City Spraying To Be Finished By Late Today

The spraying project which is covering the entire city of Post should be completed by late this afternoon, Henry Tate, superintendent of city works, announced Wednesday.

The project was begun Wednesday morning by a Mr. Brown of Lubbock. He runs a pest control service there and has been in the business for several years.

Aiding Brown in the work is Kiddo Calahan, city employe.

The project is concentrating on the source of the flies and other insects more than anything else, Tate pointed out. The machine has been spraying garbage cans, chicken houses, lots, and outdoor toilets with heavy concentrations.

"We are not actually spraying inside lots or chicken houses," Tate explained. "But are spraying around them fairly heavy. We urge the owners of these places to watch them more closely and hand spray them occasionally to control the flies that breed there."

Spraying is also being done around shrubs, trees, brush piles and lumber piles where flies might land during the day, Tate explained.

According to experts a good spraying job should last approximately 16 weeks, Tate said that a recent fly control school in Lubbock, experts who had been in the field for 17 years explained the spray should last this long and also said that rain would not affect the spray once it was completed.

"Most of the alleys in town are fairly clean," Tate said, "but a few, especially behind some of the business houses in town could be cleaned out a little more."

"Scotty" Samson's Mare Named Grand Champion

"Georgia Brown," a filly owned by George "Scotty" Samson, entered her second show for her new owner and copped the Grand Champion mare title Tuesday in the third annual Southwestern Championship Quarterhorse show attended here by some 300 persons.

Grand Champion stallion of the show was exhibited by Buster Cole of Midland. He was Maby Mack C.

G. G. Hill's, jr. of Hereford, May Flower Dougherty was selected as Reserve Champion mare by Judge Wade Winston, Snyder. Winston is known nationally for his quarterhorse judging. He selected "Texas Miller," owned by Clyde Miller of Fluvanna as Reserve Champion stallion.

Other Postites to win places in the show included Earl Hodges "My Choice," first in class 3, 1949 mares; Bill Long's "Shennanigan," second in the same class; Ed Sims with gelding "Billy Sunday"; Double U company with "Wimpy Traveler"; Zoe Sims with "Baby Rain Drop," taking reserve champion trophy in the gelding class; Bill Long's "No Name," and "Thee Man."

A total of 83 entries were recorded in the show. This was a good increase over the 60 horses entered in the 1950 show at which "Jole Blon," mare owned by Glen Casey, Amarillo, was named Grand Champion as was "Old Taylor," stallion owned by A. R. Knight of Breckenridge.

An interesting sidelight story was brought to light at the show concerning "Georgia Brown" and "May Flower Dougherty." Samson bought his mare from O. G. Hill for $400. Hill turned around and bought "May Flower Dougherty" for $500 to replace the $400 mare.

Construction on the new Garza county hospital is about three weeks ahead of schedule, W. H. Myers, head of the West Texas division for Wyatt C. Hedrick, architects, has announced.

Myers, who was in town this week supervising the erection of steel on the new $400,000 plant, said that Job Superintendent C. H. Pettijohn expects to start masonry work in about two weeks.

He also announced that the special lead lining for the X-ray room has been received. This lining is the most modern of its type being used anywhere," Myers said, "and is a positive protection for technicians handling the room as well as the patients."

Elsewhere on the local construction picture, the progress is very noticeable. The new drug store of O. G. Hamilton's should be ready for occupancy within two weeks, according to an announcement from B. A. Price, contractor.

The sidings have been laid several feet high on the two new buildings just west of the Auto Supply store. Being built for Homer McCrary and Jim Hundley the buildings will contain McCrary Appliance store, The Western Boot Shop and The Post News Stand. Some of the front brick have also been laid by contractor Price.

The new Church of the Nazarene building is way ahead of schedule with most of the outside work being completed already. And the new educational building of the First Christian church is almost ready for use.

Junior Rodeo Shows Attract 5,000; Special Show Slated Friday Morning

5,000 Persons Witness Parade

Post's Main street was lined with approximately 5,000 persons Tuesday evening as the first parade heralding the fourth annual Southwestern Championship Junior Rodeo wound from West Main to the railroad tracks on East Main and back to the courthouse.

A total of 300 horses participated in the parade with riding groups coming from Floyd county, Lynn County, Crosby county, Slaton Roping club and the Post Stampede Cowboys.

Following the second parade at 6 p. m. Friday trophies will be awarded to the three outstanding riding groups in the two parades. These groups are being judged on a point basis and the group totaling the highest number of points will receive trophies.

From every vantage point available, parked cars, on cars, and lining the sidewalks the people watched the parade as it wound through the town.

Interesting sidelights in the parade were the small wagon ridden by two children and pulled by a shetland pony. The buggy was ridden by Butch Wilson, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Wilson, and Sandy Cross, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Cross.

Several exhibits added color to the parade which was headed by the Junior Rodeo Cowgirl sponsor, Maxine Baylis, and the Post Rodeo band under the direction of Vernon Lewis.

Highway Department Is Ready To Widen Roads Within City Limits

The State Highway Department has announced that it is now ready to widen the Lubbock-Snyder highway from Post's north city limits to south city limits and the Tahoka highway from where it joins the Snyder highway to the west city limits.

The department has on hand for this job $47,100 it has been announced. This amount will pay for the widening of the streets from their present 24 feet to 52 feet. And the only cost to property owners will be $1.43 per foot for curb and gutter.

The State Highway Department money will not be used on the streets unless the owners are willing to defray the cost of the curb and gutter. Any property owner interested in helping widen these streets should contact the City Hall personnel.

Bob Thompson Turns In Fastest Roping Time Yet

The fourth annual Southwestern Championship Junior Rodeo is almost half way over with approximately 5,000 persons witnessing a part of the 241 contestants go through their paces in the first two night performances.

Getting off to a bang Tuesday night, following the initial parade which wound through downtown Post and was witnessed by approximately 5,000 persons, the show attracted nearly 4,000 people. On Wednesday night the crowd fell off somewhat but those that did turn out saw a much faster and harder show than did the first nighters.

Competition in the show has been keen and promises to get much stiffer during the second go round which starts at the midway portion of tonight's show. First go round winners will be determined tonight, with four places being awarded in each event except the bareback bronc and bull riding contests. These will have only one go round and will be awarded 8 monies Saturday night.

Wednesday night the cattle were a lot meaner than they proved to be Tuesday and the contestants had a much rougher time. Several good rides were turned in in the bull riding with six boys qualifying compared to only two Tuesday night.

Perhaps the best performance in the show was the calf roping time turned in by Bob Thompson of Stinnet. He roped his calf in 11.8 seconds. And in the calf roping contest the Wednesday night performance saw the best time turned in during the show. J. L. (Continued on Page 8, Col. 5)

Threat Of Rain Runs Temperature Down

Rains which only threatened certain parts of the county fell in other sections during the latter part of last week and gave some relief to the extended dry spell. The north and northeast sections of the county received the best of the rainfall, according to reports.

At Pleasant Valley, S. M. Lewis reported that on Thursday of last week 1.5 inches fell in that section and on Friday 1.01 inches fell. No other reports came in except for Post where .82 of an inch fell.

The threat of rain at least served one good purpose. The extremely high heat, which burned the people of the county last week, has subsided somewhat. The highest reading recorded at Connell Chevrolet this week was 98 degrees on Wednesday. Tuesday the temperature ran to 86 degrees. But both fell a little shy of the 104 degree hit during the early part of last week.

Season Tickets Go On Sale For Football Games

Season tickets for the Post High school Antelope home football games will go on sale tomorrow, Superintendent D. C. Arthur, announced today.

Season tickets for both general admission and reserved seats will be sold. Reserved seat tickets for the four home games will cost $6.60 while the general admission will go for $4.20.

In the announcement Arthur pointed out that the tickets will be sold on a first-come-first-served basis.

The season tickets will cover the Littlefield game here on Sept. 21; the Levelland game on Sept. 28; the Spur game on Oct. 26; and the Slaton game on Nov. 9.

