C. F. Chapman Dies of Gunshot Wounds Received Here

Charles F. Chapman, 38, of Snyder, died in a Lubbock hospital last Thursday night as a result of wounds suffered in a gun battle with officers near Justiceburg.

Chapman was shot two times, once five inches below the left armpit and once in the stomach during a savage fight with M. L. Holland, ranging up and down the highway for 51 feet.

Holland, city marshal and deputy sheriff, answered a call received in the sheriff's office when Ben Owen reported a man acting suspiciously at his service station, on North Broadway. Holland took the call in the American cafe where Charles Propst was drinking coffee. He asked Propst to accompany him and gave him a gun.

The two drove to Owen's service station where he described the man as being a big fellow who was driving a 1938 or 1939 green Dodge. Owen testified at an examining trial held by Justice of the Peace J. D. King Saturday that the man had a .22 pump rifle in the seat of his car, keeping his hand on the trigger at all times, and that he had a bulge in his shirt that looked like a .45 automatic.

Owen told the officers that the man drove south. He remembered and gave them the license number of the car.

The two officers headed south and testified to overtaking the car at least three times before Chapman stopped. Holland said he was sounding his siren and flashing his light at all times.

He testified to overtaking the man just past the underpass and finally stopping him three miles out of Justiceburg.

Holland stated that he and Propst got out of his car and approached Chapman's car on opposite sides. He went to the driver's side and asked Chapman for his driver's license. Chapman gave it to him readily, he said, talking all the time about his deputy sheriff's card and Navy discharge card.

Holland asked if the rifle propped against the seat was the only gun in the car and the man replied that it was. Propst asked Chapman what the .45 shells were doing on the door of the glove compartment and he replied that they had just been left in the car. Propst picked up a towel on the seat and disclosed a gin bottle.

Holland then asked Chapman if he would mind getting out of the car, according to his testimony, and the man said he would be glad to. The officer opened the door and, according to his testimony, Chapman started reaching for his gun in a shoulder holster and before Holland knew it the gun went off in his face. He received powder burns.

Holland and Propst then testified that Holland and the man started struggling on the highway. Propst said he struck Chapman with the butt of his gun and Chapman turned around, knocked him down and grabbed the gun. Holland said he then caught Chapman between the legs and tried to throw him. Each man lost his own gun, according to the examining trial testimony.

Holland stated that he was down on his back on the highway with Chapman on his back on top of him, shooting at him all the time. Holland said he saw that it would be either Chapman or himself and reached for his gun, which was gone. In a few seconds, Holland testified, he found his gun on the ground, grabbed it and shot twice.

Sheriff E. M. Bass stated that he found five marks in the highway where bullets had been fired.

Holland said after the second shot, Chapman said he had had enough. Holland straddled him and got the man's gun. The officer then asked one of the numerous spectators to drive his car to the middle of the road. He and Propst loaded the man into the car and brought him to the Post clinic where he was given first aid before he was taken to Lubbock in a Mason ambulance.

The ambulance reached the hospital with Chapman about 6 o'clock according to the testimony of Texas Ranger Raymond Waters who arrived soon after. Waters said the man was in the emergency room being given gas preparatory to an operation.

Waters also testified that the contents of a paper bag exhibited on a table at the hearing were taken from Chapman's body. They included the shoulder holster which allegedly held the .45 automatic, an extra clip for the .45, numerous loose shells for both the .45 and the .22, a box containing capsules for pain Chapman allegedly suffered in his eye, and a large knife.

Bass stated that Chapman allegedly robbed an insurance adjuster in Snyder previously but no complaint was filed. Waters said he had a record of two minor offenses with the Department of Public Safety. Bass stated that Chapman's wife said he was injured some weeks ago in an oilfield accident and had been hospitalized in Abilene. She said the sheriff testified that he suffered intense pain with his eye and lately had not been able to sleep without the County Agent L. C. Herron urges farmers to check their cotton for worms as soon as possible after the rain as it will probably increase the infestation. Getting Out On The LIMB...

by EDDIE the editor

Fight Team Fight...

