take the enthusiasm out of the election of the Dewey-Warren ticket. The electoral voting system will help Mr. Dewey this year; but it will not help elect a Republican Congress two years from now. It is very possible that a Democratic Congress may then be elected.

How To Lower Prices
The difficulty with Mr. Truman's proposals for an excess profits tax, price fixing and rationing is that these laws do not produce more food and goods. He can reduce beef to 50 cents a pound, but the ranches will not ship as many cattle to market. He can fix the price of shirts at $2.50, but there will be no shirts to buy at this price. In peacetime such legislation would create a tremendous black market.

There are only two ways to lower prices. One of these, is to lower wages which very few Congressmen have the courage to do. The other and most practical method would be by monetary means. As the tremendous increase in U.S. money (from seven billions to twenty-eight billions in ten years) is the primary cause of inflated purchasing power and high prices, so the only cure is to deflate purchasing power. This could be done by curbing government purchases and expenses, by restricting installment bonds and agricultural bonds and agricultural products.

Has Dewey the Courage?

Mr. Dewey — if elected—may have the courage to propose such a drastic cure, but he would have great difficulty in getting a Republican or Democratic Congress to go along with him. Hence, I visualize prices to continue high until the people stop buying and a national bust follows.

Wallace may be very unwise in his Russian attitude; but he may be a better business prophet that neither of the other two candidates. I repeat that gross business should hold up for two or three years. It now is a part of the U. S. military strategy to prevent unemployment. This, however will be accomplished only at a terrible cost. The longer it continues the bigger the bust.

What About Stocks?

This situation I foresaw when writing last December my forecast for 1948. I then feared that net profits would decline during the latter part of this year even though gross business remained at high volume. I yet see no reason for changing this forecast even with the probabilities of a Republican victory on November 2nd. I haven't forgotten what Calvin Coolidge once said to me. "Babson, conditions elect Presidents, but President do not elect conditions."

The above is one reason forecasting that, during the industrial averages will range between 165 and 185. I can campaign speeches warm wise investors will see the Republicans are to be in the delimita. If Dewey is determined to reduce prices, this means deflation, lower wages, and removal of price supports, but let high prices ride, the headed for a bust some. Hence, it seems advisable to profits when the industrial rages are around 185.

GETTING OUT On The LIMB
By EDDIE the EDITOR

You will note that only nine football games are scheduled for the Antelopes this year. The tenth game will be played—in event the boys go to town in the conference.

Bingham has his tongue in his cheek, though. He isn't committing himself or the Antelopes to do anything BIG. The boys have a lot of hard work ahead of them, if they are to make the grade and they will need all the support that the fans can possibly give them.

Post is unusually fortunate in having an organization, the Antelope Booster Club, which has for its sole purpose the promotion of good athletics, particularly football, in the high school.

This organization is the nucleus of the fan support. If you want to systematically help the Antelopes in the 1948 football climb, join the Antelope Booster Club and attend the booster meetings.

Once the boys know that the fans are 100 per cent behind them, they feel committed to do their best. It is only under such a commitment that a team can consistently win. Booster Club announcements will be carried, for our convenience, in the paper throughout the football season.

I'm sure that what happened at Justiceburg last Friday could have happened elsewhere in the United States, but I'll bet the Justiceburg folk put more sincerity and sheer enjoyment into their good deed than you'll find anywhere else.

H. F. Ainsworth has been unable to attend to his farm work for the past month or so because of the serious illness of his wife. He has devoted all of his time—as he should have done—to taking care of her, staying with her in the hospital at Temple and in other ways trying to help bring about her recovery.

After the nice rains received recently at Justiceburg, Ainsworth's neighbors decided his cotton should be cultivated.

The farmers and their wives all went to the farm. The men brought their tractors—15 of them—and some of them cultivated and others hoed and attended to other necessary chores. By noon, the job was finished. The ladies spread the most sumptuous meal I ever heard of, and the men sat around on their heels and ate and visited. Their good humor and the trend of their conversation revealed that their good deed had done as much for their own spirits as it had for Ainsworth's and believe me, it did plenty to build up his morale.

After a brief rest the men started home with their tractors and it was the prettiest most satisfying sight you ever saw and heard. Nearly every kind of tractor that's made was represented, and the sound of their motors made a resounding chorus, as one by one they started down the road. I wish I had a sound movie of the occasion.

Pete Ottinger, who witnessed all of this, said: "You know, this is what makes America great. These fine people make the community and communities like this make the nation."

The fine people who promoted this good deed were Sam Bevers, Ted Ray, Ernest Bevers who was over from Tokio, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Woodard, Joe Green, Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Bevers, Luther Reed, Joe Reed, Raymond Key, Elmer Pettigrew, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Caffey and Sammy Kay, Henry Key, Mr. and Mrs. Bandy Cash, Don Robinson,

Garza and the World

By EVELYN BOYD

When we go to the polls on August 28, we will have only three names to scratch.