All the games except the Slaton game will be played at 8 p. m. It will begin at 2 p. m.

Burglary Of Drug Store Here Solved

Four local youths have been implicated in a recent burglary of approximately $220 worth of merchandise from Hamilton drug here, according to an announcement from the Sheriff's office.

Two of the boys implicated are already in custody of their parents with no charges contemplated. But charges are possibly pending on the other two who are out of town at the present, the announcement said.

The loot in the burglary included four men's wrist watches, valued at $33 each; four lighters, valued at $6.50 each; one lady's wrist watch, valued at $53.75; one billfold, valued at $6; and one lady's gold bracelet, valued at $5.

A clue obtained while working on a current sheet theft case helped Deputy Fay Claborn solve the case. One of the watches and one of the lighters have been recovered.

Six Theft Charges Filed Here On Post Residents In Garza Sheet Stealing Case

In a chain reaction, which was sparked by the accidental discovery of 18 dozen sheets stashed under a culvert on the Post-Snyder highway, six Post residents, five white males and a Negro woman have been arrested and charged with theft and receiving and concealing stolen goods in connection with the theft of sheets from Postex Cotton Mills.

Felony charges have been filed on Harold France, 21, theft; Billy Holly, 20, theft; Bobby Blacklock, 17, theft; James Cunningham, 18, theft; Joe Kinman, 23, receiving and concealing stolen goods; and Lizzie Milo, about 30, receiving and concealing. All have been released on $500 bond pending grand jury action.

Further investigations in the case indicate that persons in Big-Spring, Snyder and Slaton may also be involved in the case. This recent upsurge of arrests climaxed investigations that have been carried on by Sheriff Carl Rains and his office since the first of the year. Results of the arrests may also bring charges on at least five more persons.

The activity all began last Sunday when a mill hand discovered the sheets beneath the culvert while practicing with his rifle. He immediately notified mill manager O. G. Murphy who called Deputy Fay Claborn.

Claborn hid out in the vicinity and around 11 a. m. France and Holly drove up and began loading the sheets into their car. After a chase they were arrested and placed in jail. The remaining arrests resulted.

Wyvonne Morris Wins Title Of County Gold Star Girl

Miss Wyvonne Morris has been selected the 1951 Garza county Gold Star 4-H club girl, Mrs. Jewel Strasser, home demonstration agent, has announced.

The 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Morris of the Graham community, won the title from a field of five girls whose demonstrations were judged last Friday.

Other contestants in the contest and the order in which they rated included: Oneita Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Jones of Close City; Sue Stephens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Stephens of Post; Willis Faye Graves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Graves of Crossroads, Post Junior club; and Synda Lee McLaurin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. McLaurin of Junctionburg.

These girls had to see at least 12 years old and members of the 4-H club for at least three years, and had to be elected by their clubs before being judged in the contest Friday. Their demonstrations were judged on quality of work as well as quantity, with quality outweighing quantity, Mrs. Strasser said. Judged also were their oral accounts of all their demonstrations.

Wyvonne, who will be a freshman in the Post school system this year, has been a 4-H member for the past five years. She was judged on her demonstrations of garden, poultry, home improvements, food preparation, preservation (freezing foods), and health and grooming, needle work, handiwork and clothing.

During her five years in the club work, Wyvonne has compiled an outstanding record for herself. She has won approximately 90 ribbons from nearly every event in this area. Five of them came from the Panhandle-South Plains Fair where she carried exhibits. A few of her ribbons have come from participation in the annual play-day activities of declamation and one-act plays.

Other prizes aside from the ribbons won by this outstanding 4-H club girl of the county, include a set of baking equipment won in a baking contest; an iron won as high point girl in clothing at fall 4-H show; a portrait; an overnight case and a pair of lamps. During her five years club work she has completed 42 demonstrations.

Wyvonne's work has also won her three trips to the State Fair in Dallas and one trip to the District 2 camp at Lubbock.

Softball Playoffs To Begin Next Week

Final round in the Square Deal softball playoff will take place some time next week, presumably Monday night, Monk Gibson, manager of the Storie Motor team, said.

In the play-off Post will clash with the winner of the Southland-Tahoka series, Wednesday, the standing in that play-off series stood at 2-1 games in favor of Southland. Gibson said they should finish their series sometime this week and the final play-off would probably begin Monday night.

At the present time the place of the play-off, no matter who wins, is undecided. That will be determined by a toss of the coin.

SPECIAL RODEO

A special rodeo show will be held Friday at 9 a. m. for the purpose of newsreel and television coverage, it has been announced. The show will be free to the public and everyone is urged to attend. Representatives from four major newsreel companies will be on hand to cover this special show.

INJURED SLIGHTLY

Eugene Harris, of Midland, was slightly injured at the second Junior Rodeo performance Wednesday night when he fell under the horse he was riding in the bareback bronc riding contest.

POST HOUSING...

The housing situation in Post is actually driving people away from the city. This fact has become more apparent recently when people trying to find available housing have bluntly stated they will live in surrounding communities before taking one of the places which are for rent here. Naturally, many of the places which are being rented are nice places. It is not these people have in mind, although they do object to the outrageously high prices being asked by some owners. Their main complaints are about the hovels and shacks which many Post owners try to gouge them with because of the existing housing shortage. Some examples have been specifically given by prospective renters and include: One place which adjoins a business establishment described as being "not fit for chickens." Its small bathroom and lavatory has to be shared with all the employees and patrons of the business. Another tiny hovel had all the wall paper torn off the walls and scattered over the floor with other trash—the owners did not have the interest to clean it up before trying to rent it. Another family reported a place where they had to walk across a plank in the shower to be able to reach the bed-room. And bedrooms with no ventilation except for the door leading to the other rooms have also been reported. None of these mentioned above can be very inducive to people coming in here and in the long run they could prove to be a stigma on the town thereby causing people to shy clear of Post as a place to live.

PRICE CONTROLS...

The recent move by OPS of selecting 36 representatives of retailing to serve on its newly established Retail Industry Advisory committee was a commendable move. These men, who are connected with stores all over the country, including both chain and independent operations, should assure that the problems of retailers are dealt with effectively. This and other recent moves by the government's pricing organization tend to indicate an earnest desire to help the people and do a good job at the same time. Yet, there are still those who cry "wolf" at the mention of the OPS. There are still those who say we don't need price controls. Such thoughts are pure "hog-wash." When the war broke out in Korea the people yelled no price controls and said that prices could voluntarily be kept down. But what happened? This did not work out at all. There were too many people who slipped in an extra penny or two here and there until finally the entire thing was out of hand. Then OPS had to be organized. This was done in the face of heavy opposition from almost every angle and without too much co-operation by the people it is to protect. A tremendous task any way you look at it, yet the people expect, and almost demand, that its organization be smoothly and efficiently carried out as if it were dealing with only three or four people instead of 160 million different people who don't worry too much when price controls affect their neighbor, but cry loud and long when it bears down a little on them. In this day and time price controls are necessary and the people should stop to realize that without them the country would be in a heck of a mess in a very short while.

Getting Out On the LIMB...

