Old-Timers Organization Plans Get Underway Here

Work is progressing on the organization of an old-timers society for Garza county pioneers, Mrs. Winnie Tuffing, temporary secretary, announces.

"Citizens of Garza county have long expressed a desire that Garza county establish a permanent organization for honoring its old timers," Mrs. Tuffing says, "this organization to be called the Garza County Old Timers or Pioneers."

The chamber of commerce is sponsoring the initiation of the organization, with President George Samson appointing Marshall Mason as general chairman, Mrs. Tuffing was appointed temporary secretary. The committee met Monday in the banquet room of the Stampede Inn to work out some of the organizational details.

The group voted to set aside May 25, Friday of the rodeo, as Garza County Pioneer day. The parade on that day will emphasize the theme of pioneer days. The committee asked everyone to enter a float or vehicle depicting that theme.

Rodeo Plans Advanced More Than Ever Now

President Giles Connell of the Post Stampede Rodeo association announces that preparations for the 10th annual rodeo, May 23-26, are farther along now than they have ever been this time of year.

Work is underway on cleaning up the rodeo grounds and building the recently authorized steel fence around the grounds. "A good deal of work is being done to put the grounds in shape," Connell says.

Twelve riding clubs have been invited, he reports, and several have accepted. Connell expects this to get a number of out-of-town people to the rodeo.

"This is going to be one of the best shows we've ever had," Connell says. Tickets remain at the same price as always, $1.50 and 75 cents. "That is too cheap," the president believes, "but we are trying to give a good show at a price people can pay."

Connell reveals that western regalia will be worn only one week this year. Committee in charge of this aspect of the program includes Homer McCrary, Jim Hundley and Clint Herring. Revealing plans to strictly enforce this aspect of the program, Connell says, "It will be short and snappy, this year."

Dub Parks is the clown hired and Buck Jackson of Pecos will announce.

Three County 4-H Boys Win Chicken Flocks

Three 4-H club boys have been awarded 300 baby chicks each in the Sears Foundation poultry program. L. C. Herron, county agent, reveals.

Amos Gray received New Hampshire; H. V. Williams, white leghorns; and Bowen Stephens, white rocks. Boys are chosen on the basis of their 4-H work and equipment for and interest in raising chickens. Herron said.

These boys raise their chickens to fry size and then sell enough to repay $15 to the district poultry fund. Awards, based on their records in raising the flock, are made from this fund at the end of the year.

A niece, Miss Joe Thomas, had made her home with "Uncle Steve" for 45 years after her parents died. Other survivors include a brother, George W. Williams of Fort Worth and a sister-in-law, Mrs. F. M. Williams of Belton.

Pallbearers were Hugh Caywood, W. D. White, Tommy Aycock, Glen Mathis, Wade Terry and Lowe White.

Flower girls were Mrs. Amos Gerner, Mrs. J. C. Steel, Mrs. W. D. White, Mrs. Glen Mathis, Mrs. Wade Terry and Mrs. Lowe White.

Deposits Drop $784,623.73 Since January 1

Total deposits in the First National bank at Post have dropped $784,623.73 since Dec. 30, 1950, a comparison of the statement for that date and the one published in today's Dispatch shows.

Total deposits at the close of business April 9 were $5,083,813.92. Total deposits Dec. 30, 1950, were $5,868,437.65. Deposits on June 30 of last year totaled only $4,014,032, a record high for the June bank call. Bank officials attributed this high figure to the large 1949 cotton crop.

Demand deposits at the close of business April 9 amounted to $4,525,988.21.

The bank will celebrate the 42nd anniversary of its founding in July. The drop in deposits this quarter was attributed to a seasonal decline.

New Band Uniforms Received; Concert Is Scheduled Tonight

Band uniforms arrived this week, Vernon Lewis, director, announces, but some had to be sent back for alterations. The uniforms will arrive here this afternoon for tonight's scheduled concert.

The concert, marking the band's first appearance in the new uniforms, will begin at 8 o'clock in the grade school auditorium. Admission funds will go toward paying for the uniforms.

