Park Progress . . .

Work has begun on securing a park for Post, with the chamber of commerce getting a 30day option on the Two Draw site last week. A campaign is now underway to raise the money for the purchase of the tract, which contains 45 acres. Estimated price is $3375, for the land alone. Chamber officials remind that even more money will be necessary to maintain the park. This will definitely fill a need in Post and Garza county. Plans for the development of the park cannot be made until the land is secured. In this day and time, $3375 is not much money. A lackadaisical campaign will not raise even this much. Interest shown at meetings relative to securing a park was strong. Real interest will be shown when the chamber of commerce manager comes around for individual contributions. It is easy to be for something as long as it does not cost anything. But money for the purchase price is all that now stands between Post and a park. Putting it that way, how interested are you?

Home for Christmas . . .

It turns out that General MacArthur was only talking to his subordinates in a "jocular vein" when he was quoted as saying the GIs in Korea would "be home for Christmas." Reporting the news today is something like interpreting the Bible. Efforts to be objective and get the feature idea in the lead of a news story often have the same result as taking a verse or two of the Bible out of context and adopting it as a code, i. e., "Judas went out and hanged himself . . . Go thou and do likewise." It might be true that in a moment of elation MacArthur made such a joking remark. In that case, it was up to the reporter to interpret this remark in context with the whole picture. Otherwise, it was just about as smart a statement as Truman's famous Marine remark. Philip Wylie has accused Americans of "Momism" and although we don't go along with him all the way, the 'home for Christmas" idea is a facet of Momism to us. How about "Home for Good" for a goal.

ROGER W. BABSON WRITES THIS WEEK

Prospects of Higher Taxes, Credit Restrictions Cast Shadow on Business Outlook for Winter

BABSON PARK, Mass .- The prospects of higher taxes and credit restrictions is casting a shadow over the business outlook for the coming winter. These apply to automobiles, refrigerators and television sets; but not as to most consumer items.

During recent months we know that the output of industry has exceeded consumption. Automobiles and trucks have been produced at the unprecedented rate of ten million per year; over 20 per cent of all units now on the ond. The recent rate of home construction has sceeded and previously recorded annual outut by over 50 per cent. Scare buying lifted he sale of household appliances to unpredented heights during the summer

However, we find already that reaction has set in, with lumber prices breaking during the last few weeks. The sales of many consumer items are back to pre-June levels. New construction is currently off sharply. We know that the easy credit policies of the federal government agencies have artifically stimulated home building. With the tightening up on credit controls further cut-backs will continue.

Recent increases in bank loans outstanding have been largely siphoned off into consumer credit expansion. This caused a tremendous boom in the purchase of consumer goods during recent months. Much stricter credit regulations will certainly have a depressing effect on the inflationary spiral, Now, is no time to buy everything in sight.

Defense orders in 1951 will undoubtedly maintain high employment, at least during the coming winter. Due to the allocation of certain materials in short supply being funneled into defense activities, business profits will not be uniformly good. Dislocations will take place. This will create shortages of materials throughout the nation which can have an adverse effect on the normal flow of business and profits.

Investors who search for an inflation hedge than it has been for the last 20 years. More standards of living.

burdensome taxes during 1951 will have an adverse effect on earnings. Many companies fully converted from civilian to military production will have their manufacturing margins cut. War stocks are certainly at their peak. Don't forget what happened during the renegotiation period of 1946-47.

Government policy makers are now pouring water over the inflationary fire on which they were dumping gasoline only a short time ago. This vacillating policy requires careful diversification of investment funds during the coming winter. Have less than half of the total funds in common stocks. For this half buy only securities of companies that make some money both during good times and bad times; and where the management is of a high character. Buy no bonds except convertible bonds. Have the other half of your investment funds in cash, savings accounts, government bonds, etc., awaiting more favorable buying oppor-

No one in this world has gotten something for nothing for any great length of time. I should, therefore, like to point out that we are heading for some very serious trouble in this country unless employes improve their output to compensate for increases in wage rates; otherwise, future increases in wages will prove to be an illusion. Subsidies given one section mean taking wealth away from another section. In the long run employers are only cutting their own throats by charging too high

Honest value for goods and services should be the aim of us all. Regimentation is not the answer to our troubles. The planners, whether they be in Washington, London or Moscow, never create wealth,-all they do is to re-distribute the fruits of other peoples' labor. This is not treating one's neighbors fairly. Basically what really counts most of all is how we people treat one another. Only through an in common stocks should watch their step. Texans in WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, OF-Texans here are preag to give the Texas Aggies a big time when they come up from College Station to meet Georgia in the first annual Presidential Cup football game, Dec. 9, Casting their individual school partisanship to the winds, alumni from all the Southwestern Conference colleges and universities are joining under the sponsorship of the Texas State Society of Washington to back up the boys from A&M.