By EDDIE the editor

Gum! Gum! Chewing Gum! To day we are certainly stuck with, by and for chewing gum. It's spread everywhere every year, under tables in the cafe, under the counters, on theater seats and under our shoes. In fact $260,000,000 worth of chewing gum is sold every year and I would almost bet (not being much of a gambler) that over half of that amount finds itself stuck underneath some of the objects listed above. And speaking of theaters, if you went into one and sat down on a piece of gum what movie star would you immediately think of? Now you will have to answer that question yourself, but I assure you of one thing, it's certainly on your honey. There's no way I know of to get rid of chewing gum so we might as well admit we're stuck with it. And have been for some time. It seems from an article I read that Americans have been chewing for a long time. Way back before 1875, when Thomas Adams put the first chicle-based chewing gum on the market, they chewed flavored paraffin gum, spruce gums and the old stand-by tobacco. Too, they even had a tree called the sweet-gum tree—and it has gum on it. According to this chewing article by Betsy Simon (I'm not personally acquainted with her), Adams first learned of chicle from the Mexican dictator, Santa Anna, who had fled to Staten Island shortly before the Civil War. Adams first tried to make the substance, which Santa Anna said came from the Sapodilla tree, into a substitute for rubber. But he failed unfortunately so we have to go around today scraping wads of chewing gum as big as hen eggs off our shoes. His first gum, advertised as "New York Gum—Snapping and Stretching," gained rapid popularity and he began mass producing the stuff on a machine. But as is the case with all good rackets (newspapers included) someone else had to break in and take some of the trade. Some druggist in Louisville began flavoring his gum with tolu balsam. Then the vicious circle really began. Adams added a licorice flavor. And an inspired Cleveland gum maker added peppermint for its digestive qualities (maybe that's why my doctor told me to get off cigars and start chewing gum). Since that time many and varied flavors have been used in the moneymaking little sticks but the favorite is still the mint family—which just goes to show that the South has the best taste. Leave it to a soap salesman to ballyhoo the gum business to its present governmental proportions. William Wrigley, Jr. was at the turn of the century, just an ordinary soap salesman (and when I say ordinary I mean just that. He did not have the singing commercial, the radio or the $64 dollar program to put his business before the people). But he did have chewing gum! In giving away gum premiums with soap, Wrigley increased his soap business so much that he decided he was selling the wrong item. And there began the modern history of the gum business. Possessing a car-load of confidence—both in himself and the people's ability and desire to give their jaws a work out on the little stick of flavored delicacy, Wrigley began an advertising campaign in 1907, when everybody else was de-horning their advertising that paid off in more than much of that old "green stuff." In 1908, his $170,000 business rocketed to $1,345,000 and only two years after that it was well over the $4,000,000 mark. And since then the business has roared upward to where it is now estimated that an average of 130 pieces of gum are consumed annually by every person in the country. Now there are some people, or psychiatrists that is, who claim that chewing gum relieves nervous tension. So gum-chewers are actually getting relieving satisfaction out of chomping on the stuff. One of the quirks of the gum business happened during World War II. Throughout his many years in the gum business Wrigley, and all of his competitors, spent millions of dollars for advertising, salesmen and promotion, but during the war the gum business received more free advertising, more free salesmen (they even had to pay for the gum they gave away) than it ever had. For the G. I. made chewing gum universal. In fact the figures prove they increased the gum sales four fold. In 1948, American manufacturers, who make an estimated ninety-five per cent of the world's chewing gum supply, exported nearly eleven million pounds to the four corners of the world — four times the prewar total. As you have more than likely noticed (that is if you have read this far in this sticky story) I have not mentioned the bubble gum business. Actually it is a kingdom in itself. Here in the

Let's Put All The Cards On The Table

Our Contemporaries Are Saying:

X-Ray Unit To Be Here

A portable x-ray unit, belonging to the State Department of Health, is to be set up in Crosbyton for four days, Aug. 29, 30 and 31, and Sept. 1, for the purpose of taking chest x-rays of every person in the county. The machines will be placed in Lorenzo for one day, Sept. 5. This service is absolutely free, health officials point out, and all findings are kept strictly confidential. If findings are negative, each person will receive a letter from the health department to that effect. In cases where there positive indications of tuberculosis or other chest disease, both the patient and his doctor will be notified, and further examination is suggested.

Cotton Talk

In connection with cotton business and cotton talk we have recently heard talk about boll worms attacking the squares in cotton. They must be getting mighty bold, these bollworms, or have they been attacking squares in the cotton fields all the time and we just didn't know about it? And if they have all the time why should they not have been named square worms instead of bollworms? These are the kind of things that need to be seen about!

First Rodeo

Representatives from Morton Lions Club and Morton Polo and Roping Club met Monday night at the Lem Chesser home to formulate plans for Morton's first annual Championship Amateur Rodeo. A. C. Ward of Seminole met with the group. The rodeo slated for Friday and Saturday nights, August 24 and 25, will be produced by Ward Brothers of Seminole, Texas. A. C. Ward will furnish the stock.

Getting Tired?

At times, I realize that I am getting tired . . . Things which might have amused me ten years ago—fall flat . . . Just the other day, Louis T. Nash delivered a clipping to this desk . . . It portrayed a graying man, in a battered hat, with an impossible backlash on a casting reel . . . The man wore a checkered shirt—and was smoking a pipe . . . Mr. Nash's warped sense of humor was attempting to associate me with that poor man . . . Of all things! . . . The man's hair was graying, he appeared as though he might have false teeth, his hat was battered, his face was becoming wrinkled, he had a backlash, he was wearing a checkered shirt—and he was smoking a pipe . . . I haven't worn a checkered shirt, nor smoked a pipe, in years!

Lots Of Applicants

Reports from the Chamber of Commerce office are that there is an ever increasing number of people taking Drivers tests when the Highway men come to Slaton twice each month to test drivers who are well enough trained to secure drivers licenses. The next date for drivers to take tests in Slaton will be Tuesday, August 14th. The Highway officials arrive here in the mornings and those who wish to have tests made should be present when the men arrive. There are usually from twenty to twenty-five applications each week and the men are kept busy most of the day.

Bumper Baby Crop

There's gonna be a bumper babay crop this year. Don't ask Facts how he knows. He just does. A bumper crop of babies may mean less bridge playing, a little less golfing and scanty canasta as well as a decline in square dancing, but anyhow raising babies is a good "hobby."

—The Olney Enterprise

good old gum-chewing U. S. more than twelve billion pieces are sold annually and still a million more pieces are shipped overseas. It's a cinch that with all this amount of gum going to the foreign countries nobody over there should have to ask the question, "Got any gum, chum?" Maybe if we could get all this gum behind the "iron curtain" we could get the Commie operations "All stuck up."

So there you have the history of chewing gum. And if you aren't stuck to the bottom of your chair (by some piece of gum junior has left there, naturally) you are lucky, because it sure is sticky around here.

Well, I'm off to get a couple of cigars—no, remembering the doctor's orders, a couple of sticks of chewing gum.

Texans In WASHINGTON

By TEX EASLEY, Associated Press Washington Service

WASHINGTON, P.—Behind the recent congressional argument over child labor in cotton fields is a racial issue.

Involved is a bill which would permit state and local authorities to use their own judgment whether children under 16 should be permitted to pick cotton during school hours.

Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin opposes the legislation. West Texas farmers and school officials declare there will be havoc and waste in West Texas cotton fields unless the measure passes.

There is a racial angle because most of the workers involved are migrant Latin-American families who come from the Rio Grande Valley to work in West Texas cotton fields.

Sam Allen of Lamesa, summing up the views of a group of West Texans who came to urge passage of the legislation, said:

"We certainly are not opposed to the Latin-American children getting an education. What we are trying to do now is show government officials we have a serious and practical problem to face.

"We need the cotton, for the defense effort. We will have the cotton, but we face a serious risk. It won't get picked if they won't relax the present ban against hiring those under 16 during school hours.

"Crew chiefs who bring in this help each year tell us now that they will have difficulty recruiting all the help we will need. Those men won't come up if they can't bring their families, and they can't afford to come with the children unless all of them are working.

"The result is that they, as well as the farmer with the crop to pick, suffer financial hardships."

Tobin told the Texans he felt that enough help would be provided under the Mexican Farm Labor Treaty.

Whether or not the Latin-American Texans migrate with their families in great numbers this year remains to be seen. The effect of large numbers, as occurred last year, was related by another member of the visiting Texans.

"When we have a large influx," said Roy Boyd, superintendent of county schools in Lubbock county, "we simply have to dismiss school.

"We don't have the buses to pick them up, the classrooms to accommodate nor enough teachers to handle them. That, of course, penalizes our own permanently enrolled children whose parents are taxed to keep the school doors open."