Saturday will be Band day at Herring's Dry Goods. A per cent of cash sales will be donated to the uniform fund. Band mothers working in the store will be Mrs. John Lott, Mrs. Ralph Welch, Mrs. Nola Brister, Mrs. Charlie Bird, Mrs. King Bingham, Mrs. Walter Boren, Mrs. Guy Floyd, Mrs. Al Norris, Mrs. Wayne Atkins and others.

Some $60 was realized Monday night when money from tickets sold at the Rig Drive in fund was given to the uniform fund. The baseball and football game Friday night netted some $50.

Band students participated in an all-day clinic here Tuesday. M. J. Newman, band director at West Texas State college in Canyon, was clinician. Lewis says he was well pleased with the clinic work.

"Spirit of the band is improving and the students are beginning to work as a group rather than individually," he says. "I appreciate the work of the people in the uniform drive and the contributions toward the uniform fund."

Robert Smith has been offered another audition, Lewis reveals, this one for the tuba with the Amarillo Symphony orchestra. It would include a position with the orchestra. Newman and Clyde Roller offered the audition. Billie Joyce Ticer won a piano and voice scholarship to Mary Hardin Baylor at Belton.

An 82-piece Antelope band will leave Post in chartered buses Thursday morning at 9 o'clock for the Interscholastic League contest at Canyon. The local group is due in the warmup room at 2:30 o'clock that afternoon, on the stage at 2:45 o'clock and in the sight reading room at 3:30 o'clock.

Getting Out On the LIMB . . .

by EDDIE the editor

MILITARY OR CIVILIAN . . . THE TAIL WAGS . . .

One aspect of the recent firing-of-MacArthur fracas was the importance of maintaining civilian control over the military—so said several Senators and Congressmen. This seems to us a specious argument. Our ambassadors to some of the major foreign countries—namely Russia—have been military men since the late war. We had a military man, Gen. George Q. Marshall for secretary of state. The Department of Defense is headed by a military man, naturally. Other than our inept Department of State, what department is more important to the United States now? We would not accept and do not fear the possibility of a military dictatorship in the United States. We cannot see the logic in, on the one hand, having the military control a non-military aspect of our government and, on the other, denying the military the control of our military operations. General MacArthur has spent the main part of his life preparing for and engaging in a military career. Regardless of our personal dislike for the man, we would say he has made an indisputable success of that career. Much of his adult life has been spent in the Far East. The occupation of Japan, directed by MacArthur with tough talk to the Reds instead of appeasement and half measures, has been an overwhelming success. Is blind obedience or action for what one thinks best the American course? We can relieve Truman of HIS duties as commander in chief next year. Let's do it.

United Nations troops in Korea amount to 287,772, excluding the South Koreans, according to the Associated Press. The United States, UN agent in prosecuting the war, has 250,000 of the troops. The United Kingdom has 22,000. Turkey follows with the next largest number. Thailand who has a guerrilla war at home has furnished 1200 troops, along with the Philippines who are harassed at home by the Communist Huk. France has sent 1122 troops to Korea. One hundred sixty-five British have been killed. More than 8900 Americans have lost their lives. Two hundred ninety-eight Turks are dead. Of the more than 11,000 men missing, more than 10,000 are from the United States. The British are accused of trading with Red China. They want to give Formosa to the Reds. They want a negotiated peace with Red China. Is a Communist a Communist or is he different if he is Chinese, Yugoslav or Russian? Perhaps the British feel toward Communism as they do toward nationalization of industries. The Communists who trade with Britain are fine just like British socialization of railroads, coal and medicine. Communists who refuse to play ball with Britain are bad, just like Iranian nationalization of British-owned Iranian oil is bad. We admire the English people. We are tired of letting their socialist rulers call the tune while we jump through the hoop.

I'm a pretty good cook, myself, and quite a gourmet or maybe it's gourmand, and it really is hard on me now I can't eat certain things.

Nothing I know is more common than a potato, but now that I can't eat them, they are like nectar and ambrosia to me. Besides being good to eat, the potato has many other virtues. It is nourishing, wholesome, plentiful and cheap. Speaking in terms of inflation, of course. If the government stores all we raise away in caves, we still need not fear—we can import them from Canada. Potato farmers in Maine have been known to get richer that wheat farmers in the Panhandle, it that's possible. Yet, in spite of all the government can do, nothing yet has replaced the spud as the mainstay of our diet.