On the state senator's and county sheriff's races, I intend to vote as I did in July.

But I may change my mind about the U. S. Senator's race. I am going to read everything I can get my hands on about Lyndon Johnson and Coke Stevenson between now and August 28. I expect to weigh one against the other, in the hope that I will not vote wrong.

I chose Stevenson in July. My pro-Johnson friends told me that "Stevenson, having been a do-nothin' governor, would be a do-nothin' Senator." And they pointed out that Stevenson had an even poorer record than Jester in matters for the good of the schools.

Being against nationalization of the school system the same as I'm against socialized medicine and other forms of socialism, I figured Stevenson's do-nothin' record regarding the schools might be to our advantage while he is hobnobbing with our New Deal Democrats in Washington.

I liked Stevenson because he obviously was aware that West Texas belongs to Texas, and this is in sharp contrast to most governors we have had during my life time. Most of them consider Fort Worth as the last frontier on the western side and the remainder of Texas lies to the north, east and Spencer Bevers, Sam Bevers, Jr., Claude Pettigrew, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Morgan and O'Delia, Mr. and Mrs. Bud McLaurin, Herbert Bevers, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Sullivan, John Boren and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Reed.

Fumbling through the files looking for something that Gay Nellie hid before leaving on a vacation, we came across this copy of The Editor's Beatitudes. We don't know the author of it, and we clipped it out of some paper or other several years ago. It's a classic.

Blessed are the merchants who advertise because they believe in it and in their business; for their prosperity shall increase many fold. Blessed are the country correspondents who send in their well written items every week; for fame of their friendly neighborhoods shall go abroad in the land.

Blessed is the woman who sends in a written account of a party or wedding, for she shall see the details of the function and the names of her guests correctly reported.

Blessed are all those who do not expect the editor to know everything but calls up and tells him whenever an interesting event occurs to them; for they shall have a newsy paper in their town.

Blessed are they who get their copy in early; for they shall occupy a warm place in the editor's heart.

Blessed are all who co-operate with the editor in efforts in behalf of the community; for their town shall be known far and wide as a good place to live.

south of that point. It always seemed to me, until we had Stevenson, that West Texas was without a government.

But... I dunno about Stevenson. Since he went to Washington for a briefing on the foreign policy, and, while there, had such poor press relations I'm beginning to fear he is not slick enough for the big boys who run things up there.

We here in Texas understand Coke's deliberate "calculating" and most of us think nothing of it. It's just one of his personality traits—the same as not calculating enough is one of mine.

But while he was "calculating" on his Taft-Hartley stand, the communist boys interpreted his actions as being in their favor. The last straw, as far as I'm concerned — unless Coke comes out with something that will put himself back in my favor between now and August 28—was when the very pink New Republic magazine came out in its August 9 issue with a glowing endorsement of Stevenson.

I'm against everything the New Republic is for, because the New Republic seems to be a big influence on the socialist tendencies so dangerously rampant in the United States. I think Coke is innocent, but innocence is dangerous in Washington. If Coke will oblige me by giving an acceptable explanation, I may change my mind again. I'll report on this next week.

The recent publicity given to communism within government circles is regarded generally as a publicity stunt perpetrated by the Republicans.

I am sure it was just that. But I also believe that it took this political stunt to present the truth to the American people. The public is entitled to know what is going on in this respect and the public would never have found out had it not been for the Republicans and their campaign publicity.

Having worked for the government for several years, in one of the hush-hush bureaus now known to have employed some communists, I have long been aware of the dangers confronting the public.

But, until the Republicans broke lose with their "publicity stunt," it seemed that I, alone, in the whole United States was alarmed.

Amn't the meat boycott? Would the people who boycotted meat because it was too high object if the government again started rationing meat? And would they again—as too many people did when rationing was with us once before—pay even higher prices to the black marketeers?

I can understand how the boycott gained momentum in the non-ranching areas, but here where ranching is one of our big industries, here where we put so much emphasis on the 4-H club program to raise better heaves, it just doesn't make sense.

Personally, I'm against the boycott in any form for the same reason that I'm about to fall out with Stevenson. The boycott and the picket lines are communist tools, and I don't like anything that stinks of communism.

Besides, everything I buy is too high. If I do without meat, I should by the same reasoning do without shoes, automobiles, typewriters, clothing and almost anything essential that I can think of. I don't believe the people are going to boycott

What Our Contemporaries Are Saying:

THINGS GET GLOOMY — A farmer, grain man and a groceryman with whom I talked last week about the boycott on meats by groups in some of the larger cities, wanted to know why everybody seems so upset over the high prices on meat. They claimed that meat is no higher in proportion than most other items such as clothing, shoes, flour, etc. "Why don't the women start a strike on the price of nail polish or something like that," asked one merchant. "At least the national health would not be undermined if the women would do without their $250.00 suits and $125.00 hand bags."