ROGER W. BABSON WRITES THIS WEEK

Writer Describes Methods By Which High School Students May Receive College Aid

BABSON PARK, Mass. — I have recently received from a devoted father the copy of a letter which he wrote his son on graduation. In it he says:

Lincoln vs. Land

"Mother and I are proud of the record you have made in school and college, especially by your continued faith in God and constant association with the church and the things it stands for. Now I have been thinking of what to give you as a graduation present. Mother wants me to give you a fine Lincoln Convertible car; but I just don't feel it is right to do so.

"Hence, instead of giving you the car, I am enclosing a deed to forty acres of land worth three times the cost of the car. Land and labor are the basis of all wealth, especially in this day of inflation. Land is more desirable than money. Land will keep getting more valuable if you give it half the attention you would give a car. If you take care of your land, son, it will take care of you. I cannot object to your having a Lincoln, as I have two; But I earned the money with which I bought mine and I want you to do likewise."

Present Unfair Conditions

During the summer I have talked with several high school principals. They tell me that some of their highest and hardest working students have not the money to go to college. They can get partial scholarships, but unless they can live at home, they just can't swing it. On the other hand, students who are much less deserving go to college with an automobile and a big spending allowance.

Large corporations which send their employment managers to the colleges to hire the "best graduates" would do far better to go to the high schools and select their students by their high school record and then help finance these students through college. These corporations are now doing their picking four years late!

Importance of Summer Work

Of one thing I am certain—namely, that how high school students use their summers is of great importance. I have about come to the conclusion that I will employ only those who have worked every summer during high school and college. Those who have earned at least half their college tuition and board are to be preferred. The best young people to hire are those who have earned their entire way through college, with the help of scholarships and summer work.

Home Training Important

A person can do too much for his children or grandchildren. Unless a young person has learned to love work, something is wrong. It may have been careless school or home training, or giving the boy or girl too much money. Certainly more high school young people are harmed by having too much money, rather than too little money.

It is easier for a parent with money to say "yes" rather than refuse; but isn't this pure selfishness on the part of the parent or grandparent? Sometimes I think that families lacking money are more fortunate than those possessing it. Certainly this whole educational and home training problem is topsy-turvy.

Helping The Worthy

The best way to help young people is to give them opportunities to work and earn money. If they stick to the job—or themselves find a better one—then they will come out okay. I sometimes think a young person will do better in a job which he or she finds without family help. But idleness is dangerous to all concerned.

Next to giving young people good opportunities to work, perhaps the best way to help them is to say to the high school principal: "I want to help some worthy student who is anxious to go to college but who must help his family and hence thinks he can't do so." Let me add that I, myself, would like to so help two or three such students who would immediately write me.

What About Trust Funds?

I believe in Trust Funds for children and grandchildren; but they should serve as insurance in case of sickness, old-age or hard luck. They should not result in making it unnecessary for the beneficiary to work, save and be a useful citizen. The love of work is a blessing.

Instead of arranging for the young person to get all the income when 26 years of age—it may be better to make him co-trustee with the bank but to move the 26 years up to 40 years. Trustees, however, should have power to use part of the accumulated income to help in case of need.

County Cotton Crop Expected To Fall Percent Under 1950's 14,000 Bales

Super cotton crop which farmers looked for the first of the planting has been so heavily drenched by the extended drouth that county farmers will do good to produce last year's cotton crop. The cotton crop is expected to be about 10 percent of the 1950 crop, according to county extension agent, J. W. Lewis. The cotton crop is expected to be about 10 percent of the 1950 crop, according to county extension agent, J. W. Lewis. The cotton crop is expected to be about 10 percent of the 1950 crop, according to county extension agent, J. W. Lewis.

14,000 bales of cotton on a measured 43,000 acres. The extensive damage caused by the drouth is emphasized by the fact that county farmers seeded, at planting time, approximately 70,000 acres of cotton. And at the present time there are no more than 30,000 acres of produceable cotton land in the county. Rains over the weekend may have helped some of the cotton in the county, but they were too little and too late to furnish any relief for the majority of the farms. According to Lewis, the farms in the north and northeast parts of the county should be helped by the rains. But, he warned, that the rain might also increase bollworm infestation. Infestation by this cotton pest has been noted in spotted sections of the county in the last few weeks, Lewis said. He also explained that if caught in time they could be controlled. When eggs and four or five worms are found per 100 terminals the spraying instructions call for a 2-1 mixture (a spray concentrate containing 2 parts toxaphene and 1 part DDT), or toxaphene, 2 to 3 pounds; or aldrin - DDT (1-2), or dieldrin-DDT (1-2), 3-4 to 1-1-2 pounds per acre, at 5-day intervals. On the late season dusting control program, when the above infestation is found, the farmer should dust with 20 percent toxaphene - 40 percent sulphur, or a 3-5-40 mixture (3 percent gamma benzene hexachloride - 5 parts DDT), or calcium arsenate, or lime-free calcium arsenate plus one percent parthion, or 2 1-2 percent aldrin-5 percent DDT-40 percent sulphur, or 2 1-2 percent dieldrin-5 percent DDT-40 percent sulphur, 10 to 15 pounds per acre, 5-day intervals. The recently conducted survey revealed that only about 3,000 acres of grain sorghums have been planted in the county. Officials estimate that had sufficient moisture fallen in the county farmers would have planted approximately 30,000 acres of grain sorghum. Also included in the survey was the amount of peanuts the county has under cultivation. It listed approximately 150 acres planted compared to the allotted 300 acres. Throughout the nation agriculture department officials forecast a record cotton crop of an estimated 17,266,000 bales. In Texas the prediction is for a five million bale crop. Some sections of the state are expected to produce record crops while one or more areas have been hard hit by drouth, hail or insect infestation.

Social Security Law Is Explained

Although many employed wage earners over 75 years of age have applied for Old-Age and Survivors insurance benefit payments, the number of persons over that age who have not made application is still exceedingly large, according to figures in the Social Security office in Lubbock. "Those persons who have not applied do not realize yet that they and their dependents can now have these monthly payments," John Hutton, manager, pointed out. Before the new Social Security law went into effect last September, payments could not be made to any worker over 65 who continued in a job covered by social security and earned over $14.99 a month. Under the amended law, a worker over 75 may engage in any kind of employment or self-employment and have benefit payments regardless of the amount of his earnings. Between the ages of 65 and 75, the insured person may now have $50 a month in work covered by social security. In urging all insured workers aged 75 or older to sign up for the payments, Hutton reminded them that back payments can be made for as many as six months only.

Trophy Won By Post Cowboys

Post Stampede Cowboys journeyed to Lamesa last Thursday and copped the first place trophy for riding groups in the Lamesa Rodeo parade. The attractive trophy was presented to Phil Bouchier, foreman of the Cowboys, by Western Film star "Wild Bill" Elliott. Riders who participated in the trophy-winning ride included Floy Richardson, Lacy Richardson, Jack Meeks, Sonny Nance, Earl Hodges, Lee Byrd, Bill Long, Clyde Kemp, Bill Cook, Walter Boren, Jimmy Wright and Phil Bouchier. Other Post residents who attended the opening performance of the Lamesa Rodeo were Mr. and Mrs. Shelly Camp and family and Homer McCrary and family. Seven year old Roger Camp, who took his horse to Lamesa, really rode in class during the parade. He met "Wild" Bill before the show and when the parade started Elliott asked him to ride beside him throughout the entire parade. Sonny Nance is also one of the judges for the cutting horse show at the Lamesa rodeo.

Changes Are Made In State Position Tests

Recent revisions in examination procedures for Field Worker and Child Welfare Worker has been announced by the Merit System Council. To cut down on the time lost between the date of an application and the date of actual appointment the tests will be given continuously. Persons in this area who might be interested in applying for either of these positions may take the tests in Lubbock on the second Saturday of each month. The minimum qualifications for Field Worker are 60 semester hours of college work or qualifying experience, while the position of Child Welfare Worker requires a college degree. Miss Virginia McBride of Bryan and Miss Frances Wilson of Houston arrived Friday for a visit in the Delmo Gossett home. Recent visitors in the Pearl Davidson home were Mrs. Davidson's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. England of Winters.