Now I like potatoes and all other vegetables. Potatoes are just like good country newspapermen, they can do anything. They are good baked, boiled or fried. More than I can say for some newsmen. They double in soups, salads, pastries, stews, pies and cakes.

BSU (Before Stomach Ulcers), I ate potatoes any and every way the Little Woman and I could dredge up to fix them. What is a better taste treat than conventional mashed potatoes? Well, I'll tell you.

Next time you mash the potatoes, put in a goodly dollop of onion juice or scraped onions, while you are mashing. Blend this with butter and cream—and yummm! a first class miracle.

Potato pancakes are especially favored by the Pennsylvania Dutch and anyone else who has ever eaten them. I am assured that they used this recipe, passed from mother to daughter for lo, these many years:

Grate four large potatoes and two fairly large onions. Stir in one beaten egg and a tablespoon of flour. Pat the mixture into small, thin cakes. Have a hot griddle ready; grease it with bacon fat. Place the potato cakes in the griddle and bake on both sides over a medium fire until brown. Serve with butter, a tart jelly, broiled ham and applesauce.

The Pennsylvania Dutch are supposed to have the edge on making hot potato salad. Me, I prefer cold potato salad. For which I have my own recipe. But this is how, I'm told, the Pennsylvania Dutchmen make it:

Cook the potatoes in their jackets. When they're done, grab a flannel cloth in one hand and clasp the hot potato in its folds. Quickly and resolutely peel the potato and drop it into a big wooden bowl. Chop with a curved knife, along with a sweet onion. Toss in a generous portion of heavily seasoned French dressing, mixed with sour cream. Add a little more dressing as the salad is served because the potatoes promptly absorb it.

This salad should be served with slices of York county ham fresh from the broiler. It is a perfect partner for the lowly hot dog and gets along well with more patrician sliced chicken.

Now, I will be frank to admit that this is a new recipe to me. I thought hot potato salad was made with hot mashed potatoes, green onions (blade and all), boiled eggs, salt, pepper and vinegar. It ain't so hot.

What I really like is cold potato salad, Louisiana - French style. The first step, naturally, is to boil the potatoes, in the skins, or jackets, if you want to be clever. After they are done, put them in the refrigerator until they are quite cold. Then, peel—it's no trouble at all.

Cut the cold, cooked potatoes in cubes. Add salt and pepper to taste. Cut small sweet pickles, celery, boiled eggs, green peppers and onions into the potatoes. Use equal amounts of mayonnaise and prepared mustard for a dressing. Toss all together and serve when ready. This is really tops.

Another fancy way to serve potatoes that the most masculine cowboy would go for, is scalloped potatoes. Raw potatoes are peeled and sliced. Then they are covered with ice cubes for an hour. After draining, they are placed in a greased casserole with seasoning on each layer. Melt three tablespoons of bacon fat in hot milk and fill the casserole. Dust the top generously with flour. Place in a medium oven for an hour.

To glid the lily, cover this dish with bits of American dairy cheese and place until the broiler for a few minutes—after the potatoes are done. Or you can place a thick slice of fat ham over the top as you put them in the oven. There you have your whole meal cooked 'in one dish.

Then there are fried potatoes, called French fries or shoe string or what-have-you. In my opinion, this is the best way to fix fried

THE AMERICAN WAY

Handcuffs That Never Unlock Our Contemporaries Are Saying:

Just Talk
On occasions, when my knees get stiff and my back aches I potatoes:

Peel and slice in thin strips. Get a large amount of cooking oil or other vegetable fat extremely hot in a thick skillet. Drop in enough potatoes to cover the bottom of the pan. Turn down heat and cook until soft inside. Drain on paper towels. Salt while frying. Serve with steak, fish, fried chicken or French fried onions.

Once I went fishing and had fried potatoes and salmon patties for breakfast. I was just a small tyke and this menu really appealed to me because it seemed like starting the day backward, with supper first instead of breakfast. But then these people ate Post Toasties for supper so fried potatoes was probably the logical thing to have for breakfast.