According to Coach Bingham, he will be building a lot of character on the local grid-iron this year. He has just got in an extra-large size crying towel to mop up his tears over the little boys in this year's lineup.

Come To The Fair...

The imminence of the 4-H club and home demonstration women's fair makes us think of last spring's stock show again. We have the feeling that it will be repetition of the same.

THE MAIN PURPOSE of the 4-day vacation I just took was to catch up with Lil Abner and breathe some of that "goombo" he was advocating.

It seemed to have the same effect on the citizens as Hadacol and it looked like to me it would be easier to take. All you had to do was just breathe it.

ROGER W. BABSON WRITES THIS WEEK

Stock Index Rises on Rails Because of Korea But Speculative Profits May Be Only on Paper

GLOUCESTER, Mass.—In view of the railroad strikes in the United States and Canada, and the bullish tips that are being put out to get people to buy railroad stocks, I will this week discuss the railroads as an investment.

a fair readjustment could be made. As a matter of fact, the railroad wage increases given during war, when the earnings are abnormally good cannot be withdrawn after the war is over, when earnings again decline.

IT SEEMS THAT all these obese women are unhappy and they reach for a chocolate bar instead of the one they love, or something. Think of all the WCTUers who were getting intoxicated and never even realized it!

I don't know whether the president and all the secretaries have been indulging in coconut creams or kickapoo joy juice but if they let Congress get by with that loan to Franco I certainly won't know what next.

Now I am not a lover of the alleged warlord, Chiang Kai Shek, but I don't see us letting down our former friends and building up our enemies. I can see buying or leasing some bases on Spain, if it is really necessary, but what I don't see is giving a great big loan to a man who helped our enemies during the last war and then turning our backs on the people who helped us.

I'm no political genius and I don't know all the ins and outs of things, but communists are communists as I see it and when they are endangering us, we'd best take up for those who are in direct opposition to them. All this talk about not getting involved with the Chinese Reds reminds me of Czechoslovakia and "peace in our time." Our time can turn out to be darned short.

LOOKS LIKE it is one darn thing after another and I am glad I am not a farmer. One city farmer has already figured he lost $5000 to the worms. Me, I can't figure how you can lose money you don't have, but then I am a printer and not a farmer. Not being a union man, I don't have much money.

Sometimes a fellow gets all excited over the power of the press but then again, its plumb discouraging. County Agent L. C. Herron started giving in stories about the worms before they even registered them in Duval county. Speaking of intoxicants, the bollworms and leaf-worms or whatever kind of worms they are, must be getting to be real soaks.

All the word is that they are eating up the cotton like mad. I read in one of the government pamphlets that they went for succulent cotton which is government for juicy. But now they tell me that some cotton is burning up and the worms are still devouring it.

Even a worm can get hungry, I guess. Every day I think some one will bring in the first bale of cotton. Looks like the worms will have to take care of ginning it. Nobody has told me whether or not the chamber of commerce is giving any prizes for Garza's first or not. Slaton has already ginned its first bale.

ON MY FISHING trip, I thought; I would try to find a mate for Al Bird's porpoise. Gertrude, but the darn thing got seasick every-time we went up a hill, so finally I just threw him out in a pond down in central Texas. I hope he doesn't turn out to be as smart as Gertrude. Al is trying to hire her out to teach school, I heard, but then you can't depend too much on hearsay.

Well school has begun and all the kids are having to get up early. That forms a good habit. I still get up early myself. I can hardly wait for the football game tomorrow night. Those Spur boys that came over here were pretty big and fast. I'm betting on the Antelopes though and I predict we will beat Crosbyton.

Better Sight BY THE CARTON Lamps with empty sockets are about as handy as a ship without a sail! No matter how efficient... or how many lamps you may have around the house... they're so much excess baggage if your supply of lamp-bulbs is down to the bottom of the carton. Good light is so necessary to good sight. And a carton of bulbs always on hand is insurance against "bulb snatching"... being without... or inconvenient rushing to the store. Yes, BULBS ARE MIGHTY IMPORTANT... cleanliness is, too! Your lamps and fixtures should be kept clean. Dust and dirt can rob you of half the light you pay for. Light-conditioning your home is economical, too... low cost, dependable electric service makes it so! With Kemps Hope Third Time Is Charm in House Building country about four months. It faces east. The large living room is 23 by 12 feet in dimensions. A gray patterned carpet covers the floor. Walls are papered with a floral-patterned paper, a beige background with gray and tan accents.