County 4-H Clubs To Enter Various Events

When school begins in September and the 4-H clubs are reorganized, club officials intend to consider entering members in various contests being sponsored this year, Lewis Herron, County Agent, said. One such project is the Home Grounds Beautification and Recreation - Rural Arts program. The need for practical morale-building leisure-time activities in 4-H club work is accentuated through this program which is being conducted again this year by the Texas Extension service. In 1950 the 4-H Home Grounds program helped more than 114,500 club members beautify and improve their farmsteads. Its popularity is evidenced by the increased enrollment of nearly 20,000 over 1949. The chief purpose of the 4-H Recreation and Rural Arts program is to encourage rural young people to help develop family and community recreation programs, leading to better mental and physical well-being. Incentives provided by the United States Rubber company in this program total $32,000. The E. W. Currys of Blue Jacket, Okla., recently visited relatives and friends here.

They Like it a Million!

Last week Buick set a proud record. The millionth Dynaflow Drive* was delivered to a happy owner. That's a new peak in popularity for modern drives which take you from a standing start to any cruising speed desired with a smooth, unfaltering swoop of power. "The biggest advance since the self-starter" is what the motorwise press called this Buick development back in 1948—and now a million owners can tell you how right that proved to be. Here, they found, was a basically different way of delivering power. It was the first drive to get completely away from any gears which function in a series of fixed stages—the first to apply supercharging principles that did new tricks with spinning oil. And how folks loved it! They loved the freedom from strain in traffic. And the new "sweetness" of ride which every passenger could enjoy. They loved the command it gives them of every traffic situation—and the relaxation it contributes to a long day's drive. They loved its extra safety in slippery going, and the improved control in mud and snow. As they piled up experience, they loved the unexpected savings of rear tire wear and the reduced strain on all driving parts, from engine to differential. And finally—they loved what it does for the value of a Buick, as reflected in the extra dollars that Dynaflow* adds to the resale price of a car. Have you sampled this driving sensation? There's no time like the present for discovering the thrills that more than a million Buick owners already know.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on Buick Wildcat, optional extra cost on other Buicks.

Santa Claus Town Visited By Postite
Vacation cards from Mrs. Eva Bailey are being received here by many of her friends. Mrs. Bailey is now in Louisville, Ky., the home of the historical Kentucky Derby, the greatest turf classic in America. She recently visited her old home town of Milltown, Indiana, and enjoyed a reunion of school chums—some of whom she had not seen since she moved away more than fifty years ago.

By COPE ROUTH
MIDLAND, P — The slender, khaki-clad Negro hesitated a few minutes before he finally opened the door and walked into the Midland Reporter-Telegram office.
"I just wondered," he said apologetically, "how much it would cost to get a little item in the paper."
"What about?" he was asked.
"Well," he answered, "I just got home and I thought maybe you could put a piece in the paper about it tomorrow."
"Where've you been?"
"I've been in Korea, but I got a 30-day furlough and I came home to see my folks. It's been a long time."
"What's your name?"
"Sanders. Howard Sanders — Howard Sanders Junior, My papa's name is Howard, too. He works around town, doin' yard work an' odd jobs. My mother is Willie Howard. She works for some families here in town."
The little Negro soldier shifted nervously and removed his colored glasses.
"How long were you in Korea, Howard?"
"Well, it was eight months. I first went in at a place called Inchon. Went in with the First Marine Division. Been there ever since."
"Did you see much action?"
He instinctively glanced down at his brown shirt, where three tiny stars gleamed from a second row of ribbons.
"Yes sir, I guess I saw all the action I want to see for a long time."
"From Inchon we fought on north to the Manchurian border. We got right to the Yalu river before we stopped. That's when those other people came into the fight."
"You mean the Chinese Communists?"
"Yes sir. The Chinese. That's when things got pretty tough, too."
"The North Koreans weren't so bad. But those Chinese, they were good fighters and there were lots of them. They used to send maybe 4,000 at us at one time. Well, at least 1,000 wouldn't have any guns at all. They'd just wait 'til one of the others fell, then they'd pick up his gun and come into the fight."
"Yes sir. It really got tough then."
"I was in World War II. I was right in the middle of the Lingayen landing and I was at San Fernando, off the coast of the Philippines. I thought that was pretty bad."
"But I never saw anything like the fightin' over in Korea."
Sanders said he was a corporal during the fighting and was a gunner on a 155-mm howitzer.
"Sometimes," he added, "they came at us so fast, we just fired point blank at 'em."
"You must have killed a lot of them."
"Yes sir, I guess I did. There'd be several of our other big guns firing at the same time and we couldn't tell how many we killed. All I know is there were lots of dead Chinese on the ground."
"Didn't you ever get hit?"
"No sir. I never did. I must 'ave been pretty lucky. I was in five major engagements in World War II and this Korean war and I never got a scratch."
"I came pretty close, though. When we were heading south again with the Chinese right behind us it was pretty tough. There at Wonju it was just plain hand-to-hand fighting and I heard a lot of bullets whiz past my head. Never got a scratch, though."
He put his cap back in his head and started for the door. He hesitated, and came back.
"Excuse me," he said, "how much will it cost to put something in the paper about my comin' home?"
Nothing. Corporal Sanders, nothing. And thank you.

And from indications of the first two performances, we firmly believe you will leave here thinking the same thing we do—that the Post Southwestern Championship Junior Rodeo is the tops in the country.

And to the merchants and other people of the town we say "thanks for your cooperation in helping decorate the city. It looks like the part of the scene for a 'wild and woolly' cowboy show." Or if we can coin the word, it looks rodeoish.

The approximately 4,000 persons who attended the opening night of the rodeo really got their money's worth. It is doubtful that the rodeo arena could have held any more horses had they been included in the grand entry.

Let us take this chance to congratulate the parade winners also. The parade was grand. Several more floats or exhibits would have certainly added to the color of the parade, but otherwise it was great. By the way, there is another parade at 6 p. m. tomorrow. Why don't some more of you people get up a float or exhibit to put in there. If you don't have any material you can rent it from Harley Prichard, who can be contacted through the Chamber of Commerce office. How about getting in the swing and making the parade tomorrow the best one put on here in a long time.

So, to the many visitors, contestants and celebrities, we say "Welcome, while you are here and hurry back to see us!"

Let us also add our congratulations to those persons who worked so hard on making the Quarterhorse show the success it was. And especially to George "Scotty" Samson for copping grand Champion title with his mare. Also hearty congratulations to all other county residents who won ribbons at the show.

"It is truly a fascinating place to take the little folks and one that brings joy to the grown folks too."

Mrs. Bailey plans to return to Post next week. She spent several weeks with her sister in La Junta, Colo., and visited a nephew, Dr. Lincoln A. Sanders, and his family in St. Louis, Mo., a brother J. Assessing The Men Of The House Requires Much Menu Planning

Just a pleased look on Junior's face could easily be caused from the ORANGE QUICK LOAF that his mom prepared the night before. Raisin-Orange loaf is not only a tasty treat for him and his friends, after a game of cops and robbers, but also with a salad and sandwich supper these August evenings.

Mix together 2½ cups all-purpose flour, 1½ cups baking powder, 1 teaspoon soda, 1-4 teaspoon salt. Put 1 cup raisins in mixer bowl; pour about 1-4 cups boiling water over them and let stand at least 15 minutes. Add raisins, reserving 3-4 cup soaking water. Put raisin through fine blade of food chopper back into mixing bowl. Stir in 3-4 cup soaked raisin water, 3-4 teaspoon orange juice, 1-4 cup orange juice, 3-4 cup sugar, and 1½ cups butter. Beat in 1 egg with beat. Beat in dry ingredients just until they are combined. Pour greased loaf pan and bake in 350 degree oven for one hour. Slice loaf after cooling on cake rack, but slices and tastes better after having been stored in tightly closed container.

Your husband is a veteran, that means that you don't have to worry about anything similar in the pantry! Bet you can fool with this dish: called SPECIAL LUNCHEON MEAT.