Another recipe for fried potatoes I give you without comment—mainly because I have never tried it. Anyone who does is on their own. This is it:

Peel and slice more potatoes than you think you'll need. Place in ice water for an hour. Melt several tablespoons of bacon or ham fat in a heavy iron frying pan. Drain potato slices and slide into the frying pan. Season generously, cover and place over a medium fire for 15 or 20 minutes. Don't worry, the potatoes will not burn. At the end of this time, lift the lid and you'll find that the bottom layer is nicely browned and the top potatoes fully tenderized. Use a pancake turner or a big spatula and turn in one piece. Replace the pan on the fire but do not cover this time.

At the end of 15 or 20 minutes, the bottom is heavily browned. Slide the mass on a hot platter, surround with lightly fried eggs, or small slices of broiled ham or pork chops.

Tiny new potatoes, cooked in their pink skins in a minimum of water, then covered with sweet cream and chopped chives and placed over the flame until the cream bubbles, go mighty well with spring fried chicken.

Well, there is no use further torturing myself. Sooner or later I have to get around to my spring gardening and now is a good time to start. But there will be no potatoes this year. I can't eat 'em—I can only dream about 'em.

But what could taste better than some hot French fries or cold potato salad? Ah, me.

Texans In WASHINGTON

By TEX EASLEY, Associated Press Washington Service

WASHINGTON, P — Backers of the St. Lawrence seaway project, an $800,000,000 plan to bring ocean-going shipping to Great Lakes ports and harness the international river for power probably wish they never had run up against a couple of Texas Toms — Messrs. Connally and Pickett.

The first, as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee has been a powerful force for years in blocking the development. On the House side, Palestine's Congressman Pickett has emerged this session as an extremely able opponent of the project.

For 50 years there has been talk of damming the St. Lawrence river to provide a 27-foot deep channel over rapids that are now skirted by a 14-foot canal and lock system. Hydroelectric units in the proposed dam are rated capable of generating 12 billion kilowatts of power annually, to be shared between the United States and Canada.

Opponents of the plan include the Association of American Railroads and officials of ports who feel they would lose traffic if the St. Lawrence were deep enough to handle ocean-going vessels.

Port authorities in Texas have voiced fears that such a seaway would take away wheat cargoes from the midwest grain fields, which would have to go shorter distances by rail if moved through Great Lakes ports.

Connally has been an outspoken opponent of the proposal in the past and he says he is still against it. He hasn't appointed a subcommittee yet to study the project again, though President Truman has renewed his recommendation for its authorization.

Hearings on the authorized legislation have been going on for weeks before the House

Public Works committee. The searching and pointed questioning of witnesses by Pickett has won the reluctant admiration of some proponents.

Economy is the basis of Pickett's opposition. Pointing to the huge national debt and mounting expenditures for the military, he says:

"We have to eliminate the unnecessary in Federal expenditures, reduce the desirable as much as possible and scrutinize the necessary very carefully before authorizing or appropriating funds."

He participated in hearings on the project last year.

"At the conclusion of testimony in behalf of the bill," he adds, "I decided against approving the project. I approached the hearings this year with that feeling in mind. There has been no actual evidence submitted to me to date that would cause me to change my mind."

Around the Capitol: J. C. Dykes, a native Texan whom some would call a "bureaucrat" because of his federal job here, takes quick exception to any criticism that government employes have an easy life.

Reared in Dallas, Dykes was graduated from Texas A&M in 1931. He is now deputy chief of the Soil Conservation service.

"We get 26 days a year for vacation," he told a reporter. "We can only accumulate up to 60 days, and I can tell you that I and a lot of others here have actually lost many days off simply because we have been too busy and couldn't get away."

Government employes also get 15 days sick leave annually. These can be accumulated up to 90 days.

ROGER W. BABSON WRITES THIS WEEK

Don't Build An Investment Reserve Of Long-Maturity Bonds, Regardless of Quality

NEW YORK CITY. — New issues of corporate bonds bearing the highest interest rates since the late 1930's have just made the financial headlines. Business is paying more for its money, as well as for its wages and materials.

Just as the old belled ram leads the rest of the flock, so does the government bond market point the way for corporate bond prices. About a month ago it was announced that the feud between the U. S. Treasury and the Federal Reserve had been ended. Both parties to the long disagreement had "reached full accord." Now, the thing upon which they had agreed was that a new issue of long-term government bonds should bear 2 3/4 percent interest instead of the 2 1/2 percent figure that had been the going rate for similar issues.