Keith Kemp hopes the third time is the charm. The new home, six miles out of Lubbock, is the one they have built.

front overlooks the approach to the caprock. On each side are beige draperies with a wine, green and tan floral background. The same side draperies are on the single north window, with nylon glass panels.

Mrs. Kemp has a maroon couch and upholstered chair. Holding a lamp in front of the picture window is a square occasional table. The lamp is white with a maroon trimmed shade. The family Bible is on a piano-stool table on the other side of the room.

Radio-Phonograph

On the west wall is the combination radio-phonograph in a period design. Ivy in a green bowl is placed on top, in front of some deep wine gladioli from the Kemp yard. A painting hangs over the couch. In the northwest corner are glass whatnot shelves. The floor lamp is white with a white shade.

Slab doors in a natural finish are used throughout the house. The long hall is carpeted just like the living room. It has a storage closet.

The center bedroom is the master bedroom. It is 15x10 feet in measurement. Furnishings are grayed walnut. They include a low double chest topped with a large oblong mirror, and a matching double bed. Mrs. Kemp keeps her sewing machine in here, as well as a night stand.

Gun Collector

Kemp collects guns and he designed a gun cabinet to hold his rifles and pistols. Some of the guns he has made himself, including a cut-down .22 for his 10-year-old son, Johnny. Knotty pine, in a natural finish, the gun cabinet is also in the bedroom. Wallpaper is a green floral with a yellow accent. Yellow throw rugs are on the floor and a yellow chenille spread is on the bed. Curtains are also yellow.

The bathroom is in the center of the hall. It is wainscoted with white tileboard. Upper walls are papered with a yellow background, adorned with swans and bubbles. Blue inlaid linoleum is on the floor. Fixtures are white.

Measurements are 5 by 10 feet. An electric heater is in the wall. Two closets are in the bathroom. One holds linens above and is a utility closet below. In the other is the hotwater heater and the dirty clothes bin. Peach accents are used in towels and the bathmat.

The front bedroom, 15 by 15 feet in dimension, belongs to Beth Ellen, the Kemp's 6-year-old daughter. She has two large closets, one for clothing and one for toys. They are both papered like the room, in rose colored paper with strawberry flowers. White dotted swiss priscilla curtains are on the double windows on the east and the single window on the south.

Crocheted Bedspread

A white crocheted bedspread covers the bed. A bride doll sits on the pillow. A white chenille rug is on the floor. Fixtures include a modern style boudle bed, chest and vanity with a round mirror. Beth Ellen's baby picture is on the wall.

Johnny's room is 13 by 15 feet in measurement. It is furnished in a suite of Mexico white ranch style furniture, with enamel ruby accents. Furnishings include a double bed, chest of drawers, and dresser with a framed mirror. A peach chenille spread is on the bed.

Although Johnny has only one closet, it is large. Toys are stored in one end and clothes in the other. He has a drawing of a dog hanging on one wall.

The northwest room is the kitchen-dining room. It, too, is wainscoted in white tile board. Blue morning glories on a light background paper the walls above the wainscoting.

The dinette suite is in a light wood. Chairs are upholstered in blue leatherette.

Butane Stove

The room measures 13 by 15 feet. The Kemp's have a butane stove, table-top. The refrigerator is gas. Blue inlaid linoleum is on the floor and also on the cabinet tops. The entire west wall is cabinets. Painted white on the outside, they are painted inside in a watermelon shade to pick up the pink touch in the wallpaper.

Mrs. Kemp plans to add a spice shelf in her cabinets. In the center of the wall is a large sink. The back door on the north leads to the 2-acre yard outside.

Plans for the future include having the yard landscaped and building a double garage and breezeway. A garden was planted in the back, this year. A small orchard is also in the making. The Kemps dug a well and have an electric pressure pump, providing them with all the water they need.

