Cotton Prediction Released By Clapp

Garza county will produce ap-proximately 25 thousand bales of cotton this year according to the prediction of a veteran cotton man of Anderson, Clayton and company, K. N. Clapp based his prediction on some figures which according to County Agent Lewis Herron are a little off, Garza farmers have about 70,000 acres of cotton planted this year. Clapp placed the figure at 80,000 acres He also said the county would produce about 30,000 bales. It is believed, however, that this figure will be pared down consid

JUNIOR RODEO

Several months of hard work, diligent planning and extensive contact work will materialize into a full-fledged Junior Rodeo next Tuesday night. Many thousands of people will view the five events and many more will line the streets of Post to witness what promises to be one of the best parades in the history of the town. Events like the Southwestern Championship Junior Rodeo and Quarterhorse show do not just happen. They take planning and groundwork. This preliminary work falls on the shoulders of only a few persons. Actually, in comparison to the number of people in the county, this number is pitifully small. Yet the two events and all their subsequent activities are promoted solely to promote the town and county. Their purpose is to bring people to town, to gain publicity for the area and promote good will in surrounding sections and towns. Therefore when we think of the Junior Rodeo and Quarterhorse show we should not consider them only as entertainment. Consider them endeavors of achievement from which Post and Garza county can sustain its progressiveness. And when we look at them in this light, we are almost certain to give them our fullest blessings and backing,

TRAFFIC LIGHTS

The recent announcement by the State Highway department that two traffic lights have been authorized for installation should bring an actual sigh of relief to parents who send their children to school at the Post public schools. Too long have the roads which pass the school been used as speedways by would be hot-rods and people who just don't care. The iminent danger of some child being run down and killed was what prompted the work on the lights. Rotary club members began pushing the idea last year and were helped immensely by the city and school officials. Their efforts were amply rewarded recentlywhen the announcement came about the lights. Drivers are urged to heed these traffic lights. One will be placed on U. S. Highway 380 where FM 1313 intersects it. The other will be placed directly in front of the Grade school building. The first is to be paid by the state, including the electric bill. However the second one must be footed by the local authorities (or half of it). This figure runs about $236 and divided among three or four organizations the cost will not be too high. But despite the cost, the result of possibly saving a life will be ten

Texans In WASHINGTON

Associated Press Washington Service

Border Patrol is a straight-shootin' Texan from Laredo.

He's 38-year-old Harlon B. Carter, and comes by his job naturally. His father, Horace B. Carter, joined the Border Patrol immediately after it was created in 1924 and now at 63 is Immigrant Inspector at Laredo.

The younger Carter, after leaving the University of Texas in 1935, became a Border Patrolman stationed at Del Rio. At Texas U., incidentally, he earned some of his expenses by working as a night watchman at the State Land Office and doubling as a wrestling coach at Gregory gym.

He looks as if he still could handle himself on the mat, all six feet and 202 pounds of him. His hair's getting a little thin, but his smiling blue eyes are keen enough for him to be one of the crack pistol and rifle marksmen of the nation.

He has won three world's records, one of which still stands. That was won in 1946 when he got 193 consecutive bull's eyes with a .22 automatic pistol. He won the National Rifle Association 1939 .45 caliber automatic pistol championship with a score of 286 out of 300 possible points, and the 1939 .38 revolver championship with 291 out of 300, Noteworthy is the fact that in his 16 years in the border patrol he has never resorted to shooting to carry out his duties.

"Our work is interesting, but it's not unduly glamorous or spectacular." Carter says. "It involves a lot of routine and careful checking. You have to be on the alert, and double check individuals when there's the slightest indication everything's not all right." He told of an experience he had when stationed at Hebbronville and was watching all automobile traffic coming north from the border. A big expensive sedan approached and he hailed it down for a routine check of Getting Out On the LIMB .

By EDDIE the editor

The Old Sage says: A lot of people are late for church because they have to change attire; and a lot of others because they have to change a dollar.

Next Tuesday night at 8 p. m. the fifth annual Southwestern Championship Junior Rodeo unfurls for the avid fans of West Texas. From all indications this year's show for juniors will attract many new spectators, in addition to the thousands of regular attenders. People from all over are asking questions about the show.

Undoubtedly, this one event has afforded our little town more international publicity than any other thing sponsored here. Hours and hours of planning, backstage work and headaches go into the making of a successful rodeo, Elsewhere the the same type of show is failing in some instances. With a hearty knock on wood. I would like to say that has not been the case with the Post Junior Rodgo. It has been a success and will continue to be one so long as the people of the town and county, the businessmen and the juniors and the fans continue to take an ardent interest in sponsoring the event.