Immediately a tremor ran through the financial world. As it became clear that the Federal Reserve had really "won the argument" over raising interest rates, government bond prices softened. At the same time, corporation bonds began a price decline that is still in progress. Commercial bankers became frightened and have since been casting an increasingly wary eye at all applications for loans.

Even the stock market has lost its pep. A glance at the course of the popular stock "averages" will show you that, since early March, stocks have been reactionary. That is why I say: Watch government bond prices: they are the bellweather for finance in general and for the bond market in particular.

Going back through the years, you will find that a persistent and drawn-out decline in bond prices is frequently followed by a good-sized slump in stocks. Studies show that the time lag between the fall in bonds and the later descent in stock prices varies widely. Sometimes stocks follow bonds down only a few weeks later. At other times, close to two years have passed before stocks have taken a tumble.

The reasons for this is not hard to find. As bond prices fall, the yield therefrom rises and narrows the gap between the return on bonds and the income from stocks. If the old relationship between the two is to be re-established stock prices must decline. Only during periods of feverish speculative activity are buyers willing to overlook the need for getting a considerably bigger income from stocks, as compared to bonds, to "pay them back" for the greater risk that stocks carry.

However, some of my friends tell me that it is going to be "different this time!" They point out that the spread between stock and bond yields, even after the recent rise in the latter, is much greater than usually exists. Therefore, they say, the return on bonds could rise quite a bit higher without greatly disturbing stock prices. They also cite the fact that very few stocks are being carried on borrowed money and that higher interest rates will not cause any amount of selling on that score.

These objectors may, of course, be right. But, I should like to leave this thought with you: When the storm signals are flying, wise skippers heed them. Likewise, when old-time financial warnings appear, wise investors will diversify their funds carefully among sound well-selected common stocks, and hold a sizeable reserve in cash and high grade short-term bonds against an "unexpected" shift in the trend.

My father told me years ago, "Never send a boy on a man's errand!" This advice fits today's bond buyer. Whatever you do, don't build an investment reserve of all long-maturity bonds, no matter how high the quality. A one-percent rise in interest rates can wipe out a number of year's income in the shape of a price fall in your long-term bonds. That is a risk you should avoid at all costs. In bond buying, stick to short-term governments, good convertible corporation bonds, and tax exempts that you can hold to maturity.

Learn Danger Signals To Control Cancer Spread

What is the one thing everyone can do that will definitely save lives from cancer? The answer, according to James Minor, chairman of the American Cancer society's 1951 Cancer Crusade here, is to learn and observe cancer's seven danger signals. "Knowing the danger signals which may mean cancer and seeing a doctor when one appears would result in saving thousands of lives every year," the chairman said. "Early diagnosis and prompt treatment can double the figure of 70,000 cancer cures annually," he added. "Because of the importance of this part of the American Cancer society program, we consider it the first objective in the Texas Cancer Crusade." Minor explained that educational literature listing the danger signals would be distributed free throughout the county during this year's Crusade. "We believe it is just as important for people to learn the danger signals as it is to contribute money to the American Cancer society," he said. "When a solicitor leaves a leaflet at your home, a few minutes spent in memorizing the seven danger signs might well be invaluable to you. It could mean the difference between life and death." The seven danger signals, that the American Cancer society says may mean cancer and certainly should mean a visit to your doctor, are:
 1. Any sore that does not heal.
 2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
 3. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
 4. Any change in a wart or mole.
 5. Persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
 6. Persistent hoarseness of cough.
 7. Any change in normal bowel habits.
 Mrs. Dick Ivy of Denison, the former Miss Juanita Cook of Post, will be released this week from a Dallas hospital where she has been recuperating from a nervous collapse. Her condition is much improved, her mother, Mrs. Lucy Richardson, reports.

Paul's Valley is a town of about 9000. Mrs. Tyson says she likes Post. "The people are nice," she says, "but they seem to have the general idea that oil people are not very worthwhile if they do not want children in their apartments."

Flowers are Mrs. Tyson's hobby at home. She has everything in flowers, she says. Before she belonged to the Garden club and the Women's Missionary society. Since being in Post, some of the family has had to go to many things, because they have all had the flu. Mrs. Tyson also enjoys sewing. She makes most of her daughter's clothes and some of her own. She uses patterns but adapts and changes them to suit herself.