A big block of seats on the 50-yard line in Maryland university's new Byrd Stadium, at nearby College Park, Md., is being set aside for Texans. After the game a big dance and reception will be held.

Speaking of selection of the Aggies, it is understood that Baylor was seriously considered, but for purposes of national publicity it was felt that the school should have "Texas" in its name.

The American Legion is promoting the gridiron contest, hoping it will become a famed annual classic through which money can be raised for the Legion welfare fund.

Rep. Olin E. (Tiger) Teague, A&M alumnus, figured in negotiations getting the bid for the

The Federal Crop Insurance corporation is considering selection of a few East Texas counties for a test program.

O. B. Briggs, state director of the insurance program, with head-quarters at College Station, wrote Representative Lindley Beckworth of Gladewater that he would be in Washington early in December to discuss the matter.

Involved is a proposed multiple crop plan to insure cotton, corn, commercial vegetables and the like, guaranteeing a producer at least his investment in total farm operations.

At present the government insurance covers only specific crops, and is therefore impracticable for small diversified farm operations.

The existing cotton acreage quota law, says Rep. Beckworth, still needs overhauling.

'It certainly has left the little farmer of East Texas out in the cold," he says.

"A man can't earn a living on an allotment of less than one acre. Consequently, thousands of East Texas farmers have had to go to the cities and look for work. The 1950 census figures bear out that statement."

Beckworth recently received a letter from the agriculture commissioner of South Carolina saying that the same situation prevailed there.

The Texas congressman says he'll keep dwelling on the subject in the hopes that a majority of his colleagues someday will agree with his views.

"They can argue all they want to, that the law provides a minimum 5-acre allotment," he continues, "but there are loop holes. In reality it doesn't work out that way for countless thousands of small farmers over the coun-

Explaining that a farmer who may have planted cotton for 40 years but would get no quota if he had switched to some other crop during the allotment base years, Beckworth

"The base follows the land rather than the farmer. Human rights are secondary to land

He then called attention to the fact that plantings of cotton in 1951, when controls will be lifted and a farmer can plant all he wants, will not be figured into the historical base of a farm. Whenever production controls are reimposed, the acreage allotments will go back to the same base as fixed originally for the 1950 crop, he said,

What's The Answer? . . .

Every American-unless he is a hermit in the remotest of hills-uses oil in many diverse forms. He thus has a direct, personal interest in the achievements and workings of the industry. Mount McKinley, with its peak of 20,450 feet, is the tallest mountain in the United States. Drillers have gone down that far searching for oil. Less than a century ago, a farmer, by working long hours, could raise enough food for a family of five. Today, due largely to the efficiency of oil-powered machinery, that farmer can feed himself and 14 others besides-and he can perform his tasks with a great deal less effort. Gasoline, excluding the taxes, is one of the few commodities that costs about the same as it did 25 years ago. A gailon of gas actually sells for less than a gallon of distilled water.

Getting Out On The LIMB ...

IT HAS ALWAYS been my ambition to be rich and I just pickup the paper the other day and found out I was just the same as. I'm a middle class American European standards that's rich. So the paper said.

about how This story was rough it now is at Monte Carlo. the international gambling resort. The reporter who wrote it wandered into the casino one Saturday night only to find the outer gaming tables, the craps taken and the slot machine room closed.

The private salon was the only place where anyone was gambling, the reporter found, and the smallest chip in there cost 58 cents. Whether or not this is cheap for small poker or roulette chips, I don't konw, since I'm a penny ante man, myself.