Joe Moss is a very happy fellow these days. He is especially happy about the unusually large majority Garza county voters gave him over his three opponents. Garza voters gave Joe 1333 votes to only 223 for all three of his opponents, about a six to one majority. Considering the length of time he has practiced law in Post, and the fact that he necessarily can represent only one side of highly controversial issues which habitually arise, and usually makes the other side mad at him, he feels that Garza voters have leaned over backwards to help him. And he is the kind of fellow who appreciates it.

Joe ran second over the district. His Amarillo opponent received about 42 per cent of the vote. Joe received about 30 per cent and his two other opponents received 28 per cent. There were about 105,00 votes cast. His votes came mostly from the South Plains counties, while his Amarillo opponent received the majority of his in Amarillo and the counties north of Amarillo. Previous races for the same office show that only about half the voters turn out in the second primary. Joe says this will be especially true this year, since some of the counties north of Amarillo won't even hold a runoff election in view of the fact that they have no local races. In fact there is only one run-off at the State level, it being for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. It and Joe's race for Associate Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals will be the only races on the ballot in a large majority of the counties of the district.

Joe further points out that the South Plains counties generally, where he received his strength, there will be considerable local interest, as most of them have run-offs in county races, which should pull out the voters. He thinks the vote will be so light over his district that about 30,000 votes will win for him, and he thinks he can get these in the South Plains coun-

In Garza county there will be run-offs in only two commissioners races, and this, together with the State race and Joe's race will give each Garga voter only three races in which to vote. Ordinarily this would not be expected to draw a heavy vote, but Joe hopes that Garza voters will make it a point to go to the polls and give him all the help they can. He points out that the present judge, who is retiring, was elected by only 239 votes out of over a hundred thousand. Every vote counts, so let's go to the polls and help him out. Joe also says that the lawyers over the district, are taking a big hand in his race, now that they have their other political interests behind them. And he believes that in a race of this kind this support will have a great effect in his favor.

So Joe Moss is definitely still in the race and can win with the continued help of his Garza friends. They can help by being sure to go to the polls and vote on August 23rd, and by writing to friends and relatives in any of the counties North of Post, especially north of Amarillo. Let's Determination is a high virtue in any person's character. Determination of our forefathers made America what it is today. It is needed in any undertaking. Our Contemporaries Are Saying:

Just Talk

We got ourselves into a fix when we bought our new press, for a lot of things that we were using with our old rock crusher won't do now, including one machine for which we need a wham-doodle called a thermostat. Upon finding the address of a man in Dallas who has all kinds of thermostats I wrote him and ordered the kind I thought we needed. He phoned me long distance and after getting me straightened out on what kind of a whamdoodle I needed he said, "By the way, where in the world is Slaton. Is it in Texas? I have traveled all over the state and this is the first time I ever heard of Slaton." That remark almost cost the guy the sale of the thermostat, but by gripping the chair, biting my tongue, and snorting through my teeth and ears, I held my temper because I had spent over three weeks trying to find address of some outfit that sold thermostats. It got my blood pressure way up to the boiling point and I almost took some of my wife's pills. -The Slaton Slatonite.

Remarkable Publicity

Isn't it remarkable what the light of publicity will do? National political conventions have been going on in about the same manner for years but this is the first year they have been televised or have been given so much attention on the radio and in newspapers. And the result is a strong demand for streamlining the proceedings. Of course, the fact that the sessions were being televised could have had something to do with the confusion that reigned. Some of the delegates just had to let the folks back home see them at the convention so they asked that a roll call be taken of the state. The whole affair reminded one of the carryings-on of high school or college students after a football victory.

Garza HD Women, 4-H Girls Will Learn Designing

The study of "The Elements and Principles of Design and How to Apply Them" was the theme of the first year class at the Creative Arts Workshop at Texas Tech. July 20-25.

Under the instruction of Mrs. Beitler, teacher in the Applied Arts Department, the Home Demonstration Club women attending this workshop learned to create their own designs using pencil or chalk. They drew upon their imaginations for ideas to start their designs. After becoming somewhat accustomed to creative work the women made scribbling and cut out designs which were suitable for block printing.

They learned how to choose colors for the designs they created. They learned that the predominating color should cover the larger areas of the design with the other colors covering the smaller areas.

The Workshop included the application of good design as well as the creating of it. Classes for crafts included knot tying and finger painting. Belts and bracelets made by knot tying are very attractive.

Mrs. Georgia Cook, who represented the Garza County Home Demonstration clubs at the Workshop, will give instructions to representatives of all the Home Demonstration and 4-H Clubs.