Joe McLeon of Lubbock built the Kemp house, similar to that of the Paul Hedricks. The family is much happier out in the country, says Mrs. Kemp. The children can have more pets than they could in town.

"And I am really no further off than I was in town—I had to use the car then when I needed to go down town," Mrs. Kemp says.

The house is a bungalow type, made of asbestos shingles, painted white. The roof is composition shingles.

Now Is Time For Planting Cover Crops

September is cover crop planting time in the Duck Creek Soil Conservation district. General rains this past week have provided sufficient moisture to plant, work unit technicians point out.

Cover crops such as rye and vetch serve two purposes in our district: first is the control of wind erosion, that removes tons of good soil each year from unprotected fields, second, it is a soil improving crop. Rye and hairy vetch provide a considerable amount of grazing during the winter and early spring.

Recommended planting rates are 20 to 30 pounds of rye with 10 to 15 pounds of vetch per acre drilled. Better results and higher yields have been obtained by applying two hundred pounds of superphosphate per acre. If you have not already made arrangements for your seed and fertilizer, see your local dealer as soon as possible, technicians urged.

The Duck Creek district has a grass drill equipped to apply phosphate fertilizer and drill the seed in one operation. This drill may be leased from the district for fifty cents an acre. Fred B. Robinson in North Post will route the drill.

Let no man deceive himself. If any man among you seemeth to be wise in this world, let him become a fool, that he may be wise. For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God. For it is written, He taketh the wise in their own craftiness. And again, The Lord knoweth the thoughts of the wise that they are vain. Therefore let no man glory in men. For all things are yours; Whether Paul, or Apolos, or Cephas, or the world, or life, or death, or things present, or things to come; all are yours; And ye are Christ's; and Christ is God's. 1 Corinthians 3:18-23.

The Rev. T. M. Gillham, pastor, gives the following report of the First Baptist church at the end of the fiscal year which closed August 31: "In compiling the records for the annual Association meeting to be held in Lubbock September 21 and 22, substantial gains have been noted in the past year's work of the local church. There were 146 new members received into the membership of the church, with 44 of these coming upon a profession of faith and baptism. The average Sunday School attendance for the year was 315 per Sunday, and the Training Union classes average 100. The financial report revealed that $37,817.94 had been received into the church treasury during the year. The expenditures of the church totaled $65,123.78. Out of this sum $8,701.77 was given to outside mission causes. A new educational building and caretaker's house were built during the year, with only a $3,100 debt remaining on the property. This amount will be paid from regular income of the church within the next 90 days. A budget of $23,000 has been prepared for the coming year and will be presented to the membership for adoption soon. An aggressive program for the new year is being planned by the church leaders and further gains are expected during the coming year."

Herron Warns Farmers Against Overweight Bales

Garza county cotton farmers by accurately estimating loads of seed cotton so that a uniform 500-pound bale of lint cotton will be turned out at the gin, can reduce to a large extent "overweight" bales, which are costly and hazardous, County Agent L. C. Herron, emphasized today.

"Overweight bales result from only one cause—too much seed cotton per bale. This usually originates on the farm and in such cases cannot be remedied at the gin since the farmer already has placed an excessive amount of seed cotton in a one-bale vehicle or partition. However, the ginmer can further reduce the number of overweight bales by more carefully dividing seed cotton in multiple bale loads and storage," Herron explained.

"There was a time when 1,500 pounds of seed cotton generally was accepted as the gross weight necessary to produce a 500-pound bale. Today, however, the requirement has changed materially. Some varieties may not require more than 1,250 to 1,300 pounds. In other cases 1,350 to 1,400 pounds may be needed. There are practically no instances where 1,500 pounds of hand picked seed cotton are required for a 500-pound bale."

The county agent noted that the cotton trade desires a bale weighing 500. Overweight bales in some cases are penalized, and extreme weights may be declared unmerchantable. These penalties may be imposed at several points along the line before the cotton reaches the spinning mill.

Because of the strain they place on machinery at gins and compresses, overweight bales often damage equipment and endanger the lives of workers. Such breakdowns and the delays they cause are calculated in the costs of ginning and compressing which in turn adds to the prices charged the farmer. More important still is the fact that human lives are endangered when such accidents occur.

