AFTER FRIDAY ACCIDENT

Sid Cross Is Charged With Felony Complaint

Charges of failure to stop and render aid were filed here Saturday against Sid Cross in the Friday night death of Walter Henry Flick, 42, an itinerant railroad worker. This is a felony complaint.

Cross surrendered voluntarily to Justice of the Peace J. D. King about 11 o'clock Friday night. Flick was struck down and killed by a car when he walked along the highway to Justiceburg about 7 o'clock Friday evening.

Cross waived examining trial and posted a bond of $1000. He was bound over to the grand jury for action. The grand jury meets Feb. 26.

Flick was walking to Justiceburg with a companion, Harold Haskins, to pick up a telegram, according to the local sheriff's office. A story in the Lubbock paper quoted Haskins as saying that the car which struck Flick turned around a short distance down the highway and came back to where the dead man lay. The driver asked if the man was hurt and on receiving an affirmative answer, turned around and drove toward Post Haskins said.

Site of the accident, according to the sheriff's office, was 150 yards from Justiceburg and about 450 yards from Cross' home. The wife of the postmaster at Justiceburg notified the sheriff's office and called an ambulance. Sheriff Carl Rains said. He arrived at the scene about 7:45 o'clock. The body was first taken to Hudman Funeral home then returned to Blackwell, Okla., in a Blackwell ambulance. Blackwell was the victim's home.

Cross, 25, is serving his second term as county commissioner for Precinct 4. He could not be contacted by the Dispatch for a statement.

CofC Adopts By-Laws And Talks Fund Drive

By-laws were adopted and a community chest program was discussed when the chamber of commerce board of directors met in regular session Tuesday night.

The group voted to buy two band uniforms and to assist in the uniform fund campaign in every way possible. A list of 90 prospective members was reviewed and assigned to each board member to contact.

The next membership meeting will be set when the board meets Feb. 12, Pat Ryan, manager said. A group was appointed to meet with the city commission to discuss a larger representation tonight.

James Minor will discuss the community chest proposal at the next Rotary luncheon. A discussion of this project will be presented before each civic club and the membership will discuss it at their next meeting. Board members recommended an article in the February Woman's Home Companion on a community chest plan, for everyone's reading.

By-laws adopted provided for the election of board members for a two-year term, three one year and four the next. The president is to be chosen from the hold over members and the vice president from new members. No director can succeed himself for two years. There must be two nominees for each vacancy and nominations will be made from the floor.

Boy Scouting . . .

Post has long been known as a boy scout town. Adults here have a high reputation of being interested supporters of scouting. From time to time, Post has supported two live wire scout troops. The Cub movement here is extremely healthy. Boy scouts can be counted on, as a group, for all types of community service. Next to the church and the home, it is the best possible agent for moral training for boys. Ideals of scouting are high. High ideals are definitely needed today. Post boys are lucky because of their nearness to Camp Post. Transportation to camp is no problem. Evidently, the scout program is so financed that the cost is not prohibitive to a single boy. The goal of the scout drive this year is for sustaining members. All a sustaining member has to do is contribute a small amount monthly and regularly. A contribution of $1 a month will bring scouting to one boy for a year. This is really not a contribution but an investment. It is an investment in the future of a boy and in the future of this country.

ROGER W. BABSON WRITES THIS WEEK

Young Men Are Urged To Hold onto Jobs And Business, Not Give Up in Panic Now

WASHINGTON, D. C.—During the last war many young men gave up their jobs, or closed out their businesses, before it was necessary. I said at the time they were making a big mistake.

Filling stations, for which a good trade had been built up, were sold in the early 1940's for one-half their value or less. In fact, I then often said in this column that "closed filling stations are the best real estate investment which a person could make." Well, the fact is that these gas stations now are selling at three or four times what those panic-stricken GI men sold them for ten years ago. The same applied to other businesses which could well have been carried on by some relative or friend. So don't do something foolish now!

But then there was a real war on; but no World War III exists today. It may be many years before such a war comes; and much could happen in the meantime. Congress has not even passed the Compulsory Military Training bill. Because President Conant of Harvard has written a scary article on military training for all 18-20 years old in a national magazine is no reason why a young man should suddenly change his life plans by giving up college or a good job. Besides, even if he is inducted for two years, these years will go very quickly. If you doubt this, just look back two years.

Conditions are very different now than in 1940. There are now 10 million more people in Community Chest In Post . . .