These representatives will give instruction to their respective clubs so that all women and girls in the county may profit from this short study at the Cre ative Arts Workshop.

killed on our streets and highways in the United States every year. Nearly 2,000,000 people are injured on our streets and ore injured on our streets and brought to the Garza movie fans highways in the United States

Let's compare these casualties with our United States Army, An Infantry Division in our United States Army is composed of approximately 18,000 men. With 37,000 people killed every year, this would mean that two entire infantry divisions would be annihilated every year, With, 2,-000,000 people injured every year, this would mean that the entire personnel of 111 divisions would be injured every year. In war, it is extremely doubtful if our Army could withstand such casualties as these every year. If our casualties ran this high in Korea, the manpower would soon be exhausted. If our casualties ran this high in Korea, the people of the United States would be screaming to the High Heavens for someone to do something. Yet we continue every year to kill more people on our streets and highways than we have in all the wars the United States have participated in-and what do we do about it? Practically nothing. In Texas alone last year we killed 2,546 people, injured 70,-000 more and suffered an economic loss of 96,000,000 dollars. This is a deplorable situation and is the reason that the 52nd Legislature passed HB 223 which requires every vehicle registered in the State of Texas, excepting small trailers, to be safety inspected at least once a

It is not contended that the law is a cure-all to our traffic problem, but we do contend the inspection program will reduce accidents to a certain extent.

Accident records reflect that 13% of fatal and personal injury accidents are caused by motor vehicle defects. If the state of Texas can do as well with an inspection program as some of the other states, this 13 per cent can be reduced to 21-2 per cent, a saving of over 10 per cent. Ten percent of 2546 is a saving of 254 lives.

Here is a good indication that we should have an inspection program. In states requiring vehicle inspections, the death rate per hundred million vehicle miles traveled is 6.4 deaths. In

Texas Schools Up Their Indebtedness

Texas independent school districts almost tripled their combined indeptedness between 1946-47 and 1950-51, University of Texas researchers report.

Dean L. D. Haskew and C. A. Nix of the College of Education said school districts, as they strove to provide school buildings for the burgeoning crop of youngsters, increased their gross bonded indebtedness from $110 million in 1946-47 to $316 million at the end of 1950-51.

"Other incomplete figures indicate that during 1951-52 the bonded indebtedness increased by at least $50 million." Dean Haskew addcd. "This means that the local school districts of Texas in a six-year span of prodigious effort have taken upon themdren. This ideal of service should be applied to one's personal life, business life, and to the whole of his relationship toward his community,

That international understanding, good will, and peace through a world fellowship is possible and desirable

Let us ask ourselves the question, from whence did these ideals spring? Did the founder ly he did not. They existed long before he was born. To answer this question we must refer to the Text-Book of our classification, the Holy Bible. Within those sacred pages we read of a From the position of ultimate man who was truly great. His ties: name was Moses. The basic reason for his outstanding accomplishments was the closeness of his fellowship with God. One day God invited him to a con-ference on Mount Sinai. Here he received a fuller revelation than had yet been given to mankind. This revelation was contained in the Ten Commandments. The first four were concerned with man's relationship to Almighty God. They

Motivation Now we must move our position and examine the "Object of Rotary" from the viewpoint of motivation. We are all aware that it is entirely possible to have high ideals in an organization such as this and many of us fail to make progress in reaching them. It is possible that we can be motivated by inferior, and even selfish motives. Here are some of the possibili-

The hope of immortality." All of us have a desire that we may gain eternal life. It is not pleasant to think that death ends all—that the richness of character development that has taken years shall be obliterated right at the time when it has reached its peak. That being true, it is possible to hope to gain acceptance with God by the good deeds which we do in serving our fellow-man through the avenue of Rotary. In fact, one might try to substitute this for real obedience to the will of God as revealed by the Bible.

All of these are poor motives. There is only one that is pure and strong enough to really work. That is the love of Jesus in our hearts. Enjoy Carefree Automatic Gas Cooking &

Don't tie yourself to your kitchen. Install an automatic Gas Range built to "CP" standards. No range is more automatic! An automatic gas range will cook a complete oven meal for you while you are miles away from home.

Only gas ranges give you smokeless broiling. The clean blue flame of natural gas consumes grease and food vapors and leaves your kitchen smokeless and fresh. Ask your dealer to install an automatic gas range in your kitchen. There is no finer cooking appliance.