All of them admitted that meat prices are high but the shoe was pinching when it came to bringing meat prices down when everything else seems to be out of proportion too.

Personally I do not believe the Government can do much about high prices nor can anyone else until there comes a time when there will be more help than there are jobs and more manufactured goods than will sell readily.

Things get mighty gloomy when prices are low and folks

ALL the merchants, so why pick on the meat dealers? The dealers are not to blame for inflation.

When we study inflation, we learn that it is caused by too much money and too little merchandise available. It can be controlled by making money less available. Dewey will have to face this problem next year.

I remember the depression, when merchandise was stocked all over the place and money was scarce. I was much worse off then than I am now, and I will be proportionately bad off the next time we have a depression or, to use the milder form, a recession.

It seems to me that Congress, in moving to tighten bank and business credits in a mild sort of way, is on the right track. We can expect a gradual tightening up of money and this in time will result in a gradual lowering of prices. This should encourage those who object to high prices and it shouldn't shrink pocketbooks too much. The situation will be more normal, and it should quiet a lot of nerves.

out of work, but at a time like this those who do have misfortunes and sickness are really soaked. It is just too bad if you get laid off.

My predictions are that when prices do start down they will fall like a ton of brick.—Slaton Slatonite.

'PETTICOAT REVOLT' FAILS —Business was good in Hamlin meat markets the first part of this week—in face of the "Petticoat Rebellion" of housewives who started a meat-buyers strike.

A partial survey of meat markets by a Herald reporter elicited the information that sales were running about as usual and some markets reported that meat sales were up slightly from last week.

"It must have been the free advertising we got," one of the proprietors commented.

In Hamlin a group of housewives got together and after hurried consultation set themselves the task of calling every person listed in the telephone directory to request that women of the city go on strike against the buying of meats.

Several markets reported unusually brisk sales of meats over the weekend, immediately before the start of the "meat holiday."

One woman bought enough meat Saturday to stock her home freezer locker, a market proprietor reported. She told the proprietor, "I am fully in sympathy with the strike and I don't intend to buy a single pound of meat all week. But I don't intend that my family shall go hungry, either," she continued, "so I am stocking up on enough meat to last through the entire week."—Hamlin Herald.

WE ARE SELFISH—All of us complain about the continued cost of living. We would like to see beef steak selling at 25c per pound—B U T there is not a single person who wants to see his own income decline. Sure, we want to see prices tumble, provided it is the price we pay for merchandise, and not the price that we get for our labor, or our goods. We are all just as selfish as we can be.

When will prices decline? Not until all of us are ready to stand our share of the decline, and take less money, which will probably buy as much of the necessities of life as we are now getting for the same high bracket we now pay.—Canyon News.

TEXAS POLITICS—Politics in Texas are a bit funny. It is the only state in the union where you vote "against" everybody but your favorite candidate, and then you don't vote for him—you just leave his name on there.

Texas is also the only state—with the possible exception of Louisiana and the Arkansas of Oklahoma—where the majority of the voters place a "X" in the "nunkin" through the nose and belong to the church above all else as qualifications for important office.—Seminole Sentinel.

Jack Kennedy Knows How Cheese Is Made

Taking a busman's holiday on his recent vacation, Jack Kennedy went through a Kraft Cheese factory in Bentonville, Ark., and watched the making of Kay Cheddar, which he sells at the Pure Food Market. He saw the complete operation from the time the milk for 46,000 lb. of cheese every 24 hours is hauled in from the farms until the completed cheese is packed and ready for shipment.

Rogers Buys First Carload Of Maize

Earl Rogers of Rogers Feed Store bought his first 1948 carload of Martin maize Friday, since which date he has bought a second carload. He paid $2 per 100 lb.

Rogers is of the opinion that if Garza grain crops receive rain within the next few days, they will yield about the same amount as they did last year.

The 1947 crop was between 90 and 100 carloads in the county. Local dealers handled about 70 carloads.

The crop will be short, however, if it doesn't rain soon, the dealer said.

 and operated drier units, and these same units can be used to dry grains, peanuts and other crops, usually resulting in higher prices and greater profits. The motor that runs the drier will hoist the hay.
 In small grains, an electrically operated elevator can save hundreds of man-hours where wheat, oats and barley are major crops. An elevator means no shoveling and little or no lifting. Electricity will move the grain after it is in the bin too, leaving the farmer and his help free for other duties.
 "Electricity will let you use your manpower where you need it most," the extension engineers point out. "It can help you win races against time, save crops and get more dollars from your farm operations."