Post has a definite need for a community chest. The 'drive' season has begun with a vengeance. The Post Dispatch favors all worthwhile drives. We try hard to support each and every one both publicly and personally. But we think a Community Chest drive held in the fall would be the most sensible thing that could be accomplished here. In the first place, there is more ready cash in the fall. We have never understood why the 'drive' season always comes when business is at its lowest ebb. Thus far, drives have been more successful this year than last. There was plenty of work done on the just-completed March of Dimes drive. Our contention is that the same amount of work which was used to raise $2000 could be used to raise $5000 or even $6000 and take care of all the drives in one. Each contributor could tot up his contributions of the previous year and give a proportionate sum in ratio to his business. For those who find it easier to make more and smaller contributions, a yearly pledge could be made with monthly or quarterly payments. We offer no foolproof plan, but we do think the idea is worthwhile.

the United States. This means only 10 million potential customers but your chance of being drafted is proportionately less. The national income is now almost double what it was at the beginning of World War II. People now have better health, better education and better wages. Don't look back to what happened before World War II. Forget those days and recognize you are living in an entirely different age.

Although manufacturing is passing into bigger units, this is not true of merchandising and service businesses. There are more successful independent merchants today than ever; while attempts to make chains of dry cleaning, beauty, and specialty shops have failed. Therefore, don't get panicky and sell out your business just because of war threats, labor troubles or competition. Remember that for every one who gets scared and sells out, there is so much more opportunity for those who stick. Only don't borrow money to do so. Keep out of debt.

What ever you do or don't do, take up some systematic study to enable you to do better work for yourself or your employer. Write tonight to your state university for a list of its extension courses. Some of these courses are truly "gold mines." Pick out one or more and "dig in" at once. They will not only help you in forging ahead here at home but will go a long way to prevent you from being used as cannon fodder abroad.

Texans In WASHINGTON

By TEX EASLEY, Associated Press Washington Service

WASHINGTON—Senator Lyndon R. Johnson checked up this week and found that in the current fiscal year ending June 30, Texas will receive about $125 million in federal grants under various programs.

The figure doesn't include millions of dollars spent on flood control and navigation projects in the state. The estimated allocations for the year ending June 30 are about the same as those made in fiscal 1950, which ended last June 30. The amount in 1950 was about five per cent over the figures for fiscal 1949.

The old age assistance program accounted for the largest portion. Texas' allocation for the current fiscal year for this program is $60,035,000. The 1950 allocation was $59,889,464. In 1949 it was $55,067,370.

The second largest allocation was $25,583,720 for highway construction. The amount was $20,564,810 last year and $30,330,613 in fiscal 1949.

Third largest federal aid allocation was $8,190,000 for aid to dependent children; the amount last year was $6,896,904, and in 1949 it was $6,159,039. All other allocations for Texas were below $5,000,000 except that of $5,934,046 to the Unemployment Compensation and Employment commission. That agency received $5,683,581 last year and $4,644,537 in 1949.

Figures for the current year are not available for nine programs. The programs, and the amounts they received in the year ending last June 30 are:

1. Distribution of surplus agricultural commodities, $2,585,532.
 2. School assistance program, $568,920.
 3. Administration of veterans readjustment allowances, $370,535.
 4. Supervision of veterans on-the-job training, $238,720.
 5. Public Housing Administration, $143,380.
 6. Public Works advanced planning, $57,893.
 7. Lease of flood control land, $43,451.
 8. Submarginal land program, $15,306.
 9. Hospital survey and planning, $8,467.
- The remaining 24 programs out of the total 36 operating in Texas in the current year, and the allocations to each for the period ending next June 30:

School lunch program, $3,706,887; hospital construction, $4,721,369; aid to the blind, $2,294,000; cooperative agricultural extension work, $2,017,255; federal airport program, $1,636,300; cooperative vocational education, $1,403,877;

Office of vocational rehabilitation, $870,712; general health assistance, $716,500; venereal disease control, $415,900; agricultural experiment stations, $208,639; maternal and

Getting Out On the LIMB . . .

by EDDIE the editor

Next Wednesday is Valentine and me, I can hardly wait.

Of course, I don't expect no box of candy, shaped like a heart, or no book of poetry. My hope is that I won't get any of those cards that are purported to be comic.

Like: "Roses are red Carnations are pink Flowers smell sweet But oh you kid."

I saw one in a drug store that I bet some one sends me. It is a big old picture of a wolf with some crack about how he ogles pretty girls but would drop dead if one winked back. Oh, what a way to die.

Valentine boxes always charmed me in school. They are always decorated up with red and white and silver crepe paper, as dainty as an angel square. Some kids put in Valentines of the same type, but not me.

I always thought it was much more fun to drop in small snakes dead beetles or even horned frogs if I could save one until February.