This organic matter helps hold together the small soil particles and improves the soil structure by making it granular. Soils high in organic matter last Friday, have better air circulation and air space and will absorb and hold water that is needed by the rooted legumes, point out the agronomists, puts the organic matter from decaying roots deep in the soil and thus improves the soil condition or structure.

Most farmers in the Duck Creek Soil Consrvation district agree that if we could get the water that falls each year into the ground, we could make a crop. Local SCS technicians point out children of Hobbs, N. M., visi that legumes and other high residue producing crops are a major step in achieving this goal. The residue turned into the soil acts as a sponge in absorbing the water. We should take advantage of years when we have the moisture to establish these crops and plant a part of the land on each farm to a legume or cover crop. This will help insure against a crop failure in the drier years.

SCS technicians point out that legumes particularly adapted for fall and winter plantings in this area are a mixture of vetch and rye on the sand and madrid sweet clover on tight land. The clover should be planted Sept. 15.

The supervisors of the Duck Creek Soil Conservation district would like to remind local farmers again that the district owns Gale and Glenda Askins the first two grain drills for their use in planting cover crops.

However, this year the reunion, one of the oldest and most adhered to observances in the United States today, will more than likely be brought before millions of readers. The St. Louis Dispatch will cover the event and editors of Life have shown an interest in it.

Members of the family are decendants of a great-great-great grandfather who came from Engand. The passport papers this ancestor used in going from England to Ireland and from there to the United States are still in possession of the family. The old man settled in Kentucky and later lived in Illinois and Tennessee. It was many years later that members of the family hung out their "gone to Texas" sign and headed for the great southwest.

Vocational Nurses Course Now Open

An appeal is being made for women to train as vocational nurses.

Women between the ages of 18-50 with an equivalent of a 10th grade education are eligible to enter. The course is a one year's work including four months of theory (600 hours) followed by seven months clinical practice in one of the hospitals. The twelfth month provides for review and vacation with pay.

Students begin to earn at the end of the third month. And after completion students can work in hospitals, homes and other health agencies under the supervision of doctors and professional nurses.

Upon graduation the student is eligible for a certificate from the state office of Vocational Education. The vocational nurses course is being sponsored in Lubbock by the Lubbock Board of Education and the Lubbock League of Nursing education. Anyone interested may apply at the Lubbock Senior high school on 19th street.

Kirkpatrick Rates Excellent In Camp

FORT WORTH, TEX. - Kay Willard Kirkpatrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Kirkpatrick of Post, was one of three Texas Christian University Air Force ROTC cadets attending summer camps who received superior ratings in leadership and disciplinary abilities and overall camp achievement, Lt. Col. Luther O'Herne, professor of air science

Kirkpatrick was rated "one out of 47" by his squadron mates at Luke Force Base in Arizona,

"A strong character with definite leadership characteristics," O'Herne said, "Kirkpatrick is determined and persistent in work- TCU.

So did J. B. Stricklin, counselor for the division of vocational education and rehabilitation. Texas Education Agency, Stricklin worked hard and long to determine an occupation for Holly that would keep his interest and help him financially at the same time. Together they decided on raising parakeets.

Stricklin obtained some of the birds at his own expense and Holly was started in business. He has sold eight birds already. They sell for $6 per bird, with this price being about $1.50 lower than the prevailing rate in Lubbock or Abilene.

Holly says he has five pair to sell yet. His laying hens have not begun producing yet but he expects to begin hatching out little parakeets before too long. Parakeets are relatively simple to care for, and they breed prolifically-sometimes as many as twenty offspring in one year. As soon as the young birds have mated, they choose a nest and set out to raise their brood. The birds do not need any grass or other type material in the nests. It only confuses them for they are used to laying on the bare it up until one calls it quits or wood of the box nests. They are ready to leave home at the age of six weeks and have to be handled every day while young so they will not be afraid of people, Also, birds that are to be singely for they will take too much interest in the other bird when in pairs.

Parakeets can be savage and ruthless. If there are not enough boxes in the cages, the hens will fight over the boxes and will often kill the young of other hens so they can have a box to themselves. Like most other species, it is the female that is dangerous. They will get along well with only two females in the cage, but once you put two females and a rooster in a cage, the fur starts flying.

ROME (P)-Musical Italy has had no national anthem since World War II. An author of famed Neapolitan songs, E. A. Mario, tried to end this shortcoming. He wrote a new song which now awaits aptaught to talk should be bought proval by Italy's professor President Luigi Einaudi.

Military defeat in World War II ended the "Royal March" and anthems. Since then the country has stood to attention to an oldtime revolutionary song called the "Hymn Of Mameli." Because of its revolutionary background, the hymn was never recognized as an official anthem,