Cut 12 ounces of luncheon meat in 4 slices; arrange in shallow greased baking dish. Surround with 4 canned cling peach halves and 4 medium sized cooked yams. Stud yams with cloves. Pour 1-2 cup peach syrup over all. Sprinkle peaches with 1-2 cup firmly-packed brown sugar. Bake in 375 oven for 20 to 30 minutes, basting occasionally with peach syrup.

A special of the week is ROYAL MEET SALAD, which can't be made in advance. Combine 2 cups diced lamb, pork or veal with 1 cup celery, 1 cup pitted Bing cherries, 4 diced hard-cooked eggs, 1 cup chopped nut meats and 1 teaspoon salt. Chill thoroughly. Before serving, add 1 cup mayonnaise and toss lightly. Pile on greens and garnish with additional slices of hard-cooked eggs and Bing cherries.

Timely Cooking Tips

Next time you serve fried or broiled fish make a beet salad to go with them. Season canned beets with salt, sugar, lemon juice and a tiny bit of horseradish and serve on shredded lettuce.

A good filling for a sandwich is grated carrots and chopped nuts mixed with mayonnaise.

If you want a new flavor for whipping cream for fruit tarts two tablespoons of brown sugar and a few drops of vanilla make a quarter cup of cream.

Grated cucumber is delicious added to sour cream and used with cold boiled salmon for a main-course.

"I've met a lot of people since I've been working and too, we have met several couples that are employed by Donnelly. This part of the state is all new to me but it isn't half as bad as I had been told it would be; in fact, I like it," Mrs. Davis said.

The couple enjoys playing cards and 42 but give most of their attention to their black cocker spaniel dog. "I told Mr. Lanotte that I thought I would have a picture of our dog put in the paper because I know there isn't a prettier one in town," the newcomer laughingly said.

Davis served in the Navy during World War II. The new residents attend the Baptist church. Mrs. Davis says she is eligible to join the Order of the Eastern Star but "just never has gotten around to it." In her spare time, which isn't much after working and keeping house, she draws sketches.

Antelope Band To Begin Rehearsals

When the Antelope Marching band members begin their rehearsals at 8:30 a. m. Monday morning, they will find a practically new band room in which to practice.

New fluorescent lighting has been installed, making the lighting compare to any band room, and water has been piped to the room and a fountain installed. Heavy curtains are draped over the windows for acoustical purposes and according to band director Vernon Lewis they are serving their purpose nicely.

Other minor alterations include window and door checks. Lewis reminds all band members who expect to play in the fall band to be on hand for the first rehearsals Monday morning.

"There will be only three full school days before the band has to put on their first football show," he explained, "and this makes it necessary for us to begin rehearsals at this time."

The monstrous hippopotamus, together with all the other animals carried by the circus, will be fed and watered at 10 p. m. on the morning of Sept. 6, and the public is invited to witness the feeding and watering free of any charge.

Representative Of OPS To Be In Post

Leonard C. Tyson, OPS price specialist, will be in Post Tuesday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce office in the Garza theatre building.

The price representative will be here to serve the merchants, and they are urged to call on him for help or ask him to come to their place of business to assist them.

"It is our desire to serve the merchants of the area to the best of our ability in order to effect voluntary compliance with the government's stabilization program," said C. J. Taylor, Lubbock district price executive.

Welch Family To Observe Reunion

All descendants of the late William and Lucinda Welch and their families will attend a family reunion at the Baptist Camp Ground just east of Big Spring, Aug. 17, 18 and 19, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Welch, Post directors of the camp, have announced.

Ralph and his family intend to make the reunion and possibly Rex and his family. Their father, Riley, will probably not be able to attend this year.

This family reunion was instituted after the close of World War II as an annual feature. Previously it had been held at Lake Brownwood. Five of the children of the pioneer couple, who made their home in Center City in Mills county, are still living. They include Mrs. Sallie Scrivner, Dermott; John R. Welch, Sterling City; C. S. Welch, Goldthwaite; Riley Welch, Post; and Mrs. T. D. Lasley, Seminole.

Grand children and great grandchildren of the pioneer couple are scattered over most of Texas and into surrounding states. At the time of her death several years ago, Mrs. Welch was 93-years-old and had more than a hundred living descendants.

One feature of the reunion is the religious service on Sunday morning. The children are formed into classes for the Sunday school hour and members of the group, who serve as Sunday school teachers in various denominations, teach the classes.

The preaching this year will be done by the Rev. Ross T. Welch, pastor of the First Methodist church in McCamey.

The Rev. Cecil McIntire, pastor of the First Baptist church in Sterling city, whose wife before their marriage was Miss Anna Mae Welch, has also preached at the reunion.

MISS TEXAS FOR 1951 — Miss Janie Holcomb, second from right, gets best wishes from runners-up in the Miss Texas contest at New Braunfels. The Odessa girl won the chance to go to Atlantic City to compete for the Miss America title. She was Miss West Texas, left to right are: Helen Marshall, Amarillo; and Vondal Alford, Tyler, both tied for third; Miss Texas, and Beverly Gay Wren, Fort Worth, second place winner.

Gold Star Girl—

(Continued From Front Page) record seems to imply she has confined her entire time to club work. Wyvonne has taken time out to participate in athletic events and is an outstanding scholastic student. She has won several ribbons in field events at play-days and was a member of her school basketball team this past year. At the graduation ceremonies this year, she was also salutatorian.

As county Gold Star girl Wyvonne will represent the county at the annual 4-H Roundup at Texas A. and M. college next spring. Another county girl who will attend the Roundup will be Norma Lee Ritchie, Close City, who was 1950 Gold Star girl but did not get to attend the meeting this year because of a ruling on age.

Projects in Wyvonne's 4-H club work has included 35 articles in clothing; 74 articles in needlework and handicraft; 200 pounds of produce in three years of gardening work; 1,000 chickens in poultry; 230 containers in food preservation work; served 235 full meals; froze 101 containers of chicken and helped prepare pork and beef for freezing; and home improvements in bedroom and bath room.

She has conducted 16 demonstrations and five dress reviews. An estimated 1,700 persons attended her demonstrations and two years she made the highest score in the county on her dress reviews.

Wyvonne says that out of all the work and projects she has completed in the last five years, the one she liked the best has been helping her mother care for her tiny sister, Virginia.

Judges in last Friday's contest included: Mrs. Wayne Pennington, Mrs. Glen Davis, Mrs. Byron Haynie and Norma Lee Ritchie.

At the last official census, April 21, 1936, there were 43,059,889 inhabitants. Since then the Ethiopian war, World War II, migrations, evacuations and deportations all have taken place—but the country's population continued to increase.

Tramway Approaches Perpetual Motion

TIMMINS, Ont. P. — Northern Ontario's closest approach to perpetual motion crosses a highway between here and Schumacher. It's a huge aerial tramway leading into Hollinger mine and stretching three miles back over rolling, wooded country. For the last 24 years it has handled one of the largest sand-moving jobs in North America. It operates 24 hours a day, six days a week.

The tramway so far has brought almost 20,000,000 tons of sand from a pit to the mine. The sand is used to replace rock removed from the mine so the walls won't collapse on workers.

Garza County Agriculture Committee To Hold Meeting Concerning Farm Policy Review

Garza county Agricultural Mobilization Committee will meet tomorrow at 1 p. m. to discuss a possible county-wide meeting of all farmers at which the nationwide Family Farm Policy Review will be explained and discussed.

Members of the PMA committee who comprise the Mobilization committee include Mike Custer, Lewis Heron, Jess Ward, Claude Spence, Julius C. Pumagalil, Glen Davis, T. L. Jones, Perry Walker, Carl Griffin and County Judge H. M. Snowden.

The Family Farm Policy Review was originated by Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan. The program is aimed at obtaining farmer opinion of the present programs of the Department of Agriculture along with suggestions for their approval.