Of course, if the class didn't have a Valentine box, it was even better to put a small garter snake in the teacher's top drawer. I always did like to give presents.

They used to use white rats up here in the homemaking department for experimental purposes. Now we do not have fancy mice, only the common garden variety, but I'm keeping my traps baited.

My thought is to collect 15 or 20 and put them in a red, heart-shaped box, gift-wrapped of course, and present them to Miss Bessie Pitts, the homemaking teacher. Other people give blankets, dishes, silver and furniture for use in the homemaking department and it makes me feel bad that they can't use any of my product.

Therefore, after much thought, I have discovered something that I have that would be useful. This is one Valentine I want to present in person, preferably to Miss Pitts and her largest class.

I heard of one man who gave his wife a washing machine for Valentine. He really was a generous type, much more so than I. He told her after she got it paid for, she could keep half of all she made. Now, I hardly think that was fair. It seems to me, that since he was the brains behind the venture, he should by rights have got two-thirds. Any woman should be satisfied with a third of the gross and take the overhead out of that.

I have before me some advice on Valentine giving. I do hope it is warmer next Wednesday than it was last. Cupid will need more than a quiver full of arrows and a bow to keep him warm.

Some girl decided to be a professional cupid. Maybe she was good at archery in 4-H camp, who knows. Anyway, her job is a sort of person-to-person Dorothy Dix.

She had some interesting experiences. A man was separated from his wife and wanted her back. This professional cupid told him to make a record telling her how much he missed her and then add a little gift. He did.

The poor stupid sap. I bet she broke it in a million pieces right over the top of his head the very first night he went out with the boys.

Miss Cupid gives little tips about types. For the boy who wants to see fgatdnfschds wants to send a gift to his girl, she says,

"Send a feminine gift instead of a coffee maker or waffle iron—even if you are married." More especially if you're married, bub. Which would you rather be hit over the head with, a camellia or a coffee maker?

Her second suggestion is for more luxury items that are useful, but not too personal for sure-fire hits. Steer clear of underwear, though. Let her buy her own French panties and nightgowns because it is in poor taste for you to do so.

Perfume and costume jewelry will fill the bill.

Thirdly, says Miss Professional Cupid, dress up the package. Don't just poke it at her, put a handkerchief, a posy or a cute little personal note in an envelope attached, she says.

This kid warns against the gag gifts—they break up too many romances, she says. So if you're in love, steer clear of such.

But if you must be a practical joker, accompany the funny gift with something personal.

For the girls, to give away, there doesn't seem to be much but ties that say "darling" when you look at them sideways or a photograph.

Valentine's Day is the ideal time to present that boy with a photograph of you, the beauty editor of the Associated Press avers. Some tips are given that are supposed to make your picture look like Dagmar's or something.

They are: 1. Never wear rouge because it fouls up the lighting

THE AMERICAN WAY

Put "Old Reliable" Back In Harness

Our Contemporaries Are Saying:

Cotton Crop Plans

Comanche County will have the largest Cotton Acreage in many years if the present plans of farmers are carried out for 1951. This is in keeping with the government's appeal for a 16 million bale crop.

Most farmers contacted by the county agent plan to follow an insect control program this year particularly those who had cotton in 1950. Many of these too are convinced that early season control will give the most effective control. It should be pointed out however that insecticides improperly used may do more harm than good.

—The Comanche Chief

In the photo, if you want to make your face look thinner and use rouge to do so, be sure and powder over it MOST carefully. 2. Use a lighter lipstick than usual. Before the shutter clicks, moisten your lips with the tip of your tongue so that they will catch the lights from the floodlights and furnish interesting highlights for the picture.

3. Use eye makeup with extreme discretion. Carefully outline your upper eyelid with eyebrow pencil, just behind the upper eyelashes. Extend the line out one-quarter inch. Use mascara and eyeshadow only on the upper lid. Carefully apply the mascara so the lashes won't be one dark blob.

4. Use only a tiny bit of eyeshadow, carrying it out and upward towards the forehead from the center of the upper eyelid.

5. Follow the natural line of the brows when applying eyebrow pencil. Use brown pencil if your eyes and lashes are dark. 6. Dust your powder on with a powder brush or cotton. Brush off the excess with a clean brush or cotton. Powder should be put on before lipstick or mascara is applied. Blot lipstick after applying.

7. Unless you are very glamorous and can wear a long flowing bob, don't try to emulate your favorite movie actress. The main thing is proper balance, achieved by little details, such as combing your hair properly.