Intrasquad Game Ends Spring Football Training for Antelopes

A ball game between the Whites and the Blues concluded the Post Antelopes' spring football training, with the Whites winning 27-6 Friday night.

J. R. Potts scored the lone touchdown for the Blues. Coach V. F. Bingham commented on the good work done by James Dye as Blue quarterback. "So many of our boys were injured that we did not have enough to play," he said, "so I just took James out of PE class and he had never worked out."

Randall Lawrence made two of the White touchdowns and Jack Kirkpatrick the other two. Kirkpatrick kicked three extra points.

"Right now we are working on the football field," Coach Bingham said. "We are making a practice field on the southwest corner of the grade school campus, just across from the stadium."

Coach Vernon Ray plans to start a couple of weeks spring training right away, Coach Bingham revealed.

Band girls defeated band mothers 28-11 in a baseball game preceding the football game.

Sunday-Monday April 22-23

Friends,

I WANT YOU TO MEET SOME PEOPLE WHO ARE JUST LIKE YOUR NEXT - DOOR NEIGHBORS...

IT'S THE KIND OF WARM, HUMAN ENTERTAINMENT EVERY ONE OF YOU WILL ENJOY

Now there was MARY... the parson's brand-new wife and the prettiest thing that ever came to town! And BILL... who could out-wrestle, out-race any of them as his faith led him down strange pastures! JACK STARK... who had more good in him than people suspected! And his girl JENNY BROCK... who loved the town outcast because "all he needed was a decent woman." Also MRS. BILLYWITH... who kept up with the fashions and kept wives watching their husbands! You'll never forget their wonderful story!

This picture was filmed high in the Blue Ridges, on the red-clay earth of Georgia, with the 1165 people of the town of Demorest. I'm proud to present it... and urge you to see it with someone you love very, very much!

BITS OF NEWS—Picked Over Town

The Delmo Gossett twins, Lana and Jana, made their first trip to church Sunday with their mother and Mrs. Jess Compton, to see and hear their uncle, Ted James, sing at the First Methodist church with the McMurry Chanters. Mr. James is a brother of Mrs. Delmo Gossett.

Mrs. F. I. Bailey, accompanied by Mrs. Bev Varidan, spent Monday in Tahoka and Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rodman were in Lubbock Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sarge.

A recent guest in the home of her sister, Mrs. Bob Warren, was Mrs. Maud Gross of Sweetwater. They visited Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gates and daughter, Mrs. Joe Bob Bumpass, in Lubbock while Mrs. Gross was here.

Reese Carter, Bill Edwards, Jimmy Hundley and Bob Manogue went fishing at Possum Kingdom last week.

R. F. Hinchey, president of West Texas Gas company, of Lubbock was a Post visitor Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dye Plan Their Home Built on South Taylor Street Recently

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dye designed their new house on South Taylor and partially finished it themselves.

The white siding bungalow faces east. The roof is blue asphalt shingles. Mr. and Mrs. Dye and their children, James and Delores, have lived in their new home since October.

Slab birch doors are used throughout the house. The front door has three vertical glass panes. Dimensions are 14 by 16 feet. Walls and ceilings are pale green. Mrs. Dye mixed the paints and did the painting of the interior, herself.

Floors in the living room and bedrooms are hardwood. In the living room there are double windows on the east and a single one on the north. Draw draperies which Mrs. Dye made, have a blue, rose, wine and green floral pattern on a yellow background. Venetian blinds shade the windows.

The Dyes have a married daughter and framed pictures of their three children are on the walls. An occasional table in front of the double window holds a yellow table lamp. On either side is a brown leatherette or plastic platform rocker. There is a matching hassock between them.

Across the room is a rose upholstered chair, matching the sofa on the south wall. Another occasional chair is upholstered in green stripes. A small white radio is on a table in the corner by the sofa and on the table in front of the single window is a bowl of ivy.

Doorway from the living room to the hall and kitchen is an archway door.

Kitchen and Hall
The kitchen is 12 by 14 feet in measurements and extends into the 6 by 8-foot hall. Inlaid linoleum on the floors of both is beige background with a faint rose and black pattern. The white dining table and chairs are at the kitchen end of the hall.