The largest bet allowed, this guy said, was 200,000 francs, which now amounts to about $600 or less. Top bets at the roulette table were $30 from some rich American, Like me, no doubt

AT THE TIME this writer was there, it was the slack season between the winter and summer crowds. The Riviera, which lives off tourists, is facing a serious problem, said the reporter, because there are no longer any well-to-do Europeans to support it. They are so pessimistic that they say there never will be again. The English austerity program is even preventing them from gambling.

However, all is not dark. An American style craps table has been installed. Operators had to go to Nevada to learn how to work the strange game, American tourists always head for the dice table, the guy said.

Now me, rich though I am (by European standards), I never cared for shooting dice on tables. I am sure you have to use little cups which reminds me of stupid parlor bunco, a more game than canasta. Those who are old enough to remember will agree with me.

THE OLD NAVY game can get by without all these fancy doodads and trimmings. In fact all you need is a pair of dice and some of that green folding stuff. Some people like to spread a regulation blanket on the floor and bounce the dice up against the baseboard, I never could see how you would get in position at a table. I think a man should get down on his hands and knees and really make the ivories bounce about, as Phil Harris says in the song.

I just don't ever think a table will take the place of the hall floor with me. Of course, I have given up a lot of my crapplaying habits. It occurs to me that tables are for the older boys who are no longer so agile on their hands and knees.

Being just a country boy, never was too interested in roulette. Matter of fact, just don't know much about it. But I like the personal touch. I don't see how you could be very perannal about laying a chip on a nuisber with the whole wheel in the absolute control of the

AND THE SLOT machine. That is definitely a foolish way to waste time. Of course, you can have a system and be a ghoul. This entails keeping an eagle eye on all the machines and figuring about when they are ready to pay off. Then follow the poor stupid saps who have been playing them, put in your nickel or quarter (I never go up to 50 cents) and clean up.

And though in the eyes of the Europeans I might be a business tycoon, I doubt that I will ever sit me down at a poker table in Monte Carlo. I like better friendly games at home when no cut is taken for the house.

Looks like the best I can do for Europe is just to go on paying my taxes and getting my relaxation over here. I hate that the gambling business has come to such a pass, but I am really not going to worry.

DIDN'T I READ something about the RFC thinking of making or having made a loan to a big gambling casino in Las Vegas or some place? Now if those in Monte Carlo will just cultivate the right people, I am sure they can get some aid from the European Reconstruction admin-the price. when and if I ever make the Grand Tour, perhaps the Little Woman and I will stop by Monte Carlo, but I'm warning her not to count on it. I like my fun American style.

I declare with this weather, you never really know what to depend on. Speaking of fun and games, I do like a good football game but I am sure missing some this year, on account of my blood has thinned down. Daytimes it is warm enough for baseball but some of these nights seem more suited to ice

What Our Contemporaries Are Saying:

It Sez Here

We think the Legion is doing a fine thing with its "Operation Democracy" day, Dec. 7. It beats that farce pulled off in Wisconsin last year, that turned into a rlot and proved that Democracy could be just about as bad as Communism-in certain ways. A little intelligent facing-up on the problems of both systems of government won't hurt any one. A little more facts and figures and a bit less flag-waving will enlighten people more on the advantage of Democracy. We also commend the Legion's attempt to enlist support of local churches in a non-sectarian mass meeting to bring all faiths together to hear ministers explain the religious side of Democracy and Communism. Unfortunately, some local church members would rather die than be caught in another Christian's pew, and the project fell flat on its face. It is a hard thing to picture our country's leaders reaching an accord with heads of other nations when our own Christian churches can't even get together on the teachings of Jesus Christ. We wonder if it ever grieves certain devouts that they are forced to breath the same air as some infidel Christian down the

FORMAL OPENING... Of Our NEW FORD PLANT

22 West Main Street

December 9th, 1950

YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED to visit our new Ford building at 22 West Main Street on Saturday. We want to show you the details of the modern type construction of Hadite blocks, Roman bricks, concrete and steel. Our new home, on 8½ lots, has a total floor space of 900 sq. ft. The main part of the plant is 80 feet wide and the wing to the rear of the USED CAR lot is 60 feet wide. Departments, besides NEW CARS and TRUCKS include: (1) Offices; (2) Parts and Accessories; (3) New Car "Get Ready 'Service; (4) Motor Tune-Up; (5) Minor Repairs; (6) Major Overhauls; (7) Wheel Alignment and Balancing; (8) Used Car Reconditioning; (9) Waxing and Polishing; (10) Upholstery and Trimming; (11) Lubrication; (12) Washing and Steaming; (13) Body and Fender; (14) Auto Painting and (15) Used Cars. We expect to add an Undercoating Department soon.