Whew! Wonder what her advice would have been had she wanted you to use make up. Anyway, it is nearly Valentine and I am hoping someone remembers me. Not with a bunch of fresh onions or a nice stinging scorpion.

I will take a five pound box of candy or a million dollar bill. It won't make much difference.

East Texas Viewpoint

Kaufman County citizens and organizations giving thought to the consequences of redistricting were reconciled to the injuries but were hoping this week that they could be minimized.

While Texas population during the last twenty years since redistricting was last set-up has shown good growth, Kaufman County has steadily lost in population because of the trend away from the farm to the cities.

This can mean only one thing when the subject of redistricting is considered — the county will lose by redistricting.

It is the obligation of the legislature to redistrict the state every ten years, just after the Federal census is taken. It was skipped in 1940—but to make certain that the unpleasant task was accomplished this year, the 52nd Legislature is under a mandate from the people to reapportion and redistrict the state into senatorial and representative districts. Should it fail to do so, then it shall be done by the Legislative Redistricting Board provided for in the constitutional amendment.

Men Start Thinking of New Suits for Spring Wear

...Strasner says. For the aver-
...sion, feel and appearance
...be deceiving. Methods of
...in manufacturing make
...look and feel much better
...really is.

...content labels are re-
...by law on suits that con-

...are not a complete guide

...things: the kind of wool
...how much the suiting con-

...the suit.

...well to remember that this
...applies only to the outer
...and does not refer to the

...s of wool used in the outer
...are described as "wool,"
...ressed wool" and "reused"
...Wool means that all fibers
...animal, fleece wool from
...or mohair from goats. Vir-
...d means new wool and is
...ways better than reclaimed
...Length, strength, fineness,

crimp and elasticity of the fiber
are more important.
Reprocessed Wool
"Reprocessed" wool is made from scraps or cuttings of wool fabrics that have never been worn or used, Mrs. Strasner explains. Pieces are torn up and made into new materials. Since reprocessing breaks and shortens fibers, cloth made from this type wool is not as good as that made from the original.

Nevertheless, suitings from reprocessed wool are satisfactory
for ordinary wear.
"Reused" wool is that made from worn or used fabrics, such as rag collectors buy. Such materials are cleaned and sorted, then torn apart. Thus the fibers are short and weak and usually have to be combined with other fibers in making cloth.

Finished suitings and the yarns
from which they are made are either worsteds or woolens. Serge, gabardine, and sharkskin are worsted. Tweed, homespun and twill are typical woolen suitings.

Materials such as covert, cheviot, and flannel may be either woolen or worsted.
"Worsted yarns," explains Mrs.
Strasner, "are made from the finest and longest wool fibers, combed parallel and twisted into strands or ply. Two or more strands are then twisted together. This makes yarn that is even,
soft and firm."

Well Balanced Construction
Both lengthwise and crosswise yarn should be of the same ply
for well-balanced construction.
Worsted suitings are generally
close-woven, hard-finished, smooth and supple. Crumple a piece in the hand and it will feel alive and springy. It will not hold wrinkles. Worsteds wear well. Those without nap, such as serge and gabardine, become shiny.

Newer worsteds are called "unfinished" or "semifinished" and have a light surface nap, such as eliminates shine.
Woolen yarns are made of coarser fabrics than worsteds, Mrs. Strasner explains. Fibers are short and long and criss-crossed in the fabric, not combed and laid parallel. Most woolen yarns are one-ply and loosely twisted. Not as serviceable as worsted, they do lend themselves to napping and the casual styles
some men prefer.

Other woolen yarns are two-ply and tightly twisted. These make suits that wear longer,
even though they are stiffer.
These are good for men who are hard on their clothes.

Soft Finish
Generally woolen suitings have a soft finish. Since they are less firmly woven than worsteds, they never hold their shape or press
as well. But they do not wrinkle readily.

It is easier, the agent warns,
to cheapen woolens with harsh,
inferior fibers. It is most necessary to examine cloth well
and read the fiber-content label.

Plain and twill weaves are those most often used in men's suitings, whether worsted or woolen. Plain weave is the simplest of all weaves, lengthwise and crosswise yarns pass over and under each other alternately.
Diagonal lines appear to run across the fabric in a twill weave.
A "45-degree twill" means that the lines run at a 45-degree angle. This is typical of serge. In cloth such as gabardine with a "steep twill," the angle is greater than 45 degrees.

Twill weaves are stronger than plain weaves. "Name alone is not a reliable guide to quality," says Mrs. Strasner. "The names used for high quality suitings are used also for suitings cheapened with lower grade wools or other fibers to lessen cost. They may look like the better qualities while new but the wise buyer will consider how well they will hold up with wear."