Wainscoted in white, the walls and ceiling above are painted pale yellow. Mrs. Dye mixed this paint until she got the exact shade she wanted. It is washable. Cabinets extend from the floor to the ceiling along the west wall. In the center, under a window, is the double sink.

Gray plastic curtains are at this window and the one in the kitchen door. A red valance is at the top and red fruit is on the curtains. The gas range is on the south wall, opposite the refrigerator.

The bathroom is just off the hall, 5 1/2 by 8 feet in dimensions. Wainscoted in pale green, it has rose walls and ceiling. Floor is beige inlaid linoleum with a different pattern from that in the kitchen. Fixtures are white.

In a closet on one side is the hotwater heater, with storage space below. On the other side is the linen closet.

The hall is painted to match the kitchen. The telephone is in a niche in the wall.

The back bedroom, 12 by 14 feet, belongs to James. He picked the pale blue color for the walls. White venetian blinds are at the windows. A white chenille spread is on the bed. Other furniture includes a desk, a big quilt box and an occasional table and radio.

Large Closet
Mrs. Dye also keeps her sewing machine in this room. James has a large closet, 4 by 6 feet in measurements, which he shares with his father. Interior is painted the same as his room.

Mr. and Mrs. Dye share the master bedroom with Delores. It is 14 by 14 feet in dimensions. Their furnishings are waterfall style in a medium finish. It includes a panel bed, a chest of drawers and a vanity dresser. Delores has a single hollywood

Guests included Giles Dalby, Janie Gossett, Michael McFaddin of Graham, Peggy Scott, Mary Nell Bowen, Sue Gilham and Gaynell Scott. Roasted wieners, potato salad, pickles, marshmallows and cold drinks were served.

BITS-OF-NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Warren and Mrs. F. I. Bailey spent Thursday afternoon in Lubbock.

Miss Kathryn Stryker spent the weekend in Plainview with a former Tech roommate.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaylon Young of Littlefield were weekend visitors here in the homes of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Young, and Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Kennedy, Jr.

Why not give your Pride a Break?

Let's see what it means to own a ROADMASTER. It means, first of all, that you're a shrewd judge of fine manufacture. Nowhere will you find a mechanism more skilfully fitted part to part with scrupulous precision—engineered to stricter standards of fine-car quality—than the deep-framed and durable ROADMASTER chassis.

It means, also, that you possess keen appreciation of everything that makes for unsurpassed performance.

For there's more to this dazzling beauty than its thrilling take-off. There's the surplus of power that you need to make you the master of busy traffic or open road—plus the velvet magic of Dynaflo Drive (at no extra cost, mind you).

There's the level-going luxury of ample roadweight buoyantly balanced on coil springs on every wheel—and the security of brakes specifically engineered for firm control of this great-powered beauty.

But there's still another distinction to being a ROADMASTER owner. It marks you as one who buys wisely and well. Size for size, pound for pound, feature for feature, few cars can even approach what your dollars will buy in this finest of Buicks.

There's much more to be discovered by a visit to any Buick dealer's showroom.

There's the sumptuous softness of cushions, the custom excellence of fabrics and interior trim, the grace and charm of every line and contour.

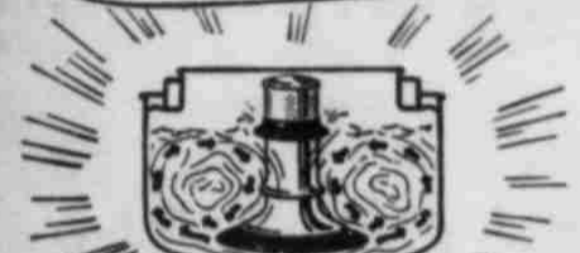

So if you've dreamed of sometime owning a car superbly fine, there's no time like the present—and no car like ROADMASTER for making dreams come true.

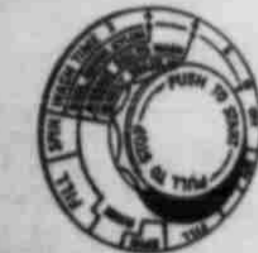

Time is HENRY J. TAYLOR, ABC Network, every Monday evening.

When better automobiles are built Buick will build them