In carrying out the most extensive survey of any Secretary of Agriculture, Brannan is calling upon the 3,000 state and county Agricultural Mobilization committees to take the program to the grass roots. These committees will hold meetings at the state, county and community levels, during which time representatives and leaders of farm groups, churches and civic organizations will be invited to express their opinions.

The purpose of the meeting, which will be held in the PMA office tomorrow afternoon, is to determine what kind of meeting will be held in this county, and when and where it will be held.

According to B. F. Vance, chairman of the Texas AM committee the USDA wants to adapt future policies to the needs and recommendations of the family farm. It is important that all interested persons attend one of the meetings or else send their recommendations and suggestions to the local county agricultural mobilization committee.

The ultimate aim of the review is an attempt to mobilize the farmers so that if a nationwide emergency were declared they would be better prepared and equipped to aid the effort.

"If Democracy is to be a continuing source or hope to rural people elsewhere in the world," Vance says, "Democracy must continue to advance in rural America."

Vance also pointed out that progress in agriculture must continue and he knows no person in a better position to make recommendations for this progress than the rural people and especially the man or family who operates a farm.

Many people will wonder what is meant by a family farm. The definition given by the USDA after extensive research is:

"A family farm or ranch is one which provides the main source of income for the farm family, on which the farm operator (owner or tenant) or members of his family make most of the managerial decisions, participate regularly in farm work, and normally supply a substantial part of the labor needed to operate the farm."

"In this period of mobilization, the well-operated family farm is the target at which we must aim in making the wisest, most efficient use of such critical items as farm machinery, pesticides, and fertilizer. In the hands of such farmers, the tools of production will be used effectively and conserved carefully, for the well-operated family farm can be depended upon in good weather or bad, famine or plenty and war and peace," Secretary Brannan said in starting his program.

Antelope Band To Be In New Class

When school begins this fall the Antelope Marching band will be in a new class, director Vernon Lewis, has announced. They will be in class A with such bands as Littlefield, Levelland and Tulla, instead of the old class B.

Lewis points out that these bands will furnish some of the keenest competition in the West Texas area. He also reminded students who intend to play in the fall band that rehearsals begin at 8:30 a. m. Monday.

"If your are in doubt about being in this group," he said, "call me at 560."

The bass section of the band will rehearse and then on Tuesday the entire band will begin.

Lewis also pointed out that the school board has approved a budget of $2,800 for the band this year. He explains that this will help to round out the basic instrumentation that the band should have had some time ago.

Texas Farm Income Greater Than 1950

Texas farmers' total cash income for the first half of 1951 was 39 per cent greater than in the same 1950 period, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

Revenue from Texas poultry was up from $5,951,000 to $27,651,000 in the most impressive gain. Egg profits were up, too, from $18,595,000 to $52,481,000. Incomes from grain sorghums and calves both increased more than 100 per cent.

Revenue from mohair and wool in the first half of 1951 increased 95 to 75 per cent, respectively, over the same period last year. The total value of both crops during January - June 1951, was $43,172,000 - approximately $18,000,000 more than the same 1950 period.

Milk and milk products (up 84 per cent), corn (up 54 per cent), hogs (up 46 per cent) and cattle (up 36 per cent) brought significantly larger sums to raisers. Cattle and milk and milk products, the two most important

Movie of the Week

"Go For Broke!" should be, by far, the outstanding feature of the movie menu for this coming week.

Scheduled for Sunday and Monday at the Tower, "Go For Broke" is rated by many critics as being even better than "Battleground."

Based on the history of the famed 442nd Regimental Combat Team, whose European combat record during World War II reads like a movie script itself, the picture is headed by Van Johnson and Gianna Canale, Italian beauty making her debut in motion pictures.

"Go For Broke" was the battle cry of the 442nd Regimental Combat team. Meaning "shoot the works," the cry instilled fear in the hearts of enemy troops in the many battles fought by the team.

The 442nd Regimental Combat team was comprised mostly of volunteer Nisei (Americans of Japanese ancestry). They had not only the enemy to fight, but had the prejudice of fellow Americans as well. But by deeds of valor and heroism on the battlegrounds of Italy and France they exemplified themselves.

"Go For Broke" is their story and is recommendable to any movie patron.

RESIDENTS MOVE

The Barton family, residents of Post for the past two months, have moved back to their East Texas hometown of Arp.

The family included Mr. and Mrs. Val Gene Barton and Gene and Gayle. They lived in the east part of Post.

Barton is production manager for Hunt Oil company, and is being transferred. Mrs. Barton and the children were to go home last week but decided to stay over for one night of the Junior rodeo.

commodity classes during the first half of 1951, brought Texas cattlemen $183,179,000 and dairy-men $103,957,000.

Work On Football Field Progressing

Work on preparation of the High school football field is nearing completion with finishing touches being put on the new press box and the extra section of stands.

The new box and section of stands are located between the two stand sections on the west side of the field. Built by B. A. Price, the new stand section will hold approximately 60 additional football fans. A tunnel will enable the players to get to the dressing room.

Approximately 20 feet long, the new press box will accommodate from 12 to 15 people, Coach Bingham estimates.

The new steel wire fence has been completely installed around the outer edge of the football field and according to many passers by, improve the appearance of the field a hundred per cent.

RIDE'EM COWBOY

Taking the distinction of being the youngest rider in the Tuesday parade and grand entry at the rodeo was Giles Rainwater, seven-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Rainwater, Snyder.

Dressed in boots and hat and cowboy attire, Giles rode with his father, T. A. Rainwater, in the parade and the grand entry. Also riding were Jerry and Albert Rainwater.

Rainwater is the brother of Mrs. Guy Floyd.

The field itself is in nearly perfect shape. Much time and effort, under the direction of Wayne Pipes, has been put into cutting and watering the grass so that the field will be ready by the time the first game rolls around.

Football workouts for the Antelope squad will begin on Aug. 27 with the first game being played at Crosbyton on the seventh of September.

BOLL WEEVIL MAKES THE GRADE — Ed (Boll Weevil) Keane, disc jockey in Harlingen, who boasted he could pick a bale of cotton in a week, is shown above going full blast both in picking cotton and sweating. But he made the grade by picking 1,540 pounds of cotton. He was delayed three days because of rain but the judges ruled this would not be counted against him. By making good on his boast, Keane won nearly $2,000 in prizes put up by Valley skeptics.

Pfc. Clifton Wells Is Home On Furlough After Year Combat Duty On Battlefront

Over two years service in the United States Army ... one full year of combat duty in Korea ... three major campaign ribbons and battle stars aided by two purple heart medals for wounds received in action defending the ideals of his country ... thousands of miles of travel through the vastly different cultures of this country and foreign lands ... and still only 19 years of age.

GRASSBURR SOLDIER HOME — Pfc. Clifton Wells, who is home on furlough after a year combat duty in Korea, is shown giving a big "bear hug" to his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wells of the Grassburr community. (Photo by Dispatch Photographer)

Just a brief but graphic description which could as aptly apply to hundreds of thousands of American youth as it does to Pfc. Clifton D. Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wells of the Grassburr community, who has recently returned from the battlefront in Korea.

During the 12 months he spent in Korea, Wells says "he traveled up and down the country so many times he lost count." His outfit, First Cavalry of the Seventh Regiment, landed in Pusan around the first of July, 1950, only a few weeks after the Reds invaded South Korea.

From there his outfit went all the way to the Yalu river on the Manchurian border. Clifton says his trip up was delayed a little while by the wound he received on the second day of September as his company was trying to take a hill near Taegu.

Collision Reported On Lubbock Highway

A minor car-mowing machine collision about a mile out on the Post-Lubbock highway was reported about noon Monday by Deputy Sheriff Fay Claborn. No one received any injuries.

The mishap occurred when Mrs. Stella Jones Willingham, about 65, of 2324 Seventh, Lubbock, ran into the back end of the State mowing machine tractor, about a quarter of a mile on this side of the roadside park.

The tractor driver said he saw that Mrs. Willingham was going to hit him and tried to pull completely off the road. He managed to get about half way off before the car struck his machine. Tire marks indicated that Mrs. Willingham slid approximately 130 feet before striking the machine, Claborn said.