12 Kinds of Cloth
Mrs. Strasner offers a brief description of 12 kinds of cloth. She says serge is hard-finished, unwashed worsted with close 45-degree twill weave. Hard wearing, it holds a crease but gets shiny. Unfinished or semifinished serges are the more desirable
since their nap prevents shine.

"Sharkskin," says the agent,
"is a worsted twill suiting softer than serge. Sharkskin is neat looking, sturdy and practical for office workers. Light and dark yarns are alternated lengthwise and crosswise. It comes plain, striped or patterned."

Mrs. Strasner describes gabardine as a hard, smooth-finished worsted, usually finer than serge.
It is woven with a steep twill.
The hard wearing fabric holds a crease but gets shiny with wear and cleaning. Colors are solid.

Unfinished worsted is a soft,
smooth, closely woven suiting,
most often twill weave, but oc-asionally plain. The name misleads the buyer because often unfinished worsteds have a lightly napped finish which prevents shine.
"Tropicals are lightweight,

plain-woven, unnaped worsteds, porous, smooth and resistant to soil. Designed for summer, they are gaining favor for year-round wear. Good tropicals are hard wearing and resistant to wrinkling," the agent advises.

Covert, she reminds, may be either worsted or woolen, but is most often woolen in men's suitings. The weave is steep twill, similar to gabardine but is coarser looking and is covered with a soft, smooth nap.

Flannel Combination Flannel is another fabric that may be woolen or worsted or even a combination of the two.
The thick surface nap of woolen flannel almost hides the weave.
Worsted flannel is finer and not so thick and heavily napped as woolen.

Worsted cheviot is soft, semi-finished twill variation but having more nap than semifinished serge, says the agent. It is substantial, wears hard and does not shine. Woolen cheviot is harsher than worsted.

"Tweed," Mrs. Strasner explains, "is a rough, bulky, woolen twill, made of course, wiry, long fibers. Lengthwise yarns are white, crosswise colored. Best qualities are made with high-grade new wool with tightly twisted yarns, making excellent wearing cloth."

Shetland is a fabric that is little known as such here. True shetland resembles high grade tweed, in a softer, lighter weight weaves well but since it is so loosely woven it will not hold its shape or press.

Plain-woven woolen suitings
made of twisted yarns are known as twills. They feel and appear stiff beside fine worsteds. They are rugged materials, another good buy for the man hard on his clothes.

Lastly, there is homespun. It too is plain-woven, heavy woolen suiting. Construction is of irregular and coarse humpy yarns.
Although they do not hold a crease, homespuns do not wrinkle. Top quality gives excellent wear.

Hidden qualities in a suit and the fit and suitability of different fabrics will be discussed in another article.

Blue Wins This "Hunt"

Cappy Miller's coon dogs—except for one of them, Old Blue—are about the finest hounds in the county. Blue's too friendly and easy-going to care much about hunting. He doesn't act the way we think a good dog should, so we figured he'd never amount to much.
But a fellow comes around Saturday looking for a good dog to photograph for some advertising.
And the dog he picks is Blue! Says Blue's happy, friendly face is just the one to attract people's attention. So Cappy gets more money for that picture than his other dogs will ever take in hunt prizes.

From where I sit, that should teach us not to look down on humans, when they act differently than we think they should. For instance, maybe you think tea goes best with food. O.K.—but don't size up wrong the man who enjoys a bottle of beer at mealtime!

Like Blue, I guess we're all "different" in one way or another—but that doesn't mean we don't have our good points, too!

SCRIPTURE

Fret not thyself because of evil-doers, neither be thou envious against the workers of iniquity. For they shall soon be cut down like the grass, and wither as the green herb. Trust in the Lord, and do good; so shalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou shalt be fed. Delight thyself also in the Lord; and he shall give thee the desires of thine heart. Commit thy way unto the Lord; and he shall bring it to pass. And he shall bring forth thy righteousness as the light, and thy judgment as the noonday. Rest in the Lord, and wait patiently for him; fret not thyself because of him who prospereth in his way, because of the man who bringeth wicked devices to pass. (Psalms 37:1-7.)

Garza Farmers Must Decide on Cotton Crop Now and Make Plans for Increased Yield

The big question for Garza farmers this year is "Shall I increase my Cotton Acreage?"

This question, of course, can be answered only by the individual farmer himself. Cotton will probably be a more attractive crop than usual this year. The farmer should consider how much more attractive it will be and for how long.

For one thing, weather conditions can be expected to be more favorable during most years than in 1950. Since more farmers are following approved methods of control, insect damage will be greatly reduced.