Overweight bales accent the "rolling" and "big-ended" bale problem. Such bales are extremely difficult to compress. Often lint distributed evenly by hand before the bale can be compressed and shipped.

Overweight bales are more expensive to load, handle, compress, transport and store. These costs are reflected eventually in the price the farmer pays for these services.

Mr. and Mrs. Arville Gray of Canyon spent last weekend here with her brother-in-law and sister, the Cecil Osbornes.

LEBANON RELAXES WORK RULES

BEIRUT, Sept. 9. (AP)—Lebanon has relaxed its long-time rule that Arab refugees from Palestine could not work in the country.

From where I sit... by Joe Martin

Squint's Drumming For Fair Play!

Squint Miller's mighty proud of the lot he owns that fronts on River Road—one of the prettiest spots around here.

He's been in a stew about it lately, though. Seems that trash-dumpers take one look at his property, stop their car or truck, and out goes a load of rubbish, spilling all over his place and the roadside, too. Wouldn't that make you mad?

Last night Squint dropped by the house. Over a friendly glass of beer, he tells me what he's done. "I put a couple of empty oil drums out there," he says, "with a sign reading: 'If you must dump trash—use these—I like to see my property clean!'"

From where I sit, Squint should make any would-be trash-dumpers pretty darn ashamed of themselves. Now then some folks just have to be minded that they ought to have much regard for their neighbor's rights as they do for their own.

Fall Is Time To Make and Eat Pickles and Relishes, Agent Says

Pickles add zest to the menu at any time and with the advent of fall, more and more housewives are adding relishes when they set the table.

Pickles and relishes should be a supplementary part of the canning program, says Mrs. Jewell Strasner, county home demonstration agent, just as they are supplements to a menu. This is the time of year best suited to pickling.

Mrs. Strasner suggests two methods of preserving these foods, salting, and pickling and relish making.

Two methods of salting use dry salt and two use brine. When a small amount of dry salt is used, fermentation occurs. This is called krauting. It is a two to three-week process. It is the best method of salt preservation, Mrs. Strasner believes.

Cabbage, turnips, lettuce and string beans may be krauted.

Sauerkraut Economical
"Sauerkraut is economical and a good source of Vitamin C. The lactic acid and fiber content of kraut aid in digestion and removal of waste from the body. Most of the minerals and vitamins found in the fresh vegetable remains in the kraut," Mrs. Strasner says.

When a large amount of dry salt is used, there is no fermentation. The product can be sealed and stored the second day. The agent recommends this method only to those who have large quantities of vegetables and no time, equipment or material to preserve them by better methods. A long soaking period is necessary to remove all this excess salt so that it is the least desirable method. Such long soaking also removes most of the water soluble vitamins and some of the minerals, too.

The third method involves the use of vinegar, added to a weak salt brine. After a rapid fermentation, the pickles are ready in about two weeks. Mrs. Strasner prefers this method next to krauting because it retains so many of the food properties.

"Vegetables brined by this process may be pickled or relished," says Mrs. Strasner, "or may be cooked and served buttered, creamed or scalloped."

Strong Salt Solution
The fourth method, involving a strong salt solution entails a five to six-week fermentation period. Cucumbers or other vegetables that are to be made into pickles respond best to this method. The long brining process makes the pickles crisp in texture, more intense in color and good in flavor.

"One disadvantage is that the vegetables have to be desalted before they are made into pickles or cooked for eating," Mrs. Strasner points out. "This causes a loss of nutrients."

She lists the equipment necessary to salting as cleaned and scalded stone jars, kegs or large glass jars for brining, a plate or hardwood board to keep the product under brine, a fruit jar filled with water to hold the plate down; kitchen scales, measuring cup, spoons, kraut shredder, slaw cutter or sharp, stainless steel knife.

Dairy or cheese salt should be used if possible. If these are not available any coarse salt which has not had ingredients added to prevent lumping. Such ingredients might affect fermentation and the color of the vegetables.

Soft Water Best
"Soft water is best for normal fermentation," Mrs. Strasner says. "Boil hard water 20 or 30 minutes and then let it stand about 12 hours in a covered enamel kettle. Remove the scum, strain and discard the settlings. Water containing iron may cause the vegetables to turn dark."