AS YOU KNOW, the owner of our new building is Tom Power, a 31-year-old native of Post who bought the dealership in July, 1947, from N.C. Outlaw after having served for several years with the Armed Forces. The plans for the new building have been in the making constantly during the past 3½ years, progressing with the encouragement of public good will, increased business and the general growth of Post.

That is, the smaller ones are. And cosmetic gifts come in all sizes and descriptions, purchasable in Post stores.

Nationally-advertised pedfum es have sone all out in packag ing this year. Christmas bells in clear plastic come for adorning the tree. Inside they have tiny bottles of popular fragrances. Gold bells make gracious decorations, small enough for large trees or even to place on the mantel, Tied to these are tiny flacons of perfume.

One of the prettiest bottles resembles a miniature punch set. Called a "ing-a-ling", it has bells in place of cups. The perfume is on the inside in such fragrances as Sirocco, Indiscret and Opening Night.

Trifling, Belleza and Crescent fragrances make nice gifts, coming dressed as snowmen, in cologne. Even ordinary per-fume bottles are extraordinary this year, being prettier and fancler than ever. Especially popular as gifts are the purse-size flacons of perfumes.

For the lady on your list who is a ceramics fan, there is a small bottle of perfume as the stamen to a delicate plastic white flower. In the same motif is nationally advertised White Magnolia cologne and perfume in a lucite box topped with a white magnolia.

of the more widely used insecticides is not very favorable at this time according to a report submitted to County Agent L. C. tension service entomologent for the South Plains.

Cotton farmers should this fact in mind when make plans for expanding their suntiay were their sons, Virgit 1951 cotton plantings. Farmers can help the situation by purchasing now and storing insecticides on the farm, Farmers should purchase their minimum insecticide needs this time or at least within the next few months. The insecticide manufacturers have limited storage space and when this space is completely filled. they must ease operations. Farmers and distributors by taking delivery now can keep the insecticides moving and at the same time, help the storage and transportation situation.

Insecticides will cost no more now than they will next summer and there is a possibility they may cost more next year. Dusts and sprays can be stored safely on the farm. The dusts must be stored in a dry building and the spray containers should be stored where they will not be damaged from breakage. Both types of material can be safely stored for at least 12 months.

Will Not Freeze Sprays will not freeze because of the emulsion they contain and no cases have been reported that show that dusts or sprays have broken down when kept in storage for as long as a year, Most of the metal containers, have a special lining, and unless this lining is broken no Ironbie feaky containers should oc-

The recommendations covering the use of insecticides for cotton insect control have not been made for 1951 but the standard formulas will not be changed.

It must be remembered that the basic chemicals used in the insecticide manufacturing proceas are also needed in connec tion with our national defense program and any change changes in the present situation could quickly effect the supply of insecticides. Officials in the USDA are making every possible effort to see that adequate supplies of the standard insecticides be made available but changing national and international conditions will probably be the determining factor on the 1951

The cotton farmers should also get their spraying and dusting equipment repaired during the slack season and if new equipment is needed, now is a good-time to buy,

Many problems are sure to arise in connection with the expanded cotton program and if they can be solved ahead time or at least partially solved. production can be made more efficient and insect damage can be held to a minimum.

Rockets Confuse Tank Driver Who Overturns

WITH THE FIRST MARINE AIRCRAFT WING IN NORTH KOREA, Dec. 6. (A)-While Capt. Grover C. McClure, Jr., of Jack sonville, Fla., was flying north of Pyrongyang, he spotted an enemy tank on a narrow road.

He put his plane into a dive and let fly a hail of rockets, but the tank maneuvered smartly and the rockets landed around

McClure launched two more ockets directly in front of the tank, Still no hits. But the rockets confused the tank driver. He swerved off the road into a and kind. There are double holsrocky ravine. The tank turned sters and single holsters. One over and over, bouncing right set includes holsters, guns and ut of the war.