Cotton exports could be drastically reduced if the war situation becomes worse. Increasing competition with synthetic fibers must be expected because of the short supply of cotton and technical improvements in synthetics. Improvement in breeding, growing, processing, handling and marketing cotton will naturally increase. L. C. Herron, county agent points out increasing domestic population will increase the demand here for cotton.

High Employment
As long as the present program of national defense continues, there will be a continued high level of employment and general prosperity in the United States. This will continue to hold the domestic demand for cotton high.

"Under the present conditions," says Herron, "the farmer should give serious thought not only to the production of cotton next year, but to the whole farm business. Farmers should not ignore the long-time adjustments such as the shift to grass land farming. Many farmers have balanced their cotton program with other cash crops, pastures and livestock and the outlook is good for other farm enterprises in 1951."

Herron joins with other agriculture experts in urging farmers not to increase their cotton acreage at the expense of a well-balanced farming system.

On many farms, he pointed out, it is possible to increase cotton acreage on good land without depleting soil fertility or using labor and other resources inefficiently. This is where the needed increase should take place.

"Where cotton acreage may be increased without upsetting long time balanced farm programs and where available supplies of labor, fertilizers, insecticides and other materials are adequate, an increase in cotton acreage would be justified," the agent feels.

Careful Planning
Early and careful planning should be done for the success of 1951 cotton production. Good planting seed, nitrogen and insecticides will all be scarce, according to the Department of Agriculture.

Mechanical harvesters, also, may be especially short. Garza countians are leaning more and more to the mechanical harvester.

Herron especially emphasizes the need for agreements in advance between tenants and owners and operators and croppers on fertilization, insect control, and profitable division of costs to both. These items must be considered in making the year's financial plans and arranging for needed credit.

There are three points that are now especially favorable to increased cotton production. Common knowledge is the elimination of acreage allotments and marketing quotas. Also, favorable to the small farmer is the fact that cotton planted in 1951 will apply as base acreage on future planting allotments.

Most important is the continued price supports, under the present law at 80 and 90 per cent of parity. This year, cotton prices are supported at 90 per cent. Loan rates for the 1951 crop will be 90 per cent of parity as of July 15, 1951, the Agriculture department provides.

1950 Laws Hold
"However," Herron warns, "all provisions of the 1950 acreage allotment and marketing quota program are still in effect and will be carried through."

The overall situation is important to the farmer considering how much he should increase his cotton acreage. The secretary of agriculture has said that a 16 million bale crop will be needed to meet increased domestic and export demands and to maintain minimum reserves.

The 1950 crop has been estimated at 9.6 million bales. Cotton supplies in the United States are expected to total some 16.6 million bales. This is almost five million bales short of the 1949-50 total.

Mills in this country consumed almost nine million bales during the year ending in July, 1950. This was 14 per cent above the preceding season and 28 per cent above the 10-year average, Agriculture department officials reveal.

The present supply is low because of four major factors. First was a 33 per cent reduction in acreage harvested compared to 1949. Second, the average yield for 1950 was 27 pounds per acre less than the year before. Third and fourth are the high domestic consumption of cotton and increased exports.

World Production
Production outside the United States increased more than one million bales over last year. However, the decrease in U. S. production caused world production to drop to 26.9 million bales. This is 14 per cent below the 1949-50 crop.

Incomes will be maintained at record levels, in spite of the so-called wage freeze. Mill consumption of cotton for military and civilian use is expected to be about 10 million bales this year. This will leave only 6.5 million bales for export and carry over needs.

Exports are an important market for the American farmer, Herron reminds. When foreign mills lack American cotton, they have two modes of self-protection. One is to go elsewhere to get their cotton. The other is to convert to synthetic yarns.

Production of synthetics in foreign countries gained 29 per cent in 1949 over 1948. It is expected to increase in 1950 and even more in 1951. Smaller supplies of cotton and wool will give added stimulus to increased production of rayon.

Output of rayon filament yarn and rayon staple fiber in the United States increased 29 per cent during the first half of 1950. At this rate, says Herron, it will set a new record of production for the year.

Price of rayon per pound has fallen while that of cotton has increased. That gives synthetics a distinct advantage over natural fibers.

Mrs. John Bill Beggs is ill in the Slaton Hospital.

"Rocky Mountain blizzards couldn't stop me!"

says JACK W. SEEFELD
3030 Vrain St. Denver 12, Colorado

"The two winters I tested new Conoco Super Motor Oil—as one of a group picked to prove its winter wear-fighting ability—we had the worst weather in years. Blizzards came in on top of blizzards. The temperature went to the bottom and stayed there.