She suggests using Flat Dutch or Ballhead cabbage with mature, hard, sound heads. Green cabbage has a greater Vitamin A content but white cabbage makes better looking kraut. A pound and a half of cabbage is required for a pint of kraut.

After the outer leaves are removed and washed, the head should be quartered, cored and shredded. Mrs. Strasner stresses weighing the cabbage and recommends working with five pounds at a time. Use six tablespoons of dairy salt or four of table salt for each five pounds, she says. Too much salt prevents fermentation and too little causes soft kraut or spoilage.

"Shred the cabbage directly into the jar. Contact with air reduces the amount of Vitamin C," Mrs. Strasner says. "A two gallon jar should hold 12 pounds of cabbage. Mix salt thoroughly with shredded cabbage. Do not bruise or beat cabbage in mixing."

The agent suggests covering the shredded cabbage with outer leaves that have been washed. This helps hold it under brine. Wrap cheesecloth around the plate or board and place it on top of the cabbage. Cover the jar with a clean cloth or lid.

It is important to keep the shredded cabbage under brine. If it is dry and sufficient brine has not formed in a day or two, Mrs. Strasner suggests adding extra brine. She uses one teaspoonful salt to a cup of water.

Remove Scum
Remove the scum from the top of the cabbage daily because it destroys acidity and causes spoilage. Wash and scald cover when removing scum. Temperatures between 70 and 80 degrees Fahrenheit are best for curing kraut, Mrs. Strasner believes. Too low temperatures retard fermentation and too high cause rosy brine and slimy kraut.

Ten days to three weeks should be sufficient for curing kraut. It should be a light straw or golden color. If proper methods have been followed, Mrs. Strasner says, it should be acid in flavor, crisp and translucent.

"Pickles and relishes in small quantities help to create and stimulate the appetite, besides adding variety to the diet," the HD agent points out. "Brine in weak salt solution, plus a small amount of vinegar, they retain their minerals and most of their vitamins."

Fresh fruit vinegars are best for pickling, she says. A 40-60 grain acetic acid vinegar should be used. Too high acid content causes dark, soft or shriveled pickles. Cheaper vinegars usually should be diluted.

Spices may be used according to the desires of the family. They should be used in small enough amounts that they do not conceal the flavor of the fruit or vegetable, Mrs. Strasner suggests tying them in a thin cloth bag so they can be removed when the pickles are well-flavored. Long boiling affects the flavor of the vinegar, as well as the spices. New spices should be used each year.

Horse-Radish Stops Mold
Horse-radish root helps prevent mold. It should not be boiled but should be added to pickles after they are taken from the fire. Grape leaves impart a bright green color to pickles. Mrs. Strasner warns against using alum in any but small amounts because it will contract the tissues of the body. Glass jars with glass lids are most desirable for pickles.

Cucumbers should be freshened or desalted before packing in jars and pouring hot vinegar over them. They should be sealed immediately and stored in a dark place. Three tablespoons of spice are sufficient to a gallon of pickles.

Mrs. Strasner gives a tested recipe for crystal pickles. It includes:

- 7 pounds green tomatoes
- 2 gallons water
- 1 quart lime (air slacked)
- 9 cups sugar
- 2 quarts vinegar
- 1/4 cup salt
- 6 strings cinnamon bark, 1 1/2 to 2 inches long
- 2 tablespoons grated nutmeg
- 2 teaspoons ground ginger
- 1 tablespoon whole cloves

Slice Tomatoes

Slice tomatoes one quarter inch thick. Place in porcelain lined or granite vessel. Cover with two gallons of water in which the lime has been dissolved. Let stand for 24 hours. Drain and rinse well through several cold-waters to remove all lime sediment. Dissolve sugar in vinegar and cinnamon sticks and spices tied in cloth bag. Heat together, then let stand for one hour. Add slices of tomato and cook rapidly until slices are glazed and syrup clings to the spoon. Fill jars with tomatoes and cinnamon sticks, discarding spice bag. Cover with remaining liquid. Process in water bath 10 minutes to the quart, seven minutes to the pint. This recipe makes seven pints.