No damage was done to the machine but Mrs. Willingham's car received an estimated $300 in damages.

Farmers To Meet In Lubbock On Aug. 31

A meeting which will possibly prove of value to many Garza county farmers will be held at the Lubbock hotel on Aug. 31, under the sponsorship of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

Scheduled as a Farm Labor conference, the meeting is designed to answer questions and solve the problems of the labor shortage which will face this area if the cotton crop maintains its present prospects.

Farmers who might be interested in attending the conference are urged to collect all the questions pertaining to the labor situation they can and be ready to present them at the meeting. The meeting will begin at 9 a. m. on the morning of Aug. 31 and will continue through 4 p. m. that day. During that time the program will include the welcoming address, discussions on the use of Mexican Nationals, migratory farm labor, wages and employment of children of school age, how counties can get the help of Mexican nationals.

The final portion of the program will be a panel discussion of the cotton harvest questions. It will be conducted by representatives of Texas Employment commission; USES; Farm Bureau; wage and hour division; Consul General of Mexico; Chamber of Commerce and Texas Cotton Ginners' association.

Shucks, A Rattlesnake Ain't So Tough Says A Pecos Woman After Being Bit By A Big 'un

PECOS, P. — Here's a woman who refused to see a doctor over a little thing like a rattlesnake bite. And she survived, too.

She's 59-year-old Mrs. Artie Justis, a widow who lives in the northwest outskirts of Pecos. She was bitten on the foot by a rattlesnake that was lying on her living room floor.

Instead of rushing to town for medical attention, the jolly upholsterer and drapery worker ripped her foot open with an upholstering needle and applied a common household item, alum, to her wound. She doesn't own a razor.

The alum made most of the poison "boil out," she stated. She admitted, however, that she was paralyzed for several hours, her foot turned green, and even now the foot is still slightly swollen. Her only other remedy was to take a lump of alum internally every day.

"Shucks, everybody knows that rattlesnake venom tends to coagulate the blood," she declared, "so common sense would tell you that you ought to take something to thin the blood." Alum does just that, it seems.

Asked why she didn't seek a doctor, Mrs. Justis snorted, "Huh, about the only time I'll see a doctor is when he wants some upholstering done."

Worried friends, however, did summon a physician against her wishes. But it was not until 19 hours after she was bitten that the doctor actually examined her. When the doctor observed the success of her remedy, she quoted him as saying, "I expect all I could do for you would only make you worse."

Mrs. Justis says that rattlesnake venom is plenty potent, that it would kill a person within two hours if nothing were done for it. It's extremely painful, too. "You've heard about folks seeing stars," she asserted. "Well, when a rattlesnake bites you, you see forked lightning."

Congratulated for her courage, she smiled and said, "Most folks probably wouldn't need to go to the doctor, either. They'd be scared to death before they got there."

What happened to the snake? Just as Mrs. Justis said she knew it would, the serpent crawled into a closet, curled up and slipped into a sort of stupor.

Then she summoned her 30-year-old son, Don, described by his mother as a "crack shot," and he killed the snake with a rifle.

Local Garden Enthusiast Says He Much Rather Be Able To Hunt And Catch Rattlesnakes For Oil

Come Garza county drouths, poor health or what have you, J. E. Adams, who lives just across the road from Postex Mills, manages, year in and year out, to have one of the prettiest gardens in the county.

In addition to being a source of groceries, the garden is a hobby of Adams'. In taking up gardening for a hobby, Adams made a jump from one extreme to another away from his last hobby. He used to hunt rattlesnakes and catch them.

Adams, a diminutive man who says a recent operation "has sapped most of his strength," tends a garden spot about 50 by 60 feet and this year includes tomatoes, squash, peas, beans, pepper, pimientos, watermelons, okra, cucumbers and banana mush-melon.

"I'm sort of proud of these banana mushmelons," Adams said. "They are sweeter than any I ever ate and when they get ripe they have one of the most tantalizing odors you ever smelled."

This particular brand of mush-melon originated in China according to the seed catalogue from which Adams ordered the seed. The melons grow to extreme lengths. Only a week or so ago Adams pulled a 20-inch melon.

As pretty and green as any garden in the area, Adams' patch has consumed many hours of slow and tedious labor. Since his recent operation Adams cannot stand up nor bend over for any length of time. So he has a box on which he sits to do most of his work; he just pulls it along and works a little place at the time. But the results of his efforts are astounding. His plantings are producing volumes of vegetables such as small garden.

The gardens which Adams has been raising for the past couple of years are a far cry from what he did for pastime before he got in bad health. Up until about two or three years ago he hunted and captured rattlesnakes and rendered the oil from them and sold it.

Adams followed this unusual occupation for almost five years, making at least two trips per week to the hills to clash wits with one of the smartest snakes in the reptile family. During those five years he estimates he caught approximately 200 snakes.

"It could have been more or less," he explained, "but I do know that sometimes I caught as high as 10 snakes on one day."

GREEN, GREEN IS THE GARDEN — J. E. Adams is pictured above in his summer garden which despite the extended dry spell in Garza county is one of the prettiest in town. Adams does most of the work in the garden and has to sit on a box to do it since a recent operation has "sapped his strength," as he puts it. Raising a full scale of vegetables, Adams takes more pride in a banana mush-melon than he does any other of his plants. (Photo By Dispatch Photographer)

The small "snake hunter," as Adams termed himself, says he knew the job was dangerous, but never once did he relax and forget to stay on the lookout.

"The rattlesnake is a smart feller," he explained, "and if you don't keep a close watch he will have you nabbed before you know it. It's true that he has to be in a coil before he can strike, but don't let that fool you, for he can get in that coil before you can bat your eye. And they can jump almost their entire length. In fact, if it is a little down hill he can probably make all of it."

Adams pointed out that you seldom find a rattlesnake where there is much vegetation, they are usually in the open and not far from a place to which they can run and hide. They stay in the open to better protect themselves, he said.

"Especially the old ones that are pretty big and have lots of experience," he said. "These never get far from a hiding place. In fact I tried off and on for five years to get one special snake, but couldn't for this very reason. He was as big around as an ordinary milk jar and just as smart as a whip."

Snake hunting was accidentally picked up by Adams. One Sunday he and another man were out walking in the hills and killed one or two. Adams said he noticed how easy it was to catch one so he came home and made him a "snake catcher." This was accomplished with a long rod with a string and a trigger. He would get close enough to get the string around the snake's neck and snap the trigger. Then he could catch him with his hands.

"So that started my snake hunting business," Adams said. "I would just catch them and peel the fat out of them like you do out of a hog and render it into oil. I surely had a foul odor when I was cooking it but it brought 50 cents an ounce and people used it for everything."

For better oil production, Adams explained that the best time to catch the snakes is in the spring when they are fat. The most oil he ever got out of one snake was seven ounces.

Adams sold the oil all over the country. He received orders from as far as New England. "But one of the New England orders came quite by accident," he said.

Once when he caught an unusually large snake, it was a couple of inches over 7 feet, Adams carried it down to the depot. As it happened a Chamber of Commerce booster train from Dallas was passing through and a photographer snapped Adams and his snake. This picture and a story appeared in the paper and a man in New England wrote Adams about it and wanted some oil for his deafness.

"I don't know if it could help deafness," Adams said, "but I sent it to him."

Whenever Adams found an extra large or long snake he would bring it home and put it in a cage so people could look at it. "Many people passing through would stop and look at the snakes," he said. "And a lot of them had never seen one before except in a zoo."

But the fear of the neighbors brought a halt to the snakes being left alive outside his house. They were afraid the snake might get loose. "Actually I don't blame them," Adams explained. "If I had been afraid of the rascals like most people, I would have objected too."

Adams explained that a rattlesnake could swallow a full-grown rabbit. "I caught one that had just swallowed a full-grown cottontail and a bird," he explained.

A resident of Post for the past 30 years, Adams is a native of Alabama. He came here to work in the Postex Mill and held the