"BUT MY CAR ACTED LIKE IT THOUGHT IT WAS JULY! With new Conoco Super that car performed better than it ever had. At the end of the test, with proper drains and regular care, gasoline mileage was practically as good as at the beginning."

After a total of 386,422 miles, logged by Mr. Seefeld and other winter test drivers, Conoco engineers found no wear of any consequence! Analysis of drains showed this great oil actually stopped the dangerous accumulation of free water and acids, chief causes of winter wear. This test proved that new Conoco Super Motor Oil, with OIL-PLATING, fights off rust, corrosion and sludge. So, change to Conoco Super, now.

Boy Scouts Attend Nazarene Church Sunday And Father-Son Banquet Monday Night in Hall

Boy Scouts will attend the church of the Nazarene Sunday since the pews will not be installed in the Methodist church. Scoutmaster John Lott announces.

The annual father-son banquet will be held at the city hall Monday night, concluding observance of Boy Scout week. Scout day was Tuesday. Scouts acted as city officials and county leaders. They were guests at the Rotary luncheon Tuesday.

At the Rotary meeting, Lott gave the troop's annual report to the sponsoring organization. Both the scoutmaster and one adult leader had completed basic training, he said. Troop 16 has at least one assistant scoutmaster for each 16 scouts and an organized and functioning troop leader's council with a full complement of junior officers.

Programs are planned a month in advance by the troop leaders council. Every member of the troop receives the boys' magazine, "Boys' Life."

Crew Meetings
Two crew meetings are held monthly with 70 per cent attendance. Attendance in summertime troop meetings is 100 per cent, Lott said. Summer features included a week's camp at Camp Post, a father-son fishing camp and a three-day camp at Possum Kingdom.

Four hikes were conducted last year. Six overnight, short-term camps were held. Twelve scouts attended the long-term camp. Fifty-two scouts and explorers had at least 10 days and nights camping experience. Only 13 had none at all.

Special activities of the troop included the father-son banquet, bicycle inspection, Christmas family, distribution of conservation pledges and a program at school.

The same activities are planned for this year with the addition of an explorer's canoe trip and a scouter's Philmont trip.

Advancement
"Advancement," said Lott, "is not an end in itself, but it is a measure indicating that the scout is doing real scouting, and adds greatly to a boy's satisfaction in

In addition to photographs used for illustrative purposes, the Guide also carries complete, easy-to-read diagrams covering every phase of farm tractor lubrication. Included are sections on lubrication and maintenance of engines, crankcases, oil filters, carburetors, fuel pumps, valves, transmissions, air cleaners, etc.

Complete sections on the care of the cooling and ignition systems are also included, as well as illustrated sections on the care and maintenance of tires, tubes and batteries. Of particular interest to all owners of farm tractors right at present is a section containing tips on cold weather operations and storage for winter.

The Guide concludes with a pertinent section on rules for safe tractor operation and the nine general rules for giving temporary first aid in case of farm accidents. It may be obtained free of charge by contacting Nichols.

New in Style—New in Structure—New in Power—New in Thrift—New in Price Appeal—It's the 1951 BUICK SPECIAL!

There is good news for folks with a shrewd eye for what their dollars will buy. Here is a tidy traveler that defies the upward trend of costs—proudly wears a 1951 price tag like that which zoomed last year's SPECIAL into popularity so great that it put a crimp in "the low-priced three."

Take our word for it, this is every inch and ounce a Buick—Buick-featured, Buick-designed, Buick-built from the ground up—but literally the newest thing on wheels. The sturdy and ample body is new. The high-strength frame is new. The power is new to the SPECIAL, which now has the thrift F-263 engine that first made its name in the SUPER, and here delivers 120 horsepower with standard transmission—128 with Dynaflo Drive.*

It's a Buick with less weight and more power—and that spells a pair of new thrills for you. There's a performance thrill such as you've never enjoyed in the SPECIAL—plus a handsome gas-saving into the bargain.

We'll make a prediction now as to what title folks will give it, once they get it out on the road.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional on other Buicks.

Graham Slates Grade Tourney

When Eck Curtis decided he didn't want to be considered for the Texas Tech head football coaching job he mentioned as one of the reasons "the uncertainties generally."

The University of Texas backfield coach was probably talking about the uncertainties facing the nation as a whole, but he could have been more specific.

The person who takes over Dell Morgan's job will face a tough proposition. Tech has been said to play a "Southwest Conference schedule with a Border Conference team."