Most West Texans like chowchow and Mrs. Strasner has a favorite recipe, also tested. It calls for

- 1 quart green tomatoes, chopped
 - 1 quart chopped cabbage
 - 1 quart chopped green cucumbers
 - 1 cup chopped onions
 - 1 cup chopped green peppers
 - 1 1/2 quarts vinegar
 - 1 1/2 cups sugar (less may be used)
 - 1 tablespoon mustard seed
 - 1 tablespoon celery seed
 - 1/2 tablespoon stick cinamon
 - 1/2 tablespoon whole allspice
 - 1/2 tablespoon cloves
- Wash, trim and chop vegetables. Cover them with brine made of 1/2 cup of salt to two quarts water. Let stand overnight. Drain vegetables to remove brine thoroughly. Place spices in loose bag and heat with vinegar.

Let simmer (do not boil) 10 minutes. Add sugar and drained vegetables. Cook slowly, stirring often until tender — about an hour. Pack into sterilized jars and seal. This recipe makes four to six pints.

Mrs. Strasner has other recipes for pickles and relishes in her office. Those interested may have the recipes by calling her.

Stadium Dedicated To C. V. Lindsey, Others at ETSC

Charles V. Lindsey, son of C. S. Lindsey formerly of Southland, who gave his life for his country during World War II, will be honored at the dedication of East Texas State college's Memorial stadium, Sept. 23. The college's new $300,000 stadium will be formally dedicated on that date to the 76 ex-students who were killed during the war. The dedication program, which precedes the East Texas State-North Texas State football game, the first home game of the 1950 season for the East Texas Lions and the first game to be played in the huge new stadium completed only this summer.

Appearing on a bronze dedication plaque to be placed on the stadium will be the names of the 76 students. Parents or two other designated close relatives of the students honored will be invited to be guests of East Texas State college at the dedication program. The relatives will also be honored at a dinner at the college cafeteria before the dedication ceremony.

C. S. Lindsey formerly lived at Winnboro in Wood county and that is where his son is buried.

TOP LEADERS OF TEXAS' 36TH DIVISION—Maj. Gen. H. Miller Ainsworth (left), commanding general of the 36th Infantry Division of the Texas National Guard, and Brig. Gen. Carl Phinney, assistant division commander, study a tactical move during the division's summer encampment at Fort North Hood.

Stored Grain Should Be Fumigated Now For Insect Control To Insure Quality

Stored grain must be fumigated for insect control if the same quality grain is to be removed from the bin as was stored, cautions L. C. Herron, county agriculture agent.

Herron recommends that the initial fumigation be made within a month after the grain has been placed in the bin. Monthly inspections during warm weather are recommended to determine whether or not refumigation is necessary.

Since insects are likely to be found near the surface of a bin, the degree of infestation can usually be determined by sifting a sample of the surface grain. If as many as two weevils or five bran beetles are found in a five pound sample, the bin should be refumigated.

If the grain is stored in wooden bins, 1000 bushels of the grain can be fumigated with a mixture of ten gallons of one part carbon tetrachloride and three parts ethylene dichloride. Other recommended dosages are eight gallons of carbon tetrachloride and one part carbon disulfide per 1000 bushels of grain. The dosage of the three fumigants can be reduced by 25 percent if the grain is stored in steel bins.

Fumigants should be applied from the outside of the bin by means of a bucket pump or other type sprayer, and they should be distributed evenly over the surface of the grain. Herron warns that it is unwise to attempt to apply the fumigant with a sprinkling can because the vapors are dangerous to breathe.

He cautions that the person applying the fumigant should avoid spilling the insecticide on his skin, clothing, or in his shoes. If the clothing becomes wet it should be removed at once, and the skin should be washed with soap and water to prevent blistering.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoskins of Lubbock vacationed in Los Alamos and Santa Fe before returning to Texas Tech in Lubbock. Mrs. Hoskins is the former Jimmie Ruth Rains, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rains.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Day and son, Victor spent Friday night and Saturday in Floydada as guests of the Glen Days. Friday they attended a football game at Lockney.