The big technological college on the South Plains of West Texas is in a peculiar spot. It wants to get in the Southwest Conference and it wants to play conference teams as one way of getting recognition.

But Tech has a hard time attracting good football players. Most want to play in a "big league" conference. The Red Raiders are members of the Border Conference, and while this is no bush league it isn't in the SWC class.

Personal recognition is one of the factors high school stars consider when they choose a college. It's a lot easier to make All-America from a university like Southern Methodist or Texas or Rice than it is from Texas Tech. In fact, while Tech is a major college, many sportswriters in other sections are inclined to value its players as "little All-America" prospects instead of for the big team.

That doesn't mean the Red Raiders don't play good football. They do, year in and year out. But they simply can't compete, in manpower, with a school in a major conference. You just can't convince a guy who's been a high school hero that he can make the same splash in a minor

A grade school tournament begins tonight at Graham for both boys and girls. Five schools have been asked to send teams.

Participating will be Post, Fluvanna, Hermleigh, Southland, and Graham. Play will begin at 7 o'clock tonight and Friday and at noon Saturday.

Cecil Steadham and Miss Mary Wristen are Graham coaches.

Grade School Spring Football Practice Set

Spring football practice will begin in about two weeks in Post grade school, Coach Wayne Pipes announces.

Grade school cagers will play in the Graham tournament this weekend, Pipes said, and have been invited to one in Crosbyton Feb. 16-18.

"We have no place to work-out through the day," Pipes said, "so we haven't been emphasizing basketball much."

Post Girls Draw Bye In District Tourney

Post high school girls basketball team have drawn a bye in the district tournament set for Feb. 14-17, Coach N. R. King announces.

They will play the winner of the Dickens-Southland game in the second round next Thursday night.

This handicap may loom important to a coach who's thinking of moving to Lubbock. Then again, it may not enter into the picture. But it certainly is worth thinking about.

PLAYOFF SET

Post Cagers Win South Half of District at Tahoka

Post high school's cage quintet won the south half of the district Friday night when they defeated Tahoka 56-48 there. Jack Kirkpatrick was top scorer with 23 points.

Tahoka took an early lead and held it through the middle of the second quarter. Post pulled ahead 32-22 by the half. The Antelopes coasted the rest of the way. Rex King got 13 points for Post.

Wayne Tekell was high point man for the losers, with 13.

Two top teams in each half will play off for the district title Feb. 16-17, Coach Vernon Ray said. The north half has not yet finished district play. It is probable the site for the playoff would be selected this weekend, Ray stated.

Earlier in the evening, the B team was defeated by the Tahoka B's, 37-26. At the end of the first period, the two teams were tied 7-7. Tahoka broke ahead and never was stopped. Hyles had 12 points for the victors. Darrell Stone, with 7, was high point man for Post. Allen Hampton got six points.

BOYS AND GIRLS TO PLAY PEACOCK

Post's boys and girls A basketball teams meet Peacock on the local gym floor tomorrow night at 7 o'clock.

Meadow will bring their boys and girls, A teams, down Tuesday night for games here, Vernon Ray, basketball coach announced.

Southland Girls Fall To Cooper Sextet

Cooper high school girls trimmed Southland girls Monday night in Southland gym 26 to 19.

Charlotte Holmes and Phyllis Pate led the Cooper Pirates attack. Holmes made 15, Pate 9, and Powers 2. Scoring for the Southland club were Mary F. King with 12 and Jean Sims, 7.

Cooper girls supported their lightning attack with an air-tight zone defense. Referee was Zac Henderson.

Shorty Hester is stationed at Camp Chaffee, Arkansas.

Bobby Layne Is Speaker At Football Banquet

Bobby Lane of Lubbock, former Texas U great and professional football player, was the main speaker Thursday night at the football banquet held here at the city hall.

Layne also showed a film of a Detroit Lion game. James Minor was master of ceremonies. The Melody Maids, Anita Kennedy, LaRue Stevens, and Barbara Norris, presented the musical program, along with Sue Gillham who played the piano.

Honored guests were an all-opponent team selected by the Antelopes, with Coach Toby Grover of Brownfield honored as the all-opponent coach.

Visiting gridders honored included Harvey Campbell, Levelland; Don Jones, Brownfield; Langford Sneed, Levelland; Leon Moore, Slaton; Howard Swann, Brownfield; Waydell Hill, Morton; Lynn Halamick, Tahoka;

Perry Heard, Levelland; M. C. Northam, Littlefield; and Gene Renfro, Littlefield.

The banquet was sponsored by the Antelope Boosters club and local townspeople. Some 125 attended, including the football boys and their dates.
